new crop of voters, both camps are devoting much attention to the foreign groups, some of which are the Catholic faith, and the negroes, the latter estimated to number around 125,000. Democratic headquarters has heard reports that the Germans and many foreign-born are for Smith on the wet issue, and that whole blocks of negroes in a Cleveland stronghold are prepared to quit the Republican ranks.

They have heard also that the opposition takes little stock in those reports, although it is endeavoring to meet the situation by recalling to the negroes recent utterances by southern senators who begged for Democratic unity as a means of preserving white supremacy. The Hoover people make no surrender of the German vote, declaring that group, because of its greater interest in business enterprise will vote for Hoover.

As an issue, farm relief has achieved no high place in Ohio, although the Republicans propose to use Hoover's co-operative marketing extension plan as a talking point in the rural districts.

ROAD SOLD AT PUBLIC AUCTION

Organization of Stockholders Buys Detroit United, Short Line

Detroit, Sept. 12.—(P)—Properties of the Detroit United Railway and the Detroit, Toledo & Monroe Short Line Railway, in receivership, were sold today at public auction to Edward W. Durner, of Princeton, N. J., and James T. Harrington, of New York, representatives of the reorganization committee of the bondholders.

The sale price was $2,757,300. The sale was conducted under a mortgage foreclosure order issued in federal court last July 25, and was in charge of William S. Sayres, Jr., special master in chancery of the U. S. district court. The sale is subject to confirmation by Judge Charles C. Simmons in federal court next Tuesday.

Under reorganization of the two roads, as planned, the name of the Detroit United Railway and the Detroit, Toledo & Monroe Short Line will be changed to the Eastern Michigan Railway company, it was announced.

Included in the group which attended the sale were A. L. Drum, receiver for the old D. U. R., and William G. Fitzpatrick, attorney for the old D. U. R., who have been active in promoting its reorganization.

The city of Detroit bid $30,000 at the sale for its equity in the property of the D. U. R., but the bid was rejected and it was announced that the matter of equity, now in dispute, would be settled later.

JOINT TREATY NOT APPROVED

British Official Gives First Official Information

Geneva, Sept. 12.—(P)—The first official disclosure that the Franco-British naval accord has not been entirely accepted by other nations was made this evening by Lord Cusheadun at a session of the disarmament committee of the League of Nations assembly.

"Unfortunately," he said, "intimations have reached us that our compromise (the Franco-British naval accord) may prove distasteful to other parties concerned who have the same right as we to have their views and their voices heard."

Lord Cusheadun also entered his opposition to an immediate fixation of the date for the meeting of the preparatory commission for disarmament.

Just prior to these moves he had been sitting in the council, hurrying as soon as the council adjourned to the disarmament committee room. He arrived just in time to hear Joseph Paul Boncour, chairman of the foreign relations committee of the chamber of deputies of France, argue for fixing a date for the meeting for the preparatory commission for disarmament.

Lord Cusheadun immediately intervened in an attempt to prove that it was much better to follow the American idea and allow the chairman of the commission the prerogative of convoking the commission whenever he deemed the divergencies of views sufficiently overcome to justify votes of progress.

No Secret Motive

The discussion brought no decision and M. Boncour announced his intention to explain the views of the French delegation on disarmament later. Lord Cusheadun, pointing to the bad effect of successive adjournments - of the commission emphasized that one of the main Anglo-French difficulties has been over the principles of naval disarmament.

"We have both held our views tenaciously and honestly but have tried to reconcile," he said.

He failed to understand why France and Britain should be represented as making a secret treaty with sinister consequences and ulterior motives.

SMITH PUTS IN BUSY SESSION

Candidate Makes Reply to Charge He Was Drunk at N. Y. Fair

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 12.—(P)—Bent on getting everything shipshape before his first campaign Sunday night on his first campaign tour, Governor Smith put in a long hitch at his desk today, one moment engaged with state business, the next tackling some phase of his presidential campaign.

For the first time since his nomination at Houston he took cognizance of what has been termed a "whispering" campaign against him by issuing, for publication in newspapers tomorrow morning, a formal statement which brought into the open a charge that he was "disgracefully intoxicated" at the New York State Fair in Syracuse two weeks ago.

The statement was headed "nailing a lie in the whispering campaign," and its concluding paragraph branded the accusation, which the nominee had been informed was being circulated against him in West Virginia as "slander." It was issued from the executive offices.

In another statement, which he dictated to a stenographer during his daily conference with newspapermen, Governor Smith again assailed Ogden L. Mills, under-secretary of the treasury and the Republican gubernatorial nominee in New York two years ago. Commenting on Mills' latest attack on his management of the state's fiscal affairs, as carried in the morning papers, the presidential nominee declared:

"Mr. Mills has said all over again the same things he said during the campaign in 1922. He said the debt was not reduced. That statement is not so. He said that the increase in resources had not been applied to tax reduction. That is not so. The direct tax, as I said in my statement (of last Monday) was reduced by some $18,000,000."

Conference Tonight

During the day Governor Smith also made public a letter to Clarence A. Barnes, a Republican candidate for attorney general of Massachusetts, who has assailed him on the grounds that he had failed to act against the Albany baseball pool. Accepting in invitation of the governor to come here and point out the pool's headquarters, Barnes had sent word that he would do so on September 19. Smith, however, said he would be out of town on that date and suggested that Barnes lay any evidence of law violations before the district attorney of Albany county.

"He has promised me," the governor told Barnes, "that he would vigorously pursue before the grand jury every bit of evidence you are able to lay before him."

The conference which Governor Smith has arranged with Democratic state leaders, as a preliminary to the state nominating convention in Rochester, October 1 and 2, is expected to take place here tomorrow evening. M. William Bray, new chairman of the party's state committee, will be here, along with a number of others who will have charge of the Democratic state campaign. It is planned to map out an intensive drive to put New York in the Democratic column in November.

POTATO CROP IS HEAVIEST

Michigan to Have Bumper Yield, Report Shows

Lansing, Sept. 12.—(P)—Michigan will have a bumper potato crop this year and the United States yield will be the heaviest on record, an optimistic crop report issued today by the federal agricultural statisticians here, predicts. Fruit yields and quality in the state will be abnormal, although a better condition will prevail for the rest of the country. Indications point to a production of 35,342,000 bushels of potatoes in the state and 466,815,000 in the United States this year.

Excessive rains have brought the bean crop estimate down to 4,959,000 bushels and similar weather conditions in the great northern United States area will mean a decline of more than 1,000,000 bushels for the country.

Conditions of the Michigan crop September 1 was average following a poor start. A United States crop of 3,000,000 bushels is expected.

This state is common with the rest of the country will have a large crop, the estimate for the state being about 5,000,000 bushels above average.

Sugar beets have been hit hard by heavy rains. Less than one-half the average tonnage is expected in Michigan. Elsewhere the crop is in good condition.

Fall and winter apple varieties have declined to a condition 41 per cent normal. Quality generally is poor. Peaches are only fair with Berrien county varieties suffering heavily. Peas are in good condition, while rot has reduced prospects for a good grape harvest.

Plot Against Gov't of Spain; 74 Held

Hendaye, France, Sept. 12.—(P)—Seventy-four persons have been arrested and placed in jail, most of them at Barcelona, following discovery of a widespread plot against the Spanish government, according to information reaching this frontier town.

Among those arrested was the editor of a radical newspaper. This information came from sources that are usually absolutely reliable.

ROBINSON SPEAKS

Charlotte, N. C., Sept. 12.—(P)—For the second time this week Senator Joe Robinson tonight gave joy passing heed to the text of a prepared address and hammered away extemporaneously at what he described as the "whispering campaign" against Governor Smith.

Farm relief was the subject discussed in the prepared document, but after only a few sharp raps at the Republican record on this issue, the Democratic vice presidential nominee turned to religious tolerance, the "whispering campaign" against the party's presidential candidate including his attitude on school legislation, and the relationship between Tammany Hall and the south on federal legislation.

The senator also touched briefly on the policy of the Democratic presidential nominee toward power interests. These interests, he declared, have been treated "fairly in New York by Governor Smith."

"He proposes to treat the power interests of the nation fairly," he continued, "but he holds the right of the future generations above the mere right of great corporations to make enormous profits."

district as returns from yesterday's primary trickled in.

Johnson, who has been the third district's representative since 1912 and is chairman of the House Immigration committee, gradually moved up on Homer T. Bone, Tacoma lawyer, during the day, overcoming Bone's majority of 9,000.

This afternoon when 538 of the 627 precincts in the district had reported, Johnson showed a lead of 1,598 votes.

Gov. Roland H. Hartley, continued to pile up a big lead in his fight for nomination by the Republicans as candidate for governor to succeed himself. His nearest opponent was E. L. French.

A. Scott Bullitt, Seattle lawyer, was well in the lead for the Democratic nomination for governor. His closest opponent was Judge Stephen J. Chadwick.

Kenneth Macintosh had a good lead of Miles C. Poindexter in the Republican race for U. S. senator. Poindexter, formerly U. S. senator and was attempting a comeback.

PLANES FINISH DERBY FLIGHTS

Three Groups of Transcontinental Flyers Reach Los Angeles

Los Angeles, Sept. 12.—(P)—Three transcontinental groups of aircraft landed at Mines field today, completing feature events of the 1923 national air races.

While the last of the three racing units were arriving here, the final group of America's greatest aerial derby took flight from Roosevelt field, N. Y., on a non-stop attempt westward from coast to coast. Still another group of planes dropped swiftly into this port from Oakland in a 450-mile California race.

The international feature event, which started at Windsor, Ont., was declared by the air meet announcer to have been won by William H. Drury, who flashed his Waco plane over the Mines field finish line at 3:05 o'clock. The final dash was started at Las Vegas, Nev., at noon today, at which overnight pilot Drury last night had a lead of six hours over his sole remaining competitor, Kennedy Whyte.

