

PRIMARY CAMPAIGN DRAWS TO CLOSE

ORGANIZATION LINES WAVER: TEST FORSEEN

LEADERS FINDING THEIR TASK DIFFICULT

BY DAVID LAWRENCE. (Copyright 1928, by the Escanaba Press) Washington, Sept. 1.—How far will organizations control their membership in the present national election? Never before perhaps has there been such a test as is being at the moment made.

Can They Hold Them?

With respect to farm organizations the same situation exists—will the spokesmen be able to commit the rank and file? George N. Peek, who has been the head and front of the McNary-Haugen movement in agriculture for several years, is organizing sentiment for Governor Smith, his work being a direct auxiliary of the Democrat's national committee.

Then there are fraternal organizations whose leaders are interested in the swinging of votes to one or the other of the candidates. It is a serious question how many voters are influenced this way.

Much of the work of getting votes, indeed much of the money spent is directed toward lining up organizations with large memberships. In several campaigns this has proved futile. The American Federation of Labor for instance has more often supported Democratic than Republican nominees for the presidency, but the vote in industrial districts has rarely been affected to any vital extent by such endorsement.

Another factor which diminishes the value of the organization activity is that the so-called labor vote, for example, is a relatively small part of the total vote in the populous states so that other influences are likely to turn a state one way or the other. There is a distinction too, between the "labor vote" and the votes of people who work for wages. The former is in direct touch with leaders through attendance at meetings and the latter is inaccessible—unless large sums are spent for mail canvass—a situation that confronts the party managers with every large group of voters.

Pontoon of Amundsen's Plane Picked Up at Sea

Oslo, Norway, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Much of the mystery surrounding the disappearance of Roald Amundsen, Capt. Rene Gribaud, and four others while flying from Tromsø to Spitzbergen on their mission of mercy last June, had cleared tonight.

But with its clearing faded, what still hopes some sanguine ones still held that the famous explorer and his mates still were alive. Finding last night of the Fugle Islands, a rock group near Tromsø, one of the floats of their seaplane, the "Latham," constitutes the first definite word of the flyers since their radio signals ceased shortly after leaving Tromsø on June 18. Since then, and since their non-appearance at Spitzbergen, Norwegian fishermen had scanned the seas vainly for some clue as to the fate of their countrymen—all their search, however, being unavailing until the little steamer Brød last night picked up the float, thought at first to be an oil barrel, then recognized as the pontoon of the missing seaplane. The Brood immediately turned about and put in at Tromsø at 3:30 this morning, showing the pontoon to the French consul there who by photographs in his possession and by word from Spitzbergen where copper plates had been attached to its bottom in the course of repairs, identified it as a relic of the Latham.

EXPECT LIGHT VOTE TUESDAY

Little Interest in Campaign in State This Fall

Detroit, Sept. 2.—(AP)—On the face of the interest aroused in the primary campaign, coupled with a week-end double holiday preceding election day, an extremely light vote would be cast at next Tuesday's primary. In many cities, however, keen local campaigns have been waged for county offices, and issues of purely home interest may serve to bring out a much heavier vote than could be expected solely for the state-wide primary.

In the primary of September 14, 1926, a total vote throughout the state of 653,182 was cast. Of this total, Wayne county (Detroit) cast 162,032. Oakland District, supervisor of elections for Detroit, estimates not more than 150,000 men and women will go to the polls in Detroit. The city's total registration is 374,919, of which 241,399 are men and 133,520 women.

Interest in Lansing. Aside from the state-wide ticket, Detroit voters will vote on various county offices, including county treasurer, sheriff and delegates to the county conventions. Four propositions and proposed charter amendments will be voted upon. Most important of these is the proposed annexation of the city of Lincoln Park. In addition a long list of candidates are in the field for the legislature, making a ballot a yard long. Ninety Republican candidates are entered for state representative, first district.

Republican contests for the legislature in Ingham county, (Lansing) together with a scramble for the nomination for sheriff, county clerk and coroner, have served to arouse considerable interest in the state capital and a goodly sized vote is looked for there. Annexation proposals, of which several appear on the ballot, have served to arouse some interest in Oakland county, (Pontiac). In Owasco voters will pass upon a proposed bond issue of $52,000 for enlargement of the city water main system. Contests for the Republican nomination for the lower house of the legislature and for prosecuting attorney also have developed interest in Shiawassee county.

St. Clair Race Full

In Monroe county, the office of sheriff, which has been more or less a source of interest because of charges filed against the incumbent, Joseph Kinsey, is the center of interest. Kinsey, exonerated by Governor Green, is not a candidate, but those who would succeed him include his undersheriff, two former sheriffs and Monroe's chief of police. Monroe also will name candidates for various other county offices. Thirteen Republicans and three Democrats are seeking the nomination for sheriff of St. Clair county. Nominations also will be made for other county offices.

Chief interest in Hillsdale county also involves the contest for the nomination for sheriff. Two Republicans and two Democrats are entered. For county clerk, F. O. Hancock is seeking re-nomination for the thirteenth time. He is one of four candidates seeking the office. Macomb county anticipates a light vote. The usual county ticket, with contests confined to the Republican ticket, will be selected. Miss Ruth LaPointe, the only woman candidate in the county, is seeking the nomination of county treasurer. She has been a deputy in the county treasurer's office for 18 years.

CALLES WILL NOT RUN FOR OFFICE AGAIN

MEXICAN PRESIDENT SPEAKS TO NEW CONGRESS

Mexico City, Sept. 1.—(AP)—President Plutarco Elias Calles in the most emphatic terms today refused to continue in office after the expiration of his term, November 30, solemnly asserting, moreover, that he never at any time will again be president of Mexico. This declaration, one of the most important presidential messages in the history of Mexico, came in the course of the president's address to the convening of the new congress in its regular four-month session this afternoon.

The president urged that only considerations of highest patriotism guide congress in its selection of a provisional president to succeed him in December, and he appealed to the army and leaders of all phases of Mexican life to conduct themselves with sober restraint for the best interests of the country in one of the most solemn moments of its history. "Preparable loss" to the country resulting from the assassination of the president-elect, Gen. Alvarado Obregon, and lamented the situation which it had thrust upon the country.

Remains in Politics. The president declared that if congress, the army, and the Mexican people will work unitedly and with patriotic motives at this crucial period of Mexican history, Mexico can at least get away from the idea that only strong military chieftains can govern. Instead, he said, will be established the sanctity of power of laws and institutions which will command respect for whomsoever may be made president of the nation. The president said that although he never again would serve as president of Mexico, he would not abandon his civic duties, but would accept whatever post he considered in the line of his duty to his country and to the "revolution."

Advices Teachers to "Spank" Pupils Who Do Not Behave

Kalamazoo, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Advising teachers of Kalamazoo county rural schools to give their pupils a good old fashioned spanking if other methods of discipline fail, Miss Mary Engle, county school commissioner, told the teachers at a meeting here today that they cannot have good schools without good discipline. Every one of them, she said, should make all her pupils understand that she's the teacher, and behave accordingly.

Nagel Heads Wayne County Democrats

Detroit, Sept. 1.—(AP)—John C. Nagel, president of the city council, today was named temporary chairman for the Wayne county Democratic convention, September 14. The county committee has indorsed one delegate from each district to the county convention. The state convention will be held September 21 in Grand Rapids.

Escanaba to Observe Labor Day Tomorrow With Fitting Program

Labor Day will be observed tomorrow with fitting exercises at Ladington Park under the auspices of the Trades and Labor Council. Bands, retail establishments and industries will suspend business for the day, and it is expected that the program of addresses and athletic events will attract a large crowd from throughout the county. Rev. John C. Evans, pastor of St. Stephen's Episcopal church, will give the principal address at the morning exercises which will start at 10:30 o'clock at the park. He will speak on the subject of "Some Later Ideas of Labor Movements." Mayor W. H. Needham will deliver the address of welcome. Two Bands to Play. The Escanaba Municipal Band and the Ladies Band will furnish music throughout the morning and afternoon.

Fisherman Found In Lonely Cave; Nearly Exhausted

Munising, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Almost exhausted by exposure and lack of food, Ray Adair, who was lost with three other men Wednesday in a squall on Lake Superior, was found this afternoon by a party of Munising fishermen. He had stayed in a lonely cave along the Pictured Rocks, 17 miles east of here.

Adair said that the boat developed engine trouble Wednesday night and that it had been washed ashore while he was making repairs. The small craft was dashed against the rocky shore, but he was able to jump out before it was broken up. He was unable to escape from the narrow ledge on which he had taken refuge, and said that searching parties had passed him several times. Two men, William Heckvold of Sheboygan, Wis., and Peter Savord of Marquette, are still missing. Louis Powell, the fourth man, was rescued Friday morning farther down the coast.

FOND DU LAC LAWYER KILLED

Murder Based on Suits; Slayer Captured Near Scene of Crime

Fond du Lac, Wis., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Assassination of a prominent Fond du Lac attorney as he sat in his parked automobile in the downtown district Saturday noon and capture of his alleged assailant a few moments later, is believed to have been based on a $34,000 law suit in which the men have been embroiled for more than two years. The dead man is E. W. Phelps, 73, attorney and real estate operator, and the alleged slayer is James DeVoy, 46, a farmer living near the town of Oakfield.

Phelps was killed as he sat talking to Miss Frances Tooley, Green Bay, while her aunt, Miss Mary Tooley, who lived at Phelps' home, was shopping. The slayer, identified by Miss Tooley as DeVoy, approached the car, she said. He made a gesture as if to shake hands with the attorney. "Well, what are you going to do about it?" the man is said to have asked. At the same time he reached into his pocket and drew a revolver, Miss Tooley said. "God, you can't shoot me. Don't," Phelps screamed, Miss Tooley said. The man then tossed the revolver into the car with "take that, too," wheeled around and walked calmly away.

Identify Body of Slain Woman

New Castle, Ind., Sept. 1.—(AP)—The woman found murdered near here today was identified tonight as Mrs. Myrtle Miller, 36, Muncie, Ind., the identification made by her divorced husband, Edward H. Miller, and Mr. and Mrs. Clark Benson, also of Muncie. Miller and his wife had been divorced but she had been keeping house for him for the last two months, he told officials. The woman's skull had been battered apparently with a hammer and the body tossed from an automobile to the side of a by-road. Miller is being questioned by Sheriff C. E. Cannon and police while Muncie police are endeavoring to run down a clew as to the driver of the machine.

