

FARM RELIEF MAY PROVIDE VITAL ISSUE

FARMERS TO DEMAND DIRECT STAND ON IT

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

(Copyright 1923, by the Escanaba Press.) Washington, April 14.—The opportunity of a presidential candidate to win support in the west by a definite declaration on the McNary-Haugen bill has come, and it may provide the next campaign with a vital issue that electorally could affect enough electorates to give one section of the country a balance of power.

Passage by the senate of the McNary-Haugen bill indicated a possibility of a two-thirds vote over a presidential veto but prospects of such an over-riding of the house are not very good. Hence the question is likely to be asked by farm organizations of all candidates: "Would you if elected president, sign the McNary-Haugen bill?"

Secretary Hoover as the exponent of Coolidge policies would be compelled to answer in the negative. Former Governor Lowden and Vice-President Dawes would be expected to answer in the affirmative. As for Governor Smith, there are signs from his camp that he will come out for the McNary-Haugen plan unhesitatingly. Should either President Coolidge or Secretary Hoover be chosen to lead the republicans, the effort of the democrats would be to win the west on the McNary-Haugen issue, believing that it might be regarded by the agricultural regions as much more vital and controlling than prohibition.

In other words, the chance to carry a western dry state would be improved for a democrat like Al Smith, and a republican like most of the electors, even in the dry states, are inclined to be wet and that the rural regions are the ones that upset all wet candidates. If the rural districts believe their opportunity for farm relief would come through a candidate who agreed with the McNary-Haugen plan, it might prove an important factor in the campaign. Senator Norris of Nebraska has already stated that progressive principles were far more important to him than prohibition and that as between a candidate like Governor Smith, whom he considered progressive, and a conservative nominated by the republicans, he might be disposed to favor the New York governor.

Smith Outside. So the McNary-Haugen bill becomes the acid test of progressivism with western agricultural states. At present Governor Smith does not come into the picture as the effort of the farm organizations is to persuade a republican to support the measure. Having modified the bill to a large extent in an attempt to meet President Coolidge's objections, the western bloc now will wait for the presidential veto before going to the country on the issue.

Ex-Governor Lowden has expressed himself in favor of the principle of the McNary-Haugen bill. To do so in direct contradiction of the views to be expressed by the president in his veto message would, however, give the western voters cause to lose strength for Mr. Lowden in the east. The eastern republicans feel that the next candidate should be able to make the race on the Coolidge record and that anyone who differs materially from the Coolidge view is not able to command eastern support.

Italian Dirigible Starts First Leg of Polar Flight Milan, April 14.—(P)—The Italian dirigible Italia left Baglio airfield at 2 o'clock this morning for Stolp, Germany, the first stage of its trans-Polar flight. A more ambitious program than that of the "Norge" in which Gansel Noble went to the North Pole in 1926 has been mapped out for the present trip. Noble has made arrangements to stay in the Polar regions through the remainder of spring and well into the summer. With a base established at Kings Bay, Spitzbergen, Noble plans several flights, one to ascertain whether there is more land on either side of the route followed by Peary.

Spring Makes Poor Showing in Midwest

Chicago, Apr. 14.—(P)—Spring today meant 18 inches of snow in Minnesota, a temperature of six degrees above zero in South Dakota, and snow and freezing weather in Illinois, North Dakota, Wisconsin and Iowa. Unpaved highways in Wisconsin and Minnesota, softened by thaws, were buried under snow that plows were unable to clear because the roads were too soft to bear the machines. Believing that winter had passed, snow fences, used to break drifting snow, had been removed in most of the northwest, and as a result, virtually all highways were covered with drifts.

ARREST PICKETS AT WASHINGTON

Were Making Demonstration Against Nicaraguan Policy

Washington, Apr. 14.—(P)—One hundred arrests broke up a demonstration against the administration's policy in Nicaragua held today before the White House by the Anti-Imperialistic League of America. The demonstration gathered in Washington from New York, Philadelphia, Camden, N. J., and Wilmington, Del., to picket the executive mansion despite repeated advances against such action from Clayton S. Spear, their attorney here. The latter had been informed by White House police yesterday that picketing would be contrary to local regulations forbidding the display of unauthorized posters on all grounds under jurisdiction of the park commission. Under this regulation, the demonstrators were taken to the police station and released under $25 bond.

The pickets, walking two abreast and each carrying a poster, encircled the executive grounds in perfect order, watched by a large crowd gathered for the daily reception by the president. Among the inscriptions on the posters were:

Little Disturbance in Parade. "We do not appeal to the White House, but to the masses against the White House." "Millions of unemployed while we squander the treasury on conquest." "Wall Street and not Sandino is the real bandit in Nicaragua." "We are for Sandino and not against him."

A large number of the posters said: "We demand the immediate withdrawal of marines from Nicaragua." "Precautionary measures had been taken by the police upon advice earlier in the day that the demonstration might occur. Ten city and six park policemen in addition to six plain clothes detectives were placed in reserve to aid the regular White House police force. When the demonstration actually occurred additional forces arrived in police wagons.

The arrests, like the demonstration, took place with a minimum of disturbance. The police deprived the pickets, including mostly young men and five women, of their posters and then without disturbing their formation, marched them to the nearby police headquarters.

MELLON'S PLAN IS THREATENED

Demand for Auto Tax Repeal Growing; Would Lose $66,000,000

Washington, Apr. 14.—(P)—Spread of sentiment of representatives of the automobile industry for repeal of the auto levy, is threatening the administration position in the senate for a tax reduction within the $200,000,000 limit set by Secretary Mellon. The three per cent automobile tax involves $66,000,000 and Mr. Mellon said it must be continued, although the house voted its repeal. While most of the senate Republicans appear ready to support his otherwise, the treasury head is admittedly facing a hard battle on this issue.

Chairman Smoot of the finance committee which is laboring with the $290,000,000 house reduction measure, declared today there was a tough fight ahead if any part of the auto tax is to be retained. Involving such a sum of revenue, the administration leaders realize that if this tax is repealed there will be little hope of keeping the total cut within the Mellon limit. To offset it in part, the Republican majority may attempt to set the corporation tax at 12 1/2 per cent instead of going down to the 12 per cent figure recommended by Mr. Mellon. The house voted to cut this 1 1/2 per cent rate to 1 1/4 per cent and the Chamber of Commerce of the United States is asking a 10 per cent figure.

Committee Ends Hearing. While the Republican majority on the committee had hoped to revise the house measure within the terms proposed by the treasury, there is apparently a break in the ranks even there on the automobile tax with Senator Couzens, Republican of Michigan, looking with favor on the auto repeal. Democrats have announced in favor of the repeal, but their ranks likewise are not solid, with Senator King, of Utah, doubtful on the automobile cut. Changes in the party lineup, if confined to the two switches, would leave the situation unchanged but other defections are in prospect in the Republican organization on this issue.

Meanwhile, the committee, which has ended its hearings on the house bill, will settle down next week to fight out the differences between the Democrats, who are urging a $300,000,000 total cut, and the Republicans, who are generally behind the administration. Senator Smoot predicted today that the entire rate structure of the bill could be disposed of next week.

Michigan Bar Association Head Defends Life Sentence Ruling Flint, Apr. 14.—(P)—"Get together, help put teeth in the law, instead of trying to pull the ones it has," said Henry C. Walters of Detroit, president of the Michigan State Bar Association, in addressing the Genesee County Bar Association today.

Reference was made to the Palm case in Ingham county, where the respondent was sentenced to life imprisonment on a fourth offense for the possession of a pint of liquor. Had Chance to Reform. "Much has been made of the so-called injustice of this case," said Walters, "but the record of the man has not always been taken into consideration. He was first convicted of a liquor-law violation, then of a burglary, then of altering federal currency, and then of three more liquor law violations, all of which were commensurate in nature."

"Where a man has repeatedly been given a chance to reform and has refused to do so, society should be protected from that man. It is time that the lawyers and courts of the state made it possible for a citizen to go to a jail cell after dark without carrying a cocked gun," said Walters, after describing criminal conditions in the state.

Mr. Walters asked the Genesee county attorneys to forget personal interests for a time and work for the good of the public and to make an attempt to purge the state of unprincipled and shyster attorneys. By so doing, he pointed out, the legal profession could gain the confidence of the public.

FIRE SWEEPS RUINS AFTER EXPLOSION

VICTIMS HAD NO OPPORTUNITY TO ESCAPE

West Plains, Mo., Apr. 13.—(P)—At least thirty-eight persons are dead and twenty injured, several critically, as a result of an explosion and fire that demolished the Weiser garage building in which a dance was being held last night. Twenty bodies had been positively identified this afternoon and friends and relatives crowded two morgues in an effort to identify the other charred and shattered bodies recovered from the ruins. Twenty-three persons were unaccounted for and were believed to be among the unidentified dead. A coroner's jury, hastily summoned by Richard Green, prosecuting attorney, could not agree on the cause of the explosion and adjourned until Wednesday. A gasoline tank, supposed to have exploded, was found intact. Two buildings adjoining the dance hall also were destroyed. Estimates of property damage ranged upwards from $150,000.

Thirty or forty couples attended the dance, but some were not in the hall at the time of the blast. Whether all escaped who were sleeping in the second-story apartments in the building adjoining the garage, had not been determined yet today. Searchers believed a few more bodies would be found in the ruins.

The revised list of identified dead follows: John Bates, Charles Murr, Jr., Hugh Sama, J. W. Weiser, garage proprietor, Hazel Sussen, Willow Springs, Mo., Clinton Clemmons, Evelyn Conkins, Kansas City, Mo., Ben Jolly, Led Reed, Mrs. Esco Riley, Miss Elsie Risher, Thayer, Mo.

"It was the most harrowing experience of my entire life," said W. H. Evans, Chicago traveling salesman, who witnessed the tragedy. The cries of victims who were burned under the blazing debris, people we knew we couldn't do a thing for, will remain with me until I die. It was horrible. "They didn't have a chance. The front of the building was blown out and the upper floor collapsed. The dancers were hurled into a blazing furnace from which there was no escape. Rescue work could not be carried on. The flames prevented our doing anything but just standing by and listening to the cries.

"I was standing in front of the Commercial hotel, which is almost directly across the street from the Weiser building, when suddenly there came a tremendous blast like the explosion of a dynamite bomb. Plate glass along the street shattered and the very ground trembled. With my companions, we rushed across the street to the demolished building. Hanging from some kind of electric wires was a man. He had been blown from a second-story window and had managed to grab hold of the wires. We called to him to drop and we would catch him. He did so and was only slightly hurt.

"We managed to save four other men, but after that we could do nothing more but wait for the firemen to extinguish the blaze so that work could be carried on in the ruins."

Detroit Politician Arrested; Charged With Tending Bar

Detroit, Apr. 14.—(P)—Alleged to have been caught tending bar in a blind pig, Thomas C. O'Brien, several times a candidate for mayor, was arraigned today on a charge of violating the federal prohibition law. He pleaded not guilty and gave bond for his appearance April 21 for examination.

Five Dead, 12 Hurt in Fire at Winnipeg

Winnipeg, April 14.—(P)—Five dead, four women and a man, a dozen injured, with many others overcome by smoke, was the toll of a fire which swept the Casa Loma, a combined apartment and business block here, this afternoon.

Two of the women succumbed in the hospital after being rescued from the burning structure, three bodies were found on the floor of apartment rooms.

UPHOLDS STATE CRIMINAL CODE

Michigan Bar Association Head Defends Life Sentence Ruling

Seven Officers Plead Guilty to Fraud Charges

Detroit, Apr. 14.—(P)—Six commissioned and non-commissioned officers of the Michigan National Guard, and one army sergeant, who were among eleven men indicted in connection with alleged payroll frauds at the Detroit armory, pleaded guilty today upon arraignment before Judge Charles C. Simons in federal court.

The seven are: Capt. John C. Brand, Supt. John J. Walsh, Lieut. George C. Ford, Lieut. Richard E. Russell, Jr., Lieut. Harry L. Marling and Sergt. Charles A. Collins, of the national guard, and Sergt. Edward G. Vana of the army.

An eighth guardsman, Lieut. George T. Lake, pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for April 17. Sentencing of the seven other men and Sergt. Long, U. S. A., who also pleaded guilty several days ago, has been deferred until after the trial. Capt. Kenneth C. Bradley, of the national guard, also is awaiting trial.

War Department Accepts Tract for Target Work

Washington, April 14.—(P)—Charles B. Robbins, assistant secretary of war, today announced the government's acceptance of the offer of Gov. Fred W. Green of 2,200 acres of land near Escanaba as an army range for aerial gunnery training.

HOOVER AND SMITH STILL LEAD FIELDS

PICKING OF DELEGATES STIRS POLITICAL POT

Washington, Apr. 14.—(P)—As presidential politics rounds the turn of mid-April, Smith and Hoover remain the margin names around which the preponderant delegated strength of the major parties, so far as revealed in definite pledges, is rallying. But there is this difference between them: Secretary Hoover faces a solid anti-Hoover field of competitors, including a runner-up, Governor Lowden, already backed by a formidable number of delegates, and at least one dark horse, in the person of Vice President Dawes, whose friends confidentially predict that he eventually will be the beneficiary of the whole anti-Hoover movement. Governor Smith has opposed to him no single candidate whose delegate strength to date comes within a stone's throw of Smith's own, nor have the considerable number of party leaders who stand against him shown any evidence of solidarity either as to candidacies or issues.

