WOMAN WINS IN SEVEREST KIND OF TEST

MRS. MCCORMICK'S TRIUMPH THRILLS CAPITAL

BY DAVID LAWRENCE. (Copyright 1928, by the Escanaba Press.) Washington, April 13.—Ruth Hanna McCormick's victory in the Illinois republican primary is the biggest single inspiration that women have derived since suffrage was extended to them.

The significance of her triumph is not merely that she won out in one of the most tangled political situations of the country and in a large state but that she won the nomination at large instead of a single district.

The women who now are in congress represent particular districts. If Mrs. McCormick is elected in the autumn—and in Illinois the republicans usually carry the state—she will have been elected by the voters of the whole state. It is as if she had run for the United States senate. Indeed it is considered one of the critical tests of whether a member of the lower house can try for the senate; namely what his showing is as congressman-at-large.

Held in High Regard. It is no secret that Mrs. McCormick could have gone to the United States senate as the appointee of Governor Small when Senator McKinley died but she felt it would give her no opportunity to be a candidate to succeed herself as Frank L. Smith was then the choice of the dominant Small machine.

Throughout her career in Illinois politics, Mrs. McCormick has shown a tact and capacity which have won for her the admiration of men politicians. In Washington she is highly regarded by members of congress, many of whom have predicted that if she comes to the lower house she will make a remarkable record there.

Incidentally the house of representatives is getting used to women members and there is keen appreciation of the abilities of the present members. Mrs. Kahn of California, Mrs. Rogers of Massachusetts and Mrs. Norton of New Jersey.

FALL'S SON-IN-LAW

Smiling through a rather difficult time on the witness stand came Mahlon T. Everhart, son-in-law of Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior.

This picture was taken just after Everhart had been a rather reluctant witness for the government in the trial of Harry Sinclair at Washington, D. C.

SEE ELECTION TANGLE AHEAD

Discover New Demand in Primary Law Passed in Illinois

Chicago, Apr. 13.—(AP)—Possibility of the disruption of the Republican and Democratic state conventions in Springfield one week hence appeared tonight with the discovery of an unexpected demand in the primary law passed hurriedly by the legislature.

The newly chosen county committees meet next Monday, organize and elect delegates to the state conventions based upon the votes cast in the primary with the provision uncovered. It was pointed out that in the smaller counties such action could be taken, but that it would be impossible in Cook county (Chicago) because the canvass of last Tuesday's primary vote will not begin until next Monday and will require at least three weeks.

The old county committee in Cook cannot function because it went out of existence, according to the new law, when its successor members were chosen. A state supreme court decision has held that candidates have been "chosen" when the polls close.

The only hope tonight appeared to be to have the Cook county delegates act by agreement of the opposing factions. No Campaign Immediately. Meanwhile, the new party leaders selected last Tuesday met here for the first time. For the Republicans the new standard bearers, L. L. Emmerson for governor, Oscar E. Carlstrom for state attorney general, W. J. Stratton for secretary of state, and Otis F. Glenn, nominee for U. S. senator, agreed that they and the state needed vacations from politics.

LAUNCH MOVE TO DRAW UP PEACE PACT

WORLD WIDE TREATY SOUGHT BY SEC'Y KELLOGG

Washington, Apr. 13.—(AP)—Negotiations for a world-wide treaty solemnly renouncing war in favor of the pacific settlement of international controversies, were initiated today when Secretary Kellogg invited the British, German, Italian and Japanese governments to join France and the United States in agreeing upon and signing a pact to that end.

It is the first time in history that the United States has embarked upon so extensive a project for the promotion of world peace. It has the sanction of President Coolidge and the state department is confident of its ultimate success.

The United States is of the opinion, said Secretary Kellogg in offering his draft treaty to the four foreign ministers for their consideration and comment, that every nation in the world can, with a proper regard for its own interests, as well as for the interests of the entire family of nations, join in such a treaty.

The four governments were asked by Mr. Kellogg whether they were in a position to give favorable consideration to the conclusion of a treaty such as that submitted, and if not, what specific modifications in the text would be acceptable to them. At the same time he announced that so far as the United States is concerned, no effort would be spared to find a solution for any technical difficulties which might arise in the course of the negotiations.

France's Approval Not Given. Discussions between the United States and France on the proposed treaty have been going on since last December and the correspondence, which clearly sets forth the views of the two governments, was placed in the hands of the other four foreign ministers today in accordance with an agreement between M. Briand and Secretary Kellogg.

France is not in any way committed to approval of the draft treaty submitted, Secretary Kellogg pointed out, and is entirely free to make such further observations on the treaty or of the correspondence with the United States as may be deemed advisable or appropriate. Such observations would be addressed not only to the United States, but to the four powers invited today. By thus enlarging the field of negotiations, Secretary Kellogg says it is made possible for all six governments to fully explore the entire situation.

BORAH PLEASED. Washington, Apr. 13.—(AP)—Gratification that the proposal to renounce war has been sent to leading nations and made open to all nations, was expressed tonight by Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, chairman of the foreign relations committee.

He declared this treaty was in aid of all plans for peace and would strengthen every treaty of conciliation in arbitration. "I am greatly gratified that the proposal to renounce war now goes to the leading nations and is open to all nations," Senator Borah said. "War is as much a relic of barbarism as cannibalism is of savagery and I venture to hope that the time is not far removed when civilized nations will so declare."

"There will be objections and obstacles to overcome but the more the plan is studied the less they will appear to be. "I maintain that this treaty is in aid of all plans for peace and strengthens every treaty of conciliation and arbitration. "This is writing into a treaty that which the human family in its heart this day believes: that war is a crime and those who foster them and foment it are criminals."

"I am not nervous," Curtis replied, adding that he had no interest in anything that the senator from Alabama may say.

Investigate Death of Man; Found Near Overtaken Auto

Detroit, Apr. 13.—(AP)—Authorities tonight were investigating mysterious circumstances surrounding the death of Frank Martin, 25, of Monroe, found lying unconscious yesterday beside an overturned car near Wyandotte. He died today in a hospital without having regained consciousness.

Police said they found another car, damaged by fire, near the overturned machine, and that it contained 125 gallons of liquor. The overturned automobile, they said, was identified as having been stolen in Wyandotte.

HEFLIN AGAIN ATTACKS SMITH

Alabama Senator Includes Mayor James J. Walker in Latest Assault

Washington, Apr. 13.—(AP)—Outmaneuvering senate leaders who sought to delay his speech, Senator Hefflin of Alabama, made a new attack today on Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York, and brought into the range of his fire Mayor James J. Walker of New York City.

The Alabama charged that the New York governor and candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination is the head of "the Roman Catholic political machine in America," and asserted that the Smith campaign fund was "the largest and most corrupt ever used."

Mayor Walker was declared by Hefflin to be "a smooth artist, the slickest, seal in the pond."

The Alabama senator urged Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, to introduce a new resolution for investigation of campaign expenditures and said that Mayor Walker should be the first witness called, but he added that all of the "tammanyites" should be examined by the senate committee he would have created.

Hefflin charged and Senator Steak, Democrat, Iowa, vigorously denied that the Smith forces had used huge sums in Iowa in the contest against Edwin T. Meredith for the Iowa delegation to the Democratic national convention at Houston.

Asserting that Arkansas is 10 to 1 against Smith, although the state is claimed for him, Hefflin warned that if the Arkansas delegation was delivered to "the Kellogg says it is made possible for all six governments to fully explore the entire situation."

Makes Two Starts. The claim that Oklahoma is for Smith was described by Hefflin as "shocking." He also said that James M. Thompson, publisher of the New Orleans Item, had been in Washington, as he had been in Louisiana, so that he understood, "trying to get a vote in Louisiana so that people may express themselves and say that the Louisiana delegation is for Smith."

Hefflin made two starts before he finally was permitted to get under way. He obtained the floor immediately after the senate convened, but Senator Curtis of Kansas, the Republican leader, took him off his feet on a point of order. The Alabamian was up again in a few minutes and that time Vice President Dawes ruled he was entitled to speak, although Senator Curtis tried to shut him off.

