

SUCCESSOR TO PRES. CALLES PICKED

HOOVER SURE TO CARRY HIS NATIVE STATE

FARM "REVOLT" IS NOT SERIOUS FACTOR

BY DAVID LAWRENCE. (Copyright 1928, by the Escanaba Press) Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 25.—When they talk of "at least 100,000 for Hoover" in Iowa, it means that the state is safe for the Republican nominee but that the final vote will show a reduction over the Coolidge or Harding majorities.

The consensus is that Hoover will carry his native state but some very interesting things are happening which tend to make the situation worth studying.

First of all, there are signs of an economic recovery here which does not appear consistent with the farm relief clamor heard from the middle west in the last few years.

This statement doubtless will be disputed by those who are vehemently registering their protest in voting for Governor Smith but the way the farmers have accepted Hooverian after all the fervor of their support of Lowden indicates that either the farm issue was much exaggerated or that party loyalty is far more important than the pocketbook.

Some of the Hoover supporters who think Mr. Wallace is at heart for Smith think it is somewhat perilous to be advising farmers to vote for Smith for any reason as their tendencies to plant protest votes might possibly be as uncontrolled as their planting of corn and a surplus might ensue which might include the electoral vote and there would be no way to equalize the difference on election night.

The farm revolt in Iowa has often been described as having been largely influenced by the rival viewpoints of its big farm weeklies and it should be borne in mind that the "Iowa Homestead" edited by Dante Pierce, is strong for Hoover and has fought the McNary-Haugen bill which was sponsored by "Wallace's Farmer." There is a bit of gossip afloat that Mr. Hoover might, if elected, make Dante Pierce secretary of agriculture, thus completing the circle of Iowa farm papers, for it will be remembered that President Wilson picked Ed Meredith, editor of "Successful Farmer" and President Harding chose Mr. Wallace.

Brookhart is Active. Senator Brookhart is doing yeoman work for Herbert Hoover and he is conducting a fearless kind of campaign. Some of the bankers back at Wall Street may be a little dazed by the peculiar alliance of this campaign, but nothing has proved more exciting in the farm belt than the bold defense of the Hoover record made by radical Brookhart. The Republican nominee is wholly acceptable to the senator from Iowa who in a recent speech let it be known that Mr. Hoover wasn't at all opposed to giving the McNary-Haugen bill a trial. The Des Moines Register-Tribune which is supporting Hoover, is considerably impressed by the Brookhart speech and reters editorially to it thus:

"One of the Senator's statements was exceedingly important, the one in which he stated that Hoover had sent him to the President to get him to sign the McNary-Haugen bill or allow the bill to become a law without the president's signature in order that the bill could go to the Supreme court for a ruling on the equalization fee. The Senator said directly and positively that Hoover did not encourage the veto of the McNary-Haugen bill."

Basic Sentiment Dry. So in Iowa, Mr. Hoover is being exhibited as the friend of McNary-Haugenism and the audi-

FLOOD WATERS ARE DROPPING

Disposal of Bodies Biggest Task in Storm District

West Palm Beach, Fla., Sept. 25.—(AP)—Flood waters in the hurricane devastated Lake Okechobee area were reported gradually receding today despite recent heavy rains, making the job of transporting relief to the district less difficult.

Aside from the pressing necessity of furnishing food for the hungry refugees in the interior and shelter to protect them from the rain, the greatest task faced by the relief workers remained the disposition of human and animal bodies.

Funeral fires were seen tonight in several parts of the Everglades as the workers went about their grim task forced upon them because of the impossibility of taking out any more bodies for burial and the necessity to dispose of them as a sanitary measure.

The death list grew into greater proportions than any had first imagined and the task of recovering bodies virtually swamped the personnel. Red Cross and military officials now admit that the exact toll of lives taken by the hurricane will never be known. They have been unable to keep an accurate record of all bodies discovered, it was said, and the record keepers themselves have been busy burying the dead.

700 Whites Dead. While Dr. E. D. Clawson, head of medical relief, declared the death toll would be in excess of 2,500, A. L. Schafer, representative here of the National Red Cross held to his estimate of 1,200 known dead. At the same time Howard W. Selby, chairman of the Palm Beach chapter, asserted the known dead at 2,200 on the basis of the survey made for him by O. C. Geiger, who went into the Everglades to make an investigation for that purpose. Governor John W. Martin after placing the estimate at 1,500, declared today in Jacksonville that it probably will reach 2,200 persons.

All official reports appeared to indicate that the white death list was around 700 persons but no one knows how many negroes were in the area when the storm came, as many laborers had just come to the section seeking employment.

Meanwhile with gradual evacuation of the National Guard units ordered of Adjutant General Vivian Collins, Governor Martin today heard the plea of a group of citizens of Lake Worth that conditions demanded additional troops be assigned there. The governor messaged the adjutant general to investigate and comply.

English Bishops Silent; Prayer Book is Rejected

London, Sept. 25.—(AP)—The bishops of the Church of England would make no statement tonight after their day of deliberations on the position of the church following the second rejection of the revised prayerbook by the House of Commons. Their meeting at Lambeth Palace will be continued tomorrow.

It is understood that there is a general desire to draw up rules which will form the basis for general instructions to the clergy throughout the land for the conduct of services pending final settlement of the controversy. There appears little likelihood of a proposal for another approach to parliament.

First Blast of Winter in State

Detroit, Sept. 25.—(AP)—The first gust of winter swept over the upper and lower Michigan peninsula today. Snow flurries and near freezing temperatures were reported from several parts of the state.