There is this further difference: Hoover needs but a majority of the Republican convention to nominate him, while Smith needs two-thirds of the Democratic delegates. Both are far away from their goals in delegates actually chosen thus far. Hoover has instructed or definitely claimed for him around 200 of the 545 delegates votes needed to nominate at Kansas City, while Lowden has about 150. Smith's instructed and claimed delegates now number 150. Compared to 73 1/2 necessary for a nomination at Houston, his nearest competitor, Reed of Missouri, has only 38. During the past week Smith increased his lead over other Democratic candidates. Lowden, by annexing a big block of delegates from his home state of Illinois, narrowed the margin of selected delegate strength standing between him and Hoover.

The fight on Smith in the south is based on various issues, including his attitude toward prohibition and his alliance with Tammany. His followers in that territory, however, are attempting to break down hostility. Already, the Smith contingent claims Louisiana's 20 votes at Houston, at least half of the 18 from Arkansas and, after perhaps a ballot or two for Reed, Oklahoma's 20.

While they realize the importance of the south, the Smith managers and their opponents are most concerned for the moment with California. There in the May 1 primaries the Walsh-Reed-Smith contest for delegates will reach a showdown.

There will be close to a dozen "favorite sons" candidates at Houston, one of the latest to enter the field being former Senator Hitchcock, who will go into the convention assured of the support of Nebraska's delegation.

Of the contenders for the Republican nomination, Hoover, out in front as he is, has been the target of fire from many directions. Conflicting claims are made as to

Abandon Attempt to Break Ice Jam; Tugs Reach Ship

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Apr. 14.—(P)—After two tugs had succeeded today in taking coal and provisions to the grain laden steamer James B. Eads, icebound in Lake Nicolet, a blizzard and freezing weather caused abandonment of a plan to smash a channel through Lake Munuscong to release a fleet of 23 steamers locked here all winter by the ice.

Captain Burke of the Eads also has abandoned an attempt to buck the ice in the lower part of St. Mary's river in an effort to reach port. He said he will wait until the ice breaks up.

The Eads was in serious distress before the tugs Iowa and Alabama sent out from the Soo succeeded after fighting the ice for 24 hours in reaching her. The tugs carried cargoes of coal and provisions which were unloaded onto the Eads only an hour before the steamer's fuel supply would have become exhausted. Should the fuel supply have run out, the grain cargo would have been damaged as the steamer is leaking and it is necessary to keep pumps operating to prevent water from coming into the holds through the damaged hull.

DIES FOLLOWING FIGHT PRACTICE

College Student Was Sparring With Heavyweight Boxer

Champaign, Ill., Apr. 14.—(P)—Fred M. Bobzin, Chicago, sophomore in the U. of Illinois, died tonight after a short sparring bout with Les Marriner, former Illinois football player and now a professional heavyweight boxer.

Physicians attribute Bobzin's death to internal hemorrhages. Coroner William J. Strode is investigating. The bout took place in the old gymnasium under the personal supervision of Paul Prehn, chairman of the Illinois Boxing commission, and boxing instructor at the university.

Bobzin and Marriner were close friends. As Bobzin weighed 220 pounds, about 40 pounds more than Marriner, the young pugilist often trained with him. This afternoon, the two donned 15-ounce practice gloves, used generally in amateur boxing classes, and exchanged blows. Prehn declares Marriner did not hit hard at any time.

Marriner has established a high reputation as a boxer during the last few months. He has won nine of his last ten bouts by knockouts. When the first round of three minutes was little more than half ended, Bobzin dropped his hands to his side and declared he couldn't go on.

He sat down at the side of the ring and Prehn hurried to him. "I'm not feeling well," he told the instructor. "I hope you don't think I'm yellow."

SAFETY OF THREE MEN REASSURED

DOUBT IF DAMAGED PLANE CAN CONTINUE TRIP

(By The Associated Press.) The first men ever to make a non-stop westward airplane flight across the north Atlantic are marooned on a tiny, ice-bound, northern island, far from the millions waiting to welcome them. After more than a day and a half in the air, then hours spent in blindly wandering through an impenetrable fog, the Junkers monoplane Bremen landed Friday on Greenly Island, in the Straits of Belle Isle between Newfoundland and Labrador, and it seemed unlikely that the journey could be continued for several days.

Messages relayed to the outer world by dog sled, radio and telegraph bore assurance that though the plane was damaged, the three flyers, Baron Ehrenfried von Huenefeldt, Capt. Hermann Koehl and Capt. James Fitzmaurice, were uninjured and being well cared for by the little island's inhabitants.

Three factors combined to prevent immediate continuation of the Bremen's flight from Ireland to New York. The fuel tanks were empty when the Bremen landed on a little lake on the mile-square island and the nearest supply is across the ice pack on the mainland.

The propeller was broken, and lastly, it was believed that the plane might have great difficulty in effecting a take-off from the frozen surface of the island, even after repairs were made. The Bremen started out with its German-Irish crew from Baldonnel Aldrome near Dublin early Thursday morning, hoping to make a non-stop flight to New York. They planned to follow the Great Circle course, but for some reason they drifted northward and ran into fog off Labrador, which prevented their continued progress and kept them groping blindly about until their fuel gave out.

Aviators believed that the Bremen strayed from its course because poor visibility rendered their drift indicator useless and because, for some reason, the flyers apparently did not alter their direction in accordance with compass variation due to the magnetic north pole.

It was believed in many quarters that in the Bremen's appearance off Labrador lay the possible answer to what had happened to other planes which tried the westward ocean crossing, and were never heard from.

The indications were that when the journey to Mitchell Field is completed, probably early next week, the foreign flyers will be given a public welcome comparable to nothing the city has ever seen except its greeting to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh after he flew to France last year.

MAY HAVE FUEL

Quebec, Apr. 14.—(P)—Brief messages today indicated that the marooned trans-Atlantic monoplane Bremen may have saved enough fuel so that it can continue its flight if necessary repairs can be made with what few tools are available on Greenly Island in the Straits of Belle Isle.

At first it was believed that a forced landing on the tiny island had been necessitated by exhaustion of the fuel supply, but fragmentary reports today led to the belief that the Bremen came down chiefly because the pilots gave up hope of establishing their position in the dense fog through which they wandered for hours.

If this is indeed the fact, and if repairs can be made, only enough fuel would be necessary to fly to Port Saunders, 50 miles away, only 8 or 9 gallons, where a supply sufficient to continue to New York could be obtained. Only regular commercial gasoline is available at Port Saunders, but it was believed that the Bremen engine could be adjusted to use this instead of the special fuel it burned on its ocean flight.

Plane Is On Way

In the meantime, while the flyers were preparing to get out from their island prison, plans were under way from the outside to get in to them. Because of the nature of the ice pack surrounding the island, and separating it from the mainland, it was believed to be accessible to planes only if they were equipped with skis.

FRENCH FLYERS RETURN HOME

Costes and Lebrux Conclude 35,000 Mile Jaunt Around World

Paris, Apr. 14—(P)—The flying Frenchmen, Dieudonne Costes and Joseph Lebrux, came home this evening from their air odyssey over 35,000 miles of land and sea—over Africa, the two Americas, Europe and a wide expanse of the South Atlantic.

Speeding to Paris in six days from far away Tokyo, on the other side of the earth, they brought their biplane down upon the green field of LeBourget just before dusk—the noise of their motor drowned by the sound of 1,600 Gallic "Bravos" and "Vivas."

Two squadrons of French military planes escorted them on the last few miles over the familiar territory that stretches southeastward from Paris. On the ground there was a band of music, and there were cheers, the waving of hats and handkerchiefs, laughter and joyful tears.

It was out of a cloudy, grey and dripping sky that Costes, piloted the "Nungesser-Collie" to the landing field, ending a pilgrimage around the world, all of it through the air, except the crossing of the Pacific. Every member of the French cabinet who is in Paris, except the ever-popular premier, M. Poincaré, was at LeBourget to welcome the new national heroes. So also were the ace of French aviation, whose achievements Costes and Lebrux have exceeded, the veteran Louis Berliot, Pelletier Dolsy, the popular "Pivolo" Drouhin, Capt. Arrachart, and the youthful Sergeant Bleriot, Pelletier Dolsy, the popular Paris to New York alone in a monoplane modelled after Lindbergh's "Spirit of St. Louis."

Make Graceful Landing.
Although only those with passes were admitted to the airfield, there were enough of them to break through the police barriers, just as they did the night Lindbergh landed. Outside the field there were tens of thousands more.

The "Nungesser-Collie" came down beautifully in the midst of the two squadrons of escort planes. Costes had this to say: "It has been a marvelous experience, but Paris surely does look good."

When the ministers and their fellow flyers had shaken their hands, Costes and Lebrux were escorted to a hangar decorated with the flags of the 30 or more lands they visited in their flight. Toasts were drunk to their health, and then through the highways, crowded with the cheering thousands, to real French food again, and to a long, long sleep between cool, clean linen sheets.

Lebrux expressed his joy over landing at the very place of their departure after a six months trip which carried the French colors around the world. They brought back the same airplane, with its motor intact.

HOOVER AND SMITH STILL LEAD FIELDS

the trend of battle, but for the most part the Ohio and Indiana primaries are wanted to give some proof of how things really are going. Hoover's efforts to win delegates in both states are being bitterly opposed, the Ohio anti-Hoover forces carrying on despite the death of their candidate, Senator Willis, while in Indiana, Senator Watson is campaigning as a presidential candidate in his own right. In opening his stump today at his birthplace, Winchester, the Indiana senator supported the McNary-Haugen farm bill.

The Ohio primary will be held a week from next Tuesday, and that in Indiana on May 8.

With the campaign for the Republican nomination growing in bitterness, much is being made by Hoover's political foes of the contention that he has been unfriendly to agriculture. This is indignantly denied by his managers, who also point to the records to support their claims.

Hoover generally has been regarded as opposed to the McNary-Haugen farm bill. Lowden, Dawes and Watson are listed as his friends. What effort a veto of the revised measure would have on the political fortunes of various Republicans is a much discussed subject.

The vice president has insisted he is not a presidential candidate. Despite this stand, Dawes' name comes bobbing into discussions of the presidential situation. During the week the word went out from his home state of Ohio that 24 of the Willis candidates for delegate would support Dawes if and when the opportunity presented itself.

The last few days also has brought Borah of Idaho into the Republican presidential circle, with the eleven delegates from his state instructed to support him.

The Hoover forces are counting on these votes as reserve strength, and also, from the outset of the convention, on the Rhode Island delegations.

Old Jack Dunn, manager of the Baltimore Orioles, is a keen follower of the turf and attends race meetings whenever he can.

piloted by Dr. Louis Cruisnier, and was expected to reach the island during the night. Leaving again tomorrow with the trans-Atlantic flyers, if they were willing to leave their own ship behind, for the time being. Another plane was to start for the island this morning.

These planes are equipped with 420 horsepower engines and are capable of a speed of 160 miles an hour. They are in the trans-continental mail service.

Besides the planes, the government ice steamer Montcalm was heading for the island, but it was 250 miles away tonight, and no estimate was possible as to the time of its probable arrival. It was hoped to avoid Arctic ice in the Gulf of St. Lawrence by keeping well in to shore, but heavy ice was reported close to the Straits of Belle Isle, which it was feared might slacken the Montcalm's speed materially.

CAL CONGRATULATES.
Ottawa, Ont., April 14—(P)—Through the U. S. legation at Ottawa, the congratulations of President Coolidge and the people of the United States on the first western non-stop flight of the Atlantic, has been transmitted to the Bremen aviators on the lonely island in Belle Isle Straits.

The U. S. Embassy today asked the Canadian government to transmit the following message from President Coolidge to Captain Koehl of the Bremen: "The president asks that the Canadian government be so good as to transmit to Captain Koehl his heartfelt congratulations for the magnificent trip through storm and sleet across the north Atlantic. The president also asks that Captain Koehl convey to Colonel Fitzmaurice, his copilot, and to Baron Huenefeld, his fellow-countryman, an expression of the admiration of the people of America."

The Canadian authorities also transmitted today the following message: "The war department and the army of the United States offer sincere congratulations on the achievement of spanning the Atlantic from east to west. The accomplishment notably attests the skill and courage of the Bremen's crew."

"Dwight F. Davis, Secretary of War," "On behalf of the army air corps I send you hearty greetings and warmest congratulations on the first successful non-stop flight westward across the Atlantic. It is an accomplishment of which the whole world is supremely proud."

"Trabee F. Davison, Asst. Secretary of War."

LUFTHANSA PLEASED.
Berlin, Apr. 14—(P)—Lufthansa, the German aviation organization which vented its disapproval of Capt. Hermann Koehl's abandonment of his place as one of their night flyers to steer the Bremen to Ireland, today issued a cordial statement, congratulating him. The statement said: "Lufthansa, as no other, knows Captain Koehl's great aviation qualities."

While Germany's jubilation over the crossing of the Atlantic by a German plane continued to day, it lacked the enthusiasm prompted by last night's erroneous reports that the aviators had reached Mitchell Field. Instead, there was considerable technical discussion of what had actually been accomplished.

Dr. Rumpler, of the Rumpler Works, appraised the flight as a "sporting event of the greatest significance," because it demonstrated that an east-to-west flight even with strong head winds, was possible. He added, however, that trans-oceanic air traffic is practicable only with multi-motored planes of enough speed to insure independence of wind and weather.

