

G. O. P. TALKS OF CARRYING TEXAS

HOOVER SAFE IN ILLINOIS, LAWRENCE SAYS

FARM DISCONTENT NOT SERIOUS THERE

BY DAVID LAWRENCE.
(Copyright 1928, by the Escanaba Press)
Chicago, Ill., Sept. 24.—Herbert Hoover will carry Illinois but by a majority less than that of either President Coolidge or Warren Harding.

This does not mean that Mr. Hoover is necessarily a weaker candidate than either of his predecessors but it does mean that Governor Smith is the strongest Democratic nominee since William Jennings Bryan used to draw immense crowds.

The New York governor may cut the Republican plurality from 300,000 to 200,000. So far as electoral votes are concerned, Herbert Hoover has them safely tucked away though National Committeeman Thomas Donnan, successor of George Brennan says it isn't November yet by any means and that the western speeches of Governor Smith are gaining friends for him by the thousands.

The consensus of opinion in disinterested quarters is however that while Governor Smith may possibly carry Cook county, even if the Governor were to capture the county it would be by a close vote. There are desertions from the Republican standard throughout the state but mostly in the areas where the wet and religious issues are winning votes for Smith.

In the rural sections however where the Republican majorities usually come from there are signs that the farm discontent is not as bad as it has been painted and that while here and there Smith farm votes come to the surface they are the exception rather than the rule. It is of course true that the work of organizing the farmers for Smith has hardly gotten under way and that the Democrats have appropriated tidy sums for this intensive drive.

Drift Differs.
Any election in which Illinois is considered battleground by the Democrats has a right to be regarded as close but the Republican majorities, on the other hand, in these middle western states have been so substantial that the Democrats might make some real gains and still not endanger the electoral vote of the Republicans. Popular vote does not elect a president.

The Smith gains in Illinois nevertheless have their significance. If the New York Governor is running so well in the heavily Republican states, should not the tide be in his favor in the states in which narrow margins separate the Republican and Democratic votes? The drift in Illinois in September may be different from the drift in late October but Governor Smith has already demonstrated that he is a better vote-getter in Illinois than Davis, Cox or Wilson. The straw votes taken already indicate that Smith may be the first presidential nominee of the Democratic party to come within striking distance of carrying Cook county.

Editorial 'Square Deal.'
In editorial support, Governor Smith may not be getting very much help but the newspapers are giving him a square deal in the news columns and for this his supporters say is unusual for the Democrats to get in a presidential campaign. Such a prominent newspaper as the Chicago Tribune which editorially is supporting Herbert Hoover commends Governor Smith's Oklahoma speech and calls for the removal of Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt assistant attorney general in an editorial which reads in part as follows:

"Mrs. Willebrandt is a federal office-holder under a Republican administration. Mr. Smith calls attention to what she said, speaking to the Ohio conference of the Methodist church in Ohio, when she urged the clergyman to appeal directly to the 600,000 members of their church in that state. By any construction of her language she appealed to religious prejudice and urged that they be stirred and used against the Democratic nominee.

"The administration has permitted one of its conspicuous officials to promote a church war in a presidential campaign, an instance of pernicious political activity which it would be hard to equal. The only adequate safeguard of this episode would be the removal of the offender from office. Government silence concedes or supports it."

Tribune Is 'Wet.'

100 Bodies Removed from Smoldering Theatre Ruins

BASEBALL RUNS AGAINST N. Y. STATE ELECTION

New York, Sept. 24.—The Republicans of New York have a very strong candidate for governor, Mr. Ottinger from up-state. Now the Democrats have figured it out that on account of him being Jewish and Mr. Smith, Catholics, that what they needed to balance the ticket would be some Protestant from New York City. And they got to looking around and couldn't find one. John Roach Stranton, the last survivor, had left.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

MURDER PLEA IS REFUSED

Young Japanese, Who Kidnaped and Killed Boy, Is Arraigned

Honolulu, T. H., Sept. 24.—(AP)—Circuit Court Judge Alva E. Steadman today refused to permit Myles Yutaka Fukunaga, 19, to plead guilty to first degree murder.

The arraignment took place within an hour after the grand jury had indicted Fukunaga, confessed kidnaper and murderer of Gill Jamieson, 10, son of a Honolulu banker, on a murder count.

Much surprise was expressed today when it was revealed that the 19-year-old Japanese, mild-mannered and apparently kindly, had once edited a school weekly in which he urged protection for children and animals. He has confessed the atrocious crime against the banker's son.

It was pointed out that the case presented many features paralleling those of the kidnaping and murder of little Marian Parker by William E. Hickman, who is awaiting execution at San Quentin penitentiary in California.

Fukunaga in 1925 edited a humane weekly edition of his school paper at Waialua in which he advocated kindness to children and animals. The boy was then considered one of the most promising pupils of his class. He won the honor of delivering the salutatory oration at the graduation exercises, and carried off his school honors during the national essay contest.

BLAZE WRECKS SHOWHOUSE IN SPANISH CITY

POOR OF MADRID SUFFER WORST IN TRAGEDY

Madrid, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Approximately 100 dead had been recovered tonight from the ruins of the Novedades Theatre where a Sunday performance had suddenly been turned into a raging inferno which made a holocaust of the panic-stricken audience.

The fire chief directing his men in probing the smoldering wrecks which had been the stairways and balconies said tonight that he believed 40 more bodies might be found and that the total death toll could be conservatively estimated at 120.

The poor bore the brunt of the tragedy. Whole families of laboring men had been packed in the upper galleries. The narrow stairways leading to these upper levels were quickly choked as fathers sought to fight a way through for their children. The orchestra and stalls were on fire half filled when the fire broke out and so the majority of these spectators were able to make their way out.

Less than half of the bodies recovered have been identified although frantic relatives besieged the morgue and threw themselves against the redoubtable police lines at the scene of the fire.

In the charred auditorium of death the firemen and soldiers are continuing their steady search.

Curtis Forced to Answer Hecklers at Campaign Talk

Denver, Colo., Sept. 24.—(AP)—Reference by Senator Curtis, the Republican vice presidential nominee, to Gov. Smith at a rally here tonight brought two hecklers into action, and both were promptly ejected by police amid confusion in the crowded auditorium.

One of the hecklers was a woman who shrieked, over and over: "Don't talk about the 'Sidewalks of New York!'"

Senator Curtis was given a noisy demonstration by the huge throng. Shortly after he began speaking he mentioned Gov. Smith's farm pronouncements and referred to him as "the man who marches to the tune of 'Sidewalks of New York!'"

The crowd roared and after the noise died down a man in the crowd shouted: "Yes, you would tear down the Statue of Liberty and put up one of Andrew Mellon."

"He is the best secretary of the treasury America ever had," Curtis shot back.

There was considerable confusion as police rushed toward the man and the crowd shouted: "Throw him out." They did. Then a woman on the other side shrieked her out. "Don't put them out," Curtis said, smiling. "There seems to be some here who aren't pleased by what I am saying."

A demonstration broke out when he added: "I came here to talk to men and women who prefer to march to the music of 'The Star Spangled Banner!'"

Mexican Bandits Go Without Food To Feed Prisoners

Mexico City, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Mexican bandits go without food to feed their prisoners, but show a disturbing determination to kill them if they are not ransomed, said E. J. Bumstead, American mining engineer, who arrived here today.

