

GERMAN PLANE HOPS OFF FOR U. S.

CURB ON RATE MAKING POWER IS PROBABLE

CONGRESS TO TIE PRESIDENT'S HANDS?

BY DAVID LAWRENCE. (Copyright 1928, by the Escanaba Press) Washington, Apr. 11.—Congress probably will repeal the flexible provisions of the tariff law within the next few years, irrespective of the decision of the supreme court of the United States that such provisions are wholly unconstitutional.

Anything the supreme court decision will hasten the repeal, for while there is a doubt as to constitutionality and also while the Tariff Commission was in a wrangle, the disposition of the congress was to let things drift. Now, however, the fact that the president of the United States has been given a tariff-making power which he can exercise at any time has made a profound impression on congress.

Political Protection. Originally it was contended that to give the president the right to increase or diminish rates when conditions changed would take the issue out of politics. As a matter of fact, it did not destroy the high protectionist and moderate protectionist theories which envelop all tariff discussions. As a consequence the tariff commission has lined up definitely on those two theories and the president, who is a strong protectionist, has upheld 17 recommendations to increase the tariff and only four to decrease. The latter four are said to be relatively insignificant in economic effect compared to the 17 increases.

Congress is just waking up to find that whereas the votes of a group or section can be used to defeat a schedule that is too high and a fight can be made before both houses of congress, the situation with a flexible tariff provision is that congress has no further voice in the matter when once the power to delegate has been given, unless, of course, a new tariff bill is brought in for consideration — something not likely to occur just because one group of interests want a schedule revised.

Robinson Favors Repeal. Senator Robinson of Arkansas, minority leader, favors repeal at once of the flexible provisions of the tariff. He offers instead a tariff commission responsible not to the president but to congress so that if increases or decreases are recommended due to changing conditions, then congress will have the right to pass upon this. This proposal is finding favor among those who advocate some kind of scientific investigation of tariff data and a permanent body to do fact-finding, but it does not meet the objection of those who believe that this keeps business under a cloud of uncertainty all the time.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT DRIVING?

"A" is driving west on Ludington street. As he approaches Tenth street he hears the siren of an ambulance speeding west on Tenth street against the stop sign. He continues to drive across the intersection with the "go" sign and the ambulance strikes his car from his left. Who is to blame?

Police Ruling. "A" is to blame. Ambulances have the right of way in any street while responding to an emergency call. When "A" heard the siren of the ambulance and saw it approaching, he should have brought his automobile to a complete stop regardless of whether or not the semaphore was "Go" or "Stop" for him.

PROGRESSIVES TAKE NEBRASKA

Republican Branch Nominates Senator R. B. Howell

Omaha, Neb., Apr. 11.—The Progressive wing of the Republican party fared well at the hands of Nebraska voters in yesterday's state-wide primaries. Topping all races was the contest between U. S. Senator R. B. Howell, and Atty. Gen. O. S. Spillman for the Republican senatorial nomination. Senator Howell, for whom Senator Geo. W. Norris came from Washington to aid, carried the state by nearly 13,000 votes, reports from 1,079 precincts out of 1,983 showed. Howell supporters predicted that his majority would run to 25,000 or 30,000.

Four Killed When Trains Crash in Mexico; 3 Injured

Mexico City, Apr. 11.—(AP)—Two engineers and two firemen were killed and three trainmen gravely injured in a head-on collision between a Mexico City-Laredo passenger train and a freight shortly after midnight last night near Empalme, Sonora. The engines were telescoped. First reports are that no passengers were killed. It is feared, however, that some of the passengers were injured. The wreck is attributed to the failure of the passenger train to take a siding, as instructed, and the collision was at full speed on the main track. The bodies of the engineers were found under the wreckage. A number of freight cars were crushed, and tracks were torn up, but the all-steel passenger coaches withstood the impact well. The telescoped engines and the wrecked cars were hurled 30 or 40 feet from the tracks.

SUIT TO OUST KLAN THROWN OUT OF COURT

OUT OF JURISDICTION, SAYS FEDERAL JUDGE

Pittsburgh, Apr. 11.—(AP)—The suit of former members of the Ku Klux Klan to restrain the order from operating in Pennsylvania, was thrown out of federal court here late today by Judge W. H. S. Thomson, who ruled that it was without jurisdiction and that it was a question for the state to settle. Coming with dramatic suddenness, during a heated argument between counsel on the jurisdiction of the court, the opinion made a clean sweep of the counter action of the five members, who sought a receivership for the Klan in Pennsylvania and for an accounting of some $15,000,000 said to have been collected by the order in this state.

CLUB ADOPTS WET MEASURE

Committee of Republican Organization Urges Repeal of Dry Law

New York, Apr. 11.—(AP)—The national affairs committee of the National Republican club today adopted a resolution urging repeal of the eighteenth amendment. The action was taken in executive session and reported at the close of the meeting by Congressman Benjamin L. Fairchild, who presided as chairman of the committee. The resolution will be presented to the full membership of the club next Tuesday. Mr. Fairchild predicted that it would be adopted by an overwhelming majority, adding that he expected it would be presented to the national Republican convention by Nicholas Murray Butler.

Dog Saves Lives of Eight Persons

Ludington, Mich., Apr. 11.—(AP)—A dog was credited today with having saved the lives of eight persons in a fire last night which destroyed the farm home of William and John Kupovich, in Freesoil township. The barking of the dog awakened William Kupovich, who found the dwelling in flames. He awakened his brother and the latter's wife and five children, who were forced to flee in their night clothes.

"Reign of Terror" in Illinois Says London Paper

London, Apr. 11.—(AP)—The Chicago elections and "Big Bill" Thompson's capacious hat and ample smile enjoyed immense popularity in the London afternoon papers, which prominently displayed the defeat of "King George's book burning" for. The front page reports bristled with announcements of "violence," "terrorism," "death," in the Chicago primaries, while one paper proclaimed the existence of "a reign of terror throughout the state." "Only one murder!" exclaims the Evening News, which, extending its irony to its editorial leader, pleads with Londoners to learn to conduct their political battles "with the Chicago enthusiasm." Bewailing apathy, the News says that if the British voter knew that the pathway to the polls was beset with sandbags and that he was likely to be mowed down with a machine gun, nothing could keep him away from the voting place.

TABULATORS STILL BUSY WITH VOTES

DENEEN FORCES VICTORIOUS IN ILLINOIS

Chicago, Apr. 11.—(AP)—While tired tabulators still struggled to-night with completion of the record of the vast majority for the Republican faction, led by Senator Charles S. Deneen which in yesterday's state-wide primary swept into the political discard the Republicans of the Small and Thompson faction which for seven years have dominated Chicago and Illinois, the winners began consideration of plans to correct what they term misrule of Chicago if they are elected next fall over their Democratic opponents. Senator Deneen, who sponsored the victorious Republican ticket in a primary election which found the Democrats without major contests, gathered several advisers about him today and gave the movement its initial impetus. There was no announcement, but it was indicated that the spotlight immediately would be turned on the "higher-ups" said to be responsible for gang domination and illicit liquor running and internecine warfare in Chicago. Senator Deneen telephoned to Oscar E. Carlstrom, re-nominated yesterday for state attorney general, and then took a train for Washington. It was indicated Carlstrom immediately would come to Chicago from his home at Alton and start the campaign without awaiting the November election.

WILL NOT RESIGN

Chicago, Apr. 11.—(AP)—Despite the fact that most of the candidates he had backed were defeated in yesterday's primary, Mayor William Hale Thompson will stay on as the city's chief executive for the next three years. He declared today that he had no intention of resigning the post he was elected to last year. "I positively will not resign," the mayor said. "Why should I? We captured the ward committees, and we also got the sanitary district, so there's no reason for me to resign." During the campaign, the mayor had announced that if his favorite candidate, State Attorney Robert E. Crowe, co-leader in the Republican faction, was defeated he would seriously consider giving up the mayoralty. Crowe lost the primary to Judge John A. Swanson, Deneen's candidate, by more than 200,000 votes.

Husband of Movie Actress Collapses; Marriage a Failure

Los Angeles, Apr. 11.—(AP)—Los Angeles, husband of Madge Bellamy, film actress, collapsed today from worry over what he termed the "failure of the match and was unable to appear in court to prosecute his suit for divorce. Miss Bellamy is not contesting the action in which Metcalf alleges she deserted him the fourth day of their honeymoon after their marriage at Tijuana, Mexico, January 24, last. Metcalf says his wife is "domineering and stubborn."

Daniels Supports Senator Walsh

Los Angeles, Apr. 11.—(AP)—The support of Joseph Daniels, secretary of the navy in the Wilson administration, for Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, for the Democratic presidential nomination, was announced today. In a telegram to John B. Elliott of this city, Daniels, editor of the Raleigh, N. C., News, stated: "My own view is that the fittest man in America for the Democratic standard bearer is Senator Walsh of Montana."

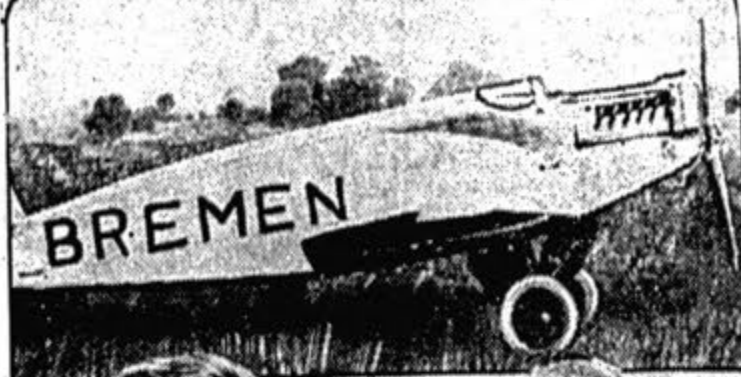

Order Installation of Warning Signals

Lansing, Apr. 11.—(AP)—Flashlight warning signals were ordered installed at the Pere Marquette crossings of Hiller avenue and Elliott street in Grand Rapids by the state public utilities commission today. The city petitioned for the protection.

Michigan Man Seeks Repeal of Dry Law

Washington, Apr. 11.—(AP)—Repeal of the prohibition amendment to the constitution was asked today in a resolution by Representative Clancy, Republican, Michigan. It was referred without comment to the house judiciary committee.

ATTEMPTING EAST-WEST FLIGHT

Sinclair Set Value of $100,000,000 on Teapot Dome Lease

Washington, Apr. 11.—(AP)—Evidence intended to show that Harry F. Sinclair placed a value of close to $100,000,000 on the Teapot Dome oil lease, in the acquisition of which he is charged with conspiring to defraud the government was introduced today at his trial by the prosecution. Unsworn testimony given by Sinclair before the senate oil committee in October 1923, introduced over the protest of the defense quoted him as saying "I personally consider the value of the Mammoth company at that time, but it is only a guess, at a greater amount than $100,000,000."

HOOVER STRONG IN THIS STATE

County Conventions Pick Delegates to Support Commerce Secretary

Detroit, Apr. 11.—(AP)—In county conventions featured in most instances by lauding of the state and national Republican administrations and endorsements of Herbert Hoover for president, Michigan Republicans today chose delegates to district and state conventions, which in turn will name delegates to the Republican national convention. Throughout the state Hoover sentiment predominated and states of delegates supporting his candidacy were chosen. Most of the conventions were harmonious. In Wayne county (Detroit), where there were rumblings of a row over charges that delegates to the county meeting had been "hand picked," 189 police officers preserved order while the convention ran off smoothly. John S. Haggerty, county chairman and secretary of state, who was one of those accused in a recent court action of having "hand picked" the delegates, had appeared for police protection, fearing interference or a possible bombing. A police cordon surrounded Cass technical high school, where the convention was held, and delegates were admitted only by cards signed by Milton D. Carmichael, committee secretary. The convention adopted resolutions endorsing Hoover, commending President Coolidge and state officials, and recommending that (Continued on Page Two.)