RESULTS CONSIDERED.
Dublin, Apr. 14—(P)—With Col. James Fitzmaurice and his German comrades of the monoplane Bremen safe on Greenly Island, Ireland today began to consider the results of the trans-Atlantic flight.

"Another bond has been created between Ireland and America, and the achievement will do much to develop air-mindedness in this country," said Col. Chas. Russell, former chief of the Irish Free State air corps to The Associated Press.

It was learned that already plans are in the making for an "All-Irish flight" in 1928, but it also was intimated that sanction for any such attempt was not likely.

"This won't do any more such stunts, if I can help it," the weary but happy little wife of the Irish flyer said at Baldonnel. "He has wanted to fly the Atlantic for ten years. I rejoice at his success, but I hope he will not do it again."

One possible result of the flight is a German-Irish entente of the air. In some circles here the German shipping interests who were interested in the Bremen with Baron von Huenefeld, are considered to have executed a stroke of genius by inviting an Irishman to participate in the venture. These circles say that the success of the long hop may enable German interests to obtain an air footing in the Free State.

PLANES TO LEAVE
Curtis Field, N. Y., April 14—(P)—M. M. Merrill, general manager at this commercial flying field, announced tonight that six planes chartered by newspapers are being prepared to fly into Canada tomorrow to get as near as possible to Greenly Island in the Straits of Belle Isle, where the trans-Atlantic monoplane Bremen is marooned.

One newspaper plane passed through New York today from Philadelphia on the same mission. It was a Fairchild cabin plane owned by the Ludington Flying Service and piloted by Robert Hewitt, accompanied by his mechanic, John Buscher. They stopped at Mitchell Field for weather reports and then headed for Halifax, saying they were on newspaper mission in connection with the Bremen flight.

Merrill did not believe that the Curtiss planes would be able to land on Greenly Island, but it was believed they might make landings on the mainland not far away and that the newspaper men might be able to establish some form of communication from there to the island.

Nine-Year-Old Boy Killed When Hit By Train

Detroit, Apr. 14—(P)—Frantically attempting to stop a 75-car Pennsylvania freight train, dragging the body of a 9-year-old boy pummed between the under-carriage and a journal, box of the engine, two policemen today raced alongside the train in their car for a mile and a half before they succeeded in bringing it to a standstill.

Walter Brandeis, 9, was playing on the Pennsylvania tracks near his home when he was struck and caught by the engine driving rod. The passing police, who witnessed the accident, gave chase with their sirens shrieking, and finally signaled the engineer to a stop. The patrolmen and train crew removed the body and the train was allowed to proceed.

The boy's body was crushed.

Physical condition of the clubs as they enter the race may be a big factor in deciding the National League pennant this year. It is a well-known and accepted fact that games won in April and early May count just as much as victories in the last quarter and early success may be worth more because of their psychological value.

The bulk of power in the National League seems to be distributed among the western clubs this season and the schedule throws the Pirates, the Cardinals, the Cubs and the Reds into almost a month of free-for-all before they get a crack at the weaker eastern teams.

Careful study of the schedule and an appreciation of what a quick start will mean were said to have influenced Joe McCarthy in driving his Chicago Cubs at top speed during the training season. The Cubs were the first to have pitchers ready for nine innings of work and they brought home what was said to be the best-conditioned team in the major leagues.

Some managers might dispute the wisdom of having a ball club worked into perfect condition for the very first game of the season. The risk may exist, it is true, of having the athletes go stale and slow dead in the final drive for home, but if a team can pile up a big lead in those early games it would have something to work on when the slump came.

Now that the home fans are getting cleopuses of the club, the

Hooks and Slides

Cubs are continuing to make quite an impression. Even Judge Landis has stepped out of his role and admits that he has heard some very fine things about the Chicago club.

The artistic trimming that the Cubs gave the champion Pirates in their series of exhibition games was most interesting. The Cubs look great even if they have the reputation from last year of a three-quarter runner.

Kiki Cuyler's spectacular work was one of the outstanding features of the training season and already speculation is being offered that the brilliant former Pittsburgh outfielder will make a pennant winner out of the Cubs.

Braves Also Look Good.
The Boston Braves have had the habit for several years of getting into shape quicker than the other clubs and of making a great showing in their exhibition battles with other major league clubs. It has been said that they wanted to win a few games before settling down into their usual role of entertaining the other clubs in the championship race.

This year, however, the Braves seem to have more than a spring flash. That is, their spring flash looked to be on better foundations. With a reliable first baseman, the Braves would have one of the best infields in the league. As it is, however, Dick Burris may catch the spark from Hornsby and turn into a first-rate player on first.

The Braves have some fine young pitchers, too, and they have spirit. They had it last year, but Hornsby will put more into the club. They are in that desired position of having nothing to lose and everything to gain, and they can shoot the works with abandon.

It has been observed that some critics are considering the Braves a first-division ball club. Even Jack Hendricks, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, predicts fourth place for them and puts them ahead of the Cardinals and the Giants.

Hooks and Slides

Use American Types At Fancy Dress Ball

Berlin—All the lads about town aspire to look like Douglas Fairbanks or Tom Mix when they saunter forth of nights to break a few hearts at the innumerable fancy dress balls of the Berlin carnival season.

The sustained run on gaucho clothes and cowpunchers' outfits has beaten all estimates, according to costumers who are at their wits' end to keep pace with the demand. Cowboy pants and a red neck kerchief worn with spectacles makes an irresistible appeal. Neither is a pirate costume complete with cutlass and a monocle to be despised in the lady-killing game.

As for the maidens, they are mostly amenable to good advice. They would all love to appear as American revue girls—the English word is used here, pronounced "yurils"—but those whose legs don't fit into the picture can generally be persuaded to make up as a court dame, period of Frederick the Great, or as a crinolined lady of the early nineteenth century.

In England the law governing adoptions provides that the adopter must be at least 25, and 21 years older than the adopted; a man is not permitted to adopt a girl unless he satisfies the court that there are special advantages for her.

Husband of Beauty Contest Winner Is Suing for Damages

Pittsburgh, Pa., Apr. 14—(P)—Jesse W. Gray, husband of Thelma Williams Gray, "Miss Pittsburgh" of 1925, today filed an allegation of affection suit here which he asked $100,000 from Royce Grimm, Buffalo, N. Y., Mrs. Gray's former theatrical manager.

Mrs. Gray filed divorce action against her husband last week. Gray set forth that after Grimm had become associated with his wife he love grew cold, with the result she started separation proceedings. A few weeks ago, Grimm and Mrs. Gray were arrested in Detroit, Mich.

A charge of violating the Mann act was placed against Grimm and Mrs. Gray was held as a material witness. She is now visiting relatives at Stratford, near here.

DR. C. M. SIMPSON CO. 2343 W. 46TH ST., CLEVELAND, O.

Mentel Howe in the Marquette Mining Journal of March 8th had this to say.

'Way Of All Flesh' Is Master-Piece; Plan To See It

It is so usual to say this, that or the other is the greatest picture that the superlative term has been dwarfed into insignificance, but the picture which was shown at the Delft yesterday and will be shown for the last times today is the greatest picture we have ever seen.

That is not meant to be taken as calling "The Way of All Flesh" a spectacle of the Griffith or De Mille brand. It is not that at all, but Emil Jannings' delineation of August Schiller is the finest bit of acting we have seen on the speaking stage or the screen. It alone would compensate for all the mediocre pictures that everybody has had to endure at some time or other.

Is Good As Sermon.
With full realization that this is Lent and that many are eschewing the theater, nevertheless, it is to be doubted if a more eloquent Lenten sermon could be preached than that of the story of August Schiller who from a happy, respected bank cashier becomes only "a poor old bum," who has to look at his wife and children decorating his grave with a memorial wreath and honoring him for dying in defense of a trust, while he has to stumble through a living daily death because he betrayed that trust.

As old Schiller sits on the park bench and watching the children play sees his own children, and then broken hearted he peers down from the gallery listening to his oldest boy making his debut as a violinist, playing the cradle song his father taught him. Emil Jannings' face is the most poignant, heartbreaking thing we have ever looked at on the screen. He has stripped the role of all syrupy sentimentality and has dressed the part in stark, searing, never-to-be-forgotten tragedy. It is an extraordinary personal triumph for the artist.

Belle Bennett did exceptional work in "Stella Dallas," but in the mother role in the "Way of All Flesh" she does equally good work in an entirely different mood. Phyllis Haver as the "light o' love," and Donald Keith as August junior are most happily cast. Even the tiniest tot of the six Schiller children is in the picture and the story every moment.

Victor Fleming, who has several splendidly produced pictures to his credit, has never done better work than in "The Way of All Flesh." He has stood out staunchly for a logical and artistic, though tragic ending.

"The Way of All Flesh" is drama, intense, soul-stirring, of a character that dignifies the screen and puts it on a par with the best the spoken stage has to offer. It is good that this was a silent drama. If there had been the hypnotism of the spoken word the soul struggle of old August Schiller would have been more than one could bear to witness.

Every person who cares anything about the best in motion pictures, or has the least interest in intelligently and beautifully done character delineation in the theater would do well to see the picture. It is not often we are tempted to unequivocally endorse a picture and call it tremendous and great. We label "The Way of All Flesh" a masterpiece of good acting. After you have seen it we'd be awfully interested in knowing if you don't think the same thing.

LINDY ENJOYS LITTLE JAUNT

Residents of Town Fear for Safety; Find Note, "Out to Lunch"

Williams, Ariz., Apr. 14—(AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh gave residents of Williams a brief period of anxiety today when he hopped off from the local airport with announcing his plans and then landed six miles away in an isolated wooded section.

First reports were that the famous flyer had been forced down in his new monoplane, giving rise to fears that he might have been injured. All available automobiles were rushed to the scene, but on arrival, the "Lone Eagle" would-be rescuers found the plane resting undamaged on the level ground.

In the window of the ship there was a note pencilled by Lindbergh, "Gone to lunch."

Lindbergh was found a few hundred yards away eating luncheon at a ranch house whose owner had not yet recovered from the shock of being called upon to play host to the noted aviator.

Meanwhile, it was whispered about Williams that Lindbergh wanted to work on his plane and decided to do it out in the "sticks" where he wouldn't be bothered by crowding hero worshippers.

Looking For Bigger Field. Whether this report was true or not, the flyer found a sizeable gathering about his ship when he returned from his lunch.

Lindbergh promptly denied being forced down, but declared that what he was looking for was a field with a runway big enough to successfully take off with two passengers and a full load of gasoline. The Williams field, he said, was not long enough.

The flyer came down on the Cocconino plateau between the Cockcomb and Bill Williams mountains.

Lindbergh first made a short flight from the local field, then returned for the take-off to his plateau retreat.

CONTINUES JOURNEY. Williams, Ariz., Apr. 14—(AP)—Col. SNOW STORM SETS RECORD

Heaviest Snowfall for Middle April in Last 20 Years

Vehicular traffic was at a standstill on many of the highways in the upper peninsula yesterday as the result of the most severe middle-April storm to strike this section in the last 20 years. H. I. Davies, division highway engineer, said late yesterday that roads were blocked in the troublesome sections of the peninsula, but that he expected all roads would be open by noon today.

The Delta county road commission had all its snow-fighting equipment out yesterday and succeeded in maintaining all trunk lines open for traffic, although it was hard going in some places. Country roads, however, were mostly impassable yesterday.

About five inches of snow fell during the two-day storm period. According to records at the U. S. weather bureau office here, there hasn't been such a heavy snowfall at this time of the month since the stormy April way back in 1909. On the 24th of April in 1909, five inches of snow fell, and this was followed by a storm on April 29 and 30 when a total of 18.8 inches of snow fell. This was accompanied by a 45-mile gale, which wrecked telephone and telegraph lines and paralyzed traffic.

Yesterday's storm extended over a wide area as far west as the Mississippi river, south to the Ohio valley and eastward to the Atlantic coast. South of Chicago there were heavy rains. The mercury dropped to 20 degrees above Friday and yesterday morning while a 44-mile north wind raged throughout the day.

The Bell Telephone company reported that the storm did not damage their lines. Railroad service was somewhat slowed up, train No. 212 being 30 minutes late out of Escanaba and train No. 217 being almost six hours behind schedule. The delay to Train 217 was caused mainly by a derailment when it headed into a passing track near Depere. No damage resulted for the train was proceeding slowly in to the clear.

And there's "Top Coat Dan," known from one end of the Bowery to the other. He was always to be found in the bread line. He'd wait for hours for a handout of soup and beans. They caught him sleeping in the subway the other night and, when they took him to court, they found bank-books in his pockets showing he had $25,000 on deposit.

He got his name, by the way, because in winter he always wore three overcoats. He would explain that the other two were for quilts and bedding if he couldn't bum a place to sleep.

70 AIRPLANES ARE DISPLAYED

Latest Products of American Manufacturers Viewed by Public

Detroit, Apr. 14—(AP)—Seventy airplanes, representing the latest products of the aircraft industry in the United States, came before the view of the buying public at the opening of the All-American aircraft show—the first airplane exposition patterned after the annual automobile shows—here tonight.

Planes of every size, design and color, from the tiny Ford "dive" plane to the huge Loening amphibian, were ranged in convention hall under the glow of soft lights and appropriate decorations. The opening of the show was heralded by air-antics over the city by the first pursuit group of Selfridge field, and by a radio program broadcast from an airplane soaring over the city.