He recently was held prisoner for three weeks in the state of Nayarit until the Humboldt Mining company, of which he is a manager, paid 20,000 pesos ransom. Undiscouraged by his experience, he said that he would continue to live in Mexico and would return to the mines shortly.

His captors, he said, were exceedingly polite and often went hungry themselves in order to give him plenty of food from their scanty stores. They seemed quite fond of him, he said, but while describing themselves as "desolate" at the idea, they said they must certainly kill him if his ransom was not forthcoming. Under guard he was allowed to roam about the mountains prospecting.

Young Philadelphian Sentenced to Hang

Los Angeles, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Russell St. Clair Betzel was sentenced to be hanged for the murder of his waitress sweetheart, Barbara Mauger, 19, whose body was found in a canyon above Hollywood several weeks ago. Date for execution of the young Philadelphian was not fixed, but the court announced that it probably would be set for Dec. 30.

FLYER INJURED AT MARQUETTE

New York Man Uses Plane on Trip to Upper Michigan

Marquette, Sept. 24.—(AP)—A pilot whose name was given at a hospital here as Captain Sherry, of Chicago, narrowly escaped serious injury today when an Universal Air Lines plane he was driving, crashed in the trees when he attempted to take off for Chicago from the Marquette golf grounds. The plane was wrecked, but the pilot suffered only a few bruises. It was stated at the hospital. Sherry piloted the plane to Marquette from Chicago this morning, carrying as a passenger Dr. Eugene Carr, Chicago physician, who chartered the ship to answer an emergency call to attend a member of the family of Louis G. Kaufman, capitalist and banker of New York and Marquette, at the Kaufman summer lodge near here.

The plane left Chicago at 4:30 a. m. and arrived here about 10 a. m., making a safe landing on the golf grounds. Shortly before noon the pilot made two unsuccessful attempts to hop off for the return trip to Chicago. He was alone and on his second attempt the plane dropped from a height of about 20 feet and "nose dived" between two trees.

Change of Bishops Announced; Meet Of Methodists Ends

Ionia, Mich., Sept. 24.—(AP)—The ninety-third annual Michigan Methodist conference ended today with announcement of changes in assignments of ministers for the ensuing year by Bishop Nicholson and his cabinet.

More than 200 changes were made in pastors in the western part of the state, which comprises the conference.

New district superintendents were named as follows: M. W. Duffy, Albion district; J. C. DeVinney, Big Rapids district; Clark F. Wheeler, Grand Rapids district; Clarence E. Hoag, Lansing district; J. O. Randall, Grand Traverse district, and A. E. Meader, Kalamazoo district.

Couple Injured Near Houghton; Train Hits Auto

Houghton, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. John Lewetz, Menominee, Mich., are in St. Joseph's hospital, Hancock, tonight, both in a critical condition, the result of an accident this morning in which their car was struck by South Shore train No. 2, at the Newton crossing, Keweenaw Bay. Their car stalled on the tracks after negotiating the incline leading to the crossing. The car burst into flames immediately following the accident. Mrs. Lewetz suffering burns which may seriously hurt her abdomen, although seriously cut about the head and body, strove vainly to extricate her. The rescue of the woman was effected by a negro porter from the train.

CONDITIONS IN FLORIDA IMPROVING

SUPPLIES ARE BEING SENT TO STRICKEN DISTRICTS

West Palm Beach, Fla., Sept. 24.—(AP)—While surveys of the needs of the hurricane ravaged area went forward today, Floridians poured fresh emergency supplies and personnel into the most sorely stricken districts.

Evacuation of some refugees continued as lines of communication gradually were opened by the crews of men who have been clearing the debris cluttered roads. Others were moving back in. Radio communication was established to Belle Glade, but no telephone and telegraph wires were working into the area.

A. L. Schafer, director of disaster relief for the National Red Cross, went into the Everglades with Dr. William Dekelme, medical officer of the national organization and John Hendricks, also of national headquarters to survey the rain reported in the Pelican Bay district.

Need Lake Dikes
After personal surveys of the situation at Belle Glade, Pahokee and near Okeechobee City, and issuing a call for funds, Governor John W. Martin, was en route to Jacksonville where he said he would make another appeal over the radio.

Before Leaving Okeechobee City today the governor telegraphed the highway department to send men and equipment to clear highways and also asked the state drainage board to inspect the like shore near Okeechobee with the view of restoring the dikes broken by the tidal wave during the hurricane.

Declaring that control of Lake Okeechobee is an urgent federal problem, Senator Duncan U. Fletcher, at Tampa, said that steps will be taken at once to solve the matter. Senator Fletcher said that while storms cannot be stopped, disaster could be minimized through control of the streams emptying into the lake.

Search for Bodies
Schafer held his estimate of the known dead at 1200 persons but Howard W. Seiby, a chairman of the Palm Beach county Red Cross committee announced again today that surveys of casualties completed for him by O. C. Geiger, one of his workers, showed a total of 2,200 persons. Other official estimates varied from 1500 to 2000, the latter figure wired to President Coolidge by business men of Okeechobee City.

Search for bodies still went forward. Relief workers said they were disposing of the bodies as best they could.

An emergency receivers' dividend of the defunct citizens bank of West Palm Beach was announced today and officials said this would place approximately $200,000 into circulation.

Bruce Refuses to Retract Statement On Herbert Hoover

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 24.—(AP)—Senator William C. Bruce, Democrat, of Maryland, tonight issued a formal statement in which he refused any apology or withdrawal of his statement that Herbert Hoover and Charles Curtis had violated the prohibition law, made during a speech at Westminster on Saturday night. He reiterated his stand that he was, in the case of the charge against Hoover merely repeating at statement that had been attributed to Clarence Darrow, Chicago attorney. He said that it had never been denied by Mr. Darrow or Mr. Hoover, and that the familiarity shown by George Akerson, Mr. Hoover's aide, in denying the charge showed he knew of the statement which he said had been made by Mr. Darrow.

Senator Bruce refused to comment on the denial of the charge entered earlier in the day by Senator Curtis until he had seen the published statement of the vice presidential candidate.

"If Mr. Darrow will unequivocally deny that he has ever made such a statement, I will be glad to accept his denial rather than the press report of what he said, as a true version of the matter, and to express my regret that I should have said my alleged statement in commenting on my speech," Senator Bruce said in his statement.

Senator Curtis Forced to Stop Making Outdoor Speeches in Campaign

Chicago, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Representative Fred S. Purnell, ranking member of the house committee on agriculture, will hereafter substitute at outdoor speeches for Senator Charles Curtis, Republican vice presidential candidate, the Republican national headquarters here announced tonight. The substitution became necessary following the orders of a physician who said Senator Curtis might seriously impair his voice if he continued his outdoor speeches.

Representative Purnell will join Senator Curtis at Tulsa, Okla., Thursday and make his address for him, although the vice presidential candidate will occupy a seat on the speakers platform. Mr. Purnell will also make any speeches from the train platform that might also be the duty of Mr. Curtis.

The physical examination of Mr. Curtis was made at Cheyenne, Wyo.

Walter H. Newton, director of the Republican national committee's speakers bureau, in making this announcement here tonight, said: "Senator Curtis has been campaigning so strenuously that his voice has been giving his considerable trouble."

"In order to protect him against the danger of impairing his voice, Congress Purnell, one of the real 'big guns' among our public men, will speak on agricultural questions, and will relieve him of outdoor speaking."