Explaining that the senate desired to act on the naval appropriation bill today, the Republican leader suggested that Hefflin's speech could be made some other day. Hefflin disagreed with him and inquired why the Kansas senator "is so nervous over this speech."

"I am not nervous," Curtis replied, adding that he had no interest in anything that the senator from Alabama may say.

CRIMINAL CODE IS DEFENDED BY GOVERNOR

GREEN TAKES NORTH TO TASK FOR HIS CRITICISM

Lansing, Apr. 13.—(AP)—Gov. Fred W. Green today took Justice Walter H. North of the state supreme court to task today for criticizing Michigan's new criminal code.

In an address before the Michigan safety congress the governor averred that a judge "who expresses an opinion before a case comes up should not sit on that case."

Justice North recently was quoted as asserting in a public speech, that the code, with its provision making life sentences mandatory for fourth felons is an "outrage," because it deprives the trial judges of discretionary powers. An appeal seeking to have the code declared unconstitutional is pending in the supreme court in the Fred Palm case.

Palm, a Lansing bootlegger, was sentenced to life in Jackson prison when he was convicted of possession of a pint of gin. He had been convicted previously of four or five felonies, all more serious than the last one. His case attracted nationwide attention and moderation organizations are said to be interested in the appeal.

Criticizes Judge North. "Any attack on the code," the governor declared, "should be carefully thought out. We have a very learned judge who has decided that provisions of the code. In spite of my personal friendship for Justice North, I still say that the best feature of the code is its mandatory provisions. It means there will be more justice."

"There is no amount of education or experience that will produce judges who always inevitably know the proper sentence. Any judge who passes judgment on a law before it comes up in his court should not sit on that case."

The governor pointed out that in his belief the faults of the code lay not within the code itself but in allied statutes. He believes the classification of felonies is wrong. They are not contained in the code. For instance, in the general statutes many minor offenses are classed as felonies. Still four convictions on these minor counts would make life imprisonment for the offender mandatory.

"The fault that must be corrected lies in the other laws," the governor averred. "Personally I have no fault to find with the mandatory provisions of the code. It is a safeguard for the state. The code is right in principle and in effect."

Would Bar Reckless Drivers. The governor's statement was taken to mean that the next legislature will be urged to make legislation of some offenses misdemeanors or some offenses which now are felonies so offenders with a string of minor infractions cannot be inflicted with the extreme penalty. He emphasized the fact that the Palm case does not enter into the category of excessive sentences. Palm's former convictions showed him to be an habitual criminal, the governor said, and the possession charge was merely the instrumentality which placed him in prison for life. Had the code been in operation sooner Palm would have been given the same sentence on a more serious offense, he said.

Legislation and enforcement so rigid reckless drivers would be absolutely barred from the highways were advocated by Sidney J. Williams, of the National Safety Council of Chicago. He asserted motorists have too little respect for the rights of pedestrians. Drivers must yield to pedestrians at corners where there is no traffic light and in making turns where there is a traffic light, he declared. On the other hand, pedestrians must keep off the streets between intersections.

CROSSES ATLANTIC

Here is the first picture to reach the United States of Capt. James Fitzmaurice, Irish Free State flyer aboard the German trans-Atlantic plane Bremen. The photo was sent by radio from London to New York and thence by telephoto wires. Aboard the Bremen when it started from Baldonnel Airdrome, Ireland, for New York were Capt. Fitzmaurice, and the two Germans, Capt. Herman Koehl and Baron von Huenefeld.

All-American Aircraft Show Opens in Detroit

Detroit, Apr. 13.—(AP)—Late models of American aircraft, ranging from Henry Ford's tiny "flitzer" to huge $50,000 transport planes, tonight were arrayed in Convention Hall for the opening tomorrow of the All-American Aircraft show.

For the last week, planes of all types, coming from forty-one manufacturing plants, have been winging their way to Detroit for the display, planned as the premier aviation exhibit of the United States.

Sixty-five airships, worth an aggregate of $500,000, have been flown here from all over the country, dismantled at airports and trucked to Convention Hall and reassembled for the show.

In addition to the modern types, there are several exhibits with historical interest, including some depicting the development of air travel through its stages of progress. Among the famous craft to be seen will be the Josephine Ford, which Lieut. Com. Richard E. Byrd flew across the North Pole.

It is to be Aviation Week in the motor city and the exhibit will draw a number of men distinguished in aeronautics who will speak at a series of aviation functions during the week.

Preceding the formal opening tomorrow night, the First Pursuit Group of army flyers at Selfridge Field will stage an aerial parade over downtown Detroit, and the opening program will be broadcast from a "flying radio station" set up in the cabin of a tri-motor plane and hooked up with a regular broadcasting station.

In addition to manufacturers, 45 makers of parts and accessories will be represented in the show.

Asheville, N. C., Apr. 13.—(AP)—Smiling and light hearted, Governor Smith of New York, started in today in a golfing vacation to the cheers of several thousand southerners who greeted him on his arrival here. Farther south than he ever has been before, the Democratic presidential candidate went to the palatial Biltmore Forest Country club, on the outskirts of Asheville. There he expects to take it easy, after a strenuous executive session at Albany for several weeks, and the word has gone out that he has come into the south to rest and play, not to discuss politics.

BREMEN MADE LANDING ON SMALL ISLE

CRAFT FORCED DOWN BY LACK OF FUEL; CREW ALL SAFE

(By The Associated Press.) Apparently fully authenticated reports announce the German monoplane Bremen and her German-Irish crew have beaten that aviation hoodoo—a non-stop westward flight of the Atlantic.

They did not completely achieve their announced objective—"Mitchel Field or Heaven"—but they tied in the eastern and western shores in a 84-hour jump from Ireland to Labrador, assert dispatches from several reliable sources.

Slightly damaged in a forced rest under the sheer rock cliffs of descent, the Bremen was said to Greenly Island, a little "dot" on the map marking the northern tip of Labrador.

Her crew of three—Baron von Huenefeld, Captain Koehl and Col. Fitzmaurice—unharmled by the long, arduous, almost fatal, flight from Baldonnel Field, were guests of the island lighthouse keeper.

The plane landed about noon yesterday, all reports agree, but because of the isolation of the spot, no news reached the outside world until nearly seven hours later. It came in a wireless message from Point Amour, Labrador, apparently relayed there by courier, and read:

"German plane landed Greenly Island noon. Slightly damaged. Crew well."

Greenly Island is a tiny speck near the mouth of the Strait of Belle Isle, on the northwest coast of Newfoundland and Quebec. Its bulk consists of two hills, one 85 feet high, the other 63 feet, joined by a barren plateau. A large fishing establishment is located there. Its southern coast is a bare-faced rock. To the north the coast is rocky and bold. The island lies nearly 400 miles to the northwest of the Bremen's plotted course over St. Johns, Newfoundland.

SHIP ON WAY. Ottawa, Ont., Apr. 13.—(By The Canadian Press)—The government received a message tonight from the government patrol steamer Montcalm, now in the St. Lawrence river, saying that she was proceeding at once to Greenly Island to pick up the crew of the German monoplane Bremen. If the Montcalm gets through, she will take the men to North Sydney, Nova Scotia.

CARRIED SHAMROCK. Dublin, Apr. 13.—(AP)—A four-leaf Irish shamrock was Von Huenefeld's good luck omen on his trans-Atlantic voyage. It flew with Fitzmaurice on the Irishman's Atlantic flight with MacIntosh last September and brought him safely back to the sands of Valley Sunbury Beach, when his plane was unable to fight its way through the storms off the Irish coast.

When the Bremen arrived at Baldonnel from Berlin, Colonel Fitzmaurice gave the German baron his cherished shamrock to carry to America. When it was decided that Fitzmaurice should fly in the Bremen von Huenefeld, in return, gave the Irishman a little most prized luckpiece, a little silver doll about an inch long.