HOOVER SEES YANKS BATTLE WASHINGTON

CAMPAIGN TROUBLES LAID ASIDE FOR BASEBALL

BY W. W. RAGSDALE (Associated Press Staff Writer) Washington, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Herbert Hoover today laid aside his task of building up a political team to battle the Democrats in the east and journey to the baseball park to watch the Washington Senators combat the New York Yankees. After a morning spent in conferring with some of the figures who will participate in his effort to win the east, the Republican presidential candidate took Saturday afternoon off, resting after a strenuous week of work over the Republican party machinery and laying the molds in which will be cast his own program for participation in the struggle for the presidency.

During the forenoon, the nominee went over the Connecticut situation with J. Henry Roraback, of Hartford, national committeeman for that state, delved into the Massachusetts problem in a conference with Frederick M. Prince, Boston railroad man and banker, and received additional light upon the New York upstate conditions from Representative John Taber, of New York. At the same time it was disclosed that several members of the cabinet were preparing to take up their oratorical cudgels for Hoover and Curtis in the long fight ahead. Tentative plans were revealed for radio addresses by Secretaries Mellon and Wilbur with others contemplated by Secretaries Kellogg, Dwight F. Davis, and James J. Davis, and Postmaster General New. Vice President Dawes also ready has signified a willingness to come into the battle.

May Visit Connecticut. Coincident with his announcement came news of the plan of Hoover to carry the offensive into enemy ground in his first eastern speech which will be at Newark, N. J., about the middle of September. The exact date of his initial address of the eastern campaign is yet to be fixed. Labor probably will be the central theme of the progress. Negotiations already are in speech for carry his words into hook-up of the country.

Roraback urged the nominee to visit Connecticut during his trip into the New England states. He brought the view that the wet element in Connecticut was "not as strong as some people think," and declared that "the Connecticut people are realizing that the prohibition promises of Gov. Smith are not very substantial." Roraback said that the dominant issue of the campaign in his state would be the tariff. Prince declined to reveal the nature of his conversation with Mr. Hoover, but ventured the prediction that Massachusetts would be found in the Republican column in November.

Taber, asserting that the rural districts of up-state New York are the issue upon which would hinge the issue of that section of the state. Mr. Hoover's declarations upon farm relief were satisfactorily received there, he said. Senator Watson, of Indiana, who called upon the candidate with Leslie M. Shaw, former secretary of the treasurer, told the candidate that the Hoosier state would be safely Republican this year.

Washington, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Attending his first baseball game since his nomination for the presidency, Herbert Hoover sat through two and a half hours today at Griffith stadium to see the New York Yankees defeat the Washington Senators and to hear the roar of the mob demanding the blood of an umpire. There was a thrill for every inning as the Senators fought a desperate uphill battle with the climactic coming in the seventh when three pop bottles, half a dozen straw hats and wads of paper were hurled at Umpire Nalbin by fans incensed by his decisions. The bottles missed the arbiter only by inches. Babe Ruth was on hand, and while he hit no home runs for the Republican candidate, he furnished the feature atfield by hurling himself against the right field wall to spear Joe Judge's line drive with his gloved hand. This proved helpful to the Yankees as the Senators staged a rally immediately afterward.

Greeted by Griffith. Occasionally munching peanuts, Hoover applauded neither team but he watched Ruth closely as the slugger was at bat and smiled broadly when the big rightfielder swung and missed a curved ball in the first inning. He made frequent comments on the play and (Continued on Page Two.)

Weekly POLITICAL REVIEW

By The Associated Press

BY D. FIELD BRITTLER (Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Proceeding apparently on the theory that organization is at least half the battle, master minds of the Democratic and Republican presidential campaigns are bending every effort now toward creation of smooth-running and efficient vote-getting machines. Perhaps as never before, both parties are earnestly digging in, from headquarters down to the ultimate precinct, mobilizing workers who must carry on with little or none of the assistance that comes from the personal appearance of the standard bearer himself.

Every advance indication has been that the candidates will restrict their travels and send their messages into voters' homes largely over the radio. With Mr. Hoover and Mr. Smith now perfecting their speaking itineraries, it is obvious that they cannot take the stump in every state and equally certain that the heaviest oratory will be concentrated in the east and in such other regions as opposing strategists designate as debatable. One of the knots that Mr. Hoover must cut is the conflict of opinion as to the leadership of the New England and New York-Jersey campaigns. Some New England stalwarts believe the work in their area should be directed from some home point so that particular attention might be devoted to such states as Massachusetts and Rhode Island, where the Democrats have taken an aggressive stand. Others believe the best plan would be to link New England with the New York-New Jersey offensive, which also has strong Democratic opposition.

Chairman Roraback, giving the Smith campaign the administrative ability he brought from his post with General Motors, has carried his task into the middle and northwest, where Democratic slanders gave him both optimistic reports and frank counsel concerning obstacles to be overcome there. Roraback met them promptly with a million dollar raise of the war chest and announced that much would be spent in the farm belt. While raising the budget to $4,000,000 Roraback said he heard that the opposition was attempting a $6,000,000 to $8,000,000 fund. That was denied by Chairman work of the Republican national committee who announced at the same time that party leaders had been advised to stay within the original $3,000,000 mark. Roraback's reply was that his information came from reliable Republican sources. The keynote of the Democratic field activities is a striving for harmony. In some states party factions have set aside their private disputes and are working as a unit for the Smith ticket. An example is New Jersey, where local leaders have buried the hatchet while they work together to roll up a Democratic majority on which Gov. Smith has said he is counting. In Minnesota, whose electoral votes the Smith people are claiming, state leaders are going about their business on behalf of the state ticket while J. H. Mitchell of New Jersey, representing national headquarters, is working as a separate unit in formation of all-party or independent Smith clubs.

In contrast, that harmony is notably lacking in some sections of the Democratic south. The discord engendered there by the anti-Smith groups was emphasized during the closing week in Mississippi where a county executive committee "repudiated" Smith, and in Alabama where armed men called upon a Smith advocate and advised him to be silent, remarking that "somebody is going to be killed over this election."

The situation in the south is drawing a great deal of attention from the Democrats, who have sent their vice presidential nominee, Senator Robinson, on a Dixie-wide tour in an effort to offset opposition to Smith. In his acceptance speech Robinson attacked those who oppose the governor as a nullificationist, and before he brought up the religious intolerance angle. A direct charge that the south is being flooded with anti-Catholic propaganda came from Senator Harrison of Mississippi, who said that some organizations of usually "high and uplifting" purposes are being used by someone close to the Republican party.

Note in Bottle Not From Woman. Flint, Sept. 1.—(AP)—After inspecting a note found in a bottle on the Pacific coast near Aberdeen, Wash., ten days ago, reporting to be from his sister, Mildred Doran, one of those lost in the Dole flight to Honolulu last year, William E. Doran tonight pronounced the note a hoax. "It does not in any way resemble Mildred's writing," Doran said.

ELECTION IS TO BE HELD NEXT TUESDAY

FIGHT FOR GOVERNORSHIP FEATURE OF DRIVE

Detroit, Sept. 2.—(AP)—A primary campaign featured mainly by a fight for the Republican nomination for Governor, came virtually to a close tonight. The election will be held next Tuesday, and there may be some last minute activity on the part of some of the candidates, but generally the drive for votes has been ended. The contest between Governor Fred W. Green and George W. Welsh, former lieutenant governor, for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, along served, to sustain a semblance of interest in the primary. Early indications that there would be a contest for the nomination for United States senator were dispelled when Arthur H. Vandenberg, Republican incumbent, and John W. Bailey, Democratic aspirant, were left without opposition by withdrawals after the time for filing nominating petitions had expired.

Senator Vandenberg was assured renomination when Milton R. Palmer, member of the state legislature from Detroit, withdrew; the nomination of Mr. Bailey, mayor of Battle Creek, was made certain when Judge Frank Murphy, of Detroit, ordered his name withdrawn from the ballot. Minor Parties Entered. Aside from the contest for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, a contest is presented in the race for lieutenant-governor, although there has been relatively little campaign activity among the candidates. Lauren D. Gibson, Republican incumbent, his opposition from Fred L. Woodruff, of Detroit, and George Elmer McArthur, Esau Rapids. The Democrats, too, have presented a contest for this office, Theodore H. Elferink, of Grand Rapids and Frank Sawyer, of Grand Blanc, seeking the nomination.

With few exceptions the Democrats have entered a candidate for each of the congressional nominations to be made. Their campaign activity has been scarcely perceptible. Likewise, the minor parties, Socialist, Prohibition and Workers party have entered candidates for the nominations for United States senator, governor and lieutenant governor. In the congressional districts, perhaps the most interesting contest has developed in the ninth district where the veteran Republican Congressman James C. McLaughlin, has opposition from R. Glenn Dunn, of Muskegon Heights, and Claude Miller Curtis, of Ludington. With no Democratic opposition, nomination in this district will be equivalent to election. Another contest has developed in the fourth district, where Congressman John K. Ketcham, is opposed for Republican endorsement by Loomis K. Preston, of St. Joseph. The Republican nominee in this district will have to fight it out in the November election with either Raymond L. Anglemier, of Sault Harbor, or Roman J. Jarvis, of Benton Harbor, who are seeking the Democratic nomination.

Contests in Detroit. The Sixth District which includes such center of population as Flint, Pontiac, Lansing and part of Detroit, also has attracted a fair sized field. Grant H. Hudson, a vowed dry incumbent, is opposed for the Republican nomination by Robert H. Cook, of Detroit, regarded as "liberal" in his stand on the prohibition question. Unlike most of the other offices to be nominated for this district finds three Democrats eager to oppose the Republican winner. They are A. Bruce Atwell, of Detroit, Horace C. Thurber, Detroit and San Ford A. Rasbach, of Flint.