WOMAN SHOULD BE MUZZLED

Wisconsin Republican Says Mrs. Willebrandt Is Injuring Hoover

Chicago, Sept. 24.—(AP)—The Chicago Tribune in its morning edition prints a letter from Benjamin Fuellman, a member of the Wisconsin state central committee, addressed to James W. Good, western manager for Herbert Hoover, which says: "Unless Mrs. Willebrandt is muzzled, Mr. Hoover is sure to go down to defeat."

The letter was prompted by the reports of strength of the Democratic candidate, Al Smith, in Wisconsin. The letter continues: "Political observers in this state, if they are fair, will tell you Governor Smith would carry this state if the election were held now. He is getting stronger since Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt has taken the stump. This state is opposed to prohibition tactics as predicted by Mrs. Willebrandt and it is also opposed to the kind of campaigning she is doing."

Should Ask Resignation
"Unless Mrs. Willebrandt is muzzled Mr. Hoover is sure to go down to defeat. It is not enough for Republican managers to disclaim responsibility for Mrs. Willebrandt's activities. They should demand that she refrain from all further participation in the campaign."

"If she fails to heed this request President Coolidge should call for her resignation. By doing this he will do more to insure the election of Mr. Hoover than any single act he could perform for the Republican party."

Inquiry at the Republican headquarters publicity bureau regarding the letter brought the information that no letter was received there to date from Mr. Fuellman, and no comment could possibly be forthcoming until such a time as the letter would be received.

"VOTE FOR THE MAN"—EDITOR

Ellery Sedgwick, of Atlantic Monthly, Is Heard Over Radio

New York, Sept. 24.—(AP)—The plea, "let us vote as our consciences dictate," was made tonight by Ellery Sedgwick, editor of the Atlantic Monthly, in a radio talk.

The Democratic national committee, in making the public text, said, Mr. Sedgwick, wished to emphasize that "Studies in Temperament," the title of his paper, expressed his personal view and not the position of the publication.

"Let us vote for Hoover or for Smith as men," the editor urged after contrasting the personalities of the major parties' presidential candidates. "Let us choose the best for the Republican promise of good business or the Democratic plea for fair dealing. Let us vote to continue our experiment in prohibition or put more temperance first. Let us save the farmer by what we prefer. But let us not try to fool our own souls by voting before the world for a secret reason which the more decent of us dare scarcely even murmur to ourselves."

Religion Built America.
"A strange campaign it is," said Mr. Sedgwick. "On the surface are issues casual almost, and not exciting, but below the issues are two contrasting personalities, each strong enough to sail the ship on bold new courses. And beneath the campaigns themselves, far below their political convictions, plunging depths which no American election has ever stirred, there is joined one issue at the very core of the republic and of society itself. Only bigots and fanatics bring it to debate, for it is deep beyond reason and its elements are primal. 'Thou shalt have none other gods but me,' spake Jehovah, but the people parodied his commandment. 'Thou shalt have none other gods but mine,' has become the outcry of the ages."

"To change the course of that red record, America was peopled, and the experiment of the United States was dedicated to the proposition that a man's religion must not be held against him. Vain and futile hope! In the human heart"

Woman Lured to Western City; Hacked to Death

Spokane, Wash., Sept. 24.—(AP)—Presumably lured here through a matrimonial bureau to marry a man who never existed, police said today they believed that Mrs. Catherine Clark, divorcee of Boston and San Francisco, whose body was found in an orchard yesterday, was hacked to death on the night set for her wedding. The motive was believed to have been robbery. She was supposed to have had $1,400 with her.

The woman's body was found by two franc pickers about 15 miles from here. Archie F. Mook, mill worker, at whose home the woman had been staying since her arrival a few days ago, was being held in jail today without bail while his "unsatisfactory story" was being investigated by police.

Mook said he had taken Mrs. Clark toward Coeur D'Alene, Idaho, east of here, last Saturday, to meet her intended husband. What more Mook said police declined to reveal. Meanwhile, the identity of a mysterious man who was supposed to have been the prospective bridegroom, remained secret.

An autopsy is to be held.

DEMOCRATIC STRONGHOLD IS WEAKENED

OLD GUARDS OF PARTY SPLIT; JOIN REPUBLICANS

BY D. FIELD BRITTLER (Associated Press Staff Writer)
Fort Worth, Texas, Sept. 24.—(AP) The state of Texas, ever a paragon of democracy, now is experiencing the greatest political surprise of its life. For the first time in history the Republican party actually is seriously talking about carrying Texas in a national election, and just the thought of that possibility is giving old line Democrats a headache.

A Republican victory would be a political eighth wonder of the world, say these Democrats, and they refuse to believe that it can happen. But there are some, even many, Democrats who say it can happen and they are striving to see that it does; for the Democratic party of the Lone Star state is split, and badly so.

To find the exact line of cleavage is the problem of the assessor of facts who wants to answer the question—Smith or Hoover? For all practical purposes this is one-party state; it rarely gives office to a Republican in local affairs and in national affairs has never given less than a very comfortable two to one majority to the Democratic candidate, and often a greater margin. The Republican party has always been an almost negligible minority, but now with the possibility of a temporary shift in the Democratic anti-Smith forces. Together they create that doubt there is as to the outcome in Texas. In its simplest terms the problem is: Will Democrats quit the party of Alfred E. Smith and vote for Herbert Hoover in sufficient numbers to upset the normal ratio?

State Is Restless.
An inquirer making the rounds of political camps draws three answers to the question—two affirmative and one negative. Republican and anti-Smith headquarters say "yes"; regular Democratic leaders say "no." All can cite ample precedent to support their convictions, that the state that was host to the Democratic convention will or will not turn down the convention's nominee.

In any event this state of many violent political battles—but heretofore all of them at the Democratic primaries—is decidedly restless, and has been for some time, practically since the Madison Square Garden affair—so far as Smith is concerned. It came to a head at the recent Houston convention when the Texans, led by their governor, Dan Moody, sought to wedge an ultra-dry plank into the party platform and threatened to take their fight to the convention floor.

Since then bolters have quit the party like leaves falling in autumn, including in their number some outstanding leaders. Thomas B. Love, former national committeeman, is one of them. He withdrew as a candidate for lieutenant governor in the run-off primary, declaring it seemed hopeless to cope with the Smith forces on the state ticket, and now he is leader of the anti-Smith army. With him are former Gov. O. B. Colquitt, Alvin Moody, president of the anti-Smith Democrats, a number of heads of educational institutions, leaders of the clergy, and even some of the regular Democratic county organization members.

Dispute Ballot Total

A majority of these persons are lumped off into a group by the regular Democrats who say they have been disgruntled dissenters for some time, that their voices are their only weapons and that they have no great following. In the minds of these leaders the fight goes back to the "Ma" Ferguson campaign for the governorship in 1924 against the Republican, Dr. George C. Butte. They aver that in that campaign, waged by the Ferguson against the Ku Klux Klan and other factions, the Republicans received all the unstable Democratic support that could ever be weaned away from the Democratic party. Although the normal Republican vote for governor is below 100,000, Dr. Butte, receiving the Klan vote and the anti-Ferguson Democratic strength, polled approximately 300,000, being defeated by Mrs. Ferguson's 422,000. Democratic headquarters declare that the total pro-Ferguson vote, and anti-Smith vote, including the now Ferguson clan, cannot be greater than Butte's, and that therefore there is nothing to lose sleep over.