In addition to the aircraft models, more than 70 accessory manufacturers brought their displays to the huge hall, filling the building completely with aircraft and equipment. More than a half million dollars worth of aircraft material was on display, it was estimated.

Aircraft designers in City. William M. Mayo, chief engineer of the Ford Motor company, and chairman of the aircraft show, heralded the opening event as the "christening of a new industry." He predicted that record crowds would attend the show during the next week because of the rapidly increasing interest in aviation.

An aircraft banquet, with 200 manufacturers in attendance, will be held next week. Airport designers are in Detroit to confer with committees from interested cities, and a conference of automotive engineers with aviation interests as the chief subject will be held during the week. The display will close April 21.

NOW Clarified as well as Pasteurized

Clarification protects the milk consumer's palate similar to pasteurization's protection of the health. The New Clarifier that has been installed in our plant is one of the latest developments in scientific handling of milk and is the first, as far as we can determine, in the Upper Peninsula, although now in vogue in 85% of the nation's larger cities.

Pasteurization kills the germs that are frequently found in raw milk—Clarification removes such accumulation of foreign substance as the raw product may have gathered during its journey from source until the time it is ready for bottling or to be used in the manufacture of other dairy products. In addition clarification greatly furthers the appetizing qualities of the product.

The process of Clarification and Pasteurization is now applied to all milk and cream used in the manufacture of Delta Made Products. If you would have this additional health and palate protection—

THE SALVATION ARMY.

This week will find a crew of busy men engaged in the task of raising funds to finance the Salvation Army for another year.

No strenuous campaign should be necessary. The mere reminder that funds are needed by the Army to continue its program here should be sufficient.

Virtually all of the money raised is spent in the Escanaba community. Out of the $3,100 contributed in the last campaign, held in December 1926, the sum of $355 was sent to National headquarters to assist in the support of institutions maintained by the Salvation Army and used by the local post.

Representatives of the campaign committee will cover only the business and industrial districts of the city. Others have been asked to mail their checks to C. J. Byrns, chairman, or M. N. Smith, treasurer, of the central committee.

MAKE THIEVERY CRIMINAL.

How to collect taxes on timber lands whose owners propose to remove the timber and let the lands revert to the state, has long been a problem in this region.

The Iron Mountain News in discussion the question says: "Timber thieves are continuing to operate on tax delinquent lands in northern Michigan.

The next legislature should enact a statute to that effect." The News proposes the only practical solution. There is no good reason for differentiating between timber thieves and any other variety.

LYRICS OF LIFE

By Douglas Malloch

Copyright 1927 by Douglas Malloch

WHAT SHALL I BE TO HIM? What shall I be to him, after all? Men speak of loving and talk of joys, And they may be great and they may be tall.

Oh, the foolish thing is the easy thing, The wise is often the hard to do. When the tempters come, when the sirens sing, Shall I follow him lower, or bring him through?

It is sweet to love, to be loved is sweet, But, ah, that love must be crystal clear, Or the glass will shatter around our feet.

THEY THINK IN TERMS OF MAJOR LEAGUES.

The trouble with baseball today in the small towns is the fact that the public thinks in terms of major league teams and the men who promote baseball in the smaller cities have tried to pay the players.

He refutes numerous arguments for the failure of baseball to gain in popularity. The fact that baseball is not a personal contact game like football, boxing and wrestling cannot detract from it when the growth in popularity of golf, tennis, and basketball is considered.

The conclusion is easily reached that professional baseball in the small cities—there are some few exceptions—is a thing of the past. Community baseball can take the place of the professional game, not as a game for spectators, but as a sport in which almost every Tom, Dick, and Harry can participate.

THE THRILL OF BASEBALL.

Golf has been growing rapidly in popularity in America, and it is a great game. Yet the advent of the new baseball season convinces us once more nothing will ever take the place of baseball.

Probably it's better for a man to get out and play himself than to sit in a grandstand and watch someone else play. Yet, to our mind, there's nothing quite like settling back in a seat, as the sunlight slants over a neat green field, opening a bag of peanuts, listening to the long-drawn chant "batteries for today's game"

A THOUGHT FOR DRIVERS.

Here's a little something for you to read if you drive an automobile. In Kansas City a youth was arrested after his automobile had killed an aged woman.

That's worth thinking about. Thirty-five miles an hour isn't terribly fast; yet you never know when someone is going to step in front of you—and, as the Kansas City boy says, "you can't stop a car quickly going that fast."

The old die-hard opponents of woman suffrage have perked up a bit of late. Pointing to the indictment of New York's former secretary of state, Mrs. Florence E. Knapp, they have announced that this constitutes proof that women are not really fitted for important public office.

Assuming, for the sake of argument, that Mrs. Knapp actually should be found guilty, it is hard to see how that would in any way reflect on women officeholders as a class.

But every item of his dress told the same story, so she really should not have picked on the hat to hate particularly. But she did; she wanted to brush it off the table, to see his flash of anger at its being soiled with the dust from "rubes'" feet.

GIRL ALONE

CHAPTER XXV "Quite delicious, really!" the man with the cultured, eastern accent-drawn, leaning more nonchalantly on his cane and twinkling his too wise, too bold black eyes at "Princess Lalla."

"But really now, I wouldn't say you're a freak, your highness. In fact, you're quite the most delicious little morsel I've seen since I left New York. If I were a Ziegfeld scout I assure you I'd be scribbling your praises in a rapturously verbose telegram, and the devil take the expense. Would you mind lifting that scrap of black lace that is tantalizing me most provokingly? I am tormented with the hope that your big eyes are really the purple pansies they appear to be through your veil."

"No?" He shook his head with humorous resignation as Sally shook her head in violent negation. "Well, well! One can't have everything, and really your arms and your adorable little hands and your Tanagra figurine body should be quite enough—as an appetizer. You don't happen to 'scent' the Hula dancer—the ancient but still hopeful lady who has just been exercising her hips for my benefit—do you? But I suppose that is too much to ask of Providence. Life is full of these bitter disappointments, these nagging, unsatisfied desires—"

"Please!" Sally gasped, forgetting her carefully acquired accent which had been bequeathed her, by way of Mrs. Bybee, by the erstwhile "Princess Lalla," now in a hospital, minus her appendix, but still too weak to jeopardize Sally's job. "I—I'm not permitted to talk to the audience—"

"Child, child!" the New Yorker protested, raising a beautifully kept hand admonishingly. "Spare me! I'm always being met with signs like that in New York—in elevators, busses, whatnots—but since I am intrigued with the music of your voice—a very young and un-Turkish voice, if I may be permitted to say so—I shall be delighted to cross your little brown palm with silver, provided you will guarantee that your make-up does not rub off. I'm deplorably finicky."

Sally, overwhelmed by his gift for monologue, uttered in a tearing, bantering, intimate voice of beautiful cadences, looked desperately about her for help. But she was temporarily deserted by both audience and barker. Gus was at the moment ballyhooing Jan, the Holland giant, the chief attraction of the Palace of Wonders. His recital of the vast quantities of food which the nine-foot giant consumed daily never failed to hold the crowd enthralled.

"You'll have to wait till Gus, the barker, starts my performance," she told him nervously, making no effort to deceive the blase New Yorker by a tardy resumption of her "Turkish" accent. "But—oh, please go away! Don't tease me! You'll spoil the show if you make Smart-Aleck remarks on everything I say and do."

"Smart-Aleck?" The easterner raised his silky black brows, while his humorous but cruel mouth, beneath a small, exact black moustache, twitched, with a rather rueful smile. "Child, that is the unkindest cut of all! If I had been reared west of Fifth Avenue or a little farther downtown I would undoubtedly phrase it as a nasty crack! But we'll let it pass."

He walked nonchalantly up the steps leading to her platform and stood before her, only the small, black-velvet draped table with the crystal between them.

When he spoke again, in his humorous drawl, with his bold black eyes twinkling and challenging her, his words could not have been heard by anyone 10 feet away: "Will you permit me, your highness, to read the crystal for you? I'm really rather a wizard at it—a wow, as they say on Broadway, though I assure you, your highness, that I'm not a man to succumb to the insidiousness of slang. You must be rather tired of gazing, gazing into this intriguing but slightly flawed ball of glass—" and he touched it with a long, delicate finger, with a humorous contemptuousness that suggested an intimate bond between the professional and the amateur—himself and herself.

"Please go away!" Sally pleaded breathlessly. "Why do you want to make fun of me? I have to earn my living somehow—" "Do you?" he smiled, his brows going higher, while deep laugh wrinkles appeared suddenly in the clear olive of his lean cheeks. "Now I'm sure you should let me read the crystal for you, for it is obvious that you have not looked into the future at all!"

He cupped his slim, beautiful hands about the crystal, his back bending in an arch as graceful as the arch of a cat's back. The posture brought his face very near to hers, so that she saw the fine grain of his skin, caught a faint, indefinable but enchanting odor from his sleek dark hair, almost as dark as her own.

But every item of his dress told the same story, so she really should not have picked on the hat to hate particularly. But she did; she wanted to brush it off the table, to see his flash of anger at its being soiled with the dust from "rubes'" feet.

olly. She thought of appealing to Gus, the barker, to forbid him admission to the tent, but she knew Gus was too good a business man to heed such a wasteful request. Besides, the barker seemed to like him, or at least to like immensely the bill which invariably passed hands when the showman and the glorious "rube" met.

Then suddenly, at ten minutes after four, the New Yorker ceased to have any significance at all to her, at least for the moment. He was wiped out completely in the flood of terror and joy that swept over her brain, making her so dizzy that she leaned against the crystal stand for support.

For tumbling into the tent of the Palace of Wonders came a horde of children, boys and girls, the girls dressed exactly alike in skimpy little white-lace dresses trimmed with five-cent lace, the boys in ugly suits of stiff "jeans."

Her playmates from the orphanage had come to see "Princess Lalla," lately Sally Ford, ward of the state and now fugitive from "justice."

DELTA "DEMOS" SUPPORT SMITH

Delegates Instructed to Back New Yorker's Candidacy

Resolutions enthusiastically endorsing Albert E. Smith of New York for the presidency and instructing the Delta county delegation to stand squarely back of the Smith candidacy, were adopted by the Delta County Democratic convention. The following men will make up the county's delegation to Port Huron: John K. Stack, Jr., Tom Beaton, Jr., Judge Henry Rangeth, Joseph F. Fryal and Gerald J. Clary, of Escanaba, and A. T. Schuber, of Gladstone.

The resolutions adopted were as follows:

RESOLUTIONS.

"Whereas: The Democratic voters of Delta county, at the recent primary, overwhelmingly expressed their preference for Governor Albert E. Smith of New York as the party's candidate for the presidency in 1928; and

"Whereas: Alfred E. Smith, as governor of New York, has administered the affairs of that great commonwealth in a manner which stamps him as a fearless, honest, efficient and able executive; and

"Whereas: We earnestly believe that Governor Smith is the one man in the United States best fitted and most competent to restore the government to the people; to lead the machinery of government out of the bogs and mires of graft, corruption and rascality that have made American politics an object of world scorn and contempt during the last eight years;

"The Delta County Democratic convention hereby pledges its whole-hearted support to the candidacy of Governor Smith; and instructs its delegates to the state convention to support for delegates to the national convention, only men and women who are openly pledged to the nomination of Governor Smith;

"Further: We express our confidence that the people of the United States, weary of corruption in the high places of government, will find in Governor Smith a leader and a statesman who will honestly and ably wear the mantle of the great founders and disciples of political Democracy—Jefferson, Jackson, Cleveland and Wilson."

Abner Bangs Warns Escanaba Not to Dig Artesian Wells

Misery Bay, April 14 (To the Editor)—It is a facillious easy matter for a body to sit around and point out mistakes after they have been made. Almost anybody—even a candidate for vice president—could do that. The man worth the while is the man with the four-sighted brain that can see mistakes before they happen and lead the people by the hand away from them, down the hillside to higher ground. The first is a mere fault-finder; the second is a genius. With the modesty that has characterized my whole entire public career as a servant of the people, I can say without fear of successive contradiction that I am one among the second class.

My great heart goes out to people that are about to make mistakes. My whole being rackets with emotion. And I am unable to remain silent till I have did my part to hesitate them. Therefore, I hope my good friends in Escanaba will not think I am presumptual when I warn them that if they go through with this projective protocol to dig wells for to get drinking water out of, will be a diffusion and a snare. They will be trading their birthmark for a mess of potash.

Nature Against It.
In the first (1) place, Nature in all her wondrous bounty has provided an almost inexhaustive amount of water at Escanaba's front door step. If Nature had wanted Escanaba people to drink water out of the ground she would of dug a spring to bubble forth its refreshments thither and yon. So digging an artesian well would be flying into the face of Nature and history is full of the debris of people that have done that. Nature objects to having her face flew into. I have no doubt that artesian wells would get their water from the lake. All of the lake would then run into the wells and in the course of time the lake would maybe run dry and that would very near ruin the bathing beach and the fishing business and cause the government light-house to be a useless investment.

In the second (2) place, I understand that there is some objectional kicking about the fact that there is creosote taste in the water in the winter time. Well, what can you expect for the price you pay? Chocolate flavor? I want to tell you creosote is a highly expensive chemical commodity, and there is very few cities in this good old U. S. A. which they will furnish such a thing free of charge without cost to its water users. If they had that water at some of these health resorts they would write a book about the health-giving promulgates of creosote and sell it at $2 a bottle and $10 a bath. Sooner or later you people will be bragging about that creosote and advertising it instead of cussing it. If you are awake to your own consequences.