CANDIDATE HAS BUSY DAY; HEARS REPORTS

BY W. B. RAGSDALE (Associated Press Staff Writer) Washington, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Herbert Hoover had a busy day today, working for a while on his Elizabethton, Tenn., speech and receiving reports on the political situation in the middle-west. He also held his semi-weekly conference with newspaper correspondents, but would not disclose whether his campaign plans would be extended to include addresses in a number of cities to which he has been invited, including a recent invitation from St. Louis.

Gov. John Hammill of Iowa brought to the Republican presidential candidate a lengthy survey of conditions in the corn belt and Iowa in particular. The governor was accompanied by the Hoover headquarters by Dr. Hubert Work, chairman of the Republican national committee.

With Roy O. West, secretary of the interior department and former secretary of the national committee, Hoover also discussed the political situation in the middle-west. Plans for an extension of the campaign work in that section were considered.

Short Newspaper Talk. From Walter J. Kohler, Republican nominee for governor of Wisconsin, the presidential candidate received information on conditions in the Badger state. Kohler said afterwards that the Hoover-Curtis ticket had "a good chance" to carry the state, but said he would withhold a more positive prediction until after the forthcoming visit of the Democratic presidential candidate, Alfred E. Smith.

Hoover's press conference was one of the briefest on record. Making his way through the group of nearly half a hundred newspapermen in the semi-circular room at his headquarters, the candidate announced that he had nothing on his mind and said in response to questions that he was unable to help the correspondents with respect to a number of subjects with which they treated.

These included whether he is to extend his speaking tour; whether his Elizabethton speech will deal with water power; and if he is to speak in St. Louis on his way back to his California home to vote.

It was disclosed that the nominee has a very strong invitation from St. Louis, but his acceptance will depend upon the route of his homeward journey, whether it carries him to the north or to the south. Invitations also have been received from a number of other cities and these likewise are under consideration.

To View Pageant. During the day, Hoover put the final stamp of approval upon the schedule for his trip into the south early next month. Leaving here on his special train on the night of October 5, he will go direct to Elizabethton, where he will speak in the afternoon of the next day at the patriotic and industrial celebration which will be held at that time in that mountain town.

When his train reaches the Virginia-Tennessee line at Bristol, a stop will be made for a rest and refreshment. Before delivering his address at Elizabethton, he will be a guest at a luncheon and will review a historical pageant.

There Hoover will motor ten miles to Johnson City, where he will make a brief talk to the veterans.

FATHER LOSES DAMAGE SUIT

Judge Orders Dismissal of Case; Asked $200,000 for Loss of Baby

Detroit, Sept. 24.—(AP)—William C. Greatrex today lost his $200,000 suit against the Evangelical Deaconess hospital for the giving away of his infant son five years ago in an alleged interchange of babies at the institution.

Circuit Judge Dewitt H. Merrill threw the case out of court by sustaining a defense motion for dismissal on the grounds that the hospital is a charitable institution and therefore is not liable for the acts of its agents or servants.

The court held that while it was evident from facts that the case excited great sympathy for Greatrex, he could not legally obtain any redress from the hospital. He then dismissed the jury which heard the evidence last week.

To Seek New Trial. Greatrex had charged the hospital with negligence in giving his infant son to Alphonse Vlemmink, father of another child born in the hospital. Vlemmink subsequently disposed of the baby and no trace of it has ever been found. Vlemmink told authorities he gave the child, born to his daughter, so some passing motorists and did not ask their names or address.

Testimony was that the Greatrex baby was given to Vlemmink by Mrs. Parcell Vermeer, a nurse in the hospital, who she mistook Vlemmink for Greatrex. The tragic incident occurred while Greatrex was in Toronto, Ont., burying his wife, who died at the birth of the child.

Attorneys for Greatrex announced they would seek a new trial on the grounds that they have obtained additional evidence since the trial opened last week.

Women Discuss Politics of State Meeting

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 25.—(AP)—The politics of the annual convention of the Michigan State Federation of Women's Clubs furnished much of the interest of the gathering today. About 500 club women were in attendance.

Early gossip was that Mrs. Eben Mumford, of Lansing, first vice president and ranking officer for the presidency, may have open federation, an office now held by Mrs. Alfred Knapp, of Cass City. Women mentioned as possible candidates to oppose Mrs. Mumford are Mrs. C. L. Thompson, chairman of finance of the state organization, and Miss Marie Comstock, of Alpena, sister of William Comstock, Democratic nominee for governor.

Today's sessions were concerned with greetings and reports, followed by formal opening of the convention tonight. Mrs. John Sippel of Baltimore, president of the national Federation of Women's Clubs, spoke. The election will take place Thursday.

Borah Sees Farm Relief as Biggest Issue of Campaign

Kansas City, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Senator William E. Borah, ardent supporter of the candidacy of Herbert Hoover for the presidency, tonight said the South, stronghold of the Democratic party, is quivering over the prohibition issue.

HEART ATTACK IS FATAL TO M. J. FILLION

PROMINENT LOCAL BUSINESSMAN DIES SUDDENLY

Mathias J. Fillion, age 55, senior member of the firm of Young & Fillion company, passed away suddenly at his home, 516 South Eleventh street, Tuesday afternoon at 5:45 o'clock following a heart attack. Last spring Mr. Fillion suffered an attack of influenza and his life was despaired of for several days. He recovered but neuritis developed and his health has been falling since that time. He was taken ill Monday and late Tuesday afternoon was stricken with a heart attack. A physician was called, and he passed away shortly after.

