

GREEN'S LEAD CONTINUES TO MOUNT

NEW TYPE OF CAMPAIGN IS BEING WAGED

RADIO AND PRESS TAKE PLACE OF STUMP

BY DAVID LAWRENCE.

Washington, Sept. 5.—As the campaign swings into September with about two months of the time left before the battle is over, it is becoming clear that the old-fashioned method of reaching the voter by personal appeal on the stump has been abandoned.

Intensive campaigning by means of transcontinental trips and long itineraries in pivotal states have given way to a "few prepared addresses." This is Mr. Hoover's plan and to a large extent it is Governor Smith's too. The answer is that the press and the radio are counted upon as adequate means of reaching the electorate.

Power of the Voice. This is the first campaign in which so much dependence is placed on the power of the voice over radio. The campaign managers are reluctant to come to it, and there are indications that the Smith managers have not yet made up their minds finally to have their candidate do as little traveling as Mr. Hoover plans to do, but the Smith tour will not begin to compare with the Cox trip in 1920 or the Taft and Bryan trips of previous years.

Other Stars to Speak. Meanwhile plans are being made for "star speakers" on the air with cabinet officers and other celebrities on the program. There is some talk too of radio entertainment by orchestras and glee clubs, all of which will help do their part in keeping the mind of the listener on the big contest that is going on.

It's a new kind of campaign—more words are being printed in the press about it, more space being given to the speeches and more time being given by the average voter listening in on his radio or watching the campaign developments in the movies than at any time in the past. It's a large experiment in communication of thought to the masses of the people—mass campaigning. It might be called, to keep abreast of other developments in an age of mass production.

SMITH BUSY ON STATE AFFAIRS

Governor Turns From Campaign to Regular Work

BY PAUL F. HAUBERT (Associated Press Staff)
Albany, N. Y., Sept. 5—(AP)—To the casual observer there was little about Governor Smith today that would have stamped him the presidential nominee of the Democrats. His mind was on state affairs, almost to the complete exclusion of national politics and as he put in a hitch at the capitol, clearing away his desk of accumulated business, he gave no outward sign of concern over his candidacy.

About the only political touch given the nominee's day was a visit paid him by William Mitchell—former assistant chief of the Army Air Service who several years ago stirred up a ruckus by his outspoken criticism of the nation's fighting machine, particularly as applied to aviation, and brought down on his own head a court-martial.

Mitchell is the son of a former Democratic senator from Wisconsin, and he called on Governor Smith to pay his respects.

Plans Still Unknown

For a brief period during the day, Governor Smith also put on one side his work for a press conference, but he had little to offer in the way of news, and declined to be drawn out for publication on any political subject. He still was keeping to himself his speech-making itinerary plans, and had no comment on the announced intention of Herbert Hoover to make campaign speeches in both Newark, N. J., and New York City.

Although the governor is expected to show his hand, at least partly, before the end of the week with an announcement as to where and when he will open up with his counsel as to his plans. He is in constant touch by telephone with his managers in New York and is receiving reports, directly or indirectly from lieutenants in all sections of the country, but he is abstaining almost entirely from political conferences that usually make up the daily routine of a presidential nominee.

Queen's Room in Blazo

"Queen Victoria's Room" at the Ramsay Arms Hotel, Fetter- cairn, Scotland, was recently damaged by fire. To commemorate the visit a stone arch, flanked by battlemented towers was erected, and has become an outstanding landmark in the district. Fully $1,000 damage was done to the room.

Defense Witnesses Are Dismissed in Trial of Mellus

Los Angeles, Sept. 4—(AP)—Sixteen defense witnesses in the murder trial of Leo (Pat) Kelley, "butcher boy," lover of Mrs. Myrtle Mellus, slain society woman, were excused by the court at today's session.

The motion to dismiss the witnesses was made by Atty. S. S. Hahn, as the defense legal staff prepared to meet the announced program of the state to confront Kelley with his own purported admission that he beat Mrs. Mellus "terribly" on the afternoon of her death. Among witnesses excused was A. C. Jamison, neighbor and friend of Frank Mellus, wealthy husband of the club woman and the first person Mellus called to aid him when he found his wife's body. Adele Weaver, negro, former maid at the Mellus home, and several women customers of Kelley's meat market from which the Mellus home was served, also were dismissed.

Hahn offered no reason for asking that the witnesses be dismissed.

Police detectives who arrested Kelley declared previously that he "confessed" to them that he beat the society woman over the head.

ODE TO PETERIZING. I feared that I was getting stout, So on the street, one day, I dropped a penny in the slot And gave myself a weigh.

The figure there exposed to view Proved a very sad surprise; But when my eyes fell on those scales, The scales fell from my eyes.

In order to reduce my weight I purchased me a wheel; Before I'd ridden it a week, I fell off a good deal.

But in spite of Newton's famous law And all his just renown, I found my weight still grew so great, I could not keep it down.

But now I carol all the day: I'm down to normal size, I'm a healthy, happy handsome guy: I've learned to Peterize!