John Livingston of Aurora, Ill., who finished third, appeared nevertheless to be the winner of the Class B race in total flying time, having led his competitors most of the way across the continent. He piloted a Waco plane.

In the Class C event, Robert W. Cantwell of Duncan, Okla., piloting a Lockheed-Vega monoplane, was the unofficial winner.

The fifth great day of the national aviation meet also saw America's hero of the air, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, taking part in the air extravaganza, filling a gap made by Monday's fatal crash of a crack army pilot.

Flying an Army bombing plane, Colonel Lindbergh this afternoon took the air as the leader of the army's stunt trio. "The three musketeers" filling the place of the trio's leader, Lieutenant J. Williams, who died Monday night after crashing his plane to earth while he and his team mates were doing a difficult outside loop. Lindbergh, with the two remaining "musketeers" flying behind him in V formation, climbed high into the air while below them maneuvered six army bombers from Crissy field, San Francisco. Zooming dives from the heights, swift turns and sharp banks brought the grandstand crowd to their feet in roaring applause. Stimulating the maneuvers of planes in warfare, the Lindbergh commanded trio effected successful attacks from the air upon the squadron of "enemy" planes below them, but the new team of "musketeer" disappointed the crowds by failing to thrill with any loops or barrel rolls. Lindbergh landed his plane, with

Announce Consolidation of Two Leading Amusement Companies

New York, Sept. 12.—(P)—Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., pioneers in the field of talking movies, announced today that it had acquired control of the Stanley Co. of America, which controls First National pictures and owns or is interested in 260 motion picture and vaudeville theatres in the middle Atlantic states.

The merger was reported to be the first step toward the biggest consolidation yet undertaken in the theatrical business. Reports which have been circulating for some time are that the new company will combine also with the Keith-Albee-Orpheum vaudeville interests and later may even consolidate with the Shubert chain of theatres throughout the country.

Such a consolidation which creates an all-inclusive corporation controlling motion pictures, "talkies," vaudeville and legitimate dramatic attractions.

H. M. Warner, president of Warner Bros., and Irving D. Rosenthal, head of the Stanley Co., announced at the end of a meeting today of directors of both companies that the Warner-Stanley combination was based on the following offer by Warner Bros. to Stanley Co. stockholders.

Stanley Stockholders Agree

For 30 per cent of each stockholder's common holdings, one share of new preferred stock, convertible for two years into Warner Bros. common in the ratio of $55 per share for the Stanley stock and $125 per share for Warner common, plus one-tenth of a share for Warner common. For the remaining 20 per cent of the Stanley common holdings, $57.50 per share in cash.

Large Stanley stockholders already have agreed to this change on that basis, it was announced, and the offer is being transmitted to all other stockholders, with the recommendation that it be accepted. The offer is subject to action by a meeting of Warner Bros. stockholders, to be called later.

Mr. Warner announced that class A Warner stock is called for redemption on Dec. 1 this year. Prior to or on that date all class A stockholders must turn over their holdings for redemption or for conversion into common stock of the corporation.

State to Push Plans for Bridge Across Straits

Lansing, Sept. 12.—(P)—The state expects to continue with its plans for a proposed bridge across the straits of Mackinac, Governor Green said today.

Preliminary estimates have shown the plans to be feasible, the governor said. The state will co-operate with the federal government in making further surveys.

Highway commissioner Frank Rogers believes in special appropriation will be necessary for the deep borings in connection with the survey. Although the request may be taken to the legislature in view of the immensity of the project, both the governor and Rogers believe the appropriation can be authorized by the state administrative board as with other highway projects.

"Michigan needs a bridge across the straits of Mackinac," the governor said, "the project is absolutely necessary to bring the Upper Peninsula into a closer relationship with the rest of the state."

The merger was reported to be the first step toward the biggest consolidation yet undertaken in the theatrical business. Reports which have been circulating for some time are that the new company will combine also with the Keith-Albee-Orpheum vaudeville interests and later may even consolidate with the Shubert chain of theatres throughout the country.

Such a consolidation which creates an all-inclusive corporation controlling motion pictures, "talkies," vaudeville and legitimate dramatic attractions.

H. M. Warner, president of Warner Bros., and Irving D. Rosenthal, head of the Stanley Co., announced at the end of a meeting today of directors of both companies that the Warner-Stanley combination was based on the following offer by Warner Bros. to Stanley Co. stockholders.

Stanley Stockholders Agree

For 30 per cent of each stockholder's common holdings, one share of new preferred stock, convertible for two years into Warner Bros. common in the ratio of $55 per share for the Stanley stock and $125 per share for Warner common, plus one-tenth of a share for Warner common. For the remaining 20 per cent of the Stanley common holdings, $57.50 per share in cash.

Large Stanley stockholders already have agreed to this change on that basis, it was announced, and the offer is being transmitted to all other stockholders, with the recommendation that it be accepted. The offer is subject to action by a meeting of Warner Bros. stockholders, to be called later.

Mr. Warner announced that class A Warner stock is called for redemption on Dec. 1 this year. Prior to or on that date all class A stockholders must turn over their holdings for redemption or for conversion into common stock of the corporation.

State President of Eagles Arrives to Conduct Campaign

William B. Lorenz, of Muskegon, state president of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, has arrived in the city to conduct an intensive membership campaign.

"Escanaba once had one of the largest and most active aeries in the state," Mr. Lorenz said yesterday. "When it was apparent that interest was lagging, I decided to make a personal trip to Escanaba to see what was wrong. The result is that I expect to stay for two or three weeks, and while I am here we are going to take the membership back to its former strength."

Mr. Lorenz has interviewed a large number of prospective members and has received many applications for membership, since his arrival here, he said.

State to Push Plans for Bridge Across Straits

Lansing, Sept. 12.—(P)—The state expects to continue with its plans for a proposed bridge across the straits of Mackinac, Governor Green said today.

Preliminary estimates have shown the plans to be feasible, the governor said. The state will co-operate with the federal government in making further surveys.

Highway commissioner Frank Rogers believes in special appropriation will be necessary for the deep borings in connection with the survey. Although the request may be taken to the legislature in view of the immensity of the project, both the governor and Rogers believe the appropriation can be authorized by the state administrative board as with other highway projects.

"Michigan needs a bridge across the straits of Mackinac," the governor said, "the project is absolutely necessary to bring the Upper Peninsula into a closer relationship with the rest of the state."

BRIEFLY TOLD

Weather Prevents Picnic—At a meeting of the teachers of St. Stephen's church school last night it was decided to hold a children's party a little later in the fall instead of a picnic as was planned for next Saturday. It was thought that the unsettled condition of the weather would not let picnic plans for forward with any certainty.

Detroit, Sept. 12.—To stimulate the friend-making campaign to "See Michigan First," The Detroit Times, in its Sunday issue of Sept. 16, will announce a contest exclusively for residents of the 15 counties of the Upper Peninsula.

Five hundred dollars in cash will be paid by The Times for the three best essays, letters or articles submitted covering the subject, "The Upper Peninsula of Michigan."

In addition to the cash awards, the Menominee Herald-Leader, which is co-operating with The Detroit Times in this "Discover the Upper Peninsula" campaign, will take the winners on an all-expense-paid auto tour through the Upper Peninsula next June.

JOINT TREATY NOT APPROVED

British Official Gives First Official Information

Geneva, Sept. 12.—(P)—The first official disclosure that the Franco-British naval accord has not been entirely accepted by other nations was made this evening by Lord Cusheadun at a session of the disarmament committee of the League of Nations assembly.

"Unfortunately," he said, "intimations have reached us that our compromise (the Franco-British naval accord) may prove distasteful to other parties concerned who have the same right as we to have their views and their voices heard."

Lord Cusheadun also entered his opposition to an immediate fixation of the date for the meeting of the preparatory commission for disarmament.

Just prior to these moves he had been sitting in the council, hurrying as soon as the council adjourned to the disarmament committee room. He arrived just in time to hear Joseph Paul Boncour, chairman of the foreign relations committee of the chamber of deputies of France, argue for fixing a date for the meeting for the preparatory commission for disarmament.

Lord Cusheadun immediately intervened in an attempt to prove that it was much better to follow the American idea and allow the chairman of the commission the prerogative of convoking the commission whenever he deemed the divergencies of views sufficiently overcome to justify votes of progress.

No Secret Motive

The discussion brought no decision and M. Boncour announced his intention to explain the views of the French delegation on disarmament later. Lord Cusheadun, pointing to the bad effect of successive adjournments - of the commission emphasized that one of the main Anglo-French difficulties has been over the principles of naval disarmament.

"We have both held our views tenaciously and honestly but have tried to reconcile," he said.

He failed to understand why France and Britain should be represented as making a secret treaty with sinister consequences and ulterior motives.

WARNER BROS., STANLEY MERGE

New York, Sept. 12.—(P)—Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., pioneers in the field of talking movies, announced today that it had acquired control of the Stanley Co. of America, which controls First National pictures and owns or is interested in 260 motion picture and vaudeville theatres in the middle Atlantic states.

The merger was reported to be the first step toward the biggest consolidation yet undertaken in the theatrical business. Green has been "a wise and courageous governor and his great achievements will tend to illuminate the history of this great commonwealth." Endorsement of the platform adopted by the party at the Kansas City convention was contained in the resolution passed by the county convention, accompanied by words of praise for the national party's achievements in the last 68 years.

Text of Resolution. Republican nominees for county offices will meet early next week to select a chairman, secretary and treasurer of the county committee. A. A. Lundgaard of Cornell served as chairman of the meeting, and George E. Harvey, Escanaba, secretary. The convention committees were as follows: On delegates, W. H. Needham, Henry Rose and D. P. MacRae; resolutions, C. W. Malloch, H. J. Rushton and J. P. Norton.

The following resolution was adopted by the convention: "The Republicans of Delta County, in convention assembled, endorse the platform of its party which was adopted at Kansas City.