Ruinous to Industry.
And then you would ruin some of your leading industries. Just think what would happen to the plants which they give railroad ties creosote treatment by dipping them in the city water a couple of times! Just think of the people that distill city water and get a residum which it cannot be told from Scottish whisky! Just think of the people that run the city water through a clothes wringer and squeeze out the moisture, leaving behind a perfect sheet of water which can be used for a shingle? I tell you this artesian well projective is a part of the plot to strangle the industrial growth of your community. You should oppose it to the last hill. Besides, furthermore in addition, if you will go down to Frank Hess's office in the court house, you will find that the water under all the property was specifically reserved by the lumber companies that owned the land first. If they did not reserve the well-water rights to the land they overlooked that matter unintentionally, and have a moral right to object to you taking what they intended to be theirs. You try to pump it and they would injunction you in a minute.

One Cant Be Sure.
I can not for the life of me understand how you can be sure wells would be a success. When a man starts digging a well he can only make a rough guesstimate estimate of what he is going to hit. Suppose they start a hole down into the ground and hit natural gas. Can you drink natural gas? Or suppose they hit helium. Can you drink helium? Or suppose they even hit oil. Can you drink oil? Or maybe they would strike coal and upset the coal business, or even gold and silver which both are almost a total loss for beverage purposes. It was a fellow digging a well that found the first diamond mine in South Africa and that country has never been the same since. I am against any such expectives.

It stands to reason that if this well-drilling business will have to be culminated in a halting stop sooner or later. The supply can not last for ever. If the world ever runs out of water what will us prohibitionists tell the people to drink? Frankly, I would not

Escanaba Attorney Listed in Michigan Alumni 'Who's Who'

"Who's Who in the Alumni University," a department in the Michigan Alumnus Magazine, this month, prints an excellent portrait of Arthur H. Ryall, Escanaba attorney, and accompanies the picture with the following sketch: "Arthur H. Ryall, '02, is a 'small town lawyer' and proud of it. He is living proof that it is possible to attain a reasonable degree of success and distinction, and still reside in a comparatively small town. He started with general practice, but the major portion of his time in recent years has been absorbed in various public utilities and by the lumbering and land owning corporations of the Upper Peninsula of Michigan. Mr. Ryall has been active in the work of the various organizations of the legal profession, serving as a director of the Michigan State Bar Association and as vice president and member of the local council of the American Bar Association. He is a member of the American Law Institute and one of the members of the Board of Commissioners for the promotion of uniformity of legislation in the United States. He is non-resident lecturer of the Law School on practice before regulatory commissions and is an honorary member of Gamma Eta Gamma, legal fraternity. Shortly before his graduation from the Law School he married Blanche G. Poxson, '01-'02, and they have one daughter."

When Buying Was One Long Experiment

I'll try a pound of this," said your grandmother, "---if you are sure it's fresh."

That was some time in the second hour of her morning's search for groceries. She went from one open barrel or box to the next, along an unappetizing row of crackers, teas, cereals, dried fruits, lard and sugar ---all in bulk. She shooed the flies away, looked at, touched and tasted each article suspiciously, and finally decided to buy or not to buy, as her judgement directed. She couldn't trust a servant to do it. It was a day's work in itself.

Today, in two minutes, you give the grocer your order. You know that everything you get will be fresh, pure, attractively and cleanly packed. Why? Because you ask for advertised brands.

Advertising has taken hours of hard labor out of every housewife's day, and lines of worry off her forehead. It has made the morning's marketing a matter of certainty instead of guesswork.

SANITORIUM WANTS NAME

School Children of Three Counties Have Chance to Win Prizes

Some school boy or girl in Delta, Menominee or Dickinson county is going to provide a new name for the sanatorium at Powers, owned by these three counties.

Considerable interest has been aroused among the youngsters and it is probable that the board of trustees of the institution will have a great stack of suggestions to consider when they meet, on April 15, to select the winner.

Known familiarly for years simply as the "Powers Sanatorium," or the Delta-Menominee sanatorium, some difficulty was experienced recently when Dickinson county, through its $90,000 bond appropriation, became a one-third participant in the institution. Since then a few have attempted to describe it as the Delta-Menominee-Dickinson county sanatorium, and, finding that too cumbersome, have been satisfied to call it the Powers sanatorium.

"We are choosing this method of selecting a name partly for its educational value and partly for the fact that it will acquaint the school children with their institution at Powers," Dr. J. W. Towey, superintendent, writes in a communication. "Consequently, we are leaving the selection of that name to the children attending school in Delta, Menominee and Dickinson counties. As an incentive, we are offering prizes totalling $25, to be divided as follows: first prize, $10; second prize, $5, and 10 consolation prizes, one dollar each."

Only three conditions are named in the announcement. The word "county" must not appear in the name. The name must not be difficult to pronounce, and, third, it must suggest the beautiful and healthful location of the sanatorium. The following names chosen for other institutions throughout the United States are suggestive of what is desired for the sanatorium at Powers: Pine Crest, River Pines, Mineral Springs, Buena Vista, Blue Grass, Sea View and Mountain View. The name must be such that a person not familiar with the surroundings could visualize to some extent the environment of the institution.

Following are the rules of the contest: 1. The Sanatorium Board of Trustees shall be the judges of the contest. 2. Every child attending school (public or parochial) within the counties of Delta, Menominee or Dickinson is eligible to enter the contest. 3. All names shall be addressed to the Board of Trustees, Sanatorium, Powers, Mich. 4. All names shall be in the hands of the judges by noon on May 15, 1928. 5. Any eligible child may choose one or more names.

Suggestions are to be addressed to the Board of Trustees, Sanatorium, Powers, Mich., in the following form: "I suggest the following name to be chosen for the three-county tuberculosis sanatorium," giving first the suggested name, then the name of the contestant, with his or her address, age and the school attended.

Vis: The Place de l'opera, Paris; Imperial Palace, Vienna; Notre Dame Cathedral, Paris; St. Peter's, Rome; scenes from peasant life, war devastation in France, the care of "war babies," a nursery in a barn, John Huss monument, Prague; the Reformation Monument at Geneva and many others of equal interest.

Having received so many requests from those who were present last Sunday evening and heard the rendering of "The Eisen King" presented by the choir, and to give opportunity to those who were unable to attend, because of inclement weather, the Easter cantata, "The Eisen King" by Schaecker will again be rendered, taking the place of the usual preliminaries. Will those who hold Miss boxes and envelopes for Lenten offering to the Women's Home Missionary society please bring them to church and place envelopes

Children's Cases

So many young children are brought to us with defective vision that we have gained a wonderful knowledge and valuable experience in handling cases of this kind.
Quite frequently, too, good sound advice as to the proper care of their eyes is all they need and all they get here.

AMUSEMENTS

TODAY'S PROGRAMS.
At the Delft: Johnny Hines in "Chinatown Charley," a bright new comedy-drama.
At the Strand: Buzz Barton, famous broncho buster, in a western melodrama, "The Little Buckaroo."

DELFT MONDAY.
Four absolutely dissimilar characterizations, the most difficult and exacting he has ever attempted, are portrayed by Emil Jannings in "The Way of All Flesh" which will be shown at the Delft Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. "The Way of All Flesh" Jannings' first American picture, introduces the great international artist in one of the most elementally human stories ever written.

In the opening sequences the brilliant star of "Variety," and "The Last Laugh" plays a kindly, middle-aged family man, in love with his wife, his children and his work. Then the "other woman" Phyllis Haver, enters his life, and years seem to drop from his shoulders. He is young, vigorous and carefree. Then comes the denouement and Jannings, a disolute, broken man wears the evidence of weakness in his haggard face. The fourth and closing characterization is that of an old, old man, with bald head, scraggly beard, sunken cheeks and dull eyes. But here again comes a change, for sadness gives way to happiness and the picture closes upon the smile of a happy patriarch.

Belle Bennett, famous for her "Stella Dallas" heads the cast in support of the versatile Jannings. Donald Keith appears as a young musician. Others in the cast have names as big but their fame is over-shadowed by the great central character, Jannings. Victor Fleming directed "The Way of All Flesh" thus adding one more to his long list of brilliant successes.

AT THE STRAND.
Four veterans of the screen head the cast of "Devil's Island," the new Chadwick picture, which comes to the Strand Monday. Pauline Frederick, one of the screen's greatest emotional ac-

Modern Equipment Is Installed at Delta Made Plant

New equipment, costing more than $4000, has been installed at the plant of the Delta Milk Producers association, 309 North Fifteenth street. One of the principal additions is a new DeLaval clarifier, which will be used in connection with the present strainer apparatus, giving the milk customer increased assurance that the product will be free of all foreign substances.

The clarifier represents one of the latest developments in dairy plant equipment, and is being used by about 4000 leading dairy products concerns in the country. It is a machine constructed somewhat similar to a milk separator, but it does not separate the cream from the milk. It has a metal bowl containing numerous discs or vanes which revolve at high speed. The milk as it passes through the machine is subjected to great centrifugal force and any substance heavier than the fluid milk is lodged around the inner side of the bowl wall where it is retained until the machine is cleaned after a run. This permits the removal of those minute particles of foreign substance which cannot be eliminated with the ordinary strainer equipment. Both cleaning processes will be employed at the Delta Made plant, thereby guaranteeing the attainment of the highest degree of cleanliness possible.

New pasteurization equipment to replace that which has been used since the opening of the local plant has been secured. The new unit also embodies all the latest features, and is accepted by dairymen as one of the best types on the market.

"With the new equipment, we will be able to handle our increasing business more efficiently," John K. Olson, manager, said yesterday. "The use clarifier insures the housewife that her milk and cream will absolutely be free from dirt."

"The Delta Milk Producers association is composed of 280 farmer-stockholders in Delta county, but we receive shipments from about 200 additional non-members. We are receiving shipments from four counties—Delta, Schoolcraft, Menominee and Alcona. We operate seven trucks in trucks, is the star, and Richard Tucker, who was first starred by Edison in the early days of pictures, plays opposite her. THE TINYMITES

Story by Hal Cochran—Pictures by Knick

As Clowzy sat down in the nest, he looked to east and then to west, but couldn't see a thing except the mountains and the sky. The bird that carried him that day had flapped its wings and flown away. It now was just a real small speck away up in the sky. Four little birds chirped very loud. "Oh, my," said Clowzy, "what a crowd of hungry little fellows. I just hope they don't eat me. But, shucks, I needn't fret at all. They couldn't, 'cause they're much too small. How I am going to get away from this place, I can't see. He then leaned back against the nest, deciding he would take a rest. The small birds cuddled close to him. 'Twas fun to hear them peep. And then the chirping all died out and things were quiet all about. It wasn't long till Clowzy and the birds were fast asleep. The other Tinies, far away, had stopped their fun and ceased their play. They all were very worried over poor old Clowzy's plight. They trudged along a country lane. Said Scouty, "It may be in vain for us to look for Clowzy, but we'll do it until night." Although they covered lots of ground, the butcher man could not be found. They'd hoped that he could tell them where their lost friend, Clowzy, was. "It is no use," wee Coppy said. "I've looked behind and looked ahead." Just then they all were startled when they heard a buzzing sound. "Oh, look!" cried Carry. "In the air. A very funny man's up there. He's made of wood, and has big wings. Of all the funny sights!" Just then the queer man circled round and shortly landed on the ground. He walked up to the bunch and said, "Hello there, Tinymites."

WELFARE CLUB MEETS MONDAY

Business Session and Program to Be Included in Meeting

Regular meeting of the Child's Welfare club will be held Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the kindergarten building.

The meeting will open with a business session. A program will follow, after which there will be sewing.

THEATRES

RIALTO TODAY. Helene Costello, Warner Oland and Clyde Cook are featured in "Good Time Charley," the Warner brothers' production which comes to the Rialto theater today.

Others in the strong cast are Julianne Johnston, Montagu Love and Hugh Allan. Michael Curtis directed. "Good Time Charley" is the merry, pathetic, absorbing story of the heyday and fall and final rise of the song-and-dance man of a small town stock company.

It is the story, too, of the orphaned daughter who grows into lovely womanhood and complicates the otherwise humdrum existence of her old father.

COMING MONDAY. Cupid has changed his tactics! Before the world war that revolutionized the aristocratic social system of Austria, it was practically impossible for a poor peasant girl to marry into a royal household.

Now the Blind Boy is free to cast his love darts at will. The great conflict that overturned traditions and uprooted established precedents, has brought about the happiness of a maid of the Danube, portrayed by Leatrice Joy in her new De Mille studio production, "The Blue Danube," filmed for Pathe under the direction of Paul Sloane and which will be the feature at the Rialto theater on Monday and Tuesday.

Nils Asther, noted Swedish actor who won fame in "Topsy and Eva" and "Sorrell and Son," plays the leading role opposite Miss Joy. He is the son of a penniless baron in "The Blue Danube," whose father is desirous of obtaining a wealthy daughter-in-law.

Joseph Schildkraut, whose characterization of Judas in Cecil De Mille's "The King of Kings" proved one of the outstanding cinema portrayals of the past season and who portrayed the leading role in "His Dog" and a featured part in "The Forbidden Woman," essay the role of a jealous hunchback—a part that abounds in strength and force of dramatic menace.