Illinois Mentor Seeks to Check Over-Confidence in Grid Team

Chicago, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Dimitry "Bob" Zuppke, the guiding genius of football at the University of Illinois, is getting to be a harder task master each year. Probably no team in the Big Ten has as bright prospects for a championship this season as the Illinois "Zup" shys at prosperity and is driving the largest squad he ever had at full force all the time.

Today, for instance, he drove his teams through long drills in signals and blocking despite rainy weather and a flying blizzard that swept across the training field.

"Don't you think you have a championship cinched," he shouts to his charges every time they slow up. "We have a poor team and we'll have to fight all the way to get anywhere."

Most of the Big Ten squads went through fast drills today, generally stressing the passing and running attack.

Coach Fielding Yost decided to retain all his squad of 68 today, hoping to uncover an end to take the place of Bennie Oosterbaan. Bennie also was retained with the Varsity for another week to help solve the problem.

Two long, hard scrimmages and cross line attack practices featured the day's workout at the University of Chicago. Hugh Mendenhall, veteran back, was back in uniform today, having completed his back work in school. He has yet to pass an examination before his eligibility is determined, but his chances are good.

Conditions on Farms in Michigan Showing Improvement-Klawon

Federal Land Bank Head Addresses Farm Loan Meeting Here

"Agricultural conditions in Michigan, as reflected by the payment of installments on mortgages by the 10,780 borrowers from the Federal Land Bank at St. Paul and the more prompt payment of state and local taxes and insurance premiums, show worth-while improvement over a year ago," according to a statement made here yesterday by F. H. Klawon, president of the bank, while addressing the representatives of the National Farm Loan Associations of this district, at the Delta hotel.

"Another barometer of the status of farming is found in the number of farms sold and the prices received," he continued. "Although it is still impossible to indicate an advance in selling prices compared with a year ago, still it can be truthfully said that there is a better market for farms."

Inquiry is more brisk and farms are selling. For instance, the Federal Land Bank, which operates not only in Michigan but in Wisconsin, Minnesota and North Dakota, sold fifty-nine farms in its territory during July and August or practically twice as many as a year ago."

Many Attend Meeting Among the officials of the local farm loan associations in the district who attended the meeting were: Peter Fratvin, Newberry; J. Tongway, Cooke; Carl N. Case, Treunary; L. R. Walker, Marquette; Emil Rahbo, Toviola; O. C. Olson, Baraga; Charles Dantes, L'Anse; B. P. Pattison, Escanaba; J. J. Hruska, Manistique; Charles Olmsted, Garden; Albert Huebscher, Cooks; Matt Johnson, Felch; Carl A. Carlson, Felch; P. C. Wood, Rudyard; Oscar Dalbeck, Wainota; G. W. Schenk, Carney; Arvid Mustonen, Rock; William Johnson, Wainola; John Mahla, Wainola; Matt Johnson, Wainola; Hjalmer J. Sello, Chatham; Otto Winkel, Cooke; August Severinsen, Escanaba Route 1; Henry Nelson, Bark River; E. Bloss, Daggett; John A. Tennant, Manistique; Herman Gustafson, Felch; C. J. Plink, Negaunee; H. E. Nadeau, Nadeau; C. G. Walton, Daggett; P. W. Saxon, Trout Creek; J. C. Findlay Turin, Paul Perrizo, Daggett; C. G. Anderson, Daggett; William Lpkke, Stephenson; George E. Nygard, Metropollitan; Matt Wilman, Metropollitan; Art Jonsdorf, Norway; Gottrid S. Johnson, Manistique; Isaac Pawley, Manistique; A. T. Sohberg, Gladstone; John Lundberg, Gladstone, and Helmer Bruce, Bark River.

Mr. Klawon stated that "farmers are now being financed, as far as their long-term farm mortgages are concerned, at a rate of interest which is actually lower than most industries are having to pay for long-term money. We have ample funds to meet the needs of Michigan farmers who can qualify for loans from this cooperative or mutual institution and the bank is now advancing money at five per cent interest. The bank has already loaned approximately $88,000,000 in this state and it has outstanding in the four states an aggregate of $138,482,500 loans."

5 Per Cent Interest "The bank can now loan about $4,000,000 at the unusually low rate of interest of 5 per cent, due to the fact that the reorganization of the Federal Farm Loan Board materially strengthened confidence in the system and enabled it to sell, last summer, bonds at the lowest rate in the entire history of the bank. Farmers borrowing elsewhere will find it necessary in some cases to pay a rate ranging from two to three per cent higher. These funds are sufficient to meet the demands upon the bank for the loans until it enters the market this fall to sell more bonds, from which it derives its funds to loan.

"Payment of installments by borrowers is the best indicator we have of conditions in Michigan. While the improvement is small compared with a year ago, there is no question but what there is a turn for the better. We hope it will be possible to reduce delinquencies in a few months to where they are nominal."

Land Sales Improve "Likewise there is improvement in the sale of farm lands and the amount of tax delinquency. At present the bank holds title to 495 farms in the four states—Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and North Dakota—with an investment of $2,496,346, or a trifle less than 1 3/4 per cent of our total assets. Against this we have set up a reserve account of $1,686,921, making our net investment in farm lands $787,047, or approximately one-half of one per cent of our total assets. As the land is sold the funds will go into the bank's undivided profits account and will be distributed eventually to the members of our associations.

"We note a revival of interest in the ownership of farm lands. Practically all the sales are to neighbors. It is surprising how many prospects there are and how many people are interested in buying land. At present prices, there is no better investment available. Farm lands at present prices can be made to pay a reasonable income by the right farmer who has a sufficient amount of capital and equipment. In a great many instances farms are being offered for sale at prices and on terms that are more favorable than land could have been obtained 20 and 30 years ago under the homestead law."

Wanek Is Speaker F. G. Wanek, secretary of the bank and a former resident of Menominee, urged the secretaries, directors and borrowers present to make a concerted effort to canvass their communities to sell any farms which their association may have been forced to take over because of the delinquency of borrowers in meeting their installments or taxes. He explained that the advantages of a federal farm loan are so great that it is worth a strenuous effort on the part of every borrower to meet his installments promptly and that if they are not paid at the time they are due, they are not living up to the agreement which they signed when securing the funds. He also stressed the necessity for payment of taxes when due, saying that taxes constitute a first lien upon the land which comes even ahead of a first mortgage, and that unless taxes are paid the bank has a decreasing equity in the land and, therefore, cannot have the protection which is demanded under the law of 50 per cent at least of the appraised value of the land for agricultural purposes and 80 per cent of the insured, permanent improvements. He also indicated that although the bank had plenty of funds to lend, that it must necessarily pursue a conservative policy.

Intermediate Credit Bank J. A. Rickert, manager of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank, housed with and officered by the same personnel as the Federal Land Bank, told how that institution makes loans directly to the farmers' cooperative marketing associations and how the twelve Intermediate Credit Banks make loans on two score or more of staple agricultural commodities when properly warehoused. The other type of loan, he explained, is made thru local lending agencies such as state or national savings banks, agricultural credit corporations or livestock companies. These agencies make the loan in the first instance and rediscout the farmers' notes with the Intermediate Credit Bank. The loans are made for six months or longer and are made only for agricultural purposes, including raising, grazing and fattening of livestock.