Contests also are presented in the two Detroit districts, the first and the thirteenth. In the first Rep. Robert Clancy and John B. Sosnowski, who formerly represented the district, are seeking the Republican endorsement; W. M. Donnelly and Arthur G. Lodgwick are after the Democratic nomination. In the thirteenth, Rep. Clarence J. McLeod, has opposition for the Republican nomination in John G. Jefferson. Three Democrats are entered, John S. Hall, Henry A.

NO PAPER TUESDAY MONDAY — LABOR DAY — will be a holiday in the Daily Press plant and no paper will be issued next Tuesday morning. The next issue of the Press will be Wednesday morning, September 5.

De Rendt and William Young. In the Second District, which includes Jackson, Adrian, Monroe, Ann Arbor, and part of Wayne County (Detroit) Earl C. Michener, Republican incumbent is assured of re-nomination. Boyce Damsard of Monroe, seeks the Democratic nomination. Grover I. Mordon, of Sibley, also entered as a Democratic aspirant, with Drew.

Select Other Nominees
In the Third District, Congressman Joseph L. Hooper, of Battle Creek, and William L. Fitzgerald, of Kalamazoo, are unopposed for the Republican and Democratic nominations respectively.

Rep. Bird J. Vincent, of Saginaw, Republican, and Burnett J. Abbott, Saginaw, Democrat, are the nominees in the eighth district, being unopposed in the primary.

Nominees also will be selected for the state senate and house of representatives. Among the state senatorial aspirants, nomination will be equivalent to election in the district, where Addison M. Brown and James T. Upjohn, seek the Republican nomination without Democratic competition; in the eleventh district, where Alex Cowan Republican alone seeks nomination.

In the 19th where Norman B. Horton, Republican incumbent, is unopposed; the 27th where Senator Albert J. Engel, Republican, has no opposition, and in the 31st where Senator Charles W. Richardson, is without opposition.

In the other state senatorial districts, the line up includes: Ninth—Edward L. Branson, Battle Creek, Republican; William S. Fruin, Battle Creek, Republican; George C. Hafford, Albion, Democrat.

33rd—John R. Davidson, Sullivan, Republican; Gordon F. Van Ennenam, Republican; Dirk A. Vanort, Whitehall, Democrat.

26th—Virgil A. Fitch, Ludington, Republican; Orville E. Atwood, Fremont, Republican; Thomas Read, Shelby, Republican.

30th—H. J. Rushton, Escanaba, Republican; Robert G. Lillie, Moran, Republican.

32nd—James M. Wilcox, Ontonagon, Republican; Adolph F. Heldkamp, Republican; M. L. Coon, Baraga, Democrat.

Many of the Republican candidates for the House of Representatives have no Democratic opposition and nomination will be equivalent to election in their district.

HARRISON SEES USUAL VICTORIES FOR DEMOCRATS

Washington, Sept. 1.—(AP)—A check-up on political conditions in the south was made here today by Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, for the information of the Democratic national committee, and when he had concluded he predicted the usual Democratic victories in southern states.

Bringing with him from committee headquarters in New York the information received there through numerous sources he placed it before Senators Fletcher of Florida, and Glass and Swanson of Virginia, receiving in exchange reports on conditions based on information which had reached them.

"The situation in the south is improving every day," Senator Harrison stated after the conference. "The Democrats are now organizing and fighting. Conditions will continue to improve. The situation over the country from reports coming to Democratic headquarters in New York are most encouraging."

Senator Fletcher said Senator Harrison's visit was in line with the work of the national committee in keeping informed of the situation in all the states.

MANY ENROLL AT ST. JOSEPH

Parochial School Resumes Class Work Next Tuesday

The registration list of St. Joseph high school was complete Wednesday, and the enrollment is the largest in the history of the school. The banner goes to the junior class, which has almost doubled its enrollment. All the students of last year have reported, and a very large class of freshmen.

The principal change made in the plan of studies is that commercial science is substituted for natural science in the junior year and the junior students have their choice of language, Latin, French, Spanish or German.

The freshman class if this year will be given manual training and domestic science I, in their sophomore year.

Departmental teaching will be employed in science and language. The entire school building has been inspected by an expert. The laboratories in the commercial department received special attention, latest equipment has been installed.

The members of the faculty returned from summer school and retreat last Saturday, and made excellent use of their few days of relaxation. On Tuesday they were the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Wm. Lemire at their summer cottage on Bay de Noc.

Monday is registration day for grade I. Sister Mary Ethelgine, the teacher, will be in the office all day Monday to meet the new pupils and their parents.

The music department will be open on Wednesday, September 5, and students are requested to report that day.

A violin class will be opened this year for both boys and girls. Lessons desiring to join the class will communicate with Sister Mary Fernanda, who is in charge of the music department this year.

Havana Landmark Bows to Progress

Havana, Cuba—Another of Havana's old landmarks is to go to the steady push of progress and the governmental program of modernizing and beautifying the island capital city.

Hotel Miramar, within a stone's throw of the old Spanish fortress and directly across the bay from Morro Castle, will be torn down by the public works department. It must make way for the vast improvement work now conducted along the Malecon from the center of the city to a point twelve miles out in the Marianna section.

The famous old hotel for many years was the scene of Havana's smartest functions.

In the work of extending the sea-wall the Cuban government is finishing and surfacing a sea-shore drive that, engineering experts and world travelers say, will be the most beautiful in the world.

Driver Demonstrates Accident Too Well

Newport, Me.—A motorist who took a party of friends to a railroad crossing here to show them how and where two persons had been killed in an accident that morning demonstrated better than he expected.

Arriving at the scene, the automobile crashed head-on into a freight train. After this object lesson, in which no one was seriously hurt, the damaged automobile was dragged to a garage for repairs.

Crematorium Lacks Poetic Inspiration

Middlesbrough, England—The poetic instinct of the Middlesbrough cemetery committee has rebelled against the proposal to establish a crematorium.

"I can hardly imagine Gray finding inspiration for his Elegy in a crematorium," a member protested.

Operators and Miners Agree on New Wage Scale

Chicago, Sept. 1.—(AP)—A new four-year contract providing for a reduction of from 15 to 20 per cent in the wages of Illinois coal miners was formally agreed upon today by the general joint conference of Illinois miners and operators.

The new contract, subject to a referendum vote of the state's 50,000 miners, calls for a basic wage scale of $6.10 a day for the worker and 91 cents a ton for the tonnage miners, as compared respectively with the $7.50 day rate and $1.08 a ton rate under the Jacksonville agreement which expired a year and a half ago.

If ratified by the miners, and it was said there was no doubt but that the agreement would be accepted, the new contract will become effective Sept. 15 and continue until March 31, 1932.

Officials of the operator's association said the immediate effect of the new agreement would be the re-employment of perhaps 20,000 more miners just as quickly as the mines can be re-conditioned and prepared for re-opening. There are now about 30,000 miners at work, although not regularly, under individual agreements with the mine owners.

Hoover's Son is Michigan Visitor

Potosky, Mich., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Herbert Hoover, Jr., oldest son of the Republican presidential nominee, was here today on his way to Harbor Point to spend Labor Day at the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Anderson, of Fort Worth, Tex.

The young Mr. Hoover has been making a survey of the aviation industry in the middle west for the Guggenheim Foundation and Harvard university. With him is Maj. S. Heath, assistant treasurer of the Republican national committee.

Ban Short Skirts At Japanese Coronation

Tokyo—"Flapper" dresses and low-cut gowns will not be permitted at the Imperial Coronation ceremonies which will be held at Kyoto next November. Foreign women will not be excepted from the order.

This decision was reached by the Household department, which has charge of all the rules and regulations pertaining to the enthronement, after consultation with foreign envoys who will represent their countries at the function.

Extremely short skirts and low-cut frocks, the Household officials explained, were not in line with Japanese customs and inappropriate to the solemnity of the ceremonies. So the wives and daughters of the foreign diplomats must govern themselves accordingly.

In addition, the officials pointed out, the great hall at Kyoto, where the enthronement rites are to be performed, will not be heated and it is their endeavor to "protect the foreign women visitors against the cold."

PRESIDENT IS MADE A KING

Albania Changed From Republic to Monarchy by Assembly

Tirana, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Church chimes, frenzied popular acclaim, thunderous canon fire and one tense moment of triumph today marked the final step in the rise of Ahmed Zogu from a mountain chieftain to king of his native Albania.

The National Assembly, without a dissenting voice, had proclaimed him king of the Albanians. Deputies, government officials and prominent civilians who packed the tiny legislative hall of the smallest state in the Balkans arose in a body and greeted the announcement with cries of "Long Live Our King!"

They left the hall and marched, 200 strong, to the palace where president Zogu was waiting for them.

The salvo of 101 guns had scarcely signaled the elevation of a plebeian president to the dignity of kingship when the new ruler started his triumphal journey from the palace to the assembly hall. He rode through densely thronged streets while Albanian and Italian guards formed a barrier against the possibility of a hostile act.

He appeared profoundly moved and showed signs of nervousness as he mounted the parliamentary tribune to take the oath. Falteringly, he raised his right hand and swore to rule the country with wisdom and justice and to support the constitution.

He made no attempt to speak and confined his acknowledgment of the extraordinary ovation to a series of grave bows.

Ruth Refuses to Pose With Hoover

Washington, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Babe Ruth refused to pose today with Herbert Hoover for the photographers at American League baseball park before the opening of the game between the New York Yankees and the Washington Senators.

The request that the home run king go over to the box of the Republican presidential candidate was conveyed by Clark Griffith, president of the Washington club at the request of a photographer.

"It's a matter of politics," Ruth told Griffith in stating his refusal.

Before asking that Ruth be invited the photographer, inquired of Mr. Hoover's secretary if the nominee would pose and Mr. Hoover consented.

Ruth did not appear but as the game was called by the umpire a minute or so later the candidate assumed that this had prevented the Yankee star from coming to see him.

Ruth could not be reached tonight. Manager Miller Huggins of New York team, said that he believed there had been some misunderstanding.

In these days when Russia is the cynosure of censoring eyes and nothing comes out of the land of Bolsheviks but accounts of distress and dissatisfaction with the communistic government, it is somewhat startling to read a book like "A Related Rebuttal On Russia" by Gerald O. Dykstra. After a year's travel in Sovietland the author is convinced that the new regime is successful, that the United States should recognize it.