Seena Owen is cast as Helena, daughter of a rich brewer and rival for the sweetheart of the peasant maid of the Danube. May Pearson is the heroine's mother. Albert Gran and Frank Reicher appear in important roles.

Central P. T. A. Unit Will Meet Thursday. Central Unit of the Gladstone Parent-Teacher association will meet Thursday, April 19, instead of one day earlier as was first planned.

ENTERTAINMENT IS PLANNED FOR BENEFIT SHOW

Picture Program and Home Talent Arranged

"The Debating Society," the home talent one-act play which will be given Wednesday in connection with the Parent-Teacher association playground benefit at the Rialto theater, promises great amount of entertaining comedy.

The play will be presented by the following cast: President—Dick Foster. Secretary—Billy Skellenger. Affirmative—Lawrence Van Horn, James Mingay and Clifford Sutter.

Negative—Herbert Van Horn, Neil Fillmore, Ray Barber. The play will be given in connection with the picture program.

Why didn't anybody make a polo story before? That is the first reaction of anyone seeing William Haines in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The Smart Set," which is the feature picture for the benefit show.

Polo seems perfectly adapted to pictures; it has everything—thrills, color, struggle, romance, and even comedy. As shown in "The Smart Set," it bids fair to gain wide popularity in the United States, rivaling in popular interest its two great rivals, football and baseball.

One doesn't need to understand the sport to appreciate the picture—understanding follows inevitably in the first three minutes of content. The story is that of the struggle between the British and American polo teams for the International cup which was staged last year at the Meadowbrook club on Long Island. It is laid against a background of "The Smart Set," portrayed perhaps for the first time on the screen as real people with understandable loves, aims and passions.

The comedy is the best work of Haines' career. Through his last two pictures since "Brown of Harvard" he has developed a technique uniquely his own. His comedy is fresh, spontaneous, lively—and how they do laugh at it.

Allice Day as the heroine has forgotten everything that Mack Sennett ever taught her as a bathing girl and remembered all that she knew as a marvelously gifted actress. Jack Holt, after a long succession of dramatic leads, returns to his old gentle villainy with a part made for him. Hobart Bosworth, as "Durrant," the man who grew too old for polo, brings pathos and understanding to a difficult role. Constance Howard and Coy Watson, Jr., are excellent in their parts. Jack Conway does an excellent bit of directing.

GARDEN SCENE JUNIOR PROM DECORATION

Decorations with the Junior class colors, green and white, predominating, will be used in the garden scene which the Junior class has adopted for its decorative scheme for the Junior prom, the most important social affair of the high school year.

The prom date is April 27. Arrangements for the party are now well under way with the special committees in charge under the direction of George Nelson, Junior class advisor.

Dr. Stewart Back From School Clinic

Dr. D. D. Stewart returned Saturday morning from Chicago where he spent the past week in attendance of the annual spring clinic of the Chicago School of Dental Surgery, of which school Dr. Stewart is a graduate. The clinic opened Monday and continued through Wednesday. It was open to post-graduates of the school. The clinic banquet was held Monday evening at the Palmer House.

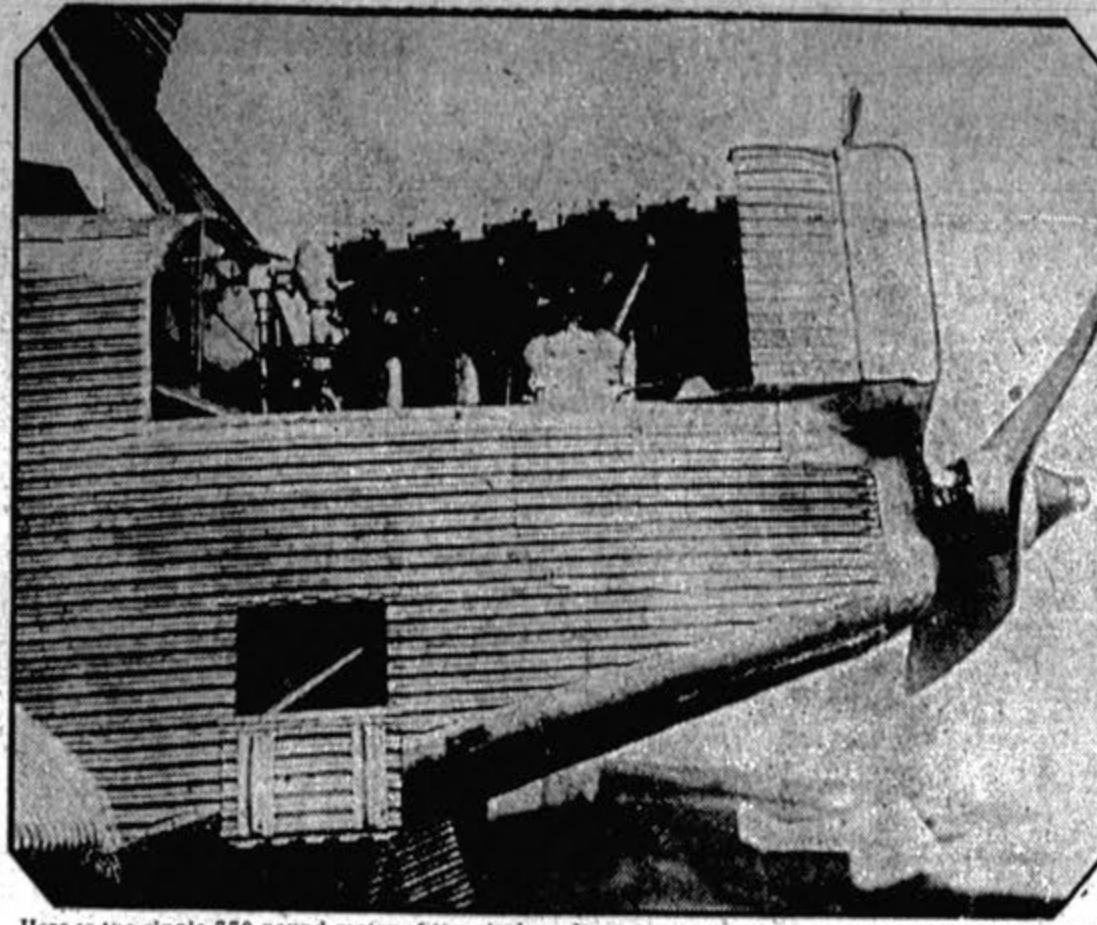

CITY BRIEFS

Mrs. J. D. Staple returned Saturday morning from a week's visit in Chicago. Fritz and William Frank are ill at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Axel Frank, suffering from severe colds.

Mrs. R. I. Simpson and Mrs. W. P. Miller attended the funeral services for Theodore Farrell Friday in Escanaba. The condition of Earl Foster, who submitted to an operation for relief from appendicitis at 10 o'clock Thursday morning is recovering as well as may be expected, though his condition is still serious. No visitors are being admitted. Mr. Foster is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Foster, 718 Minnesota avenue.

ONE FOR SHERLOCK. London—A swindle, involving nearly $25,000 was recently revealed here. A group of London business men were induced by an apparently honest stranger posing as a diamond merchant, to advance the money as a loan on some diamonds. Examined by an expert, the diamonds were found to be real. However, at the end of six months, when the loan expired, opening of the package revealed only imitations. It is thought that the stranger, by a sleight-of-hand trick, replaced the genuine diamonds with substitutes before the package was rewrapped and placed in a safe.

COACHES TO BE OF NEW COLOR

C. & N. W. Railway Has Used Yellow Paint for 81 Years

The old familiar coat of yellow paint which had distinguished the coaches of the Chicago and North-Western Railway for the 81 years of its existence, is soon to be a memory of the past. Henceforth all through equipment is to be painted a standard Pullman green, according to an announcement by C. A. Cairns, passenger traffic manager.

This action by the North-Western upsets a tradition which has existed since the establishment of the road in 1847, but times have changed and the officials find the famous yellow color is no longer advisable for through equipment.

Two reasons are ascribed for the change. One, that the trains carry Pullmans and also yellow coaches present a "spotted" appearance, and this is objectionable to the eye. Another, the increasing difficulty in keeping the yellow paint looking as clean and neat as the cars of Pullman standard dark color.

Sentiment of local patrons will not be seriously affected, say officials, as suburban coaches are not to be changed for the present. The yellow color has proven more popular in the Chicago and suburban area than at any other point.

Years of consideration and much discussion has been a regularity with North-Western officials before the decision was made to change from the yellow," says Mr. Cairns.

There are seventeen hundred and fifty coaches on the North-Western classed as "through equipment." Of this number, 212 have already been painted to harmonize with certain trains, and the remaining 1538 will be repainted as fast as the paint shops in the Fortieth street yards can turn them out. The coaches will be taken from service as they need repainting and will then receive the green color to which they are unaccustomed. Two years will complete the color revolution, it is estimated.

PROVED BY A MILLION MILES

Before the new Oldsmobile was presented to the public more than a million miles of testing were put behind it. For two years it was threading the traffic of street and highway... running the gauntlet of exacting tests on the General Motors Proving Ground... 1,177,000 miles of wearing and tearing use!

As a result, the new Oldsmobile brings to buyers those fine car qualities which have heretofore been available only at higher prices—high speed combined with steadiness... true smoothness combined with rugged power... quietness combined with ease of operation—

—All in a six whose stamina is a matter of engineering record!

Prove this car for yourself and you will know why thousands of buyers are choosing the new Oldsmobile Six.

"WAIT TILL I GET BIG." Brooklyn, N. Y.—It is easy to believe that Miss Woroshilla, was very indignant at the manner of her reception into this world. When this miss arrived there was very little life in her body. She uttered not the slightest sound, and since a baby's lungs must fall if it does not cry, the doctor spanked her until she cried. Miss Woroshilla weighed one pound at birth, but is gaining rapidly. She is being kept in an incubator and fed with a medicine dropper.

WELL, NOW—what a handsome physiognomy! It belongs to Goliath the world's champion fish-gobbler, a Ringling circus recruit. Goliath is an elephant seal, some 20 feet long and weighing more or less tons. He was captured in the Aretle circle. It takes 400 pounds of fresh herring a day to keep him in a good humor. He posed for this photo at Madison Square Garden, New York.

SETTING A RECORD for magnificent floral displays, the replica of the rose garden of Mrs. Henry Ford, shown at the North American Flower Show at Detroit, has attracted thousands of visitors. The display occupies 17,500 square feet, and six carloads of rock, peat and lumber were used in its erection. There are more than 3000 roses in the garden, some with stems six feet long and blooms the size of a cauliflower. Miniature lakes and waterfalls, like those in the original garden at Fair Lane, the Dearborn estate of the Fords, add to the beauty of the display. Mrs. Ford and part of the exhibit are shown above.

A FEW MONTHS ago Espinazo, Mexico, was merely a railroad water tank near the United States border, with perhaps a hundred residents. Now Espinazo is a boom town of more than 15,000 people, and Fidencio Constantino, boy healer, is the reason. The boy, shown to the left, below, with the cap, lays hands on his "patients," and Mexicans tell of wonderful cures he has effected. A view of the crowded Espinazo camp is shown at the top. Throngs come daily for Constantino's free medicine, which is water containing herbs and fruit peelings. Those shown to the right below are getting the medicine. Many Americans from Texas and other border states have visited Espinazo.

REFINEMENT IS CHARACTERISTIC OF ITALIAN TYPE

Refinement is the keynote of the Italian style and, no matter how tempting its grace and beauty may be, a home of this design should not be selected by owners whose manner of living have no touch of formality. The Italian house has a low-pitched roof of colored tile with either a heavy cornice or rather wide eaves. There may be a little square room in the middle of its roof—a cupola resembling a dove-cote—and two or three graceful brick chimneys.

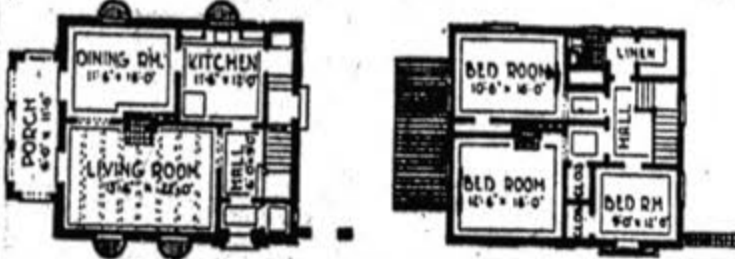

Windows are small but are placed symmetrically in the wall. There is some decorative treatment of their frames, and they are either shuttered or grilled with iron.

The main entry consists of a door of dark wood, hung on ornamental hinges. There are likely to be columns or pilasters beside it and maybe an arch or some bit of carved stone or wood above. If there is any stone trim on the house, it will be found in its most attractive form here.

Plan 125—Copyright, by Audie Service, Chicago.

FORMAL BEAUTY COMBINED WITH CONVENIENCE

Designed by G. GUSTAVE BRAULT, Architect, 802 Wilbred Street, Ottawa, Ontario, Canada

All the graceful dignity, the symmetry giving a suggestion of formality and the fitness of proportion and detail which characterizes the Italian style are embodied in this design. It is a home for a family that appreciates the combination of simplicity and beauty.

Yet the desire for loveliness has not led the designer to costly excesses. A plain rectangular house is the least expensive kind to build; this fact has been taken advantage of here, so that money will be available for a charming treatment of the porch and the front entry.

The dimensions of this home are such that it can be built on a lot of average size. It is distinctive enough to be built in any street in a city, town or suburb.