Short talks also were made by other directors of the bank at follows: E. J. Van Leuven of Mt. Pleasant, Mich.; Frank R. Colt of Hudson, Wisconsin, A. C. Erickson of Albert Lea, Minnesota, Samuel Torgerson of Grand Forks, North Dakota, and John C. Smith of Mandan, North Dakota. E. B. Reed, director of publicly, told briefly of the work of his department.

The meeting was presided by Gottrid Johnson of Manistique.

Steamer Damages Welland Canal

St. Catherine's, Ont., Sept. 24.—(AP)—The Norwegian freighter Doris which had been jammed across the Welland Canal since early yesterday, blocking movement of wheat shipments, was released today and indications were that normal traffic would be resumed by noon tomorrow.

The freighter crashed into the gates of a lock during a storm when the hawser hauling her slipped. Waters released by the breaking of a gate swept away two upper gates, one of the lower ones, and tore holes in the sides of the canal. The freighter dropped anchor when the water carried her against the side of the canal, wedging her across the passage.

Damage to the Canal ran into thousands of dollars, although authorities said the greatest danger of loss was created through transport delay of millions of bushels of wheat which were part of the cargoes of more than a score of vessels on each side of the barrier.

The Welland canal is about 20 miles long and connects Lakes Ontario and Erie, proving an outlet to the sea for much of the grain of the Canadian wheat belt.

Six, Missing in Storm, Found on Island in Lake

Mt. Clemens, Mich., Sept. 24.—(AP)—Six persons, all from Detroit, reported missing since they started out in small boats in Lake St. Clair early Sunday on fishing trips, were found safe today after airplanes from Selfridge had flown over the lake in search for them.

Caught by a heavy wind, they had been blown several miles to Strawberry Island where four of them spent the night. The other two, a man named Poole and his son, returned from the maintenance of a cottage owner on the island.

The other four, located by the airplanes and returned home today, are Mr. and Mrs. Gene Harris, Charles F. Gute and Clifford J. Bellefleur.

New Gear Shifting Device Brought Out

London, Sept. 24.—(AP)—The Daily Mail today says that a "motoring development of first rate importance" in the form of an automatic gear shifting device, has been adopted by one of the leading British manufacturers after successful tests over 50,000 miles.

By this device a driver moves a pointer on a quadrant on his steering wheel to the desired speed designation, steps on a pedal, and the gear changes "automatically, smoothly and silently."

Prince of Wales Knows Little Welsh

Cardiff, Wales (AP)—There was a spontaneous roar of cheers from thousands of persons here when, after unveiling the Welsh National War Memorial, the Prince of Wales wound up his English speech with "Mewn anghof ni chafod fo tra awel vros ei beddau chwyth," which his audience recognized as meaning, "We will see that they shall not be forgotten while the breezes blow over their graves."

He had several lessons in Welsh from former Premier David Lloyd George when, at the age of seventeen, he went to Carnarvon to be formally invested as prince in accordance with ancient custom; and it was again Mr. Lloyd George and his son, Mr. Lloyd George who coached him in the proper choice of words and their pronunciation on this last occasion, the lesson being given as they traveled together by train from London to Cardiff.

FIRMLY ESTABLISHED.

THE UPPER PENINSULA state fair is firmly established. That fact is conceded by all who attended its initial effort last week. As an exposition of the resources, the prosperity and the progress of the peninsula, it made a profound impression. As a spectacle it was more than satisfactory.

Preparing for an event of this kind was a tremendous job. The building program was not completed until the day the fair opened. In the rush which accompanied the efforts to get many of these details out of the way, some things were perhaps neglected; some details may have been overlooked. They were, however, items of minor importance. And they will not be missing next year and in the years to follow.

Fortified by a year's experience—and experience after all is the best teacher—the fair officers and the board of managers will be better able to proceed along well-defined lines. They know what is needed and they know how to fill these needs. The next fair undoubtedly will be a bigger fair and a better fair.

Weather—the one factor over which the board had no control—was the only thing that cut into the fair's finances. Four days of sunshine there were, it is true, but the nights were too cold to make attendance at night sessions attractive. The cold and the rains Friday and Saturday were discouraging to the box-office.

But the quality of the fair, the peninsula-wide interest in it, and the entire satisfaction expressed by exhibitors and patrons prove that a firm foundation upon which to build has been established.

That is the important thing. Camels can live three weeks without a drink, says the superintendent of the New York zoo. The first thing we know, somebody will be telling us that porcupines do not shoot their quills.

WILD CAT AIRCRAFT.

IT HAS BEEN frequently pointed out of late that the aeronautical factories in the United States outnumber the automobile plants by more than two to one, from which one might not altogether unreasonably infer that the manufacturers of aircraft are leaving the automotive producers in the rear.

A moment's reflection will reveal, of course, that this is not at all the case, but the great number of aeronautical plants now operating represent a close parallel to the state of affairs at an early period in the history of the automobile industry, says Detroit Saturday Night. It has been remarked that whenever three Americans are gathered together, one is elected president. In the years between 1908 and 1912 whenever three Detroiters assembled, especially if it happened to be in the Pontchartrain bar, an automobile company was born. No machine shop so humble that it could not become over night an automobile factory. The craze for manufacturing self-propelled vehicles assumed weird proportions, and many of the products themselves were no less startling.

In time the whirlings and the fly-by-nights fell by the wayside, leaving a comparatively small number of substantial concerns in the field. The aeronautical industry is simply going through a similar phase and perhaps it is a healthy indication. Today the so-called airplane factories in barns and blacksmith shops are legion. Tomorrow most of them will have gone the way of the wild cat automobile plants of 20 years ago.

While the national committees are quarreling about who dragged religious prejudice into the campaign, somebody should quietly drag it out.

THE WAY OF THE WORLD

By GROVE PATTERSON.

THE PROHIBITION ISSUE IN MICHIGAN.

MICHIGAN DEMOCRATS, in state convention at Grand Rapids, refused to place party harmony in peril by following the Democratic nominee for president on the prohibition issue. The convention, as briefly as possible, declared that it favored the enforcement of existing laws, and let it go at that. Alfred E. Smith, as a candidate, was endorsed; but thumbs were turned down on a proposed endorsement of the views of Al Smith on the question of state's rights.

Prohibition, in this campaign, is a "baloney" issue. Neither the president of the United States, nor the congress of the United States can change the federal constitution. And if the legislatures of the required number of states of the union decided to revoke the eighteenth amendment—action which the most optimistic wets do not hope for—the constitution of the state of Michigan would remain untouched.

The Democratic voter who professes to believe that Alfred E. Smith, if he were elected to the presidency, would deliberately violate his oath of office by countenancing widespread violations of the constitution which he has sworn to uphold and defend, isn't giving the candidate credit for even the shrewdest good faith. Down in his heart, if he knows anything at all about the machinery of government, he is aware that the president does not make laws nor repeal laws; that he is sworn to enforce laws; Congress could modify the Volstead act, but most Democratic candidates for congress are seeking office on the dry platform adopted by the Houston convention. And that's his own answer.

As far as Michigan is concerned, the state constitution separates this state from the national wet-dry battle, anyway. Prohibition is not an issue in this campaign, because the election of a president can not alter the present situation. The Michigan constitution gives attempts to inject it into the affairs of this state even more of a "baloney" flavor.

