

FIRST U. P. STATE FAIR COMES TO CLOSE

METROPOLITAN AREA CENTER OF INTEREST

SMITH DEPENDING ON STRENGTH IN CITY

BY DAVID LAWRENCE.

(Copyright 1928, by the Escanaba Press)

En Route West from Albany, N. Y., Sept. 22.—Leaving New York state after several days of study, the conclusion is that, unless the Hoover drift which has been setting in rather strongly in the last fortnight takes on greater proportions than has been evident, Governor Smith may depend on New York City to overcome his upstate losses.

The Republicans know that New York City is the battleground. They are planning by the nomination of Attorney-General Ottinger for governor to draw large blocks of votes from the Smith camp. But what nobody knows is just what the sidewalks of New York will deliver to Governor Smith on election day. It may be the largest vote he has ever attained in his home city. Sympathy with Governor Smith as the under-dog in the fight has developed in lower New York because of the prominence given to the attacks on him. Tolerance as an issue has been talked up and is more a subject of whispering than anything else.

People Are Interested. Under the circumstances, the man in the street is taking more of an interest and showing more zeal about the voting than ever before. Governor Smith carried the state once during a presidential year and lost it once. He ran well ahead of his own ticket in 1920 but in the Harding landslide which gave the state to the national Republican ticket by more than a million majority, the New York governor failed by only about 75,000. Then in 1924 when President Coolidge swept the state by nearly as good a margin as Mr. Harding, the New York governor emerged triumphant with a majority of well above 100,000 against Theodore Roosevelt.

These figures alone constitute the basis of all the discussion, one side claiming that Governor Smith may have gotten thousands of Republican and Democratic votes as state executive which he never can have as a presidential nominee and the other side contending that the vote in a presidential year is a fair test of the strength of Governor Smith's personal following.

Betting Is Even. This time it is a test more than over of loyalty to the New York governor himself and in New York City the challenge has been taken up vigorously. Usually an attack on Al Smith means a boomerang in his favor. His friends know this time he is in a fight and an uphill fight at that. They are planning to register and to vote in the cities where it is relatively easy to get to the polling places but the Republicans have to face the possibility of adverse weather conditions in the rural districts where the Hoover vote predominates.

As matters stand now in September, Governor Smith has the advantage. But the state can hardly be conceded to him. It is doubtful. And the Hoover vote is constantly increasing. The betting is more or less even, which indicates how some of the speculators feel about the chances of the rival candidates. The straw votes in a doubtful state mean less than in a state which has a decided tendency in one direction or the other.

This much is significant—with Gov. Smith so well known in the Empire state and so affectionately regarded by his thousands of partisans it is important to note that even among his own kind there is doubt about what the state will do in November. Doubt expresses it much less than "uneasiness" which conveys a true impression—the Smith people are nervous, the Republicans are growing more confident and the tide is running heavily for either Hoover or Smith, with many voters still on the fence and with the state conventions in the early part of October likely to affect the trend materially.

Detroit Pastor to Have Parish in Canadian City

Detroit, Sept. 22.—(P)—The Rev. Dr. Lynn Harold Hough, former pastor of the Central Methodist Episcopal church here, and his mother, Mrs. Eunice R. G. Hough, left Detroit Saturday for Montreal, where Dr. Hough will be pastor of the American church of Montreal.

Relief Measures in Florida Storm Area Gaining in Momentum

West Palm Beach, Fla., Sept. 22.—(P)—Measures for relief of the area ravaged by last Sunday's tropical hurricane gained momentum today as official estimates fixed the death toll at between 1,000 and 1,500 homeless, and disease and hunger threatening refugees in parts of the Lake Okeechobee region.

Rapidly coordinating its program, the American Red Cross allocated phases of the work to its branch headquarters in Jacksonville, Tampa and Fort Myers. The latter two cities will handle the parts of the lake region inaccessible to headquarters here, while Jacksonville will supervise the relief situation.

Rising waters and lack of adequate transportation facilities handicapped the emergency relief work and the recovery of the bodies within the stricken lake shore district.

Governor Martin said the entire Everglades were flooded and Fred C. Stuck, secretary of the Isaac Walton League, of Florida, appealed to members of the league to furnish outboard motors, saying that due to inadequate drainage the flood waters continued to rise from recent rains. Men were sought to man boats which were used for hauling supplies, refugees and bodies.

Community Isolated. Federal aid to cope with the situation was sought by United States senator Park Trammell who telegraphed to President Coolidge that anything else.

BISHOP ASSAILS HOME CHURCHES

Work of Christianity in Foreign Lands Going Forward Rapidly

Ionia, Mich., Sept. 22.—(P)—Deploping the apparent indifference of the home church in assisting financially in dissemination of Christianity in pagan worlds, Bishop Frank W. Ware, for 40 years identified with missionary work in India, told delegates to the 33rd annual Michigan Methodist conference here tonight that "when Methodism gets on its feet before God, there will not be any particular financial trouble. God help us pray our way through."

"Things are happening wonderfully in foreign lands," the Bishop told his audience. "Mohammedanism is without a head after ten centuries and 320,000,000 people in India or one fifth human race, are coming to a dominion status inside a Christian empire. This is the greatest movement in the ages, but there are many millions of uneducated people in India. It is these for whom we live and for whom we die.

"American slavery never approached the slimy conditions that exist in India today," he declared. He cited instances of the manner in which the masses are oppressed by the "untouchables" or high caste.

Honored at Banquet. Bishop Ware told of how child marriage and enforced widowhood as practiced by Hindus, was one of the greatest curses of the entire world.

During the afternoon Bishop Ware was honor guest at the reception tendered at the country club. Business sessions, Deacons conference, and ministers wives luncheon were on the day's program. Sunday morning a love feast will be held at Methodist church, following which Bishop Ware will deliver the sermon. Ordination services in afternoon, Rev. Allan Macrossie, New York City, speaking afterwards.

United States Senator Arthur Vandenberg will speak on "Christianity and Constitutionalism," at both Methodist and Church of Christ meetings in evening. Governor Fred W. Green will likewise address both groups.

Gov. L. D. Dickinson is also scheduled for appearance on the program.

Kelley Promises to Be Out of Prison in Three Months

San Quentin, Cal., Sept. 22.—(P)—Boasting that he would "be back in Los Angeles in ninety days," Leo "Pat" Kelley, butcher boy, sentenced to hang for the killing of his sweetheart, Mrs. Myrtle Melus, Los Angeles society woman, entered condemned men's row in San Quentin prison here today and became number 45933.

Chatting freely with newspapermen, Kelley said the trial judge's instructions had been in error, and that his petition for a mistrial would surely be granted.

OPPOSITION NOT KEYNOTE OF CAMPAIGN

HOOVER GIVES STAND IN ADDRESS AT CAPITAL

By W. B. Ragdale

Washington, Sept. 22.—(P)—Herbert Hoover declared unequivocally today that his campaign is not one of opposition, but in favor of the issues and candidates in the Republican party.

His statement was contained in an address to a delegation from Maryland, the first public pronouncement he had made since his Democratic opponent, Alfred E. Smith, opened fire on the Republican party in his address at Oklahoma City last Thursday evening.

"We are now in a great campaign," Hoover said. "Our campaign is based upon our issues. It is not a campaign of opposition. It is a campaign in favor of the issues and candidates in the Republican party."

During the day at his headquarters, the nominee received assurances of support from one of his most implacable foes at the Kansas City convention, Senator Guy D. Goff, of West Virginia who is to stump his own state and speak in New York, and also was given an encouraging report about Oklahoma by Senator Pine. Victory More Certain

In addressing the group from Maryland, mainly consisting of young men, who were accompanied by Phillip Lee Goldsborough, Republican candidate for senator, Hoover said that fundamentally the government could be conducted only with a definite party organization. He added that this was the only way through which the people could express their will upon issues and men.

Besides his discussion with the president about New England, Hoover received a long report from Dr. Hubert Work, chairman of the Republican National Committee, who has just returned from Boston, where he addressed the Massachusetts Republican state convention yesterday.

"Every indication points to increasing likelihood of victory for the Republican ticket there," Dr. Work said. "The confidence of the state leaders is extremely encouraging. The fine ticket they have nominated in the primary has unified support, and Massachusetts leaders are not only to carry the state for the national ticket, but also to defeat Senator David I. Walsh, the strongest Democrat in the state."

France's Woolen Sock Empty But Money is Banked

Paris, Sept. 22.—(P)—France's traditional woolen sock may be empty but the hoard it held is now in the banks. There is a twenty dollar bill on top for every man, woman and child in France in two great systems of savings banks and no one knows how many billion francs in government bonds held by ten million French families.

A strong impetus was given to savings in recent months when 500 tons of silver and 97 tons of gold were taken from the traditional woolen sock and poured into the coffers of banks. This was because of a decree passed by the French parliament which ruled that old coins were no longer legal tender.

Smith Explains Campaign Derby And its Origin

Denver, Sept. 22.—(P)—The origin of the Smith campaign brown derby was disclosed to the west today for the first time by the Democratic presidential nominee himself. Here's his story:

"By accident I was wearing one during my second campaign for governor in New York. Then the newspaper men in Albany, at their annual frolic, turned up another one. A newspaper man right in this room—I will not name him—but he was the same one I pointed out a moment ago as having picked out the fanciest shoes on the train after getting up this morning—appeared in a stunt with a brown derby and it has been pretty well known ever since."

Kidnaping Suspect Arrested in Hawaii

Honolulu, Sept. 22.—(P)—A nine-year-old Japanese boy, Yutaka Fukunaga, sought as the slayer of Gill Jamieson, banker's son, after the latter was kidnaped from school, was arrested tonight and confessed, police said.

Goes to Sleep on Motorbike; Wakes Up With Fractures

Hermansville, Sept. 22 (Special)—Leonard Dishneau, 20 years old, fell asleep on a motorcycle which he was riding home from Cunard Friday night. The machine took a turn, climbed a curbing over a sidewalk, headed through a ditch and struck two trees.

Dishneau was picked up in a semi-unconscious condition by E. B. Sturm, who took him to the office of Dr. J. K. Parish. Examination by the physician disclosed a fracture of the left leg, a broken jaw and other injuries. The motorcycle was demolished.

GRAND JURY TO CONTINUE WORK

Disclosures in Philadelphia Inquiry Cause of Move

Philadelphia, Sept. 22.—(P)—The special grand jury investigating gang murders, bootlegging and police bribery in this city probably will go on until after the new year, John Monaghan, district attorney, said today.

Sensational as have been some of the revelations heretofore, he said, he had reason to believe he had uncovered only a small part of the "scandalous conditions." At the same time he disclosed that Samuel O. Wynne, federal prohibition administrator for Eastern Pennsylvania, turned over to him today a black book taken from a 75-gallon still which was seized in South Philadelphia. The book contained entries showing that bribes were paid to the captain, the district detectives and to patrolmen in whose territory the still was operated.

Patrick J. McKewen, chief of county detectives, today announced that he would give the city police force until Monday to bring to headquarters Frederick Silber, missing city hall detective, charged with being implicated in extorting $1,500 from a confessed bootlegger.

Flamingos, Driven From Florida by Storm, in Texas

Brownsville, Tex., Sept. 22.—(P)—Swept far from their usual feeding grounds by the tropical hurricane that struck Florida early this week, hundreds of flamingoes were observed in this vicinity today.

The beautiful bird, apparently made tame by hunger, were the first many persons had seen on the Gulf coast. Full grown crimson and white specimens were feeding within the city limits of Brownsville and in the recesses on the outskirts.

Press dispatches from Florida discussed the possibility that the birds had been swept into extinction by the tropical storm.

Yanks Announce Ticket Sale Plan For World Series

New York, Sept. 22.—(P)—The New York Yankees today announced provisional conditions under which they now are accepting orders for world's series tickets. They indicate a record capacity of 70,000 for the series.

Applications for approximately 25,000 reserved pastebards will not be accepted unless accompanied by certified check or money order. The tickets are for sale in sets of three for games one, two and six. The first two will be played at the Yankee stadium, October 4 and 5, if the American League champions repeat.

Girl to Campaign For Governor Smith

New York, Sept. 23.—(P)—Miss Katherine Elkus, daughter of Abram I. Elkus, former Ambassador to Turkey, will leave Democratic national headquarters Monday afternoon for a campaign motor trip into the middlewest where she will make speeches for Governor Smith, not in halls, but on street corners. She will visit Buffalo, Detroit, Cincinnati and Milwaukee.

Miss Elkus will drive her own car, which she had elaborately decorated with Smith plates, pictures, and streamers and loaded with literature and campaign buttons. She is a graduate of Vassar and ran the information desk at the Houston convention.

2 GOVERNORS PRESENT AT DEDICATION

CEREMONY HELD AT BLANEY PARK YESTERDAY

Blaney Park, Sept. 22 (Special)—The formal dedication of the Blaney Park airport took place at 11:30 o'clock this morning, with the governors of two states present—Gov. Fred W. Green of Michigan, and Gov. Fred Zimmerman of Wisconsin.

The new field graced by the presence of eleven "stranger" planes, including all different types, from the giant tri-motored Ford plane, which carried Gov. Green's party to the upper peninsula, down to the small pursuit planes of the army squadron of Selfridge Field. Two cabin monoplane were included in the list, as well as a Swallow biplane of the commercial type.

Gov. Green, Gov. Zimmerman and Roger Andrews, publisher of the Detroit Times, were speakers on the program. Immediately after the program, Green's party took off in the Ford plane for Menominee, en route to Lansing.

It was a big event at Blaney Park—this dedication of an airport in the neat little resort village which has grown up on the leavings of a lumbering town. It was a big event for Blaney, for Schoolcraft county, and for the development of air travel in the Upper Peninsula.