Dykstra, perhaps Michigan's youngest author, traveled with a group of students and university professors who saw with their own eyes that which evidently has not been reported truthfully to the outer world. A desire to know conditions in Russia was stimulated by a college debate in which Dykstra participated, and the book is written in the style of an illustrated lecture. The author rebuts the common belief concerning various issues of the question in an able manner.

All that remains of Czarism serves as a "sarcophagus" for the Russians, he says. Magnificent palaces housing inestimable treasures in gold and jewels have been confiscated by the proletariat and can be enjoyed by everyone. The statues of former monarchs have been inscribed with reminders of the dark past when Russian peasantry suffered under the cruel yoke of their domineering masters. Russia is atheistic, too. It has turned away from the Greek church, supporter of the Czars and symbol of dynastic tyranny, and places most of its faith in the teachings of Lenin who is a savior-god to the Russians.

After a thorough study of business conditions the investigators concluded that Russia's government is stable. The Gos Planing Commission is a central body whose sole work is to co-ordinate all developments and prevent over expansion in any one undertaking. Dykstra supports Russia's repudiation of her debts, claiming that they were made by the Czars and not by the people. He explains the concession method under which foreign capitalists are given permission to exploit Russian natural resources for a definite period, and bewails the fact that more Americans do not have confidence in the new government.

Even now, he says, American money is developing Russia, but the Germans who borrow it from Wall Street are reaping the profits.

The author, however, does not view everything through rose-colored glasses. Russia is not perfect. The working class is enjoying more freedom and comfort now than under the Czars but their condition is much lower than the American worker's. The

Sheriff Clears Up Every Robbery But One in Two Years

Every robbery perpetrated in the county during the past two years with the exception of a Holstein calf theft last winter at Danforth, has been solved, Sheriff Elmer Swanson stated in his annual report which was issued recently. In every case except one the robbers have been arrested, tried, and convicted for breaking and entering.

During the past two years there have been eight store robberies, and the sheriff was successful in clearing up every one. The guilty persons in several farmhouse thefts were also apprehended.

The sheriff's department has also been active arresting liquor law violators and reckless drivers, the report shows.

Workers Warned To Stay Distance From The Polls

Solicitation of votes in behalf of any candidate for office is a perfectly legal procedure, so long as it is done in a manner prescribed by the Michigan election laws, it was pointed out by election officials yesterday.

Any "personal work" or solicitation which is carried on too near a polling place, or which is done as the result of bribery, however, is not countenanced by the law.

The law reads as follows: "Soliciting Votes: Any person who shall, while the polls are open, at any polling place on any primary or election day, solicit votes in said polling place or within one hundred feet thereof, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor."

DRUNK DRIVER HEAVILY FINED

Causes Crash; Operator's License Revoked for One Year

Joe Keick, of St. Jacques, drunk driver who crashed into an automobile driven by Edwin R. Johnson at St. Jacques Friday afternoon, had his operator's license revoked for one year, was compelled to pay damages to Johnson's car, and was fined $50 and costs or 40 days in the county jail when arraigned before Justice James S. Doherty yesterday morning.

Keick who was driving north in US-2 in a touring car, swerved across the road in passing the Johnson automobile, damaging the bumper, front fender, and running board. Johnson had not gone 1,000 miles with his new sedan. The right front wheel and front axle of Keick's car were damaged. No one was hurt.

When county officers arrived, they found Keick in an intoxicated condition and on searching the car discovered a bottle containing a small quantity of liquor.

A Final Word

As There Will Be No Further Issues of the papers before the election takes place next Tuesday, September 4th.

I had intended in this last article merely to say that I have enjoyed very much the privilege of getting out and meeting the voters as much as I could, to ask them for their vote and their support for the nomination for Probate Judge. I have more than appreciated their kind consideration of my articles upon the issues in this campaign. I have made my fight in the open.

I think I am entitled to the nomination. I have lived in this County all my life. I was educated in the schools of this City. I earned my way through my last three years in High School, and worked my way through the University law school. I came back to my home town in 1908 to enter the practice of law. I served the people of the County as Secretary and President of the County Fair from 1908 until about 1915. My dream that that Fair would become a State Fair has come true. I am glad that I did my share to build up the foundation.

I served the people as Prosecuting Attorney from 1911 to 1914, and again from 1917 to 1922, a total of ten years. My record in the office I believe was one of efficient and honest service. I stepped out of the office to give a younger man a chance.

During the past seven years, as a member, as a director, and more recently as president of the Chamber of Commerce I have sacrificed my own interests and given of my time, energy and money to do those things which might advance the very best welfare of my town and the community in which I live.

I had the honor to serve the City of Escanaba as a member of the commission which revised the charter and brought to us our present efficient municipal government. I am glad to have been of service to the people in this matter.

I have tried to honestly and carefully advise and represent the farmer, the laborer, the business and professional man who has brought his legal affairs to my office. I have been the poor man's lawyer. I have been the pleader for the common people, from whose rank and file I have come myself, a son of immigrant Norwegian parents, enjoying and taking advantage of the great opportunities that our wonderful America affords.

And after twenty years of practice as a lawyer, and activities such as I have mentioned for the public good, the only argument now given against my nomination to the office of probate judge is that I am such an ACTIVE AND SUCCESSFUL LAWYER; that I will not give the office the time and attention it requires; that I am merely selfish and want only "another source of income."

My opponent under date of August 30th is sending out a letter to the voters making absurd and untrue statements as to my intentions if I am nominated and elected. It is a poor alibi—just as are his exaggerated statements about my business and income.

In my former articles I have quoted the argument and letters my opponent used 20 years ago when he was first elected, on the proposition that Judge White HAD HELD THE OFFICE TOO LONG, when Judge White had been probate judge for 12 years. Now my opponent wants another term, so he can stretch his 20 years into 24, or just twice the time that Judge White had it. And he, the present incumbent, makes this answer to his own former argument:

"My opponent has presented no reason why any person should support him. ANY COMMUNICATION FROM HIM WHICH YOU HAVE READ, or may receive, IS UNTRUE AND MISLEADING. I MAKE NO REPLY TO ANY STATEMENT HE HAS MADE, or any letter written to you, BECAUSE WHAT HE STATES HAS NOTHING TO DO WITH THIS CONTEST."

I have no personal feelings against the present judge. He and I have been friends, and I have supported him in many of his campaigns in the past. But like a great many people, I feel that he is asking too much when he demands that we retain him in this office for a SIXTH TERM OF FOUR YEARS IN SUCCESSION.

I HAVE NEITHER MADE NOR AUTHORIZED ANY MALICIOUS STATEMENT ABOUT OR AGAINST MY OPPONENT NOR WOULD I PERMIT IT TO BE DONE IF WITHIN MY POWER TO PREVENT IT. THE ONLY STATEMENTS I HAVE KNOWN ABOUT OR HAVE MADE HAVE BEEN GIVEN TO THE PAPERS OVER MY SIGNATURE JUST AS THIS ONE WILL BE.

Even admitting for the purpose of argument that his record in the office has been what the people had a right to expect it to be, and that he has rendered the required services for the salary provided, it can not be denied that any other qualified person has the right to seek the office, and to do the work of it. And if that person has gained the reputation of being an active and able lawyer he must have ability. If the people feel that a change would be beneficial to the public interest, they are fortunate in having a man of ability willing and ready to accept the office.

My opponent is sending out under date of August 30th, 1928, an "endorsement" signed by some of the county supervisors. Most of these signatures were obtained at a meeting of the Board held several months ago. I was told of it by some of the signers as far back as the Fourth of July. They said they did not intend to pledge their support when they signed this paper, and since then, some of them have incited my nominating petitions and others are supporting me. But it was held until the last minute so that I could not get an explanation from these men to the voters. IT IS LAST MINUTE STUFF, and the PEOPLE will not be fooled by it. When it was not published promptly I did not think my opponent intended to use it. And many of the men who signed it did not know at the time that I was definitely going to be a candidate for the office, or that anyone else was going to run but my opponent. Some of them knew, but for reasons of their own, signed up. Some refused and some were not asked. But the men who did sign, must admit that the date "AUGUST 30th" was added to the statement long after it had been signed, and that the actual signing took place before I announced my candidacy or filed my petition on July 17th.

Fair play is typical of the American people. I know they will not refuse it to me, and I am confident of the outcome of this election.

Respectfully yours,

Torval E. Strom

FRIENDS ADVISED THAT SHE GIVE DRECO A TRIAL

Weighted only 86 pounds, had pains in her stomach and body felt she had been beaten. Gained five pounds on first bottle of Dreco.

"I've been in a rundown, debilitated condition for sometime but seemed that nothing helped me. My friends advised me to try the new medicine Dreco which was helping so many others and I'm glad I did," are the words of Mrs. Florence LaComb of 323 South 19th St., Escanaba, Mich.

"During the last year I've had such pains in my legs and body I felt like I had been severely beaten. I also had cramping pains in my stomach. I slept poorly because my nerves were on edge and my bowels were constipated. I lost my appetite and went down to where I only weighed 86 pounds.

"I've never seen medicine help anyone as Dreco has me. I now sleep well, have a good appetite, the pains in my stomach and body are much better and the constipation has passed off. I've gained five pounds and expect to gain much more as I am going to continue taking Dreco till I'm well and strong like I once was."

The twelve herbal extracts from which Dreco is made tone up, strengthen and invigorate the entire system. Dreco restores energy and vitality, aids and strengthens digestion, regulates sluggish bowels and makes one feel fine in general.

Author of "Diet and Health" and "Diet for Children"

ANTITOXIC LAXATIVE DIET ELIMINATES ALL FLESH FOODS.

K.—The term antitoxic laxative diet is one that is used at the Battle Creek and other similar sanitariums. According to their standards, it means the elimination of all flesh foods...

The laxative part would be, as we all know, the inclusion of large portions of whole grain breads and cereals, and perhaps added bran, agar or psyllium seeds, and more fruits and vegetables.

We don't all believe that flesh foods, unless contaminated, are toxic, unless eaten in excess. For that matter, this applies to all foods.