To the new readers, I'll explain that Peterizing is a term my followers coined, meaning eating to normal by counting calories. To show you that it works both ways, I'll give another contribution.

"Dear Doctor Lulu: I wish I had my picture taken before and after following your advice. A year ago I weighed 95 pounds. Was anemic, had stomach trouble and constipation and thought the less I ate the better I ought to feel.

Counting the calories I was consuming, I found I was having about one-half the right number. Increasing them gradually, as you suggest, until I was getting 500 to 1000 more than my maintenance, I gained 20 pounds, so now weigh 115 and I feel fine all the time. I used to be a slave to pills, but no more. I don't even give the children castor oil any more, as I find it is not necessary when on the balanced diet. We escaped severe colds, tonsillitis, etc., that we had been subject to.

"This reads like a patent medicine testimonial, but I mean it. Dr. Peters' favorite prescriptions are not draining on the pocket-book, are delightful to take, and they produce results! Just eat and grow fat, and take the abdominal exercises to keep the fat from settling on the tummy.

Note: The abdominal exercises Mrs. B. refers to are explained in the article The Abdominal Wall. See directions for obtaining.

Who's Who and Timely Views

IRELAND'S GOVERNMENT PROBLEMS DISCUSSED. BY WILLIAM T. COSGRAVE, President of the Free State of Ireland.

I have witnessed the example of the German Socialists in 1919, and the British Labor Party in 1924, and even the Bolsheviks in Soviet Russia, and have applied the lesson to the extremists of Ireland.

When I just took up I was in the position of a father with a flock of unruly brats. Star-n measures had to be taken, but no sterner than those used against us.

Find Women Well Fitted for Flying

London—Flying as a sport is appealing more and more to English women and they are eagerly seeking tuition at the various airplane clubs throughout the kingdom.

Among the latest to obtain their pilot's certificates and their own planes are Mrs. Simon Fraser and Miss Harriet Cholmondeley.

Instructors say that women are exceptionally keen and quick pupils and grasp the rules governing the movement and control of flying machines with ready intelligence. At the same time they are duly cautious.

New York, Sept. 5.—(AP)—The stock market today successfully absorbed the heavy selling inspired by the large increase in stock exchange member loans and started on a new bull rampage under the leadership of the oils and the public utilities. Extreme gains in the active issues ranged from 2 to nearly 10 points, with at least two score individual stocks selling at new high records for the year.

So great was the volume of trading that the ticker was 38 minutes late in recording the final quotations. The day's sales aggregated 4,426,500 shares, the highest since June 12.

The market opened irregular in reflection of the speculative uncertainty centered at first in the amusement shares, several of which were pushed to new high ground, but when a bad break took place in the Warner Bros. issues the chief buying operations switched to the public utilities and motors and finally to the oils.

Call money held steady at 7 1/2 per cent. All day, although the banks called more than $15,000,000 in loans. With the September 1 dividend and interest payments and the Labor Day currency demands out of the way, easier call money rates, at least temporarily, are looked for in banking quarters.

Interest in oils A series of favorable dividend announcements helped to create bullish enthusiasm in today's market. These included an advance of a special meeting of directors of the Standard Commercial Tobacco Company to consider the declaration of a stock dividend, and the declaration of extra dividends on Lambert, Devoe & Reynolds, Goodyear of Canada and Bull Pender Grocery Stores.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT. Amazing contrasts incorporated in a logical story that grips, with outstanding performances by a great aggregation of players, makes Paramount's "Forgotten Faces" now at the Delft, an exceptional motion picture. The production is billed as an all-star special and it is. Clive Brook, Mary Brian, Baclanova, William Powell, Fred Kohler and Jack Liden head the imposing list of talent in the cast. The story interest, unusual sets, vivid contrasts and dramatic value of the production entitle it to the rating of a special in the most complimentary sense of that term. Imagine a picture that starts out with a night hold-up of a fashionable gambling house perpetrated by two crooks in evening clothes, carries on to the grim interior of a penitentiary, shows an attempted prison break, gives intimate glimpses of social life in a home of wealth and culture and then depicts the terrified reactions of a woman being slowly driven mad by fear.

AT THE STRAND. One of the most spectacular runways of a four-horse team on a narrow mountain grade, is seen in "Code of the Scarlet," Ken Maynard's latest western feature for First National Pictures now at the Strand Theatre. Ken is a specialist in dare-devil stunts, but this tops anything he has ever before attempted. On a trip around the world on horse-back, three well-known horsemen recently started from Warsaw, Poland.

ALL SWIMMERS FORCED TO QUIT Cold Waters of Ontario Too Much for 199 Starters

Toronto, Sept. 5.—(P)—The frigid waters of Lake Ontario swept clean a field of 199 distance swimmers starts here tonight when Georges Michel of France, sole survivor in the fifteen-mile marathon for prizes aggregating $35,000, was hauled from the course by his handlers after having covered twelve and one quarter miles in 11 hours and 12 minutes. This action rendered Michel ineligible to receive the $25,000 first prize which would have been his had he merely completed the course.