EXTERIOR: White or tinted stucco and the refined texture characteristic of the Italian period. Green woodwork, white ashes. The balcony railing of iron would not be expensive as many builders might expect; but ornamental detail in the front walls and those around the door and porch could be of cast stone or terra-cotta, or could be changed to wood.

ROOF: Red tile. This specification, of course, could be changed to any other material which would preserve the Italian character of the whole.

CONSTRUCTION: Cement blocks, hollow tile, poured gypsum or common brick. A wood frame might be used if it were of permanent, insulated, fire-resistant construction.

CLOSETS: Four on second floor, cost room off main entry.

SPECIAL FEATURES: Beamed ceiling in living room; fireplace in principal bedroom if desired; only one bath with exceptionally large linen closet adjoining; service entry at side; large kitchen with plenty of wall space for built-in labor savers.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES ON HOME PROBLEMS

Question: The contractor building our home says that double studs should be used in partitions, but this will increase our lumber bill considerably. Is there any safe way that we can get away from it? The extra expense is justified by the improved construction. The best specifications call for one row of 2 by 4 studs and one row of 2 by 3 studs for partitions wider than those which may be constructed of a single 2 by 8. These two rows of studs should be tied together securely and should be fire-stopped with solid 2-inch bridging.

Question: Could I paint my bedroom floor, which is of pine, and should the walls and ceiling be of the same color or of some harmonizing color?
If the floor is in good condition it may be painted; otherwise, it should be planed and sanded until smooth enough to take the paint with good effect. The color should be darker than that of the walls.

Question: Would crystal chandeliers be in keeping with beamed ceilings?
The period styles for which such chandeliers are appropriate have smooth plastered ceilings with ornate moldings of plaster. Wrought metal chandeliers would be more suitable for the type of room described.

Question: Are collarless houses of the type used in California applicable to colder climates?
Yes, if they are carefully insulated and if the proper small-house heating system is installed.

The Hazards of Automobile Ownership Are Many

Your motor vehicle is the most hazardous property you own.

Fire is a common occurrence and thefts are alarmingly prevalent. One little fire may cost you more than the premiums for a lifetime.

Stolen cars are rarely recovered and the yearly toll of wind is enormous. Collisions are frequent and the cost of repairs high. Litigation on account of personal injuries, to say nothing of the payment of verdicts, court costs, etc., may bankrupt the car owner. Every claim for property damage is a possible loss.

A Vital Precaution —Your Home MUST BE Well Insulated.

We carry a complete and varied stock of building insulators that have proven particularly efficient in this country of constantly changing weather. Included in these are such nationally known products as Celotex, Balsam Wool, Johns Manville and others. If you contract your building, be sure to specify one of these insulations.

One of the most important facts that our years of experience in the building supply business has developed, is that dwellings erected in this area MUST BE THOROUGHLY INSULATED. And in spite of the importance of home insulation it is one of the things that is most commonly slighted!

Economize, if you will, on some other phase of construction, but do not overlook INSULATION. A well insulated home means warmth in winter, and coolness during torrid months. It saves fuel and preserves health. If you plan to build—consult us—we'll gladly tell you what is best for your particular building—and you'll save money in the bargain.

New York, April 14 (AP)—The stock market retreated today under heavy selling inspired, in part, by renewed fears over the credit situation. Persistent reports circulated through Wall Street that another increase in rediscount rates was coming soon and many professional traders took occasion to lighten their holdings on the possibility of such a development. The recent increase in time money and bankers' acceptance rates, the further experts of gold and increasing commercial rate theory.

An opening break of about 5 points in General Motors, which was generally expected to open up at a new high around $200 a share, chilled speculative enthusiasm at the start. The price later sagged to 192.5-8, and then snapped back to 196, off 2 3-8 net. The unusual incident of a "split price" at the close of the market attracted widespread comment, one block of 25,000 shares changing hands at 194 to 195 1/2, followed by a block of 500 at 196, the final quotation.

Selling pressure was quite persistent throughout the day in such issues as Allied Chemical, American Republic, Bethlehem Steel, Consolidated Gas, Du Pont, Eldorado, Greene Cananea Copper, National Enameling, Radio Corporation, Texas Gulf Sulphur, Union Carbide, U. S. Cast Iron Pipe, U. S. Industrial Alcohol and Wright Aeronautical, all of which closed 2 to nearly 6 points lower.

Pool activities were not entirely abandoned, however, but were conducted with considerable success in a selected assortment of tobacco, merchandising, oil and public utility issues.

Foreign exchange trading was quiet with price changes narrow and irregular. Sterling cables held steady around $4.88 3-8.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Apr. 14—Breadstuffs prices advanced for the fourth today, every delivery both of wheat and rye establishing a new price record for the season. Drought in the southwest with freezing temperatures and high winds, led gill for the 1928 wheat yield had much to do with bringing about something akin to a buying stampede.

Closing quotations on wheat were strong at virtually the day's highest level, 2 3/8 to 3 1/8 net advance. Rye finished 2 1/2 to 3 1/4 net advance, 1/4 to 1/2 net gain, oats 5 1/4 to 5 1/2 net advance, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 1/2c.

Corn and oats as well as rye were active and higher, mainly in consequence of wheat strength. Wet weather over the corn belt was also a factor, and there was talk of good export business in oats. Provisions were firmer, sympathizing with upturns both in hog values and in grain.

HERD PROFITS WERE DOUBLED

Wisconsin Dairyman Tells Benefits of Cow Testing Work

BY FRED BURHOP (In Hoard's Dairyman). I have been asked to tell you how I have doubled my dairy herd profits. In 1910 I left my father's farm in Ozaukee county, Wisconsin, to work as an accounting clerk for a Milwaukee manufacturing concern. After remaining in this work for four and one-half years I became dissatisfied and wanted to get on a farm of my own. Finally, with my father's help, I returned to a 95-acre farm near Port Washington in Ozaukee county.

In December, 1915, I bought 12 grade Guernsey cows and a good pure-bred Guernsey bull. I few this herd as well as I knew how and was glad to get all the information I could from neighboring dairymen and other sources. It seemed, however, that progress was very slow and I had no way of knowing just what the herd was doing for me. In April, 1922, I joined a cow testing association, through the inducements of the county agent, G. S. Hales, and Mr. Searles, field man for the Wisconsin Dairyman's association. They assured me that, by making use of the information obtained, I could improve the production of my herd and get a higher return over feed costs. During the first year I learned that it paid to take better care of the herd and that I had three cows that were not paying for their feed. By selling these three cows to the butcher, the average production of milk and butterfat of the herd was increased, together with an average increase for the herd as a whole.

Feed Cost Varies. At the end of the first year, in going over the herd book with the tester, I learned that from month to month there was a wide variation in the feed cost of a pound of butterfat. The lowest priced butterfat for the year was produced during the first month on pasture when no grain was fed, and increased each month during the summer. The physical condition of the herd in the fall was poor.

more than doubled. Can Double Income. The average dairyman in a cow testing association can double his income without adding more acres to his farm, or building larger barns, or by using more labor. All he needs to do is feed the cows he has a little more liberally, breed to better sires, sell the boarder cows producing less than 300 pounds of butterfat, and be more punctual at milking and feeding time. That is what I did as a member of an association. We farmers are all working long enough hours. We need more cash profits, rather than more units of production. We can do the job at less cost and with fewer and better cows. Some of the factors which I consider made possible this increase are the following: By studying the C. T. A. herd book I learned which of my cows were the most profitable, and it was from these cows that the heifer calves were raised. My herd now is made up largely of these selected animals. I purchased the best sires from proven production ancestry that I could find, trying to get one that would sire calves capable of developing into better producing cows than the cows I already had. Tester's Advice Valuable. The monthly contact with the tester, who gave me information of the feeds to feed and on the general herd management, has been very valuable. Without his counsel and advice it would have been difficult, probably impossible, to have made the progress that has been made. It is very necessary to cull out the cows which are shown to be unprofitable. One of our poor cows in a herd may cut down the profit that as many more are making. There are many benefits derived from C. T. A. work, other than those concerning the herd. I feel that the training and information received from this work

Must Use Information. I became convinced that a member in a cow testing association received benefits in proportion to his efforts and willingness to make use of the information gained. After the first year I set my standard of increase at 25 pounds of fat per cow per year. The average production in my first year of C. T. A. work with 13 cows was 277 pounds of butterfat. The average return over feed cost per cow was $85. In the fifth year, with the same number of cows, the average production was 414.4 pounds of butterfat, an increase of 137 pounds in the five years. The return over feed cost was $177 per cow as compared to $85 in 1922, an increase of $92 or more than twice what it was when I started in cow testing association work five years ago. I had increased the feed cost one-third, but the net returns per cow were

Only 3 Schools Enter Baseball League This Year

Kalamazoo, Apr. 14.—(P)—Only two schools will challenge Western State Normal of Kalamazoo for the Michigan collegiate conference baseball title this year. There will be Ypsilanti Normal and Central State Teachers' college of Mt. Pleasant.

The fourth association member City College of Detroit, has been unable to obtain support for baseball because of the many league and semi-pro games there.

Coach Herbert W. Reed, who last year piloted the Kalamazoo school to the M. C. C. basketball and baseball titles, has dropped out this spring in favor of Coach Jud Hyames, who was away last year. Hyames returns to find an all-western "battery staff" and remnants of last year's infield and outfield. Capt. Nestor will be at third and Corbat at shortstop.

Mt. Pleasant with 11 letter men back, appears as the strongest contender for the 1928 title. Coach "Dutch" Lodewyk has Capt. Eno Pulkiner, second sacker and batting star, on the squad, and other veterans include "Speed" Bremmer and "Slim" Barden hurlers.

Mt. Pleasant's schedule calls for 14 games, including two each with Detroit Tech and St. Marys of Orchard Lake. Opening games are booked for April 27 and 28 with Ferris and Adrian.

At Ypsilanti, seven letter men are back. Bill Crouch, all-around athlete, is doing part of the hitting as is Eli Ward of Ypsilanti will open his schedule Saturday, April 21, at home with Ferris Institute.

Helen Willis Is Anxious for 1928 Tennis Campaign

New York, Apr. 14.—(P)—Miss Helen Willis, queen of the tennis domain, is awaiting impatiently the start of the 1928 campaign. Arriving in the metropolis today, Miss Willis immediately went into conference with officials of the United States Lawn Tennis Association discussing her forthcoming activities.

"I'm anxious to begin playing," Miss Willis said. "I have not yet decided what exhibition matches I will play abroad but it is definitely settled that I will appear in the French championships, at Wimbledon and in the Wrightman cup series."

The four times national champion will sail on the Aquitane next Wednesday and is due to arrive in Cherbourg, France, on April 26. She said she expected to spend most of her time in Paris.

RANGERS WIN STANLEY CUP

Is First American Hockey Victory in Cup Play Since 1917

Montreal, Que., Apr. 14.—(P)—The gallant band of New York Rangers brought the historic Stanley Cup, emblematic of the world's professional hockey championship, back to the United States for the second time in the 36 years of competition by conquering the Montreal Maroons in the fifth and deciding game tonight by 2 to 1.

By tonight's triumph, the Rangers, champions of the American division, captured three of the five games in the world series with the Maroons, finalists in the international group.

The Stanley Cup was placed in competition in 1892 and, with the exception of the 1917 season when Seattle of the Pacific Coast League defeated the Canadians for the trophy, the symbol of hockey supremacy had never left the Dominion. Last year, the Ottawa Senators annexed the championship prize.

Frank Boucher, Rangers' center, was the hero of the night for the Rangers, scoring both their goals, the first coming in the opening stanza in 17:05 and the other in the closing period in 15:15. Two minutes after Boucher registered his second tally, Phillips of the Maroons beat Miller on a pass from Siebert, for the lone Montreal score.

Indiana Leads in Southern Track and Field Meet

Atlanta, Ga., Apr. 14.—(P)—Indiana University winning five first places, captured a major share of track and field honors today in the sixth annual southern relays staged at Grant field. Three southern relay records were broken, despite the muddy footing and drizzling rain, which prevailed.

A high school lad, Graydon of Little Rock, Ark., sprang the greatest surprise of the day when he won the free for all javelin event with a throw of 205 feet, 5 inches, a new southern mark and six feet better than the national interscholastic mark of 199 feet, 5 inches.

Ed Hamm, of Georgia Tech, national intercollegiate broad jump champion, smashed the southern relay mark for that event with a leap of 24 feet, 2 1/4 inches, a quarter of an inch better.

The other new mark was made in the shot putt class. Nelson of the University of Iowa, getting a distance of 44 feet, 9 3/8 inches, Nesom of Louisiana State, second, and Hood, Georgia Tech, third, also had better shots than the former record of 43.4 inches held by Nesom.

Favored in Southern League. New Orleans, winner of the Southern League pennant last season, is the favorite of most southern baseball writers to win the pennant again this year.

PIRATES LOSE TO REDS, 5 TO 0

Miljus Clouted Off Mound in 7th; Lucas Holds Bucs to Five Hits

Cincinnati, O., Apr. 14.—(P)—The Cincinnati Reds locked Pittsburgh scoreless in the National league cellar for another day when they clouted Miljus off the mound in the seventh inning and won, 5 to 0, today. Lucas held the Pirates to five hits. Miljus retired in favor of Brame after the Reds hit two singles and a double with none out. The Reds drove two more safeties through Brame for four runs in the seventh inning.