"For sixty-eight years, with the exception of two short periods, the history of the Republican party has been so interwoven with that of the nation, that to read one is to know and understand the other. It has guided the destiny of this nation since its birth, when it had no standing among the nations of the earth, until today, it is the richest, most powerful, most influential, and most unselfish nation in the world, and today it stands upon the great fundamental principles of government exactly where it stood in the beginning and where it has stood throughout its long and honorable career. The party has been fair with the industries, and at all times has loaned its ear and influence to the interest of the man who toils. Under its policies the nation has prospered from less than sixteen billions of dollars to three hundred and fifty billions of dollars.

"We sincerely endorse the present state administration: Governor Fred W. Green has been a wise and courageous governor and his great achievements will tend to illuminate the history of this great commonwealth.

"We endorse the Honorable O. B. Fuller, the Honorable Frank D. McKay, and the Honorable John S. Haggerty, who have each efficiently performed every duty as Auditor General, State Treasurer, and Secretary of State, respectively. Therefore, be it

"Resolved, that the delegates from the county to the State Convention be instructed to cast their ballots for Mr. Fuller, Mr. McKay and Mr. Haggerty for said offices, and to assist them in every honorable way. And be it further

"Resolved, that we approve the governor's appointments, and especially that of our good friend and neighbor, the Honorable Louis H. Fead, Justice of the Supreme Court; the Honorable William H. Potter, Justice of the Supreme Court; the Honorable Walter H. North, Justice of the Supreme Court; and the Honorable William M. Brucker, Attorney General, and we do hereby instruct the delegates from this county to the State Convention to cast their ballots in behalf of said candidates."

The Piffle Hook
 HOUSEHOLD HELPS.

Staidfast in its Desire to Be of Service To Its Readers, The Piffle Hook Offers a Few Helpful Suggestions to Busy Housewives.

Tablecloths of the properly selected shade of brown matching the gray lightens the family washing.

Never attempt to intimidate the children with a paring knife. A meat cleaver is more impressive.

Always keep a stick of dynamite in a convenient place in the bathroom. It is very helpful in removing obstructions from the drain pipes.

Soup stains can be quickly and easily removed from a vest with a pair of sharp scissors.

Several tubes of oil paints should be kept on hand. They save stocking darning. By painting the flesh the same color as the stocking the hole becomes invisible.

Many families are doing away entirely with garbage cans, by keeping a pet ostrich in the back yard. The ostrich will eat anything. These birds are especially fond of children.

After using a safety-razor blade for ripping up a garment that is to be made over, always return the blade to father's razor. Nothing is more vexing to father than to find his razor empty.

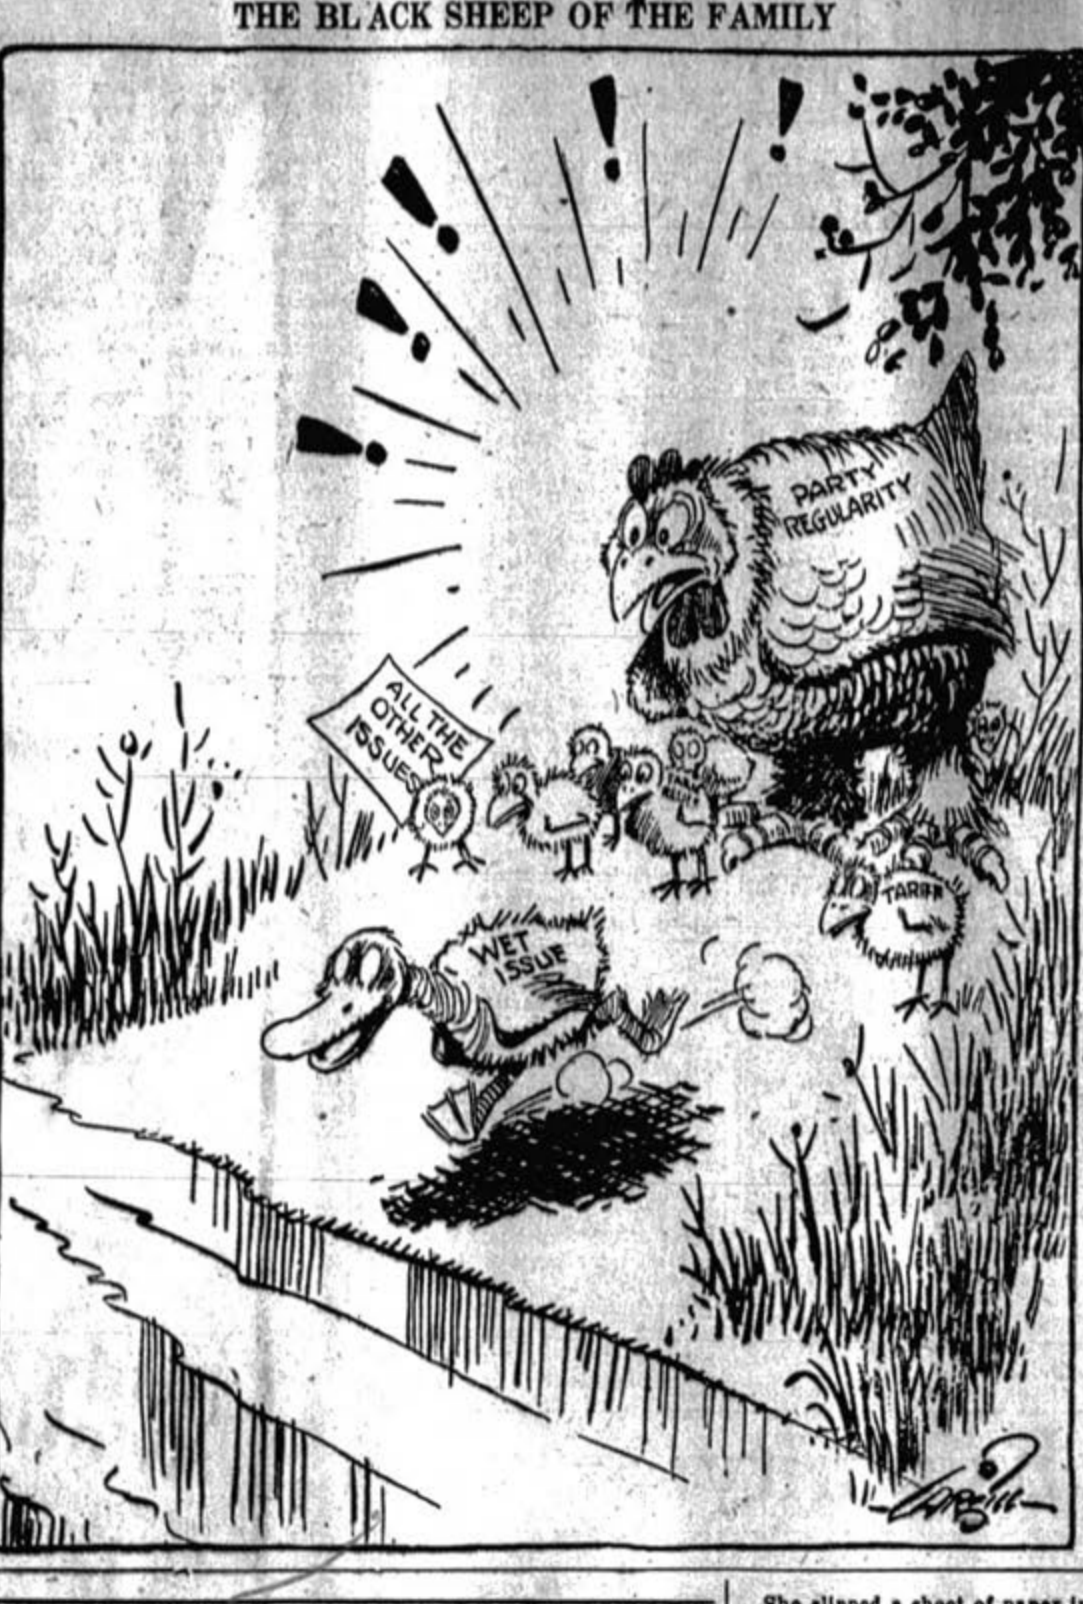

A bottle of fire files often comes in handy when the electric light services fail. They also may be used to curtail the electric bills.

Brushing lacquer can be used to decorate the borders of bath towels. It also helps to conceal the hotel laundry marks.

During the autumn and winter months, canary birds should be given food and water at least once a fortnight.

When there are a number of guests in the house the electric washing machine makes a first-class cocktail shaker.

LYRICS OF LIFE
 By Douglas Malloch

Copyright 1924 by Douglas Malloch

I SHALL BE LEAVING.

I shall be leaving in a few days now,
 And now I find myself so many a time
 Pausing upon the steps I used to climb,
 Trying to take the whole thing in, somehow,
 Perhaps I had not noticed that and this,
 But now I know, the hour of leaving here,
 That every little object I shall miss,
 And every humble pebble will seem dear.

'Tis not the vista that I linger for,
 The world has other vistas I shall see;
 But only memory will bring to me
 The little vistas from my own back door,
 For all earth's paths will not have one like mine,
 No railing gives such comfort to my hand,
 Here I know every leaf of every vine,
 Who soon must tread some unfamiliar land.

The world is very lovely, gray or green,
 And one's own world the loveliest of all,
 For here the heart has memorized the wall,
 And every blade of grass the eye has seen,
 I did not know how much I really had,
 How much I loved each brick, each bending bough,
 How much this little house had made me glad
 I shall be leaving in a few days now.

PROHIBITION IN THE CAMPAIGN.

PROHIBITION is a congressional, not a presidential issue. Any change in the existing law governing traffic in intoxicants must come from the legislative branch of government, not the executive.

The personal opinions of Mr. Smith and Mr. Hoover concerning the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act will have nothing to do with the settlement of the principle or the policy of prohibition. The president does not make laws. He does not amend them. He does not repeal them.

