COOLIDGE HAS RULING VOICE IN G. O. PARTY

PRESIDENT ABLE TO DOMINATE CONVENTION

BY DAVID LAWRENCE. (Copyright 1928, by the Escanaba Press) Washington, April 26.—Coolidge policies and Coolidge republicanism dominate the republican party in the big eastern states. This is the outstanding significance of the Tuesday primary in Ohio, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts.

The net effect is to place Herbert Hoover ahead of all other men mentioned for the nomination, with exception, of course, of President Coolidge. The Hoover votes come from the Coolidge camp and if there is the slightest indication that Mr. Hoover can not win a majority of the delegates, it is beginning to be a foregone conclusion that the Hoover strength plus the "last ditch" Coolidge votes will constitute more than a majority of the republican national convention.

Indiana Next Test. Can Secretary Hoover make the grade? His campaign managers will derive considerable stimulus from the clear-cut victory in Ohio and Massachusetts and it will tend to quell the talk that "Hoover has been stopped."

The opposition camp will make much of the fact that the vote in both Massachusetts and Ohio was relatively light and that the death of Senator Willis deprived the secretary of a real opponent in the Buckeye state, while the eleventh hour letter of President Coolidge to Chairman Prescott prevented the Bay state from voting in any considerable numbers to draft the president.

It would not be surprising if Secretary Hoover made an excellent showing in Indiana in the May primary. As indicated before in these dispatches, the solid west is for Hoover, the middle west is for Lowden or Davis, and the southern delegates will probably line up behind the secretary of commerce.

Leaders Hold Reins. The big eastern delegations, like Pennsylvania, which is uninstructed, will have an influence on many other states. In fact, the whole situation resolves itself now into a choice between drafting President Coolidge or nominating Secretary Hoover. One of the chief of these two men seems certain at this date to be the republican nominee. It is difficult to analyze the Coolidge strength because many of the Hoover delegates are at heart for Mr. Coolidge for first choice.

The situation, despite the voting in the primaries, is still in the hands of the political leaders of the various states. These leaders will decide the issue on the circumstances confronting their convention week, and not before. The desire for uninstructed delegates, as in Pennsylvania, for instance, can not be interpreted as unfriendly to the candidacy of Secretary Hoover. On the other hand, the assumption that Secretary Mellon, who commands the Pennsylvania organization, intends to throw his strength to Secretary Hoover, is

GENERAL BOOTH ILL

FLOOD DANGER IS NOT PASSED

Rains Would Cause Additional Damage in Three States

Atlanta, Ga., Apr. 26—(AP)—Although the freshest flood waters generally were receding after a four-day rampage through the lowlands of Georgia, Alabama and northwest Florida, fresh alarm was felt in some sections tonight because of weather bureau predictions of more rain. With the streams either bankfull or overflowing, the wide bottomlands, additional heavy rains would prolong serious conditions or bring about virtual repetition of the deluge, with untold loss to farmers and must now replant a large part of their crops.

Seven lives have been taken by the floods since torrential rains sent streams out of their banks last Sunday. Many persons have been injured or suffered exposure, thousands made homeless and the property and highway damage will aggregate many millions.

The latest casualty came today when a negro fireman was killed as his train went through a trestle weakened by the flood, near Sylvester in the Georgia, Ashburn, Sylvester and Camilla railway.

Swamps Absorb Water. While most of those made homeless have been able to get back into their water-damaged homes, several towns still were under water with the inhabitants quartered in refugee camps on high ground. The crest had passed Caryville, Fla., where 12 feet of water swirled. It was estimated, however, that the inhabitants would not be able to return for a week.

Flood damage was lessened in extreme southern Georgia when the huge swamps of the Ocmulgee and Oconee rivers absorbed the mighty volume of water. Much newly planted bottomland was ruined and several bridges swept away or damaged.

Chipley, Fla., was quartering 500 negroes in a refugee camp.

Man Given Prison Term for Trying to Kidnap Child

Hancock, Apr. 26—(AP)—James Rasmussen, 28, of Louisville, today entered Marquette prison to begin serving a sentence of from 15 to 25 years for attempting to kidnap Rita Westcott, 6-year-old Hancock girl. Rasmussen was sentenced yesterday by Judge John G. Stone after he had withdrawn a plea of insanity and pleaded guilty. He is said by police to have confessed he planned to kidnap the girl and hold her for ransom. His plans were frustrated by a shopkeeper, who saw the child following him away, and called to her.

Three Held for Officer's Death

Detroit, Apr. 26—(AP)—Ralph O'Connor, Earl Sauters and Earl Sheltreau, today were held for trial on charges of first degree murder in connection with the slaying of Patrolman Frederick Brumm in a gun fight during a holdup March 31. They were ordered held without bail.

MAKE SUCCESSFUL TRIP IN FORD MONOPLANE

Lake Ste. Agnes, Que., Apr. 26—(AP)—The crew of the monoplane Bremen came back to civilization today in the tri-motored Ford airplane which had taken them off Greenly Island where they were marooned 13 days ago.

The big ship swooped down on the frozen lake which serves as a landing field for this improvised airport and a hundred newspapermen and photographers surrounded the flyers.

With Bert Balchen at the controls, the plane had made a quick trip from the barren island off the top of Labrador. Several times it circled above the lake, while those below set off smoke signals telling that the surface was safe for a landing.

Once the ship was down, eager welcome surrounded Baron von Huenefeld, Captain Koehl and Commandant Fitzmaurice. Picture cameras began to grind and the three airmen posed with Balchen for still photographs.

One cameraman had an airplane turned up for a quick take-off and as soon as he had snapped his pictures he climbed aboard and was in the air bound for New York. His plane took off minutes after the Ford landed.

Miss Herts Junkers, daughter of the Bremen's builder, greeted the Baron and Captain Koehl in German and shook hands with Fitzmaurice and Balchen.

Miss Junkers announced after a conference with the flyers, that weather permitting, the Ford plane would take off at 6 a. m. tomorrow and would fly direct to Washington, D. C., where she and the crew of the Bremen would attend funeral services for Floyd Bennett, who died of pneumonia at Quebec on Wednesday after he and Balchen had flown the relief plane here from Detroit.

May Catch Perch With Hook, Line

Lansing, Apr. 26—(AP)—Perch may be taken with hook and line in the Great Lakes waters by individual fishermen who wish to take the fish for their own use, George R. Hogarth, conservation commissioner and W. H. Loutit, executive chairman of the conservation commission, announced today.

There had been some confusion as to whether a law prohibiting the taking of perch in the Great Lakes from April 15 to June 15 applied to hook and line, non-commercial fishing. Hogarth, Loutit and Atty. Gen. Wilbur M. Brucker agreed the law applies only to commercial fishing. Saginaw Bay and other connecting waters are included in the Great Lakes classification.

Yellow Truck Co. Shows Loss for First Quarter

Pontiac, Apr. 26—(AP)—Paul W. Sells, president, today reported net sales of the Yellow Truck and Coach Manufacturing company for the first quarter ending March 31, 1928, as $9,487,915, a net loss of $345,991 before provision for depreciation, and a net loss of $537,608 after allowances for depreciation.

Find Woman Beat Four Year Old Boy to Death

Detroit, Apr. 26—(AP)—Declaring that his investigation indicates that four-year-old Andrew Jackson Creekmore died April 21 as a result of having been horsewhipped, beaten and probably choked, John W. Watts, assistant prosecuting attorney, today sought a warrant charging Mrs. Rose Witschl, 45, with homicide.

Mrs. Witschl, whose home is in Wayne, is in jail, but has denied she beat the child, who had been boarded with her by his mother, Mrs. Bertha M. Riffle of Detroit.

Andrew was found unconscious in bed in the Witschl home April 19 and removed to a hospital where his death two days later was attributed to cerebral hemorrhages. Mrs. Witschl said he had been in an accident.

Investigating, Watts said he learned Mrs. Riffle had taken the boy from the Witschl home and placed him in the home of Mrs. Mildred Wilson, also of Wayne, and that Mrs. Witschl had taken him from the Wilson home, saying she intended to hold him for a board bill.

Watts said neighbors found a horsewhip in a closet in Mrs. Witschl's home when they found the boy. The prosecution said the child's body was covered with welts and that it had more than 100 marks and bruised places, including marks on his throat, indicating he had been choked.

TO MAKE TESTS OF AUTOMOBILES

State Safety Organization Completes Plans for Examinations

Lansing, Apr. 26—(AP)—A state-wide safety organization created at the request of Governor Green in the hope of reducing traffic accidents, was established here today. Its first official act will be to sponsor a testing period from May 10 to June 30 when every automobile owner will be asked to have brakes, lights, steering mechanisms and so forth, inspected.

The organization which is to be known as the Michigan Safety Council, will reach out into every community. Local committees are to be appointed to help with the campaign. Other testing periods will follow as often as the council believes they are needed. The organization will seek to encourage caution, will interest itself in education work among school children, co-operate with police and sheriff's departments in seeking more thorough compliance with laws and ordinances and probably suggest some changes in the statutes to the next legislature.

The council is the outgrowth of a recent meeting called by the governor of police chiefs, sheriffs, attorneys and others interested in the traffic situation. A committee was named at that meeting and that committee today decided the most logical way of approaching the safety problem is through the organization of the council and statewide, combined effort rather than local attempts at regulation.

Needs Good Co-operation. Those who assist with the governor today and helped establish the council were Oscar G. Olander, commissioner of public safety; Lieut. Lawrence Lyons, Commissioner William P. Rutledge of Grand Rapids; Capt. W. S. Gilbrath of the Detroit Automobile club; Chief Charles Seymour of Highland Park; Chief A. A. Carroll, of Grand Rapids, and George O'Brien of Saginaw.

A program approved by the council declared: "Safety to human life cannot reach maximum effectiveness through occasional, unrelated and varying safety campaigns, limited to a few widely separated communities. This campaign's objects in general are to aid in effecting more uniform public understanding and official administration of traffic, to instill more vividly in the public mind the law which requires motor vehicles to be equipped as to effect adequate mechanical control, to bring more directly to the public mind the need for care in driving and in walking across thoroughfares, to reassert the law, to stimulate community support to safety complete, unhampered and impartial administration of the laws and to attempt to extend to all communities some of the progressive safety results which have been achieved in some communities."