Dropping out of the blue from a sky route known previously only to migrating geese and ducks, eleven specimens of modern aircraft landed on the hilltop field at Blaney Park Friday afternoon to participate in the dedication of a glass port on what was once a timbered tangle. Flocks of sparrows, frightened from their perch on the old windmill, scurried to safety as the crooning big planes usurped the safety of the air which had been their exclusive domain up to that time, and old settlers for miles around craned necks to watch the modern flying machines come easily to rest and park along the fence back of the cottages.

First to arrive was Gov. Fred Zimmerman of Wisconsin, known in his home state as the flying governor, who came at the invitation of the Wisconsin Land and Lumber Co. officials to participate in ceremonies furthering the progress of aviation in his neighboring state. The genial Governor Zimmerman landed about 3 p. m., in a Travelair plane, piloted by Albert Meyer of the Royal Airways, Madison. Accompanying him was Penny Quinn, president of the air company, and Dick Spry, Associated Press representative.

Six army planes Selfridge Field, Mich., in command of Lieut. Virgil Hine executed maneuvers for the crowd of spectators, and then dropped down, one by one, to their "parking place". The pilots in the group were: Lieutenants, H. A. Johnson, Demas T. Crav, Paul Wurtmuth, Alfred Kalberer and Lester Munger.

Other machines included: a Stinson, from the North American Airways, Appleton, Wis., piloted by Elwyn West; a Fairchild from the Weeks Aircraft company, Milwaukee; a Swallow from the U. P. Airways, Escanaba; and the big all-metal trimotor Ford plane bearing Governor Green and party.

The latter arrived about 5 p. m. from Escanaba, where the Governor had attended the state fair. As the huge machine, the largest ever seen in this section of the state, settled lightly down on the Blaney hill and taxied up the band-stand, the Manistiguan musicians struck up "The Star Spangled Banner", and then "Michigan, My Michigan", in honor of the state executive. Crowds gathered quickly around the Ford plane. It was an occasion which will never occur at Blaney again, at least not very soon.

Gov. Zimmerman was serenaded also by the Manistiguan band as he lunched at Cellibeth Tavern after his arrival. The players rendered "On, Wisconsin", and the governor sent a word of appreciation to George Hamlin, band leader, saying that it was the "best tune any band ever played."

The two governors were guests at a governors' dinner held Friday evening at the Tavern, and sat side-by-side on the speaking platform for the program at Blaney Hall, remodeled from the old building which once served as a church, dance hall, town hall, and what-not.

A talk by Harold Earle, one of the Earle brothers who are residents of Escanaba, was given at the Blaney Park airport.

Weekly POLITICAL REVIEW

By The Associated Press

BY D. FIELD BRITTLE

Dallas, Texas, Sept. 22.—(P)—When the Kansas City and Houston conventions finished their work some weeks ago with the selection of Hoover and Smith as their nominees, and thereby set in motion a realignment of forces within the parties, there were some who boldly ventured the prediction that traditional barriers would be swept aside and that votes would be found in foreign fields. Those who studied the signs, at a time when forecasts risked reputation, now may safely say "I told you so."

For their verification they have only to review the political happening of the week. The period has witnessed the solidification of battle lines that now exempt no sector, and gave testimony that both candidates mean to take their electoral votes where they can find them. That is particularly true of this southeastern region, where strange events are being recorded.

South Invites Smith. With tactics typical of his New York campaign, Governor Smith has carried his fight into the Republican farmer stronghold of the midwest and has swooped down into Oklahoma to combat an admittedly strong Hoover sentiment in that colony of normal Democracy. From this neighboring state of Texas, meanwhile, word has been passed on to Mr. Hoover that if he would make but one speech here the state might be in November. That situation is the more remarkable because the message, an earnest appeal, was carried not by Republicans but by men who have in the past received the honors of the Democratic party.

Similar counsel from the rest of the solid south has been given to Mr. Hoover and he has accepted some of it, consenting to speak in Elizabethton, Tenn. The plea from Texas was made to the nominee upon his return from a crusade in New Jersey by a delegation headed by Tom Love, former Democratic national committeeman, and now a leader of the anti-Smith forces in the lone star state. He made a serious representation that a speech by Mr. Hoover at the right time in this vast empire of Democracy might produce a psychological impact that would swing the state's vote to him.

Whether Hoover will decide personally to add his party and the Smith foes here is not known. At present he is studying the effect of his flying visit through New Jersey towns to Newark where he delivered a detailed Republican preachment on the tariff, immigration, labor and prosperity.

With three set speeches at Omaha, Oklahoma City and tonight at Denver, Smith has endorsed the "principle" of the equalization fee farm relief plan, has had more to say about prohibition in answering a group of questions put to him in an Omaha newspaper advertisement and has appealed to the public to settle that race on issues alone and not to decide it on the basis of his Catholicism.

Much is being said also in other sectors of the farm belt, particularly in Iowa where Republican leaders have been pictured as a bit disturbed. There and in other states Senator Curtis, the Republican vice-presidential nominee, has been talking himself hoarse promising that his party will help the farmer by a revision of the tariff. Two days after he spoke in Spencer.

WEATHER

LOWER LAKES: Winds fresh to strong and mostly northwest Sunday; generally fair except some cloudiness.

UPPER LAKES: Fresh to strong, northwest winds Sunday; fair to partly cloudy. Small craft warnings have been ordered for Lakes Huron, extreme eastern Superior, east shore Lake Michigan, Erie and Ontario at daybreak Sunday.

LOWER MICHIGAN: Fair, but some cloudiness, cooler in southern portion Sunday; Monday generally fair and continued cool.

UPPER MICHIGAN: Fair, but some cloudiness, not quite so cool Sunday afternoon; Monday fair.

WISCONSIN: Mostly fair Sunday and Monday; cooler Sunday in extreme southeast portion and not quite so cool in extreme north portion; slightly warmer Monday.

UNDERTAKING IS DECLARED HUGE SUCCESS

FOUNDATION LAID FOR GROWTH IN FUTURE

The First Upper Peninsula State Fair closed its gates last night. All concerned agreed that it was a most successful affair, and one that is certain to increase from year to year in size and importance.

The weather, after four days of warm sunshine, began to cut capers Friday, and the fair closed in mud and showers, yesterday, but the rain, the chilly wind and the heavy clouds failed to cool or dampen the enthusiasm of the board of managers and state officials who have been in charge of the preparations, the building activities and the various departments. All agree that the fair has had a most encouraging start, and that a foundation has been laid upon which one of the biggest and best state fairs in the midwest can be built.

Automobile races featured the afternoon program Saturday afternoon. The vaudeville and circus attractions were presented both day and night, and the special farewell display of fireworks last night was the finest of the week.

Live-Stock Parade

The live-stock parade which opened the afternoon program attracted much attention and interest. Dairy men paraded their prize-winning stock, decorated with the ribbons which were emblematic of their ranking in the cattle world, around the grounds.

Among the exhibitors whose cattle were prominently in the parade were: The Romeo Farms, Detroit; Marquette-Ensign farm; Richard Johnson, Ensign; Michigan State Hospital, Newberry; L. Calkins & Sons, Blanchard; Loma Farms, Marquette; Maurice Shane, Ensign; Flat Rock Jersey Farm; Robert Johnson, Ishpeming; Andrew Sundberg, Ensign; and prize-winning herds and individuals from Gogebic, Ontonagon, Delta and other counties.

Exhibitors, in all departments, were enthusiastic in their praise of the hospitality and the treatment accorded them in Escanaba by the fair officials and department executives, and the people in general. Several groups around the livestock barns presented the officials with gifts, Walter Horwood, of the cattle department, was given a fine leather traveling bag by the cattlemen, who also presented Mrs. Horwood with a leather purse. The presentation was made by Former State Senator F. H. Vanderboom, of Marquette, who expressed the thanks of the exhibitors for Mr. Horwood's cooperation and interest in their welfare. Mr. Horwood, in response, thanked the cattlemen and he hoped to meet all of them at the fair next year.

Many Words of Praise. That this same friendly feeling towards the fair existed in all departments, was very evident yesterday. Race horse owners sent a special delegation to the fair office to express their gratitude for the treatment they had received. All are anxious to return in 1929.

The attitude of the free attractions was voiced by Al Francis, of the Francis Trio, when he said: "I am a veteran in this business. I've seen a lot of fairs, large and small. This was the finest 'first fair' I have ever seen. I can see no reason why it should not develop, speedily, to one of the largest in the country. We have never, anywhere, been treated more kindly, more considerately, or enjoyed our work more thoroughly than we did here. The weather has been chilly, but we're leaving with a warm spot—a mighty warm spot—in our hearts for Escanaba." These sentiments were echoed, emphatically, by the Hoaglan Hippodrome, the Shannon Trio, Cliff Curran, and all the others.

Band Is Lauded. The Ironwood Municipal band, which furnished music throughout the week, was praised by the state officials and the free attraction folk in the most emphatic terms.

Fred Chapman of Ionia, manager of the Detroit State Fair and one of the outstanding fair executives of the country, declared it was one of the finest bands he had ever heard. "It is worthy of a place on any state fair program—and a feature place at that," Mr. Chapman declared. John L. McManis, secretary of the Detroit State Fair, described the organization as "wonderful."

"We're working to band music every week during the fair season," said Mr. Francis. "We know a good band when we hear one. And I've never heard a better band, at any fair, than the Ironwood band. We hope we have a chance sometime to work with Mr. Gorman and his boys again.

Discussions in Dates Considerable talk has been heard, around the executive offices during the week, about advancing the fair dates several weeks next year. It was pointed out that mid-September, in the Upper Peninsula, usually is accompanied by unsettled weather and the nights invariably are too cool to permit spectators, comfortably to enjoy an out-door program. It is likely that this matter will be given serious consideration by the board of managers at their next meeting, according to authoritative information yesterday.

Official attendance figures for the week were not available last night. It is certain, however, that, in spite of the two days of atrocious weather, the gate figures offer plenty of encouragement for further expansions and improvements.

The management already is at work on plans to make the fair "bigger and better" next year.

TRACK BAD.

In yesterday's racing program car No. 58 captured the twenty five mile event from a field of six starters. Only one other car finished the grind of the bumpy and slippery rain-soaked track. Car No. 101, driven by Eldridge placed second. Time for the distance was 29 minutes.

The race was delayed and cut from 50 miles to half the distance was 29 minutes.

The race was delayed and cut from 50 miles to half the distance because of the condition of the track. Automobiles were driven over the circle for more than two hours in an effort to dry up the water soaked clay.

The curve on the west end of the track proved a Waterloo to four of the machines. The first quit was the Car 154, driven by McClure. A broken oil line, developed from the rough going on the track and especially on the curve, caused the machine to stop after leading the parade for 20 miles.

The Miller front-wheel drive, Car No. 23, driven by Karnatz, suffered the same fate as did 154—a broken oil line. No. 6 also developed a broken oil pipe and No. 72 shook its radiator loose. All breakdowns were blamed on the rough track.

Bobbed Hair Is Not Popular in China

Foochow, China (AP)—Bobbed hair is not popular in rural China, so an American missionary in Fuh-shing, near here, has followed the rule that no girl in her mission school may have her hair cut unless her parents are willing.

One day a 13-year-old girl had her hair cut with her parents' permission. She was followed by a servant in the missionary's household, who asked, in high temper, if his mistress had cut "Precious Jade's" hair. It came out that he was engaged to the girl and was paying for some of her schooling and many of her clothes. He insisted he had some rights in the matter.

Three days later the little daughter of the gate woman at the school appeared with short hair, and the missionary learned that the servant himself had wielded the scissors. One good look at his future wife had convinced him that the bobbing custom was desirable.

GIRLS! GIRLS! WHAT SAY YOU TO THE PROF?

Albany, N. Y.—Girls, the Professor evidently doesn't like you. In fact, the pet belief of the Prof. is that women don't amount to a row of pins. And the Prof., Dr. Cody Marsh, ought to know, for isn't he a former professor of psychology at George Washington University?

Dr. Marsh is all for getting the so-called weaker sex to grow up. Maturity, the leaving behind of their pet words, "darling," "precious," "angel," "cute" and their flair for ribbons, silks and fluffs would enable women to "grow up to an intellectual and emotional adulthood," he says.