And because prohibition is not a presidential issue, and never can be, it would be a serious mistake for the United States to elect a president because of his views on prohibition. The qualifications for president in other respects are of so much greater importance, and other questions of national policy are of so much deeper concern, that no more deplorable precedent could be set than to put in the White House, a man because he favors or is opposed to the eighteenth amendment.

It seems probable, however, that the further the campaign progresses the less prohibition will be an issue. The first flare-up may have been along this line, but months of reflection will convince many thinking persons of the fallacy of injecting this controversy into the election of president.

Because his name was a little unhandy, Theodore Djaladewicz, of Detroit, was granted permission to change it to that of United States Senator Theodore Burton. Dawg-gawn! He picked Burton when he might just as well have been Smith, Hoover, Straton, Coolidge, Tunney, Ruth or Borah Raskob.

TOO MUCH EFFICIENCY.

MOST OF the baseball fans, outside of the New York area, are pulling lustily for the Philadelphia Athletics to win the American League pennant. They are weary, it seems, of seeing the Yankees in the world's series. They are even growing tired of reading about the long-distance hitting of Ruth, Gehrig & Company. In other words, they demand variety.

It is recalled that the veteran Connie Mack disbanded one of the greatest ball clubs in history because it was winning too consistently, even to satisfy its home crowds. It won so many games that the uncertainty of the result of its encounters was reduced to a minimum. The Yankees may have to take the same means of restoring themselves to popular favor.

But, this season at least, it begins to be more and more apparent that "class" will tell. The series between the Yanks and the Athletics, regarded by the experts as "crucial," demonstrated that, in spite of a recent slump, the New Yorkers are a great ball club.

And it's a strange thing that the efficiency of the aggregation should be the one barrier in its pathway to tremendous popularity.

And who can remember when failure to "put up" at least twice as much canned fruit as the family reasonably could be expected to use, was regarded as a blot on a housewife's character?

GAME REFUGES.

WRITING ON the past, present, and future of Michigan's forests, Arthur W. Stace says the plans of the Michigan conservation department call for the establishment of numerous game refuges throughout the forest country. "Here," he says, "deer, bear and other forms of wild life will find sanctuary. Surrounding these refuges will be forest hunting grounds where, during certain seasons of the year, shooting will be permitted. This will maintain the balance of game, keep animals within the limits of the available food supply, and at the same time affording sport for Michigan hunters and guests from outside."

The cost of living is coming down. The straw hat for which, in June, one was asked to pay $2.50, can now be purchased for $1.50.

CHAPTER XXIV

RALPH HAS AN ACCIDENT.

"I think I, too, will go to June Challer's party," said Claire to Lynda, when she came home the next evening. "June came part of the way home with me tonight, and she wants me to come to her party, but she's not going to invite Fred. I think I'll go."

"We will take the sleeves out of your white dress tonight, after we have had dinner, and fix it up. I'll put some potatoes in the oven to bake; we will have some lettuce wilted with bacon, a dish of strawberries, and then get to work."

Before they went to bed, Lynda's dress was all ready, and it was very sweet and dainty.

"It suits you down to the ground," Claire remarked, admiringly.

"Not quite down to the ground, my dear. In fact, it hardly comes below my knees," laughed Lynda. She was rewarded for this little speech, by seeing Claire smile for the first time since Fred Blaque left the house.

Claire brought out her pink chiffon and laid it on the bed. It would be taken to the cleaner's the next morning.

"I'm very sorry," said Lynda, "that I said anything about Emily. You know, I called her a little cat. She was very nice to me today. She wanted me to buy

A beautiful scarlet chiffon dress, but I could not see it on me."
 "Neither could she," said Claire. "If she had, she would not have recommended it. I wonder what that girl is up to now? Be careful, Lynda. She is clever, mighty clever."

Lynda Fenton would have agreed to that, could she have seen Emily at that moment. She had just finished a letter to David Kenmore, in which she said: "My dear David:
 "I am writing to ask you to be sure to get home for June Challer's party next week. Your little pal, Lynda, has been invited, and she knows so few men in our crowd, I'm afraid it will be rather stupid for her. She tells me this will be her first party, and you would not want her to be disappointed, would you? If you come, don't tell her I wrote you this. Pleasant surprises are always sweet, you know. David, old dear, I must confess to you that I am very fond of Lynda, and I want her to have a good time. She seems to have had so few, with that old reprobate of a father."
 EMILY.

She read the letter with great care before sending it to David Kenmore. Then she gave a sigh of satisfaction.

"After he reads that," she said to herself, "he will not suspect me of writing this."

As she passed through the outer office the next morning, Lynda was stopped by the girl at the telephone switch board.

"Mr. Armitage, senior, wishes you to come to his room, Miss Fenton."

She walked to the door of the private office of the senior partner of Armitage & Son, wondering what the "old boss," as he was called among the girls, wanted of her.

"Perhaps he wants to look me over, to make sure that I will not hurt his 'little boy,'" she thought.

The idea amused her, and she was smiling as she tapped on the door.

"You wanted to see me, Mr. Armitage?"

The stern-looking, middle-aged man who had been standing by the window, and who evidently had not heard her come in, whirled around and bent inquiring eyes upon her.

"Are you Miss Fenton?"

"Yes, Mr. Armitage. I knocked, but you did not hear me."

"My son had a slight automobile accident yesterday, Miss Fenton." As he said this, a peculiar expression of blended horror and pride flitted across Mr. Armitage's serious face. "And he will not be able to come down to the office today. He asked me to tell you to go through everything in his mail except that which is marked 'Personal,' and answer as much of it as possible. He said that you would know that form letters seven and eight must be signed to the list of names he gave you yesterday. If you will bring his personal mail to my office, I will take it out to him tonight."

"A lecture on dietetics and psychology by a man from Canada who uses the title of doctor interests me. His ads state that he is president of a number of societies and give very laudatory recommendations from many prominent people, and also has many degrees from prominent universities. He is a very young looking man, but claims that he is 47 years old. After the lecture he sells capsules of extracts of vegetables which he claims, together with his psychology, are responsible for his youthful appearance. A newspaper in Toronto claims that he is only 26 years old and is not entitled to the many university degrees which he claims to possess. I would appreciate it if you could tell me something about him."

MRS. N.

It is not unusual for impostors of this sort to claim all sorts of degrees and offices in high-sounding societies. It is usually found that they haven't any of these degrees nor are such societies in existence. It is also not unusual for them to claim that they are, very much older than they are, to impress their hearers with the efficiency of their methods.

While such lectures are free, they are usually given to arouse interest in a private class which is being formed which will give you the secrets of the lecturer's powers, at anywhere from $15 to $50 per person, for the course. And then you will often find they have some concoction to sell which helps to raise the income.

I don't know of this faker, Mr. N., but have seen and heard of many similar ones.

Commercial Laboratory Work.

Mrs. N. sends me the report of a urinalysis of her 5-year-old girl, and wants me to tell what it means. She is very much worried about some of the figures.

It is a waste of money and time and gives unnecessary worry for one to have a laboratory examination of any kind made that isn't ordered, and interpreted to you by an examining physician. Sorry I cannot do this for you, Mrs. N. You must take your little girl to a physician.

Does an Operation Cause Overweight.

"Dear Doctor: I am in need of an operation, but I have heard of so many women who get fat after one that I am worried over that point. I know a woman who has become immense—she now weighs 280 pounds—since an operation. She claims it was the operation. If I were to become like that I would lose my happy home, for my husband thinks my present weight of 130 is a little too much."

MRS. G.

Many trace the beginning of their overweight to the convalescent period after an operation or some illness or child birth, and they often feel that the illness or operation was the direct cause. This is not true at all. After such experiences the patient begins to eat in order to gain strength and with the activities limited by their weakness, the fat soon begins to accumulate. Then the habit is formed of eating too much and it is continued.

Have your operation, Mrs. G. If it is necessary, and simply watch your weight and do not allow it to get beyond bounds, for this retards convalescence. We have a pamphlet on reducing and gaining weight which you may have.

MRS. H.

Our article on the Menopause will answer your questions.

Phone Santa Claus

Seventy-Year-Old Farmer Builds, Maintains and Operates One-Man Telephone System Which Serves Four Towns

patrons ring Clark's central direct, and he has connected the towns of Page, Alders, Walnut and Dorsey with his system. He has a repair wagon that is unlike any other ever built. It consists of the running gear and wheels of a flivver that he didn't enjoy driving, the body of one of the first autos to appear in this section, and a top of galvanized tin with sliding doors. He fitted it out with a tongue and drives a team of white horses.

Trees and fence posts, where available, serve as a medium for stringing wires. He hires no help. His wife and two daughters operate the switchboard when he is absent, and the telephone office is open at all hours, Sundays and holidays being no exception.

Clark charges subscribers $13 per year if they are prosperous, but when there is illness or a death in a family he does not charge anything that year. When a subscriber tries to beat him by not paying for two years, Clark takes the telephone out.

Clark was born in New York. The high spot of his life was when he drove a team of seven cattle, four oxen and three cows in a parade at Birmingham, N. Y., when Theodore Roosevelt was campaigning there for William McKinley. Roosevelt said he would remember that sight as long as he lived.

Clark has a six-acre field of corn, and gathers hay off his 40 acres. He says he bet Uncle Sam $14 in expenses against that little sandy piece of land that he could live on it five years. He won.

He is generally known as "Santa Claus" Clark because of his generous deeds, unselfish service, and long, white beard.

Walnut, Neb.—An unusual telephone system was built and is owned, operated and maintained by E. L. Clark, 70, phone Santa Claus to four towns, who home-stayed a 40-acre sandy tract, that no one ever wanted, some 20 years ago.

He saved $200 in checks and currency, borrowed $100 at a bank, bought 3,000 pounds of wire on the strength of making his venture pay, and built a telephone line in the hay country, a dozen miles from Page, 30 miles north of here. He has added to it until he has 75 miles of line.

Clark is his own lineman, trouble shooter, operator, in fact, he is the whole works. Forty-five

ANTI-WAR TREATY SEEN AS PROGRESSIVE STEP.
 By NICHOLAS BUTLER College President.