The governor will appoint committees in each city. Certificates will be issued to owners whose cars are tested and passed.

TAX BILL IS REMODELLED BY SENATE

$203,000,000 CUT PROPOSED IN NEWEST MEASURE

Washington, Apr. 26—(AP)—The house $203,000,000 tax reduction bill was remodelled completely today by the senate finance committee in voting a $203,000,000 reduction schedule into the measure to meet the limitation set by the administration.

The Republican majority of the committee pared down the total cut within range of the treasury deadline of $209,000,000 over the votes of the Democrats who had advocated a $325,000,000 plan.

To win the support of the western Republican independents, whose support is necessary for the party in the approaching fight on the floor, the Republicans abandoned the proposal of the treasury for repeal of the inheritance tax.

The $203,000,000 program voted into the bill today is the same as announced on behalf of the Republicans Tuesday by Chairman Smoot with the omission of the provision for repeal of the inheritance tax. The plan, which ignores the proposals of both the house and Secretary Mellon, follows:

Auto Tax Repealed. Reduction of the corporation tax from 13 1/2 to 12 1/2 per cent instead of 11 1/2 per cent as voted by the house.

Repeal of the automobile levy of three per cent as voted by the house.

Revision of the surtax rates applying on incomes between $18,000 and $70,000—proposed by Mr. Mellon, but not provided by the house.

Increase in the exemptions allowed corporations from $2000 to $3000—provided by the house.

Increase in exemptions under ten per cent admission tax from 75 cents to $3. House proposed increase only to $1. Increase to 25 per cent in tax on prize fight admissions, as proposed by house, accepted.

Repeal of levies on cereal beverages and wine as proposed by house.

Reduction in the rates on insurance companies from 13 1/2 per cent to 12 1/2 per cent.

The committee voted to make the proposed reduction in surtax rates retroactive to apply on 1927 income on which taxes are payable this year, meaning the return of $28,000,000 to individual income taxpayers. However, it rejected the house proposal for a retroactive cut in the corporation tax applicable on last year's income.

It was also decided on straight party votes, to restore to the bill present rates of taxes on club dues, capital stock transfers and sales on the produce exchanges, which the house had voted to cut in half in each instance.

The $203,000,000 reduction was declared entirely acceptable at the treasury where it was indicated earlier in the day that Mr. Mellon would endorse even a $210,000,000 cut. But the method employed in making the cut does not regard in any degree the program suggested by the secretary to the committee. He bitterly opposed repeal of the automobile tax and asked repeal of the inheritance tax, and the committee reversed him in both instances.

Roadhouse Owners Arrested in Raid

Detroit, Apr. 26—(AP)—Nick Legor and Ralph Fletcher, arrested last night by federal prohibition agents as proprietors of the Tavon Gun club, a roadhouse which was raided, were held today on charges of violating the national prohibition law. The officers raided the club following a complaint from Ann Arbor authorities, who said it was a favorite rendezvous for University of Michigan students. The agents said they found about 100 revelers in the club, including a number of students. None was held. Liquor valued at about $1,000 was seized and confiscated, the agents reported.

Appropriation of $10,000 for U. P. Fair Is Released

Lansing, Apr. 26—(AP)—The state administrative board today released $10,000 for the completion of a race track and some building changes for the upper peninsula state fair. Action upon a request from the Michigan State college for $75,000 for a dairy farm was deferred.

AMERICAN MINE SEIZED IN NICARAGUA

Several Americans and more than $15,000 worth of supplies and gold are reported to have been seized at this mine in northeastern Nicaragua by followers of the rebel leader, Augustino Sandino. Here are pictured some of the buildings of the La Luz mine, one of several American properties said to have been looted. The British superintendent here was not molested, but his American assistant was taken prisoner.

Fire Most Destructive Foe of Reforestation in State

BY ARTHUR W. STACE. Fire is the big terror of Michigan's forest country.

Fire is the reason why the bulk of Michigan's twelve million timber acres are unproductive today. Fire is responsible for blackened stump lands remaining worthless wastes instead of being covered by second growth timber of steadily increasing value.

Fire is to blame for wiped out towns, deserted towns, hopeless farms.

Fire is the most destructive foe, treacherous and menacing, lurking in the way of successful reforestation.

Fires were set yearly by the Indians in the oak openings of the southern part of the state in order to secure tender new growth which would lure the deer and make hunting better and easier.

Fires were set by settlers as a means of clearing the land. Fires were set to get rid of the dangerous slash left by logging operations.

Fires were set by huckleberry pickers who thought if the bushes were burned every year the crops would be better.

Fires were set maliciously by men incited by enemies.

Fires were set accidentally by sparks from locomotive, by smokers, by campers, by fishermen.

As Much Burned as Cut. In the dangerous seasons—which are the spring when dead vegetation is on the ground and new vegetation has not come up, in summer dry spells, and in the fall when vegetation withers—fires frequently get out of control. Sometimes they burn over hundreds of acres and sometimes over thousands. There have been fires in Michigan that have swept through a million acres of standing timber causing the loss of hundreds of lives, the wiping out of entire towns, and the destruction of tremendous property values. It is estimated that as much timber has been burned in Michigan forest fires as has been cut into lumber.

Fires so frequently swept the timber lands, both standing forests and cut-overs, that the people of the state came to accept them almost as periodical visitations of Providence, like winds, frosts, and floods against which humans long considered themselves helpless.

Only in recent years have the people of Michigan come to feel that forest fires could be prevented and could be controlled. And only during the past several years has the state gotten its protective fire-fighting service so organized, so equipped, and so financed, that this control promises to become effective.

One trouble in the past has been that when the fires destroyed the young growth on the cut-over lands people thought no harm was done, as to them this was a daisy farm was deferred.

NATION WILL PAY TRIBUTE TO AVIATOR

QUEBEC BIDS FAREWELL AS CORTEGE LEAVES CITY

Washington, Apr. 26—(AP)—Soldiers, final tribute will be rendered tomorrow to one of the navy's greatest aviators when a navy flying squad salute Floyd Bennett with three volleys across his grave in Arlington naval cemetery.

With all military honors, the pilot of Commander Byrd's North Pole plane will take his place among the nation's heroes, close to the resting place of one with whom he shares Polar fame—Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary.

Funeral services for the aviator who ranked high in the regard of his comrades in contrast to his official rating as naval machinist, will be held at 3:00 o'clock, immediately after the body reaches the capital from New York.

Grim preparation for the interment went forward today as a lone negro grave digger made ready the last resting place. His labors were interrupted by a visitor who declined to identify himself other than as a friend of Bennett, and who asked permission to assist in preparing the grave.

Admiral Moffett To Attend. After working several minutes, the man, leaning back on the handle of a spade, said: "So, this is the end." He then climbed out of the grave and drove away.

Rear Admiral Moffett, chief of the navy bureau of aeronautics and Assistant Secretary of War Davison will be among the officials who will meet the funeral party upon its arrival from New York. Assistant Secretary of the Navy Warner will attend the funeral as acting secretary in the absence of Secretary Wilbur, who has an engagement in Richmond, Va. Assistant Secretary of the Navy Robinson will also be absent from the city.

Both Commander Byrd and Mrs. Bennett will arrive with the group, bringing the body from Quebec.

At Arlington, on a flag-draped army caisson and followed by a naval escort, the body of the man who flew to the Pole will be carried through the cemetery to the grave.

The funeral procession which will form at Arlington Gates, will include three squads of blue-jackets from the president's yacht, The Mayflower, a navy firing squad, and a bugler to sound "taps."

Fallbearers Picked. Contrary to the plan first announced, it is now thought probable that no formation of navy planes will escort the funeral. Fifty enlisted men from the navy air station at Anacostia, however, have asked permission to attend in a body, and it is expected that every officer from the station who will be free at that time will be present.

The honorary pallbearers chosen by Commander Byrd are Navy Lieuts. John Perry, C. M. Huntington, Lloyd Harrison, A. Soucek, C. W. Reichelderfer and W. S. Diehl. They are all navy aviators now attached to the navy bureau of aeronautics here.

The caasket will be carried at the funeral by a detail of navy enlisted men.

At the request of Mrs. Bennett, bureau of navigation officials here have requested Rev. L. E. Smith, pastor of the Christian church at Norfolk, Va., to officiate at the funeral service. A navy chaplain will also be present at the services.

BENNETT LAUDED

Quebec, Apr. 26—(AP)—Floyd Bennett was described at the funeral services held for him today in the hospital where he died as one of those princes of men who are drawing the peoples of the world into a lasting unity.

"The last earthly flight is over," said Very Rev. Arch Deacon Scott in the funeral sermon. "The eyes that gazed on the wide wastes of Polar seas and faced, undaunted, blinding tempest and bewildering darkness have closed forever to the sight of earth."

"But, the keen, strong mind, the high sense of duty, the unselfish courage, which even drew him from a bed of sickness to the errand of mercy that resulted in his death, these live on, and, today, with pride and gratitude, we pay tribute to one of those princes of men, who, soaring above the national barriers and racial jealousies of earth, are drawing the peoples of the world to a lasting unity founded on man's universal admiration of valorous deeds."

"Among the stresses, there is only one banner—the banner of humanity.

"Among the airmen, there is only one love—the love which embraces the whole world, for the advancement of which they willingly lay down their lives."

Canada renders homage to the world's great peacemakers and blessed are the peacemakers for they shall be called the children of God.

"In the honor roll of the heroes of the air the name of Floyd Bennett burns with a radiance which will be a perpetual glory to his own nation and an inspiration to all mankind."

Canada renders today her homage to the dead and her sympathy to those whose hearts are made desolate by his loss."

The services began with singing of the hymns, "Oh, God, Our Help in Ages Past," and "Nearer My God to Thee." Prayers followed and the sermon concluded the service.

Toward the close of the service Mrs. Bennett broke down and was led to her room by nurses, and Miss Herta Junkers, whose father is manufacturer of the plane which Bennett was on his way to help repair when he died.