Alleged Slayers of Officer Enter Not Guilty Pleas

Detroit, Apr. 11.—(AP)—Three men who are alleged to have participated in a gun fight during a holdup here on March 31 in which Frederick A. Brumm, a police patrolman, was fatally wounded, pleaded not guilty today to homicide charges. They were held for examinations. The three are Ralph O'Connor, who was wounded by the patrolman, and Earl Sheltreau and Earl Sauters.

Special Election Call in Wayne Co.

Detroit, Apr. 11.—(AP)—An election to vote on a proposal to combine Fordson, Dearborn and a portion of Dearborn Township into one city was authorized today by the Wayne county board of supervisors. The election was called for June 12. (Continued on Page Two.)

CRAFT ABLE TO STAY IN AIR 40 HOURS

BIG MACHINE TAKES TO AIR AT 5:38 THIS MORNING

(BULLETIN.)

Baldonnell Airdrome, Irish Free State, Apr. 12.—(AP)—(Thursday) The German trans-Atlantic plane Bremen hopped off on its trans-Atlantic flight to New York at 5:38 this morning. The plane made a perfect takeoff and headed for Galway.

So secret were the plans made by Captain Koehl and Baron Von Huenefeld for their trans-Atlantic attempt that they were able to leave Tempelhof airdrome near Berlin on March 26 virtually in secret. About nine hours later the plane arrived at Baldonnell airdrome, having covered the 990 miles of their first lap at an average of nearly 106 miles an hour.

So well had the machine performed that the German flyers, especially Baron Von Huenefeld, were eager to get away for the United States in the next day, but poor weather intervened and the plane was held at the airdrome, waiting for a favorable opportunity to take off day after day.

With Capt. Koehl and Baron Von Huenefeld was Arthur Spindler, German mechanic, who was the third member of the original crew, Spindler, however, left Baldonnell and returned to Berlin last week after what was reported to be a controversy with Baron Von Huenefeld over when a takeoff should be made.

Soon after that, Col. Fitzmaurice went up for a two-hour instruction flight with the German airmen and finally it was announced that he would act as co-pilot with Koehl on the hazardous trip. The Irish Free State gave him leave of absence and the flight consequently became a German-Irish venture.

Baron Von Huenefeld, who has been straining at the leash in his eagerness to get away, appeared willing to take off at almost any time, but the two pilots took the position that they would not start until weather conditions were favorable.

IRISHMAN ENTHUSIASTIC

Baldonnell Airdrome, Irish Free State, Apr. 11.—(AP)—Before Col. James Fitzmaurice's fellow officers rushed him off to bed for a few hours sleep tonight, the aviator gave the Associated Press a special message regarding his flight. "Tell them," he said, "that for several years as chief of the Saorstair Air Corps it has been my ambition to make the east-west Atlantic crossing in the interests of advancement of science and aviation. "Here in the Irish Free State we have watched the progress of aviation in the United States with admiration. If it should fall to me (Continued on Page Two.)

Lindbergh Tests New Plane for Express Company

Los Angeles, Apr. 11.—(AP)—Col. Charles Lindbergh made a visit to Los Angeles today in the role of test pilot of a new four-passenger monoplane with which the Western Air Express plans to replace its present biplanes on its air mail route to Salt Lake City. Lindbergh dropped down at Vall Field an hour before noon and hopped off again for Santa Barbara, where he is on an indefinite visit, in mid-afternoon.

Three Men Killed in Plane Crash

El Paso, Tex., April 11.—(AP)—A telegram received by the El Paso Times from Sheriff C. N. Cummings late today reported that the bodies of three men were found today in the wreckage of an airplane that had crashed four miles south of Kent, Texas. According to the message, the bodies were those of F. L. Drew of Ft. Worth, Texas; D. M. Larson of Mantel, Utah; and Edward G. Knapp of Ypsilanti, Mich. The message said the plane, which probably crashed Monday, was a total wreck.

PAPERS DENY ALL CHARGES

Federal Trade Commission Hears Utilities Investigation

Washington, April 11.—(P)—Charges, first heard on the floor of the senate, that the Copley Press, publishing a number of daily newspapers in Illinois and California, was controlled by public utility interests, were repeated today before the federal trade commission and immediately denied.

Looking into the accusations in connection with its general investigation of the financial structure of power companies, the commission was told that Ira C. Copley of Aurora, Ill., head of the Copley Press, held no official post with any utility power company, but did own approximately $5,000,000 in the stock and bonds of the Western United Corporation and the Western United Gas and Electric company, two concerns now controlled by Samuel Insull of Chicago.

Willis J. Spaulding of Springfield, with whom the charges originated, to be carried to the senate floor by Norris of Nebraska, appeared today in support of his accusations. For Copley, five witnesses took the stand—his attorney, B. P. Aitschuler; his secretary, F. M. James; W. W. Armstrong, all of Aurora; John C. O'Laughlin, vice president and general manager of the Copley Press and Edward Corlett, editor of the Joliet (Ill.) Herald-News, a Copley paper.

Admitting at the outset that he had seen nothing in the Copley publications which he considered contrary to the public interest, Spaulding asserted, nevertheless, that he believed an investigation would reveal a direct connection between these papers and utility concerns. He charged that Copley contributed $25,000 to the senatorial campaign of Frank L. Smith, a member of the Illinois public utilities commission, and that at the same time, the commission had before it a petition for the consolidation of Copley's public utility companies.

He wanted it widely known, Spaulding declared, that the men behind the newspaper enterprises were also interested in public utilities. Aitschuler, who was mentioned by Spaulding as owning stock in the Copley Press and holding a directorate in the Western United corporation, denied that there was any connection between Copley's contribution to the Smith campaign and the state commission's approval of the petition. The money, he said, was paid after the utility companies in which Copley was interested had been granted the commission's permission to reorganize.

Aitschuler went into the financing of the Copley concern, asserting that he was sure Mr. Copley did not know what he had purchased $1,120,000 in bonds of the enterprise. A list of the bondholders was submitted and Armstrong declared it included no one who controlled a public utility company.

James testified that he knew the source of all the money that went into Copley Press and that none of it came from public utility interests. O'Laughlin told the commission that the editorial policies of the individual newspapers were not dictated by Mr. Copley and Corlett supported this statement with an assertion that he was given a free rein in publishing the Copley paper to which he is assigned.

SINCLAIR SET VALUE OF LEASE

Same testimony was introduced at the previous trial of Sinclair but was prevented from getting into the record because of the mistrial that resulted.

The trial moved forward again today with great rapidity and in the first half hour half a dozen witnesses had been called and testified to receipt at various banks in Colorado, New Mexico and Texas of the bonds that Albert B. Fall, former interior secretary, received from Sinclair.

Then the government began to introduce its documentary evidence and defense objection prevented for the time being at least presentation of a letter Fall wrote to Edward L. Doheny on July 8, 1921, in which the cabinet officer said he was to have full charge of the leasing of the naval oil lands. Justice Bailey reserved his decision on the objection and upon it will depend whether the government will introduce a number of other letters Fall wrote and received. The defense objected to the letter on the grounds that what Fall had written to Doheny could have no bearing on the charges against Sinclair.

E. C. Finney, assistant secretary of the interior, who occupied the same position under Fall, testified that Fall had handled the Teapot Dome lease and that none of the details had been referred to him as was usual in such matters. On cross-examination, however, he agreed that before the lease was taken up, Fall had assigned him to handle any other oil lease saying that Fall would handle the Teapot Dome lease.

The Flight at a Glance

(By The Associated Press.) The plane: A Junkers, all-metal monoplane with a wing spread of 55 feet, the name Bremen painted on its silver side with the number D1167, and the triangular sign of the Junkers firm. The motor: A Junkers L-5 watercooled of 350 horsepower, won the world endurance flight record in a sister ship, the Europa. The crew: Baron Ehrenfried Gunther von Huenefeld, the backer, will cook and keep log; Jurig flight; Captain Herman Koehl, war hero and night flying expert, is chief pilot; Col. James Fitzmaurice, commandant Irish Free State air force, co-pilot. The fuel: Estimated at 2500 gallons of benzol primed with ether (about 600 gallons) would sustain plane 40 hours or more. The start was from Baldonnel airdrome, Dublin, Ireland, and the destination was Mitchell Field, Long Island, New York. The plane was flown from Germany to its starting point. The distance from Dublin to New York is approximately 3000 miles although more or less may be covered in the flight. The most economical speed of the Bremen is probably 90 miles an hour, although it is capable of 130 miles an hour.

to be able to contribute something to the fund of human knowledge and experience which will eventually conquer the air, I shall be very proud.

"It is needless to mention how deeply I appreciate the generosity of Baron Huenefeld in inviting me to make the Atlantic flight with him and the honor I feel in acting as co-pilot with Capt. Koehl. I believe the Bremen represents the best science can produce in a machine for Atlantic crossing.

"I have never been in America, but I am looking forward to an American welcome to a Sanratat Air Corps camp Friday afternoon."

TO ARRIVE FRIDAY. Baldonnel, Apr. 11.—(P)—Allowing forty hours flying time between Baldonnel and New York, the Bremen with its German-Irish trio of occupants should circle Mitchell Field sometime early Friday afternoon, it was estimated here tonight on the eve of the hopoff.

Flying will be slower than might be, due to the heavy load of fuel and its trio of occupants, and there is approximately 3,000 miles of distance to be covered, 2,000 miles roughly to Newfoundland, and an additional thousand to New York.

In loading the plane, fuel supplies were sacrificed to food, but in the cabin when the plane took off were a dozen thermos bottles containing hot beef tea and plain strong coffee. Each airman is also taking two bars of chocolate and Col. Fitzmaurice arranged at the last moment to have a dozen peeled oranges included.

If all goes well the early afternoon Long Island sunlight Friday will show the Junker monoplane like a great silver moth as it flies toward its goal.

On the plane is written the word "Junkers" in eighteen-inch letters on either side of the nose, and "Bremen" in large letters on either side of the fuselage. In six-foot letters on the bottom side of each wing is the symbol "D-1167," all the lettering being done in black.

On either side of the tail is the factory symbol, "V338-2504," and the Junkers trademark, an inverted triangle of blue and silver enclosing a figure which seems to carry out the semblance of delicate propeller blades to a graceful woman with outstretched arms. This trademark is also on the propeller.

Husband of Gloria Swanson Sailed from France Yesterday

Havre, France, Apr. 11.—(P)—The Marquis de la Falaise, husband of the American film actress, Gloria Swanson, sailed from here for America today aboard the steamship Paris. He was accompanied by his younger brother, Count La Falaise.

The younger brother denied he had any plans either as to the American cinema or an American wife. But he added: "One never knows."

The marquis was loath to talk about recent passport difficulties which delayed his return to the United States, and would not discuss it beyond saying it seemed "a lot of trouble over a technicality."

Seek Prosecution of Drug Company

Lansing, Apr. 11.—(P)—A warrant charging a Detroit chemical concern with illegal distribution of poisons was asked today by H. P. Hoffman, director of drugs and drug stores, of Robert M. Toms, Wayne county prosecutor, following the death of Reese Fox chauffeur at Michigan Children's hospital at Farmington. Reese died and several other persons were made seriously ill by poison contained in corn-meal cakes. Hoffman declared that analysis showed the poison marked "not poison to humans," is positively fatal and cited Fox' death as evidence.

AUTO BUILDERS MAKE PROMISE

Pledge to Pass on Benefit of Tax Cut to Buyers

Washington, Apr. 11.—(P)—Pledging to pass on to the consumers in reduced prices any reduction in the automobile tax, the automobile industry presented a united appeal today to the senate finance committee for repeal of the three per cent automobile levy.