The signing of the treaty, renouncing war, recently signed at Paris, is an example of the tendency toward international cooperation and international association, which is the fourth of the moving forces which are making history in our time. The other moving forces are the challenge of modern democracy as exemplified by abandonment of a democratic form of government in Italy and in Russia, the disintegrating influences upon conventional and established habits and beliefs as shown by increasing indifference to any form of religious exercise, and the steady penetration of the Orient by Western ideas and practices.

The fourth of these moving forces, the tendency toward international co-operation, has grown rapidly in power and in influence. This movement had its beginning for all practical purposes, in the Congress of Vienna and the Treaty of Chaumont, Paris and Vienna, which accompanied the close of the Napoleonic wars. The Congress of Berlin in 1878 marked the progress of the same tendency.

PATIENCE WITH CHINA

One of the secretaries of the Y. M. C. A. in Shanghai, China, asks for the rest of the world is a little patience. She will right her affairs, take care of herself, become a great power friendly to the rest of the world. It took France a hundred years after the revolution really to put her house in order. In the meantime she tried more than one form of government. Everything cannot be expected of China in 10 or 15 years.

For one thing and another the world needs a great deal of patience.

A PLACE TO WORK

"A studio in Greenwich Village with arty folks looting about the floor, talking, talking, doing nothing, cannot compare with Portage as a place to accomplish things."

The speaker was Margery Latimer, and she was talking about the town of Portage, Wisconsin. After giving New York a trial this brilliant young novelist came home to the house of her parents to do some real work. Now she is working on a second novel. Perhaps she has arrived at a great truth when she discovers that home is a good place to be, to work, to produce. There is a remote possibility that a change may help you, but the chances are that if you can't do a good job where you are, you won't do a good job anywhere.

SHAKING DICE

It's rather discouraging that so many bad habits should be so old. One would think we would have outgrown many things that are almost as old as history and which we show no signs of outgrowing. It is said dice-throwing was so popular in India centuries ago that two kings, who had unpronounceable names, staked and lost their kingdoms on the spotted cubes.

As far back as history goes there has been too much of something or other of which there is still too much.

All of which calls for a sense of humor and much patience.

So far, the comin' of September weather does not seem to have reduced the number of golf strokes used by truthful players. Maybe like May, June, July and August, it also is to be a hollow month.—Kalamazoo Gazette.

John Philip Sousa, World Famous Music Master, Here for Two Concerts Today

This is John Philip Sousa Day in Escanaba.

The world's most famous band master and his band will arrive here by special train about 1:30 o'clock from Hancock, and will give two concerts in the Delft theatre—matinee and night. Seats for both events indicate that two capacity crowds will hear the composer-conductor and his organization.

Those who have heard other concerts by Sousa will recognize in the local programs the same sure Sousa touch in selecting music that gives color and variety to his concerts. None of the matinee numbers will be repeated at the evening concert.

The matinee opens with "A Study in Rhythms" (Sousa). John Dolan will play a cornet solo, Boccalari's "Bolero Concerto." Miss Marjorie Moody will sing as a soprano solo, "The Beautiful Blue Danube" (Strauss).

Then there is to be a Sousa suite, "At the King's Court," composed of three motifs, "Her Ladyship, the Countess," "Her Grace, the Duchess" and "Her Majesty, the Queen."

Lovers of Wagner will be enchanted with the "Prelude and Love's Death," from "Tristan and Isolde."

The matinee will conclude with favorite numbers from Victor Herbert operas, Sousa's new march, "Minnesota"; the "Parade of the Gendarmes" (Laké) a xylophone solo, "Ghost of the Warrior" (Grossman) by Howard Goulden and Ponchielli's "Dance of the Hours."

The evening program will include the following numbers: "Militaire Francaise" from "The Algerienne" — St. Sean's Cornet solo, "Habanera" — Sarasate

John Dolan Suite, "Tales of a Traveler" — Sousa Soprano solo, "Love's Radiant Morn" (new) — Sousa Miss Marjorie Moody, Symphonic poem, "Death and Transfiguration," Richard Strauss

Sketch, "Among My Souvenirs" (new) — Nichols-Sousa Sextette for flutes, "Dance of the Merlions" — Tschalkowsky Messrs. Evans, Petrie, Phares, Orosky, Blotnik and Hall

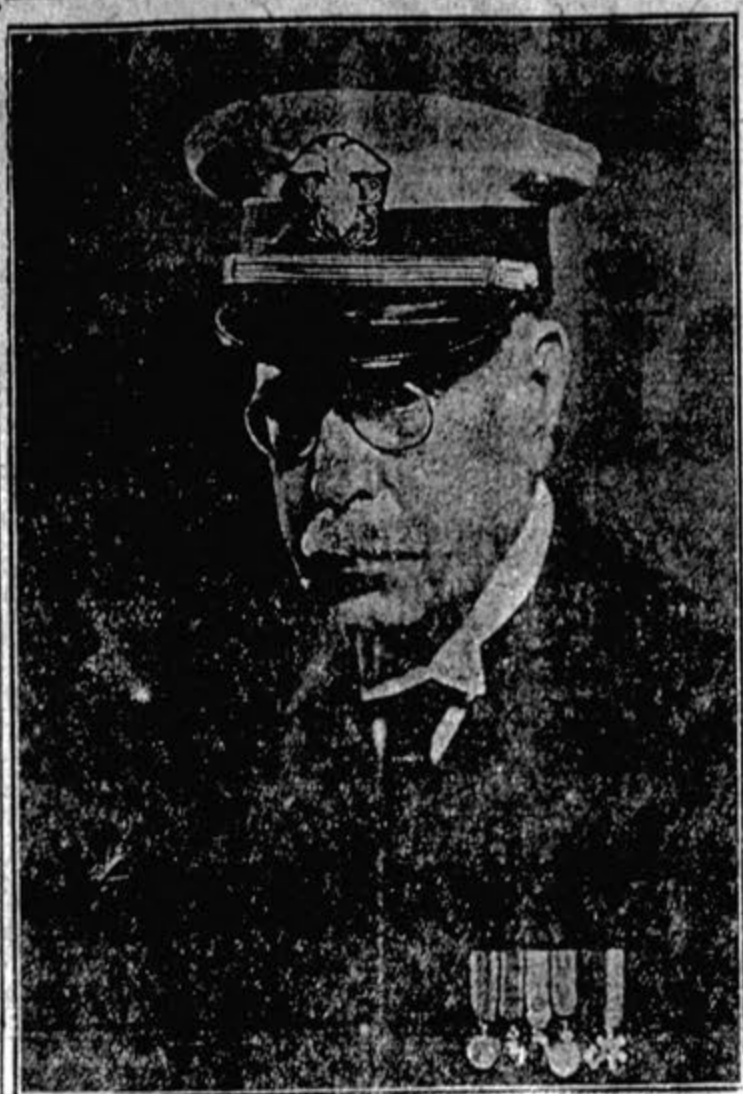

March, "The Golden Jubilee" (new) — Sousa Xylophone solo, "Polonaise Mignon" — Tierney

Howard Goulden, Balance All and Swing Partners" — Sousa

Plenty of persons are going to go to both afternoon and evening concerts for how can one choose between the two when there is the "Tristan and Isolde" music in one and the Richard Strauss symphonic poem in the evening concert? They are such musically interesting programs that those who can will want to hear both.

Then there are something over 40 selections from which encores will be chosen. These bristle with familiar names and they are all Sousa compositions or arrangements. There's the old favorite "El Captain," "Hands Across the Sea," "King Cotton," "Liberty Bell," "High School Cadets," "Washington Post," "Semper Fidelis" — to name only a few, — and of course there is that outstanding march of all times, "Stars and Stripes Forever."

There is something so stirring about any good band that one is thrilled and swayed completely

LIEUT. COM. JOHN PHILIP SOUSA

COMMUNICATIONS

FROM DR. COOLEY.

Rome, Ga., Sept. 10 (To the Editor)—I wish to send my greetings thru your paper to the many friends of the summer. Clergymen and laymen alike were very kind to me. The memory of my sojourn in your city will ever be pleasant. It is my hope that some good may come from my brief ministry.

Most of the days since my return to Georgia have been rainy, and the sunny ones have been reasonably cool, so there has been no suffering from the heat. At church the pew fitted me well, which might have been due to my making a pulpit of my Sunday school teacher's desk. My college duties begin Wednesday with giving an intelligence test to all Freshmen.

I had many inquiries in Escanaba regarding the political situation in Georgia. I predicted a considerable revolt from the Democratic party on account of the wet-dry issue. I enclose clippings from yesterday's Rome News-Tribune which seem to confirm my role as prophet. It will out of his ordinary, mundane self. When a Sousa band is available it can be ranked as a musical experience. Escanaba is anticipating a joyous time today.

During the matinee, Lieut. Com. Sousa will direct the Escanaba high school band in a selection or two, it has been announced. The famous bandmaster always has shown a deep interest in school music, and especially in school bands.

be far better for the South in the future if it cannot be counted on as solid.

If any Escanaba citizen motors to Florida, let him drive up to Shorter College, and look down on our city of seven hills. If he goes thru in a Pullman, I'll meet him at 6:18 a. m., or about five in the evening, if he will wire me of his transit. Or better, stop a week in a real live southern city, bustling with commerce and manufacturing.

With best wishes to all,
H. C. COOLEY.

ORE SHIPMENTS STILL BEHIND

Marquette—The total tonnage of iron ore shipped from Lake Superior ports up to September 1 is still below that of the corresponding period last year, despite the fact that a gain of 467,376 tons was made in August over the same month last year.

A total of 9,242,869 tons was shipped from this district during the month of August, compared with 8,775,483 during the same month in 1927. Up to September 1, 1927, 35,153,916 tons of ore were shipped from Lake Superior ports in comparison with 32,517,493 tons shipped up to September 1 this season.