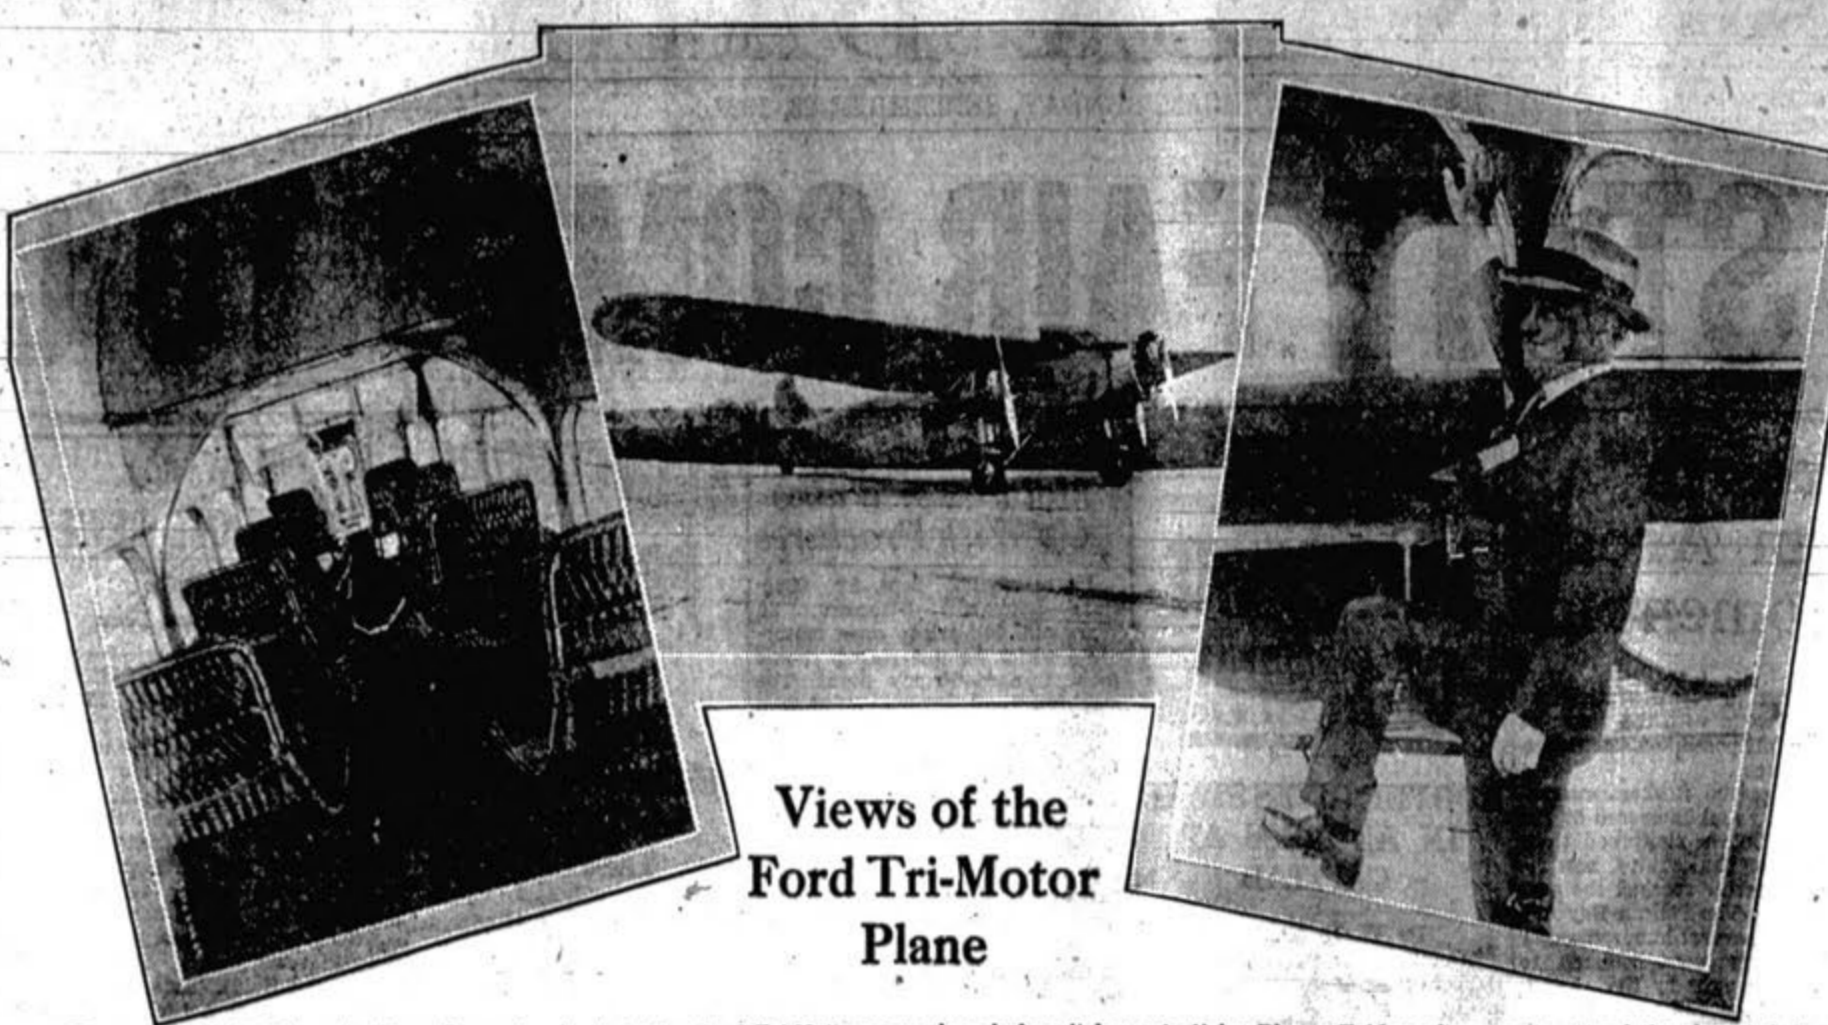

"Women have never done anything important," says Dr. Marsh. "With the possible exception of Sappho, they haven't a single achievement to their credit."

"The larger fortunes possessed by women have been obtained by inheritance or as alimony or heart balm. In business, as in politics, woman is just doing the dishes. And also, as a companion to man, woman is a failure. There is no such thing as perfect companionship between men and women."

From which, dear ladies, we take it that the Doctor is a bachelor—but we haven't any way of knowing.

HIS BIG MISTAKE. Minneapolis, Minn.—Louis Cooper, traveler from distant parts of Montana, arrived in the city without his spectacles. He wanted to phone a fur dealer and unwittingly asked a deputy state game warden to find the number for him. The resultant conversation made the warden suspicious. A bit of sleuthing disclosed $1500 worth of Montana beaver skins in Cooper's baggage. As a result a justice of the peace fined Cooper $100 for illegal possession of the skins.

Paris, Sept. 22—(AP)—Edgar Allan Poe has got into the French movies. "The Fall of the House of Usher," including the fall itself in slow motion, has been presented in color. France, which has always been in the forefront of Poe's admirers, is giving the new film of the "sombre, delicate poet" an excellent welcome. Poe's romantic story is particularly admired for its modern, scientific skill in photography.

Views of the Ford Tri-Motor Plane

Governor Fred W. Green is shown here stepping into the Ford Tri-Motor monoplane before it hopped off for Blaney Friday afternoon to attend the airport dedication exercises. On the left is shown the interior of the plane's cabin. The comfortable chairs were made in the governor's furniture factory, the Ypsilanti Reed Furniture Company.

Parrots Bored by Wonders of Capital

Washington (AP)—Two blue and scarlet South American parrots or macaws, which occupy a lofty perch in the Pan-American building, are as bored as any worldly individual in Washington. Daily they gaze out across the patio with their tinkling fountain at the hordes of tourists listening with interest as the guide describes the wonder of the building. Stolidly, they stare at the scene below, sometimes not moving a muscle or flicking a feather for half an hour. Only the occasional contemptuous droop of an eyelid betrays the fact that they are alive. Faceless persons who lean over the marble railing above with a "pretty Polly" receive a cold and fishy stare.

Yet the parrots are reputed to be able to talk in three languages—Spanish, English and Portuguese. Occasionally one squawks something in Portuguese, which makes the guide, who knows what the bird has said, hastily escort his party elsewhere. However, there is seldom anyone in the audience who understands the language so it makes little difference.

JOBLESS SELL BLOOD. Cluj, Rumania, Sept. 22—(AP)—The sale of human blood here has become an active industry during the past two months. The sanitary authorities have discovered that 110 gallons of human blood have been bought and used for transfusion purposes during the two months period. The current price of the blood is $25 for 1 1/2 pints. Investigation revealed that blood was bought principally of men who were out of work, about three-quarters of a pint only being bought from each individual.

While men in Finland refuse to give up shirts that pull over the head, they are adopting American soft collars.

responsible for the transformation at Blaney, opened the program. Mr. Earle told some of the purposes and ideals realized in the establishment of Blaney Park, and declared that it was purely a conservation project.

Atty. James C. Wood of Manistique acted as chairman of the meeting and introduced first the Wisconsin governor.

The famous Zimmerman smile, rivaling the well-known Green grin, was in evidence as the Michiganders packed in the little hall rose to welcome the neighbor executive, and Governor Zimmerman had the crowd with him throughout his entertaining address.

Alluding to the chairman's remark that he was the first to arrive at Blaney, Zimmerman said that this was not always so. "We had an election in Wisconsin, and I didn't arrive at all," he shouted.

He lauded the broad conservation policy as typified by Blaney Park, and aimed some good-natured quips at the Michigan governor and his state, at the same time taking advantage of the opportunity to advertise some of the things for which Wisconsin is famous. He mentioned a number of problems which he believed should be handled on a common basis between Michigan and Wisconsin, including uniform game laws, uniform mesh nets for commercial fishermen, and kindred problems.

Governor Green replied in kind to the remarks of Governor Zimmerman, and smiled broadly as "a long-legged clothes pin". Governor Green, round and genial, a contrasting figure for the lanky Zimmerman, got a rousing reception from the mixed audience. The Michigan governor noted with pleasure the "awakening of the Upper Peninsula", and the realization in lower Michigan of the importance of

Frank X Martel Pleads Not Guilty

Detroit, Sept. 22—(AP)—Frank X. Martel, president of the Detroit Federation of Labor stood mute when arraigned in Judge Christopher E. Stein's court today and a plea of not guilty was entered for him, on the charge of extortion.

Examination was set for Oct. 8 and bond of $5,000 was furnished by Harvey Watson, director of the Federation of Labor. Martel, who has been absent from the city since the beginning of the purple gang trial at which he was to have been a witness, appeared in court with his attorney, John F. Simmons this morning. He was ordered by Judge Stein to go to police headquarters for fingerprinting and registration before being arraigned.

The labor leader was named in a warrant issued by the prosecuting attorney after Manuel Jacoby had testified in the purple gang trial that he had paid Martel $500 to refrain from calling a strike in the cleaning and dyeing industry.

British Editors Leave for Tour of United States

London, Sept. 22—(AP)—Fourteen prominent British editor-pilgrims of the press sailed from London this afternoon in the Steamship Minnowwaka for a two months tour of the United States as guests of the Carnegie endowment for international peace. The object of the tour is promotion of goodwill and understanding between the American and British people.

The British Institute of journalists chose the pilgrims from all over the British Isles.

Four Casualties In Forest Fires

San Francisco, Sept. 22—(AP)—Four casualties were reported today in California's fight against forest and brush fires on several widely separated fronts. Three men are dead as a result of a brush fire near Livermore which ignited gasoline in the tank of a truck in which they were riding. The men all lived in that locality.

Prince of Wales Takes Up Aviation

London (AP)—An official shroud of secrecy has enveloped recent airplane flights made by the Prince of Wales. By official order, the pilot of the prince's plane is never permitted to be interviewed. When the prince goes to a Royal Air Force airfield to take off or land, the gates are closed and no newspapermen are allowed inside.

It is said, however, that the prince is a good flyer. He has had considerable experience in the air, so that by now a casual flight of a hundred miles or so is a mere item in his day's routine.

The planes which the prince has been using have been fitted with the new Handley-Page slotted wing safety device, which prevents the plane from going into a tail-spin even when it loses normal flying speed.

The prince still continues, however, to make good use of automobiles. But he has found the airplane a much better method of conveyance, in view of the fact that there is less chance of a crowd of enthusiastic admirers getting in his way when he travels by air.

New Motor for Airplanes Shown

Houston, Texas, Sept. 22—(AP) A successful demonstration of an airplane motor based upon a new internal combustion, two-cycle principle, was announced here today by its inventors. The test was performed before a group of aviators and newspapermen.

A four-cylinder model on a steel tripod and with a regulation air screw was displayed. At its highest speed it turned at 1,300 revolutions a minute, developing between 80 and 90 horsepower.

The inventors, H. E. Lyons and Victor Toce, told spectators that the company was amply financed, and that they had filed 16 claims for basic patents.

Cooks Spoil Light Plans Competition in the brilliancy of lighting of business streets in Cannes, France, met its limitations recently. When the rue d'Antibes flashed forth with a new arc lighting system, merchants of other streets saw with terror the crowds that visited the street, other thoroughfares soon blazed with light, and eventually merchants of the narrow and ancient rue Grande became enthusiastic. In one day they collected 7,000 francs for an ornamental lighting equipment. Then it was found that the many lights were taxing the local electric light plant so that at times all the illuminations of Cannes grow dim or go out altogether, especially at tea time when housewives are preparing the meals.

Women Engineers Have Paris School

Paris (AP)—In the wake of women doctors and lawyers, women engineers are coming into the limelight in France. They have a school all to themselves in Paris, and industrial magnates dispute the privilege of engaging the serious young women who have their diploma.

The Electro-Mechanical Institute for Women is installed in the National Conservatory of Arts and Crafts. To follow its course women must have an A. B. degree in mathematics or must pass the examinations of a preparatory section.

These courses are specially designed to create an elite corps of women engineers, trained in all commercial phases of industry as well as the more technical sides.

When a "dry" refuses to work at a bar, and can't get no other job, should he be entitled to unemployment dole? That is the question that puzzled the officials of Ireland recently. A youth of 18 was receiving unemployment dole and was offered employment at a public-house bar at wages commencing at $7.50 a week and three meals a day. The youth said he was a teetotaler, and refused the offer, whereupon his unemployment dole was stopped on the grounds he "unreasonably refused a job offered to him." The court of Referees refused his application for resumption of his dole, but when he put the case before the umpire under the Unemployment Insurance Act it was ordered resumed without further delay.

Auto Runs 59 Miles on Gallon of Gas

Automobile engineers who worked for years in an effort to reduce gasoline consumption have found the solution in a marvelous invention that fits all cars. An actual test made by one of the engineers showed 59 miles on a gallon of gas. Thousands of car owners have already installed this new invention. They not only report amazing gas savings but are also surprised to find quicker pick-up, instant starting, smoother running motors and disappearance of carbon. E. Oliver, 399-517 West Third St., Milwaukee, Wis., for a limited time is offering a free device to those who will help introduce it. He also needs men everywhere to make over $100 weekly in their own territory taking care of local business. Write him at once for free sample and big money making offer.—Adv.