Mathias Fillion, or Matt as he was more familiarly known, was born at Wendover, Province of Ontario, Canada, December 15, 1873. He came to this city when a young man and after working here for some time went to Big Rapids, Mich., where he successfully completed a commercial course, at Ferris Institute. Returning to this city he entered the employ of the late C. R. Williams, who conducted a shoe store here at the time and later went to work for Rathfon & Young, clothing store. Twenty-five years ago Mr. Fillion and A. J. Young opened a store which has since been known as Young & Fillion Co. Twelve years ago Mr. Fillion bought Mr. Young's interest and has conducted the business continuously since then with his sons who are members of the firm.

Active in Organizations. Matt Fillion was married to Miss Emma Salvati May 4, 1897, who survives him. There are four sons, Victor H., Donald H., Arthur J., and Paul F. Fillion of this city. One grandchild and two brothers, Hector Fillion, city, Dorcas Fillion, Kingsford, Mich., Mrs. Maude Mallette, Saskatoon, Sask., and Mrs. Anna King of Arkansas, Wis.

Mr. Fillion was active in fraternal and civic affairs. He has held the office of state president of the United French Canadian societies, state chief ranger of the Catholic Order of Foresters, past grand knight local council No. 640, Knights of Columbus, secretary of the Society of Artisans. He was a trustee of St. Anne's church for many years, was state secretary of the Institut Jacques Cartier and a member of the Holy Name society, Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis club, and B. P. O. E. He was one of the oldest Fourth Degree K. of C. members.

Funeral Probably Friday. The body was taken to the Allou Funeral Home but no definite funeral arrangements have been made pending word from relatives. It is probable that the funeral services will be held Friday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Anne's church.

Members of the Catholic organizations to which Mr. Fillion belonged will assemble at the home to recite the rosary probably Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The passing of Matt Fillion was a severe shock to members of his family and a wide circle of friends in this city.

Dry Law Charge Fourth Felony; Gets Life Term

Ionia, Mich., Sept. 25.—(AP)—The habitual criminal section of the state's new criminal code was invoked here today to send Alfred Noyes, 54 to prison under a life sentence when he pleaded guilty to a liquor law violation.

It was the second time since adoption of the new code that a man has been given a life sentence in Michigan for violating the liquor law. Noyes was sentenced by Circuit Judge R. A. Hawley. Noyes had been arrested in a recent raid on his home in which liquor was found. It was his past that rose to smite him. Cold records showed that Noyes had been sentenced in 1896 from Clinton county for grand larceny; again from Eaton county in 1902 for burglary and a third time from Eaton county in 1905 for burglary.

Under the new criminal code, a fourth felony is punishable by a life imprisonment.

Charge Man With Death of Woman

Spokane, Wash., Sept. 25.—(AP)—Archie F. Mook tonight was formally charged with having defamed Mrs. Katharine Clark of Boston, Mass., to Spokane under promise of marriage and with slaying her with a hatchet for her money.

Asks Investigation of Kidnapings in Detroit

Detroit, Sept. 25.—(AP)—A sweeping grand jury investigation into recent kidnapings in Detroit was suggested today by James Spritt, superintendent of police, as a means of bringing to light information concerning the abductions. Spritt said he would hold conferences with other officials to determine what action, if any, will be taken. The immediate cause for such an investigation, Spritt said, is the abduction last week of Max Ruben, business agent of the motion picture operator's union, and the kidnaping two weeks ago of Max Mettelson, Detroit malt and hops dealer. Ruben was released Sunday unharmed. Mettelson, police said, was held until $14,500 ransom was paid by his brother.

Both Mettelson and Ruben and other witnesses in their cases have refused, according to police, to reveal evidence which might lead to apprehension of the kidnapers. Spritt proposes that the victims and witnesses in all recent kidnapings be required to appear before a grand jury and compelled to reveal information they are withholding.

CORRUPTION NO SOUND ARGUMENT IN ANY CAMPAIGN

New York, Sept. 25.—All spoke in Montana on oil corruption. That subject can get more applause and less votes from an audience than any subject ever invented during our time. Jim Reed has made the subject so entertaining that the audience, instead of going out and voting against it, starts practicing it. Senator Walsh adopted it as a motto and eliminated himself from the race. It was an issue in 1924 and Calvin won by nine million. Corruption and golf is two things we may just as well make up our minds to take up, for they are both going to be with us.

Yours, WILL ROGERS.

WORK EXPLAINS ABOUT WOMAN

Says Mrs. Willebrandt Is Free Lance Campaign Speaker

Washington, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Under a bombardment of questions today at Hoover general headquarters, Dr. Hubert Work, chairman of the Republican national committee, said Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney general, sometimes speaks under committee auspices and sometimes "on her own."

Asked specifically whether her addresses to Methodist Episcopal ministers at Springfield and Lorain, Ohio, recently were made under committee arrangements, the chairman said he did not know, referring inquiries to Representative Walter Newton, of Minnesota, chairman of the national speakers' bureau, who is in Chicago.

As Dr. Work descended the stairway leading to the offices of the Republican presidential candidate, he was confronted by a dozen correspondents. "What's the news today?" he inquired. "Mrs. Willebrandt; she's always news; what's her status?" countered one of the reporters. "Speeches Not Read." "I don't know," Dr. Work replied. "She's a department of justice official, you know that. She is a sort of free lance. Sometimes she goes out on her own and sometimes the committee sends her out."

"Do you approve of all of her speeches?" the chairman was asked. "Those she has made or those she is to make?" Work inquired. "Those she has made." "I have not read them." "You will find them interesting reading when you get around to them," said one of the interviewers. "That will have to be after the campaign," the chairman said, terminating the interview.

Edison Pays Visit To Ford at Detroit

Detroit, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Thomas A. Edison today returned to Detroit, the scene of his early struggles and adventures, to visit his friend, Henry Ford. Edison made the journey to Detroit in Ford's private car and was joined by the latter at the Michigan Central station. Ford boarded the car and it was moved to Dearborn, near the Ford experimental laboratories, and the site of Ford's model early American village, one of the features of which is to be the "Edison museum." The museum is to house many of the original of Edison's inventions, and will give a complete picture of what the electrical wizard has contributed to mankind.