It brought me through the World war," he told Fitzmaurice, "and safely off six operation tables."

Fitzmaurice is without a passport, but he was not the sort to worry over such trifles of transport. He finally was forced to transfer to the women's ward, tore up woman's clothing given to her, proclaimed herself "my hombre," and offered to fight the prison staff to prove her prowess. Her 13 years in the army had taught her many epigrams that startled even the prison guards.

She finally was forcibly subdued and locked up with women prisoners. But she still wore her soldier's uniform and paced her cell calling at a fate that had surprised her secret.

Smith Gets 14 Votes in Western State. Spokane, Wash., Apr. 13.—(AP)—The Washington Democratic state convention tonight instructed its delegates to cast their 14 ballots as a unit for the nomination of Gov. Al Smith for president.

MESSAGE RECEIVED. New York, Apr. 13.—(AP)—The North German Lloyd announced tonight receipt of a wireless message from Baron von Huenefeld, one of the crew of the monoplane Bremen, confirming the safe landing at Greenly Island, Labrador. Termination of the flight was necessitated by

Police Hunting Woman's Slayer

Detroit, Apr. 13.—(AP)—Police are searching for a former roomer for questioning in connection with the slaying of Mrs. Johanna McPherson, 67, a widow whose body was found yesterday on the floor of the living room in the rear of her notions store in Ecorse. Officers said they had information that a man who had been a roomer in Mrs. McPherson's home several months, had disappeared and had not been seen since the first of the week. Mrs. McPherson had been beaten and strangled to death. Her home was in disorder, indicating, police said, that she had been slain by someone who believed she had a sum of money in the house.

Will Urge House to Take Up Haugen Farm Relief Bill

Washington, Apr. 13.—(AP)—A move will be initiated tomorrow to have the house, when it turns to the consideration of the farm relief question in about ten days, take up the Haugen farm bill as a substitute for the McNary measure passed yesterday by the senate. Unlike a year ago when the house farm bloc formed a cordon of votes around the farm bill sent them by the senate and vetoed all changes, the house group now feels that the Haugen measure is the bill that should be enacted.

Five Killed in Riot in India

Bombay, British India, Apr. 13.—(AP)—Five persons were killed in a caste riot today at Trivandrum, capital of the native state of Travancore. Members of a sect known as "untouchables" having been refused the right to enter a temple, they attacked some caste Hindu women and set fire to a Brahmin hotel. Two caste Hindus, one "untouchable" and two children were slain in the fighting.

Smith Is Enjoying Sojourn in South

Asheville, N. C., Apr. 13.—(AP)—Smiling and light hearted, Governor Smith of New York, started in today in a golfing vacation to the cheers of several thousand southerners who greeted him on his arrival here. Farther south than he ever has been before, the Democratic presidential candidate went to the palatial Biltmore Forest Country club, on the outskirts of Asheville. There he expects to take it easy, after a strenuous executive session at Albany for several weeks, and the word has gone out that he has come into the south to rest and play, not to discuss politics.

haunt of fuel, the baron reported. The message was: "Made a safe intermediate landing on Greenly Island necessitated by lack of fuel and strong head winds encountered on way."

"(Signed) "VON HUENFELD." WIFE REJOICING. Berlin, Apr. 14 (Saturday)—(AP)—Mrs. Hermann Koehl's voice shook with emotion as she expressed thanks to the Associated Press this morning for the first news of the landing of the Bremen on Greenly Island.

"You cannot imagine what a load you have taken off my mind," she said. Mrs. Koehl kept vigil throughout the night in the editorial rooms of the local Anzeiger.

Dublin, Apr. 13—(AP)—Mrs. James C. Fitzmaurice received from the Associated Press tonight her first information of the report that the Bremen had landed at Greenly Island. She was told that it was not fully confirmed, but was profuse in her thanks and her anxious voice grew calmer as she asked that further news be given her immediately.

President Cosgrave, who had been given erroneous reports earlier in the night that the Bremen was at Mitchell Field, also received the Greenly Island report with gratitude and asked that he be kept in touch.

It was 1:15 a. m. when Mrs. Fitzmaurice was given the cheering information. She had been up all night awaiting definite news, although earlier in the evening she was taken to a theater by friends in the hope that her anxious thoughts might be temporarily distracted.

"Pat," the eight-year-old daughter of the Fitzmaurice family, was tucked between the sheets at 8 p. m., her usual bedtime, and slept as if her father never even had seen an airplane.

Out at Baldonnel Airdrome, high government officials, army officers and representatives of executive departments, waited all night for news. Among them were General O'Duffy, chief of the civic guard, and Gen. Dan Hogan, chief of staff of the army. Only a few of the officers of the airdrome went to bed while the fate of their chief was in doubt.

ISLAND IS REMOTE. Manchester, N. H., Apr. 13—(AP)—Messages exchanged between the Canadian government and radio station at Lousburg, N. S., and the Marconi station at Point Amour, Labrador, picked up tonight by station 1-HA of Manchester, emphasized the remoteness of Greenly Island on which the Junkers monoplane Bremen descended after her trans-Atlantic flight.

The news that the fliers were safe was hours late in reaching the outside world because messengers had to traverse the 20 miles intervening between the island and the radio station either afoot or by dog team. The plane, the messages said, landed at noon. The first message sent out by the Marconi operator was received at St. Johns, N. F., at 6:30 o'clock, eastern standard time. Repeating to a request by Lousburg to explain the delay, the Marconi station tonight sent out the following:

"Don't know particulars now. Only dog teams possible. About 20 miles to relay news. Have sent messages by foot."

A second message from the Point Amour station added that the delay was partly due to the fact that the landing was on an island, indicating that there was some difficulty in reaching the mainland at this season.

The Lousburg station asked whether there were any transportation facilities to Greenly Island. No answer to this was recorded.

MESSAGE EXPLAINED. Halifax, N. S., Apr. 14—(AP)—Alex Sutherland, local superintendent of government radio stations, received a wireless message early this morning from the operator of the Marconi station at Point Amour stating that the information the operator gave the world early last evening of the safe arrival on Greenly Island of the German trans-Atlantic plane Bremen came to him over the land telegraph wires from Long Point (Lourdes de Blanc Sablon) which is on the mainland opposite the little island on which the plane landed.

The operator said his information was that the plane had been slightly damaged, and the crew unhurt, and he was perfectly satisfied that the news was accurate.

Secretary Mills Launches Attack on Large Tax Cut

Washington, Apr. 13—(AP)—Presenting again his demand for a $400,000,000 tax cut—double the amount proposed by the administration—the Chamber of Commerce of the United States encountered a violent attack from Acting Secretary Mills of the treasury today at one of the liveliest sessions of the senate finance committee in recent years.

For three hours Mr. Mills and the chamber's tax experts battled across the committee tables, with committee members throwing in occasional wallops for each side, the Republicans standing by the administration and Democrats generally supporting the chamber.

Even on the basis of treasury estimates that a surplus of only $212,000,000 was in prospect for next year, the chamber argued that the $400,000,000 cut could be made by applying about $140,000,000 to be collected in interest from foreign governments on account of war debts to tax reduction, rather than debt retirement, and by carrying over some of this year's prospective $400,000,000 surplus to next year.

Mr. Mills countered that this not only would retard the regular program for retirement of the $18,000,000,000 public debt, but would necessitate the government terminating its life-time policy of closing its books at the end of each fiscal year and he insisted this was "unsound."

GOV'T ALLOWS CASE TO REST

Sinclair Defense Gains Victory in Court Yesterday

Washington, Apr. 13—(AP)—Climaxing its headlong rush to get its conspiracy case against Harry F. Sinclair before the jury, the government rested today after the defense had prevented—for the time at least—the introduction of testimony which the prosecution considers highly important.

Two questions were taken under consideration by Justice Jennings Bailey for decision on Monday. These dealt with $25,000 in Liberty bonds which Sinclair gave Albert B. Fall when he made a trip to Russia, and the Elk Hills lease Fall gave E. L. Doheny. The court said he was inclined to exclude this evidence but withheld a ruling on both issues until the resumption of the trial on Monday.