Spokesmen for the industry also paid their respects to Secretary Mellon who asked the committee to restore to the bill this tax which was repealed by the house. Mr. Mellon argued that the manufacturers alone were behind the "propaganda" for repeal of the levy. The automobile people replied that the consumers of the cars would get all the benefit of the reduction and pledged themselves to this effect.

Proceeding with the second day of public hearings, the committee also heard appeals for an increase in the exemption on the admissions tax from the circus people and a plea from Dr. William C. Woodward, representing the American Medical association, to permit members of the medical profession to deduct expenses of trips to national conventions from their taxable income.

Will Pass on Reductions. Arguments for repeal of the automobile tax were represented by the American Automobile association, the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, the National Garage and the National Automobile Dealers' association.

Roy D. Chapin, president of the Automobile Chamber of Commerce, told the committee that all of the manufacturers were pledged to pass any reduction in tax to the consumers.

Thomas P. Henry, president of the American Automobile association, took exception to the "threat" which he said the administration had made not to give federal aid for highways if the automobile levy was restored.

All of the industry who spoke to the committee insisted that a reduction in the automobile tax was preferred to a cut in any other levy and if they had to take a choice between automobile and corporation taxes they said they preferred the slash in the former. Mr. Chapin said President Coolidge had asked the automobile people last fall if they preferred a cut in the automobile or corporation tax and they replied then also that the automobile tax was their choice.

To Speed Up Hearings. Frederick Brenckman, speaking for the National Grange, reminded the committee that his organization was on record as favoring retirement of the national debt rather than tax reduction, but if there was a revenue bill to be paid, the farmers wanted the automobile levy repealed.

Manston M. Wyvell, representing manufacturers of fire engines and equipment, asked the committee to permit this industry to obtain a rebate on claims for refunds which were shut out by the statute of limitations, but Chairman Smoot ruled that this would have to be taken care of in a private bill.

At an executive meeting late in the day, the committee decided to speed up the hearings, and Senator Smoot gave notice later that the open meetings would be closed on Friday night.

CURB ON RATE MAKING POWER IS PROBABLE

at present the protectionist wing of both parties is able to prevent any tinkering with existing schedules.

While there might be a disposition to repeal the flexible tariff provisions this would open up the whole problem of the tariff, something that republican leaders are unwilling to do in a presidential campaign year. It is within the realm of probability, however, that after the campaign is over, the movement to take away from the chief executive any rate-making power will be revived with more chances of success.

majority by which Louis L. Emmerson, secretary of state, buried Gov. Len Small, who sought a third term as governor, crept nearer the 400,000 mark, and reports from approximately the same number of precincts showed that the U. S. senatorial aspirations of Col. Frank L. Smith had been blighted for a third time by more than 200,000 votes.

Twice Col. Smith was denied his seat after appointment and election to the senate, and this time a comparatively obscure downstate attorney, Otis P. Glenn, thwarted his ambition.

The figures were: For governor, 5530 precincts: Small, 501,726; Emmerson, 387,737. For U. S. senator, 5256 precincts: Smith, 488,135; Glenn, 689,219.

The personal defeat of Mayor William Hale Thompson, until yesterday co-leader with Small and Crowe of the dominant Illinois Republican faction, became more convincing today when new figures indicated he had lost the local comparatively important post of ward committeeman by upward of 1000 votes.

Lowden Gets 38 Delegates. Mayor Thompson was selected as a delegate to the Republican national convention in Kansas City, however, and said he found additional solace in the fact that the Crowe-Thompson county ticket won seven of eleven possible places.

Thompson has listed himself as ardently opposed to the presidential aspirations of Col. Frank O. Lowden, Illinois' war governor, but Lowden yesterday won assurance of 38 of the state's 50 delegates.

Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, widow of the late U. S. Senator Medill McCormick and daughter of Mark Hanna, held leadership in the contest for one of the two nominations for Republican representative-at-large in an eight-sided fight.

Her nomination, ousting the lower house veteran, Richard Yates, was assured, with John R. Rathbone, another congressional republican, her running mate.

FOUR CHANGE SIDES. Chicago, Apr. 11.—(P)—Four of those who have held places on two victorious small tickets will have their names linked with that of his successful Republican primary opponent in next November's general election.

And one of them, Fred E. Sterling, Rockford, the lieutenant, has accomplished what the governor failed in—obtaining a third term nomination.

The other three who have been nominated before are Oscar E. Carlstrom, Aledo, the attorney general, and Oscar Nelson, Geneva, auditor, now serving in those offices, and Omer N. Custer, Galesburg, treasurer, who held that administration post from 1924 to 1926.

Beside Louis L. Emmerson, the gubernatorial candidate, a newcomer to the ticket is William J. Stratton, of Ingelside, who seeks election as secretary of state. He unsuccessfully sought that nomination once before.

Each of the five whose names will appear below that of Emmerson won their places by overwhelming majorities.

Two Aviators Die in Plane Crash

Baton Rouge, La., Apr. 11.—(P)—The projected flight of two army aviators from Fort Crockett, Galveston, Texas, to Edgewood Arsenal, Md., ended fatally for both here today when their plane crashed into the Mississippi river from a height of 1200 feet.

Lieut. Kenneth Boyd and Corp. Pye Koch, mechanic, were killed. Engine trouble is believed to have caused the fatal crash. Lieutenant Boyd was seen by witnesses to jump from the plane when it began its nosedive, but the leap was too late for the parachute to open, and he crashed to the river bank.

RAISE ANTE ON FARM MEASURE

Expect Final Vote on Bill Today; Amendments Drafted

Washington, Apr. 11.—(P)—The senate today boosted the ante on farm relief from $250,000,000 to $400,000,000, in writing into the McNary-Haugen measure some amendments which cleared the way for a final vote on the bill by tomorrow.

The proposal of Senator McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, to increase the proposed revolving fund with which to assist farm organizations in marketing surplus crops from $250,000,000 to $400,000,000, brought the first roll call vote on the bill and in the opinion of some leaders a test of strength on the measure.

The $400,000,000 proposition was carried 42 to 30 with 25 Democrats, 16 Republicans and the lone Farmer-Labor senator favoring the increase. Those voting against it included 22 Republicans and eight Democrats. Some opponents of the McNary-Haugen bill, including Senators Borah, Idaho, and Brookhart, Iowa, Republicans, voted for the increase but it is believed none of those voting against the increase might switch in favor of the bill.

Another sharp fight developed over the amendment of Senator Copeland, Democrat, New York, to remove fresh vegetables and fruits from the control of the bill, it carried 55 to 30.

Senator Neely, Democrat, of West Virginia, previously had obtained an amendment to exempt fruits and vegetables from the equalization fee provision of the measure but the New York senator successfully insisted upon dropping these out of the bill entirely.

Some other amendments by Senator McKellar which were drafted at a conference of senators from the cotton-producing states, were accepted but a vote went over until tomorrow on his proposal to have the president, rather than the farm board, select members of the advisory council.

One of the McKellar amendments which was accepted would require majority approval of the councils in respect to action contemplated by the board concerning any commodity under control of the council. The council proposed by the bill would be set up for each commodity.

Sixteen Killed in French Train Wreck

Paris, Apr. 11.—(P)—A crowded race train on its way to the Enghein race track this afternoon, collided with another train just outside the yard limits of the Gare du Nord. Sixteen persons were killed and more than 30 injured, some of them, it is feared, mortally. The killed and injured were French.

The engineer of the outbound train, who is charged with running past the signals, is confined in jail. His arrest came after a personal investigation conducted by M. Barthou, minister of justice.

There were no American casualties although several Americans were known to be aboard the train on their way to the track. The wreck provided a spectacular blaze and thrilling rescue work by firemen and wrecking crews. Some of the bodies were pinned under the smoking debris, and service was interrupted on the road for several hours.

Many of the racing devotees rushed back to the station a mile away, in order to catch the next train so that they would not miss the first race.

Pitiful scenes were witnessed at the wreck. A little fox terrier, which did not appear to be hurt, howled dully and refused to leave the spot where his owner was crushed under the train, which was burning fiercely. Though an attempt was made to pull the terrier away, he was burned to death.

Attendance Small at Opening Games

(By The Associated Press.)

The smallest attendance in six years marked the opening of the major league baseball season. Unusually cold weather, especially in the east, cut heavily into the figures, which totalled 198,517 for the eight games, as compared with pre-game expectations of 250,000.

This was nearly 30,000 short of last year's aggregate of 227,560 for opening day, when only seven games were played.

The biggest crowd of the day, 40,000, turned out at Detroit to see the Browns whip the Tigers. At the Polo Grounds, 35,000, the National League high mark, saw the Giants trounce the Braves. The totals:

American League.	40,000
Detroit	30,000
Philadelphia	20,000
Boston	10,000
Totals	100,000
National League.	55,000

ponents. His nomination is assured. Five to Support Lowden. Former U. S. Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock, only Democratic presidential preference candidate in Nebraska, had the solid support of the state's delegation to the Democratic national convention.

He was opposed in only two districts, and in these the Hitchcock candidates were elected. Nebraska Democrats will go pledged to Mr. Hitchcock.

Five Republican delegates at large, headed by Gov. Adam McMullen, strong advocate of the equalization fee in the McNary-Haugen bill, will go pledged to support former Gov. Frank O. Lowden of Illinois or in the event of a deadlock Senator Norris or Vice President Dawes, "or a middle-of-the-road candidate in sympathy with" the McNary-Haugen bill.

The two delegates, one of whom is former Gov. Sam R. McKelvie, on the other side, will go pledged to the agricultural policies of the administration of President Coolidge.

Levinsky, Roebuck Fight to a Draw

Kansas City, Apr. 11.—(P)—Battling Levinsky of Philadelphia and Tiny Roebuck, Indian heavyweight of Kansas City, boxed ten rounds here tonight with honors about even in the opinion of sports writers. The veteran Levinsky by superior boxing skill, was able to hold his own with the huge young Indian, despite a disadvantage of nearly 60 pounds in weight. Roebuck weighed 239 pounds, Levinsky 182.

delegates to the state convention won for Hoover. The resolution also recommended to the state convention as delegates-at-large to the national convention the names of Charles Beecher Warren, former ambassador to Mexico and Japan, and Haggerty, Clarence L. Ayres, president of the Detroit Union League club, and Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson, widow of the late John F. Dodge, were recommended as alternates.

A state of 270 delegates to the state convention here April 25, was named; 79 were elected to the first district convention; 17 to the second district meeting; 89 to the sixth and 85 to the thirteenth district conventions. The first and thirteenth district meetings will be held in Detroit April 25, preceding the state convention; the sixth district convention will be in Pontiac April 24, and the second district meeting is scheduled to be held in Adrian April 18.

Delegates chosen to the district conventions will elect two delegates to the national convention at Kansas City from each congressional district. The state convention will name seven delegates-at-large.

HOOVER OPPOSED. Adrian, Mich., Apr. 11.—(P)—Opposition to the endorsement of Herbert Hoover for the Republican presidential nomination featured in the Lenawee county Republican convention here today.

Delegates from rural districts opposed a paragraph in the report of the resolutions committee endorsing Hoover, but the Hoover forces won in a vote on the issue. The convention was otherwise harmonious, electing 24 delegates to the state convention and an equal number to the congressional district convention here next week.

HOOVER ENDORSED. Lansing, Apr. 11.—(P)—In an enthusiastic county convention, Ingham Republicans today endorsed Herbert Hoover for president and pledged their delegates to the state and district conventions to demand Hoover delegates to the national convention. Resolutions were adopted lauding the Coolidge and Green admin-

NEW PLANES TO ARRIVE TODAY

Two of the newly purchased airplanes belonging to the Upper Peninsula Airways, Inc., of the city, will arrive here this afternoon, according to word received by C. H. Westcott last night. The planes will be piloted by W. C. Williams, agent for the Swallow Airplane company of Milwaukee, builders of the planes, and Michael Belmont, instruction pilot, connected with the same company. Stephen A. Murphy, Jr., of the local field, who was attending the "airways" meeting in Milwaukee will make the return trip with them.