As usual the bulk of the ore was shipped from up-lake ports, with Duluth heading the list. During the month of August, 2,989,850 tons of iron ore were shipped from this port by the D. M. & N. railway. A total of 10,528,626 tons had been shipped up to September 1 compared to 11,221,286 tons in the corresponding period last year.

Up to August 1 shipments from Marquette docks were 44,178 tons above the mark for the same period in 1927, but due to the light shipments from the D. S. S. & A. dock during August, this margin was lowered, and the total shipment up to September 1, which is 1,578,354 tons, is only 19,699 tons ahead of last season's mark for the same period, which is 1,958,655.

During the month of August the L. S. & I. shipped 452,537 tons of ore, compared with 443,245 tons shipped in the same month last year. The D. S. S. & A. shipments fell far below the mark set for the month of August last year, only 77,143 tons being shipped this year in comparison with 111,846 tons for the same month in 1927. This is a total of 529,680 tons shipped from this port last month, compared with 555,091 tons shipped during the same month last year.

TEACHERS TO HOLD MEETING

Educators to Convene at Iron Mountain, October 4 to 6

Plans are already under way among the Escanaba school teachers to attend the annual convention of the Seventh district meeting, Michigan Educational Association, which will be held in Iron Mountain October 4, 5 and 6.

Advance notices indicate that the attendance at this year's convention will be the largest in the history of the association in this district, and plans are being made by the Iron Mountain committee with that idea in view.

The Seventh district comprises the upper peninsula and during the convention sessions practicality every school in the district will be closed to allow the teachers belonging to the association to attend.

The Iron Mountain program received here shows that among the prominent speakers who will address the teachers are Will Durant, one of the foremost authors in the United States; Professor Reavis, of the University of Chicago; R. K. Ekers, attorney general for the state of Wisconsin; Professor Laing, of the University of Chicago, and Mrs. Mossman, of Columbia university.

The association which is affiliated with the National Educational association is one of the greatest professional organizations for teachers in the United States.

Ironwood Band to Play Here Sunday

The Ironwood band, which has been engaged to play for the Upper Peninsula State Fair here next week, will open its stay in Escanaba by playing a concert on the grounds of the Ludington Hotel Sunday evening. It was announced by George E. Harvey, secretary of the fair, yesterday. The band is said to be one of the best in this part of the country and the concert is certain to attract a large crowd.

The total catch of sea fish on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts of Canada in a recent month was valued at $2,643,000.

Entertainment Success.

The home talent play which was staged Sunday evening at the parish hall at Schaffer, was a success, socially and financially. The hall was packed to the doors and seats were at a premium. The women and girls who took part are deserving of much credit for the manner in which each part was played. Specialties between the acts were furnished by artists from this city, including selections by Joseph Greenfield, concertina; Roy Pearson, violin, and Miss Blanche Olson, piano; vocal solos by Mrs. Thomas Toussaint; piano solos by Mrs. Adrian Joint, and a French comedy sketch by Leo Brunelle and Alfred Labranche.

Fall Furniture Has Modernistic Trend

With the sense of assurance that comes with the knowledge of "belonging," modernistic furniture appears on the fall horizon in greater quantity and variety than it did last winter when it first took this country by storm. Modifications have been made and the most violent departures have comprised to a certain extent with our sense of values until now our eyes and feelings need no longer be unduly excited by a room done in this newest art of the decorator.

Without going into great technical descriptions one can sum up the features of modernistic furniture by saying that all lines have been reduced to the irreducible minimum. No unnecessary curves or angles are tolerated and simplicity is the keynote throughout.

Coloring cannot be left out of the picture since more than ever before do color and form work together. For the most part, the woods are left in their natural state with either a dull waxing or else a high polish as is seen on some painted pieces. The latter finish is carried out with striking effects in light and shade.

Most colors used for modernistic furniture are subdued rather than garish as the cheaper imitations indicate. To be sure vivid high spots of color are used to distinct advantage in practically all rooms decorated after this fashion. Sometimes this takes the form of a screen, a rug, wall-paper or hangings, but it is always a striking effect.

Fabrics also come in for their share of attention, for the modern school demands that everything express the same movement. Deep piled fabrics are especially in demand, and figured materials, in most instances, are taboo.

A soft gray velvet was chosen to cover the deep arm chairs and chaise lounge shown in the above sketch. This material lends itself especially well for the purpose for its richness adds to the simplicity of the furniture rather than suggesting austerity. Comfort was not forgotten by the designer, for he made the chairs with adjustable backs so that they would fit any mood, as well as figure.

is one of the most usable pieces of furniture ever developed. Standing close to the chair it can hold favorite books, ash trays and cigars as well as a vase of flowers. There is nothing particularly new about the desk, though its straight line simplicity was rarely ever seen in the home before. But the pedestal table in the corner is indicative of the trend towards building furniture with the greater diameter across the top rather than at the bottom, as it has always been up to this time. In other words the trend is for lines to spread up and out as the wall brackets clearly illustrate.

Floor covering cannot be left out of your consideration when using modernistic furniture. The one shown is of striking design carried out in grays and black, all of which tones in so well with the upholstery, the black painted desk and table.

Distinctly Chic

The front drape and uneven hemline are interesting features of this afternoon ensemble worn by Ruth Taylor. The skirt is of black crepe roman and the bodice is beige satin with long sleeves. The short cape is of the same material and is trimmed with light fox fur.

FOOD ENOUGH!

Dr. H. E. Barnard.

Indianapolis, Ind., No matter what happens to the world of the future, it never will go hungry. Man may evolve in the course of uncounted centuries into a new type of human being; the wide open spaces may be crowded; but food to nourish the world will be plentiful.

Which expressions, coming from Dr. H. E. Barnard, noted consulting chemist, should prove comforting even for the gloomiest pessimist. For Dr. Barnard is the scientist who startled the American Chemical Society Institute at Northwestern university recently with his prediction of "Standing Room Only" in the world of 500 years from now.

He based his view on the increase of population which has been mounting steadily.

His Prediction "If the curve showing this increase," he told the chemists, "does not flatten out at a rate no further ahead than the Battle of Hastings, or the drafting of the Magna Charta, behind us, there will be hardly more than a square yard of arable land for each person."

But the doctor in his offices here, elaborates his views: "The economic pressure of over population," he says, "under the limitations imposed by modern civilization, will automatically lower birth rates without increasing death rates. "It is not improbable that the population of the United States will reach the stationary stage of 200 millions about the year 2000.

Food Will Keep Pace "All the evidence suggests that our agricultural production will keep pace with population increase, without much change in the character of the food supply. With the rapid development of communication and transportation, it is probable that the same conditions will obtain in all countries. This presupposes a worldwide appreciation of the soundness of economic law as opposed to the falsity of the inevitability of war, and epidemics, as checks and balances between food and population."

But if the curve of population increase does continue upwards? "Then food to nourish man," contends Dr. Barnard, "will be available, synthesized from sunlight, atmosphere and the fathomless reservoir of the sea."

Turn to Cocoonants "Surely the human family," says Dr. Barnard, "will not go hungry to bed because the table is not supplied with bread and butter, but rather with bananas and coconuts."

"As the pressure for food becomes intense, the vast oceans, constantly enriched by the nutrient salts poured into them from land areas, will grow in importance as a source of the food supply. The fisheries, in whatever form they may take, will bring back to land, and to the table, an adequate supply of food, cultured, harvested and preserved for more economically and scientifically than are the agricultural crops of the present epoch."

When even this supply of food is exhausted, man may be able to turn to science, which is fast learning the secrets of synthesizing foods.

"There is no doubt about the possibility of making fats and oils," explains Dr. Barnard. "Nor is it difficult on paper to combine carbon, hydrogen and oxygen to form starches and sugars. Formaldehyde is the simplest possible compound of these essential elements."

"Starting with this easily obtained product chemists have, by the use of ultra violet ray, produced glucose and similar sugars. The only barrier to the artificial manufacture of sugars and starches is the enormous amount of electric energy required to complete the synthesis."

"The protein have a complex and varied structure. No one of them is in itself nutritionally complete. Protein molecules are made up of nitrogenous compounds which are called amino acids."

"It is not too great a task for the chemists to synthesize amino acids. When they are no longer produced in growing bodies of and animals, they will be placed on the table of our remote descendants by the chemist of that far-distant day."

"Even the vitamins, about which we know so little, although they have in the last decade been studied so much, will undoubtedly be synthesized soon in advance of the time when the stock in the larder of nature is insufficient."

So why worry? "Thanksgiving Birds Likely to Cost More"

It does seem as though the waistline never would stay put. It's a bit disconcerting to hear from Paris it is lifted to normal, and then to find it breaking away from normal, to drop like fluctuating stock below par, one day high, the next low. Paris is always gambling on the waistline when she isn't busy with the hemline. But the presentation of a style is one thing. Its acceptance as the mode, vogue or fashion is another. The jacket theme, so frequent in the Paris openings, both in the absolutely developed and the indicated jacket, would naturally have something to do with raising the waistline. One cannot break the silhouette in pieces with a jacket line at the hips and a waistline almost to the knees. As a matter of fact, while a number of the prominent designers, like Patou, for instance, insist on the waistlines posed at the hips, others quite as prominent, like Molyneux, Chanel and Belong, sponsor a low waistline. However, as the flat hipline, which of itself gives the long waisted effect, is already accepted, and is sponsored by at least ninety per cent of the Paris designers, the raised or normal or high waistline, whatever that may be, according to the varying interpretations, is nothing to bother us for another season at least. There is, however, a tendency to fit the figure a little more closely, and Paris has introduced a new corset or corsetette, which, while boneless, hugs the figure to its natural curves.