Edison is to assist in the ceremonies connected with the starting of actual building operations on the museum, some time during his visit here.

EMILIO GIL IS ELECTED BY CONGRESS

WILL SERVE AS MEXICAN EXECUTIVE UNTIL 1930

Mexico City, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Emilio Protes Gil tonight was elected provisional president of Mexico by a joint session of the senate and chamber of deputies. Congress ordered that a popular presidential election be held on the third Sunday of November, 1929. The regular president then elected will succeed Protes Gil on Feb. 5, 1930.

He received 377 votes with none opposed. He will take office on Dec. 1, on the expiration of the term of President Calles in place of Gen. Alvaro Obregon, the regularly elected president, who was assassinated last July. In Calles' Cabinet After casting its vote, congress gave prolonged cheers for Calles, Obregon and Protes Gil. Protes Gil, for the past few months secretary of the interior in the cabinet of President Calles, has expressed his intention of continuing the policies of his chief, including the attitude taken toward the religious controversy.

The session of congress was tranquil and orderly throughout. Protes Gil will be one of the few presidents Mexico has ever had of exclusively civilian career, being devoid of an active military experience. Most of the rulers of Mexico at one time or other were fighting men, either in the regular army or some revolutionary force. Protes Gil's only connection with the army has been an attorney in the legal section of the war department.

Until selected by President Calles for his cabinet he had been governor of Tamaulipas, where he had established partial prohibition, suppressed open gambling, and established the first state-supported industrial school in Mexico for indigent children. He is known as a friend of the United States. His election has been a foregone conclusion as the result of agreements by the majority groups of each chamber. The galleries were only partly filled during the brief business-like session. A few members of the diplomatic corps were present but United States Ambassador Morrow was not among them.

No Negative Ballots. Protes Gil was working at his desk in the department of interior while congress was selecting him to head the republic. Within a few days he will be formally notified of his election by a congressional committee.

The voting began at 7:15 p. m. Two large silver vases were placed on the speaker's rostrum and the deputies and senators walked up one by one and deposited their secret ballots in them.

The official ballots were slips of paper in the Mexican national colors with only one name—Protes Gil—printed on them. Any member who desired to vote against him might scratch the name and write another. No one did. Most members apparently voted without looking to see whether there was any other name than Protes Gil.

Although Protes Gil and Ambassador Morrow have not met the former has expressed the desire to maintain the same friendly relations with the American ambassador as has President Calles. He has told friends that he admires Mr. Morrow very greatly.

The present plan is that Protes Gil will hold his cabinet portfolio until shortly before his inauguration as president. He has indicated that he will ask his fellow cabinet members to continue in office during his term.

Escanaban, War Veteran, Dead; Search for Kin

The following telegram was received yesterday, from American Legion officers in Chicago, by Gerald Cleary, welfare officer of Cloverland Post:

"Can you identify Carl Ruthenberg or Carl Whitteberg? Folks supposed to live in your city. Died here yesterday." Mr. Cleary has been unable to find any trace here of relatives of the ex-soldier. Anyone who can furnish the information is asked to get in touch with Mr. Cleary. Telephone Escanaba, 1534.

Federal Man to Remain at Field

Lansing, Sept. 25.—(AP)—A federal man will remain at the Muskegon oil fields until a state inspector has been employed. H. A. Smith, state geologist, said today. Under the direction of the federal agent fire regulations will be enforced and promiscuous drilling will be halted. Smith expects to go over the rules over fire prevention with operators at the field Wednesday.

BRUCE STICKS BY HIS GUNS

Senator Reiterates Statement That Curtis Had Whisky in Pocket

Baltimore, Sept. 25.—(P)—Senator William Cabell Bruce tonight issued a statement in which he reiterated his charge that Senator Charles Curtis, Republican vice-presidential candidate, had whisky in his pocket at the Pimlico race track here last year, and furnished a written statement from a local attorney to corroborate his charge. The attorney's statement said he had had a drink from a bottle which the senator produced from his pocket.

The attorney, James A. McGrath, of a Baltimore law firm, declared in his statement that he, in company with Robert B. Ennis, another local attorney, and John Gray, of Brooklyn, N. Y., had met the senator at the track on the closing day of the meeting in November, 1923. It said that Senator Curtis asked the three of them to join him in a drink, and that they went into a bar at the track. There, he said, after procuring four glasses from the bartender, Senator Curtis produced the bottle of O. F. C. whisky from his pocket and furnished the drinks.

Curtis denies charge. Afterward, he said, the senator returned the bottle to his pocket. Senator Bruce in his statement said that the charge he made in his address at Westminster, Md., Saturday night, had originated with McGrath. He said that he had met the attorney on the street about the time of the Republican national convention in Kansas City and that he had been told the story of the race track meeting.

Today, he said, following Senator Curtis' denial of the alleged "bottle of whisky in his pocket," Mr. McGrath had reduced the story to writing and presented it to him.

Senator Bruce's statement made no further reference to the part in his address in which he repeated the story that Herbert Hoover had a drink with Clarence Darrow Chicago criminal attorney.

Denies charge. Omaha, Neb. Sept. 25.—(P)—Senator Curtis, the Republican vice-presidential nominee, denied in blunt language the statement issued by Senator Bruce, Democrat, of Maryland, quoting a statement from James A. McGrath, of Baltimore, that he (McGrath) had been offered a drink of whiskey by Curtis.