Ethan Allen, Reds center fielder, sprained his ankle in the seventh and was carried off the field.

3 RUNNERS OUT OF MARATHON

Say Prize Money Offers No Incentive for Them Now

Chandler, Okla., Apr. 14.—(P)—After plodding 1500 miles in the continental "hundred derby," a trio of entrants decided today that the $25,000 offered for first prize was no incentive for further punishment of their feet over the long road to New York.

The runners, Neater Erickson of Port Chester, N. Y., Lari Losman of Eastonia, and August Fegar, Ashabula, Ohio, quit the grind, announcing it would take "daily prize money" to induce them to pound the pavement another mile.

They said they no longer saw any lure in the $25,000 posted for the contestant who turns in the best time at the end of the trail and as there was no money to be picked up for the daily laps, they were through.

Giusto Unek, Italian walking champion, was first into the control point today, leading by more than ten minutes Peter Gavuzzi of Southampton, England. Emuk, whose home is in Trieste, negotiated the 51.9 miles from Oklahoma City in seven hours and 44 minutes and his elapsed time now is 312:46:01. The Englishman, who has persistently clung among the leaders in elapsed time since a hopeful group of nearly 200 left Los Angeles, March 4, had required 281 hours, 15 minutes and 32 seconds to traverse the 1542.4 miles completed.

Andrew Payne, of Claremore, Okla., finished in a tie with William Kerr of Minneapolis for fifth place in today's lap in 8 hours, 56 minutes. The Oklahoma youth still was the leader of the pack in total elapsed time, however, with 250:47:31.

Johnny Vierra of Oakland, Cal., came in third today in 8:29:34, but is down in the list in elapsed time, 260:34:03. Phillip Granville, Hamilton, Ont., was fourth today in 8:44:29. His elapsed-time was 291:05:19.

The NUT CRACKER

by Joe Williams

Tunney has sent a telegram to the New York Boxing Commission, naming his opponent, so everything is straightened out. Which, of course, is a great disappointment to the commission.

The Tunney-Heeney affair will be held at the Polo grounds, we have it from Mr. Rickard now. Well, that's just as good a place for Polo as any in the country.

In accordance with our usual custom of printing a few cracks of the silly sort every spring, it is with regret that we announce that Bob Hooks, star on the University of Georgia's eleven last year, is now one of the most promising men on the boxing team.

Those poor Yankees, home from the south, ought to get a crowd on opening day. If they don't there just isn't any sympathy left in the world.

The other teams in the American League, we've heard, have been training their infielders to cope with the terrific Yank slugger. Every first baseman has been schooled in the art of getting under long flies.

Young man, go in for baseball. Look at Ty Cobb—he played ball for something like 30 years, and now he's ready to retire with $200,000 he cleaned up in the stock market.

One of the New York boxing managers, Walter Friedman, has gone to Europe to "scour the country for a new heavyweight champion." We just hope he took along plenty of soap.

A young Filipino boxer coming to the front is called Silvio Silvino Jamito. That last name is pronounced, HAM-EE-TO. He would not have to eat very hard to chew up all the bats exhibited recently.

A Delaney-Sharkey match seems certain. Every possible way to stave it off failed, and it really is going to happen.

New Record Set for Boston Race

Boston, Apr. 14.—(P)—A new record for the Boston marathon was established here today when eight entries brought the total to 208. A year ago there were 197 entered. Race officials believe that before the race is started on April 19, there will be at least 250 in the starting line.

Clairence R. Demar, five times winner and the favorite this year, has been training daily and has set two hours 33 minutes as his goal. Demar won last year's race in two hours 40 minutes 22 1/5 seconds but he believes that this year's field will be much stronger.

Wolverines Trim Georgians, 13-7

Athens, Ga., Apr. 14.—(P)—The University of Michigan baseball team defeated Georgia 13 to 7 today in a game which completed their southern schedule. The Wolverines open the conference season with Northwestern at Ann Arbor Monday.

Michigan drove out 18 hits. Nebelung pitched a strong game but lacked infield support, the Wolverines committing numerous errors.

The African finch is said to have a vocabulary of about 300 words.

Tigers Lose Fourth Consecutive Game

Detroit, Apr. 14.—(P)—The Detroit Tigers lost their fourth consecutive game today when the Cleveland Indians took the first game of the series here, 5 to 6. [L] Stoner was driven from the box in the first inning when Cleveland piled up a three-run lead. Aided by two costly errors by Harry Rice which allowed three runs, Cleveland added five runs during the remaining innings to head off Detroit rallies in the eighth and ninth innings.

A strong wind and low temperature hindered the players contributing to the costly Tiger errors. Burns, Indian first baseman, contributed a home run, a double and a single which drove in three of Cleveland's runs. Sontner walked Lind, the second man up in the first inning, after Jamieson had grounded out. Langford singled and J. Sewell doubled, scoring Lind. Langford was out trying for third. When Burns drove a home run over the left field fence, scoring J. Sewell ahead of him, Stoner went to the showers, Smith taking the mound.

Detroit scored in the second inning. In the sixth, with a man on second and third, Rice dropped Hudlin's fly and Summa and L. Sewell scored. With a four-run lead the Indians picked up one score in each of the remaining innings while Detroit rallied sufficiently to pick up five runs in the seventh, eighth and ninth.

HEROIC DEED HELD CAUSE OF INSANITY

Hoboken, N. J.—Similar to heroes of the World war, whose minds snapped from the strain of trench fighting, is the case of Sergt. William Delaney, one-time fearless member of the force.

It was fear of vengeance that undermined "Fearless Bill's" reason. Several months ago he shot it out with two gangsters who had held up and robbed a truck load of silk. Both the thugs were killed.

Then came sinister threats against his life. Recently the wife of one of the gangsters came to the city to find "the man who killed my husband." Sergt. Delaney had a "nervous collapse," then he became violent. Physicians were forced to call his fellow officers; who took him to a sanitarium.

SENATORS-SOX IN TIE GAME

Boston, Apr. 14.—(P)—Rain halted a tight pitching duel here today between Mill Gaston and Herb Bradley and left the Washington Senators and Boston Red Sox in a scoreless tie after five innings of play.

Although both pitchers allowed but two hits, each team managed to get a man as far as third base. In the fifth, Ben Tate, Senators' catcher, on the business end of a double steal, was thrown out at the plate.

Layton Regains Billiard Title

Chicago, Apr. 14.—(P)—Johnny Layton of St. Louis regained his national three cushion billiard crown after four years of effort tonight, when he defeated Willie Hoppe of New York, 50 to 37, in 46 innings in the championship match of the national tournament.

It is the fourth time the round St. Louisan has won the title. Otto Reiset of Philadelphia, who lost his title in the tournament, tied for second place with Hoppe, each winning six out of nine matches.

Adopt Scandal-Proof Betting Machine

Paris—A quarter of a million bets a minute can be placed on the races at Longchamps through the new automatic parimutuel machines, modelled after those in Australia and New Zealand.

Scandals several times showed parimutuel employes sometimes sold themselves winning tickets after the race was over. With the new machines, the human element is eliminated. The tickets will be issued, the bets recorded, and the calculation of odds made by machinery. At the start of a race, the cutting of the operating current will block all machines. Also, all bets will be centralized so there will no longer be differences in odds between the paddock and the field which formerly operated separately.

As the calculation of odds will be constant, a bettor can know exactly what the odds are on each horse at the moment he bets whereas previously he was entirely in the dark.

Paul Waner Keeps Hold on First in Big Six Rating

(By The Associated Press.)
Paul Waner, slugging outfielder of the Pittsburgh Pirates, retained his lead at the top of the "Big Six" rating yesterday by cracking out a double against Red Lucas as the Reds shut out the Pirates, 5 to 0. Paul waited until the ninth inning to break into the hit column. Kiki Cuyler kept up his stride of one hit a day with a single in four times at bat at St. Louis. Harry Heilmann got a pair of singles at Detroit. Babe Ruth, Ty Cobb and Rogers Hornsby were idle.

The standing to date:

CLUBS TO HEAR "ARMY" LEADER

General Secretary Will Be Speaker at Meetings Today

Staff Capt. Harold Madson, general secretary of the Salvation Army, will be the principal speaker at meetings of the Escanaba Rotary and Kiwanis clubs today, dividing his time between the two organizations.

Captain Madson's address will mark the opening of the week's campaign to raise funds sufficient to maintain the work of the local Salvation Army post during the coming year.

In addition to the address, C. J. Byrns, chairman of the general Salvation Army advisory committee, and George C. Geniesse, chairman of the sub-committee on campaign personnel, will announce the make-up of teams which will go out Wednesday, for the purpose of soliciting the funds required.

Mr. Byrns believes that three days will give the workers ample time to raise the funds required. No quota has been set. It costs about $175 a month to maintain the Army's work here. Virtually all of the money is used in relief work. The Army's barracks are outside the higher rent district, and the members of the staff draw but $9 weekly in salaries. There have been numerous occasions when the two young women have declined to accept their pay and have turned the money back into relief channels.

The fund will be handled by the advisory committee, and the more money contributed, the longer the period between drives. The last campaign was held in December, 1926. It is hoped that the present campaign will produce money enough to finance the work for 12 months at least.

"We do not believe it is necessary to 'sell' the community on the great work the Salvation Army is doing here," Mr. Byrns said. "I prefer to think that the people of Escanaba will regard the chance to assist in this work as a privilege rather than a duty. No other organization in this city can do so much with so little money. Judged strictly from a financial standpoint, the investment is sound and profitable. From the humane side, the contributions are used for work of incalculable worth."

BY THE NEA BOOK SURVEY

Perhaps it's because Sinclair Lewis selected a Pullman car as the babbling ground of his latest Babbitt—Lowell Schmalz, of Zenith. At any rate we have a feeling that books have a whizzing past our eyes, just as the countryside rushed past the window of Schmalz's train.

We're just as glad to pass many of them at a dizzy speed. They're nothing we care to remember. Including the new Lewis book, "The Man Who Knew Coolidge" (Harcourt, Brace). This monologue of one of those fellows who spouts endless platitudes seemed to us singularly heavy-handed and bore-some. We found it pretty hard going. It seemed to us overdone and labored.

To excuse it, the essays within the covers might at least have had a good comic vein. If you can imagine an exaggerated Babbitt, then you have a fair picture of Schmalz. But Babbitt was not the character to stand further inflation. He was not exactly what you would have called a subtle characterization. Filled full of windy phrases and set loose on everything from politics to ethics, Schmalz made us a bit more annoyed with Lewis than with himself.

Ring Lardner has done this sort of thing infinitely better and we've seen single paragraphs of Will Rogers that hit far more accurately than this entire volume. All of which we regret, since "Babbitt," "Main Street" and "Arrowsmith" seem to us documents of much literary value.

It is pleasant to learn from T. P. Powys, "Mr. Weston's Good Wine" (Viking) that this much-criticized land of ours has no corner on what H. L. Mencken pleases to call "boobery." Powys, who writes from the English countryside while his two talented brothers do their typing in Greenwich Village, New York, lets us know that the good rustics of his British health are not all sweetness and light and can be quite a stupid.

unregenerate crew. In his beautiful written allegorical tale he has Mr. Weston, a Christ-like character, set forth in his flivver to carry his "good wine of salvation" into a countryside that needs it far worse than the wicked city.

After these two books we recall spinning past a number of novels the jackets of which said something about the mad goings-on of the younger members of this younger generation were getting older.

There's one book, however, coming under this generalization that we advise taking into consideration. That's G. B. Stern's "Debonair" (Knopf). Gay, witty and wise is an easy way of summing it up. But that isn't enough. The author has built two splendid characters, Loveday Trevelyan and her mother.

Loveday wears all the medals of freedom that bespeak major engagements in this younger generation's rebellions. She has the usual appetite for experience, yet she does not trust experience since she does not know where it will lead her. Miss Stern is one of our favorite character sketchers, and her family portrait in "The Matriarch" is not easy to forget.

Rose Macaulay has a new book. After this fifth dose of the Macaulayesque biters, she seems to us more than ever a poet on a sightseeing bus. That is to say, she catches so many glimpses of life as they pass her, she becomes so keenly aware of everything, that she gets too excited to remember that, perhaps, she is at heart a poet. In this excitement she even forgets, that she's a fine novelist and breaks into fine indignation over the sad behavior of humans. She sees, particularly, their terrible snobberies and shams and insincerities.

Her newest work is "Daisy and Daphne" (Liveright). And here she has a rare idea. It treats of two sides of the same personality. If, at a glance, this seems confusing, then Daisy is Daphne's inferiority complex. Daphne is sure of herself, courageous, quick of wit, and uninhibited. Daisy is that phase of her personality that falters and questions and throws the monkey-wrench into Daphne's machinery.

Daisy is ashamed of her family and her background; she is a snob and a liar and far from hopeful with herself or anyone else. Daphne would have been a grand person but for the Daisy in her. And isn't that a pretty fair picture of a lot of us? Certainly no one can draw this sort of portrait better than Miss Macaulay. She has true wit; oftentimes what Will Cappy called "murderous wit."

This writer can be the most amusing and entertaining while revealing the whole pathetic sham of our human society. In most of her books, from "Told by an Idiot," to "Crewe Train," she gives the impression of one who might be telling a joke—but the joke is on us, and on Life itself. If we're honest enough to admit it, personally we'd prefer to dodge around corners, even as Daisy.