PLANE CRASHES; FLYERS UNHURT

Edward Watson, Marquette, and Companion Hit Signboard

Crashing into a signboard with their plane, Pilot Edward Watson, 24, Marquette, and Frederick Sensiba, 21, Crystal Falls, had a miraculous escape from death at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning. The smashup occurred along the new concrete highway at the west city limits, about 300 yards from Joseph LaFleur's oil station. The young men were uninjured save for a few bruises.

The plane, a rebuilt Clipped Wing Standard, was badly damaged, the wings and fuselage being reduced to a mass of wreckage. The two young flyers probably owe their lives to the fact that they were thrown from the cockpit as the machine hit the top of the billboard.

Inability to raise the plane or "set altitude," to use the aviation term, was responsible for the crash.

Narrowly Hits Car. George W. Downie, Cleveland, and son, Scott, who were driving into Escanaba from Norway, were just passing the signboard when the flyers landed.

"I saw the plane headed toward us, flying low," Downie said. "Just about the time I thought it was going to land on our car, the plane swerved suddenly to the right and hit the sign. The noise was deafening. My son and I immediately ran over to the scene and found the pilot lying on his back and his companion bending over him."

Signboard Torn Down. The signboard was of the triangular type. The plane hit the west section, tearing half of it down, and finally landing behind.

Downie said the two flyers were about 20 feet away when he found them.

The aviators were on their feet within a few seconds after the crash, and asked Downie to drive them to the airport. Watson received slight bruises about the face, and Sensiba complained of a sore neck. The motor was not badly damaged. An hour later, Watson and Sensiba returned to pick up pieces of the plane as they intend to rebuild it.

Downie and his son also had a narrow escape of being hit by the plane as it landed, according to Watson's explanation.

Plane Not Licensed. "We were starting out for Iron Mountain, and were having trouble because of the strong wind," Watson said. "I was traveling at an altitude of about four hundred feet but couldn't raise it any higher. I started to make a landing for the concrete pavement, but a gust of wind took us into the signboard. In coming down, I saw neither the automobile nor the signboard alongside the road."

Watson has been flying for several months, but had no pilot's license nor was his plane licensed, since it was of the obsolete type which the U. S. department of commerce will not approve. For the past few weeks he had been keeping his plane at the U. P. Airways, Inc., field. Sensiba is a student flyer.

TRAVEL BY SKYROCKET. Berlin (P)—Max Valler, inventor of the rocket car which recently exploded at Avus race course, Berlin, said that future experiments would teach the use of liquid instead of solid explosives as driving power for his extraordinary vehicles. The destruction of the rocket car has caused plans for a rocket plane to be held in abeyance. The inventor believes that transatlantic rocket planning is possible.

TODAY'S PROGRAMS.

At the Delft—Arthur Lake and Mary Brian in a screen version of Carl Ed's new paper comic strip, "Harold Teen."

DELFT MONDAY.

More than 300 extra players appear in Clara Bow's new starring picture entitled "The Fleet's In!" garbed in the uniform of the United States navy. For the most part, the men selected were ex-naval men so that authentic and realistic atmosphere could be obtained.

"The Fleet's In!" as the feature attraction at the Delft Monday and Tuesday next week.

Director Malcolm St. Clair, before actual production of the film was started, insisted that the men portraying "gobs" from Uncle Sam's fleet have previous naval training and experience at sea.

Casting directors found a good many numbered among the host of extra players in Hollywood, and a great number of them were engaged in some other work, but gladly took part in the picture for the sake of old times. They entered into the spirit of the picture just as if again they were back in uniform and "whooping it up" on shore leave.

Clara Bow gives one of her strongest characterizations in this picture, according to advance reports. Critics have been lavish with their praise of the work of the flaming haired star.

James Hall and Jack Oakie have the featured supporting roles, with a capable cast surrounding them.

The story concerns Miss Bow, portraying the role of a dance hall hostess, who is the center of a rivalry between Hall and Oakie. How the story is brought to a brilliant climax, is one of the many surprising and entertaining features of the film.

Monte Brice and J. Walter Ruben of the Paramount writing staff prepared this original story for the screen.

AT THE STRAND.

In "The Swell-Head," the Columbia production scheduled for showing at the Strand Theatre on Monday, Ralph Graves again "doubles in brass" for this company. The photoplay also marks his third directorial vehicle for Columbia as well as his third directing effort in the motion picture field.

The first opportunity to show his merit as director was given Graves by Harry Cohn, vice-president and production head of Columbia Pictures, who had faith in his ability to successfully undertake the role of director as well as that of actor.

LOVE POINTS THE WAY FROM THE SLOUGH OF DISPAIR TO THE HILL-TOPS OF BLISS

"Any Man Worth Fighting With Is Worth Fighting For," Says Beautiful Fudge Inhaler Who Tells This Thrilling Story.

(From Dippy Confessions Magazine)

IF I WERE to tell you my name you would recognize it immediately. You would understand my reluctance to reveal my identity when I inform you that I am the Minnie Gootus whose picture was displayed so prominently in the recent advertisements a few months ago. Oh, the publicity was terribly humiliating. Honestly, girls, you will never know how I suffered. But the photographer was very kind to me. He gave me time to put on a little lipstick and cross my knees so my legs would not look like I was ashamed of them. They are nothing to be ashamed of.

When I was quite young I started work in a candy factory. The foreman discovered that I had quite a sensitive nose so I became the principal fudge inhaler. It was my duty to inhale the odor of the chocolate fudges we were cooking and tell the advertising manager how good it was, so that he could put some enthusiasm into his copy. The advertising manager had catarrh very badly and he had to have some one else do the smelling for him.

So proficient did I become at this work that the advertising manager fell in love with my sense of smell. Poor man! He was forty years older than I, but so unsophisticated! And, without the use of one of the principal functions of his nose, so helpless! One day, in a spasm of anger, I struck him violently on the nose with an electric vacuum sweeper. Tears of joy leaped to his eyes.

He fell on his knees and reaching upward, he kissed the hem of my skirt. "I can smell," he sobbed joyfully. "Oh, how can I ever repay you?"

He arose and swept me into his arms. His eyes opened wider. "You have been eating onions," he said immediately. "I detest the odor of onions. The perfume in your hair is extract of petunia. I do not like it. Neither do I care for the hollyhock perfume on your blouse. Take those daisies off of the mantle immediately. I do not like the scent. That odor of—"

By that time I had the vacuum sweeper in my hands again. I swung it with all my force.

When he regained consciousness his sense of smell again was gone. And we have lived happily ever since.

If you want happiness, girls, you must fight for it. I know. I did. And I won. —H. K. R.

SWEETHEARTS

CHAPTER XXXII
MRS. BLAGUE THREATENS DIVORCE

Ralph dropped Claire's fingers, and his eyes passed on to the girl just behind her.

As Lyn came forward, the feet of her hand in his was like wine to his flagging spirit. He lifted her wide purple face, and saw in her wide purple eyes, a sweet tenderness, which, although Ralph Armitage knew her feeling was partly for him, and partly because of her sympathetic youthful pity for everyone in trouble, seemed to make his pain less.

As he looked at her, a kind of surprise flooded in consciousness, for he suddenly became aware that never before in all his storm-swept life had he had the passionate desire to take any woman in his arms that he now had for this girl. For a moment his lids drooped again over his eyes. He could not tell which was the most unbearable—his physical pain, or his great heart longing.

"I hardly expected you girls would come," he said again. "If I had really thought you would have been so sweet to pay me this visit, I would have sent for you earlier in the evening. I lay here for two hours, calling myself a fool for thinking you might accede to my unconventional request. At last I could not stand it any longer, and on the spur of nerve-racking pain, I sent Wilson with the note."

"I never knew time to pass as slowly as it did after he left, until I heard your voices in the other room. Now that you are here, tell me all the news. I want to hear you talk. I want to look into your faces. What have you been doing lately, Claire?"

"Crying most of the time," answered Lyn, bluntly.

"Why should as pretty a girl as Claire Stanhope weep?" asked Ralph, rather teasingly. "Unless it were for the pleasure of having someone wipe away her tears."

"Well, there is no pleasure in this, Mr. Armitage. I can assure you," explained Lyn. Mrs. Fred Blague has named her as co-respondent in her divorce suit.

"What! What do you mean, co-respondent?" In his surprise, Ralph Armitage twisted his shoulder a little, and shrank back in his pillows with a groan.

"Lyn, all sympathy, bent over him, trying to make him more comfortable—and Claire lent a helping hand, saying: 'You must not worry about my affairs. You must get well yourself, as soon as possible.'"

"Has Mrs. Blague filed her papers yet?" Ralph asked, as soon as he was settled in a comfortable position, where he still held Lyn's hand.

"I don't know," answered Lyn. "She wrote a letter to Claire, saying that she had given them sealed to a lawyer—whatever that may mean—telling him to begin proceedings on a certain date, when her husband was to be served, and everything made public. She said she had not told her husband yet."

"She's trying to frighten you, Claire," interrupted Ralph. "She doesn't want a divorce from Fred. He has offered to make a trust fund for her and the children, so she could live just as well as she does now, if she would give him a divorce, or anything else that would not make a scandal."

"She told Claire, also, that she was going to sue her for alienating her husband's affections," interrupted Lyn.

"How much does she expect to get?" asked Ralph, with the nearest approach to a grin that Lyn had seen on his face since he was hurt.

"Oh, of course, she knows she would not get anything," answered Lyn, again taking up Claire's case. "But you can see what this means, can't you? If her name gets into the papers in connection with Mrs. Blague's divorce suit, it will not only part her forever with Mr. Blague, but you know your father will discharge her. I am told by everyone that he is dreadfully afraid of a scandal in the office."

Ralph's grin had changed to a sardonic smile. "I expect he thinks I'm scandalous for one business corporation," he said, bitterly.

"Look here, Claire," he continued. "I'm going to be very frank with you. Fred Blague is one of my oldest friends; we were both in prep and college together. Of course I like him, but I also know that his wife has some right on her side. He has acknowledged this to me, when I have told him she was a very bad little boy, and advised him to stick it out for the sake of his little girl, if for nothing else. One may even get used to any kind of pain. I, who consider myself an expert on that sort of thing, tell you so."

"Nevertheless, Claire, I am sure that you are the one woman that Fred Blague cares for, notwithstanding he kissed Pamilla Sheston goodbye on the avenue at four o'clock of a sunny afternoon. Men do queer things. They may love one woman devotedly, and still find momentary joy in another woman's kisses. It isn't a very pleasant thought, is it? But you know I told you that I was going to be frank with you."

"Fred was very unhappy the other day when he told me you said you were never going to have anything more to do with him. After you found out he was married, he said you had never been the same, and he did not care what became of himself. That's why he has been drinking so much this year."

"That's a good one, Claire," interrupted Lyn. "You are to blame because Fred Blague has a patronizing bootlegger more than usual. You will probably also be blamed because he felt inclined to kiss Miss Sheston."

Ralph looked rather shocked. One of the reasons he had been drawn to Lyn was because she was not flippant. He wondered if she was growing hard. He went on as though she had not spoken.

"I think he would be glad now to get a divorce from his wife, even if she named you as co-respondent, my dear Claire. For then, perhaps, you would marry him."

Claire Stanhope rose to her feet.

RÉTICENCE

We do not know how deep
The seas we sail,
And soils around us weep
And smile unknown.
We walk like one asleep
Through life's dark vale,
Yes, side by side we keep,
Yet walk alone.

His wife, so fair of face,
Was yet more fair,
And had a soul of grace
He never knew.
She lived a life apart
He did not share,
Yet all the while his heart
Was dreaming, too.

He prayed, loved beauty, yet
He said no word;
He spoke not, when they met,
Of these to her.
Though each the things could hear
The other heard,
They never knew how near
They really were.

DIET AND HEALTH

By Lulu Hunt Peters M. D.

Author of "Diet and Health" and "Diet for Children"

THE TUBERCULIN SKIN TEST GIVES POSITIVE DIAGNOSIS.

Tests for Tuberculosis.

"I went with a boy friend for two months, saw him almost every day, danced with him and kissed him. He has just died of tuberculosis, and he did not even know he had it. I have had my lungs examined by a doctor and he could find nothing wrong with them. I did not tell him of my friend. Is there anything else I can do to make sure if I have contracted the germ?"

"WORRIED."

You must always tell your doctor everything relating to your case, worried. Had you done so he might have given you the tuberculin skin test. This is made by a tiny scratch of the skin, not enough to draw blood, through a drop of tuberculin. Tuberculin is a liquid in which tubercle bacilli have grown and have been filtered off, just leaving a little of the poison of the germ. If the test is positive, there will be a little area of redness around the spot in 12 to 24 hours.

If it is positive, it may or may not mean that your recent exposure is the cause, for a large percentage of healthy individuals will have a positive reaction from some old infection that never has been active for the resistance has been strong enough to wall the germs off. In the presence of symptoms of tuberculosis, however, it is diagnostic of the disease.

As you have no symptoms, the thing for you to do is to forget the occurrence, for worry will lower your resistance. Live hygienically and get plenty of sleep and outdoor exercise and a correct diet. Above all things, don't try to reduce to the extreme slenderness which young girls today seem to favor, for that means a deficient diet. And a deficient diet is undoubtedly the cause of the increase of tuberculosis among young girls.

For those who are interested, we have an article on Tuberculosis which has a list of books on the subject written by authorities for the layman. See directions.

NOW THERE'S ONLY 99.

Emporia, Kan.—Dan Davies, one of Emporia's celebrated 10 bachelors of the list published recently by Judge Wilford Riggs, has fallen to the wiles of Cupid and taken to himself a wife despite his vowed allegiance to the Bachelor's club. Davies, who secured a license to marry Mab Griffiths, said they were engaged long before the list was published.