Owen J. Roberts, special government counsel, contended that the Liberty bond transaction—although it took place after the date set in the indictment as the termination of the alleged conspiracy—showed the "color" and the secrecy of the relations between Fall and Sinclair, Martin W. Littleton, for the defense, maintained that such testimony was not germane because the acts which it covered took place "long after" the period covered in the indictment.

Defense Makes Objection. The bribery indictment against Edward L. Doheny, Jr., growing out of his delivery in a "little black satchel" of $100,000 from his father to Fall, then secretary of the interior, was nolle prossed at Roberts' request by Justice Bailey. This was for the purpose of bringing the younger Doheny to Washington Monday to testify for the government. He intended, he said, to use Doheny to show that Fall received money to which he was not entitled from persons interested in oil leases.

Defense counsel objected to the bringing up of the Elk Hills lease in any way on the ground that it was irrelevant to the conspiracy charge against Sinclair. The court ruling on this question will determine whether Doheny will take the stand.

See More Mystery in Bond Profits

Washington, Apr. 13—(AP)—More mystery developed today in the senate investigation of the Liberty bond profits of the Continental Trading company.

Subpoenas were issued for two additional witnesses, whose names were withheld although the summons had been served and an acknowledgment received.

Committee men said these two witnesses were expected to give "important" testimony concerning both the political and financial aspects of the inquiry. It was intimated that it was because of the importance of their testimony that their names were withheld as it was apprehended that they might be approached.

Members of the committee said their names would not be made known until they were called to the stand at the reopening of the inquiry next Tuesday at which time three other witnesses are to be heard—Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, and Harry M. Blair and Claudius H. Uston, of New York, formerly connected with the Republican national committee organizations.

Before consenting to appear, Miller, who is under penitentiary sentence for conspiracy to defraud the government, demanded that a formal subpoena be served upon him. This was done at his home in Wilmington, Del., by a deputy U. S. marshal.

Richard Dix in Serious Condition After Operation

Los Angeles, Apr. 13—(AP)—As a result of serious lung and kidney conditions following an operation for appendicitis, Richard Dix, the film actor, was given only an even chance of recovery tonight by his physicians. The actor spent a restless night and today his doctors held a hurried consultation. Dix had been said to be recovering splendidly from the operation performed Tuesday, until the complications arose.

Wanted Man, Reported Missing

Detroit, Apr. 13—(AP)—Friedel C. Wilkening, special investigator for the state board of pharmacy, reported today that Milton S. Hanauer, sought in connection with the death of Reese Fox, hospital chauffeur believed to have died from rat poisoning, has disappeared.

Hanauer, owner of the National Chemical company, is sought on a warrant charging him with violating the state drug act. Wilkening said Hanauer's company has discontinued business.

It is alleged that Hanauer's firm sold the rat poison said to have been found in cornmeal cakes which Fox ate, and that the label on the box stated that the poison was not harmful to humans.

WOMAN WINS IN SEVEREST KIND OF TEST

McCormick, however, and most of the women who have entered politics is that she has studied the political structure from the very bottom. As a daughter of the late Mark Hanna and as a constant co-worker with her husband, Senator McCormick, she has learned the ropes of practical politics and is as keen to avoid "political deals" and embarrassments as any astute male politician ever was. And she studies public questions with the same avidity as the public official responsible to a constituency.

In Lane for Senate. Mrs. McCormick has defeated a man already in congress for re-nomination. She led all the congressmen-at-large in votes received. She has put herself in line for the senate some day—which is exactly the route that many of the members of the senate have had to travel in politics. She has adopted man's way and has won.

PERSONNEL OF NAVY ENLARGED

Senate Delays Final Action on Bill Seeking Naval Appropriation

Washington, Apr. 13—(AP)—After approving an increase in the navy enlisted personnel from 83,250 to 85,000, the senate today deferred final action on the naval appropriation bill in the face of a fight by the group of senators who have been opposing the use of American marines in Nicaragua.

These senators, led by Senator Norris, of Nebraska, a leader of the Republican Independents, will undertake tomorrow to have inserted in the bill a provision that none of the funds for the marine corps can be used to maintain American marines in foreign lands for the purpose of supervising elections.

Immediately after Chairman Hale, of the naval committee, began his explanation of the bill, Senator Norris brought up the Nicaraguan question, inquiring whether under the measure the marines could be maintained in foreign countries to supervise elections.

"There is no specific provision," Senator Hale said. "The bill merely appropriates funds for the maintenance of the marines no matter where they may be stationed."

An indication of the fight that is to come on the house bill, proposing the construction of fifteen additional 10,000-ton cruisers, was given by Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, who wanted to know whether new construction was proposed in the bill. Senator Hale replied in the negative, but explained that the construction bill would be taken up by his committee early next week.

With reference to the increase in personnel, chairmen have explained that this was necessary in order that the ships of the navy already in commission or to be commissioned soon, "might be efficiently manned and a greater number of enlisted personnel assigned to aviation duties."

Grain Steamer is Locked in Ice Jam

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Apr. 13—(AP)—The grain-laden steamer James B. Eads, which last week broke loose from ice that had imprisoned her for more than four months in the West Neeshish cut, tonight was held fast in a new ice prison below the cut and was leaking and almost out of fuel.

Two tugs carrying fuel and provisions were attempting to reach the distressed ship, but heavy ice of Lake Manouscong impeded progress. Fear was expressed that the vessel's grain cargo would become water-soaked.

The Eads was driven into the West Neeshish cut and a hole was cut in her bow during a terrific storm early last December. It remained frozen solid in the ice all winter, but started out last week when warm weather caused the ice to start breaking up. After reaching the channel, the ship was caught in an ice floe and again became helpless.

'ARMY' WORKERS ARE SELECTED

Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs to Hear Assignments Monday

Details of the organization which will carry on the work of raising funds to finance the Salvation Army here for another year, will be announced at the regular meetings of the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs Monday.

The team-workers and other special officers of the campaign will be named Monday, and preparations will be completed for starting the solicitation work Wednesday. It is planned to call the workers together for a special, "step-off" luncheon in the Ludington hotel at noon Tuesday.

It is expected that Staff Captain Harold Matson, of Chicago, general secretary of the Salvation Army, will be the principal speaker at both luncheon club meetings Monday. Captain Lydia Strand, commanding the Escanaba post, will also speak.

The workers do not plan on making a house-to-house canvass. Mr. Byrns announced yesterday, following a conference with George G. Genesee, chairman of the campaign organization personnel committee. This would mean a great amount of duplication and work which the committee regards as needless. "We do not believe it will be necessary for us to 'sell' anybody on the work the Salvation Army is doing here," Mr. Byrns declared. "We believe that a campaign, in the business district, for the purpose of accepting contributions rather than driving for them, will be all that will be necessary."

Can Mail Gifts.
 It was again pointed out that the money raised will be placed in the hands of the local advisory committee and that the business men on that committee have a constant check on all the Army's expenditures here.

Persons who wish to make contributions before the drive starts, or who will be out of town next week, may mail or hand their checks to C. J. Byrns, chairman, or M. N. Smith, treasurer, of the Salvation Army advisory board.

IF HE HAD ENOUGH.
 Beesie: Would you marry a spendthrift?
 Betty: It would depend on how much he had to spend.—Tit-Bits.

ARTESIAN WATER. The question of changing the source of Escanaba's city water supply from Bay de Noc to artesian wells is squarely up to the water users of the city.

These two sailing vessels are survivors from the old days. All the other carriers in the Alaskan fleet are steamers.

These two classes—simply did not mix, except in rare instances. David of course was different. Every one connected with the carnival knew that he was a university student, working in the kitchen with Buck only because he was being watched by the police.