Murphy and Williams made a flying trip from Milwaukee to Chicago yesterday. The two men took off for the Illinois city in the morning, spent part of the day in Chicago, and returned to Milwaukee last night.

The two planes are expected to arrive in Escanaba at 2:00 o'clock this afternoon.

Magnus Sorby, 313 South Eighteenth street, who has been seriously ill at his home for some time, is improving, but he will be allowed no company for some time.

East Lansing, Apr. 11.—(P)—Coach Harry Kipke and Glen Stewart, alumni secretary of Michigan State college, expected to leave here tonight for the alumni meeting Saturday at Marquette.

The governor has commended for the interest he has taken in the proposed lakes-to-the-sea waterway. Mrs. G. L. Barber was recommended as alternate delegate from the sixth district to the Kansas City convention.

LOWLY CARP FINDS FRIEND

State Conservation Dept. Says He Isn't So Bad

Lansing, Apr. 11—Black sheep of the fish family—that is the name that many fishermen and even some experts on fish, have attached to the European carp. This rowdy and bad boy, as he is often referred to, caused a great furor in the ranks of sportsmen when he first escaped from stocked ponds and lakes in Michigan and began to raise large families throughout the southern section of the state. He has gained a fairly good foothold in the southern counties although his numbers in the upper peninsula are negligible, at present.

Despite his bad habits, there are some things to be said in favor of the carp, according to a report sent to the Michigan department of conservation by the fish and game department of Ohio. The report says:

May Be Useful.

"A study of his life has revealed several facts that tend to make the unbiased critic believe that he may be put to good use. He is a good fish to have in lakes—in limited numbers—because he acts as a scavenger. The female at various times during the summer, deposits promiscuously in the shallow water among the vegetation from half a million to several millions of eggs and these are fertilized by the male. No protection is given the eggs and the young carp are left to care for themselves. Our game fish, such as the bass, sunfishes, bluegills, rockbass, crappies, and catfishes make nests, protect the eggs and the young, and a carp, snake or turtle in the vicinity is usually put to flight by the parent fish."

The carp is also a good pan fish. If properly cared for. The report goes on to say that it is almost entirely free from internal parasites. In a good many restaurants it is served under other names and those who partake of it invariably admit that it is good, but to the American people in general the name of the carp ranks with that of the muskrat, and the name limits the sale and epicurean value of the fish. If the people of New York relish carp, any they do as is evidenced by the large sales in the open market, it behooves Michigan people to utilize them, and realize after all, that the carp is edible and a cheap source of meat. The young carp are also utilized by the large and small-mouth bass, sunfishes, crappies and white bass as food.

He'll Eat Anything. A number of fishermen object to having carp in the lakes. They say that the carp eat fish eggs, roll the water, destroy the vegetation, eat live fish and other fish food. To a limited extent, this is true depending, of course, upon local conditions. Carp do not seek out fish eggs and eat them. The carp is an omnivorous eater. He will eat almost anything, and vegetation forms a large part of his diet. It is true that he may suck in fish eggs while rooting around on the bottom of the pond, but this is a mere matter of chance, and is not intentional. The mouth of the carp is not adapted to taking live fish because it is small and of the sucker type. In grubbing around the bottom he may accidentally take in a dead fish, or crop off the tender shoots and uproot the vegetation, and to a certain extent roll the shallow water, but the damage

Completes Engineering Course: Earl H. Nelson, son of Mrs. Thelma Nelson, 321 South Seventh street, has completed a course in Lane Technical school in Chicago and has received an Illinois State license for engineering and operating power plants. Mr. Nelson is at present employed by the U. Du Pont de Nemours Company, and has been admitted to membership in the National Association of Power Engineers. He formerly was employed by the Steele-Wallace Company here.

Marriage License: John E. Saul of Turin and Irene Gauthier of Munising have applied for a marriage license at the county clerk's office.

Supervisors Meeting: The Delta county board of supervisors will hold a meeting at the court house today, starting at 10 a. m.

Swedish Baptist Church: Rev. F. Elmquist of Manistique will speak in the Swedish Baptist church this evening at 7:30 o'clock. There will be no preaching service in the church next Sunday because of the absence of the pastor from the city. He is attending the quarterly conference of the Swedish Baptist people of the peninsula, now in session at Iron River.

Not Very Prolific: In inland lakes the carp are not so abundant as generally supposed. The bass, sunfishes, bluegills, or crappies far outnumber them. It is safe to say that all the carp in any lake in the inland fishing district do not destroy as many game fish eggs as one fisherman who will catch twenty-five female adult bluegills during the spring breeding season.

Fred A. Westerman, superintendent of the fish hatcheries of the state, thinks that the carp is in Michigan to stay for some time. "We know that he is here and that at present we know of no effective method of getting rid of him that is both practical and economical," Mr. Westerman stated. "I would suggest that Michigan fishermen and those interested in this phase of conservation see what they can do towards making the most of his presence. Detailed study may bring out some good points."

Given Ten Days: Francis Fluette of Ogontz was sentenced by Justice Hupp of Gladstone to serve ten days in the county jail on conviction on a charge of beating his wife. Officers learned that Fluette obtained some liquor from Archie Turan of Isabella before he came home in a drunken condition and quarreled with his wife. Turan's home was raided by sheriff's officers yesterday and seven quarts of moonshine whisky were seized. Turan probably will be arraigned in justice court today.

Holy Name Notice: Members of the St. Anne's Holy Name society are requested to assemble at St. Anne's church at 8 o'clock tonight to recite the rosary. The body of Lieut. Edmund E. N. Savageau, U. S. army chaplain, will be taken to the church at 4 o'clock this afternoon and will lie in state until the hour of the funeral services, Friday morning.

Candy Sale: The Central Circle of the Ladies' Aid society of the First Methodist church will hold a candy sale in the Peterson Flower Shoppe this afternoon.

Bethany Lutheran Aid: The Ladies' Aid society of Bethany Lutheran church will meet in

STOP BAD BREATH

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

Olive Tablets bring no griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after 20 years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take nightly for a week and note the effect. 15c, 50c, 60c. All Druggists.—Adv.

MEMORIAL TREES.

Cloverland Post, American Legion, proposes to convert a portion of one of the major highways in this locality into a "memory lane" by bordering it with shade trees.

From a standpoint of benefit and pleasure to the public, the plan is ideal. It also contains a sentimental angle that should appeal strongly to everyone.

Then, too, the trees would be a concrete and convincing lesson in reforestation, demonstrating to all who used the highway that the only way in which a tree cut down can be replaced is by planting another tree.

It is sincerely to be hoped that the Legionnaires go through with the plan.

THE WATER QUESTION.

Was it Mark Twain—or wasn't it—who remarked that, although everyone is dissatisfied with the weather most of the time, no one ever does anything about it?

The creosote flavor in Escanaba's city water has been the topic of a good many acrid comments in recent years.

For the purpose of determining whether a practical remedy could be found, the Chamber of Commerce has made a study of the water supply proposition.

The Forum meeting tonight should be—and undoubtedly will be—well attended.

Col. Gabriel Snubbers, who is a candidate for master of the pound, should make a good run, as he has the Kalamazoo Revolver club behind him, shooting at every jump.—Kalamazoo Gazette.

With his eyes as remote and sad and patient as if he had not heard or understood, a word of the constable's insult, a word of the constable's demand, he obeyed, rolling his trousers up to the knees. When the Doubting Thomas representative of the law had pinched Jan's pitifully thin calves and found them to be flesh-and-blood indeed, he passed on, red of face, furious at the snorts of laughter which filled the tent.

"What if he takes a notion to wash my face?" Sally shivered, bending low, in an attitude of mystic concentration, over the crystal which she was pretending to read for a farmer's wife who had no interest in Boffo, the human ostrich, but who did have perfect faith in the powers of "Princess Lalia." "What if he is just pretending to be interested in the other freaks and is really looking for me? Has Nita dared to tip him off that Sally Ford is here?"

But her little sing-song voice droned on, predicting prosperity and happiness and "a journey by land and sea" for the credulous farmer's wife.

"What's your real name, sister?" the constable demanded loudly, officiously, stamping up the steps that led to the little platform.

"Please," Sally pleaded prettily, making her eyes wide and cloudy with mystic visions, "do not enter-up! The veesion she will go away!"

"You let her alone, Sam Pelton!" the farmer's wife commanded tartly. "Go on, Princess Lalia. I think you're just wonderful—knowing about my mother being dead and even her name and all."

And Sally continued the reading with Constable Pelton breathing audibly upon her neck as she bent her small head gravely over the crystal. When she could think of nothing else to tell the highly pleased woman, she was desperate. It seemed to her that every one in the tent was looking at her, reading panic in her trembling fingers, in her fluttering eyelids.

"Gimme a knock-down to my past, present and future, Sister," the constable suggested with heavy sarcasm and jocularity. "Reckon an officer of the law don't have to pay. And you'd better make it a good one, or I'll run you in for obtaining money under false pretenses. Come on now! Miz Holtzman has already give you a good tip-off, and I guess my star speaks for itself. Knowing my name and my business, you ought be able to fake a pretty good line for me, but if you don't tell me my wife's name, how many kids I got, where I come from and anything else I'm a-mind to ask you, I'll make you a present of free board and lodging at the county's expense."

Unknown to Sally, whose eyes were fixed, blind with fear, upon the crystal tightly cupped in her ice-cold palms, Gus, the Barker, had drawn near enough to hear the constable's threats and demands.

"Sure, officer!" he boomed heartily, to Sally's amazement, "just ask the little lady anything you like. She sees all, knows all. Step right up, folks, and hear Princess Lalia, favorite crystal-bazzer to the Sultan of Turkey before she escaped from my harem, tell you fellow-townsmen. Constable Sam Pelton, the truth, the whole truth and something besides the truth—a few things that are going to happen to him that Officer Sam don't yet dream of! Step right up, folks! Don't be bashful! Step-up and get a careful about your esteemed fellow-townsmen and officer of the law."

Sally felt the ice melting slowly in her veins. Dear Gus! He was stalling, gaining time, subtly frightening the constable, whose face had gone redder and redder, whose eyes glanced with furtive unease from the crystal to the "fellow-townsmen," who apparently had no great love for Constable Sam Pelton.

That which Gus had arranged by means of a code signal took place. Two "schillers," hastily summoned by a carnival employe, suddenly broke into loud curses and sharp, slapping blows which echoed in the instantly quiet tent.

"Pick my pocket, would you?" the raucous voice of a "schiller" demanded between slaps and punches. "I seen you—sneakin' your hand in my pocket!"

Constable Pelton, glad to be able to assert his authority, glad also, possibly, to escape a too intimate revelation of his past, bounded from the platform, colored red with the fighting "schillers," and dragged them triumphantly away.

When the last stragglers of the carnival crowd had been ushered rather unceremoniously from the tent, Sally rose from her chair and pattered swiftly to where Gus, the Barker, stood talking with Pop Bybee, owner and manager of Bybee's Bigger and Better Carnival.

"Thank you, Gus! I was scared nearly to death! It was wonderful the way you staid along till those two rubes—she was already becoming familiar with carnival lingo—got into a fight. Wasn't it lucky for me they did?" she added naively.

"Hell, kid!" Gus grinned at her and tilted his derby more rakishly over his left eye. "It was a frame-up. Them's our boys. The guy that pretended to have his pocket picked will swear he made a mistake, and the worst old Sam can do is to have 'em fined for disorderly conduct. I'll square it with 'em, and they'll be in Capital City by show-time tomorrow."