Piloted by Berni Balchen, and with Major James Fitzmaurice as a passenger, this tri-motored Ford monoplane is shown as it took off from the ice of Lake St. Agnes with spare parts for the stranded Bremen on Greenland island. The ship is equipped with skis that enabled it to land easily at its destination. Note that the propellers are invisible; they were revolving at high speed as the plane got under way. The two German aviators and Fitzmaurice were forced to abandon their plans to continue their journey to New York in the Bremen, and yesterday flew to Lake St. Agnes in the huge monoplane. They will fly direct to Washington today to attend the funeral of Floyd Bennett.

LINDY PRAISED FOR FAST TRIP

Quebec Doctors Send Letter of Appreciation to Rockefeller

New York, Apr. 26—(AP)—Dr. Alvan L. Barach, New York specialist who attended Floyd Bennett during the aviator's fatal illness at Jeffrey Hale hospital, Quebec, today sent to John D. Rockefeller, Jr., a letter of appreciation for his help in efforts to save Bennett's life.

High praise was given Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, who flew through snow and rain to Quebec with pneumonia serum furnished by the Rockefeller Foundation, and Dr. Barach explained that although he might have obtained sufficient serum in Montreal, he was "particularly anxious to get serum from the New York City department of health" since it "had many advantages over that available in other quarters."

The letter followed upon severe criticism by Premier L. A. Taschereau of Quebec and other provincial officials who felt that serum available in Canada would have been as useful as that brought to the hospital by Colonel Lindbergh.

Dr. Barach's letter to Mr. Rockefeller read:

"My Dear Mr. Rockefeller: I wish to express my sincere appreciation for the help which you gave us in the attempt to save Mr. Bennett. Colonel Lindbergh did a very real service in supplying us with serum, inasmuch as we would have administered type one or type two serum if his pneumonia had been due to either organism. Type three serum is still in the experimental stage and has not proven to be of any clinical value."

"When you offered to send the serum, I was very glad to accept it, as I know that the New York City department of health, under the direction of Dr. Park, had developed either by Felton at Harvard or Banzhaf at the New York City health department. This has many advantages over that available in other quarters."

"There was no such serum available in the city of Quebec. I was later informed that serum could be had in Montreal, but I was particularly anxious to get the type two serum from the New York City department of health. I wish to thank you again and to express my appreciation to Colonel Lindbergh for his flight. Your services, had his pneumonia turned out to be due to type one or type two pneumococcus, might have been of very real value."

Telegram Affirms Plan

Arrangements for the Lindbergh flight, completed by telephone through Dr. Barach and Dr. Simon Flexner of the Rockefeller Institute, were confirmed by the following telegram from Mr. Rockefeller to the superintendent of Jeffrey Hale hospital on April 24:

"Colonel Lindbergh with Applegate of my office bringing serum from Rockefeller Institute desired at least premature. There is a friendliest feeling between the secretary of the treasury and the secretary of commerce, but the Coolidge problem will have to be disposed of first before Pennsylvania will go to Secretary Hoover.

Three Blocks of Votes.

Just at present, as a result of the Ohio and Massachusetts primaries, some of the skeptics are saying that it will be necessary to appraise the Hoover strength carefully in the first few ballots before any conclusion can be drawn. In other words there is nothing so elusive as the claims of managers about unstructured delegations. The Lowden strength is by no means inconsiderable and there is a very friendly understanding between the friends of former Governor Lowden and the supporters of Vice-President Daves.

Three blocks of votes—one for Hoover, another for the Lowden-Daves combination and a third unstructured and on the fence still describes the republican situation, with a probability that the first and third blocks can by coalition dominate the whole convention; for it is the Coolidge wing of the party that is in control, and dominant.

Honolulu Democrats Will Support Smith

Honolulu, Apr. 26—(AP)—Delegates to the Democratic territorial convention late today instructed their six representatives to the national convention at Houston, Tex., to support the presidential nomination candidacy of Gov. A. E. Smith, New York.

The decision to support Smith came after a two-hour argument over the exact terms of the instructions.

Fire Endangers Milwaukee Banks

Milwaukee, Apr. 26—(AP)—Fire in the Black building, a five-story structure in the business section here early tonight temporarily endangered three bank buildings, but was soon brought under control after the walls of the building collapsed.

The Marshall and Halsey bank roof caught fire but little damage was done. The blaze also spread to the fourth and fifth floors of the Trust Company bank, but were confined without great damage. Smoke and flames from the Black building made a vivid flare against the skyscrapers. No one was injured. The cause, and amount of damage is undetermined.

One man was carried unconscious from the fourteenth floor of the Trust Company building by firemen. He was overcome by smoke. Five firemen were catapulted into the Milwaukee river when a wall collapsed, dumping a temporary walk into the stream.

Portrait of Negro Concert Artist Is in Salon Display

Paris, Apr. 26—(AP)—One of the conspicuous features of the French salon of 1928 is a portrait of Josephine Baker, the American negro concert hall artist. President Doumergue who paid a visit to the salon today, saw the portrait, which was one of many displayed, among them King Gustav of Sweden, Gen. Smith-Dorrien, Marshal Lyautey and Cardinal Dubois, and it provoked a wide presidential smile. The portrait is by Mariette Leslie Cotton of New York.

Gilbert White, Alexander Harrison and Paul Bernadine were among the other American exhibitors whose works attracted much attention.

Five Killed, Two Hurt When Train Strikes Automobile

Coshocton, O., Apr. 26—(AP)—Three women and two children were killed and a man injured, perhaps fatally, when their automobile was struck by a fast Pennsylvania passenger train at Cosneville, near here, tonight.

The dead: Mrs. Charles Lopley, 50, Coshocton, Sarah, 7, and John, 9, her children. Mrs. Carl Lopley, 25, her daughter-in-law, and Mrs. Sidney Turner, 30, also of Coshocton. Charles Lopley, 53, was taken to a Coshocton hospital, and was not expected to live.

New York.—Just why it is or how they manage to do it, I do not pretend to know.

But the fact remains that old folk manage to survive in the carbon monoxide-soft coal-laden air of Manhattan quite as well as they do in the fragrant, clover-perfumed ozone of the pastoral places.

If the hectic pace of the great city is an enemy of longevity, certainly the statistics fail to show it. I have at hand the figures of a big life insurance company which shows New York to have far more than its quota of octogenarians. There are something like 6000 who have reached the age of 85 or better, and more than 300 who are more than 95. This, one might argue, is no more than a city of some seven million souls should have. Chicago has but half this number. And quiet Philadelphia can do little better. Peaceful, sea-breezed Boston has 1410 and other cities range along accordingly.

Bobby flappers of 70 are common in Gotham, and hundreds of them go to business daily, fighting their way through the crowds and taking their chances in the subway. The business districts are filled with important business figures of 75 and better who daily go to their offices. Chauncey Depew seldom missed a day at his desk in the Grand Central annex, and once told me that the rush and bustle outside his window helped to keep him young.

I never have seen old folks who seemed to get quite such a kick out of disturbance and turmoil as those of this metropolis. You'll see them about the highways at all hours of the night. They studded with them.

Particularly is this problem of longevity perplexing when applied to the ghetto. Venerable patriarchs hover over their push carts in fair weather—and foul. Cluttered in groups about the sidewalks of the East Side are patriarchal fellows whose ages seem to run anywhere from 70 to 100.

I recall, about a year ago, a moving picture director who started out to get a few ancients for "atmosphere." He placed an ad in a newspaper, emphasizing that "East Side types" were particularly desirable. The next day he was swamped. Practically every man who showed up was more than 75, and eager to get a job.

Just how they survive the discomforts of the tenement districts, I have no idea. Perhaps, as in the primeval forest, the conflict with nature makes for hardihood. Or perhaps the life of New York inoculates one against its ills. For myself, I recall no place where it seems easier to grow weary and where mere existence seems to make greater demands upon the energy.

ASK HOUSE TO MAKE INQUIRY

New Charges Representative Violated Franking Privileges

Washington, Apr. 26—(AP)—Postmaster General New was asked today by the house naval committee to investigate alleged violation of the congressional franking privilege of one of its Democratic members, McClinton of Oklahoma, by Frederick J. Libby, executive secretary of the National Council for the Prevention of War.

The request was tendered in a letter by Representative Andrew, Republican, Massachusetts, which yesterday voted to refer the matter to the department rather than conduct an inquiry itself.

Andrew said that the investigation was desired in view of the misuse "indicated in the affidavit and accompanying documents." He explained that an affidavit sworn to by Harold M. Weeks of Westley Hills, Mass., was to the effect that Weeks had received in an unstamped envelope bearing McClinton's frank, a report opposing the new warship construction program by McClinton, which was frankable, and five other documents which were not frankable. Andrew outlined the five alleged unfrankable documents as follows:

A letter on the stationery of the national council signed by Libby, appealing for $100,000 to carry on the organization's work; a subscription card; a return envelope; a pamphlet telling of the council's work; and another pamphlet giving the names of the council's officers and appealing for co-operation with the council in its work.

Andrew said that the committee accepted without question McClinton's statement that he had turned over 20,000 sealed and unaddressed envelopes to Libby containing nothing but his report.

Alters His Statement.

The national council recently denied that it had violated the franking privilege and joined with McClinton in demanding an investigation.

Meanwhile, McClinton today took the house floor and attacked Andrew as a "snooper" and said he had welcomed the committee's investigation as he knew it would head off the "rattlesnake" to show his head. At the meeting, he added, he was confronted with the affidavit by Andrew.

Representative Crompton, Republican, Michigan, objected to McClinton's remarks and the Oklahoma withdrew the statement and said that in place of the words "snooper" and "rattlesnake" he would use the words "the member who had resorted to questionable procedure."

Crompton said that still was "pretty strong" but let him continue. McClinton then retorted his demand to be confronted by the accuser and offered to pay his railroad fare to Washington.

Representatives Woodruff, Republican, Michigan, and Vinson, Democrat, Georgia, both committee members, defended Andrew and said that he had at no time accused McClinton of being responsible for the alleged act.