GYRO PLANE FLIES OVER CHANNEL

This "Autogyro" is the invention of Senor Juan de la Cley, former member of the Spanish parliament, who has piloted it "foolproof flying machine" from Croydon, England, across the English channel, to Le Bourget, Paris, the longest flight ever made in a plane of this type. The plane can rise and descend vertically.

THE BALANCE SHEET AGAINST BOOZE.

THE FACT often has been noted that the great majority of heads of industry, big employes and business men generally have become convinced of the value of prohibition. Yet this condition hardly has received the emphasis its importance warrants, contends the Kansas City Star, which explains:

For it is unquestionably a factor in America's economic leadership of the world today—entirely aside from the numerous benefits that have come to workers and their families, since much of the money that formerly went into liquor has been turned to constructive account in the building up of homes and higher standards of living.

Confirmation of this view is furnished in a recent statement by Eugene N. Foss, former governor of Massachusetts. Mr. Foss, a Democrat, comes out in support of Hoover and says the move is made solely on the ground of prohibition. Asserting that "I took my stand as a manufacturer and an employer of hundreds of men," Mr. Foss continues:

Liquor has no place in this era of mass production, which almost alone has maintained the industrial prosperity of the United States. I could produce from the efficiency sheets of my own industries the record showing the difference between conditions before and after prohibition. The advantages are all with prohibition.

There is mentioned, in addition, the conviction that it was only when prohibition came by constitutional enactment and hence on a national scale that "the cause of temperance made any real headway." Mr. Foss believes with Henry Ford that "every civilized nation in the world, which seeks world markets, will be compelled to follow in the footsteps of this country with respect to outlawing booze. The country is geared to higher speed than liquor permits."

A snake was found under the hood of an automobile at Barnesville, Wis. Naturally, the drive thought there was something wrong with the coils.

THE PAPERS DID IT.

PAUL JAWORSKI at the age of twenty-seven had dynamited a payroll guard to death, killed a guard in each of two other payroll robberies, and engaged in the Detroit News robbery which resulted in killing of a police officer. He was an incorrigible desperado and a murderer. Thursday he walked into a restaurant in Cleveland run by John Zaworski, who reads the newspapers.

Perhaps because of the similarity of their names, Zaworski had seen and impressed upon his mind's eye a news photo of Jaworski. He phoned police. There was a battle in which one officer died and three persons, including Jaworski were wounded. His criminal career, it seems quite probable, has come to an end even if he recovers physically.

Newspapers are condemned for "too much crime news." Some of them do carry an excess of it. But police officers, frequently have gone out of their way to say that without the newspaper and its broadcasting of facts and descriptions of crimes so interesting that whole cities read them, their task in thwarting the underworld would be greatly increased.

Except for a newspaper photograph Paul Paworski today would be stalking another "job." His plan was to get a machine gun and use it to release his brother from the Pittsburgh jail. Society owes the capture of this crazy killer to nothing else but news—and pictorial news at that, which would be condemned by some as "brutalizing" and "sensational."

There is at least one thing more brutal than news of crime, and that is crime itself. There is no excusing yellow and needless sensational crime-bolstered journalism, but at its livid limit it could not put society in a worse condition than as if there were no crime news at all. That would be a boon to the criminal, making all his activities safer. People who argue for completely "crimeless" papers forget what a wonderful aid that would be to Paul Jaworski and his kind.—Grand Rapids Press.

MEXICAN CENSORSHIP.

THE STRICT press censorship maintained by Mexican authorities which not only banishes foreign correspondents but puts newspapers out of business is largely responsible for the chaos that still exists in Mexico. This information is contained in an enlightening article on Mexican conditions written by William Flewellyn Saunders, who for several years was secretary of the American Chamber of Commerce in Mexico City.

"The editor of a Mexican newspaper that prints anything, news or editorial expression, critical of a government policy or objecting to it, knows well that he is daring banishment or imprisonment and the foreign correspondent knows that unless he keeps what he sends out strictly within well-defined governmental lines he stands in danger of being banished also," says Mr. Saunders.

He goes on to point out that the magazine Liberty, of New York, printed a series of articles on the Catholic situation in Mexico. One of the articles was an interview with President Calles. But the article did not satisfy Calles and Liberty was excluded from the mails. Now it is going into Mexico again. The Saturday Evening Post sent Isaac F. Marcoss down to Mexico to write about conditions there. His accounts were so displeasing to Calles that the magazine was excluded from the country for some time.

The strict censorship that President Calles maintains is in direct violation of article 7 of the constitution for which Calles professes profound respect. The article says that "Freedom of writing and publishing writings on any subject is inviolable. No law or authority shall have the right to establish censorship, require bond from authors or printers, nor restrict the liberty of the press, which shall be limited only

MEDITATING

A college president has suggested that the average man put the following paragraph by Lord Bacon over his desk or work bench:

"For myself I found that I was fitted for nothing so well as for the study of truth; as having a mind nimble and versatile enough to catch the resemblance of things, and at the same time steady enough to fix and distinguish their subtler differences; as being gifted by nature with desire to seek, patience to doubt, fondness to meditate, slowness to assert, readiness to reconsider, carefulness to sit in order; and as being a man that neither affects what is now nor admires what is old, and that hates every kind of imposture. So I thought my nature had a kind of familiarity with truth."

CREEDS AND RELIGION

We may come to think little of creeds and their points of difference until we fall to understand what is really vital and essential in life if we think lightly of religion. Let's not confuse religion with creed. It is well said, in every sense, that a man's religion is the chief fact with regard to him," said Carlyle. It is "not a matter of creed but it is the thing a man practically lays to heart and knows for certain concerning his vital relations to this mysterious universe and his duty and destiny there."

LEADERSHIP

One hesitates to use superlative terms and say that this, that or the other thing is the ONE THING the world needs most. We are all given to laying-down statements as though they were quite final. There are many, indeed, looking at life as a mere biological-happenstance, who would not care to agree with Thomas Carlyle that religion is the chief fact with regard to man.

Speaking of the ONE THING there are few who would not agree that what the world needs most is leadership. It is easy to get men to follow—but there are few who lead. The same Carlyle we have been talking about once remarked:

"No time need have gone to ruin, could it have found a man great enough, a man wise and good enough, wisdom to discern

FEDERAL REGULATION OF INDUSTRIAL PROFITS ASKED.

By SMITH W. BROOKHART

United States Senator from Iowa.

I believe that high and unjust prices, oppressive both to labor and to the rest of the people of this country, demand action, and I suggest a proposal as a new remedy. Here is the situation which, in my opinion, calls for the serious consideration of congress, and I have been studying the problems of labor for the last eight years.

I do not mean by this industrial labor only, because in my opinion the problems of the farmer who also tills, is more acute than any other problem of the present day. The problem of the man who earns his bread by the sweat of his brow has been the problem of the ages. Civilization has advanced as labor has advanced. It is labor of hand and labor of brain that create everything. All other agencies of production, including capital itself, are but the tools or the implements of labor.

It is not very far back in our truly that the time wanted; valor to lead it on the right road; thither; these are the salvation of any time."

Who's Who in Timely Views

own history that labor was a commodity of barter and sale. Even the laborer himself was a chattel of slavery. We have advanced far from those standards.

When the government by law extends protection to an industry, it has the inherent right to regulate the profits of that industry. Even when by law a corporation is created, it secures an existence by virtue of a grant from the whole people. The government and the power that makes such a grant has the right to determine the sort of life it shall live and to regulate the profits it shall take from the people.

These ideas have been neglected in the past in the regulation of our corporations and protected industries. The time has now arrived when that great fundamental question can no longer be ignored.

Congress has jurisdiction over all interstate and foreign commerce. It has ample power to regulate all corporations and all protected industries engaged in such commerce. It has ample power to prevent such corporations and protected industries from becoming an oppressive and extortionate monopoly upon the people.

I have a bill for such a purpose as I have just indicated under preparation now. I will soon present it for consideration of congress. I cannot say yet what disposition congress may make of the subject. I have not conferred with anyone yet on the matter and so cannot make any prophecy, but I believe that the remedy I propose would be a just and proper one.

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

"The Man That Announces Who He Is Going to Vote For Generally Is Not Registered, or Perhaps His Wife Has Not Told Him How He Is Going to Vote Yet Anyway."

BY WILL ROGERS

Well, all I know is just what I read in the papers, and what I see here and there. Been jumping around pretty lively lately. Left old Beverly and jumped back to New York to rehearse a part in Dorothy Stone's show. It's the first time I ever did rehearsal. In all the Follies, I just generally had my specialty and didn't have to learn any lines only the ones I would read every day in the papers. But this is a kind of a part. Course it's not much of a part as acting goes, but I will have to learn the lines so that the other actors will know when their cue comes.

It's all greek to me. I feel like a kid at his first school entertainment. Old New York looks just the same after an absence of about three years. Course I have played there every year, but only one night like all the rest. But this will be my first stage engagement with a show since I left the Follies three years ago.

You know I believe a big city changes less than any other place. It's been many a year since I first went back there, but it don't seem like there has been so many changes. You see it always was so big, that it just don't seem like it can get any bigger. A street can just be so full of houses, and it was full of them when I first saw it. Course they change the houses every few years, but they all look about alike.

First at a Horse Show. My first appearance in New York was at the old Madison Square Garden. It was during the horse show, Col. Zach Mulhall of Mulhall, Oklahoma took a bunch of us boys back there to work as an attraction during the show and I stayed and went on the stage after the rest come home. It was in 1905. That's twenty-three years ago. I hope Tom Mix don't mind me telling that he was with us too. He has enough that he don't have to worry about how old people might think he is.

Keith's old Union Square on Fourteenth Street was the one where I made my first stage appearance. But it was at the Theatre where they sent me the second week where I made my best hit and stayed at it all Summer. That was at the greatest Vaudeville theatre of that and all time. That was Hammerstein's.

We played on the roof one whole summer. We played on the roof at nights and down stairs at Matinee. We have never produced another showman like Willie Hammerstein, and the old man himself was living in those days and with what that theatre made he was the stage and never rehearsed before!

Down to Date.

Well, let's cut out all this Old Time Hokey, and get down to present day scandal. I am paid to tell the truth about the Politicians and not to drag in old times and tell what we used to do. Let's get back to the Comedy. Raskob just come back from the west and says, "Al has the solid South, the Mushy East, the Cracked North, and has a fighting chance in the Cuckoo West." Senator Moses, not the Jewish one, but a kind a blackslider and now perhaps a mere babble, says that Smith won't carry his Brown Derby, that Hoover has the whole thing sowed up, and that the only reason they are going through with the election is just because they have the ballots printed, and it's a kind a holiday anyway.

Now that is the way those Birds rave on from day to day. You would think that everybody in America had gone to them and placed a bond and a guarantee the very way that they were going to vote. Did you ever see such assurance in your life? Everywhere they go, Moses only meets the Republicans. Naturally a Democrat wouldn't be seen with him, and Raskob or whoever it is on the other side, every where they go, all they meet is the Democrats. Republicans have self respect and watch who they are caught with, so how in the world are they going to get an opinion?

They Don't Know Either. Besides the man that announces who he is going to vote for generally is not registered, or perhaps his wife has not told him how he is to vote yet anyway. Any of those fellows don't know any more about this election than the rest of us, and we don't know anything. If both sides were as sure as they claim, why are they working so hard, and spending so much money? Those Guys like a dollar as well as the rest of us, and they wouldn't be handing anything out to the Voter if they knew it was a cinch.

No sir, it's a tough race. The Democrats not only have a good Candidate, but they got money, which is better to have than a good Candidate. When there is money in an election it's always doubtful. Well this old Burg of New York sure is ready to go the limit for Al. Coming from California here its pretty noticeable the difference in the sentiment. So if you get big odds either way take 'em, and don't vote for nothing. They will pay you either way you want to vote. Well, I am glad I am back here among the excitement. New York election night will be worth mingling with. (Copyrighted 1923. The McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Needham Appointed Republican Chief

William H. Needham was re-elected chairman of the Delta County Republican committee, at a meeting of the party's candidates for county offices held yesterday. George E. Harvey was named secretary, and Charles W. Malloch, treasurer. One of the committee's activities, it was announced, was to make an effort to get out a large vote in the county at the November election.

SAYS DRECO MADE A BIG CHANGE IN TWO WEEKS

Local Matron Says Her Health Is Improving Every Day.

"I feel better today than I have at any time during the past two years," said Mrs. Bessie Matthews, 326 South 19th St., this city, in a recent conversation with the Dreco man at the Drug Dept. of the Fair Store.

"During all this time my stomach has been badly disordered. I had but little appetite and was growing nervous and rundown. Sometimes my back and every joint in my body pained and I had great difficulty in doing my work. To make matters worse I caught cold about two weeks ago which settled in my kidneys and inconvenienced me greatly at night."

"Just about two weeks ago I started Dreco and in just this short time my condition has improved 100%. My stomach is in better condition, I feel stronger and not so nervous, the pains in my back and limbs are almost gone and my kidneys do not annoy me so much at night. I feel sure that the full treatment of Dreco will make me completely well."

This is just another sample of what Dreco can do for weak, nervous, debilitated systems, constipated bowels and overworked stomachs. Try it and see how quickly relief will come. The Dreco Man is now at Drug Dept., Fair Store, where he is daily explaining the merits of Dreco to numerous local people and presenting everyone who is interested with a valuable health booklet free. JOBS FAIL LINGUIST IN THE U. S.

BETTER EDUCATED THAN MOST OF HIS EMPLOYERS.

JAIL INTERPRETER—SPEAKS SEVEN LANGUAGES

Stanislaw Mikucki

Baltimore, Md.—What would you do about it if you discovered that your handsome chauffeur, who is supposed to sit at the wheel, take your orders, and say nothing, spoke seven languages? Would you bow to him, as your superior and brag about him to the neighbors, or fire him with the explanation that a fellow like that has no business chauffeur-ing anyway?