Pop Bybee chuckled richly, his bright, pale-blue eyes gleaming in the lobster-red expanse of his old face. "Didn't I tell you, child, that the law couldn't touch you long as you stuck with the carnival? Dave tells me you're babbling about running away again because we're hitting the trail for your home town tonight. You stick, Sally. Pop Bybee and Gus and the rest of us will take care of you."

Sally's lips parted to tell him of Nita's threat to tip off the police if she did not relinquish her claim upon David's love and friendship, but before the first word tumbled out, the old inhibition against tattling, taught her in the stern school of life in an orphanage, restrained her.

"You're all so good to me," she choked, then turned abruptly away to where "Pitty Sink," the midget, was impatiently awaiting her human sedan-chair.

"I don't want to influence you unduly," the midget piped in her prim, little voice, "but Mr. Bybee and Gus are right. You are safer with the carnival than anywhere else in the state, and if you ran away I should be very sorry. I like you, Sally. I like you very much."

The dress tent was taken down by the "white hopes" almost before the women performers had had time to change from show clothes to nightgowns and kimono. By 12 o'clock the lot was as bare of tents and booths and ferris wheels and motordromes and "whips" and merry-go-rounds as if those mechanical symbols of joy and fun had never existed.

And Sally lay on the lumpy, smelly mattress of her upper berth in the ancient Pullman car, waiting for her David's whistled signal—a bar of "Always." She was fully dressed.

Her heart sang the words "I'll be loving you—always! Not for just an hour, not for just a day, not for just a year, but—always!"

She could have sent word to David by Gus or Pop Bybee that she had given up her frantic plan to run away; that he need not meet her in the darkness of the pulsing, hot June night. But—she had not—

It came then—clear and true, the whistled notes of the song which her heart sang to David—"I'll be loving you—always!"

She edged over the side of the berth, the toe of her slipper groping until it found the edge of the lower berth in which the midget was sleeping. When she was safe in the aisle she cast a fearful glance up and down the car, and noted with uneasy surprise that Nita's berth, directly opposite the midget's, was still unoccupied, the green curtains spread wide so that the grayish-white blur of the sheet and pillow was plainly discernible in the faint light from the one electric globe over the door.

"Being in love hurts something terrible," Sally shook her head at her own turbulent emotions, unconsciously employing the homely language of the orphanage.

"But even if he doesn't love me I'm glad I love him, David, David!"

The Piffle Hook

THIS COLUMB steps forward this morning with a sweeping suggestion that the constitution of the United States be amended in several particulars. The program we offer perhaps will be called radical, but we feel that some stringent measures are absolutely necessary if the rights of the ordinary individual survive.

To stem the rising tides of bigotry and intolerance, the waves of censorship and similar encroachments, we suggest that the following amendment be adopted:

"Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances."

In order to protect the people in their homes from the super-sensuous activities of the Society for Making Morality Obnoxious, we suggest that this amendment be written into the constitution:

"The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures shall not be violated, and no warrants shall issue but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized."

It is very probable that the learned judges of the country, who regard the day's work as utterly lost if they fail to issue at least three injunctions and pronounce one or more sentences for contempt of court, will disagree violently with the following suggestion for an amendment:

"No person shall be subject for the same offense to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty or property, without due process of law. . . . In all criminal prosecutions the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury. . . . Excessive bail shall not be required nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted."

We also have an idea that the prohibition question could be speedily settled if the following amendment were attached to the federal constitution:

"The manufacture, sale, or transportation of intoxicating liquors within, the importation thereof into, or the exportation thereof from the United States and all territory subject to the jurisdiction thereof for beverage purposes is hereby prohibited."

We admit that many of these suggestions are radical departures from the usual process of things, but we insist that they are needed. We wish that a copy of them might be placed in the hands of every public official.

GIRL ALONE

CHAPTER XXII

"Poor kid!" David consoled her after her first almost hysterical outburst. "I can't talk to you now, and you shouldn't be here. You've got to go back for your last performance. The show has to go on. They've been decent to us, and we can't throw them over without warning."

"But David, we've got to run away again!" Sally whimpered, clinging to both his arms, bare to the shoulders in anticipation of his work in helping to load the carnival for its 30-mile drag to the capital. "We can't go back to Capital City! We'll be caught! Listen, David—"

"Go back to your show tent," David commanded her sternly. "I'll be working pretty late helping to load up, but I'll whistle a bar from 'Always' under your Pullman window. We all sleep on the train tonight, and pull out for Capital City some time before morning. We pick up the engine at three o'clock, I believe. Plenty of time then to decide what to do."

"He took her a little to make her stop shivering and whimpering with fear. "Buck up, honey! I'm not going to let the police get you; neither is Pop Bybee. Dear little Sally!" and he stooped from his great height to brush the tip of her short, brown-powdered nose with his lips.

During the last performance in the Palace of Wonders a village constable, his star shining importantly from the lapel of his Palm Beach suit, sauntered leisurely through the tent, eyeing the freaks with skeptical amusement and asking all the Smart-Aleck questions which the carnival crowd longed to ask and did not dare.

"Be you wouldn't let me put any of that glass you're eatin' in my coffee," he guffawed at the rich man whom Gus, the Barker, was ballyhooping at the moment. "I'm on to all you guys. Rock candy, ain't it?"

"Sure, officer," Gus interrupted his spiel to answer deferentially. "Won't you have a little smack with the human ostrich? I particularly recommend these nails. Boffo eats only the choicest six-penny nails; will accept no substitutes. And if a nail's rusty, Boffo is! Have a handful of glass and nails with Boffo, officer! Big-hearted, that's Boffo!"

The constable refused hastily and the crowd roared with delight. The disgruntled officer of the law ambled over to make his disparaging inspection of Jan, the giant from Holland.

"Pull up your pants legs and let me see your stiffs," the constable ordered authoritatively. "I ain't the sucker you guys think I am. I'm on to your tricks—been going to carnivals man and boy for 50 years."

With his eyes as remote and sad and patient as if he had not heard or understood, a word of the constable's insult, a word of the constable's demand, he obeyed, rolling his trousers up to the knees. When the Doubting Thomas representative of the law had pinched Jan's pitifully thin calves and found them to be flesh-and-blood indeed, he passed on, red of face, furious at the snorts of laughter which filled the tent.

"What if he takes a notion to wash my face?" Sally shivered, bending low, in an attitude of mystic concentration, over the crystal which she was pretending to read for a farmer's wife who had no interest in Boffo, the human ostrich, but who did have perfect faith in the powers of "Princess Lalia." "What if he is just pretending to be interested in the other freaks and is really looking for me? Has Nita dared to tip him off that Sally Ford is here?"

But her little sing-song voice droned on, predicting prosperity and happiness and "a journey by land and sea" for the credulous farmer's wife.

"What's your real name, sister?" the constable demanded loudly, officiously, stamping up the steps that led to the little platform.

"Please," Sally pleaded prettily, making her eyes wide and cloudy with mystic visions, "do not enter-up! The veesion she will go away!"

"You let her alone, Sam Pelton!" the farmer's wife commanded tartly. "Go on, Princess Lalia. I think you're just wonderful—knowing about my mother being dead and even her name and all."

And Sally continued the reading with Constable Pelton breathing audibly upon her neck as she bent her small head gravely over the crystal. When she could think of nothing else to tell the highly pleased woman, she was desperate. It seemed to her that every one in the tent was looking at her, reading panic in her trembling fingers, in her fluttering eyelids.

"Gimme a knock-down to my past, present and future, Sister," the constable suggested with heavy sarcasm and jocularity. "Reckon an officer of the law don't have to pay. And you'd better make it a good one, or I'll run you in for obtaining money under false pretenses. Come on now! Miz Holtzman has already give you a good tip-off, and I guess my star speaks for itself. Knowing my name and my business, you ought be able to fake a pretty good line for me, but if you don't tell me my wife's name, how many kids I got, where I come from and anything else I'm a-mind to ask you, I'll make you a present of free board and lodging at the county's expense."

Unknown to Sally, whose eyes were fixed, blind with fear, upon the crystal tightly cupped in her ice-cold palms, Gus, the Barker, had drawn near enough to hear the constable's threats and demands.

"Sure, officer!" he boomed heartily, to Sally's amazement, "just ask the little lady anything you like. She sees all, knows all. Step right up, folks, and hear Princess Lalia, favorite crystal-bazzer to the Sultan of Turkey before she escaped from my harem, tell you fellow-townsmen. Constable Sam Pelton, the truth, the whole truth and something besides the truth—a few things that are going to happen to him that Officer Sam don't yet dream of! Step right up, folks! Don't be bashful! Step-up and get a careful about your esteemed fellow-townsmen and officer of the law."

Sally felt the ice melting slowly in her veins. Dear Gus! He was stalling, gaining time, subtly frightening the constable, whose face had gone redder and redder, whose eyes glanced with furtive unease from the crystal to the "fellow-townsmen," who apparently had no great love for Constable Sam Pelton.

That which Gus had arranged by means of a code signal took place. Two "schillers," hastily summoned by a carnival employe, suddenly broke into loud curses and sharp, slapping blows which echoed in the instantly quiet tent.

"Pick my pocket, would you?" the raucous voice of a "schiller" demanded between slaps and punches. "I seen you—sneakin' your hand in my pocket!"

Constable Pelton, glad to be able to assert his authority, glad also, possibly, to escape a too intimate revelation of his past, bounded from the platform, colored red with the fighting "schillers," and dragged them triumphantly away.

When the last stragglers of the carnival crowd had been ushered rather unceremoniously from the tent, Sally rose from her chair and pattered swiftly to where Gus, the Barker, stood talking with Pop Bybee, owner and manager of Bybee's Bigger and Better Carnival.

MARRIED WOMEN WORKING.

You still hear, now and then, repetitions of the arguments that raged so furiously a few years ago—whether or not married women should work outside the home.

Now Miss Mary Anderson, head of the Women's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor, announces that there are 2,000,000 married women gainfully employed in the United States. Furthermore, she asserts that all but a very few of them are working because they have to and not because they want to.

"Very few women choose to carry two jobs for the pleasure of doing it," says Miss Anderson. "Only about two per cent of the employed married women work for luxuries or a career."

One concludes that the issue isn't a very fine one, after all. Most women, when they get married, prefer to stay at home, unless financial conditions compel them to go to work. That, at least, is what one infers from Miss Anderson's statement.

COUNTY G. O. P. BACKS HOOVER

Republican Delegation to State Convention Chosen

Republicans of Delta county, in one of the most harmonious and enthusiastic conventions in the history of this county, yesterday adopted resolutions endorsing the candidacy of Herbert Hoover for president of the United States and unstintingly lauding President Calvin Coolidge and the national Republican administration. Congressmen Frank P. Bohn and the entire Republican state administration, headed by Governor Fred W. Green, at the opening of the convention, Senator H. J. Rushton was named as chairman of the convention and County Clerk George E. Harvey, as convention secretary, after the meeting had been formally called to order by County Chairman W. H. Needham.

A committee of three, composed of T. E. Strom, E. J. Kirkpatrick and W. H. Needham, was named to present to the convention a list of seven delegates, to attend the congressional district convention at Petoskey, on April 23, and the Republican state convention at Detroit, on April 25.

The delegates and alternates named by the convention follow: C. A. Clark, Gladstone; Senator H. J. Rushton, W. H. Needham, William Bonifas, D. P. MacRae and John P. Norton, Escanaba, and G. E. Weingartner, Rock.

Alternates: Pierce Cameron, Nahma; James McPherson, Rapid River; George Judd Yelland, T. E. Strom, Judge E. Harvey, Escanaba; Charles Gauthier, Garden, and Walter Richer, Escanaba township. Mrs. Otto Larson of Maple Ridge township was elected vice chairman of the Republican county committee for the ensuing year.