"I dislike to say anything harsh about a man," Senator Curtis declared, "but it is this Mr. McGrath issued that statement about me he is a willful, malicious and deliberate liar."

"I never offered this Mr. McGrath or any other person any whisky at Pimlico race track or at any other place."

"I am surprised Senator Bruce would peddle such slander."

R. F. Outcault Cartoonist, Dies

Flushing, N. Y. Sept. 25.—(P)—Richard F. Outcault, cartoonist and creator of "The Yellow Kid," "Buster Brown" and other newspaper comics, died at his home here today. He was 65 years old.

He was born in Lancaster, Ohio, and often was called the father of the modern newspaper comic supplement. In 1895 he launched "Hogan's Alley," the first full-page colored comic ever published. He retired ten years ago.

Surviving are his widow, a son Richard F. Outcault, Jr., of Chicago, and a daughter.

Jap Women Handle Husbands With Care

Tokyo (P)—A woman's society of Tokyo, which for some time has been studying ways and means of keeping peace in the family, has compiled a number of rules for wives. If these rules are followed, it is claimed, Japanese husbands can always be kept in good humor and general marital tranquility maintained.

Always see that the rooms of your home are clean and in good order before your husband returns from his day's work.

Keep yourself clean and neat. Make yourself look as young as possible and always meet your husband at the door with a smile. Change your menus daily, but always be sure and serve such dishes as you know your husband likes.

Women Seeking Amendment to Constitution

New York, Sept. 25.—(P)—The effort of Madame Ganna Walska, opera singer and wife of Harold F. McCormick of Chicago, to bring $2,500,000 worth of jewels and clothing into the United States without paying duty on the ground that she is a resident of France, will stimulate American women to a step forward in feminine independence, Mrs. Clarence Smith, chairman of the national council of the Women's Party, said today.

That step will be a renewed effort to obtain a constitutional amendment giving married women the legal right to maintain separate domiciles from their husbands for voting, office-holding, and taxation.

"For two years the woman's party has been working to secure just such an amendment, giving women the right to separate legal domiciles," said Mrs. Smith. "It is unjust that woman's legal home should be that of her husband—regardless of where she lives. I believe Madame Walska's difficulty will stimulate women to a realization of their need of such an amendment and their effort to secure it. The argument that it would result in breaking up the home is ridiculous, for a home which would not grant such a legal right to woman would not exist long in any event."

Members of the Lucy Stone League which advocates a married woman's use of her maiden name, added their belief to the conviction. "Madame Walska has made a vigorous protest against a condition which has long restricted women," Miss Ruth Hale said.

"The modern married woman should unquestionably have the right to maintain a separate residence from her husband if she so desires."

Should Rush Peace Moves

League Assembly Adopts Resolution; Plan Meeting in 1929

Geneva, Sept. 25.—(P)—Further steps toward disarmament must be accomplished with a minimum delay said a resolution adopted by the assembly of the League of Nations today. The solemn pronouncement urged the great naval powers to find solutions, in a spirit of conciliation and international solidarity, for the difficulties which they have encountered.

The resolution, which was framed by the disarmament commission of the league, called for the convocation of the preparatory disarmament commission by the beginning of 1929.

Joseph Paul-Boncour, French delegate, warned the assembly that if this commission failed to draw up an acceptable draft convention at that time, the result would be a catastrophe to league prestige and hopes.

"The league would be as a goddess despoiled of her crown," was the way he phrased the idea.

Kellogg Pact Incomplete

A "general act" designed to give force to the Kellogg Pact for the renunciation of war, was submitted by Nicholas Politis, noted Greek jurist. The act would provide pacific settlement of all disputes by pledging its signatories to use conciliation, judicial procedure or arbitration in accordance with the needs of each case. All states would be invited to subscribe to this instrument.

M. Politis told the assembly that the Kellogg Pact was an incomplete instrument in that it failed to provide for arbitration of mutual assistance among its signatories.

His "general act" was accompanied by model treaties of conciliation, arbitration, non-aggression and mutual assistance. All states were urged to negotiate and sign agreements of this nature.

Discussion of the measure probably will be resumed tomorrow. It is expected that the assembly will adjourn after that session.

Heavy Losses in Western Forests By Costly Fires

San Francisco, Sept. 25.—(P)—Hungry fires still licked at California's timber heritage today. During the last five days the United States forest service has spent $150,000 fighting timber and brush fires on government land and during that time at least 150,000 acres have been burned over, forestry officials here said.

The ridge route fire between Bakersfield and Los Angeles made a twenty mile run toward Liebre Gulch last night and fire fighters were unable to gain control of it today.

Two new outbreaks were reported in the San Bernardino forest. The first on Mill Creek east of Redlands, was started yesterday evening by a smoker. The fire, burning over 600 acres of very rough country was fought by a crew of 150 men. The second blaze also started by a smoker, originated in Lone Pine Canyon west of Cajon Pass and today was burning toward the head of Lytle Creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Winchester and family have removed from Boney Falls to Peshigo, Wis. Mr. Winchester was a station operator at the Escanaba Paper company's power plant.

DARING ARMY PILOT KILLED

Second of "Three Musketeers" Meets Death in Plane Crash

San Diego, Cal. Sept. 25.—(P)—Death struck into the ranks of the "three musketeers" of the army air service again today and wrote final to the brilliant career of Lieut. W. L. Cornelius, the second of the daring trio of army pilots to be killed within two weeks.

Lieut. Cornelius fell to his death when his plane locked wings in mid-air with another craft piloted by Lieut. Roger L. Williams of Spokane, Wash., at Rockwell field here. The pilots were flying in battle formation.

Witnesses said Lieut. Cornelius leaped from his disabled plane but his parachute caught in the instrument board and he crashed to earth with two airmen who locked together. Williams saved his life with a parachute jump and escaped with cuts and minor bruises.