It is impossible to consider the life and powers of Stanislaw Mikucki of Lithuania, Russia and Baltimore.

Mikucki had been out of a job since last November before he was able to find some place or some one to whom his education was of value. Now he is an interpreter at the city jail, on a salary of $1,500 a year.

Mikucki speaks Lithuanian, Polish, Russian, Bohemian, Slavic, German and English. Of these he learned Russian, German, Polish and Lithuanian as a student at Palanga college, on the Baltic sea, then under the supervision of Russia. The others he learned through travel and in contact with the people of those countries.

Began as Tailor. A native of Lithuania, he came to this country 19 years ago and went to work as a tailor. The trade didn't go so well, and he became chauffeur for a wealthy Baltimore family. At another time he was an attendant at Lithuanian hall here. Last November he had no job at all, and none came until the city jail appointment.

He applied for a job as guard at the jail, but was turned down because he was an inch too short for the requirements. They didn't know he spoke seven languages then. But when they decided that it was useless to go ahead trying to understand sign language from prisoners of foreign birth, and began to look for an interpreter, they hurried to the opportunity of obtaining Mikucki.

John G. Rolker of the city service commission, thinks there is something wrong somewhere. "Working in a jail!" said Mr. Rolker. "A man with accomplishments like that should be holding a good position in Johns Hopkins university!"

FOR THE GAY COLLEGE MOOD

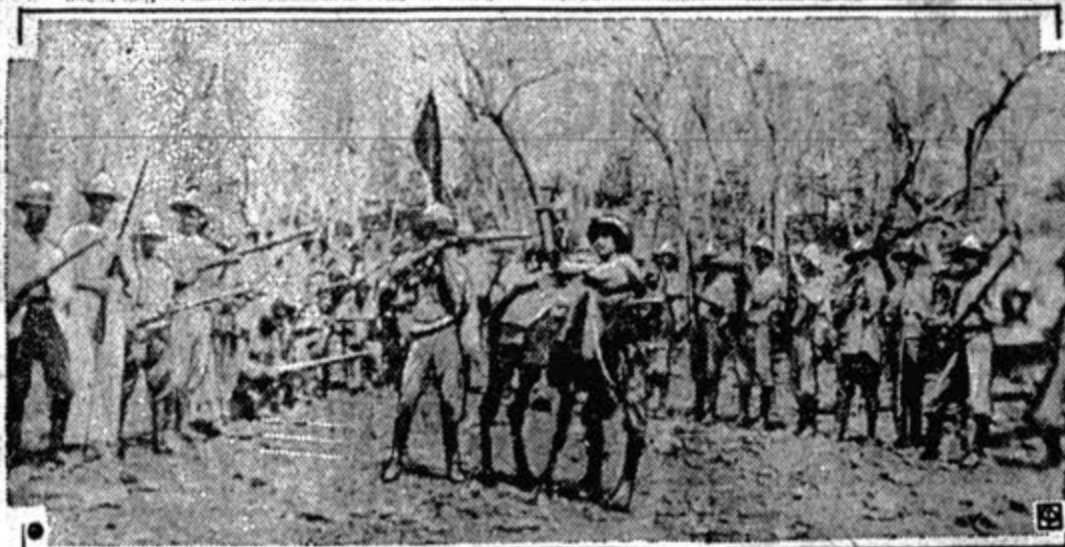

September is the college girl's very own month. Mother has to drop everything to give her daughter's wardrobe her undivided attention and life is just one continuous round of shopping.

At least one party frock is an absolute necessity in every college girl's wardrobe. It need not be as elaborate as the one above, perhaps a simpler frock would be more practical and serviceable. But for the girl who can afford several evening frocks during the college year the model worn by Mary Brian, above, would be welcomed.

It is of white mousseline de soie worn over a silver cloth slip. The scarf and shoulder bow are of silver cloth and appliqued on the skirt are graduating polka dots of silver cloth. The skirt and cape bertha are of mousseline scalloped and edged with silver cloth. The high waistline and uneven hemline are featured.

Gold lame, trimmed with sable, fashions the dainty wrap with the smart no-tur collar. It gives a pleasing line to the black chiffon evening dress with the uneven hemline.

ROBB TELLS OF FLORIDA STORM

Former Escanaban Says It Was Most Severe He Has Seen

In a letter to friends here, H. H. Robb, a former Escanaba man who has made his home in Fort Pierce, Fla., for several years, tells something of the storm which swept that district a week ago.

His letter, written Monday, says in part:

"The storm is dying. It is the worst we have experienced in Florida or any other place. Fort Pierce has been hard hit again. We have not outside news, and you will get the information about the extent of the damage through the Associated Press about as quickly as we shall. The rural mail carrier could not get through on his route a half mile west of us this morning so he left some mail for neighbors with us. We are on a paved road. We had intermittent showers from 9 o'clock until about 5:30 p. m., and from that time until 4 o'clock this morning we must have had about 16 inches of rain. The rain gauges will probably register about seven inches or eight inches, but driven by a wind that has a velocity of 75 to 100 miles an hour a rain gauge will not register fifty per cent of the waterfall.

The wind gradually increased its velocity until 10 p. m., when it was a howling, screeching demon. We had had no way of measuring the velocity but judging by other storms we placed it at 75 to 100 miles and believe that many times between 10 p. m. and 2 a. m. it reached 125 miles. The directions here was N. of NE until after noon and NE most of the afternoon, and E of SE at 2 a. m.

"We were all kept busy mopping water from early evening until 2 a. m. when Mrs. Robb and Alda relaxed. At 4 a. m. I laid down until 6 a. m. when I went out to take stock. All our buildings withstood the view with but slight damage. Our loss in fruit will be around ten per cent. If the water goes down within a few days it will do little or no damage to trees.

"I fully expect that conditions in Palm Beach will be much worse than at Fort Pierce as the storm was centered at Jupiter only a few miles north of here. Last Friday it was reported from one station on an island hit by the storm that their wind gauge registered 135 miles an hour and was blown away. If that velocity was held by the storm center it would sure rip things.

"One thing we learned is that the flimsy structures they were putting up here during the boom are a menace and the dwellers will not be safe until the last one is gone. Our and other buildings are strongly constructed and have withstood four hurricanes, our only loss being a few screens."

Just before he left France for his African good-will tour, the Prince of Wales paid a visit to the English hospital in Marseilles. Above, he is chatting with a group of officials.

Because he insisted on decorating his motorcycle in a festival parade with a Free State flag, Malachi Quinn was arrested at Newry, Ireland, recently.

Appleton Airplane Stops Here Today

"The Pride of Appleton," six-passenger Stinson-Detroit plane of the North American Airways, will stop here about 9 o'clock this morning on its return trip from Blaney and will make several trips with passengers over the city.

Late this afternoon, the plane will depart for Appleton with E. J. French, chairman of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce airport committee, as a passenger.

Fair Enough!

Safety City has been demonstrated 23 times at the U. P. State Fair and the interest shown here and the number of visitors was greater than at the Detroit State Fair, or any city where the exhibit has been shown. The managers, Frank Emery and Fred Hall of the Michigan state police, have presented Escanaba public schools, St. Joseph's and St. Anne's schools with games of safety city for the kindergarten.

The oats, wheat, rye and barley exhibit which occupied a large space at the fair was by far the largest exhibit ever shown in an arena in the upper peninsula. Several first, second and third prizes were awarded these displays.

UNIONS WILL FAVOR.

Moscow—A worker who does not belong to one of the trade unions in Russia is very much out of work. A recent order providing for the rationing of butter, soap, macaroni and eggs, gave double portions to all members of trade unions. In addition clothing, rice and potato flour may be sold to union members only.

Glasgow, Scotland, is to exempt all taxation-infirmaries, hospitals and halls used exclusively for religious services.

An Accurate, Impartial and Complete News Report on the Presidential Campaign

THE Associated Press, of which this paper is a member, through a corps of its best political reporters, is telling the graphic day by day story of the presidential race. The Associated Press supports no candidates, advocates no issues, but reports the facts. Read the instructions Kent Cooper, General Manager, repeated to the staff at the beginning of the campaign.

To The Staff:

We are on the eve of what promises to be a memorable political campaign. Every Associated Press man will share in the responsibility it imposes.

Keep in mind the necessity that our report must be absolutely non-partisan. Avoid predictions, speculation and editorial opinion. Insofar as we are responsible for what is said, there must be nothing that may be construed for or against any political faction. Do not use stories of election betting, or straw votes. In describing attendance at political meetings, do not estimate capacity in numbers or in any manner open to dispute.

But we want all the news. Do not withhold a story because it is partisan, if it may be attributed to a responsible source. For example, statements from political headquarters are desired if they contain news and are credited to party spokesmen. These statements must speak for themselves, and their leads should be brief, without inference, deduction or other editorial comment. All anonymous expressions of opinion must be substantiated. Write only what can be substantiated.

During the campaign, as at all other times, the Associated Press report must be fair, truthful and impartial.

Kent Cooper
General Manager

NOT for years has there been such intense interest in a presidential campaign. Issues have aroused keen debate, the personalities of the candidates have become important factors and millions of women are actively engaged in the race. As never before there is need for true, accurate and impartial reporting in giving voters complete information for their guidance at the polls. Recognizing this fact, The Associated Press has the largest and best staff ever assigned to presidential candidates now with Smith, Hoover, Robinson and Curtis.

Byron Price, for 15 years a correspondent and chief of the Washington staff, has charge of the political report. He has traveled with presidents and candidates for the presidency, covered many of the greatest events in the political history of this country and was in charge of the staff assigned to both national conventions. Price and D. Field Britte, now are traveling throughout the country and their stories reflect the political situation in each state they visit.

Covering the activities of Herbert Hoover are James L. West, W. B. Ragdale and Mary Bainbridge Hayden. Paul F. Haupert, D. Harold Oliver and Martha Dalrymple are with Alfred E. Smith. Francis M. Stephenson is traveling with Senator Charles Curtis and Walter Chamblin is with Senator Joseph T. Robinson. Potentially, there are as many women voters in America as men and the developments and phases of the campaign of particular interest to women are being covered by Miss Hayden and Miss Dalrymple. This marks the first time such regular assignments have been given women reporters.

These special writers are assisted by the staff throughout the country. With a rigid regard for accuracy and impartiality, their stories are written understandingly and interestingly, giving complete, colorful word pictures of what is happening. Follow the campaign each day through this newspaper. If you are not a regular subscriber, call or write the circulation department immediately to enter your subscription.

ABNER BANGS

Sage of Misery Bay Lists Some Rules of Conduct for Spectators at Football Games.

MISERY BAY, Sept. 22 (To the Editor)—Modern football players, nowadays, has got coaches hired to learn them the game; they have got books to study the fundamental principles, and the scientific fine points out of. And besides that, they can drop into almost any pool room, soda fountain or cigar store any time and receive both ears full of such advice and counsel about how they should ought to conductively deport themselves in battle, that even Newt Rockne, the Fighting Scotchman of Nova Scotia never dreamed of.

But I have searchfully hunted, high and low for a rule book for spectators. Did I find one? I did not. And was I not disappointed? I was not. I immediately set myself down in front of my typewriter machine and started to complianly collect some of the most generally accepted rules. I have just about finished the job. When it is published it will be called "Abner Bang's Rules of Conduct for Spectators at the Great Gridiron Competitive Sport Commonly Known as Football as Played in America, U. S. A.," and the price will be within reach of one and all.

To advertise this great literary effort, I desire to consummate the space allotted to me in the Sunday Press, to quote some extractive excerpts from the same.

If you are still with me, here goes:

why they hired him. And if you meet him down town at night show that you are man enough to call him them names once more right to his face where he can get a chance to answer you back, but be sure you have somebody behind you to catch you when you fall."

RULE JPNZ, Sect. 2, Page 119—When the referee penalizes the other team, always show you are a good sport by standing up and yelling, "That's right. Referee; make them play clean."

RULE CVLXX, Sect. 1001, Page 3—If an end, going pell-mell down the field muffs a forward pass, never fail to tell him at the top of your vocal organisms to "Get a basket." Of course he was trying to catch the ball. He dropped it a purpose. And he does not feel half as bad about it as you do. And remember, because he's just a kid, he'll do a lot better if you abuse him and give him the raspberry, and show him you have not got no confidence in him.

RULE JPNZ, Sect. 11, Page 777—Spectators should always show their intimate familiarity with the game by yelling at the coach: "Put in Pxnziski! Put in Pxnziski!" Then, to prove you are not prejudiced and are broadminded, when Pxnziski goes in and fumbles or something, yell: "Take him out! Take him out!"

RULE KKK, Sect. 006, Page 101—Every time the team loses a game, come down to your favorite drug store, wait till a couple of members of the school board comes in, and then start telling them in a nice way that they should ought to fire the coach.

RULE COD, Sect. 2, Page 088—Be sure to do plenty of talking so that the people all around you will know that you was a star yourself back in 1909, and that when you played, the teams really knew how to block, and tackle, and was in condition, and that if you had anything to do with it you would see that things was all changed back like they were then.

RULE XYZ, Sect. 121, Page 2002—Be sure you do not forget any of the players' mistakes. You will want to make an impression on the other people at the office when you go to work Monday by reviewfully relating them.

The book is going on sale shortly very soon. I look for it to have a large sale amongst players, coaches and officials. The spectators, which it was meant for, will not pay heed to it because they all think they know as much about it as anybody else—even me. Can you think of anything more egotistic.

Sincerely & Truly,
Abner Bangs, cog.

PS: The school teacher that boards at my place says I forgot to mention that you should look up the sporting editor of the paper after the game and tell him that if you was he, you would roast hell out of the whole outfit in the next issue. I did not suppose it was necessarily needful for me to mention anything so simply elemental.

SMITH AND THE LEGION.