Then the thought of David dismissed Nita and her threats and her Steve. She crawled out of her berth, scurried to the women's dressing room and hastily applied her show-make-up. Pop Bybee had summoned her on her return from her momentous walk with David the night before to caution her not to appear in Capital City, even in the dress or coat tent, without her "Princess Lalla" complexion, which she was to apply with exceedingly care so that the disguise might be impenetrable.

Because the carnival lot selected by "the Klidder," Pop Bybee's advance man and "fixer," was in the heart of the city, and the railroad spur allotted to the show train on the outskirts of it, the cars would be abandoned by the carnival performers and employees, only Pop and Mrs. Bybee continuing to occupy their drawing room in one of the Pullmans. Sally, being told the arrangements, suspected that they stayed with the strain to guard the safe under the green plush seat, the existence of which was known only to Sally. Mrs. Bybee took little interest in the carnival itself, caring only for the heaviness of the canvas money bags which were brought to her at the end of each day's business.

It was still not seven o'clock when Sally joined the straggling procession of performers and headed for the cook tent and dress tent, a quarter of a mile from the show train. She knew very little of the city itself, since the orphan farm was situated on its own farm in a thinly settled suburb.

There was no glow of pride, no sense of home-coming as she trudged through the almost deserted streets, but every time she passed a policeman idly swinging his "billie" on a street corner she thanked Pop Bybee in her heart that he had cautioned her to don her disguise. For beyond a casually interested glance at her brown face and hands and her long, swinging braids of fine, rustrous hair, the low did not seem to find her worthy of attention—certainly not of their official notice.

If only David could pass that coin successfully! Probably he had gone to the carnival grounds. But Pop Bybee, true to his promise to protect the boy, had decreed that he should become private chef and waiter to himself and Mrs. Bybee, remaining cooped up all day in the privilege car of the show train.

Poor David! Dear David! Her heart ached passionately for his loneliness, for his magnificent body caged in a hot box of a kitchen, when it had been so gloriously free in fragrant, sun-kissed fields before she had met him.

Why, he might almost as well be in jail! And he had done nothing but protect a girl alone in the world from the cruel revenge of a man who had promised the state to treat her as his own daughter.

But even though her heart throbbed with pain for David she could not be wholly sad, for he loved her, wanted to marry her, would even now be married to her if she had let him give up his ambitions for her.

By the time she had finished breakfast in the cook tent the carnival was nearly ready for business. Even the Ferris wheel's glittering immensity was flung toward the sky, the basket seats hanging motionless in the still, hot air. Banners advertising real and spurious wonders were being tacked upon scarred booths, endowing them with glamor. "Bybee's Follies" girls—a dazlingly beautiful chorus straight from

Ziegfeld's Follies in New York—Six reasons why men leave home: "Beautiful Babe, the Fattest Girl in the World! 620 pounds of rosy, cuddly girl flesh!" "The Palace of Wonders—Greatest Aggregation of Freaks in the World; also Princess Lalla, from Constantinople, crystal-gazer, escaped member of the Sultan's Harem; Sees all, knows all—Past, Present and Future!"

Sally wandered along the midway, waving a small brown hand to Eddie Cobb, who was setting up his gambling wheel and gaudily dressed Kewpie dolls; exchanged predictions as to the day's business with two or three good-natured concessionaires; won a gold-toothed smile from the henna-haired girl who sold tickets for the tin rabbit races.

But she soon discovered that she was restless and lonely. The carnival had no glamor in these early hours. Without the crowds there was no glamour; the crowds themselves, though they did not suspect it, furnished the glamor with their naive credulity, their laughter, their free and easy spending, their susceptibility as a relief from the monotony of their lives, to the very spirit of carnival for which this draggled old hoyden of a show was named.

"The kids would love it," Sally remembered suddenly, seeing in a painfully bright flash of memory the odious, wistful little faces of Betsy and Thelma and Clara and all the other orphans who had until so recently—though it seemed years ago—been her only friends and playmates.

"I wonder if Eloise Durant" is terribly unhappy, or if she has found some other "big girl" to pet her. I wonder if Betsy and Thelma and Clara miss my play-acting."

"She smiled at the picture of herself draped in a sheet and crowned with her own braids and an ermine cloak and a crown of gold adorning a queen! "If they could see me now! Play-acting all the time, all dressed up in purple satin trousers and a queen satin jacket, all glittery with gold braid! I wish I had lots of money, so I could send them all tickets to come to the carnival," her thoughts ran on, as homesickness for the place she had hoped never to see again rose up, treacherous and unwelcome, to dim her joy in the glorious miracle of David's love.

"I suppose," she confessed forlornly, "that Mrs. Stone is the only mother I'll ever know. I wish I'd always been good, so she wouldn't believe the awful things Clem Carson said about me. She thinks I'm bad now—like my mother. I wonder," she was startled, her face flushing hotly under the brown powder, "if I am bad! They say it's in the blood. I'm crazy to have David kiss me, and—and he had to ask me not to. Maybe David is afraid I'm bad, too, and will make him bad!" The thought was unbearable. She wanted to fly to David, to search his gold-flecked hazel eyes again, to see if he had lost any of his "respect" for her. But she wouldn't kiss him! She'd bite her tongue out first! She was going to be good, good, prove to herself and David and all the world that "it" wasn't in her blood.

But all day, as the crowds gathered and money clinked merrily as it fell into cash boxes, she longed for David, lived over every kiss he had given her, from the brushing of his lips against the tip of her short nose to that dizzying wedding of lips when their love had been confessed in the moonlight.

And because she was bemused with romance, thrilling with her own awakening to love, she made an almost riotous success of her crystal-gazing that first day of the carnival in Capital City. Girls laughed shyly and cuddled against their sweethearts provocatively as they left the Palace of Wonders, determined to make "Princess Lalla's" enchanting prophecies come true.

And she was so seductively beautiful herself, aspartle with love as she was, that three or four unaccompanied young men, seeking knowledge of past, present and future, suggested that she fulfill her own prophecies of a "so beautiful brunette" until, embarrassed though flattered, she took refuge in assuming that all gentlemen prefer blondes.

She did not see David that night after the carnival had shut up shop, for he could not leave the show train and only male performers, barkers and concessionaires were permitted to hang around the real. Sally understood from the midge, "Pity Sings," that a night of poker game attracted the men to the privilege car and that fist-fighting and even gun-play was no uncommon break in the monotony.

Pop Bybee, genial until he heard the rattle of poker chips, was the heaviest winner as a rule, many a performer's salary finding its way back into the stateroom safe within a few hours after Mrs. Bybee had reluctantly handed it over.

By Thursday afternoon Sally's confidence in the efficacy of her disguise had mounted perilously high. The policeman who strolled grandly through the tents, proud of not having to pay for their fun, accorded her admiration or good-natured skepticism but no suspicion.

The city papers had apparently lost interest in the hunt for David Nash, university student and farm hand, wanted for assault with intent to kill and for moral delinquency, and in Sally Ford, runaway ward of the state and juvenile paramour of the youthful would-be-murderer, as the papers had previously described them.

At least there were no references to the case in either Wednesday's or Thursday's papers, and Sally's heart was light with gratitude to David and Pop Bybee for having persuaded her to stick with the carnival. It was rather fun to be on exhibition, reading the fortunes of the very policemen who had been given her description and orders to "get" her—much more fun than fleeing along state roads at night and hiding in cornfields by day, hungry, exhausted, afraid of her shadow and of the more menacing shadow of the state reformatory. "Hello! Hello! Bless my soul! What have we here? A real live Turkish harem beauty, as I live!"

Sally aroused herself from her apparently absorbed gazing into the "magic crystal" and looked with wide, startled eyes at the man who had addressed her in an accent which at once marked him as an easterner of culture. She had seen pictures of men dressed like that, but she had never quite believed in their authenticity.

But her eyes did not linger long on his slim, elegant, immaculate figure, leaning lightly on a cane. His laughing, wise, cynical eyes challenged her and invited her to share his amusement with him. But in their bold black depths was something else...