Very many profit by a so-called vegetarian diet, or what we call a lacto-ovo-vegetarian diet—milk, eggs and vegetables—and the chief reason for this is that without flesh foods of some kind, one is much more apt to get the needed fruits and vegetables and milk.

We have an article on Balanced Diet which you may have if you are interested. See column rules.

Pressure Cookers. I understand when I purchased my pressure cooker that it was the most scientific method of cooking food. Now comes another method of cooking food.

According to Hess, the length of time it takes to cook, and whether or not the foods are exposed to alkalies, such as soda, and to the oxygen of the air, have more to do with the destruction of the vitamins than the intensity of the heat.

The pressure cooker and the water-less cookers are certainly great factors in good nutrition. If you haven't either of these, cook your vegetables, tightly covered, in just sufficient water to keep them from burning.

in soups. Don't cook your vegetables to the mushy stage. Learn to like them firm. It is better for the teeth and nutrition.

Three "Gold Sticks" Guard British King. London—One of the most romantic offices in the British kingdom is that of the Gold Stick, to which Field-Marshal Sir William Robertson has been appointed in succession to the late Field-Marshal Earl Haig.

As a "Gold Stick," Sir William is personally responsible for the safety of the king's person a month at a time. His duties are officially described thus:

"One of the captains commanding the Life Guards shall wait next to His Majesty's person before all others, carrying in his hand an ebony staff with a gold head, engraved with His Majesty's Cypher and Crown.

"He shall be in attendance on the king's person wherever he walks, from his rising to his going to bed, except in the royal bed-chamber."

Sir William came into his new office by virtue of his appointment to the colonelcy of the Royal Horse Guards, or Household Cavalry.

This position carries with it the court appointment of Gold Stick. There are three such appointments, the others being Vice-count Allenby and Major-General Sir C. Bingham. They take turn at being Gold Stick in Waiting, each being on duty for a month at a time.

CHAPTER XV

"When Blaque accused me of crying, Lynda," said Claire Stanhope, "I pulled myself away and told him I was not crying because I loved him and had been deceived, but because I had found out that I did not love him, and it made me ashamed. He would not believe this, and we argued for hours."

"I'm so sorry you are going away tomorrow, David," I'll miss you more than ever. There's no one in the world I can talk to as I do to you."

"Dearest!" exclaimed David, as his arm stole around her. Lynda couldn't tell why it was that she pulled away from his embrace, but after what Claire had just told her, she didn't want any man not even David, to make love to her, David, not knowing of Claire's confidences, jumped to the conclusion that Lynda, after seeing Ralph Armitage had realized his fascination.

"Be sure you don't let Armitage make love to you while I am away," he said roughly. "Why should he, David? You talk as if men made love to their secretaries."

"I wouldn't trust Armitage very far if I were you." Lynda laughed. David sat up stiffly.

"I'm not laughing at you, David," said Lynda. "I'm laughing at a picture of Ralph Armitage making love to Miss Calla."

David came over after supper and Lynda told him the good news about being asked to do Ralph Armitage's work. He didn't receive it as enthusiastically as she thought he would, and was greatly disappointed.

As he was leaving, Lynda followed him out on the porch. The moon—their moon—the moon that they had watched wax and wane so many times—was beginning to grow smaller.

with a glance. "The thought of you, Lynda, sitting in that office alone with Armitage all day, sets me wild," said David.

These words from his lips set Lynda's nerves all a-thrill, and if he had taken her in his arms at that moment and told her that he wanted her, she would have realized that he was the one man in all the world for her. Instead, he said:

"Emily Andrews said something about a party at June Challer's studio next week; said she she was going to ask you. 'Are you going?'"

"I'd like to, David. I've never been to a party, you know. But I don't believe that I can go, for I have nothing to wear."

The name Emily Andrews right after his impassioned love-making had chilled Lynda, as she drew away from his encircling arm.

"Oh, I forgot," he said. "I went to the bank this morning and stopped payment on that check. I'll make out another, and then you can have a dress to wear to the party."

David did not tell Lynda that he asked to see his balance, and found that the check had been cashed. Her endorsement had been clumsily forged, and her father's endorsement was under the other. But David said nothing. She was having a hard enough row to hoe without his making it harder.

If she had not lost all interest in any check from David, and declined it curtly, she would have noticed that he had stammered a little when he spoke about the check she had lost.

"I'll have enough money to do me until I get my first pay from Mr. Armitage," she said. "I think I can wear my graduation frock."

David was hurt and, manlike he did not keep it to himself. "What can have changed you, Lynd? Yesterday I felt that you and I understood each other perfectly. Tonight we hardly seem friends."

Foxy Chaliapin Did Everything But Sing

Berlin—Fedor Chaliapin was willing to do everything that can be expected from an international operatic star except to sing, when he was entertained by the Berlin Actor's club during his recent series of guest performances.

After the actors and their invited guests had been introduced and the usual speeches of welcome had been delivered, there were insistent yells for Chaliapin. He rose and delivered a talk on his life as an artist, emphasizing that once upon a time his friend Maxim Gorki had been given a tenor role in a provincial opera while he, Chaliapin, was considered good enough only for the chorus.

But the speech did not satisfy. "Sing, sing," was shouted from every side. Chaliapin now drew a big cartoon of himself. It was acclaimed and cheered, but his coactors continued to call for a song.

Again Chaliapin rose. He began to act—but the voice was not forthcoming. He acted a superb pantomime, but his admirers waited in vain for his heavenly voice. The sly fox knew that he was bound by his contract not to sing except on engagement, and he stuck to it even when among his confidants.

This was the first appearance of Chaliapin in opera in Germany since the war. He has appeared once or twice in concerts, but the size of his operatic fee—17,000 marks a night—was hitherto prohibitive, as the Berlin opera have agreed not to pay more than 1,000 marks a night to any star. The engagement was finally made possible by Chaliapin's bringing with him an entire ensemble—the Lettish state opera from Riga—which through a Berlin concert manager hired the three Berlin operas for two performances each.

This thing of waitin' around for one's wife to make up her mind which way he is to vote is provin' rather irksome to a lotta husbands.—Kalamazoo Gazette.

JUSTIFICATION OF WAR SEEN IN KELLOGG ANTI-WAR TREATY.

By PROF. E. M. BORCHARD Professor of Law at Yale University.

The original proposition of Mr. Kellogg is an unconditional renunciation of war. The treaty as now qualified by the French and British reservations constitutes a new renunciation or outlawry of war but in fact is a solemn sanction for all wars mentioned in the exceptions and qualifications.

When we look at the exceptions we observe that they include wars of self-defense, each party being free to make its own interpretation as to when self-defense is involved; wars under the League Covenant, under the Locarno treaty and under the French treaty of alliance. Far from constituting an outlawry of war, they constitute the most solemn sanction of specific wars that has ever been given to the world.

This cannot be charged primarily to Secretary Kellogg, whose intentions were of the best, but is the result of the reservations insisted upon by European powers, who, it is still to be feared, comprehend peace as a condition of affairs achieved through war or the threat of war.

MR. BARTLEY REPLIES.

Escanaba, Sept. 1 (To the Editor)—My attention has been called to a hand-bill or pamphlet, distributed in and around Escanaba yesterday, purporting to have been issued by "The Delta County Wel-fare League." I think that it is only just that it should be answer-ed by those whom it concerns. The writer would be interested in finding the purport of this pamphlet as no "League" of this name has ever been heard of in this community at any other time. There is no doubt in the writer's mind that the material contained in this pamphlet is very far fetched. We suggest that the "Personal Element" be left out of politics. 18 YEARS A RESIDENT OF DELTA COUNTY.

13 Years As Assistant Cashier At Bark River State Bank

VOTE FOR Rene H. Labre FOR County Clerk

At The Republican Primaries
Tuesday, Sept. 4th

and you vote for the man who was chosen by the Delta County Board of Supervisors as best qualified to fill the un-expired term of Geo. Harvey, resigned last April.

(Paid Political Advertisement)

Supervisors Recommend Nomination and Election of Judge Yelland

The men of Delta county eminently qualified to judge the merits of a public servant are those who are brought into closest touch with the work and the record of that public servant. Members of the board of supervisors of Delta county, by virtue of the duties of their office, have supervision over the appropriation of every dollar of public funds for every county office and are intimately acquainted with the manner in which every dollar of those funds is expended.

The judge of probate, under the law, cannot order the expenditure of one dollar of public funds without the recommendation of other public officials. The Supervisors possess probably more intimate knowledge of the details of the work of the judge of probate's office than of any other county office. They are in a position to know the necessary qualifications and temperament of the judge of probate and to judge his record of accomplish-ments.

The individual members of the Delta county board of supervisors, recognizing these facts, as shown below have unqualifiedly and unreservedly recommended to the people of this county the nomination and election of Judge Judd Yelland, as judge of probate of this county.

At the time each supervisor affixed his signature to this recommendation and endorsement, it was known by and discussed with each signer that Torval E. Strom was a candidate for the office.

The endorsement and recommendation follows:

"TO THE VOTERS OF DELTA COUNTY:

"We, the undersigned members of the Board of Supervisors of Delta County, having knowledge of the business affairs of the county and of the economical, efficient, and satisfactory way the office of judge of probate has been conducted for many years, do hereby recommend the nomination and election of Judge Judd Yelland to said office to succeed himself. Dated, August 30, 1928.

- EMIL NORDEN, Supervisor of Baldwin Township.
 - HELMER BRUCE, Supervisor of Bark River Township.
 - GEO. PETERSON, Supervisor of Bay De Noc Township.
 - A. J. VOELKER, Supervisor of Brampton Township.
 - SUPERVISOR LUNDGAARD signed and circulated Judge Yelland's nomination petition,—Supervisor of Cornell Township.
 - HAROLD F. GUSTAFSON, Supervisor of Ensign Township.
 - JOVITE ROBART, Supervisor of Escanaba Township.
 - MARTIN BIRK, Supervisor of Fairbanks Township.
 - H. A. KASTEN, Supervisor of Ford River Township.
 - CHARLES GAUTHIER, Supervisor of Garden Township.
 - AUGUST LARSON, Supervisor of Maple Ridge Township.
 - SUPERVISOR CAMERON signed and circulated Judge Yelland's nom-ination petition,—Supervisor of Nahma Township.
 - WILLIAM J. MILLER, Supervisor of Masonville Township.
 - O. J. THORSEN, Supervisor of Wells Township.
 - C. E. HAWKINS,
 - I. N. BUSHONG,
 - ERICK M. JOHNSON,
 - J. H. MURPHY,
- Supervisors of Gladstone."
- NOTE: Because of the fact that the two candidates for judge of pro-bate in this election reside in the city of Escanaba, the above recommenda-tion and endorsement was not submitted to any member of the county board from the city, of Escanaba.