WOMAN WAS ALL RUN-DOWN

Helped By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Evanville, Ind.—"I am writing to tell you how grateful I am that there is such a medicine as yours for sale in our stores. I could hardly drag around. I was all run-down. I have taken 12 bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound so far and am going to take it until I am well. My friends notice the change in my appearance and my husband said today that I am looking so much better and he wants me to continue taking it. I hope to help all women who are run-down and suffer from nervousness by recommending your medicine."—Mrs. Victoria N. Schlemmer, 44 Hazel Avenue, Evanville, Indiana.

FIRE IS FOE OF REFORESTATION

young growth had no value. Now we realize that this young growth is made up of millions of young trees which will form the forests of the future.

Forces Organized.

Forest fire control in Michigan is in the hands of the Forest Fire Division of the State Conservation Department, with Chief Fire Warden H. J. Andrews in direct charge. The Michigan National Forest and each state forest has its own fire fighting organization.

Chief Andrews' has his fire forces organized in what is called the fire zone of Michigan, which includes all land north of a line drawn from Bay City to Muskegon and comprises about 20 million acres of land.

There are three distinct parts of the fire problem:

1. Fire prevention.
2. Preparedness for fires which may occur.
3. Actual fire fighting for suppression.

Prevention of fires is the most important part of the problem.

All through northern Michigan you will find signs posting, warning smokers and campers and all others about the careful use of fire in the woods. Fire wardens are sent out to see that they are obeyed and to see that they are obeyed. Fire wardens are sent out to see that they are obeyed and to see that they are obeyed.

Key Men Employed.

In preparedness for fires, the state employs 250 regular men during the summer months as fire wardens. It appoints some 770 keymen in various townships who organize local fire fighting crews. The state has 32 fire towers and the federal government has 4. In the fire towers men are on watch every day during the fire season. When a fire is detected, warning is given by telephone and fire crews are at once rushed to fight the flames.

Fire fighting tools including shovels, axes, portable water pumps, power pumps, water cans, hoses, torches, plows, and trucks are kept in readiness for service.

When fires do come, it is the aim of the Fire Service to get men on every fire as rapidly as possible and to put the fire completely out. Various methods are used. The men may smother the fire by throwing sand all along the edge, or they may use the five-gallon pumps to play a stream of water upon it. If they have a team and a plow handy, they may plow a furrow around the fire and hem it in. For fire in the ground, such as in dry muck or peat, they may use a power pump with hose if there is a source of water.

Eternal Vigilance.

No matter what method is used it is hot, dirty, hard work. If some of the persons who carelessly set fires in the woods were compelled to fight them, they might learn to use more care in the future. Every loyal man and woman, boy and girl, who is a friend of the forest, will be careful not to start a forest fire by carelessness in the woods or along the roads. Each will strive to put out every fire he sees spreading or liable to spread. And it is a large fire, will at once notify the authorities through the nearest telephone.

Michigan's new forests can be saved from fire, but only if every son and daughter and guest of Michigan is vigilant in guarding against the Red Dragon.

Bootleggers Beat Drayman When His Wagon Blocks Way

Detroit, Apr. 26—(AP)—Charles Dell, a dray hauler, was seriously beaten today by two bootleggers fleeing from federal dry agents when his wagon and team blocked their escape through an alley with a truck load of beer.

The bootleggers, pursued, drove into the alley where Dell was unloading and attacked him when he refused to move his wagon to permit them to pass. They fled and escaped before the federal agents arrived and seized their truck of beer.

Dell was taken to a hospital suffering from internal injuries and a badly battered head.

Blossoms Assured for Spring Fete

St. Joseph, Mich., Apr. 26—(AP)—Blossoms for "blossom week" in southwestern Michigan, beginning May 6, were virtually assured today when orchards began flowering.

If the weather continues warm, the orchards will be in full bloom when blossom week opens, Harry J. Lukins, district horticulturist, said.

FOX HINTS OF DAMAGE SUIT

Sends Lloyd Bill for $603 for Death of Demented Horse

M. J. Fox of Iron Mountain, who admitted ownership of the horse that jumped out of the palatial observation gallery of a stock car, causing considerable damage to the Chicago & North-Western right-of-way, still insists that the railway company owes the Van-Platten-Fox company money.

The first installments of the story were printed in the Press recently. Another chapter was added yesterday when Frank R. Lloyd, superintendent of the Peninsula Division, received the following communication from Mr. Fox:

"Mr. Frank Lloyd, Supt., Chicago & North-Western, Escanaba, Mich.
Dear Sir:

"I am enclosing bill for $603 for horse and interest, on account for 30 days. This is a legitimate bill. I have tried driving horses along the side of your tracks and the animals become scared and run away because of the noisy condition of the locomotive and equipment. I have tried crossing the tracks and the teamster could not tell whether the passenger train was moving or not, with fatal results. I also tried crossing the track personally and got swept off by the snow plow and will be a cripple for life in my right arm. This happened when F. J. Byington was superintendent and the equipment was in a noiseless condition. Today I can't beat Bill Bonifas or Matt Smith playing golf.

"I never presented a bill for any of these claims. I never will as I considered myself and the horses were more to blame than the locomotive.

"After all of these experiences I decided to ride the horses on the path and this has proved a failure. They all became septic and one jumped overboard for reasons mentioned previously—hence the bill.

"We have to pay our freight bill every night in cash—why must we wait 30 days?

"What business had the Western Weighing Association mixing up in this tragedy? I had supposed the function was to pose to weigh iron ore, ashes, ice, logs, safety pins, needles, etc., satisfactorily to the public. I did not know that Mr. Haldeman was a horse doctor. If he is, he has no license to doctor in Michigan, for I have looked up the records. I agree that he has a license to weigh horses, but this is an intra-state, not an inter-state affair.

"Furthermore, what right has John Norton of the Escanaba Press to use my name to depreciate our property in the manner he has? I had no idea that he

PREPARE FOR CHILD CLINIC

Doctors and Dentists of City to Cooperate With P. T. A.

Parent-Teacher associations of the city will have the co-operation of physicians and dentists of Escanaba when they hold their pre-school clinic in the city hall, May 1.

The day's activities here will be a part of the nation-wide observance of Child Health Day. It is believed that scores of children of pre-school age will be examined at the city hall on May 1, and that the examinations will pave the way for the children to enter school next fall without any of the physical handicaps which so often retard progress of boys and girls before they are detected and corrected.

The Parent-Teacher associations of the city have been preparing for the event for some time, and are confident that it will be one of the most successful children's clinics ever conducted here.

Medical Examining Board Set Up Here by Pension Bureau

Washington, April 26 (Special)—Three Escanaba physicians—Dr. John J. Welch, Dr. A. S. Kitchen and Dr. Harry J. Defnet—have been appointed as members of the proposed board of examining surgeons which the United States bureau of pensions expects to establish in Escanaba.

The appointments were made at the suggestion of Congressman Frank P. Bohn, who has taken a lively interest in the activities of the Bureau of Pensions in his district. Winfield Scott, director of the bureau, announced today that preparatory papers had been mailed to the three doctors for their consideration.

The board, Mr. Scott said, would have charge of examinations of all persons who file claims with the bureau.

HOOPER AND NO OTHER.

Michigan Republicans want Herbert Hoover for president. There can be no doubt or question about that.

When Governor Fred W. Green told the convention at Detroit Thursday that "any delegate from Michigan who is not for Hoover from first to last has no excuse for surviving," he was vociferously cheered.

The unity of the party, in this state, in its support of Hoover is so convincing that the Kansas City delegates will have not the slightest excuse for bolting to another candidate at any stage of the balloting.

The endorsement of Senator Arthur Vandenberg and Governor Fred Green for reelection to the offices they now hold also were received with expressions of satisfaction by Republicans of this territory.

MR. DEMPSEY WINS.

Mr. William Harrison Dempsey does not owe Mr. Jack Kearns $500,000. It took a jury in a New York federal court a little more than four hours to decide that no contract existed.

Mr. Kearns found Mr. Dempsey in a box car and transformed him from a hobo to a box-fighter. He nursed him, tutored him and picked the soft ones for him.

These figures speak for themselves. Industry is realizing that the health of its employes must be safeguarded. It is an encouraging sign.

GIRL ALONE

CHAPTER XXXV

As long as she lived, Sally Ford would remember with shame that for one moment she was tempted by Arthur Van Horne's offer to prepare her for a stage career in New York.

During their first week in the new territory business was even better than the Bybess had dared hope. Positively the only calamity that befell the carnival was the discovery that Babe, the fat girl, had lost five pounds.

On Wednesday David was permitted to get up, and that afternoon for the first time he witnessed Sally's performance as "Princess Lalla." She had become so proficient in her intuitions regarding "past, present and future" that his smiling, amused attentiveness to her "readings" did not embarrass her.

When the show was over, she joined him proudly, her little brown-painted hands clinging to his arm, her face uplifted adoringly to his, as she pattered at his side on a tour of the midway.

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday morning before show time the two wandered about the village to which the carnival had journeyed the night before.

With money in their pockets, they could afford to buy all the necessities and little luxuries which their enforced flight from the Carson farm had deprived them of.

They were in the still-deserted Palace of Wonders, their purchases spread out on Sally's platform. "Give me your hand, and shut your eyes," David commanded gently, with a throb of excitement in his voice.

She obeyed, but when she felt a ring being slipped upon the third finger of her left hand her eyes flew open and found a sapphire to match them.

"Oh, David, is it an engagement ring?" she breathed, then flung herself upon his breast, her hands clung to his shoulders.

"Of course it is, precious idiot!" he laughed. Very gently but insistently he forced her face upward, so that their eyes met and clung.

As the day wore on, with show after show drawing record crowds for a village of its size, "Princess Lalla" raved more often into the shining blue depths of a small sapphire than into the magic depths of her crystal.

At half-past nine that night Gus, the barker, had not quite finished his "spiel" about the Princess Lalla when the girl, whose eyes had been fixed trance-like upon her ring, saw a woman suddenly begin to ascend the steps to the platform.

Before he started eyes had traveled upward to the woman's face Sally knew who it was. For 12 years that big, stiffly corseted, severely dressed body had been as familiar to her as her own.