A committee on resolutions, composed of C. C. Stephenson, William Bonifas and John P. Norton, presented the following resolutions to the convention, which were most enthusiastically adopted:

RESOLUTIONS.

The Republicans of Delta County, in County Convention assembled, at the City of Escanaba, Delta County, Michigan, on the eleventh day of April, A. D. 1928, hereby endorse the administration of President Coolidge and the efforts they have made for the whole people, which has contributed to the prosperity of the Nation and established the Government on a sound basis of honest government; and we especially approve of the record made by our present Congressman, Frank P. Bohn.

For President of the United States, we endorse the candidacy of Honorable Herbert Hoover. In the world crisis he was, by common consent of the governments, included with the United States in the World War, selected to perform tasks requiring extraordinary executive ability and initiative, without precedent to guide him and dependent on his own resources, he designed plans for countless multitudes confronted by the apalling confusion caused by contending armies. The skill and poise with which he organized relief work, and salvaged the safety and lives of suffering nations, awakened the applause of the world and earned for him the gratitude of millions of his fellow men. His dynamic energy, his superior judgment, and his genius for organization, displayed in the stress of trying circumstances, inspire confidence in his ability and prove his capacity for leadership.

We, therefore, support his candidacy for the high office of President and urge Republicans everywhere to vote for the nomination of Herbert Hoover. And we especially request the delegates to the Congressional Convention of the Eleventh Congressional District and to the State Convention, now called, to support the delegates to the National Convention, who are his avowed and staunch supporters, and who will vote for him as long as he has a reasonable chance of being nominated.

We affirm our confidence in the Republican Party, its principles and its leaders. We believe that in Republican success at the approaching November Election will lie an assurance of the continued prosperity of our Country, a sane and just foreign policy, and an administration that will reflect the greatness of the American people.

We endorse the State administration of Governor Green and all of our State officials. Each has made a special effort to improve the administration of the different State offices, until now we truly have a State Government of the people. The State Republican administration has shown extraordinary ability in handling the important affairs of the State, and we have every reason to believe that the record the State Republican administration has made, headed by Governor Green, will be continued, and that the people will reap the benefits of an honest and efficient administration of the law.

Shoe Department Greatly Improved

Considerable improvements have been made at the Young & Fillion store during the past two weeks, particularly in the shoe department.

Hereafter, the section which was occupied by the general shoe department will be devoted exclusively to women's and children's shoes, making it one of the biggest exclusive shops in this section. Space has been provided in the men's clothing section for the carrying of a large line of men's shoes.

The saxophone was invented by a Belgian musician, Antoine Sax, in 1843.

WATER SUPPLY FORUM TOPIC

Milwaukee Engineer Will Speak at Meeting Tonight

F. M. Gray, Jr., of Milwaukee, who has had wide experience in solving water supply problems, will be the principal speaker tonight at a Chamber of Commerce forum meeting in the Delta hotel. His topic will be: "An Artesian Well Water Supply for Escanaba—Is It Practical and Economical?"
The firm with which Mr. Gray is associated has drilled scores of artesian wells in all parts of the country, including the one now in operation in the Chicago & Northwestern yards here. He will answer any questions concerning artesian wells and water that those in his audience may care to ask. It was announced.
Many who have studied the local situation believe that artesian wells offer the only practical solution to the present situation here. Many cities in this section of the country have turned from lake supplies to wells for their water. Among them are Cheboygan, Petoskey, Holland, Grand Haven and Manistee, Michigan, and Green Bay, Fond du Lac, Manitowoc, Madison, Neenah and Superior, Wisconsin.
Reservations received at the Chamber of Commerce offices indicated that the forum will be well attended.

LADY MAYORESS TO BE ELECTED AT MANISTIQUE

Selection of a lady mayor to guide the destinies of the city for a two-year term is one of the outstanding events in "Madam The Boss," a home talent show with an unusual plot, which will be presented at the Gero theater today under auspices of the Manistique W. O. W. band. Politics, love, discord and comedy are intermixed in the theme of this three-act drama.

The show will first be presented at a matinee performance scheduled for 4:15, and again in the evening, with curtain time at 8:15. There are no reservations for the afternoon show, and plenty of seats are available. Although reservations for the night show have been going on briskly the house is not sold out as yet, and there will be about 100 good seats to be sold at the door for those who did not secure them in advance, the ticket committee reported.

Due to the length of the main show, only one between-act specialty will be introduced, and this will be after the first act, a chalk talk by Charles Cook of the Gero and Santo players. Special orchestra music will be provided during the show and between acts.

Players who will take part in "Madam The Boss," are as follows:

Sally Webster, a resourceful stenographer—Miss Monica Jones.

John Watts, a young lawyer, candidate for mayor—Sig Bergland.

Sammy Bright, the Boss' publicity man—Homer LaFolle.

Robert Higgins, political boss of the city—Dan Danielson.

Gilda Wakefield, his private secretary—Miss Eileen McLaughlin.

Henry Wakefield, Gilda's father—Charles Cook.

Mrs. Robert Higgins, wife of the Boss—Kathleen Tracy.

SEVEN SCHOOLS TO COMPETE IN SUB-DISTRICT

Orators and declaimers from seven upper peninsula high schools will gather at Manistique Friday for the sub-district contest. The event will take place at the high school auditorium, starting at 8 p. m.

Manistique high will have representatives in both divisions of the contest. Donnell Sigler will deliver "Toussaint L'Overture" and his selection in declamation, and Miss Margaret Perry will give an oration on "Chemical Warfare."

Other entrants will be:

Declaratory—Robert Malcolm—Sault Ste. Marie.

Lidia Altman—Rudyard.

Katherine Kunert—Newberry.

Norbert Todd—St. Joseph's Parochial, Escanaba.

George Cameron—Gladstone.

George Harvey—Escanaba.

Oratory—Needham Fagan—Sault Ste. Marie.

George Newmark—Newberry.

Leslie Sullivan—St. Joseph's Parochial.

Helen A. Snyder—Escanaba.

COUNTY BOARD WILL CONVENE IN CITY TODAY

An organization meeting of the Schoolcraft county board of supervisors has been called for today at the court house in Manistique.

As a result of the recent election, there will be four new members on the board today. The recruits are: Matthew Brearley, Doyle township; George Gray Inwood; Harold Olson, Seney; Alex Macklin, Germfask; August Carlson and Harry Eriksen, city of Manistique.

There are but few matters of business to come before the supervisors today, and it is expected that the session will be a short one.

OLD RESIDENT PASSES AWAY

Mrs. Henry Bourbonnais Dies at Home, North Tenth Street

Mrs. Catherine Bourbonnais, a resident of Gladstone for the past 25 years, died at 3 o'clock Wednesday morning at the family home, 582 North Tenth street.

Mrs. Bourbonnais had been ill for three weeks. She was taken ill with an attack of influenza which developed into pneumonia. Complications resulting in pleurisy of the heart caused her death.

She was 60 years of age.

Surviving are her husband, Henry Bourbonnais, five daughters and one son: Mrs. John Derosha, Henry Earl Bourbonnais, who is in the hospital at Camp Custer, Battle Creek, suffering from a nervous breakdown; Mrs. William Bryan of Gladstone; Mrs. Percy Hubble of Iron Mountain, who with Mr. Fubbe arrived last night; Mrs. Clara Martin of Gladstone and Mrs. Alphonse Belongie of Gladstone.

In addition, 18 grandchildren and one great grandchild survive.

The body was taken to the Allo Funeral home to be prepared for burial and will be returned to the home today.

Funeral services will be held Saturday morning at 9 o'clock from All Saints' Catholic church and burial will be made in Fernwood cemetery.

Mrs. Bourbonnais lived in Gladstone 25 years and had a wide circle of friends who deeply regret her death.

DELEGATES LEAVE FOR CONFERENCE

Rev. C. E. Olsson, pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church, Mrs. Nels Olson and C. W. Elquist left this morning for Norway where they will attend the annual meeting of the Superior conference of the Lutheran Augustana Synod.

The meetings open today and continue through Sunday.

Those attending will be ministers and laymen from all parts of upper Michigan and western Wisconsin. Thirty-five pastors will attend and delegates representing 65 congregations.

The convention of the Woman's Missionary society will be held in connection with the Synod meeting, its sessions opening Friday and continuing for three days through Sunday.

Rev. Mr. Olsson of this city who is president of the Board of Charities, will report on the activities of the past year and will give a talk this afternoon at the 2 o'clock session on "The Pastor's Care of His Own Spiritual Life and That of Others."

Rev. Mr. Olsson will return to Gladstone on Sunday, as will Mr. Elquist, delegate of the church, and Mrs. Olson, representative of the Missionary society. The pastor will be back in time to conduct the evening service but there will be no morning service, aside from the Sunday school meeting at 9:30 o'clock.

MRS. SMITH SERVICE HERE THIS MORNING

Funeral services for Mrs. William H. Smith, 48, whose death Sunday left motherless fourteen children, will be held in Gladstone this morning.

The service will be held at All Saints' Catholic church at 9 o'clock. Rev. Father Sebastian Maier, pastor of the church, officiating.

Following the services at the church the body will be taken to Fernwood cemetery where burial will be made in the family lot.

pallbearers will be Phil Louis, Delore Deloria, Joseph Tekmount, Roy Baby, Alphonse Vermillion and John Noblet.

Mrs. Smith was known to many people here and the services today will be attended by many sorrowing relatives and friends.

Members of Sacred Heart Court, Catholic Order of Foresters, of which Mrs. Smith was a member, will attend the services in a body.

Shirley Davis submitted to an operation for relief from appendicitis Wednesday afternoon at St. Francis hospital, Escanaba. His condition, late reports said, was as well as could be expected.

Browns Defeat Tigers in Opening Game, 4 to 1

SIX HITS SCORE FOUR SAFETIES

Josh Billings Knocked Out of Box by St. Louis Batsmen

Detroit, Apr. 11.—(AP)—The St. Louis Browns invaded the Tiger lair in the inaugural game of the American League season for the two teams here today to defeat Detroit, 4 to 1. Haskell "Josh" Billings, former Brown university pitching star, was driven from the mound after the revamped St. Louis team led by former Tiger player, had pounded out six hits for a total of four runs aided by two costly Detroit errors. More than 40,000 persons witnessed the game.

Lu Blue, Brown first baseman, who was swapped last winter to St. Louis in the deal which gave Detroit Harry Rice, fleet center fielder, led the attack against his former mates. Blue drove in two runs in the sixth with a double, sufficient alone to defeat the Tigers. Heinie Manush, another former Tiger, also contributed heavily, scoring two runs and driving out a double and a single.

City and state participated in the opening ceremonies, Mayor John C. Lodge of Detroit, hurling the first ball at Governor Fred W. Gram.

Sam Gray, former Athletic pitcher, held the Tigers in check, withstanding eleven Detroit players lunge on the bases.

Two Delta County Teams to Compete in Lawrence Meet

Appleton, Wis., Apr. 11 (Special)—Twenty-five high schools including two from Michigan cities have already entered the interstate interscholastic track and field meet sponsored by Lawrence College and set for May 19. Invitations have been sent to all the schools in Wisconsin and in the nearby cities of neighboring states. Entries will not close until April 20 and a large number of schools which have been making inquiries are expected to enroll by that time.

Escanaba and Gladstone are the two Michigan schools that have already signed up for the tourney. From Illinois entries have been received from Hyde Park and Lindbloom High Schools, Chicago and Peking, Ill. High School. The crack Riverside High of Milwaukee has also decided to enter. The meet will be divided into two divisions, class A for schools with an enrollment of over 750 and class B for those with smaller enrollment.

JACK DEMPSEY IN NEW YORK

Former Champion Says He Is Through With Fight Business

New York, Apr. 11.—(AP)—Jack Dempsey came back to New York today to dispel any lingering idea that he will change his mind and agree to fight Gene Tunney for the third time. The old Manassa Mauler is through, he declared flatly, and all the gold in the vaults of Tex Rickard's six hundred millionaires couldn't lure him back into the ring.