MAKING MEN
 "The scores of boys' clubs, educational classes, gymnasium classes, Bible classes, discussion groups—the manifold activity radiating into every part of every great city—which make the astonishing program of the Y. M. C. A. most appeal to every citizen. The dreariest pessimist, believing the present generation is a total loss, can not deny the decency of the effort to make the next generation better. Service aimed at and for YOUTH comes very near to being the most worth-while effort in the world."

UNSELFISH?
 The alleged unselfishness of many people is a beautiful idea built up in their own bright minds. They have acquired an unselfish manner. They appear to be doing, or be on the verge of doing, all sorts of nice, thoughtful things for others. The things they finally do, with whatever sweet gesture, are usually the things that fit in with their own plans. The discarded garment with which we seek to gladden the heart of a poor relation is, of course, the garment we are tired of and never want to see again. And so on.

If you are interested in discovering what is and what is not selflessness you will be instructed and entertained by a delightfully ironic book by Anne Parrish called "All Kneeling..."

PREPARATION
 About 150 years ago there came the "dark day." A remarkable eclipse of the sun startled the people of New England. The legislature in Connecticut was in session. Many believed the Day of Judgment was at hand. A member moved adjournment. And then arose an old Puritan, Davenport Stanford, who declared that if this were the last day of the world, he desired to be found at his post of duty. He opposed adjournment.

The Piffle Hook

PIFFLEEDITORIAL
 One Half of the World Does Not Give Two Whoops Why the Other Half Laves—and How.

THE COMMON FOE
 We hear much, in this campaign, about economy in government. Do our statesmen mean what they say? If so, why do they persist, year after year, in using tons of copper and silver and in the manufacture of money? Are they not aware of the fact that this is an age of steel and concrete? No great industrial leader would think of building a skyscraper of precious metals. Government still has many lessons to learn from big business. The pennies, nickles, dimes and dollars of the future will be made of iron, of cinder blocks, and of roofing tile. Precious metals will be preserved for better uses. That will be real progress.

COLORED GARTERS
 Gunmen in Chicago attending funerals, crowd around the grave of the guest of honor with their hands on their artillery. We wonder whether we are civilized. The courts are helpless. The hands of the police are manacled. One way, and only one, to stop this savagery remains. Abolish all mortuaries, destroy all burial equipment, and prohibit funerals by law. Gunmen can not go armed to funerals if there are no funerals. There is a simple solution awaiting every problem. Our public officials, however, do not always want to listen.

WHAT IS A FLAPPER?
 The ancient Greek philosopher, Gus Pappilantias, tells in one of his epics, the tale of a famous soldier who, too old longer to fight, was starving in a garret. Upon hearing of the hero's plight, the king sent for him and presented him with a silver medal. We, in this age, are more practical. We know that a starving man has no use for a silver medal. So we taken him into the auditorium of a great university and give him an honorary degree of doctor of laws. It is upon such trivial things that our American greatness is erected.

LYRICS OF LIFE

By Douglas Malloch
 Copyright 1926 by Douglas Malloch

PLEASURE
 The gull is always flying over
 The rolling waves, not fields of clover,
 And, as the seagull loves the sea,
 The eagle seeks the highest tree.
 So why should I attempt to measure
 The thing that gives my brother pleasure?
 As I grow older, less and less
 I try defining happiness—
 Or criticize the gull or swallow
 Because I do not care to follow.
 I let the eagle seek the pine
 And find his joy, as I do mine.

And all I ever ask you, brother,
 Is that your joy shall pain no other,
 The rule, I think, that God employs
 To measure all our human joys.
 But God will not forgive the laughter
 If he should hear a sob right after.

DIET AND HEALTH

By Lulu Hunt Peters M. D.
 Author of "Diet and Health" and "Diet for Children"

STYES COME FROM INFECTION AROUND THE EYELASH ROOTS.

Styes are due to infection of the oil glands around the eyelash roots, Dorothy. The reason they come in crops is that some of the germs from a previous stye are still hanging around. There may be something which lowers the resisting power of the tissues, and straining the eyes by too much reading in a bad light may be the cause, especially if the vision is not normal. Usually one with normal eyesight can do a great deal of reading without affecting them.

No, Styes, boils, etc., are not healthful—use "healthful" not "healthy" here, Dorothy—except that they indicate something may be wrong with the general hygiene as well as the local. You say you weigh 145 and are only 13 years old, but you are tall. You would have to be almost six feet tall to weigh so much. Are you? The tallest height that is given for a girl of your age in the standard tables is 5 ft. 8 in., and the average weight at that height is only 131. If you are 5 ft. 5 in., tall, which is tall for a girl of 13, the average weight is 120. By this standard, you would be 23 pounds overweight for the average; if you were five or ten pounds over the average that would be alright, but so much over looks as though you eat too much bread and butter, pies and candy. Do you?

Quite often those who do this will have boils, styes and other skin eruptions. Suppose you cut out very much of these foods for awhile? You had better have your eyes examined to see if your vision is normal and is not being strained. Meanwhile, get a tube of 1 per cent yellow oxide of mercury at the drug store and rub a little of it on the lids every night, and keep it up for a long time after the last stye goes, so as to be sure to discourage any of the germs that might still be busy.

Yes, swimming is one of the best exercises there is for all-around development.

We have an article on Common Eye Troubles which you can obtain by following column rules.

House Pets.

"Please write an article on what harm a cat can do to your health—I mean the kind that goes to any place, an alley cat. I have a friend whose two children are not well. I imagine the cats drag germs in and the children sleep with them, kiss and fondle them something outrageously. They are kind and lovable children."

House pets, if they go where they are exposed to disease germs, may certainly bring them into the household. Children should be taught to be kind to animals, but they should not be allowed to kiss them or be kissed by them. Dogs and cats not infrequently are infected with worms; they may have mange, and both these diseases may be transmitted. Children should be taught to wash their hands thoroughly, always before eating, and especially after handling pets.

CHAPTER XXXIII.
LYNDA ACCEPTS AN INVITATION.

Lynnda had never seen Claire Stanhope look just as she did, as she stood gazing into Ralph Armitage's face. There was triumph, curiosity and a little indecision in her face.

"So you think Fred Blaque would stand a scandal for the sake of getting me, at last, do you? Well, I'm not so sure that I would marry him. You know as well as I do, Mr. Armitage, that girls who work in offices, or anywhere else, where we have to associate with men daily, are always under suspicion. If we have a modicum of good looks. No man seems to think that a girl will work if she can make some man work for her. When I came into your office I was as innocent of this as Lynnda, here. I did not know that most men who are rich and had more or less leisure, look upon all of us as something that may be bought. They think we are all gold-diggers, and perhaps we are to blame for that. But since they have made the rules of the game, and as they usually win in the end, why should we not take all the advantage possible, as long as we can?"

"Fred Blaque was very sweet to me from the moment I knew him. I think I loved him immediately, and I had the assurance, if you may call it so, to dream of marriage. I saw no reason why we should not be married. I am quite as clever as he and, although all my family had died leaving me very poor, it was better than his. I did not know then that money made such a difference."

"When I found out that he proposed to buy me with money instead of asking me to be his wife, you, being a man, cannot understand my humiliation. It was then I told him I never wanted to see him again. He didn't believe me, and ever since, he has been insulting me with his attentions, making it very hard for me. And yet, he always says he loves me."

"Now let's talk about the new home that you two girls are making for yourselves. Are you going to invite me there, sometime?"

"Of course we will," said Lynnda, quickly. Claire, however, contented herself by asking: "When do you think you will be able to get out?"