CHAPTER XXXVI Sally felt as if her flesh were shriveling upon her bones. An actual numbness spread from her shoulders to her fingertips, in anticipation of the shock of feeling the Orphans' Home matron's grip upon them.

Gus, the barker, who always remained upon the platform during her "readings," had long ago started to her feet those broad, heavy hands when she had caught in some minor infringement of Mrs. Stone's stern rules!

BIRD HOUSE CONTEST ENDS

Wallace Chase of Franklin School Awarded First Prize

Wallace Chase, an eighth grade student of the Franklin school, was awarded the first prize of two dollars in the birdhouse contest conducted by the Escanaba Woman's club. There were 21 entries in the competition, all of which were on display at the Delta Insurance Agency office.

The winning entry was a large green and white martin house of eight rooms, with porch and porch railing. Second prize went to the house made by Wilfred Mayville of St. Anne's eighth grade class. It was a dark green martin house trimmed with white. The second prize was one dollar.

The third prize house was made by Paul Coan, an eighth grade pupil of St. Joseph's parochial school. It was a very attractive rustic wren house, while the fourth prize was awarded to Gordon Huite, an eighth grader of the Franklin school, who built a birdhouse of birch. The two youths also received each a dollar.

This used up the five dollars, donated by the Woman's club, and as there was one more birdhouse wren house deserving of a prize, seventy-five cents was given by the committee for it. Several of the houses are for sale at reasonable prices and are still on exhibit.

The judges were Mrs. George F. McEwin, Mrs. William J. Clark and Ray Shaw. The judges wish to especially commend the boys of St. Joseph's school, who although they have no manual training department, entered 16 out of the 21 birdhouses in the contest.

The committee found it difficult to decide just which were the best exhibits as all of them were closely matched from the standpoint of design and construction.

BOYS SCORE BIG SUCCESS AT FLAT ROCK

The two hundred or more persons who attended the entertainment given at Flat Rock at the township hall last night, under the auspices of the choir of Holy Family church, were unanimous in their pronouncement that the program presented was one of the finest ever given in the Flat Rock community.

Miss Julia Duranceau of Flat Rock and Miss Adrienne Tompkins of this city formulated the plans for the entertainment and the cast of St. Patrick's boys' minstrels and other artists rendered an excellent program. Last night's entertainment was the twenty-first appearance of these young amateurs and many more requests have been made for their minstrel to be given in nearby towns.

After the program, various amusements took place and the large crowd left for their homes greatly pleased with the excellent program and enjoyable evening.

The ensemble singing was artistically distinct and perfectly blended and the piano accompaniments by Miss Catherine Flagstad were excellent. Added features on the program were also greatly applauded and the young performers were happy in being able to help a good cause along, as the proceeds were for the benefit of Holy Family church.

Several cars conveyed the performers to the hall where they were greeted by the residents of Flat Rock who gave them a hearty welcome.

AT THE DELFT.

There are comparatively few men living whose names are in American histories, and few of those who are alive are concerned with the motion picture industry, but there is one—Jack Ganshorn—who appears in Zane Grey's "Under the Tonto Rim" featuring Mary Brian and Richard Arlen, coming to the Delft today, who is an exception.

Ganshorn, actor, soldier of fortune and warrior, became an historical character when he joined in the hunt for Aguinaldo in the Philippines years ago. As a member of General Frederick Funston's fighters, Ganshorn won fame through his exploit of jumping his horse over an eighteen-foot embankment in the near capture of General LaCana, one of Aguinaldo's aides.

Ganshorn's name has been placed in historical records, and he is mentioned prominently in "Memoirs of Two Wars," written by General Funston.

Ganshorn is a typical soldier of fortune, having been a Texas and an Apache ranger, a member of the 34th Volunteer Infantry in the Philippines, a scout in China, a secret service agent for the Southern Pacific railroad in Mexico and then a United States secret service agent, as well as a deputy sheriff and a marshal in various western states.

The young man may be charged with driving away an automobile without permission, in connection with his driving away his father's car on Sunday. When he returned from Whitefish, where he had spent the day, young Roberts abandoned the automobile on the street a few blocks from his home. The car was reported as stolen and the police department was put to considerable expense in notifying surrounding communities to be on the lookout for the automobile.

EXHAUST GAS OF AUTOS IS TINGED WITH POISON

There no longer is any doubt that automobile exhaust gas is poisonous. Like all other poisons the matter of dosage is important, since small doses of poisons can be handled by the body, whereas large doses may produce serious effects.

The most serious of all of the substances in automobile exhaust gas is the dangerous carbon monoxide, which displaces oxygen in the blood and thereby produces asphyxiation.

Drs. J. J. Bloomfield and H. S. Isbell of the United States Public Health Service have undertaken an investigation of the problem of automobile exhaust gas in streets and in repair shops. The amount of carbon monoxide is dependent on the adjustment of the carburetor.

In the Cities

In the studies made during 1927, 14 of the largest cities of the country were visited and 250 samples of air were obtained. The average of 141 tests made in city streets at peak hours of traffic showed a contamination of 0.8 parts of carbon monoxide per 10,000 parts of air. Only 24 per cent of all of the samples had more than one part of carbon monoxide in 10,000 of air. Samples taken inside of auto-buses yielded even a lower concentration of carbon monoxide gas.

Investigations made by the New York and New Jersey state bridge and tunnel commission indicate that a maximum of four parts of carbon monoxide in 10,000 of air is permissible, provided the person is not exposed for a period as long as one hour. An equation was developed representing the time of exposure in hours multiplied by the concentration in parts of carbon monoxide per 10,000 parts of air. If this equation equals three, there is no perceptible effect; if it equals six, the effect is just perceptible; if it exceeds twelve, it is dangerous. A bench warrant issued by Judge Bell, charging non-support, Ovila King was arrested in Iron Mountain yesterday and brought to the county jail here. He will be arranged before Judge Bell when the Delta county circuit court reconvenes here, May 7.

Rummage Sale: A Rummage Sale will be held by the Swedish Methodist Ladies' Aid society tomorrow morning at the basement of the church, corner 1st Ave. So. and 13th street. An assortment of many useful things will be offered for sale. The sale opens at 9 o'clock a. m.

Iron Trade Review

Cleveland, O., Apr. 26—Consumers of finished steel continue to buy sparingly, being well protected a short distance ahead or inclined toward conservatism for price or seasonal reasons, and this policy is beginning to cast its shadows over the production end of the industry, says Iron Trade Review, of Cleveland. Only a wave of buying in the final days of the month could have sustained operations at the high levels that carried over from March, and this has not developed nor is in prospect.

A checkered situation is in the making, as one result, Pittsburgh district ingot production has slipped from 85 to 80 per cent. Chicago holds at 95 per cent, but the blowing in of a steelworks blast stack there is meaningless because one is being dropped this week. Finishing mill operations in the Mahoning valley have risen coincident with curtailed ingot output. Buffalo, at 85 per cent, is off slightly. Steel corporation subsidiaries are unchanged at 88 to 90 per cent.

When current activity is measured against last April and the tendency of the second quarter to ease off is considered, the factors of strength are dominant. More pig iron and finished steel apparently are being produced and shipped this month than a year ago, prices are higher than in last April despite the present unsettlement, and order books of most producers are heavier than at this time last year.

Automotive production ebbs and flows according to individual manufacturers but continues the chief outlet for iron and steel. Ford business on broadening, without yet having materially affected demand from competing makers. Railroad pressure for speedy delivery of tray material is unabated, and in the past week car buying has been fair. Farm implement interests have not yet dropped into the lull between the tillage and harvesting equipment periods. Building steel awards are at the seasonal average, with large inquiry promising important gains. Steel bar, plate and shape orders and specifications at Chicago and Pittsburgh contrast with shipments, in the case of bars at Chicago being not over half. Consumption, however, has not tapered off to this extent. Fabricators in most districts have not received awards warranting heavier taking of plain material. Heavy steel has settled to 1.85c at Pittsburgh, while at Chicago the mills seek to hold at 2.00c.

Sheet mill operations in the Mahoning valley have been increased from 75 to 83 per cent this week in response to heavier specifying, while at Pittsburgh some capacity has been taken off. Buying at Chicago and in the east is light. The sheet price situation is spotty, tending toward weakness. Tonnage buyers are shading 2.00c, Pittsburgh, on blue annealed, 2.75c on black and 3.65c on galvanized.

Pittsburgh district makers of hot and cold-rolled strip note a gentle recession in specifications from automotive users. Concessions have developed at Chicago on the wider sizes of hot rolled. Cold bar-finners also have less business from the automotive industry. Minor price fluctuations have neutralized themselves this week, leaving the Iron Trade Review composite of fourteen leading iron and steel products unchanged at $35.56. Last month this barometer stood at $35.51 and a year ago at $38.72.

MANY ROOMS TO BE NEEDED

K. C. Housing Committee Starts Canvass of Homes in City

A canvass of the homes in Escanaba was started by members of the Knights of Columbus council this week in an effort to determine how many rooms will be available for use by delegates to the state K. C. convention to be held here June 18 and 19.

All persons who will have rooms to rent at that time are urged to notify the K. C. club, telephone 25. James Frenn, chairman of the general arrangements committee, reports that he has noted several persons having the mistaken idea that free housing facilities are being sought. Mr. Frenn states that the rooms will be paid for by the delegates using them at the prices bargained for, and there is no intention to secure free accommodations.

The housing committee has compiled quite a large list of available rooms, but the number will have to be greatly increased to accommodate the large delegations coming here.

Stage

BY LEONARD HALL

For NEA Service New York.—Those well-known Ohio boys, the Nugents, have written themselves another show, "The Breaks," and this week it is being acted right here on Broadway.

This is one of the most unusual playwrighting teams active in the theater. Usually Mr. Trade meets Mr. Mark in a Times Square whisper-low, and one says to the other, over benches of sputtering crack-filler, "Let's do a show." They forthwith pick a title with the word "love" in it, and the drama is practically on the market.

Not so the Nugents. It is a strictly closed corporation, with J. C. "Pop" Nugent and Elliott "Sonny" Nugent as sole proprietors. Moreover, they not only write 'em, they act 'em. Ruth Nugent, pretty ingenue sister, works in them, too, and once it was rumored that Ma herself would act in a Nugent play, though it came to naught. I suspect that poor relations set properties and pull curtains.