The gang was all there to greet the big ex-champion, about 2,000 strong, and give him as big a reception as he ever knew when he was champion of the world.

"Say it ain't so, Jack," a big fellow in the crowd roared, but later, when the newspapermen could get him in a huddle, Jack admitted it was all true, that he had had enough of the ring after 18 years, enough money and enough sense to know it was time to quit.

For the purpose of battling Jack Kearns, his former manager, in a legal ring for a purse of over $700,000, Dempsey came back today to the spot where he knocked out Jack Sharkey last summer and inaugurated a comeback campaign that ended in glory—but failure—against Gene Tunney on the shores of Lake Michigan in September. He expects to stay here a month while the trial is on. While here he expects to see Tex Rickard.

"Rickard is my pal," Dempsey said, "and I'd do anything in the world for him. Tex would be the first to agree that my ring days are over, but I'll say this: If I ever have to fight again, for any reason, it will be for Tex."

Ted Morgan Signs to Defend Title Against Martin

New York, Apr. 11.—(AP)—Tod Morgan of Seattle, Wash., junior lightweight champion, signed articles today to defend his title against Cannonball Eddie Martin, former bantamweight king, in a 15-round bout at Madison Square Garden, May 4. Martin already has signed for the match to be fought at the class limit of 130 pounds.

SPOTLIGHT ON NEW PLAYERS

Rookies Star While Older Men Have Trouble in Opening Games

(By The Associated Press.)

Rookies held a big share of the opening major league spotlight as cold weather chilled the enthusiasm of the veterans.

Newcomers such as Andy Cohen of the Giants, Whitney of the Phillies, Cissell of the White Sox and Purdy of the Reds were stars at bat, while Hellmann, Cobb, Cuyler and Hornsby found trouble getting the range.

Paul Waner, National League batting king, got off to a flying start with three hits, including a double, off Cardinal twirling Babe Ruth didn't collect a homer, but banged out a triple, walked twice and scored three runs.

Here's what the "Big Six" of 1928 did on opening day:

Player	Team	AB	R	H	Pct.
P. Waner	Pirates	5	2	3	.600
Ruth	Yankees	3	3	1	.333
Cobb	Athletics	3	0	1	.333
Cuyler	Cubs	3	0	1	.333
Hellmann	Tigers	4	0	1	.250
Hornsby	Braves	4	0	1	.250

Cleveland Indians Trim White Sox, 8-2

Chicago, Apr. 11.—(AP)—Cleveland walloped the Chicago White Sox, 8 to 2, in the opening game of the American League season today before a crowd of 30,000. The weather was chilly but a warm sun from a cloudless sky beamed down on the playing field.

The Cleveland sluggers tagged Ted Lyons and Connally who relieved him in the eighth for thirteen hits, while George Uhle, although touched for nine safeties, was seldom in danger, due to faultless support.

The White Sox played a ragged game in the field, committing four errors which helped Cleveland in their run getting.

The score: R. H. E.
 Cleveland ... 021 000 302—8 13 0
 Chicago ... 000 200 000—2 9 4

Andrew Payne Holds Lead in Marathon

Bridgeport, Okla., Apr. 11.—(AP)—Holding his lead in the cross-country footrace as it approaches his home town of Claremore, Okla., Andrew Payne again today raced a dead heat with Peter Gavuzzi, Southampton, England, his most persistent runner-up.

Today's run from Clinton to Bridgeport, 35.4 miles, was negotiated by Payne and Gavuzzi in five hours, 28 minutes and 30 seconds. Yesterday, the two men came in together after a 50-mile run in 8 hours, 21 minutes, 40 seconds.

Payne's elapsed time of 240:52:29 for the 142.1 miles from Los Angeles gives him approximately an hour and 25 minutes lead over Gavuzzi, who has pressed him for first place since the runners entered Oklahoma three days ago.

In the third place more than 20 hours behind the leaders, was John Salo, Passiac, N. J., who also finished third in today's run. His time for today was 5:55:23, with an elapsed time of 260:37:52. Oil Wanttinen, New York, fourth in elapsed time, came in fourth in today's trek in the time of 6:05:32. His elapsed time is 275:35:44.

HEART STOPS 7 HOURS.

New York—Seven hours after his heart action had stopped, J. H. Scott, 50, of Montclair, Essex County, N. J., was revived by Dr. Henry C. Harris of Glen Ridge, N. J., and apparently is on the road to recovery.

His heart trouble, physicians claim, was caused from over-exertion in an election campaign in which he was elected county clerk for the third time.

YANKS TROUNCE ATHLETICS, 8-3

Lefty Grove Unable to Stem Attack of New York Batsmen

Philadelphia, Apr. 11.—(AP)—Lefty Grove could not stop the New York Yankees in the opening of the American League season today, and the world champions won from the Athletics, 8 to 3.

About 20,000 shivering spectators defying the bitterly cold weather saw the Athletics' crack southpaw fill the bases on three passes in the second and permit his rival left-hander, Herb Pennock, to drive two runs in with a single. In the next inning the Yankees bunched hits to score three more. That finished Grove and two recruits, Shores and Powers, pitched the remainder of the game.

Babe Ruth scored three runs without the aid of a homer. He walked twice and hit a triple. Ty Cobb, starting his 24th year in the major leagues, singled on his first appearance at bat, and drew two passes. Tyris Speaker in his debut as a Philadelphia player, failed to hit safely.

Herb Pennock pitched the whole game for the winners and was not threatened.

Track Schedule for E. H. S. Is Good This Year

If finances permit, the Escanaba high school track schedule this season will be the best that has ever been offered at that institution. The tentative schedule calls for a seven meet season including trips to Madison, for the Wisconsin state interscholastic, to Milwaukee for the northern Wisconsin interscholastic.

Meets that will be of special importance to local followers of track are the Escanaba-St. Joseph dual meet here on May 12, the upper peninsula relay carnival here on June 2, and the upper peninsula track and field meet at Menominee on June 9. On May 24 the Escanaba tracksters will journey to Negaunee to uphold the reputation that they have established there in the past by coping that meet for the last five years.

The tentative program, although not official as yet, follows:

April 28—Wisconsin state interscholastic at Madison.
 May 5—National high school relay carnival at Milwaukee.
 May 12—St. Joseph here. Dual.
 May 19—Lawrence college meet at Appleton.
 May 19—(tentative) State regional at Negaunee.
 May 26—Marquette county meet at Negaunee.
 June 2—Upper peninsula relay carnival here.
 June 9—Upper peninsula track meet at Menominee.

 Boston, Apr. 11.—(AP)—A crowd of 10,000 braved the cold to watch Washington defeat Boston, 8 to 4, in the first major league game here this season. Marberry pitched well for Washington, but the Red Sox' four hurlers were wild and erratic, walking eight. Ken Williams tickled the home fans in the sixth when he crashed a homer into the right field stands with a man on base. Gov. Alvin T. Fuller huffed out the first ball.

Byrne-Gorman Go in Green Bay on Monday Evening

Some facts about Green Bay's "Metropolitan Boxing Card."
 Date: Monday, April 16, 1928.
 Place: Columbus Auditorium, Green Bay.
 First Bout: 8:30.
 Preliminaries: 3 good bouts which include a return match, Al Kubiak, Pulaski and K. O. Walter Madye, Chicago at 190 lbs.
 Seating Capacity: 2800.
 Main Bout: Bud Gorman, New York, vs. Jimmy Byrne, Louisville, Ky., at 205 pounds.
 Gorman managed by Leo P. Flynn, is Dempsey's training partner and has met such leaders in his division as Tom Heeney, Jack Gaylor, Jim Maloney, Young Stribley, Harry Perrson, Franz Diener, in both America and Europe. He was an A. E. F. runner-up and is Wisconsin American Legion Champion.
 Byrne is managed by Walk Miller, Deacon Tiger Flowers old boss and is rated with the best heavyweights. Stribley, Joe Sekyra, Chuck Wittgins, are among his recent antagonists.
 Gorman is 30. Byrne is 24. Gorman is 6 ft 1 in. tall. Byrne, 6 ft 1 in. Gorman has had 63 bouts. 15 of these were knockouts. He has lost but 4 of the 63 bouts by decisions.
 Byrne has had 46 scraps in his whirlwind 4 year career. He has never been knocked out and has knocked out 13 of his opponents. He has 21 decisions and has lost but 4 engagements.

Viewed from any angle whatsoever, the Brown County Boxing Club, at Green Bay appears to have drawn a sweet reward when it succeeded in getting contracts which matched Jimmy Byrne, the flashy giant-killer from the hills of Kentucky with Bud Gorman a former Wisconsin favorite, who has long since stepped up into the company of the great and mixes jaunts to Scandinavia and the continent in with his American bouts, to add new laurels to the wreath the fans have woven for him.

In the first place the scrap will likely bring together the largest company of fight patrons seen in northern Badgerland in many moons, and in the second place these numerous fans will undoubtedly be treated in a real metropolitan boxing show, for Gorman and Byrne have been doing very nicely for years without having to meet each other. That they have been roped by a small town club is a smart piece of maneuvering by the matchmakers and promoters at the Bay and their show promises to be a mitt affair with a decided big city color.

Blindfolded... in scientific test of leading Cigarettes, Mrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt selects OLD GOLD

How Test Was Made

Mrs. Vanderbilt was blindfolded, and, in the presence of two responsible witnesses, was given one each of the four leading cigarettes to smoke... To clear the taste, coffee was served before each cigarette... Mrs. Vanderbilt was unaware of the identity of these cigarettes during test... After smoking the four cigarettes, Mrs. Vanderbilt was asked to designate by number her choice... She immediately replied: "Number 3"... which was OLD GOLD.

GIANTS DEFEAT BRAVES, 5 TO 2

35,000 Shivering Fans See Opening Game in New York

New York, Apr. 11—(P)—Andy Cohen outplayed the famous veteran he succeeded, Rogers Hornsby, today as the New York Giants walloped the Boston Braves, 5 to 2, before a shivering crowd of 35,000 fans.

While Hornsby was held to a solitary single, Cohen sparked around second base and led the giant attack with his sensational hitting, scoring two runs and driving in two others. The young Jewish star was given an ovation and carried from the field by a crowd of admirers.

Benton carried off the pitching honors, but his rival, Bob Smith, accounted for the only Boston runs with a homer with Burros on base. Eddie Roush roamed the outfield far and wide to make eight putouts.

Spartans to Open Home Season Today
East Lansing, Apr. 11—(P)—Michigan State college spartans will start their baseball season on the local diamond Thursday afternoon when they meet the veteran Adrian college nine. Acting President R. S. Shaw will throw the first ball of the season and Prof. O. E. Read, chairman of the athletic council, will receive it.

Tolles, southpaw hurler, who went through the season last year with only two defeats and who won two victories on the spring trip in the south, will start for the spartans. Coach John Kobs last night said McCauley at shortstop, Crall at third base, and Davis at right field were the only other three men who were sure to start.

Cardinals Get Off to Flying Start; Defeat Pennant Winners, 14-7

St. Louis, Apr. 11—(P)—The St. Louis Cardinals got off to a flying start in the 1928 National League pennant race by walloping the Pittsburgh Pirates, last year's flag winners, 14 to 7, here today.

Everybody on the Cardinal team took a hand in the slugging, each player pulling up with at least one hit. Frankie Frisch and Jim Bottomley led with three hits apiece, Frisch

Just a few days ago, a Rice Institute sprinter named Claude Bracey ran the hundred in 9 5/10 seconds at the Texas relays. A stiff wind aided him down the track. His record probably won't be sanctioned as official, but—what about Bracey?