GIRL ALONE

CHAPTER XXIV

When Sally was awakened soon after dawn the next morning—Wednesday—by the shouts and songs of the "white hopes" unloading the carnival on the outskirts of the Capital City, the question which had insisted on worming its way through the heavenly joy of knowing that David loved her sprang instantly to the foreground of her mind: who was "Steve" with whom Nita had quarreled and bargained in the dark last night?

Sally and David had met or had had pointed out to them nearly every member of the show troupe, and there was no Steve among them. Of course Steve might be one of the roughneck white roustabouts. But a star performer, such as Nita considered herself would hardly consort with such a man.

The two classes—simply did not mix, except in rare instances. David of course was different. Every one connected with the carnival knew that he was a university student, working in the kitchen with Buck only because he was being watched by the police.

Then the thought of David dismissed Nita and her threats and her Steve. She crawled out of her berth, scurried to the women's dressing room and hastily applied her show-make-up. Pop Bybee had summoned her on her return from her momentous walk with David the night before to caution her not to appear in Capital City, even in the dress or coat tent, without her "Princess Lalla" complexion, which she was to apply with exceedingly care so that the disguise might be impenetrable.

Because the carnival lot selected by "the Klidder," Pop Bybee's advance man and "fixer," was in the heart of the city, and the railroad spur allotted to the show train on the outskirts of it, the cars would be abandoned by the carnival performers and employees, only Pop and Mrs. Bybee continuing to occupy their drawing room in one of the Pullmans. Sally, being told the arrangements, suspected that they stayed with the strain to guard the safe under the green plush seat, the existence of which was known only to Sally. Mrs. Bybee took little interest in the carnival itself, caring only for the heaviness of the canvas money bags which were brought to her at the end of each day's business.

It was still not seven o'clock when Sally joined the straggling procession of performers and headed for the cook tent and dress tent, a quarter of a mile from the show train. She knew very little of the city itself, since the orphan farm was situated on its own farm in a thinly settled suburb.

There was no glow of pride, no sense of home-coming as she trudged through the almost deserted streets, but every time she passed a policeman idly swinging his "billie" on a street corner she thanked Pop Bybee in her heart that he had cautioned her to don her disguise. For beyond a casually interested glance at her brown face and hands and her long, swinging braids of fine, rustrous hair, the low did not seem to find her worthy of attention—certainly not of their official notice.

If only David could pass that coin successfully! Probably he had gone to the carnival grounds. But Pop Bybee, true to his promise to protect the boy, had decreed that he should become private chef and waiter to himself and Mrs. Bybee, remaining cooped up all day in the privilege car of the show train.

Poor David! Dear David! Her heart ached passionately for his loneliness, for his magnificent body caged in a hot box of a kitchen, when it had been so gloriously free in fragrant, sun-kissed fields before she had met him.

Why, he might almost as well be in jail! And he had done nothing but protect a girl alone in the world from the cruel revenge of a man who had promised the state to treat her as his own daughter.

But even though her heart throbbed with pain for David she could not be wholly sad, for he loved her, wanted to marry her, would even now be married to her if she had let him give up his ambitions for her.

By the time she had finished breakfast in the cook tent the carnival was nearly ready for business. Even the Ferris wheel's glittering immensity was flung toward the sky, the basket seats hanging motionless in the still, hot air. Banners advertising real and spurious wonders were being tacked upon scarred booths, endowing them with glamor. "Bybee's Follies" girls—a dazlingly beautiful chorus straight from

Ziegfeld's Follies in New York—Six reasons why men leave home: "Beautiful Babe, the Fattest Girl in the World! 620 pounds of rosy, cuddly girl flesh!" "The Palace of Wonders—Greatest Aggregation of Freaks in the World; also Princess Lalla, from Constantinople, crystal-gazer, escaped member of the Sultan's Harem; Sees all, knows all—Past, Present and Future!"

Sally wandered along the midway, waving a small brown hand to Eddie Cobb, who was setting up his gambling wheel and gaudily dressed Kewpie dolls; exchanged predictions as to the day's business with two or three good-natured concessionaires; won a gold-toothed smile from the henna-haired girl who sold tickets for the tin rabbit races.

But she soon discovered that she was restless and lonely. The carnival had no glamor in these early hours. Without the crowds there was no glamour; the crowds themselves, though they did not suspect it, furnished the glamor with their naive credulity, their laughter, their free and easy spending, their susceptibility as a relief from the monotony of their lives, to the very spirit of carnival for which this draggled old hoyden of a show was named.

"The kids would love it," Sally remembered suddenly, seeing in a painfully bright flash of memory the odious, wistful little faces of Betsy and Thelma and Clara and all the other orphans who had until so recently—though it seemed years ago—been her only friends and playmates.

"I wonder if Eloise Durant" is terribly unhappy, or if she has found some other "big girl" to pet her. I wonder if Betsy and Thelma and Clara miss my play-acting."

"She smiled at the picture of herself draped in a sheet and crowned with her own braids and an ermine cloak and a crown of gold adorning a queen! "If they could see me now! Play-acting all the time, all dressed up in purple satin trousers and a queen satin jacket, all glittery with gold braid! I wish I had lots of money, so I could send them all tickets to come to the carnival," her thoughts ran on, as homesickness for the place she had hoped never to see again rose up, treacherous and unwelcome, to dim her joy in the glorious miracle of David's love.

"I suppose," she confessed forlornly, "that Mrs. Stone is the only mother I'll ever know. I wish I'd always been good, so she wouldn't believe the awful things Clem Carson said about me. She thinks I'm bad now—like my mother. I wonder," she was startled, her face flushing hotly under the brown powder, "if I am bad! They say it's in the blood. I'm crazy to have David kiss me, and—and he had to ask me not to. Maybe David is afraid I'm bad, too, and will make him bad!" The thought was unbearable. She wanted to fly to David, to search his gold-flecked hazel eyes again, to see if he had lost any of his "respect" for her. But she wouldn't kiss him! She'd bite her tongue out first! She was going to be good, good, prove to herself and David and all the world that "it" wasn't in her blood.

But all day, as the crowds gathered and money clinked merrily as it fell into cash boxes, she longed for David, lived over every kiss he had given her, from the brushing of his lips against the tip of her short nose to that dizzying wedding of lips when their love had been confessed in the moonlight.

And because she was bemused with romance, thrilling with her own awakening to love, she made an almost riotous success of her crystal-gazing that first day of the carnival in Capital City. Girls laughed shyly and cuddled against their sweethearts provocatively as they left the Palace of Wonders, determined to make "Princess Lalla's" enchanting prophecies come true.

And she was so seductively beautiful herself, aspartle with love as she was, that three or four unaccompanied young men, seeking knowledge of past, present and future, suggested that she fulfill her own prophecies of a "so beautiful brunette" until, embarrassed though flattered, she took refuge in assuming that all gentlemen prefer blondes.

She did not see David that night after the carnival had shut up shop, for he could not leave the show train and only male performers, barkers and concessionaires were permitted to hang around the real. Sally understood from the midge, "Pity Sings," that a night of poker game attracted the men to the privilege car and that fist-fighting and even gun-play was no uncommon break in the monotony.

Pop Bybee, genial until he heard the rattle of poker chips, was the heaviest winner as a rule, many a performer's salary finding its way back into the stateroom safe within a few hours after Mrs. Bybee had reluctantly handed it over.

SOMEWHERE.

Can I pass out of yonder door And not go somewhere? Though no more I came, would those who held me dear Tomorrow say, in grief and fear, "He is not, since he is not here?"

No, one would say, "He loved the hills, And there he wanders as he wills." Another say, "He loved the sea, And somewhere, where he longed to be, The sailor's soul is glad and free."

Yes, they would think of other streets When this no more my step repeats, Aye, if I passed beyond their ken, Passed on, and came not here again, Would think me somewhere, even then.

Just yesterday a friend I knew Who was not here when day was through, Her spirit passed from out the clay, Even as travelers go their way, But she is somewhere else today.