The collision came when the planes were executing a "Lobbery circle" at an altitude of about 1200 feet.

Army authorities said an official investigation of the accident would be made.

Lone Survivor Remains

Lieut. J. J. Williams, leader of the little band of airmen whose dare-devil exploits and comradeship made them modern prototypes of the "three musketeers" of fiction, was killed only two weeks ago while heading his fellows in thrilling evolutions at the national air races at Los Angeles.

Lieut. Irving A. Woodring is the lone survivor of the trio who, like the characters of the Dumas, lived, ate and courted death together—one for all, and all for one.

Following Williams' death at Los Angeles, Cornelius and Woodring carried on and Col. Charles A. Lindbergh took their lead in the trans-Atlantic race and his flight comrades thrilled the crowds with loops and other stunts while flying in formation in their speed planes.

The "musketeers" were drawn from the cream of the army's pursuit pilots and were rivalled in their daring only by another trio of the air, the navy's three "Sea Hawks."

Formerly at Selfridge

Cornelius was a native of Oklahoma and a graduate of the University of Oklahoma, with A. B. and B. S. degrees. He was 28. His parents live at Antlers, Okla.

The flyer was a member of the Missouri Valley conference championship baseball team of the university in 1924 and played professional baseball with the Guthrie team of the now defunct Oklahoma State League, before entering the army air service at Kelly field, San Antonio, Texas.

Woodring, the surviving member of the "musketeers" also is an Oklahoman. His home is at Enid. The trio were attached to the first pursuit squadron at Selfridge field, Mich., before being transferred to the 95th pursuit squadron at Rockwell field.

Safety Director Threatening Letter Ignored by Officer

Cleveland, Sept. 25.—(P)—Safety Director Edwin B. Barry today ignored a letter he received threatening his life unless Paul Jaworski, noted bandit, was returned from the county jail to the city hospital within twenty-four hours. "It's bunk and means nothing to me," he said.

The letter, signed the "flat-head gang," a band of outlaws headed by Jaworski, was crudely written and contained misspelled words. It demanded Jaworski's return to the hospital where he could be under the care of "the best of doctors."

Issue Ruling on Closing of Polls

Lansing, Sept. 25.—(P)—Persons not actually inside the bar of polling places when the hour for closing the polls arrives are legally barred from voting, the attorney general ruled today. His opinion said that voters whose names had been called, who had been handed ballots or otherwise were actually "in the machinery" of voting were entitled to cast ballots after closing time. All others, such as those standing in line or simply inside the door of the polling place have no legal rights. He pointed out, however, that courts have held that if tardy ballots are accepted and they do not materially alter the result, they would not invalidate the election.

The ruling was requested by Charles A. Watt, assistant county attorney of Grand Rapids, who wrote that in the last primary, a number of persons were denied ballots after closing time.

ences have a way of believing that Senator Brookhart states facts when he makes speeches. And the Democratic campaigners who are supposed to have large sums to stir up the farm protest vote apparently are not much in evidence.

The Smith strength is surprising, however, in some farm communities where normally a Democrat is a scarce individual. The Smith support comes from the cities where the religious and wet issues give a nucleus always of Smith votes. Here and there are wet spots in Iowa reminiscent of bygone days. But the basic sentiment is dry and the woman vote will be largely influenced by the desire to keep the eighteenth amendment and Volstead law unimpaired.

ans of all wars domiciled in the Johnson city soldiers home, which is one of the largest in the country. He then will go direct to his train for the return trip to Washington, arriving here early Sunday morning.

This will be his last journey away from Washington until the middle of October when he will invade the home town of his Democratic opponent, speaking at Carnegie Hall, on the night of October 17. Plans for this trip still are in the making and it may be that the original program will be extended somewhat.

Governor Hammill said after his visit with the nominee that the people of his state had confidence that Hoover would be able to solve the problem of farm relief. Representative Cyrenus Cole of Iowa also accompanied the governor to the headquarters.

"I was prepared to have gone all the way in the agricultural program for relief, believing that it is a national problem and one in which the whole nation should be interested in solving," Hammill said.

Optimistic on Colorado

"I feel that what about it now, but I agree with Mr. Hoover that there are a half a dozen different things that contribute to the problem and that it can be solved by the application of sound economics. I believe that the people of Iowa feel that Hoover will have a program and a policy that will solve the problem and that there will be ways and means of settling it without the McNary-Haugen bill."

An optimistic view of the situation in Colorado was presented the candidate by Clarence Hamlin, national committeeman for that state. He expressed satisfaction over the outlook for the Republicans and said he could not see that Gov. Smith's speech at Denver could have made any difference in his state since he dealt with a subject in which the people are not directly interested.

"The people of Colorado are concerned only in keeping their share of the waters of the Colorado river," he added, "and are not particularly interested in what becomes of the residue after it leaves the state."

Spencer Wins Purse In Grand Circuit at Lexington, Ky.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 25.—(P)—Spencer, carrying the colors of David M. Look and a product of his Castleton farm at Lexington, won the $14,000 Kentucky Futurity for the three-year-old trotters, feature of the Grand Circuit race here this afternoon. He was driven by W. H. Leese of New York. Etta Volo, owned by J. D. Roquemore, Montgomery, Ala., and driven by Will Dickerson, was second each heat and dangerously close in the second heat but Spencer was best and could not be denied the victory.

The Cumberland stake for 2:08 pacers was a desperate battle between Winniepeg and Highland Scott after the third starter, Louis Direct, was distanced the first heat. The son of Peter Scott appeared to have the race won at the conclusion of the second heat but Winniepeg came back the final heat. It was a sprinting match for the last quarters which were stepped in 28, 29 and 28½ seconds, respectively.