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

"I Am for Fewer and Less Notifications. The Fellow That Is Going to Get Beat Would Be Better Off If He Was Never Notified."

BY WILL ROGERS

Well, all I know is just what I read in the papers, and all I have read for weeks is, "I have been nominated for this high office, and all I can say is that I accept." Well, if they would just quit right there, acceptances wouldn't be so hard on us, but after announcing that he accepts papers and tells why he goes ahead for two full news-caps. We didn't ask any of them WHY. We know why they accept, they never tell the real reason. But they go on and tell of all the wonderful ideas they have that they want to try out on us when they do get in.

They tell of the high honor that has been bestowed on em. There has been no high honor bestowed on em yet, they have to be elected before there is any high honor coming. There is nothing with less honor connected with it than a defeated Candidate. But we have to read all this.

I am for a bill in Congress for fewer and less notifications. Take for instance the fellow that is going to get beat. He would be better off if he never was notified.

Hoover His Road. Hoover left us flat out here in California. He hit the road with his new act and from what I hear it has been going fine. He tried it out in Los Angeles, and he had a great finish. (For California). He came out strong for Boulder Dam. That put him in the hit class right there. Then Smith followed with his notification, which he had asked the Boys not to notify him till he was real good and ready. He had to dispose of William Randolph White and Surgeon Stratton, before he could get his mind on serious things. He made a fine acceptance. One of his best ones, and he has been accepting since he was old enough to hold office.

What did he say? Well, what do they all say? Did he come out on the leading issues of the day? He did. Did he solve them? He sure did. How did he solve them? By promising anything that was wanted.

But what happened of a constructive nature that week? Why Art Gobel just hopped in a Plane about two miles from old Beverley Hills, put in about 450 gallons of gas, (name deleted by censor) and eighteen hours later he stepped out at Curtis Field, Long Island. He just made 145 miles an hour, and flew the course by instruments, and not by house tops, and rivers. That shows what we will be doing pretty soon. By the mail Planes it takes about 33 hours.

Snorting, Whistling, Snoring for the Talkies

Ambassador Harvey. You know that fellow Harvey, Our Ex-Ambassador to Great Britain who died. There was a great character. He would be a Republican and then see the evils of his way, and turn around and be a Democrat, and to be sure that he stood in with the party he happened to be with at that time, why he would appoint the President, so it would be sure to be some friend. He picked up Wilson when it looked like he ne-of it one night he came to the Follies just after his return from Europe, and I had a lot of Gags about him as he was very much in the public eye at that time. He was quite a talker and I remember I had one where I said I see Ambassador Harvey is back. I wanted to go down to the boat to hear him land. We also had a scene where Brandon Tynan, a splendid Actor, was impersonating Harvey, so after the little sketch I introduced the real Harvey to the audience and insisted that he say a few words. He said, "I hope you don't fall for this. This is another of Will's little jokes. I am another actor also impersonating Mr. Harvey, so the joke is on Will!" Well, do you know people didn't know if it was him, or another Actor. That was what I called about the quickest thinking as a get-back I ever saw.

He was an awful pleasant fine fellow, and in his day I guess wielded about the biggest influence of any newspaper man.

Tom Mix "Upheavos." Our old friend, Tom Mix, had a little local upheaval lately. Some Actor said that anyway, Tony, the horse, would be good in the "Talkies." He could at least snort. Well that kinder got Tom's nanny, and he just snorted all over this person and it took a day to wind on the adhesive tape. These actors out here are kinder sensitive about this Talkie business, and this old boy should have kinder looked over his territory before he made that crack. I went to see one of the new "Squawkie" the other night. It was billed as "Metro Goldwyn first sound picture," and the only sound in it was Monte Blue whistling. He never reproduced a word he said, or any of the others, but it did whistle when he did. It didn't even whistle the same tune he did. Well, that wasn't bad, for he had done his whistling in the south seas, and this whistling was done in the studio, so you couldn't expect them to remember what he had

AUTO LICENSES NOW HALF PRICE

Reduction in Price Applies Only to New Cars, However

The one-half rate for 1928 Michigan automobile licenses became effective Saturday morning and until the end of the year car licenses will cost but one-half of their usual rate.

Any applicant for a car license under the reduced rate must sign an affidavit that the car has not whistled three months before. But that's what they were selling as a sound picture was Monte's whistling.

He Got a "Whistle." Now I like Monte, he is a dandy actor, but I don't like to be hornswoggled into going in to just hear him whistle. For he is not what I would call an A-No.-1 whistler. I paid to see a "Talkie" and all I got was a "Whistle."

I suppose Metro Goldwyn's next snoring. So I guess that's why Bill Morrissey thought Tom Mix's sound triumph will be Jack horse would make a good "Snorty."

SOUSA PLAYS NEW MARCHES

"Golden Jubilee" and "Cornhuskers" on Band's Program

Perhaps the chief reason for the long-continued success of Lieut. Com. John Philip Sousa has been that his programs always have been based upon novelty. Although the famous bandmaster is now in his seventy-fourth year and although his tour this season, which will celebrate his fiftieth anniversary as a conductor, might well have been reminiscent, there will be as many novelties for the season of 1928 as there were for the season of 1892, the year in which Sousa laid down his baton as director of the United States Marine Band to form his own organization.

Sousa and his band will give two concerts at the Delft on Sept. 13.

Sousa fans have been taught for more than three decades to expect at least one new Sousa march each year. This season there are two, "Golden Jubilee," the reason for whose title is obvious and "The Cornhuskers," dedicated to the University of Nebraska. There is the annual humorous, in which Sousa comments in terms of music upon the season's foibles and fancies as well as a review of the New York revues and musical comedies entitled "Ten Minutes on Broadway."

But Sousa does not believe in presenting to his audiences only novelties of his own composition. It was Sousa who presented to American audiences Wagnerian music before the great German works were played in the Metropolitan Opera House in New York, and it was Sousa who played for the first time outside New York Schelling's "Victory Ball." So it is Sousa who is presenting for the first time by band the Delius rhapsody, "Brigg Fair," and an arrangement for a flute sextet of Tchaikowsky's "Dance of the Merlions."

Sousa's Golden Jubilee Tour is a coast-to-coast junket, occupying more than twenty weeks.

TODAY'S PROGRAMS.

At the Delft: Richard Dix in a baseball picture, "Warming Up." At the Strand: "Flame in the Sky," an airplane melodrama.

"Four generations of Hicks have lived in this house and we ain't leavin' now."

With those words Old Man Hicks breathes defiance to Old Man Beagle and a bloody feud in the Kentucky mountains is on in "The Big Killing," the Paramount Wallace Beery-Raymond Hatton team comedy coming to the Delft Monday and Tuesday.

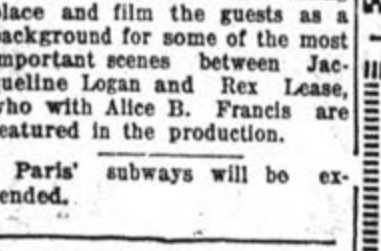

The Hicks and the Beagles had quit "feuding" for the more profitable pastime of making corn "licker," but when one of the Beagle boys finds his sister in the arms of young Jim Hicks, the stills get a rest and the rifles come into use again.

Beery and Hatton are, as usual, the round pegs in the square holes. They stumble into the thick of the feud when they think they are landing a soft job. Then they find themselves busier than they have ever been before, dodging bullets.

AT THE STRAND.

The patrons of one of Hollywood's popular Chinese restaurants were the unwitting players in some of the scenes of Columbia's "Broadway Daddies," which comes to the Strand Monday and Tuesday. Harry Cohn, who is in charge of production, arranged to conceal cameras in the eating place and film the guests as a background for some of the most important scenes between Jacqueline Logan and Rex Lease, who with Alice B. Francis are featured in the production.

Voters Must Use Only One Ballot In Primary Vote

Voters should bear in mind that the primary election, next Tuesday, has nothing to do with the nomination or election of president. Candidates for president already have been nominated by national conventions.

In the November election, when a president is voted for, all tickets are on one ballot. There are five separate primary elections, each with its own ballots. The parties participating are Republican, Democratic, Prohibition, Socialist and Workers. On entering the voting place it is necessary to call the ballot desired. There is no contest of any kind for county offices on the Democratic ballot. Any person desiring to participate in the nomination of any of the Republican candidates for governor, lieutenant governor, state senator, judge of probate, sheriff, county clerk, or prosecuting attorney, must call for a Republican ballot.

Any person writing in the name of a Republican candidate on the ballot of any other party, is defeating his own purpose as the vote will not count in the Republican column.

SCHOOL BELLS RING TUESDAY

Everything in Readiness for Opening, Cheney Announces

School bells will ring again in Escanaba Tuesday morning when the 1928-29 school term opens. Buildings have been repaired, teaching staffs and courses organized so that all will be in readiness to start work the first day, R. E. Cheney, superintendent, announced.

All principals and supervisors will hold a meeting at the high school tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock, and a general meeting of all teachers will be held at 10 o'clock. Tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, principals will meet with their teachers in the various buildings.

"It is absolutely necessary, especially in the high school, that all pupils start school the first day," Mr. Cheney said yesterday. "Children cannot make a good start unless they are present to hear the preliminary instructions concerning books and courses."

A freshman hour will be held at the high school tomorrow from 9 to 10 o'clock when freshmen and other new students will be introduced to the school. The Orange & Black society and the Eskey Moratorium will be in charge. New students may secure lockers at that time.

A general assembly of all students will be held in the high school at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning when they are asked to bring money for purchasing new or second-hand books.

Brotherton-Lemmer.