NEW CONCERN LOCATES HERE

Escanaba Tent & Awning Company Is Established in City

Another new industry has come to Escanaba with the establishment of the Escanaba Tent and Awning company, 302 Ludington street, manufacturers and distributors of all kinds of canvas products. The concern will open for business on Monday.

Edward P. Dow and Leo J. Jindra, owners of the business, formerly conducted a similar establishment at Manitowoc, Wis., but realizing the opportunities offered in the upper peninsula decided to locate in Escanaba. They look forward to a bright future for their business since it is the only one of its kind in upper Michigan.

"In looking over the various cities on the peninsula, we were attracted by the excellent advantages offered in Escanaba," Mr. Dow said yesterday. "We expect to do business over the entire peninsula, and we decided that Escanaba was ideally situated for the establishment of our headquarters. We will handle store and residence awnings, porch curtains, tents, various canvas coverings and other goods. We expect to do considerable business in the various summer resorts, and will include a large line of sporting goods such as canvas folding chairs, tents, and so forth.

In the near future, we expect to employ three or four persons in the sewing department, and will increase the staff to meet the demands of the business."

Mr. Dow has about 15 years experience in the canvas goods trade. He started in the business by repairing sails while sailing on the lakes and later worked in tent and awning shops in Manitowoc. For several years he was employed as canvas man with some of the leading carnivals and circuses. He has operated a canvas goods shop in Manitowoc since 1918. Mr. Jindra has been associated with him since 1921.

S. GILCHRIST TO LEAVE CITY

Resigns Position With J. C. Penney; Wilhelm Succeeds Him

The J. C. Penney company announces the retirement of S. Gilchrist, manager of their Escanaba store since it was opened in the fall of 1918. Christopher Wilhelm of Petoskey succeeds Mr. Gilchrist, taking over the management of this week.

Mr. Gilchrist, who has not been in the best of health of late, has decided to take a long needed rest and after disposing of his holdings here, he and his wife will leave the city for Bellevue, O., where they will make their future home.

When Mr. Gilchrist started with the J. C. Penney company 15 years ago, the famous chain store company had only 48 stores while now with the acquisition of the Rosenblum store at Gladstone a few days ago, they have a total of 1026. He came from Walla Walla, Wash., to open store No. 149 in this city. The local store has shown a steady increase in the volume of business done under his management, and during the course of years, Mr. Gilchrist won a host of friends in this city. He has been particularly noted for fair and courteous business dealings, and he was considered by the Penney company officials as one of the best merchandisers in their organization.

Mr. Gilchrist has served as secretary of the retail division of the chamber of commerce, and has taken an active part in various civic affairs. He was also a member of the Kiwanis club.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilhelm have already taken up their residence here.

It was announced the J. C. Penney company yesterday that Victor Johnson of Cadillac will be the manager of the Gladstone store. He will take charge on July 1, but it will not be opened for business until August 15 as some time will be required to make general improvements and install the stock of new merchandise.

TWO AIRPLANES ARE DELIVERED

Upper Peninsula Airways Gets Pair of Swallow Ships

Two airplanes, piloted by W. C. Williams and Michael Belmont of Milwaukee, arrived in Escanaba during the snowstorm yesterday afternoon from Manitowoc, Wis., and were delivered to Upper Peninsula Airways, Inc. Stephen J. Murphy, Jr., one of the managers of "Airways," was a passenger in Mr. Williams' plane.

The machines left Milwaukee Thursday, stopping over night at Manitowoc, where Mr. Williams, who is a representative of the Swallow company, received an order for five machines. They came on to Escanaba yesterday afternoon, arriving about 12:55 p. m.

Mr. Belmont's machine made a forced landing three miles south of the city, due to engine trouble, and was about to negotiate one of the roughest and rockiest sections of the beach without a mishap. A short time later he took off on a runway of 150 feet, in a cross-wind, heading over the lake, and went the remaining distance to the Airways field north of Escanaba. Mr. Williams' flying time from Manitowoc to Escanaba was reported as one hour and five minutes.

Mr. Murphy and C. Harold West-coat, of Upper Peninsula Airways, Inc., will fly to Detroit the first of next week, to attend a convention of airport managers and operators.

Adventist Meeting Opens Last Night

The Seventh Day Adventists of the Escanaba district opened their meeting at the local Adventist church, Ludington and North Ninth streets, last night. Pastor C. S. Joyce of Madison, who is the home missionary secretary for the Wisconsin conference, addressed a large gathering of delegates. A number of talks and other special activities are on the program for today. The sessions will continue through Sunday.

Forum Crowd Votes for Artesian Water

Ninety per cent of those who attended the Chamber of Commerce forum dinner Thursday night and heard the detailed explanation of the possibilities for changing Escanaba's water supply from lake to artesian sources voted in favor of artesian water. It was announced at the chamber of commerce offices yesterday. Questionnaires were passed out to those present with a request that an opinion be expressed. Only five votes were cast against the artesian water proposal at the meeting.

a boiling frosting made with the white of egg.
These cookies keep extremely well and are better after the first day. The white frosting on the dark cookie makes a very attractive confection. Those who like a peppermint and chocolate combination might flavor the frosting with a drop or two of oil of peppermint.

Molasses Pie.
One cup molasses, 2-3 cup granulated sugar, 2 eggs, 2 tablespoons flour, 4 tablespoons melted butter, 1-2 cup nut meats, 2 tablespoons lemon juice or vinegar.

Mix and sift flour and sugar. Add to molasses with lemon juice, melted butter, eggs beaten until very light and finely cut nut meats. Turn into a pie pan lined with plain, unbaked pastry and bake thirty to forty minutes in a moderate oven or until firm to the touch. Serve cold.

Breakfast—Apples, cereal, cream, eggs poached in tomato sauce, crisp toast, milk, coffee.
Luncheon—Carrots and peas au gratin, cabbage and peanut salad, sliced oranges and bananas, milk, tea.
Dinner—Beef a la mode, mashed potatoes, glazed parsnips, horseradish, layer cake, milk, coffee.

Carrots and Peas au Gratin.
2 bunches young carrots, 1 1/2 cups cooked peas, 4 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 4 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 1/2 cups boiling water, 1 teaspoon sugar.

2 tablespoons minced parsley, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 4 tablespoons grated cheese, 4 tablespoons coarse buttered crumbs.

Scrape and slice carrots. Cook in boiling water until tender. Drain and reserve liquor. Melt butter, stir in flour and slowly add carrot water, stirring constantly. Bring to the boiling point and add lemon juice, salt, pepper, sugar and parsley. Blend thoroughly and add carrots and peas. Turn into a buttered baking dish. Cover with buttered crumbs and sprinkle with cheese. Place in a hot oven to brown the top and melt the cheese. Serve from baking dish.

Delta Made Dairy Products

Milk--Cream--Butter--Ice Cream--Cottage Cheese

Now Clarified as well as Pasteurized

Clarification protects the milk consumers palate similar to pasteurization's protection of the health. The New Clarifier that has been just installed in our plant is one of the latest developments in scientific handling of milk and is the first, as far as we can determine, in the Upper Peninsula, although now in vogue in 85% of the nations' larger cities.

Pasteurization kills the germs that are frequently found in raw milk—Clarification removes such accumulation of foreign substance as the raw product may have gathered during its journey from source until the time it is ready for bottling or to be used in the manufacture of other dairy products. In addition clarification greatly furthers the appetizing qualities of the product.

The process of Clarification and Pasteurization is now applied to all milk and cream used in the manufacture of Delta Made products. If you would have this additional health and palate protection.

AS GOOD AS MONEY WILL BUY—THE BEST YOU EVER ATE.

BIG BOY

"THE WONDER LOAF"

Although the flavor, texture and quality of "Big Boy" never varies, each successive bite seems to be more delicious than its predecessor.

Do you buy advertised goods?

Of course you do; everybody does. Just run over in your mind various articles that you have purchased in the last week or the last month. How about foods? Your breakfast fruits, cereals and bacon are all advertised. Probably that is how you first came to know of them--through advertising. Probably the shoes you are wearing, or the dress or suit you have on are equally well-known advertised makes, and are proud of them.