Home-Town Flavor Nugent shows are remarkable because these two men, almost alone among writers for the Broadway stage, can mix an authentic home-folksy, town-hall flavor with the shrewd tricks and lingo of the popular stage. They are in reality writers of American folk plays for the commercial theater.

The reason is not far to seek. The fact is that the Nugent trio is simply a sweet, small town Ohio family that happens to be making a living in the theater. For many years Pa Nugent tramped the vaudeville theaters of the Republic. During these years Ma Nugent was bringing up the young 'uns and packing young Elliott off to Ohio State University.

Comedy Was a Hit

About five years ago Pa Nugent, weary of the endless road, crashed Broadway with the first play—a charming little comedy called "Kempy," of the whatnot and hair-cloth-sofa school.

It rang true. It was real—it possessed a genuine homely charm, and it achieved a very sizable success for such a modest piece of work by obscure authors. Pa, Elliott and Ruthie all acted in it.

Elliott had a great success later in "The Poor Nut," a play about college life in which he drew largely upon his knowledge of life at the state university. Their new play, "The Breaks," is not quite so happy, being a melodramatic tragedy with its locale the more remote reaches of the state of Texas. None the less, the Nugent qualities shine through—the knack for pungent, homely atmosphere and the ability to write sure-fire, surprising lines that snap and sting.

It is one thing to see a horse-hair sofa comedy written by a Broadwayite who wouldn't know one hair off or on horseback, and quite another to witness the same turned out by a man who probably did his courting on one!

Spanish Shawl Fad Started by Working Women of Madrid

Madrid, Spain.—(AP)—A majority of the Spanish shawls bought by wealthy travelers to wear at the opera or at other society functions were at one time the property of Spanish working girls.

Most of them have spent years in the pawshop, afterward falling into the hands of dealers when their former owners were unable to pay the interest on the loans or died before saving sufficient money to redeem them.

The "Spanish" shawl is not at all Spanish. It came originally from China to the Philippines, and thence was carried to Spain by the first Spaniards who occupied public offices in the colony.

Spanish women love colorful objects and they used their new shawls on all possible occasions such as weddings, bullfights and religious processions, saints' days and family festivals. The shawl eventually became so popular that the wealthier class who first used it abandoned it to the populace.

Working class girls saved up their money in order to acquire a shawl before the day of their wedding.

With the arrival of the short skirt, shawls have gone out of fashion in Spain, together with the classic high comb, but many are retained in wardrobes for use at national festivals.

U. P. LUTHERANS BACK DRY LAW

Resolutions Adopted by Convention Denounce Wet Agitation

Swedish Lutherans of the upper peninsula, at the convention held recently in Norway, emphatically expressed their support of prohibition and the Anti-Saloon League, and vigorously denounced those who are seeking a modification or repeal of the present prohibition laws.

The resolutions follow:

"Eternal vigilance is the price of peace. Likewise eternal vigilance is the price of Sobriety."

"The merchandising liquor forces have as yet not been subdued and conquered. They are carrying on their warfare secretly and openly. The subsidized newspapers and magazines faithfully serve the liquor interests. Too often political graft honeycombs the enforcement office. City and municipal administrations connive with or tolerate the moonshine vendors. Many in so-called high society welcome, encourage and patronize the illegal traffic."

"Falsely, the Eighteenth Amendment is charged with the crime of lawlessness and increase. All with the one purpose and object to bring into disrepute and discredit the prohibition movement for a final and sweeping change and annulment."

"We charge all our members to duly inform themselves and face the actual facts which are not such as the subsidized press and moonshine grafters herald and propound, but the very opposite."

"The Christian churches have put the legalized, licensed saloon out of business. It is up to the church members and the moral, law-abiding element to fight, subdue and smother everywhere the lawless, moonshine, alcohol, wine traffic."

"The Anti-Saloon League is being black-mailed, defamed and damned. All with the one purpose to undermine and put out of commission the strongest and most effective enemy of the liquor traffic. The enemy of law and order is cunning and resourceful."

"Therefore be it resolved that the Superior Conference again unequivocally urge all its members not to be swayed from their course but to continue to stand by, defend and support the Anti-Saloon League and the forces of righteousness, law and order and to vote only for such officials for public office as can be trusted to enforce the law and uphold the constitution of our land."

"Resolved, That we favor all honest efforts towards the promotion of peace and the outlawing of war. That we protest against all propaganda and unwarranted preparation for war, whether on the part of the government or private corporations, organizations and individuals."

Distinguished Lutherans Will Appear on Augustana College Rally Program

Rev. C. O. Bengtson of Chicago.

DR. I. M. ANDERSON.

Several hundred workers in the appeal for $1,500,000 by Augustana college, Rock Island, Ill., will meet in Bethany Lutheran church, Escanaba, at two o'clock Sunday afternoon, April 29, and will hear Dr. Julius Lincoln, traveling secretary of the national Lutheran Brotherhood, followed an hour later by a general meeting to which both workers and other friends of the Greater Augustana College campaign are invited.

A quartet of Augustana college students will be present and both meetings will present a number of pleasing songs.

"Gus brought me," she piped in her matter-of-fact, precise little voice. "Get to your packing, Sally, while I'm talking. But you might kiss me first, if you don't mind. I don't usually like for people to kiss me first, but you've changed my mind as she saw tears well in Sally's hunted blue eyes. "This money is for you and David. He's going with you, of course?"

"Yes," Sally acknowledged proudly, as her fingers dug deep into a can of theatrical cold cream. "But we won't need the money, Betty. Please—"

"Don't be silly!" little Miss Tanner admonished her severely. "Gus sent the word around the tent and everybody chipped in. Jan cleaned the boys at poker last night and he contributed $20. I think there's nearly a hundred altogether. Gus gave $20, and Bof-

Augustana Endowment Rally Will Be Held Here Sunday

Preparatory for a campaign for funds for Augustana college in the churches of the Superior Conference, a workers conference will be held in the Bethany Lutheran church of this city next Sunday afternoon. Workers committees from all churches within the Green Bay district of the conference will convene in this city at 2:45 p. m. It is expected that about 250 men and women will attend this meeting.

At 3:45 p. m. a mass meeting will be held in the church auditorium. A large number of people from churches throughout the district have signified their intention to attend this meeting. Speakers who will address this meeting are Dr. Julius Lincoln and Rev. C. O. Bengtson of Chicago, Prof. I. M. Anderson of Rock Island and Mrs.

is looked forward to with a great deal of interest.

Other speakers, mentioned above, who will speak at the mass meeting have been drafted for this task because of their outstanding qualifications as speakers and leaders. Hence, messages will be heard from each of them that serve the purpose of inspiring their hearers to heroic action.

Rev. C. Albert Lund, pastor of Bethany Lutheran church of this city, will serve as chairman of both sessions Sunday afternoon.

CONSTIPATION PREYS ON HEALTH

You can overcome it with ALL-BRAN

If you are troubled with constipation, read Mrs. Hogan's letter below. It came to us unsolicited—a message of relief to every sufferer:

February 12, 1927

"I want to tell you how much good your ALL-BRAN has done me. It surely can't be beat for constipation. I have tried every kind of medicine and never in my whole life have been relieved until one of my neighbors told me to try Bran. So I bought a box and read about your ALL-BRAN and thought I would see what it would do—and it surely did help me. I will never be without it in the house again."

1215 Clay St., Topeka, Kansas.

Constipation is almost universal. The cause of more than forty diseases. Dizziness, aching back, discolored eyes, bad complexion, are only a few of its symptoms.

Guard against it. Start tomorrow eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Two tablespoons daily—chronic cases, with every meal. Guaranteed. Doctors recommend it.

ranged a code signal of distress, and now she gave it. Her hands went up to the ridiculous crown of fake jewels that banded her long black hair and adjusted it, tipping it first to the right and then to the left, as if to ease the pressure of its weight upon her forehead.

That very natural gesture told Gus more plainly than words that "Princess Lalla" was in danger and asked him to use his ingenuity to rescue her. There was no need for her to lift her eyes to him. Jerkily her hands came down, hovered over the crystal, and before Mrs. Stone could voice another harsh complaint, the singsong voice which "Princess Lalla" used was requesting "ze ladde" to sit down in the chair opposite.

But what should she tell Mrs. Stone, with whose personality and history she had been familiar for 12 years? If she dared to read "past, present and future" with any degree of accuracy, the matron would be startled into observing the "seeress" with those twinkling eyes of her. If she went too wide of the mark in generalities, Mrs. Stone was entirely capable of raising a disturbance which would ruin business for the rest of the day.

"Well, what do you see—if anything?" Mrs. Stone demanded angrily.

That gave Sally her cue. Bending low over the crystal, so that her face was within a few inches of that of the woman who sat opposite her, with only the crystal stand between them, she pretended to peer into the depths of the glass ball. Then slowly she began to shake her head regretfully.

"Princess Lalla is so—so sorry—the small, singsong voice was raised a bit, so that Gus, who had strolled leisurely across the platform to take his stand behind Sally's chair, creyestall she sees—"but ze tell me nossing about ze dark. She tell la-ladde. Sometimes it ze nice, ze gen-tle-man weel give ze money back."

The thin little shoulders under the green satin jacket shrugged eloquently, the little brown hands spread themselves with a gesture of helplessness and regret.

"Glad to refund your money, lady!" Gus said gaily. "Here you are! Better luck next time! Princess Lalla is the gen-tle-est creature! If she don't see nothing in the crystal for you, she don't lastray you along—right here, lastray! Here's your money back—"

Sally leaned back in her chair, weak with relief, her eyes closed, as Gus tried to urge her nemeses from the platform. In a moment the danger would be over—

Then, so quickly was it done that Sally had not the slightest chance to shield her eyes, a hand had snatched the little black lace veil from her face. Terror-widened sapphire eyes stared, with betraying recognition, into narrowed, angry gray-ones. Mrs. Stone nodded with grim satisfaction.

"So Betsey was right! If that idiotic Amelia Pond had told me while the carnival was still in Capital City, I've have saved this trip. Get up from there, Sally!"