Among the early fall weddings is the one which was solemnized at St. Patrick's church when Miss Helen Orpha Brotherton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh O. Brother-ton, 906 Seventh avenue south, be-came the bride of Conrad P. Lem-mer, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Lemmer, 504 South Thirteenth street.

Rev. Fr. John Mockler performed the ceremony and was the celebrant at the nuptial high mass. Lohengrin's wedding march was played as the bridal party entered the church. Mrs. William Ram-speck presiding at the organ; Les-ter Brotherton the cello, and Ul-ric Zachaty played the violin obli-gato. During the mass, Mr. Zach-aty played a violin solo, "Thals," by Massinet; Mrs. John Kroes sang Bach's "Gloria"; and Dr. A. J. Connelly sang "Because," Mendelssohn's march was played as the party left the church.

Gladoli in profusion adorned the chancel rail and the sanctuary and altar, potted ferns and plants be-ing placed among the flowers. The bridegroom and his attend-ant, Harry Lemmer, a brother, en-tered from the right of the altar and met the matron of honor, Mrs. Lester Brotherton, at the chancel rail. The bride entered on the arm of her father who presented her to the bridegroom.

The matron of honor wore a blue chiffon velvet gown, trimmed in silver lace; her hat was of felt, blue velvet and silver lace and silver colored shoes and hose com-pleted the striking ensemble.

The bride's gown was of pink satin, made with a bodice and bouffant skirt; a pink transparent hat trimmed in velvet ribbon with long streamers and silver colored slippers and hose former a charm-ing costume.

Both carried large bouquets of roses and baby breath with sprays of maiden hair ferns. After the church ceremony, a breakfast was served at Jay's Tea Room for members of the immedi-ate families. A color scheme of pink and white was carried out in the decorations, fans and place-cards. Tall pink tapers adorned the tables and cut flowers in pink and white were placed about the dining room.

Mr. and Mrs. Lemmer left for a motor trip to Madison and Minne-apolis after which they will be at home at 1110 Lake Shore Drive.

Mrs. Lemmer was born and reared in this city and is a graduate of Escanaba high school. She had been employed as a saleslady at the Boston Store until several months ago when she was employ-ed at Lauerman's.

Mr. Lemmer is employed as bookkeeper at the First National bank and is a graduate of St. Joseph's high school.

Both have a host of friends in this city and several social func-tions during the past few weeks have proven their popularity among the younger set.

Entertains for Friends. Mrs. A. Wagner and Mrs. M. Nel-son entertained Wednesday after-noon in honor of Mrs. J. Greis of Flint and Mrs. Hendrickson of Se-attle, Wash., at the Joseph Peter-son cottage on Bay Shore road.

Five hundred and bunco were play-ed. High honors for five hundred were made by Mrs. Peterson, Mrs. Joseph Duford was awarded con-solation. Bunco high was awarded Miss Carrie Oetjen, and consola-tion to Mrs. Mary Hendrickson. A six o'clock dinner was served to twenty-one friends.

Ryall-Purdy. One of the season's most beauti-ful social events was the marriage of Miss Elizabeth Ryall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Ryall, to Harry Donald Purdy, son of Mrs. Nina Purdy, of Appleton, Wis. Their wedding was celebrated at St. Stephen's Episcopal church yes-terday afternoon, with the Right Rev. Robert Leroy Harris and Rev. John Crippen Evans officiating.

The service was beautiful and impressive in its simplicity. The relatives of the Ryall and Purdy families and a few family friends were the only guests present at the wedding. The church, always lovely with its dark windows and furnishings, was even more lovely when decorated with the contrast-ing brilliance of the season's flow-ers.

The bride, on the arm of her fa-ther, preceded by her bridesmaid, Miss Henrietta Scovell, was met at the chancel steps by Mr. Purdy and his attendant, R. H. Purdy. Miss Ryall was exquisite in a peri-od dress of ivory taffeta and a long tulle veil with a cap of rose point lace. Her only ornament was a necklace of pearls, the wedding gift of her fiance. Her bouquet was made up of white roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Scovell wore a period dress of rose and French blue taffeta, and a large rose-col-ored picture hat. The flowers in her bouquet were also rose and blue. Mrs. Ryall was lovely in a gown of sea-green georgette and a mauve colored picture hat.

The wedding party adjourned to the Ryall home on Lake Shore Drive, where the wedding recep-tion was held at four o'clock. One hundred and fifty guests were pres-ent. Mrs. J. E. Frost and Mrs. J. A. Somer, who composed the choir for the wedding, accompanied by Mrs. Maurice Fernstrom, sang duets and solos throughout the af-ternoon to entertain the guests. Re-freshments were served from four until six o'clock in the dining room and library.

Immediately after the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Purdy started on their wedding trip. They are motoring through Canada to Quebec and Montreal, returning in three weeks by way of New York and Chicago. They will make their home in Ap-pleton at 122 North Rankin street.

There were no clues found yes-terday in the police investigation of the robbery of three homes in the city while occupants of the three houses were absent from the city this week.

Rev. John H. Hubbard, who re-turned to the city yesterday from a visit, reported that the follow-ing articles were missing: one Harrington & Richardson re-volver, one small savings bank containing about three dollars in small coins; one set of Brown-ing's works; one lavalliere, one Y. M. C. A. pin, one Adrian col-lege pin, and one class pin bear-ing initials, "M. H. S."

Now read the Classified page.

Several Articles Taken From Home of Rev. Hubbard

The out-of-town guests present were: Miss Henrietta Scovell of Lansing, Mich., bridesmaid; Miss Eleanor Beckman, of Naperville, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Ryall and Donald and Dorothy Ryall, Kalamazoo; Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Foxson and E. G. Foxson, Jr., Lansing; Mrs. Carrie Foxson, Lansing; Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Buchanan and Wil-liam and Josephine Buchanan, Ap-pleton; Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Tuttle, Appleton; Mrs. Nina Purdy, Apple-ton; Mrs. R. H. Adams, Elwood City, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Purdy and sons, Bruce and Hamp-ton of Appleton.

In honor of the marriage of their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ryall have established the baptismal font at the west end of the nave of St. Stephen's church. They have also provided an embroidered cover for it which bears their daughter's name.

Crutches Carry Marathon Hiker Into Manistique

Swinging briskly down Cedar street on his crutches, W. A. Hogle, world famous marathon hiker, arrived in Manistique yesterday on one leg of his journey to New York City.

Hogle claims a record of some 118,300 miles walked since March 7, 1914. He says he never accepts rides from motorists, despite the fact that his left leg is amputated at the knee, a souvenir of Chateau Thierry dating July 21, 1918.

The selling of souvenir cards, bearing his photograph and a description of his activities, is Hogle's means of financing his adventure. He stated that he also was competing for a cash prize offered by the Iron Clad Walking club of New York City.

The loss of his leg in war service proved no stumbling block, and upon his return from France he started hiking from New York City to San Francisco and return, negotiating the distance in 21 months. From July 26, 1921, to April 8, 1923, he traversed around the rim of the United States, and from May 8, 1923, to July 27, 1926, visited every city in the United States of 25,000 or more in population. He retraced his tracks around the rim of this country from August 18, 1926, to December 14, 1927, and then started a trip from Newark, N. J., to Houston, Texas, and return via the upper peninsula.

ISERY B A Y, Sept. 1 (To the Editor) — We are approaching with rapid fastness, the day of Michigan's great and solemn referendum which will determinately designate the candidates of the various parties for county offices.

All this is going to cost us quite a little bit of money. In other words, a considerable sum will be expended. I mean to say that it can be done by no means for nothing. And when these people are elected we will have to pay them remunerative salaries commensurate with what they think they can earn.

The new Buick is the new Style

More than handsome... more than luxurious... a wonderful new type of motor car beauty... a thrilling turning point in body design

It will be imitated, of course! The new, the fine and the beautiful always inspire emulation. But so great is the cost of building the magnificent new Fisher bodies for the Silver Anniversary Buick that imitation will be possible only to much costlier cars and even these will find difficulty in following where Buick leads!

$1,500,000 has been expended in manufacturing the dies alone for the new Buick bodies; and the gracefully curving side panels which form one of their distinguishing characteristics represent the most expensive steel paneling work employed on any automobile in the world!

But it is not in the matchless grace and beauty of exterior design alone that the Silver Anniversary Buick eclipses other cars. The velvet-moist upholstery in the closed models—the hardware and fittings—the many appointments of luxury and convenience—are all of the richest quality; and the bracing of the bodies, which imparts strength and durability and freedom from squeaks and rattles, is the most efficient and effective known to motor car practice.

MARKET NEWS
MART EXHIBITS MUCH BREADTH

Table with columns: STOCK SALES AVERAGES, Date, Industrials, Railroads. Includes sub-table for NEW YORK STOCKS (Last Sales).

BY STANLEY W. PRENSOIS
Associated Press Financial Editor

New York, Sept. 1.—(AP)—The stock market today exhibited unusual breadth and activity for a short pre-holiday session. While heavy profit-taking in several of the recent favorites caused some irregularity in price movements, major speculative operations again were on the side of rising prices.

Although money was not the direct factor in today's market, the fact that call loans have not risen above 7 1/2 per cent this week in the face of extraordinarily heavy month-end and holiday demands for funds stimulated bullish activity.

Some high-priced specialists again were whirled upward in impressive fashion. Case Threshing machine soared nearly 11 points to 357 1/2. A. M. Byers climbed about 9 points to 114 and Curtiss Aero ran up about 7 to 129 3/4; all closing near the day's high levels.

Electric Auto-Lite was bid up more than 5 points to 93 3/4 against a low of 66 earlier in the year.

Foreign exchanges were steady. Japanese Yen advanced 33 points. Oils, sluggish at late as the result of increased crude production, presented a few points of strength.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—Butter was steady to firm at unchanged prices with trading generally slow.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—Potatoes, receipts 85 cars, on track, total United States shipments 670 cars; trading slow; market weak.

HAND BILL IS REPUDIATED

Political Pamphlet Meets Prompt and Emphatic Disclaimers

Appearance on the streets of Escanaba yesterday of a hand-bill signed, "The Delta County Welfare League," attacking the candidacies of two aspirants for nominations in next Tuesday's Republican primary, was followed immediately by sweeping repudiations of the document by men whom, by inference, it was purported to benefit.