Michel's end came only a little distance beyond the point where Ernest Vierkoetter, German conqueror of the English channel and winner of the Toronto swim last year, has been taken from the water semi-conscious. The German was ahead of Michel by almost two miles at the time. But the Parisian automatically became the leader and a few moments later was the sole remaining competitor.

150,000 Present Vierkoetter's end came suddenly and when he was looked upon as an almost certain winner. A few minutes earlier Roland H. Tegmeyer of Seattle, Wash., more than a lap behind the German, had been forced from the water; and Louis I. Mathias of Long Island, N. Y., gave up shortly after Vierkoetter resigned. This left Michel alone to battle the cold, black waters as evening settled.

Despite the presence of only one athlete in the water, 150,000 persons crowded the gates of the Canadian Exposition to watch one man under flood-lights in his unequal battle against the cold lake. The end came at 10:12 o'clock to the tune of a deafening cheer from onlookers who appreciated the game battle of the second man in last year's twenty-one mile test.

"From now on—Chesterfield!"

Mild enough for anybody ... and yet they Satisfy*

* A PLAIN, unvarnished statement of fact: "Mild enough for anybody and yet they satisfy".

If you will light a Chesterfield and smoke it critically you will find no hint of harshness, but a certain mildness, with a rich, wholesome flavor.

Chesterfields satisfy without being harsh. They're mild without being insipid or tasteless.

SPORT SLANTS

BY ALAN J. GOULD (Associated Press Sports Editor)

New York, Sept. 5.—(P)—Apparently the hope that there would be some cessation of hostilities among opposing factions in American athletic government in and out of the Amateur Athletic Union—at least until next winter—is not to be realized.

So far as the internal controversy involving two of the most prominent A. A. U. men, Fred W. Rubien and Murray Huibert, is concerned, the lid is off again. Rubien has just delivered another broadside at Huibert, using larger caliber words than he did when this personal feud flared up at Amsterdam during the Olympics and charging the National A. A. U. president with "arbitrary action" that "certainly injured America's athletic interests."

Huibert, in return, promises a showdown with Rubien when the A. A. U. holds its annual convention here late in November, but the differences between these two men may develop wider ramifications.

So far as the conflict of the A. A. U. with other athletic bodies is concerned, notably the National Collegiate A. A., every indication points to a tightening of opposing lines. These particular groups split two years ago over the questions of Olympic management and control. An armistice was effected for the Olympic period but the old difficulties have not been settled.

Break May Occur. It is from the college ranks that opposition has sprung for some time to alleged A. A. U. domination of track and field competition and particularly the Olympics. Heretofore this opposition has come chiefly from the N. C. A. A. group, of which Brig. Gen. Palmer E. Pierce is the head and whose strength lies principally in the south and west.

It still is strong in those sectors but indications now point to the possibility of some rupture between the A. A. U. and the intercollegiate A. A. U. the big eastern college group. Whether not any actual break occurs between these, up to the present staunch allies, remains to be seen. The fact is, however, that some official differences have developed.

What amounts to an organized campaign of propaganda against the A. A. U. for its methods of registering athletes and controlling amateur meets has been under way for some time in the middle west, where the so-called "revolt" against "A. A. U. domination" has gathered most headway.

Roberti Defeats Panama Fighter

New York, Sept. 5.—(P)—Roberto Roberti, 225 pound Italian, hammered King Solomon, pudgy heavyweight from Panama, through ten rounds of the feature bout at Ebbets Field tonight without threatening the veteran South American seriously with a knockout. Solomon weighed 193 1/2.

Roberto dropped Solomon for no count with a right to the body in the third round, but hit the canvass himself in the tenth when a wild right swing merely fanned his oponent.

Solomon's best punches had little effect on Roberti, but the Italian conqueror of Johnny Risko on a foul was crude and clumsy in his efforts to out-box Solomon.

DRECO BROUGHT GOOD HEALTH TO SCHAFFER FARMER

Used to Feel So Bad He Had No Ambition to Work

The Dreco which is now being so successfully introduced by the Dreco man at the Drug Dept. of The Fair Store is by no means a "cure-all". It is merely an effective combination of the oldtime plant, root, bark and herb extracts blended together in just the proper proportions to stimulate the system to healthy action and send rich red blood flowing through the veins. Many grateful citizens testify to the results obtained.

Mr. Joseph Rieher, who works with his father on a farm near Schaffer, Wis., relates the following experience with Dreco. He says:

"For the past three years I have felt so rundown that I seemed to lose all my strength and ambition. The work on the farm was too much for me and it even seemed too much exertion to move. My stomach was disordered, spots would dance before my eyes and I had severe pains in my back and sides.

"I have taken Dreco for less than three weeks but even now I feel greatly improved. The pains in my back and sides have left. My stomach is in good condition and I now feel so much stronger and more energetic that it now actually is a pleasure to go out in the fields and work."

The Dreco Man is now at the Drug Dept. of The Fair Store, where he is daily explaining the merits of Dreco to numerous local people and presenting everyone who is interested with a valuable health booklet free.—Adv.