"It is no flash—the kid is good," says Claude Rothgeb, athletic director, now at Rice and former Illinois athlete.

Rothgeb should know his 18-year-old youngster. And he does. He tells you about Bracey in cold words of previous performances.

Bracey, as a high school sprinter, was one of the best in the state. As a college sprinter, he has held his own.

Only recently he took part in the annual indoor carnival staged by Illinois. He ran the 75-yard event, something new to him. The record time up to that meet was 7.6.

He had to run in five heats. He made 7.5 in his first try, then 7.7, then 7.8, then 7.7, and finally 7.8. And in the finals a Notre Dame runner won by a hair by breaking the record with a mark of 7.4.

Rothgeb, while satisfied with Bracey's performances to date, thinks the youngster will develop into one of the greatest sprinters in the world within a few years if he will work towards that goal. He already is considered a good bet for the Olympic team this summer.

When California adds 20,000 more seats to their Memorial Stadium, they then will have the largest stadium in the world.

Soldiers' Field at Chicago has accommodated 110,000 at a football game, but seats only a few more than 90,000 people. Stanford's stadium seats 88,000 and Yale's great bowl accommodates 84,000. California plans to beat that.

The stadium now accommodates more than 80,000 fans, and a new double-deck will add 20,000 seats, giving more than 100,000 seats to be had for football games.

The cost of the addition will be approximately $750,000.

For the second year in succession, "Heinie" Groh will captain the Illinois swimming team this season. Groh deserves the honor as he is Big Ten diving champion and was runner-up for the national title in 1927.

Hooks and Slides

Two of America's foremost athletes, Helen Wills and Walter Hagen, will be in England soon to prepare for the opening of the international sport season.

The invasion of the American woman tennis champion looks like a pre-ordained march of triumph, as there isn't a single player on the other side who should endanger her possession of the Wimbledon championship.

The prospects for Hagen's success in his match with Archie Compston and in the British open championship can't be figured accurately. Considering what kind of a game the Hag has been capable of in the past, the first guess would be that he will beat Compston and that he will be one of the leaders in the open tournament.

But Hagen has been idle all through the winter tournament campaigns. He allowed Mac Smith, Johnny Farrell and the others to carry away the rich prizes while he remained out of competition.

For this reason some of the critics believe that he will not be able to get his game back in championship working order on such short notice. It may be, however, that his game will respond quicker because of his layoff. If anyone had a stage of staleness coming to him, Hagen was due for it, as he had been golfing day after day, season into season, for years.

Jones Not Going Over
Bobby Jones still insists that he can't neglect his infant law trade in Atlanta long enough to go to England to defend his British open championship. There is no doubt that Bobby is serious in his statement that the duty of making a career in law must make his golf secondary, but he may not be able to resist the temptation.

On his first tour of the season around his home course recently, he turned in a beautiful 64 and he wasn't shooting against his record 63. His shots were just dropping well for him. A few more of those 64s and some under 70s on other courses may bring the fever back on him and he may make another last-minute dash to the boat as he did last year.

Practically all of the big international golf will be staged in the United States this summer. The Walker Cup team of British amateurs is coming to this country for their biennial battle with the Americans, and that means that most of the high-ranking stars will compete in the national tournament also.

Miss Wills, in addition to defending her championship at Wimbledon, intends to play in Holland and France. There will be no tennis matches in conjunction with the Olympic games, but the international federation has arranged an unofficial series of team matches in which England, Australia, the United States and France, perhaps, will compete.

Miss Wills does not plan to play in the French nationals, as she does not wish to mix her game with hard and turf court competition. The French nationals will have more than a local significance, however, and it may be that she will try to win that title.

The Davis Cup final match and challenge round will be played in Paris and the presence there of all the leading international players will give France the biggest tennis matches of the season.

Stutz Stock Car to Race French Auto 500 Miles

Indianapolis, Apr. 11—(P)—The 24-hour stock car race between a Stutz Blackhawk, owned by F. E. Moskovics, president of the Stutz Motor Car company, and a Hispano-Suiza automobile owned by C. T. Weymann, of Paris, France, will start here Wednesday, April 18, at 1 p. m., instead of on April 16, as was originally planned, officials announced today. Delays in getting the French car through the customs department necessitated a two days postponement.

The race was planned last fall when a discussion between Mr. Moskovics and Mr. Weymann regarding the respective merits of the stock cars of their two countries led to a wager of $25,000. The race will be run under the supervision of the American Automobile association.

WOMEN'S MEET WELL ATTENDED

Dr. Green Gives Interesting Talk on "Pre-School Child"

"The Pre-School Child" was the subject of an interesting talk given by Dr. Catherine Green of the extension department of the University of Michigan at a meeting of women at the Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon. The meeting, which was attended by a large group of women, was held under the auspices of the Escanaba Woman's club.

Dr. Green outlined the needs of the child in the way of physical, mental and social activity before he enters the school. She told of various methods the parents can employ to influence the child in acquiring good habits that will build up character and personality.

Duties of Parents.
"The child learns only what he has a chance to find out," Dr. Green said. "It is the duty of the parents to provide that opportunity."

"The parents make the routine of living pleasant for the child and look out for him when he develops physical ailments and requires medical attention. Socially, the parent instills in the mind of the child a wholesome respect for authority and teaches him how to get along with his equals. His equals are the children of his own age."

"In the development of the child's mental life, the parents give him experiences, showing him what fundamental ideas are valuable in preparation for his school life. The building up of ideals within the child so as to give him the proper attitude on life in general, particularly in relation to his future school activities, should be emphasized by the father and mother of the pre-school child. All of these factors are based on habits, taught daily and practiced bit by bit."

Civic Projects Reviewed.
Mrs. Frost and Mrs. Semer sang two duets, "Whispering Hope" and "Danny Boy," which were well received.

Opening the meeting, Mrs. Cox, chairman of the civic committee, made an interesting talk, reviewing some of the projects being planned and carried out by the organization. She discussed in detail the water situation in Escanaba, and urged the women to attend the Chamber of Commerce forum meeting, which will be held at the Delta hotel this evening, when the water supply problem will be one of the interesting topics discussed.

F. M. Gray, Jr., of Milwaukee, who is associated with the firm which drilled the artesian well in the C. and N. W. yards, will tell what is being done in other cities with artesian wells. Mrs. Cox also emphasized the need for continued interest on the part of the club members in projects which have been started with a view of beautifying various spots in the city.

IN NEW YORK

New York.—Scattered notes from a ramble about Manhattan. A jewel-studded lighter in a Fifth Avenue window priced at $1000. . . And I'll wager that it falls to work quite as often as does my $1.98 model. . . The swanky young ladies who casually lead their "daddies" past the Rolls-Royce show room. . . The organ grinder with the trained parrot who blocks traffic almost nightly at Times Square. . . If he'd have an arm amputated he'd be the living replica of Long John Silver. . . The bootlegger who operates among the graves in the old Trinity churchyard at the foot of Broadway. . . And the fellow in Times Square who slips you cards telling of the "wild time" to be had at such-and-such a secret rendezvous. . . A troupe of vaudeville midgets out for a walk, and looking like people of Lilliput in the maze of traffic. . . A side-show giant out strolling with his sweetie. . . The quick-money rackets that have sprung up on Broadway. . . Everything from fake auctions to fake stock racketeers. . . The increasing number of attractive girls one sees staggering about the side streets in these prohibition days. . . Most of the Manhattan speakies now let women come into the bars. . . And pay no attention to age, seemingly. . . It's pretty depressing at times.

Speaking of speakies and prohibition, New Jersey is now the favorite Saturday night commuting point for seekers of what Walter Winchell has named "riggle water." . . Weehawken, but a five-cent ferry fare away, has become almost nationally famous for its steak-and-beer emporiums. Jersey City operates with the lid completely lifted. There is not even the pretense of doorbells and secret passwords which most of Manhattan demands. One after another the swinging doors of bar rooms invite patronage. No questions are asked. Jersey breweries are reported to be operating full time and New York is supplied largely from "across the river."

Jersey City seems to be one of the last stands of the old-fashioned girl-and-beer hall. There still are pianos that play for a nickel and girls who can be danced with for two-bits, and a loud-voiced host who constantly invites visitors to "buy another round."

Folks from the "old home town" invariably turn out in young regiments whenever a son or daughter of the old neighborhood makes good in New York. Ofttimes, as in the case of Marian Talley, the home town will hire a private train and come all the way to Manhattan to give the little girl a hand.

Shrewd concert managers and producers use this sense of civic pride to swell their audiences. Practically every state has a society in New York and most of the big cities are represented by clubs. Whenever a promoter learns the home town of a performer he circulates these societies and generally they turn out en masse.

Which reminds me that one of the most talked-of paintings being exhibited in New York at the present moment is not another of the ultra-modernist importations from Europe, but a pastoral reproduction of the "old tavern at Hammondsville, Ohio," by Charles Burchfield.

Just how many latent artists are hidden about New York is re-

OBITUARY

ALFRED E. PETERSON.

The body of Alfred E. Peterson, 43, keeper of the Big Bay lighthouse, arrived in Escanaba at 8:25 o'clock last night from Marquette and was taken to the Allo Funeral home. The body will be taken to the home of his sister, Mrs. Paul Walstad, 1302 Stephenson avenue, today and the funeral will be held Saturday afternoon. Burial will be in Lakeview cemetery.

Mr. Peterson's death was caused by heart disease with which he was seized Sunday morning. His death occurred Tuesday afternoon. Before going to Big Bay, Mr. Peterson was stationed at the lighthouse at Grand Marais.

Besides his widow and six children, Leota, Roy, Almen, Glyn, Owen and Mansel, there are four surviving brothers and sisters. They are Charles Peterson of Escanaba, Martha Peterson of Chicago and Mrs. Paul Walstad of this city.

Mr. Peterson was a member of the Norwegian Lutheran church.

Seven Musical Organizations Give Program

Seven musical organizations under the direction of R. W. Nordling yesterday gave a musical concert to approximately 800 grade school students in the Escanaba high school auditorium. About 150 Escanaba high school students participated. The program received by the juvenile audience. The entertainment was given as a preliminary practice to the annual music festival which will be held in the high school auditorium on the evening of May 20. All of the Escanaba music organizations that will enter the Upper Peninsula Music Contest at the Northern State Teachers' college in June participated in the program yesterday. The seven organizations were: the high school orchestra, girls' glee club, string quartet, boys' glee club, mixed chorus, freshmen girls' club and the Escanaba high school band.

revealed each year when the Independent artists have their show on the Waldorf roof, and anyone with two-bits in his pocket can exhibit. This year an elevator operator, a postman, a police sergeant, a plumber and a telephone operator were among the individuals to reveal their secret passion. And their work was quite as good as some who go about disguised as professional artists.

Rifle Club Sends Letters to Two Michigan Senators

Arthur F. Sundling, secretary of the Escanaba branch of the National Riflemen's association, yesterday directed letters to Senators James Couzens and Arthur Vandenberg, seeking their support of the Speaks bill, soon to be considered by the senate.

The Speaks bill provides for an annual appropriation for the use of the department of civilian marksmanship of the war department. At present, there is no annual appropriation provided for, making it necessary to have a special fund set aside each year.

The appropriation would be used for the purchasing and distributing of rifles, ammunition and other equipment to the N. R. A. clubs.

BRIEFLY TOLD

Mr. and Mrs. John Semer and Mrs. Charles Semer left last night for Minneapolis to attend the wedding of Miss Mary Semer, daughter of the latter, who will become the bride of David K. Murphy, Saturday.

Among those from out of town who attended the funeral of Mrs. Eugene Caulfield, yesterday, were Mr. and Mrs. William Chary of West Allis, Wis.; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Montpas of Powers; Mrs. E. Tracy, Mrs. Christ Storgard and John Caulfield of Chicago; and Mrs. J. E. Frechette of Rexton.