A shriek from the throat of a woman in the audience, which was packed densely about the platform, interrupted the matron, successfully diverting the attention of the curious from the puzzling drama upon the platform.

"I've been robbed! Help! Po-ills into her hand—"and don't ever let on to Pop Bybee that I helped you get away. Goodbye, honey. Good luck. You're a great kid. All right folks! Excitement's all over! It gives me great pleasure to introduce to you the smallest and prettiest little lady in the world. We call her 'Pitty Sing,' and I don't reckon I have to tell you why—"

"Five minutes later Sally was covering against the rear wall of Eddie Cobb's gambling-wheel cession, pouring out her story to David, to whom she had fled as soon as Gus had tolled the crowd away from her platform.

"And she recognized me, David!" the girl sobbed, the palms of her trembling hands pressed against her face. "I was so startled when she tore my veil off that I couldn't pretend any longer. As soon as she gets away from the 'schillers' she'll see the real constable on my trail. Gus told me to beat it—oh, David! What's going to become of me—and you? Oh! And she choked on the sobs that were tearing at her throat.

"Why, darling child, we're going to beat it," as Gus advised. Of course! We've 'beat it' together before. Listen, honey! Stop crying and listen. Go to the dressing room, get your make-up off, change your clothes and make a small bundle of things you'll need, and I'll join you there, just outside the door flaps. In not more than 10 minutes. I've got to get my money from Pop Bybee—"

"He'll stop you!" Sally wailed despairingly. "He'll make us both stay—"

"Nothing can stop me," he promised her grimly. "And he'll give me my money, too, if I have to take it away from him. But it'll be all right. Now run, and for heaven's sake, darling, don't let these 'rubes' see you crying. Smile for David," he coaxed, tilting her chin with a forefinger. When her lips wavered uncertainly, he bent swiftly and kissed her. "Poor little sweetheart! There's nothing to be afraid of. Gus will see that the 'schillers' give us plenty of time, even if he has to call in a real cop and have Mrs. Stone arrested on a fake charge. Now, walk to the dress tent, and I'll be there before you're ready."

When Sally reached the dress tent she found "Pitty Sing" perch-

IN NEW YORK

New York—Wall Street has outgrown such romantic individuals as "bet-you-a-million" Gates, or Jim Keane or Jay Gould. The vast financial changes that have been made since their time make it difficult for any person to rise into national prominence for more than a few seconds. The person is now subordinated to the huge financial scheme.

Fabulous tales that brought gasps in the day of a Gates, a Harriman or a Gould are now commonplace. Men whose names are unknown now undertake bigger deals than these old-timers ever dreamed about. During such a financial flurry as recently visited "the street," hundreds of anonymous ones stepped out of their obscurity to figure in headlines which would have brought newspaper scare-heads in Harriman's time.

And whereas those oldsters of the financial kingdom became almost fictional personalities and were known from one end of the nation to the other, the present-day crop prefers to remain in the background. What these modern generals eat for breakfast and how many yachts they sail no longer is a part of their camouflage.

In those good old days each passing whim was recorded, but little was whispered about what they would do on Wall Street. The modern financial figure is far less chary about letting the public in on business conditions. While the recent buying rush was at its peak a Colossus of the market district created no end of comment by honestly recommending the purchase of a certain stock and predicting it would reach a certain high figure. His word sent tens of thousands of small buyers to the brokers' offices with money to invest. And most of them made money.

Business in Wall Street has become too vast to be ruled by a single personality. A few bob up for a brief moment, but most remain anonymous. Thus, out of the trading in tens of millions within the past few weeks, the name of Meehan alone came out of "the street." And this because he had "cleaned up" on Radio, having fought his way up from the status of office boy.

Not long ago a bright young man, having opened a new cafe in 44th Street, tried to think up schemes for bringing the crowds to his door. So he invested in a goldfish bowl. He filled the bowl with water and painted a sign reading "Invisible fish from South America." Soon the street outside his window was cluttered with New Yorkers trying to see the "invisible fish." On several occasions the police had to be called to clear the sidewalk. Innumerable ideas were generated by the crowd for bringing the "invisible fish" into view. And several men actually claimed to have seen it through a magnifying glass.

Which, again, merely goes to show...

Not that it makes a great deal of difference—but "lady barbers" are still trained in a district that juts into the waterfront. And still attract sailors. And a mission in the middle Forties has a sign which reads, "Hebrew and Italian speak." And a lot of bootblack stands will give you a polish for your shoes and something that tastes like vanilla for your stomach. And Burton Rascoe already has parted company from The Bookman. And a playwright who was grabbed up by Hollywood for scenario purposes dared to kid about the ex-button makers who now make movies, and so is on his way back to New York.

SCHOOLCRAFT COUNTY FARMS RECEIVE AID TO BUY CATTLE; CORPORATION APPROVES LOANS

Word was recently received from C. W. Wilkins, Minneapolis, vice president of the Agricultural Credit corporation that, "the executive committee will finance a limited number of loans for the purchase of dairy cattle in Schoolcraft county this year."

At a meeting of the county agricultural committee yesterday, a loan committee to handle this matter was elected. The personnel of the loan committee consists of Laverne Smith of the Manistique bank, Keith Bundy of the State Savings bank, C. C. Anderson of the First National bank, and Otto Winkel, Cooks, Mich. Mr. Anderson was selected as secretary of the loan committee, at a meeting of that committee Thursday morning.

The Agricultural Credit corporation will loan up to $1,000 to any farmer desiring to purchase dairy cattle provided his financial statement is satisfactory. The payment for stock purchased is spread over a period of three years. Where the applicant pays 20 per cent of the purchase price at the time the loan is made, a note for the balance is taken, 20 per cent payable the first year, 30 per cent at the end of the second year, and 40 per cent at the end of the third year. Where the 20 per cent is not paid at the time loan is made, the applicant furnishes additional satisfactory security, and gives his note for the three year period, with 30 per cent due the second year, and 40 per cent due at the end of the third year. A charge of 10 per cent is made on all loans by the corporation to cover handling charges, insurance, etc., where the stock is bought for the applicant by the corporation. Where someone approved by the corporation buys stock for farmers locally, the service charge is 5 per cent of the amount of the loan. The interest on loans is at the rate of 6 per cent per annum.

How to Get a Loan.

Farmers in Schoolcraft county interested in purchasing dairy cattle this spring should fill out an application blank with C. C. Anderson, secretary of the loan committee or with County Agent Lee Stewart. When a sufficient number of applications have been approved by the Credit corporation to make up a carload, the cattle will be purchased and shipped in. Farmers having questions regarding the loan may secure information from members of the loan committee or the county agent.

Westside Wins in City Pin League; Challenges Yanks

By taking two games out of three in a match with the K. of C. Wednesday night, Westside bowlers won the undisputed right to the championship of the City Bowling League at the Braut alleys. In this tilt, the teams split the first two games, and the last one was the deciding factor. The final match was close all the way through, the Westsiders taking the event by a margin of only 15 pins on totals.

The teams finished as follows:

TEAM	W.	L.	Pct.
Westside	37	23	.616
Auto Co.	26	24	.520
Ladies	21	23	.478
Manistis	24	21	.529
Braults	25	25	.500
K. of C.	23	24	.490

The winners of the City League have issued a challenge to the winners of the Elk League, the Yanks proposing a match to be rolled jointly on the Braut and Elk alleys for the city title.

A team representing the Braut alleys invaded the Elk runways this week, and won out by 90 pins on a three game set, although they lost two games out of three.

Build Michigan Type of Brooder at W. Sine Farm

Chicken farming is showing a steady increase in the vicinity of Manistique, and local poultry raisers are constantly adding to their efficiency by the adoption of the most modern methods, buildings and equipment. Among the new structures noted recently is a Michigan type brooder house now being erected at the farm of William Sine, Hiawatha township.

Commenting on Mr. Sine's achievement, County Agricultural Agent Lee Stewart says: "The Michigan colony brooder house being constructed at the farm of William Sine, Hiawatha township, is the type of brooder house which was designed particularly for upper peninsula conditions. A satisfactory brooder house should be movable, well-lighted, well-ventilated, but free from drafts, easily cleaned, well insulated and roomy. When equipped with a good brooder stove, chicks may be brooded in February and March with safety.

"The brooder house is a shed roof house 16 by 12 feet. There are four windows on the south side which may be removed for summer ventilation. An opening between the windows fitted with a muslin screen provides ventilation. For further summer ventilation, air may be brought in over the plate of the north side of the house by dropping a hinged board down from the eave.

"There is a double floor with insulating paper placed between the sub-floor and the second layer of flooring. The walls are constructed of one layer of Celotex insulation placed directly against one thickness of vertical siding. Placing the insulation against the siding gives so much more rigidity to the building than most of the studding can be dispensed with, thus lowering the cost of construction. It also provides an insulated building which cuts down the consumption of fuel during the brooding season and assures a cooler house during the hot summer months for the growing pullets.

"The roof of the brooder house is constructed of rafters placed two feet apart. On the rafters there is placed a layer of insulation. Directly above the insulation and nailed to the rafters through the insulation is eight inch shiplap. The whole is covered with a good grade of asphalt roofing.

"The house is built on skids, permitting it to be moved to a new location each year. The greatest factor in rearing chicks successfully is to keep them free from disease. Growing chicks contract most of their ailments from soil that has become contaminated by its continual use as a poultry yard. The plowing and liming of these yards will help in removing a certain amount of this contamination, but after a time, these methods become ineffective. To insure clean soil, the brooder house should be moved each year to a new range, not using the same ground oftener than once every four years.

Detailed plans of this brooder house may be secured by writing to the county agricultural agent, or by calling at his office.

Fine Weather Aids Street Repair Work

Taking advantage of the fine weather yesterday, county and city street and highway repair work began to get under way at Manistique. HEALTH DAY OBSERVANCE ON MAY 1

Announcement of a Child's Health Day observance which will be held in Gladstone on May Day, May 1, with schools, merchants and churches cooperating, was made yesterday by Mrs. Marlon L. D'Amour.

The following article taken from McCall's Magazine:

"Song of Spring"

"The child's bill of rights."