"I never heard of any such organization as the 'Delta County Welfare League,'" said Torval E. Strom.

"I most certainly had no connection in any way, with the preparation, printing or circulation of the hand-bill, nor does it have my approval. I am not in sympathy with its contents and I am not in sympathy with the manner in which it is being circulated. I want the public to know that I had nothing, whatever, to do with it and I regret that it was issued."

In a signed advertisement in The Press this morning, Sheriff Elmer Swanson, opponent of another candidate mentioned in the hand-bill, also repudiates that portion of it which refers to the contest for sheriff.

No one could be found yesterday who had any knowledge of a "Delta County Welfare League," or who would admit having had a part in the matter.

Consequently, while the origin remained a mystery, the emphatic disclaimers of interested parties robbed the bill of any effectiveness it might have had.

A one hundred dollar reward was offered by Judge Judd Yelland for information regarding the persons who printed the pamphlet.

Back From Vacation

Vacations are always hard on clothes. The dust from the roads get ground into the fabrics of your garments. It weakens them, and hastens the time they'll have to be discarded, unless taken care of.

Therefore, many people have formed the wise habit of sending all their vacation clothes to us right after they return. We clean them thoroughly and without leaving any trace or odor, and press them with modern equipment which SHAPES your clothes like new. They'll come back looking better than you "dared hope to expect."

Speedboat Owned by British Woman Sinks in First Heat of Race

Detroit, Sept. 1.—The International Harmsworth trophy for speedboats—the premier award for power boat racing—rested at the bottom of the Detroit river tonight, probably lost forever, her mechanic injured and her pilot, Marian Barbara Carstairs, plucky British sports-woman grieving but unharmed following the initial heat of the race classic held here today.

Gar Wood, gray-haired veteran of the river courses, and holder of the Harmsworth trophy for the past five years, roared down the Detroit river's power boat course in his latest phantom boat, Miss America VII, a boat whose "speak" power never has been reached, to win the heat and set a new Harmsworth record for a single heat of $8,411 statute miles per hour over a course of 30 nautical miles. To again secure possession of the trophy, Wood must race his boat one more heat, on Monday. His victory, barring an accident, seems certain.

Out of Running
Joe Harris, of England, Miss Carstairs' valued mechanic, is in St. Mary's hospital suffering from two broken ribs and possible internal injuries following the spectacular upset of the British boat, while speeding up the course at a 60-mile clip. The Estelle II, a pigmy when compared to the other Harmsworth entries, dived high into the air then nosed into the water when it struck a swell toward the end of the first lap. Pilot and mechanic were thrown from the boat, which sank immediately. Tugboats were trying to locate it in the river channel, but so far efforts have been unavailing.

The defeat threw the foreign challenge entirely out of the running. Gar Wood's second boat, the Miss America V, winner of the trophy in 1920 and in years thereafter, ran second in the first heat today. James Talbot's Miss Los Angeles was a poor third and last contestant.

Commander Harry Greening of Hamilton, Ont., driving the Rainbow VI, won the first heat of the North American championship race when his only opponent the Scorpion, of New York, sank when its propeller was struck by a propeller, piercing the hull.

TIGERS DOWN BROWNS, 6-4

Three Homers and Collection of Singles Win Game

St. Louis, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Detroit's three hom runs, coupled with a collection of eight singles, cost the St. Louis Browns a 6 to 4 defeat here today.

Hargrave was the chief offender, crashing out two of the homers to score four runs. Wingo got the other four-ply clout for the Tigers. Schang's homer was only a gesture in comparison to the Detroit hitting spree.

Extend Time for Reply to Letters

The sum of $277.50 had been pledged for the proposed Schumann-Helk concert when the allotted time for the reply to form letters expired last night, officials of the Escanaba Lyceum Bureau announced.

Because of the sudden spurt taken in the replies received yesterday, it was decided to extend the time until Tuesday.

The plan of the bureau is to split up the cost of the concert, expected to be $1700. The sum of $500 will be taken out of the lyceum fund. Nine hundred dollars remains to be pledged before the prima donna will be scheduled to appear in this city.

About 80 answers have been received to the 640 letters sent out to previous patrons of the lyceum courses. Anyone who has not sent in their pledge and who plans to do so, must act at once if the singer is to come to Escanaba.

Cars in Transit Must Each Have License Plates

Drivers of automobiles in transit from factory to dealers must have a chauffeur's license and each automobile must carry license plates on both front and rear ends, according to the state motor vehicle laws.

Five young men, who were driving new cars from the Pontiac factory to the Peninsula Oakland company here, were arrested by two state troopers yesterday. They were arraigned before Justice of the Peace Rangnes, and upon recommendation of the state police they were fined $1 and costs each.

Neither of the drivers had a chauffeur license, and only the lead car of the five in transit had the proper license. The drivers were: Francis Gallagher, Dewey Duncan, George Derouin, John Gannon and Walter Coolman.

Coach Puckelwartz arrived in Escanaba Friday and has been getting acquainted with players and fans in the city. He expressed great pleasure with the reception given him here. When queried yesterday as to what he thought of the team's prospects he stated that he would know better after becoming familiar with the material.

Fans who met Puckelwartz yesterday were enthusiastic about him, and predicted that he would mold the material at his disposal into a team that would make a most creditable showing.

Railroaders to Battle Wells This Afternoon; Lloyds Here Tomorrow

The Chicago & North Western baseball team will figure in two contests over the week-end, meeting the strong Wells aggregation for the first time this afternoon and playing the Lloyds of Menominee tomorrow.

The game at Wells will start at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Burns, former hurler of the disbanded Indiana team, will pitch for the sawmill town nine, while Wurlley will catch. Manager Fred Olmsted of the Rails announced yesterday he probably will start Van Etten against Wells. Moreau will catch.

The strong Lloyds team, which has won nine out of the ten games played this season, is coming to Escanaba on Labor Day set on adding another scalp to its belt. The battle will be waged on the Chicago and North Western baseball lot on North Fourteenth street, and as no admission fee will be charged it is expected that a large crowd will witness the encounter. Hughie Brotherton is likely to get the first call for mound duty.

The baseball season here is drawing near to a close, and fans who desire to see two more good exhibitions of the national pastime before the season ends are advised to attend the two week-end contests.

Stone Makes Hole
in Car Windshield;
Driver's Eye Hurt

Christ Jorgensen, of Pontiac, sustained serious injuries to his right eye on U.S. 2, near Rexton, recently when a pebble, thrown up by a passing automobile, flew through the windshield of his car, pieces of flying glass entering his eye. The stone came up with such force that it made a hole in the glass similar to that of a bullet.

Jorgensen left yesterday for Chicago
after visiting with his brother,
Jack, and other relatives.

IT is to labor, and labor only, that man owes everything possessed of exchangeable value. Labor is the talisman that has raised him from the condition of the savage; that has changed the desert and the forest into cultivated fields; that has covered the earth with cities, and the oceans with ships; that has given us plenty, comfort and elegance, instead of want, misery and barbarism.

Labor Day
1928

IT is well to think that here in America —the one great prosperous nation in a troubled world—men can work in peace, accumulate in security, and enjoy their independence unmolested.

The privilege of being an American was never more priceless than on this
Labor Day, 1928.

The Greatest Chord
in Life's Symphony

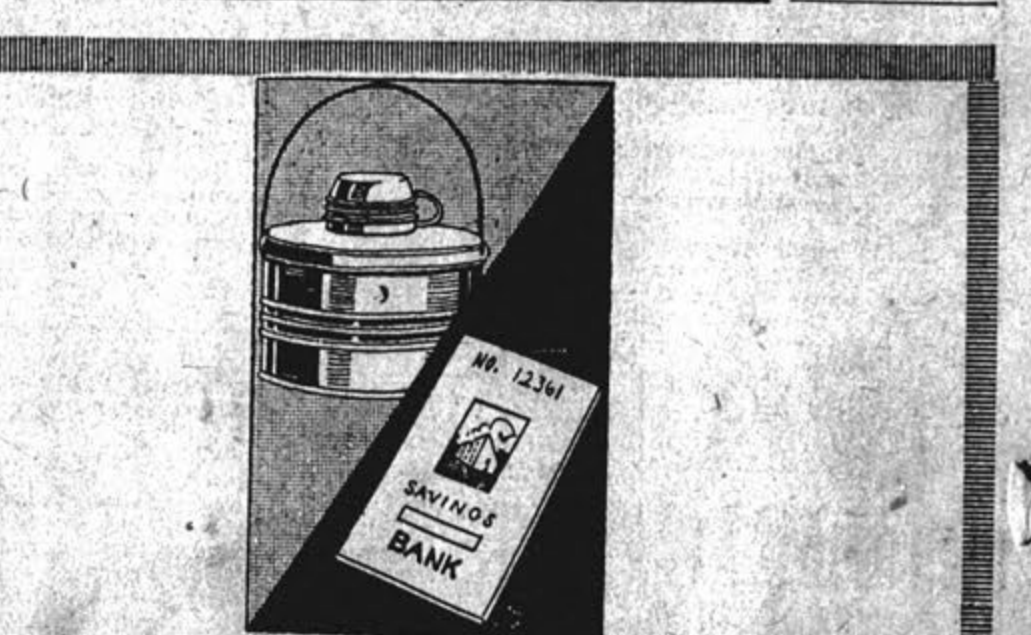

FROM dawn to dusk and far on into the night rises the song of the hammer and the plow in a swelling crescendo—a mighty Anvil Chorus of men laboring to build a civilization, to make a world more pleasant and more habitable.

The staccato tattoo of a million riveting hammers, the humming of a hundred thousand looms, the thundering exhaust of trains and tractors—notes in a gigantic symphony of sweat and steel—find their genesis in the minds and muscles of men shaping ideas into the vast monuments that will long outlive the generations that made them.

It is only by Labor, then, that we can ultimately achieve. Labor, that has raised us from the wilderness. Labor, that will build unto the skies.

The Lesson of Labor Day

THE dinner pail and the bank book go hand in hand. This is an era of democracy when the strong, hard hand rules the world. The prosperity and independence of the working class is due to their thrift. The instinct of saving is their great virtue.