Escanaba, Sept. 22 (To the Editor): As a member of the American Legion, and one who has come in contact with the activities of the United States Veterans Bureau, I wish to correct a statement made by James W. Good, western campaign manager for Herbert Hoover, (published in the Daily Press) of August 23. Mr. Good states that Governor Smith is in a fight with the American Legion because of a complaint made by the Democratic nominee concerning the cost of the independent governmental bureaus, the largest of which is the Veterans Bureau.

The American Legion is in no fight with Governor Smith or any other political candidate. The American Legion, as an organization, is neither concerned with politics nor does it condemn or approve the candidates or policies of political parties.

As an individual member of the Legion, and as Post Service Officer of Cloverland Post, for the past seven years, I take issue with Mr. Good, to the extent that I believe that Legionnaires of the nation endorse the contention of the New York Governor that there is extravagance in the conduct of the government bureaus—not excepting the Veterans Bureau. I have, for a number of years, handled numerous compensation claims for the disabled veterans, and in my dealings with the Veterans Bureau, have a first hand knowledge of the inefficiency, gross extravagance and mismanagement that exists.

In many instances the maze of "red tape" that has been built up in the Veterans Bureau, has delayed and defeated justice to the extent that worthy claimants to government aid, have died of disease or injuries traceable to their service in the nation's armies, before favorable action could be secured.

Legionnaires as individuals and as a group are not interested in the preservation of any governmental bureau, except insofar as that bureau will render prompt and efficient aid to disabled servicemen. They take no issue with men who are interested in the suppression of waste, whether it be in the departments set up for ex-service men or for any other purpose.

To charge the American Legion with condonation of waste, because a bureau which they have fathered might be one of those in which extravagance is found—is to question their loyalty and sincerity of purpose.

Thanking you for the courtesy of giving this publication, I am,
Sincerely yours,
GERALD J. CLEARY,
Post Service Officer,
Cloverland Post No. 82.

RELIEF IN STORM AREA UNDER WAY

Palm Beach county Red Cross committee, raised his estimate of property damage in the country from $20,000,000 to $50,000,000 and A. L. Schafer, state director of disaster relief for the National Red Cross announced his belief that the death list would total all of 1,000, other relief and military officials estimated dead at upwards of 1,500.

Schafer said more than 3,782 persons were fed yesterday by the Red Cross and that 4,469 persons were in concentration centers with 130 injured refugees in hospitals. The village, nestled on one side of a bay leading into the lake, had been overlooked as rescuers plunged into other stricken areas, until yesterday, when Gov. John W. Martin asked what conditions were there.

Today the story was unfolded, when a relief expedition reached the side of the bay opposite the settlement and beneath piles of debris found the bodies of 200 of the village's inhabitants.

With the Pelican Bay tragedy revealed, the death list tonight was said officially to stand at 1,000 with 80 per cent of the victims negroes.

Officials estimated the final count of the dead from the storm would reach 1500. Bodies of 724 victims have been buried here, 71 of them white persons.

MONEY RAISED

Washington, Sept. 22—(P)—The American Red Cross announced today that preliminary and incomplete reports from local chapters, chiefly in the larger cities, showed a total of $879,357 so far raised for hurricane relief.

Rochester, N. Y., was the first large city to complete its quota for the $5,000,000 relief fund for the West Indies and Florida, a telegram reporting today that $30,605 had been contributed in the city.

All the Red Cross chapters of the country were ordered by the national headquarters here to make a comprehensive report on donations on Monday.

FEW DEAD.

Miami, Fla., Sept. 22—(P)—Reassuring word that few lives are believed to have been lost in the out islands of the Bahamas as a result of the storm that swept British possessions Sunday before it struck the Florida coast, were brought here today by officers and members of the auxiliary schooner Ena K., first boat to reach Miami from Nassau since the hurricane.

Loss of life in the outer islands is not definitely known, according to Charles Patee, first mate, as that in Auga Islands and Eleuthera Islands had not been heard from when the Ena K. sailed. His summary of storm damage on islands already surveyed follows:

New Providence Island of which Nassau is the principal city: three dead, great property loss in residences, and temporary suspension of utilities.

Harbor Island: 96 buildings demolished.

Governor's Island: almost complete loss in buildings.

Spanish Wells: nine buildings destroyed.

J. R. Rescher, an American photographer, was one of the Ena K. passengers. He said he knew positively of only one fatality at Nassau, that of a girl who was drowned in a draining ditch after the storm subsided.

Narcotic Violator Gets 4 Year Term

Detroit, Sept. 22—(P)—Moses (Moe) Rankin, of New York, was sentenced to four years in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kans., when he pleaded guilty in federal court here today on a charge of violation of the narcotic law. His wife, Irene, and Mrs. Edna King pleaded guilty and will be sentenced Monday.

RELIEF SUPPLIES FOR PORTO RICO

Food, clothing and medical supplies are being rushed to hurricane stricken Porto Rico aboard the U. S. S. Bridge. Upper picture shows supplies being loaded at the army base in Brooklyn. Lower picture shows G. Wolfe, United States navy food inspector, putting seals on barrels of pork that are being rushed to the storm area.

POLITICAL REVIEW

Iowa, Frank W. Murphy, an Illinois farm leader, told an audience from the same platform that the Democratic party and candidate "promise" legislation to make the tariff work for agriculture, while that is exactly what the Republican party and candidate reject.

Only the day before Murphy and George N. Peek, also of Illinois and William Hirth of Missouri, were charged by Senator Brookhart of Iowa with having "double crossed" the farmer with their endorsement of Smith. Brookhart was addressing the Iowa Farmers Union and when he had finished the convention adopted a resolution calling for the defeat of Hoover and criticizing the Republican national convention for turning a "deaf ear" to "pleas for justice for agriculture."

One other development in that region of the country that draws the close attention of both parties, was the victory of the conservative Republicans over the La Follette Progressives in the Wisconsin platform convention.

With the departure of Senator

Robinson, Democratic vice presidential nominee, for the west, the south now is without a major candidate in its midst, but is worrying along with its own problems. Two southern senators, Caraway of Arkansas and Glass of Virginia, speaking close to the neutral territory of Washington, have shot at Hoover "barbs-dipped in the Sinclair Oil scandal and his contribution to the 1924 Republican campaign fund, and have praised Smith's executive record.

Everywhere the campaign is bringing out its every element, and at the last the Bible of politics, the party handbook, is preparing to make its appearance. The Democrats are publishing theirs in sections as it is completed, the newest part being devoted to the tariff. It sets forth that the party views the tariff as an "instrument of national policy, to be framed in accordance with the needs of industry, agriculture, the workers and the consumers."

Marathon Contest Passes 197th Hr. At Coliseum Hall

Three young couples danced on merrily this morning at 3 o'clock as the marathon dancing contest went into the 197th hour with large crowds loitering around past midnight.

Peter Staudohar and his sister of Iron Mountain were still in fine condition last night, and put on their usual exhibitions of fancy ballroom dancing. Harry Stark and Dorothy Shepek, who never have been so active since the dance started eight days ago, were still feeling confident that they would win, and were taking it easy so as not to waste any energy.

Rudolph Sydmark, Escanaba, and Vivian Seely, Gladstone, the only local couple still in the race, were receiving much encouragement from their friends last night. The fact that they are the only Delta county dancers in the contest has attracted considerable interest, and many expressed admiration of the plucky young dancers.

"Future Kaiser" Aids Nationalists

Munich (P)—Prince Wilhelm, the eldest son of the former crown prince, as deputy policeman and distributor of hand bills, was the center of interest at an election meeting of the German nationalists at which the speaker was General von Lettow-Vorbeck, famed as a valiant defender of Germany's East African possessions during the World war.

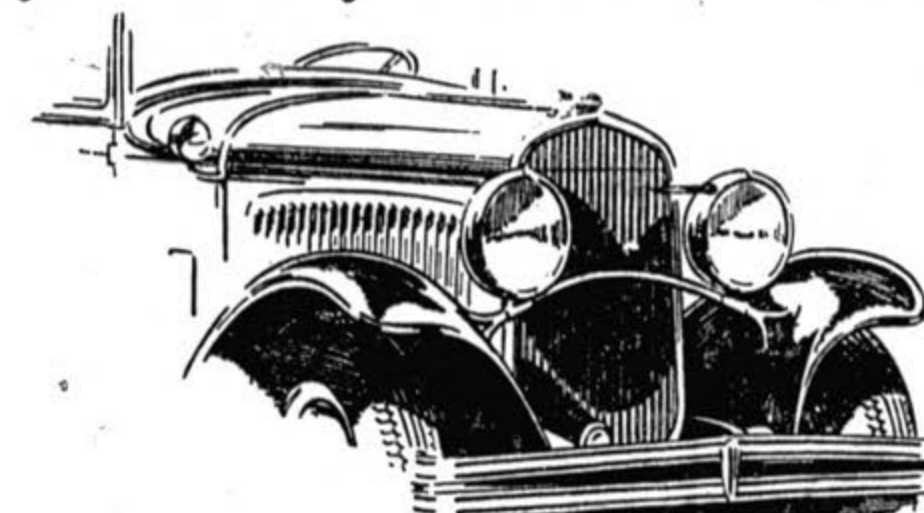

As among the monarchists Prince Wilhelm is considered the most promising candidate for the role of future kaiser, his truly democratic co-operation as party sheriff pro tem and political propagandist was deemed particularly effective for the nationalists' election campaign.

You instantly see Your Dollar buys infinitely more with CHRYSLER

CHRYSLER makes it plain, even to the eye, that the price of a Chrysler buys infinitely more than it could elsewhere. They are more dashing in every big and little detail of performance. They are richer than anything in their class ever has been—longer, roomier bodies with equipment and metal-ware of exclusive Chrysler pattern. In short, from every angle, they point for comparison with cars far, far above them in price—cars costing hundreds, yes, even a thousand dollars more.

PRICE TREND IS IRREGULAR

STOCK SALES AVERAGES. Today 217.36, Week ago 219.55, Year ago 177.05, High 1928 220.94, Low 1928 178.84

BY STANLEY W. FRENCH, Associated Press Financial Editor

New York, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Extensive week-end readjustment of speculative accounts caused an irregular price trend in today's stock market.

Resumption of pool operations lifted a dozen or more issues to new high levels for the year on gains of 1 to 6 points, but heavy selling of radio and some other high-priced specialties unsettled the market in the last hour.

President Sloan's suggestion of record earnings for General Motors, coupled with his intimation of a stock dividend in November helped to maintain bullish sentiment in the motor group.

"Selling on the good news" indicated that the Sloan statement had been discounted by the stock market and sent that issue down nearly 5 points today.

Many of these and other issues weakened in the final hour, however, under selling which may have been due to readjustment of speculative accounts by traders who expect to be absent Monday in observance of the Jewish holiday.

Advance of Domestic copper prices to the highest levels since 1923 encouraged heavy buying in the copper group.

Chicago, Sept. 22.—Butter today ruled about steady, with trade quiet. Supplies were ample to the demand but reserves were low.

Chicago, Sept. 22.—Potatoes receipts 211 cars total. United States shipments 211 cars; trading fair, market weak.

Sheep Is Enemy of Destructive Thistle

Grand Forks, N. D.—(AP)—Sheep are the principal enemy of the thistle, a weed pest that has spread southward from the Manitoba colonies of southern Manitoba almost across the whole of North Dakota.

The value of the sheep as a foe of the weed was revealed by a series of farm tours through the Red River valley, in which scores of farmers joined to study the eradication processes.

Other livestock also aid in control of the thistle menace. Crop rotation is a close second as a means of combating it.

Dry weather conditions are threatening to cause a shortage of corn and beans in Mexico.

Francis has 1,135 Franc Millionaires. Paris—France has 1,135 millionaires, income tax returns for 1927 reveal, but they are millionaires in francs—and 1,000,000 francs amounts in American money to about $40,000.

Three of more than 60,000,000 francs—about $2,500,000. Twenty-seven of more than 12,500,000 francs—$500,000. Eighty-five of about 3,000,000 francs—$120,000.

Escanaba Defeats Manistique, 18 to 0, In Opener

FELCH DEFEATS RESERVES, 18-0

Schoolcrafters Put Up Stiff Resistance to Hilltops

Escanaba high school opened the 1928 football season with an 18 to 0 victory over Manistique here yesterday afternoon, but the game was not as one-sided as the score might indicate.

The speedy Schoolcraft squad, led by Wright, Thompson and Risley, broke through the Manistique defense repeatedly in the first half and made three first downs to the Hilltops' one. The Cookmen weakened in the last half under the battering of the heavier squad, the Puckmen making consistent gains.

Escanaba scored its first touchdown just before the first half ended around left end for 15 yards. When's long punts were an important factor in getting the ball deep into Manistique territory, where the Schoolcrafters were held on downs, before Burns made his end run.

In the third quarter Jensen dropped on the ball behind the enemy's goal when Thompson fumbled in receiving the ball to make a punt. Manistique was sent back to its own seven-yard line prior to this by Jensen's 45-yard punt.

Jensen's Punting Feature. Off tackle runs by Pettin and Stanley Burns, aided by the plunging of LaChapelle, broke down the Manistique defense in the final quarter. Starting from Manistique's 47-yard line, the Hilltops made three first downs to bring the ball within six yards from goal, and "Red" Burns again scored a touchdown on an off tackle play. The three attempts to kick for the point after touchdown failed.

Escanaba kicked off again, and the Schoolcrafters resorted to a passing game. Fullback Anderson threw a series of long passes, but the receiving men appeared to have difficulty in holding on the ball. The game ended with the ball in midfield after Risley received Jensen's punt.

Jensen's punting was consistent despite the heavy north wind. Aided by the wind, however, he booted 28 punts for 80 yards. He averaged 2.8 yards in ten punts. Manistique punted 13 times for a total of 219 yards.