"Very soon. The doctor says I can, if I am careful, go down to business day after tomorrow, and I am determined to go to June Charles's party, even if I have to sit in some obscure corner and watch the whole world of love and laughter go by."

"Don't intimate that you won't like that, Mr. Armitage, if you have a girl of your own selection with you," smiled Claire. "Sitting in an obscure corner, and letting all the world go by, is one of the best little things you are said to do."

"Well, right here and now, Lynnda, I select you. Will you let yourself be bored by a cripple? Dare I ask you to put me further into your debt?"

"I don't dance very well, Mr. Armitage, and I won't know any other man but you at the party, as David will not be there. So I think that will be a fine arrangement."

"We must go now, Lynnda," interrupted Claire, hastily. "We're here more than an hour."

"Please don't go until you have had something to eat. I told the butler to fix up a little supper for us, and here it comes."

Again that day Lynnda Fenton ate with Ralph Armitage, who remarked as with his left hand, he helped himself to chicken and mushrooms under glass: "I'm very hungry. I did not eat any dinner. I've had nothing since we lunched together, Lynnda. Then I hardly thought I would have the time of eating with you again so soon. What a difference it makes in the taste of food if you have someone you want with you while you eat it." He managed to finish the meal until after it was one o'clock before they started home.

Yes, yes! We know all about the conversation between the governors of the two Carolinas, but what did the Governor of Michigan say to the Governor of Wisconsin, when they met at Blaney?

Who's Who in Timely Views

RUSSIA DESCRIBED AS ORDERLY
 By ELMER THOMAS
 United States Senator from Oklahoma.

My recent trip to Russia—entering from Helsinki, Finland, and visiting and investigating in and adjacent to Leningrad, Moscow, and Smolensk, and leaving by way of Riga, Latvia; having traveled by rail, plane, motor, drashky and on foot; with and without an interpreter and having met and conversed with practically all classes of Russian people in their homes, shops, factories and clubs, and with public officials, enables me to make the following statement:

Travel is entirely safe, once in the country, but very difficult to get a Russian visa. I met and passed many waiting at the border, hoping for the edict to enter. Railway trains are clean and on time and the railway track is in a fair state of repair. The railway officials, as well as Russian public officials, and the people generally, are uniformly accommodating and courteous.

Practically all property has been nationalized—confiscated, held, managed, and operated by the government. All land of every kind, farm as well as city and town property, is now the property of the government; the farm land being rented to the peasants and the city property rented to the workers in the towns and cities.

The railways, tramways, steamship lines and institutions, such as colleges and universities, schools, hospitals and churches, banks, stores and shops, save where governmental concessions have been granted, are owned and operated either by the state or by co-operatives, and all employees are working for salaries fixed by the government. No government official gets more than $12.50 per month.

Moscow, the present capital, with a population of about 2,500,000, resembles a city adjacent to an army camp in war time; however, the city is practically surrounded by army camps with the soldiers in constant training and maneuvers, on the ground by day and in the air by night. Russia has a regular army in training of about 700,000 men.

In justice to the new government I must say that it has apparently accomplished the following results:

Established law and order and a stable currency based upon a gold standard; an apparently successful operation of some 50,000 miles of railways; the operation of large cities with modern utilities and unusual facilities for the practical education of the masses of all ages; the successful operation of textile plants, producing and selling to the Russian people annually, goods of value in excess of one billion dollars; a government with a very large annual income—over $2,000,000,000—derived in the main from rents from farms and city property and from profits derived from government-made goods, sold through government and co-operative stores.

Under the present order, private business can neither thrive nor exist in Russia for the reason that the government has a monopoly on both raw material and finished products and the government and co-operative stores are favored in both delivery of goods and prices.

House pets, if they go where they are exposed to disease germs, may certainly bring them into the household. Children should be taught to be kind to animals, but they should not be allowed to kiss them or be kissed by them. Dogs and cats not infrequently are infected with worms; they may have mange, and both these diseases may be transmitted. Children should be taught to wash their hands thoroughly, always before eating, and especially after handling pets.

There are probably other wrong hygienic habits in the family you speak of.

STATE NEEDS NEW BUILDINGS

Institutions Overcrowded at Present, Judge Yelland Says

The overcrowded condition of our state institutions is causing grave concern among the probate judges of the various counties in Michigan. Probate Judge Judd Yelland said yesterday in calling attention to the fact that at the recent meeting of the Probate Judges association at Kalamazoo a resolution was passed calling upon the state legislature to effect a program of building to meet the situation.

All the state institutions for the housing of feeble-minded, epileptics and juvenile delinquents have large waiting lists and there will be no relief in sight unless the living quarters are enlarged, Probate Judge Yelland said.

"Even in this county we have a problem," Judge Yelland declared. "At the present time, there are 13 persons waiting to be taken to the state institutions. For feeble-minded persons at the present time being cared for at the county farm at the county's expense, and conditions there are not especially suited for the handling of such cases."

"The Newberry state hospital is crowded, there are 500 on the waiting list at the Michigan Home and Training school at Lapeer, the Michigan Farm Colony for Epileptics is taxed to capacity and similar crowded conditions exist at other state institutions."

Text of Resolution, The resolution passed at the Kalamazoo meeting read as follows: "The State Association of Probate Judges of Michigan views with grave concern the present overcrowded conditions which prevail in our state institutions. Our hospitals for the care of the insane are greatly overcrowded. Conditions at the Pontiac State hospital are so acute and the waiting list at said institution is so large that in many cases patients cannot be received for the period of approximately one year after their commitment. The condition at the Kalamazoo State hospital is rapidly becoming worse as that institution is confronted with a waiting list making it impossible for them to care for patients as promptly as their condition requires. The situation at the Newberry State hospital and the Traverse City State hospital while not so acute as at other hospitals, requires immediate attention in view of the overcrowded condition which exists at both of these places."

Epileptics Home Crowded, The Michigan Farm Colony for Epileptics is likewise confronted with a large waiting list so that it is impossible to obtain the admission of patients there for upwards of one year after their admission. The Michigan State Public school at Coldwater is crowded to capacity and is likewise confronted with a large waiting list with the result that the counties of the state are required to make temporary arrangements for the state wards committed to Coldwater in their respective counties. "Conditions at the Girls Training school at Adrian and at the Boys Vocational school at Lansing are so acute that an additional expenditure at each of these institutions if the efficiency of these schools is to be maintained. "In view of their overcrowded condition, however, we feel that these two schools are functioning exceptionally well in meeting the demands made upon them."

No Jury Called at September Term of Schoolcraft Court

There will be no jury called for the September term of Schoolcraft county circuit court which opened Monday. All cases requiring jury trials were otherwise disposed of at the opening session, and all members of the petty jury list have been notified that they need not report for service at this term. There have been no jury trials in circuit court here for nearly two years.

Circuit Judge Herbert W. Runnels and Court Stenographer John A. Franck arrived from the Soo Monday for the local court term. After going over the calendar with attorneys Monday morning, it was found that only one or two cases were scheduled for hearing, and the term was expected to be an unusually short one. A new criminal case added to the calendar was that of the people versus Alma Mitchell, charged with concealment of the body of a child born out of wedlock. There will be no trial in this case during the present term, however.

Wire Fence to be Erected at Falls To Protect Deer

Under the direction of conservation officers, a high wire netting fence has been constructed at Mine's Fall as a means of keeping deer from being dashed to death over the 60 foot cliff.