"The ideal to which we should strive is that there shall be no child in America that has not been born under proper conditions, that does not live in hygienic surroundings, that ever suffers from undernutrition, that does not have prompt and efficient medical attention and inspection, that does not receive primary instruction in the elements of hygiene and good health; that there shall be no child that has not the complete birthright of a sound mind in a sound body and the encouragement to express in fullest measure the spirit within which is the final endowment of every human being."

NOBLE KEE GIVES TALK ON FORESTRY

Splendid Address At Forest Week Program

A splendid talk on Forestry was given Thursday morning at 8:30 o'clock at the Junior high school assembly by Noble Kee of this city.

The talk was a part of the school observance of American Forest Week, which opened Sunday, April 22.

Mr. Kee in his introduction read the proclamation of President Coolidge dealing with observance of the week.

He then presented a map of the United States showing where the most valuable trees had been and from that discussed forest waste and its spread from the east to the west.

In connection with this Mr. Kee made the startling statement that until conservation methods are employed at once, within 15 years all Michigan forests would be laid waste.

He touched upon the work of McKinley and Roosevelt as notable examples in the preservation of forests.

Dealing with the subject from another standpoint he told of the need of forests to wild life and of the decrease of the number of birds and wild animals due to forest destruction.

He cited a number of practical illustrations and appealed directly to his listeners, the student, for cooperation at all times in conservation.

Another phase of the talk of particular interest was that dealing with fire waste. In connection with this, Mr. Kee told of the different types of fires, that or peat or muck, which burns underground for years, burning the ground and felling the trees, and the ground fires. He told of the forest rangers' work in locating fires, the value of fire towers and closed with rules for prevention of fires.

The talk was well given and it was received with intense interest and was applauded at length at its close.

Pirates Tounce Cincinnati, 7-2

Pittsburgh, Apr. 26.—(AP)—The Pirates hit Edwards and Jablonowski hard in the early innings while Carmen Hill held the Reds in check, and Pittsburgh won, 7 to 2 today from Cincinnati. It was the Reds' first appearance here this season.

Hill, showing no effects of recent injuries and illness, kept the Redlegs' seven hits well scattered to win his first victory of the campaign. Grantham, Pirate first baseman, hit his third home run of the season in the third inning. He has hit for the circuit in each of the Bucs' home games.

Mays went to the mound and spiked the Buccaneers' guns after the fourth, but the game already had been won and lost.

PHILLIES BEAT GIANTS, 5 TO 4

Philadelphia Nationals Make Good Showing on Home Field

Philadelphia, Apr. 26.—(AP)—Back on their home field, the Phillies joined the Giants today by nosing out the New York team, 5 to 4, in the ninth. Augie Walsh had much the better of a pitching duel with Larry Benton, who suffered his first defeat of the season. Lindstrom and Ott hit home runs for the Giants, but each drive was made with the bases empty. The Giants got only five hits off Walsh.

Leach and Thompson, the latter with four hits in five trips to the plate, led the attack for the Phillies.

Hooks and Slides

Realizing the size of the job that any American runner will have in a race against Dr. Peltzer of Germany; Doug Lowe of England; Paavo Nurmi of Finland; and Edwin Wide of Sweden, the American Olympic committee will permit Lloyd Hahn to go to Europe in advance of the main Olympic expedition to train for the middle distance races at Amsterdam.

LAWSON ROBERTSON, head coach of the American team, is particularly anxious to win the 800 and 1500-meter race, and he realizes that for the first time in years the Americans will have two real prospects in Hahn and Ray Conger.

Hahn, accompanied by Jack Ryder, his coach, insisted upon going to Europe some time in advance of the games to train. But Conger apparently is satisfied to do his training in this country and travel to Holland with the main body of the athletes.

Ryder, one of the ablest coaches in the country, will be permitted to use his own judgment in picking the distance for Hahn, but Robertson has asked Conger to train for both the 800 and the 1500-meter distance.

It is quite likely that Hahn and Conger, unless they show the most promising physical form, will not be started in the same races. Conger seems to be more adaptable, however, and he probably will be used in the race that Hahn doesn't choose.

YANKEES BEAT RED SOX, 9-4

Eighth Inning Rally Helps New York Americans to Win

New York, Apr. 26.—(AP)—An eighth-inning rally enabled the New York Yankees to defeat the Boston Red Sox, 9 to 4, today in the opening tilt of a three-game series.

Bill Carrigan removed MacFadden in the eighth with the score tied, but Harris, the third Boston pitcher, proved easy picking for the Yankees. A hit by Durst filled the bases and a pass to Koenig forced in Robertson with the ultimate winning run. Ruth's sacrifice fly and hits by Gehrig and Meusel sent in four more runs.

Al Shealy, a New York pitching recruit, flashed a steady game and contributed a single to the eighth-inning rally.

ATHLETICS 10; SENATORS 0

Washington, Apr. 26.—(AP)—Washington's streak reached the four-game mark today when the Philadelphia Athletics defeated them, 10 to 0, in the visitors' opening game here. Tris Speaker, who last year played for Washington, did enough today to beat his former mates single handed. With three on base he banged a triple. Cobb got one, too. Quinn held the Senators in hand throughout while Zachary and Burke were hit hard.

ord and Hahn, with his greater experience, would be the logical choice for the longer ace.

Experience means much in the 800 and 1500-meter races as the foot of the distance and a mistake is fatal.

Watch Roland Mackenzie

Baseball has had its official openings and the candidates for the major league championships are now well into the battle. It won't be long now until big league golf will be under way and the prospects for the amateur and open championships will be parading their games.

Bob Jones is the early favorite to win the amateur and the open and there are some who think that he will win both championships. There are mighty few things that Jones never has done in one season, and one of them is to win both the major championships.

He shot a 64 his first time out on his home course in Atlanta just recently and that certainly indicates that the strain of a big lawyer man hasn't afflicted his golf.

Golf is such a tricky customer, however, that even a super-star like Jones is not taken for granted.

For this reason Roland Mackenzie and Johnny Farrell, are having a lot of talk devoted to them.

Mackenzie, no doubt, will be a better player this year because he is in much better physical condition, stronger and more rugged, and Farrell seems to have arrived finally at the point where he is willing to use some real fight in his game.

FIVE TO JOIN U. P. LEAGUE

Marquette, April 26.—Five Upper Peninsula baseball teams which will become affiliated again with the U. P. circuit have advised Eugene Short, secretary-treasurer, that they will have representatives at the spring meeting. It will be held at 1:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the Elks club rooms in Negaunee, with C. C. Cowland, of Ishpeming, president, in the chair.

Clubs which have announced their delegates who will be empowered to act on business matters and on the playing schedule for the year are:

Baraga—Edward T. Foucault, and other directors.

Crystal Falls—Dr. F. B. Noyes, president, and other directors.

Marquette—A. C. Richards and Harry Ripelle, manager.

Negaunee—T. A. Thoren and Peter Trudell, Jr.

Iron Mountain—"Bunsey" Rahol, manager.

Sam Chynoweth, manager of the Laurium team, has written the association secretary to learn if it is necessary to save a representative at the meeting and has been informed in the affirmative. Chynoweth applied early in the year for a franchise.

Munising, Ishpeming, Ahmeek, Gladstone and Escanaba have not signified whether they will be with the other clubs, but announcements from these towns are expected before Saturday. All clubs intending to play in the association should have an instructed delegate present at the Negaunee session as only one meeting will be held this spring.

Any team in the peninsula desiring to join the U. P. ranks is invited to have a representative at the meeting.

Hoppe Takes Big Lead Over Layton

Chicago, Apr. 26.—(AP)—Willie Hoppe of New York, took a big lead in his 600-point three-cushion billiard match with Johnny Layton of St. Louis, the national champion, by winning the seventh and eighth blocks today. He has clicked off 400 points as compared with Layton's 328 in 401 innings.

Hoppe gave Layton one of the worst defeats in his career by winning this afternoon's block, 50 to 17, running out in 29 innings with numerous clusters of threes and fours. He won tonight's block handily, 60 to 31, in 45 innings. His high run tonight was 10, in the forty-first inning. Layton's best run was five.

Four more blocks of 50 points each remain to be played. Hoppe seems certain of victory with his 72-point lead.

POPPY SALE NEXT MAY 26

Legion Auxiliary to Direct Drive to Aid Disabled Vets

The annual poppy sale will be conducted Saturday, May 26, by the Ladies' Auxiliary to Cloverland Post No. 52, American Legion. The little red flowers have been ordered early, and arrangements are being made by the Legion Auxiliary to carry out the drive, to assist disabled war veterans now confined in government hospitals.

The poppies are made by the war veterans in the hospitals who are employed about six months out of the year in manufacturing them. It occupies their time and attention and has a real medicinal value for them.

"The funds from the sale of these flowers are given to the disabled veterans to provide them with cigarettes, shaves, haircuts and other things which add greatly to their comfort," Tom Beaton, Jr., commander of the local post, explained yesterday. "It is not much, but it means a great deal to these men. Some of them wait for their check to get their shave or package of cigarettes."

"The attendants at the hospitals tell us that petty thievery has disappeared completely since the American Legion started giving out these monthly checks, small as they are."

"The sale of these flowers throughout the United States will run to about half a million dollars, all to be used in this service work for the men for whom the war will never end. We are arranging an educational campaign now in the hope of teaching the people that these flowers are the symbol of the sacrifices that were made for them by those who are still suffering from their wounds."

"We want the citizens to know when they wear that little red flower next to their hearts, that they are privileged to enjoy the freedom and happiness of this great country, because those men now in the hospitals making these little flowers, made the great sacrifice for them."

Of course, you know that the surest way to avoid high operating costs is to have your car Alemited every 500 miles. Automotive engineers have long recognized this. That's why the Alemite System is installed as standard equipment on 93% of the motor cars manufactured today.

But the methodical use of the system is only half the story; for the best system in the world will not offset the use of cheap greases. Cheap greases do more harm to a bearing than good. They defeat the purpose of any lubricating system.

When you bring your car to us we lubricate it with genuine Alemite Lubricant—a high quality, absolutely reliable Lubricant, which is produced by the makers of the Alemite System.