Manistique Passes Better. Manistique showed superiority in the aerial game, and although the Schoolcrafters completed only four out of 14 attempts for a total of 64 yards, unfortunate fumbles spoiled many of the beautiful throws by Anderson. Escanaba tried 13 passes, completing only three which netted 22 yards.

The defensive work of Bob Snyder and Capt. Tom Gabourie stood out throughout the contest, and Gustafson played a strong game in the second half after some indifferent playing in the first part of the fray.

Felch Beats Reserves. A snappy football squad from the little village of Felch scored an 18 to 0 triumph over the Escanaba Reserves in the preliminary event. Felch made a touchdown in each of the first two quarters. Fullback Arrid Johnson doing most of the

White Sox Hold Back Yanks, 5-4

Chicago, Sept. 22.—(P)—Alphonse Thomas pitched masterful ball today to score the first victory of his big league career over the Yankees by 5 to 2. The pennant race was not affected by the result, as the Athletics were defeated in Detroit, 5 to 4, enabling the leading Yankees to retain their margin of two full games.

Henry Johnson essayed the box duties for the champions, but gave way under a four-run fusillade in the fourth. He was followed in turn by Fred Heimach, Myles Thomas and George Piggas. The White Sox could do nothing with the southpaw slants of Heimach, but quickly ponced upon Myles Thomas after the St. Paul southpaw had given way to a pinch batsman in the eighth. Piggas limited the damage to one run.

The score: R. H. E. New York ... 000 002 000—2 8 3 Chicago ... 000 400 015—5 9 1 Johnson, Heimach, M. Thomas, Piggas and Bengough, Collins; A. Thomas and Berg.

France Defeats Canada in Int'l Tennis Matches

Toronto, Ont., Sept. 22.—(P)—France swamped Canada, seven matches to one, in their two-day international lawn tennis team exhibition contest, winning all four matches played today.

Canada's only victory was scored in the singles yesterday by Dr. Arthur Ham of Toronto over Christian Bousaus, one of France's most promising younger stars.

Today the Frenchmen swept the courts clear. Bousaus, defeated Gilbert Nunn, third ranking Canadian player, in straight sets, 6-4, 9-7. Henri Cochet, American and French champion, crushed Willard Crocker, 6-4, 6-4, and Pierre Landry, another of the up and coming French youngsters, defeated Ham, 7-5, 6-3.

In the doubles Cochet and Bousaus paired to defeat Crocker and Ham, 6-2, 6-3.

Pitching of Karl Hubbell Gives Game to St. Louis

BY ALAN J. GOULD (Associated Press Sports Editor) Polo Grounds, New York, Sept. 22.—(P)—For the second time in three days, young Lochinvar, in the pitching person of gangling Karl Hubbell, stepped in to save the pennant chances of the New York Giants today and make the National league pennant race tighter than the proverbial bass drum.

While 40,000 fans roared their acclaim, Hubbell, lean Oklahoma youth who came to the Giants only a few weeks ago from the Texas league, throttled the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals in the midst of a fiercely fought battle this afternoon and beat them for the second straight time to the tune of 8 to 5.

It was the third game of this spectacular series, the second straight victory for Hubbell and the Giants and reduced the lead of the Cardinals to a single game. If Hubbell was the hero of this hectic fray, the goat was Taylor Douthit, speedy outfielder of the Cardinals, who jet in the winning run in the seventh inning when he allowed Freddy Lindstrom's single to escape him in center.

Douthit, coming in too fast, missed the ball, not only permitting Andy Reese, who had singled, to score from first with the winning tally, but also letting Lindstrom scamper across the plate.

Sun Beau Takes Potomac Handicap

New York, Sept. 22.—(P)—Willis Sharp Kilmer's Sun Beau sprang a huge surprise today when he captured the Potomac handicap, $220,000 added, at Havre De Grace and beat no less a thoroughbred than Harry Payne Whitney's Victorian to turn the trick.

Sun Beau raced the mile and one sixteenth in 1:46 to earn $18,500 for his owner. Decisively beaten, Victorian took second place a length in back of the winner. Princess Tina was third.

The co-feature, the Autumn handicap, $2,000 added, for 3-year-old and up at a mile and 70 yards, went to Hydromel with Recreation second and Barbara third. Time was 1:43 3-5. Misstep, the Lemar stock farm crack 3-year-old, won the La Salle handicap, $10,000 added, at Lincoln Fields and established a new track record of 1:57 1-5 for a mile and three-sixteenths to tie Mike Hall was second and Martie Flynn third.

Robert L. Gerry's Ironsides returned to the track after a long layoff to win the Edgemere handicap, a mile and a furlong gallop at Aqueduct.

Woodbine's feature, the Toronto Autumn handicap $10,000 added, went to display with Adams second and endless third.

London Brokers Veto American Methods

London (P)—British financial leaders have rejected for the present proposals to broadcast stock quotations or otherwise "Americanize" the London Daily exchange.

Recent innovations in the United States designed to speed ticker service from the New York Stock exchange have aroused wide interest but nothing else in England. The belief is fairly general that conditions do not warrant faster installations.

More telephones are the chief need in London operators, and the latest boom in industrial stocks stimulated the installation of private booths.

While arbitrage dealings in American railroad shares have been cut off since the war, there is growing interest in certain securities which operators on both sides of the Atlantic deal in, and these are handled by cable, mostly after the officials close here. It was just at that time, around 4 o'clock, that Shorters Court used to wake up to activity with the early opening prices from Wall Street brought right into court through especially installed cable offices.

These offices are still functioning, and several members expressed the belief that with the gradual growth of dealings between the two countries a resumption of trading on pre-war lines might occur in the not too distant future, and when the ban is lifted.

Red Sox Defeat Browns, 5 to 3

St. Louis, Sept. 22.—(P)—Todd hit home runs in two consecutive innings today and the Boston Red Sox won the final game of the series from the St. Louis Browns, 5 to 3.

Strelecki held the visitors scoreless in the first six innings but weakened in the seventh when Todd hit his first homer, which was followed by two other Boston runs. Coffman replaced Strelecki in the eighth, in which Todd again hit for the circuit. Manush, one of the leading league batters, got a homer and a single in four times at bat.

TIGERS CHECK MACKS, 5 TO 4

Pennant Road of Athletics Becomes More Difficult by Defeat

Detroit, Sept. 22.—(P)—The pennant road became even more difficult for the tiring forces of Cornelius McGillicuddy here today when the Tigers shaded the old man's Athletics by 5 to 4 in the final game between the two teams this season. The victory not only gave Detroit two out of three from the contenders, but prevented the Macks from gaining on the Yankees, who held their lead of two games even though defeated by the White Sox in Chicago, 5 to 2.

The Tigers routed Rube Walberg in the very first inning with a four-run assault, and although they were able to do little against George Earnshaw through the rest of the game, the Athletics never managed to catch up. Detroit scored one run off Earnshaw as a result of Cochrane's error in the sixth, and this proved to be the ultimate margin by which the game was decided.

Robins Bunch Hits to Beat Cubs, 4 to 0

Brooklyn, Sept. 22.—(P)—The Robins bunched their hits to good advantage against the Cubs here today while Buzz McWeeny was shutting out the third place contenders 4 to 0. McWeeny never was in trouble after the fifth inning. Chicago filled the bases three times in the early stanzas but could not score.

Hendrick drove in the first Robin run in the fourth by singling over McGuire's head to score Gilbert. It was the 15th shutout a Brooklyn pitcher had turned in this year.

Indianapolis Has Virtually Clinched Association Flag

Chicago, Sept. 22.—(P)—Indianapolis virtually clinched its first American association pennant in 11 years today by squeezing out a 7 to 6 victory over Toledo while its only rival, Minneapolis lost to Milwaukee, 3 to 6. With but tomorrow's doubleheader to play, the Indians lead by a game and a half.

Minneapolis had but one game left and must win it while the Indians can lose two games to gain a tie.

ROCK DEFEATS NEGAUNEE "B"

Rock, Sept. 22 (Special)—Rock's Little Giants won their third consecutive game here this afternoon by taking the Negaunee Reserve eleven into camp by a 69 to 0 score in a game which was featured by the sensational long runs of Capt. G. Larson. The Rock left halfback made six touchdowns.

The game was featured also by the line plunging of Fosterling, and the fine defensive work of the forward wall of the Rock squad.

The first quarter was uneventful except for C. Larson's fumble in attempting to carry the ball over from the three-yard line. The ball was recovered by Negaunee, and the Little Giants were held scoreless in that period.

A long run around right end by G. Larson gave Rock its first touchdown in the second quarter, and in third quarter a pass, G. Larson to Rabidue, netted six more points and later Fosterling plunged his way through to another touchdown.

In the final stanza, Capt. Larson ran roughshod over the gridiron. There was nothing to it. All the quarterback had to do was to give it to the speedy halfback and he raced through the entire Negaunee team, reeling off runs from 20 to 60 yards. Negaunee chose to kick off each time to its own disadvantage for Rock with the ball in its possession had no trouble in reaching the goal line. They made 50 points in the last quarter.

RAILS TO PLAY WELLS TODAY

The Chicago and North Western and Wells baseball teams will clash on the C. & N. W. diamond at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

A rainstorm stopped the last game between the two teams a few weeks ago, with the score standing 3 to 0 in favor of Wells.

The Railway boys have been boasting around that if the game had gone to the limit they would have won. The Wells players, however, feel differently about it, and are determined to show the world that they have the stuff.

The Railway management has refused to divulge the identity of the "mysterious marvel" who will pitch in today's game. According to the hints, the mystery hurler is supposed to have plenty of stuff.

Braves Take Two Games From Reds

Boston, Sept. 22.—(P)—Meeting Cincinnati for the last time this season today, the Braves defeated the visitors in both games of a double-header. Mueller's brilliant play in center field for Boston was a feature of both games.

The Braves had an easy time in winning the first game, 11 to 4, but Cincinnati apparently was on the way to victory in the second until Boston landed heavily on Jimmy Beckman in the eighth, scoring six runs and winning by a margin of 9 to 6.

HOOVER TARGET OF GOV. SMITH

Democratic Candidate Assails War-time Work of Republican

BY PAUL F. HAUPERT (Associated Press Staff Writer) Denver, Colo., Sept. 22.—(P)—Again training his guns on Herbert Hoover as he discussed water power in a campaign speech here tonight, Gov. Smith declared that the benefit of the development of power sites "should accrue to the people themselves and that we should not permit them to fall into private hands for private development, which means private gain at the expense of all the users of the energy."

The Democratic nominee, in an address prepared for delivery in the coliseum, where Bryan twenty years ago was nominated for president for the third time, insisted that the Republican platform declaration on water power was unsatisfactory, and asserted that the acceptance speech of his opponent did not contain "one single word on the question of water power development" and that Mr. Hoover failed in his recent Los Angeles speech to make his stand clear.

Governor Smith also assailed President Coolidge for vetoing the Muscle Shoals bill without an explanation of its rejection and for making the declaration in a message to congress that the Muscle Shoals question seemed to have "assumed a place out of all proportion with its real importance."

The New York governor's prepared speech that "inaction on the part of the federal government, the strange silence of the candidate and the meaningless plank of the Republican platform indicate, to say the least, a sympathy with the widespread propaganda against public ownership spread throughout the country by an organization known as the joint committee of the National Electric associations."

Hits at West. "The federal trade commission, in its investigation of public utility corporations," the Democratic nominee asserted, "has developed some facts which indicate that Mr. Hoover knew of the existence of this power lobby intended to influence congressional action and legislation."

Governor Smith also laid down a barrage on Roy O. West, present secretary of the interior and H. Edmund MacHold, the new chairman of the New York State Republican committee.

Turning to the Boulder Canyon Dam problem, in which Colorado and the other six states in

Mrs. Frances Alda of the Metropolitan opera, has filed suit for divorce in Nogales, Mexico, against Giulio Gatti-Casazza, director of the Metropolitan.

The Colorado river basin are directly interested, Governor Smith called for "immediate action". With regard to Muscle Shoals he reiterated a belief that the government should continue "the full and complete operation" of the plant in Alabama, "retaining it under government ownership and control."

As for the Boulder Dam, the nominee said that "the site of the dam and the machinery generating this power must be preserved in public ownership."

Expanding on the Muscle Shoals question, the New York governor said: "I disagree most emphatically with the president. The principle involved in the proper disposition of Muscle Shoals means more to the people of this country than one hundred first class battleships (this was in reference to the statement of Mr. Coolidge that Muscle Shoals "probably does not represent in market value much more than a first class battleship)."

Should Develop Power. Only at the last session of the congress a bill dealing with the problem in a forward-looking manner was included by Mr. Coolidge among his pocket vetoes, not even being worthy, according to his notion "of any explanation for its rejection."

The Democratic nominee said that development of the Muscle Shoals plant should be completed "so that the nation may be reimbursed, agriculture receive the benefit of cheap nitrate production for fertilizer purposes, and the surplus power distributed fairly to the people of the ten states which this plant should serve at rates which should re-

Here's Calf That Should Become Real Fair Prize Winner

Rose Burke Colantha who made for the state of Michigan a net profit of $1,427 over the actual cost of feed at the farms of the Northern State hospital at Newberry during the past four years, gave birth to a calf at the U. P. State Fair early Saturday morning. The calf weighed nearly 100 pounds.

Rose Burke Colantha is one of the outstanding cows of the entire herd which numbers 67 head of pure-bred Holsteins. This herd was developed about four years ago when the state apportioned a sum of $7,000 with which to purchase thirty head of cattle for the Newberry farms. Out of the amount invested an inventory shows a herd of 67 head valued at from $15,000 to $20,000. Idlewild, Amandus Segie, grand champion cow, was purchased in 1922 for $125 and the owners recently refused $1,000 for her. She is seven years old. The average value of the herd is $197.

The calf was the center of attraction at the barns Saturday. The sire is Denver Fobes Longfield.