Reports were received by wardens of deer being found dead at the foot of the falls, which is east of Manistique, not far from the pictured rocks road. It was believed that deer came to the spot when chased and jumped off the cliff only when cornered.

The new fence, which is 800 feet long and seven to eight feet high, was placed across the entire high point, and will prevent access to the dangerous drop.

CAR DAMAGED IN SMASH-UP

Gladstone and Soo People Have Narrow Escape From Injury

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Collins of this city and Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Cottle of Pickford, Mich., narrowly escaped serious injury when their car was hit by a Vulcan driver, two miles this side of Vulcan Saturday night.

The force of the crash sent the car sideways off the road, only the heavy steel cable guard holding it from tumbling down a steep embankment into the water below.

In the car were Mr. and Mrs. Collins and their children and Mr. and Mrs. Cottle. None of them was hurt, aside from being shaken up and the driver of the Vulcan car was uninjured.

The Cottle car was following behind a car driven by Cleve Moore, in which his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Moore, of this city, Mrs. Dewer of Pickford, and Miss Wittington of Muskego, Canada, cousins of Mrs. Moore, and Mrs. J. C. Saxe of Sault Ste. Marie, Mrs. Moore's sister, were riding.

Members of the two parties were returning from Iron Mountain where they had spent the day.

The Vulcan driver, who said that he was blinded by lights from a truck behind the car he hit, cleared the Moore car without difficulty but crashed into the Cottle car, hitting the left front wheel, smashing it and crumpling the fender.

Responsibility for the accident was assumed by the Vulcan man, who took care of the damages. The car was repaired and Mr. and Mrs. Cottle and the members of their party were able to proceed on their way Monday.

Airmen Pleas With Blaney Field

KEILMEN AT CRYSTAL FALLS

Gladstone high school will open its football season Saturday away from home, the Keilmens meet the Crystal Falls eleven at Crystal Falls.

The men making the trip will be announced later in the week.

Little prediction as to the outcome of the game is being made in football circles. Crystal Falls' strength is unknown and the Keilmens, with a practically new backfield, are as yet untried.

The opener is, however, expected to show up the weak spots of the team and it will be watched with plenty of interest.

The line from tackle to tackle, with all veterans back, should be strong. Coach Keil said yesterday. The two ends are green however, and the whole backfield with the exception of Liberty is inexperienced.

Beach, tackle of last year, has been placed at fullback, and with size and plenty of speed, he is coming well.

The loss of Jim Rouman, quarterback, who fractured an arm in practice, is a drawback that is being keenly felt.

"It is hard to make any predictions this early in the season," Coach Keil said yesterday, "but if the new men round out and develop Gladstone will have a good chance."

WILSON NEWS

The first meeting of the Wilson school will be held Wednesday evening, September 26, and all parents are urged to attend. Many of our rural school problems could be solved if we could only get the home co-operation, declared a member of the school board. The best way to do this is through this well-known organization. Some of the problems discussed at these meetings are the study of child care and training, plans to provide recreation for children, both in and out of the school room, better school equipment, such as playground opportunities and better lighting and heating systems. These are only a few of the problems that parents must co-operate with the teacher in order to promote school and home welfare. The parents and teachers are our greatest problems.

What the parent is in the home, even more that must the teacher be in the school room, where a large part of the working hours of the children will be spent during many months of the year. In choosing a teacher fit for this great and noble work, the parents must become acquainted with the teachers of their school and co-operate with them, in order to get the instructor that has in addition to a degree, a knowledge of men and women, of life and what it means, of service and the joy that comes with it.

The future of our race marches forward on the feet of little children. Parents, let us all be present at the first Parent-Teacher meeting September 26.

VAUDEVILLE IS WELL ATTENDED

St. Joseph Students Present Five Act Show Sunday and Monday

The five-act vaudeville show presented by the St. Joseph Dramatic Players in St. Joseph's auditorium on Sunday and Monday evenings was a great success.

The first act consisted of two Dutch grocermen. These parts were well acted by the two well-known star comedians, Frank Hirm and William Petry.

The three Delouahary brothers with their sister, Evelyn, furnished twenty minutes of musical diversion. Patrick, the oldest brother, and leader of the troupe, took very well in his dual playing of the mouth-harp and the guitar.

The pupils of the freshman and sophomore classes offered the third act entitled, "Wanted: a Cook."

Although their act was not as humorous perhaps as some of the others on the program, nevertheless they played their parts very well. The following comprised the cast: Fern Stacy, Florence O'Donnell, Florence Steinmetz, Lucille Lantz, Alta Brotherton, Catherine Choletts, Stanley Finnegan and Edmund Hengesch.

The scream of the program was furnished by the trio consisting of George Hirm, Frank Hirm and William Petry. Frank Hirm took the role of the street-faker and played the part to perfection.

The last and final act was called "Fun in Country Store." Into the country store breezed a city salesman, patronizing the natives and looking on with a derisive grin while they rehearsed in rube fashion for a "home-talent" show.

Bell Engineer Describes Some of Company's Activities

Modern telephone systems, their large-scale operations they perform and the recent improvements they have made in their service and their methods, formed the basis of an intensely interesting address by H. Westervelt, transmission and protection engineer of the Michigan Bell Company, at yesterday's meeting of the Kiwanis club.

"It was the dream of Dr. Alexander Graham Bell when the first telephone instrument was placed in service 52 years ago that someday all America would have this means of communication at its command. In this half-century telephony has far surpassed the dream of Dr. Bell. Telephoning from one point in the United States to another is not only possible but easy. Records show that, last year, but two-and-one-half minutes were consumed in completing the average city-to-city call. And in addition to that, we are talking to Mr. Westervelt described, in detail, the developments in cables, in routing cross-continental calls, in the use of gas to locate troubles, in the use of the "carrier system" which makes it possible for a single pair of wires to carry several conversations at one time, and in the extensive wire "hookup" which makes the present-day elaborate system of radio broadcasting possible. His description of the "telephoto" device for transmitting pictures by wire, and some of its commercial uses, was especially interesting to his audience. Mr. Adolph Sarasin SAYS DRECO MADE BIG IMPROVEMENT IN TWO WEEKS. Local Timberman Had Been Complaining for 5 Years When He Started on New Remedy. Judging from the number of local people who have already visited the Dreco Expert at the Drug Dept. of the Fair Store, and are now taking Dreco it seems that this grand remedy will soon be as popular here as in other cities where thousands of bottles are sold and the best citizens openly praise it through the press. As an instance of Dreco's great value to rundown folks read the following experience related by Mr. Adolph Sarasin, the well-known timberman who resides at 309 North Tenth street, this city. He says: "For five years I have been complaining of various ailments which caused me a great amount of suffering. Although my appetite was very small I used to suffer continually with a sour, acid, gassy stomach. My back ached, at times spots would dance before my eyes and I'd get very dizzy. I always had a bad taste in my mouth and an offensive breath upon getting up in the morning and headaches troubled me a lot. "I've only taken Dreco for two weeks but I can already notice a big improvement. My appetite is now good and the attacks of dizziness have entirely disappeared. All of my other complaints have also been greatly relieved and I feel sure that when I finish the full treatment of Dreco I will once more enjoy perfect health." The Dreco Man is now at the Drug Dept. of the Fair Store, where he is daily explaining the merits of Dreco to numerous local people and presenting everyone who is interested with a valuable health booklet free.—Ad.