In the home. On the floor are rugs and linoleum--the better wearing kinds are extensively advertised. What about the kitchen? Aluminum ware, gas ranges, hot water heaters, dish and clothes washers, cooking utensils of all kinds--practically everything you use is advertised. You buy advertised products because you have confidence in them. You know that a manufacturer cannot afford to advertise shoddy or unworthy merchandise.

Advertising is one form of insurance. It gives you a feeling of perfect confidence and safety when you ask for an advertised brand, for you know that you will get the quality and service you expect. The name is the guarantee.

The more you read advertising the more you will know about human progress. You will become well posted in almost every line of human endeavor and a canny judge of values. Reading advertisements is a fine habit. Cultivate it.

TIGERS LOSE IN 11 INNINGS

Former Detroit Players Aid in Victory; Home Run Breaks Tie

Detroit, Apr. 13.—(AP)—The St. Louis Browns led by former Tiger players defeated Detroit 4 to 3 today for their third consecutive victory. Clyde Manion's home run in the ninth inning which tied the score 3-3 and a wild pitch by Holloway in the eleventh inning based the Browns the opening three-game series.

Detroit held a lead through eight innings after scoring three runs in the first inning. Helme Manush, former Tiger center fielder, and Marty McManus, Detroit third baseman, engaged in an argument on the third base line and were banished from the game.

Ty Cobb Goes Into Second in Batting

(By The Associated Press.)
Ty Cobb's two singles at Philadelphia yesterday put the "Georgia Peach" in second place in the "Big Six" batting ranking to date. Paul Waner, who when rain washed out the Pirates' game at St. Louis, leads the pack with a percentage of .500. Cobb is batting .375, while Kiki Cuyler kept within the 300 class by getting a single in four appearances at Cincinnati. Babe Ruth managed to get on double as the Yankees nosed out the Athletics while Harry Hellmann went to bat four times and collected one single for his efforts. Hornsby, alone on the active members of the half dozen, failed to hit safely.

The standings this far:

Frederick Eastwood Wins Track Letter

Escanaba was represented on the University of Michigan freshman track squad this season by Frederick Eastwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Eastwood, who was one of the 37 men presented with their numbers at the close of the indoor season. Eastwood will report immediately for outdoor track work. His specialties are the 880-yard and 440-yard dashes, and his performances on the indoor speedway showed plenty of promise. Eastwood was graduated from Escanaba high school in 1926.

OLDEST JOCKEY?

CHRIS MILLER

A few days ago when Roxie Romanelli retired from the saddle at the ripe old age of 50, Johnny Callahan was generally conceded to be America's oldest active jockey. But Chris Miller, shown here, now active at a Havana track, laughs at Callahan's claim. "I've been riding since 1883 and no one had ever heard of either Romanelli or Callahan then," he says. Callahan has plotted horses on all important tracks in the United States.

George Voigt Wins North and South Amateur Golf Title

Pinehurst, N. C., Apr. 13.—(AP)—George Voigt, Washington golfer, stroked the Pinehurst course three under par today to win the North and South amateur championship for the second consecutive year. With a 69, the District of Columbia player defeated John Dawson, Chicago, one up, at the thirty-sixth hole. The Washington golfer brought the contest to a close with a birdie three on the thirty-sixth hole. After finishing 27 holes one up on the Chicagoan, Voigt lost the advantage when Dawson sank a 12-foot putt to win the tenth. They halved the eleventh and saw-sawed into the lead for the rest of the match. This was the second time the title has been won two consecutive years by the same golfer, Allan Laird, also of Washington, winning in 1907 and 1908.

Michigan Baseball Team Beats Georgia

Nine errors were committed by the two teams, Georgia being responsible for five of them. McAfee, who held Georgia to eight hits, crashed out a triple in the third inning. Score by innings: R. H. E. YANKEES NOSE OUT A'S, 8 TO 7

New York Americans Have Lost None of Scoring Powers

Philadelphia, Apr. 13.—(AP)—The New York Yankees apparently have lost none of the bone-crushing power that carried them to an American League pennant by an overwhelming margin last year.

The champions put together three home runs, two triples and a pair of doubles, along with sundry singles, to nose out the Philadelphia Athletics today, 8 to 7. Lou Gehrig started his 1928 home run campaign in the second inning with a tremendous drive that sailed into a window in a house across the street from the park. But homers were the rule rather than the exception. Six drives good for the circuit were poked out, each team getting three. Joe Hauser hit two and Cochrane one for the Athletics while Combs and Meusel added Gehrig in upholding the Yankees' prestige. Ruth got only one hit, a double.

Cincinnati, O., Apr. 13.—(AP)—Errors which defeated the Chicago Cubs in the first two games of the season's opening series, shifted to the Cincinnati Reds today and the Cubs won the third game, 2 to 0. Walker's muff of a long fly sent Stephenson across the plate for the first score in the second inning, and Dressen's wide throw to first in the seventh put Butler on third and enabled him to score on Maguire's fly. Nehf proved capable in the pinches and held the Reds scoreless.

Joe Genewich Weakens in Eighth When New York Gets Five Runs

New York, Apr. 13.—(AP)—Joe Genewich weakened in the eighth inning today and the New York Giants pounded out five runs to make it two straight over the Boston Braves, 7 to 3. Genewich entered the eighth inning with a 3 to 2 lead, but was derricked after doubles by Roush and Jackson and singles by Lindstrom and Terry had scored two runs. Bunny Hearn was called to the rescue, but was relieved by Arthur Delaney after he had hit Mann with a wild pitch, and Andy Cohen then doubled to score two more runs. Delaney forced the final Giant tally over with a walk with the bases loaded.

The battle of second basemen again ended in Cohen's favor. He got only one hit, but Rogers Hornsby went hitless.

RUNNERS REACH OKLAHOMA CITY

Governor Johnson Grooms Contestants in Pyle's Marathon Race

Oklahoma City, Apr. 13.—(AP)—Dodging thousands of persons who waited along the official route, Cross-country Pyle's marathon racers trotted through other Oklahoma City streets today to a welcome by Gov. Henry S. Johnston, after a run of 33.5 miles from El Reno.

Nestor Erickson, New York Finnish-American, won first place in the day's run, finishing in 3 hours, 55 minutes, 25 seconds.

Andrew Payne, Claremore, Oklahoma, youth, although retaining his lead in elapsed time for the grind, disappointed home state crowds by trailing in more than an hour behind Erickson. Peter Gavuzzi of Southampton, Eng., who lately has pushed Payne hardest for the lead, ran today's race in a dead heat with Payne, in 5 hours and 2 minutes flat. Fourteen other runners were in when Payne and Gavuzzi arrived.

Arrival of the caravan in Oklahoma City tonight meant a court action for C. C. Pyle, the promoter. A garnishment certificate attaching the $5,000 put up by the Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce for routing the race through the city, was issued in district court to Ralph V. Scott of Illinois, a former member of Pyle's professional football team.

The Chamber of Commerce, in an effort to recover its guarantee money, made a gala event of the arrival of the runners at the state fair grounds and persons who wish to see the finish for the day paid to pass through the turnstiles.

The twelve leaders in the race and their elapsed time for the 1,491.5 miles:
Andrew Payne, Claremore, Okla. 251:51:31
Peter Gavuzzi, Southampton, England 253:21:50
John Salo, Passaic, N. J. 271:05:21
Phillip Granville, Hamilton, Ont. 282:20:50

Ed Gardner, Seattle 285:58:34

Public Speaking Contest Postponed

The fifth annual seventh and eighth grade Orange and Black public speaking contests which were to be held in the Escanaba high school auditorium last evening were postponed until Tuesday, April 24. The reasons were that many of the speakers in the contests are ill and that also many of the grade school children who were planning on hearing the contests are ill. Persons holding tickets for the contest are asked to keep them until April 24, the date of the postponement, at which time they will be accepted for admittance to the contests.