Hollywood Dick had little difficulty in disposing of the 2:14 trotters while the 2:20 class for non-winners in the Grand Circuit went to the Fairmont, W. Va., horse the Tush, after losing the first heat to Peter Sloan.

SMITH ON WAY TO MINNEAPOLIS

Democratic Candidate Is Near End of Western Speaking Tour

BY PAUL F. HAUPERT (Associated Press Staff Writer)

Gov. Smith's Train Enroute to Minneapolis, Sept. 25.—(P)—Apparently satisfied with the reaction of his brand of campaigning, Gov. Smith was headed eastward tonight toward the twin cities of Minnesota, and Milwaukee, the last speech-making stops on his first stumping tour.

Behind the Democratic nominee, as he pierced deeper into the territory where LaFollette showed his greatest strength in the 1924 presidential race, were Helena, where last night he stayed the Republicans, including Herbert Hoover, on the corruption issue, and Butte, where he received a rousing reception during an hour layover this afternoon.

On Thursday night Gov. Smith will speak in St. Paul. While no definite announcement of his subject has been made, it is expected he will make a round-up address, touching on agriculture, the tariff and other issues of particular interest to the independent Republican element and farmers of the northwest.

To Attend Convention. At Milwaukee Saturday night indications are that he will talk on prohibition, a subject many an American voter has been waiting for him to discuss.

From Milwaukee the Democratic standard bearer will return to his home state, going direct to Rochester for the New York state Democratic convention next Monday and Tuesday. He will address that meeting and have a hand in the shaping up of the state ticket; then he will return to Albany for a few days rest before taking the road again.

It is likely that the governor will remain at the executive mansion in the New York capital over the week-end, resting and preparing for the series of speeches he will deliver during the last four weeks of the campaign.

His itinerary for the next stumping tour has not been announced, but it is probable that he will make speeches in Chicago, St. Louis, Cleveland, Indianapolis and perhaps several other cities in the middle-west; invade the border states of Kentucky and Tennessee and perhaps make one speech somewhere in the solid south.

Spoke Four Times. Toward the end of the campaign, the present plan is to have Gov. Smith concentrate on the east, probably speaking in Baltimore, Philadelphia, Newark, Boston and one or two other cities before winding up his drive for the presidency in his native city of New York.

Since he left Albany a week ago Sunday night, the Democratic nominee has traveled more than 3,000 miles and has delivered four speeches with widespread radio hookups. He was convinced that he has his Republican opposition on the defensive and is making no secret of his intention, as he puts Both Wheeler and Nevin expressed the opinion that Montana could not be carried for Smith without a hard fight. They emphasized that the state in national elections normally is Republican, but they felt that in the end Smith would have the upper hand.

Four electoral votes are at stake in Montana. In 1924 Coolidge carried the state, but failed to get a majority.

SPORTSMEN ASK BOND ISSUE

Separate Zone for Peninsula Proposed at Muniting Meeting

Muniting, Mich.—With 16 of its 27 affiliated clubs represented by a group of about 50 delegates, the Northern Michigan Sportsmen's association, holding its annual meeting here Monday, again adopted a resolution recommending a $10,000,000 state bond issue for financing conservation program including the establishment of game refuges. It was further recommended that administrative changes incidental to the maintenance of the state conservation department be paid from legislative appropriations or in some manner "other than almost entirely from license fees received by the hunters of the state."

Other resolutions adopted were: That the deer license law be amended so that $1.50 of license fee be immediately available for use in purchasing game refuges surrounded by public shooting grounds; that 75 cents of small game fee be made available for the same purpose; that the Shiras gun law be amended to make it mandatory for the conservation department to issue permits to carry guns in game areas during open seasons.

Among other recommendations carried in resolution were these: "We want a fair and intelligent system of taxation to promote reforestation and conservation of timbered areas covered by such tax to be available to the public under state regulation."

Favor Zone Plan
Endorse suggestion that state be separated into three conservation zones and that the upper peninsula be one zone.

Commend conservation commission for its comprehensive and effective forest fire protective program and pledge continued assistance.

That rod license law be amended to cover the taking of all fish and to include all persons 17 years of age and over.

U. P. Bass Hatchery
Establishment of black bass hatchery in the upper peninsula, calling attention to hundreds of lakes in the peninsula that are barren of game fish and urge immediate attention to the need of stocking such lakes.

That open season for bass in the upper peninsula be changed to begin July 15 instead of July 1.

That association be opposed to any change in the present trout season in the upper peninsula.

That the trout limit be 15 in one day and 15 in possession.

That, as a general rule, all large streams be open to fishing during open seasons and that all feeder streams be closed. The association commends the conservation commission for its cooperation in this direction.

That creel limit be made 25 pan fish as the limit for one day.

No Change in Deer Law.
That the present deer season be continued without change in killing restrictions. That no change be made in the rabbit season in the upper peninsula. That there be no increase in hunting or fishing licenses. That an immediate survey be undertaken as to the advisability of introducing the European Capercaille, blackcock and other game birds in the upper peninsula in order to relieve the strain on native stock.

Want Bear Protected.
That the open season for upland game birds in the upper peninsula be changed to begin on October 1 instead of October 25 and that the bag limit be fixed at three in one day and three in possession and 15 during the season.

That consideration be given to a tag system to be used in connection with the taking of game birds.

Favor continuance of protection of black bear in the upper peninsula with proper safeguards against depredations and that adequate compensation from license funds be given for damaged property.