Three Types Sponsored. The sketch shows three types of the costumes sponsored for fall, designed on the simple lines so popular with our American women. The first is of plaid transparent velvet in a slenderizing tunic model, but with the high waistline indicated at the top of the hips by means of a rather wide belt. The flare is dropped low on the skirt. The second or center model is developed in black satin, in the popular two-piece frock, with accordion pleated skirt, and hugged hipline achieved through a sash belt. The third model is an ensemble of crepe de chine with cloth coat. The bodice is slightly fitted, and an unusual hip treatment effects the hugged hip and the top hip waistline at one and the same time.

Naturally the fall shoes follow as far as possible the lines of the costume silhouette. The kidskin models, hug the heel and arch, and the flat hipline hugs the hips, and follow the line of the foot, with flexible freedom, just as the slightly fitted lines of the costume follow the lines of the body while retaining its lithesome flexibility.

London society people have started the innovation of house-leaving parties which are given as much attention as house-warming events. When Mrs. Herbert Saps recently left her flat and took one above, she gave a farewell party in the old rooms.

Flat Hipline Retains Long Waisted Effects

"Log Cabin" Wrap

In days gone by grandmothers used to pass away the hours quilting and very frequently indeed the prize winning quilt at the county fair was a "log cabin" pattern. Now that the "log cabin" evening wrap has been introduced by Mary Brian, screen actress, perhaps our grandmothers can be induced to try their hand at making the gorgeous wraps. This wrap, worn above, is made of tiny pieces of silk sewed together in intricate fashion.

OLD GRANDPA TIME IS BEATEN BY MAN WHO STARS AT 68

San Mateo, Cal.—Sixty-eight years old and a top notch star in one of the most vigorous of sports.

That's Hugh Drury, gray-haired captain of the San Mateo polo team and the so-called dean of polo players. Drury has been playing for 49 years—championship polo. He has known the game in England, his mother country, in torrid India and on the finest polo fields of America. He came to America in 1900 and was given a handicap rating of eight goals by the United States Polo association and his play since then has merited the respect of all opponents. Today, long after the great ball players, ring stars and track athletes of his time have become withered old men, Drury is a power to be feared wherever polo is played. His team—the sterling San Mateo four—all students of his, won the Pacific Coast circuit championship and made a great bid for national honors. San Mateo met and fell before Point Judith, R. I., in the national tournament. Drury scored two of his team's five points. When the day comes (and it seems long distant) for Hugh Drury to hand up his battered mallet and call it quits the sport world will have lost one of its brightest figures, a veteran who proved a stout heart can defeat the enemy of man, Old Father Time.

ARMLESS WOMAN PILOTS PLANE

Undaunted by the lack of arms, Miss Josephine Callaghan, who has gained recognition as a sportswoman and an exhibitor and rider of spirited horses, is now an accomplished airplane pilot, according to her instructor, Charles F. Dyer, in Los Angeles, Cal. A special rigging is attached to the plane to allow Miss Callaghan to control it.

He Never Forgot

Mr. and Mrs. Hawekia.

Vienna, Austria—A million dollars—in round, shining American coin—now belongs to Mrs. Therese Hawekia, white-haired and bent with the bitter labor of a long life. To Mrs. Hawekia who never before has had two gulden to clink together in her pocketbook it means much more than protection and plenty in the last days of her life. It means that she was remembered by a man who said he would never forget. Many years ago, when Austria was younger and happier, Therese Hawekia was a young maiden much in love. But she had no money and neither did her sweetheart, an ambitious young fellow who loved her better than happiness itself. A Sad Message. One night he came to Therese's humble little home. He looked very sad as he took her small hand, already scarred by work, into his. "We cannot marry, Therese," he said. "We are too poor. I am going to America to try my fortune. If I succeed you shall share in my success, no matter what happens. I shall never forget." Then he kissed her and went away. Many a day after that did Therese cry softly at her work until along came robust and dashing Herr Hawekia, whose smile chased away the tears. They were married and in her new happiness Therese seldom thought of that other man who had gone away. Fortune Comes. But the other man—his name is not spoken in the Hawekia household for obvious reasons—found fortune aplenty in the new country. He became a power in banking circles, a rich man, a millionaire—and then, the other day, he died. "To little Therese back in Austria," read the will, "goes the bulk of my estate." It was his way of saying: "This was my promise to you, little Therese, that I would never forget. And I have kept it."

FAMED SPRING -- PRAISED AS A PARK PROJECT

Kitch-iti-ki-pi Popularity Deserved, Says Norman H. Hill

Congratulations on the acquisition of Kitch-iti-ki-pi as a state park are expressed in the September issue of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau News...

The project of a state park at Kitch-iti-ki-pi has been a foremost one in the minds of commission members for some time.

The bottom of the spring is cone shaped, with many jets of water bubbling through its sandy floor. It is said that the Indians formerly worshipped here, throwing in their offerings of kinnikinnick to propitiate the spirit of the spring.

The transparency of the water is such that the coins can be readily followed by eye until they are swallowed up by the boiling sand at the sides and bottom of the cone.

MARKET NEWS

WILD DAY IN STOCK MARKET

STOCK SALES AVERAGES. Date: Today 219.49, Tuesday 217.82, Week ago 214.66, Year ago 178.88, High 1928 219.49, Low 1928 178.88.

BY STANLEY W. FRENCH, Associated Press Financial Editor

New York, Sept. 12.—(AP)—A spectacular advance in stock prices, which carried scores of issues up 1 to 11 points to new high records, was checked by heavy profit taking just before the close of today's market.

A plentiful supply of call money at the renewal rates of 7 1/2 per cent, a series of favorable merger and dividend developments and the establishment of another new low level by Sterling Exchange, increasing the possibility of gold imports, formed the background for the upward movement.

The opening of the market was one of the wildest ever witnessed in Wall Street, particularly in the absence of any unusual overnight development. National Cash Register and Studebaker each opened with blocks of 10,000 shares at new high records.

Opening prices in several cases, proved to be the highest of the day. Loose Wiles Biscuit, for instance, opened 4 points higher at $8 3/4, a new high record, and then sold down to $2 5/8, closing at $3 3/4.

Buying orders were distributed over a broad list, with leading commission houses reporting a flood of out-of-town orders, particularly from the middle western cities.

Reports of higher dividends stimulated the demand for the tobacco shares. Tobacco Products climbed nearly 6 points on the raising of the annual dividend to $8.

Establishment of a new low by Sterling Exchange, with Cable on London quoted at $4.85-1.16, was the only development of consequence in the foreign exchange market.

Athletics Take Closing Game of Series, 4 to 3

YANKS HOLDING 1 1/2 GAME LEAD

Bishop's Home Run in 9th Inning Gives Philadelphia Victory

BY WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN (Associated Press Staff Writer)
New York, Sept. 12.—(P)—Prof. Cornelius McGillicuddy marched solemnly about the premises of Jacob Ruppert this afternoon gathering up the bits of wreckage. In them he found one virtually unused ball game, which he promptly appropriated, 4 to 3, over vigorous and sustained protest by the Yankees. The Athletics so escaped from the Bronx with one victory in four engagements, and vanished into the west, trailing the champions by one and one-half games.

The battle moved through almost eight innings as a pitchers' duel between Waite Hoyt and Howard Ehmke, but then developed quickly into a contest of strategy between Messrs. Huggins and McGillicuddy. The winning blow was Max Bishop's home run with two out and none on base in the ninth. This smash over Babe Ruth's head into the right field seats broke a 3 to 3 tie in favor of the Macks, and so unsettled Hoyt that he turned the reins over a moment later to George Pigpras.

Scores in Third.
The veteran Ehmke, battered and beaten in almost all of his recent starts, pitched magnificent ball against the champions until he wrenched his knee in delivering the ball to Tony Lazzari in the eighth. The tall right-hander so injured himself that he had to give way to Oswald Orwoll with two out, the Athletics one run ahead and the bases full of Yankees.

The champions started the scoring with one in the third by bunting two singles with a pass and a force out, but the Athletics came back with two in the fourth and would have had more but for some dense base running by Al Simmons.

Cochrane doubled and Al walked, only to be trapped off first a moment later by Bengough's snap throw to Lazzari who sneaked over the bag as Gehrig moved in for an expected bunt. As a result Cochrane was forced off second and run down, and Simmons was lucky to get safely back to first.

Singles by Fox and Dykes and a sacrifice fly by Miller followed immediately, sending two runs across the plate, the second made possible by Combs' wild return of Miller's sacrifice.

A pass to Robertson, Bengough's single and Hoyt's smash into a double play put the Yanks on even footing again in the fifth, but the seventh saw the Athletics jump ahead once more on singles by Boley, Bishop and Haas.

Mack's Hard Long Trail.
The eighth inning crisis which the Athletics weathered just when it seemed they were sending another game to the bow-wows, began harmlessly enough. Combs singled to Boley, but died trying to make third on Koenig's smash into left for a base. Gehrig obliged with a strike-out and Connie ordered Ruth passed. Meusel next was hit by a pitched ball and the bases were filled. The fans, now with the Yanks, yelled madly for a base hit as Lazzari marched to the plate. Ehmke seemed to take an extra step forward in delivering the ball to Tony, and apparently wrenched his right knee. After a long consultation in the middle of the diamond among members of Prof. Mack's board of strategy, young Mr. Orwoll was called into action.

The pennant trail remains long and hard for the Macks, but they at least have a chance after winning this last battle with the Athletics. The runners-up have thirteen games in the west and must win eleven of these to take the flag if the rejuvenated champions do so well as to register ten victories in their fifteen skirmishes along the western front.

Such respective performances would give Connie the pennant by half a game. The half-game factor will remain until the end as the Athletics have one Boston game permanently washed from the schedule, while the Yanks will play the full 154, barring future rains.

Grab Announces Esky Reserves' Grid Schedule

The football schedule of the Escanaba High School Reserves squad was announced today by George Grab, coach of the second team.

Felch will be the first opponent on Sept. 22, the contest to be played at the Escanaba high school athletic field as a preliminary to the Manistique-Escanaba game. Coach Grab will take his gridders to Rock on Sept. 29 and the following Saturday, Oct. 6, they will clash with Vulcan on the latter's diamond.

Negotiations are under way to book the Stephenson eleven for Oct. 13, the game to be played in the Menominee county town. Vulcan will come here on Oct. 20 to go against the Reserves in a gridiron fracas that will be a preliminary number to the Escanaba-Iron Mountain game.

Rock will come to Escanaba for a return game on Oct. 27. The encounter will be staged before the Sault Ste. Marie-Escanaba battle.

Stores Film Pedestrians.

Attracting customers into their places by means of motion pictures is being tried by several large stores in Barcelona, Spain. The stores send out operators with cameras, who station themselves on principal thoroughfares and take the films of pedestrians. Assistants hand to each promising-looking person coming within range of the camera a numbered card, giving the address of the store and the time after which copies of the picture just taken may be obtained. The store sells pieces of the strip containing three pictures for the equivalent of 25 cents.

PACKERS OPEN SEASON SUNDAY

Green Bay Squad to Meet Herb Joesting's Minneapolis Marines

GREEN BAY—(Special)—The Green Bay Packers will open their football season here Sunday afternoon at the City stadium in a game against the Minneapolis Marines, headed by Herb Joesting, the famous all-American fullback from Minnesota.

The kick-off is scheduled to be promptly at 2 o'clock and regulation 15-minute periods will be played. Cub Buck, former Wisconsin star, will referee.

The Marines are coming here with a strong line, Swanbeck, the Kiesling brothers, Cotter, Murphy and a raft of other former collegians are to perform with the Gophers. Dunn, the Marines' manager, has booked an extensive schedule this season and he figures that a win over the Packers would be quite a feather in his team's hat.

The Packers, will be in good shape for the lid lifting fracas. Capt. Lambeau has been working his squad of 24 players hard all week and the team will be on edge when the whistle blows. A number of new gridders will make their debut with the Big Bay Blues. Among these are Griffin, Iowa, center; Minick, Iowa and Bowdoin, Alabama, guards; Ashmore, Gonzaga, tackle; Weber, Nebraska, and Neacy, Colgate, ends. In the backfield, the newcomers are: Baker of California; Marks of Indiana; O'Boyle, of Notre Dame; Estes of Georgia, and Lollar, of Howard.

CARDS OUTHIT BUT WIN GAME

St. Louis Increases Lead to Three Full Games; Beat Reds, 2-1

St. Louis, Sept. 12.—(P)—Despite the fact that they were out hit 7 to 5, the St. Louis Cardinals increased their lead in the National league to three full games by virtue of a 2 to 1 victory over the Cincinnati Reds in the last home game of the season.

A walk, a single and a sacrifice in the opening stanza enabled the Reds to get their only score of the game, while the Cardinals collected their counters in the 4th when a walk, a balk, two singles and a stolen base were transformed into runs.

The New York Giants and the Chicago Cubs, leading contenders for the pennant, were idle.

American Tennis Stars Show Might and Defeat French Title Contenders

HILLTOPS GET HARD PRACTICE

BY F. C. VOSBURGH (Associated Press Staff Writer)
Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 12.—(P)—American tennis stars shown in their might today and defeated the formidable French contenders for the United States national singles championship in three out of five great battles.

Of the five Frenchmen who started play in the third round this afternoon, only two advanced for the championship, and another famous internationalist, Jacques Brugnon. Jean Borotra, third of this noted triumvirate, fell by the way side along with the "tennis kids" of the tri-color, Christian Bousset and Rene De Buselet.

Outstanding heroes of the epoch making battles along the Franco-American front were that substantial citizen and newspaper owner, of New Rochelle, N. Y., Francis T. Hunter, and handsome young Fritz Mercur, former star of the Lehigh university tennis team and now a vendor of insurance.

Huhter's vicious drives sent Borotra, the imitable, "bounding basque" of French tennis history, toppling to defeat—by the scores of 6-6, 5-7, 6-0, 6-4, 6-2.

Fully as heroic if not so successful was the part played by Mercur when in the fading light of dusk, he battled the one and only Cochet stroke for stroke before he finally succumbed to the genius of the marvelous French shot maker. Coming from behind, Cochet eventually won, 4-6, 11-9, 6-4, but not without a number of worried moments.

"Toto" Earns Place
George Lott, the spectacular young Davis cup player from Chicago and Gregory Mangin, promising Newark, N. J., member of the rising American tennis generation, shared with Hunter the honor and peculiar thrill of triumphing over French tri-color opponents.

Lott steamed through the defenses of Bousset, the left handed French newcomer of 20, in straight sets, 6-2, 6-3, 6-4, while Mangin sprang considerably more of a surprise in defeating De Buselet, the conqueror yesterday of Wilmer Allison, by scores of 6-6, 6-2, 3-6, 6-2.

"Toto" Brugnon, the lone French player besides Cochet who survived the American onslaught, fully earned his semifinal bracket by scoring a noteworthy victory over Dr. George King of New York, who stopped John Hennessey in the first round. Brugnon who is 33 and the oldest of the French internationalists, won from the medico who is two years his senior by scores of 6-2, 4-6, 6-0, 6-3.

Still another foreigner besides the two French managed to come through the third round of fighting. He was Jack Crawford of Australia who in doing so upset Johnny Van Ryn, the former Princeton star and one of the best of the United States players, 4-6, 6-4, 1-6, 6-2, 6-3.

England's last survivor, "Bunny" Austin, was eliminated, however, at the hands of John Doeg after a long drawn five set match, 6-4, 5-7, 6-2, 5-8, 6-2. The other match of the eight which held the attention of a gallery of 6,000 persons for most of the afternoon and part of the evening, was an all-American affair, and incidentally the only one without an international tinge. In it, Frank Shields of New York, the national junior champion, turned back Harris Coggeshall of Des Moines, Iowa, 11-9, 6-2, 6-2.

The public pro then duplicated his trick of his match with Al Watson yesterday, by winning the next two holes and the match. Ham was in trouble on both of the last two holes, while Kocsis played steadily and scored two pars to win. The course was a bit tricky because of rain, and Kocsis's greater stamina carried him through against the fine closing spurt of the veteran Ham.

HILLTOPS GET HARD PRACTICE

Eskey Gridders Exhorted to Pep Up for Opening Game

With the game with Manistique—the first of the season—slightly more than a week away, Coach William Puckelwartz put the Hilltop gridders through a strenuous workout yesterday afternoon despite the fact that the rain-soaked field made the work disagreeable.

Some of the boys, who displayed a tendency to slow up their activity, were admonished by the Hilltop mentor to pep up if they wanted to be in condition to play in the opening game. Coach Bill Cook is reported to have a good team this fall, and the Schopplecrafters have gotten an early start on the practice field

HIGH SCHOOL HAS BIG BAND

Nordling Has Musical Organization of 40 Members

The Escanaba high school band, bigger than ever, has started its work for this year under the direction of R. W. Nordling, instructor in music. The popular school musical organization, which will furnish the music for high school athletic events, concerts and other affairs, is composed of 40 pieces, five more than last year.

Stuart Johnson, the drum major, gave a pleasing exhibition of twirling the baton at the first band practice. He has been practicing the various tricks of the profession diligently during the summer vacation, and clearly showed the benefits of his work.

The bandmembers are as follows: Cornets, William Karas, Phyllis Judson and Ann Forest; trumpets, Roland Priem, Gordon Baird, John Harvey, Walter Peters and Robert Bartella; clarinets, Herbert Maves, Thomas Wilkinson, Everett Nelson, Marion Stratton, Grace Warrington, Alva Kauteen, Henning Peterson, Thatcher Leighton, Vera Smith; Trombone, Jack Bartella, George Harvey, Malcolm Lund, Jack Durancosau, Jean Lucas; mellophone, John Manley; Mielnie Stein, and Edward Moersch; piccolo, Robert Sorlie; saxophones, Leonard Johnson, M. A. Kennedy, Roger Smith, John Anthony; drums, Morris Pirlet, Claude Tobin, Clara Hirn and Ann Teinert; helicon, Carl Hogberg, Neon Meade, and Beatrice Demars; euphonium, Elizabeth Taylor; cymbals, Alta Trombly; drum major, Stuart Johnson.

Work of drilling the band in marching will be in charge of Lyle Shaw, a member of the high school faculty.

Besides the band, there are a number of other musical organizations in the Escanaba public schools. Mr. Nordling also directs the girls' band of 15 pieces, girls' orchestra of 20 pieces and the high school orchestra of 40 pieces. Bands are being organized in each of the grade buildings. The Franklin school has an organization of 60 members; Barr 25; Jefferson 12, Washington 22 and Webster 25.

The boys' glee club and the mixed chorus are also in charge of Director Nordling, while Miss Grace Mills directs the work of the girls' glee club.

Police of Dundee, Scotland, are investigating the finding by two boys of an eighteen-pounder live shell on a beach.

DUCK HUNTING IN CITY BANNED

Police Department Issues Warning; Season Opens Sept. 16

As the wild fowl season will open next Sunday, Sept. 16, the Escanaba police department issued a warning yesterday that the law prohibiting the shooting of guns within the city limits will be enforced vigorously.

Duck hunters have been the cause of considerable complaint from residents living in the vicinity of the bay shore, the loud reports of guns awaking them from their slumber at early hours of the morning. All offenders will be arrested and prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law. It was emphasized at the police station.

About twenty hunters have paid the price of $1.25 for a small game hunting license and a special button at the county clerk's office here. The fact that the trout season closed on Sept. 1 apparently will not influence fishermen to lay away the rod and other angling paraphernalia until next year for they are still allowed to catch bass, perch, pike and whitefish. About five non-residents have applied for the special non-resident fishing license, which permits fishing for virtually all other species except trout. This special license costs $2.00.

The season opening on Sept. 16 is for wild fowl, including ducks, snipe, plover, and geese. Partridge hunting is prohibited this year. The rabbit season will not open until Oct. 25.

Glasgow, Scotland, municipal street car organization was recently fined by the city for overcrowding its cars.