Next Meet in Republic.
The association's meeting opened at 10 o'clock with a business session, followed by a noon luncheon in the Beach Inn at which State Senator H. J. Rush-ton, of Escanaba; Norman H. Hill, Sault Ste. Marie, member of conservation commission; R. W. Nebel, Alger county probate judge; Dr. John N. Lowe, of Marquette, biological advisor to conservation department, and F. W. Marble, of Gladstone, were the speakers.

The treasurer reported that the association had $1,500 on hand. Republic was voted as the place for the next annual meeting. The sessions in Muniting were presided over by Peter Trudell, Jr., of Negaunee, president of the association, who reported the addition of several new clubs to the organization's roster during the past year.

Champion Suffers Broken Collar Bone; Loses on Technical

Flint, Mich., Sept. 24—(AP)—Jimmy Goodrich of Buffalo, scored a technical knock-out over Sammy Mandell, lightweight champion, in the second round of a scheduled ten round non-title boxing contest here tonight. Mandell suffered a broken collar bone in the initial session and was unable to continue.

Articles of agreement for the fight, provided that Goodrich must weigh in over the lightweight limit of 135 pounds and as a result Mandell's title was not involved. Goodrich weighed in at 140 pounds.

The blow that caused the halting of the fight came early in the first round. Mandell countered with his left and Goodrich countered with a looping right that landed on the left collarbone.

Mandell finished the round pecking away feebly with his right, but was unable to respond to the bell for the second.

Dr. F. L. Tupper, physician of the state boxing commission was called into the ring and after an examination ordered the referee to stop the contest.

Was Former Champ
Dr. Tupper diagnosed the injury as fracture of the middle third of the left clavicle.

Referee Elmer McClelland, after ordering the bout halted, left the ring without rendering a verdict, but was recalled after the crowd of close of 20,000 fans roared its displeasure. McClelland then declared Goodrich winner on a technical knockout.

Mandell was removed to a local hotel where the injury was treated. He planned to leave tonight for his home in Rockford, Ill.

Goodrich succeeded Benny Leonard to the lightweight throne, and lost the title to Rocky Kansas. The latter was in turn defeated by Mandell.

The Buffalo veteran and Mandell fought once before. In this encounter, Mandell lost on foul, the only contest he has ever forfeited in that manner.

SWEETHEARTS

By Idah McGlone Gibson

happier with you than I have been at one time since I have grown up, and yet I know that when we talk of happiness, we talk of something we know very little about.

"No girl who is what men call beautiful, and who has to earn her living, reaches the age of twenty who does not know joy, pleasure, and sometimes bliss and ecstasy, and she may be happy for a little while at a time, but as for happiness, which means to be continuing to be happy, that is something we can imagine, but I do not believe we shall ever know it."

"Come, Lynn, I am really getting morbid. The more one thinks, the more one philosophizes, the more unhappy one is."

When the girls went away from Ralph Armitage he called his man and was put to bed where he lay sleepless for hours. Never, since his unfortunate marriage, had he ever considered anyone or anything except his own inclinations and himself before.

Always it was a game he had been playing. He had decided that when the girl in the case selected to play with him, she knew that she must win or lose. He never seemed to realize before that nature might stack the cards in the man's favor. It was woman's destiny to give, and man's to accept.

"Lynn is different," he said to himself, with a groan, as a phrase of the old jazz song rang through his mind: "I want to be happy, happy—happy—but I can't be happy unless you're happy, too."

Her words of the afternoon came back to him: "I am going to get the highest price." As though he were answering her, he said aloud:

"Well, I can give it to you. I can give you everything that you would want—except my name."

Another groan brought his man from the outside room, to turn him over in bed, and somewhat shocked at his drawn face he asked him if he should send for the doctor.

"He did not know when he dropped asleep, but when he awakened the sun was shining through his window, and the clock beside his bed showed him it was nearly noon.

He rang for his breakfast, and asked if the car had been sent for Miss Fenton.

"Not yet, Mr. Armitage. As you did not say anything about it last night, Wilson thought it best to await orders."

"Wilson at times is dumber than any man should be," Ralph said, irritably. "He ought to have known that I needed my mail the very first thing in the morning. Help me up. I'll go down to the office, instead of waiting until tomorrow."

Having made this decision, Ralph Armitage was very impatient, until he opened the door of the outside office and started through it to his own private room.

"Girls, here's Armi," whispered Emily Andrews, who always seemed to see everything that was going on.

COMMENTS ENCOURAGING.

EDITORIAL comments on the Upper Peninsula State Fair, by newspapers of this district, are decidedly favorable. All of them express the opinion that the fair was not only worth while this year but that its growth, in the years ahead, is certain.

The Ironwood Globe says: "Gable county is glad to have contributed its small part in the success of the first Upper Peninsula state fair at Escanaba and the Daily Globe takes this occasion to extend its congratulations to George Harvey, secretary-manager of the fair, and members of the board of managers who cooperated with him."

"Much speculation prevailed for several months as to whether the Upper Peninsula state fair could be made a truly Peninsula fair. No doubt remained when the fair got under way. From every angle it was the success that it deserved to be and when on one of the days it attracted 30,000 persons, there could not be a shadow of a doubt that the entire Peninsula was not accepting it as its own."

"Mr. Harvey and his associates are now in a position to plan for next year's fair with a degree of confidence that should inspire them to greater efforts. The Upper Peninsula state fair is no longer an experiment."

The Sault Ste. Marie News, after commenting on the widespread interest shown, continues: "Exhibits were good, the races and other attractions above the average, and everything considered there is hardly an adverse criticism of importance to make. From all accounts much more building will have to be done, better roads in and out of the grounds built, etc., but this can, and will, be taken care of in due time."

"A great deal of credit is due to George Harvey, of Escanaba, secretary and manager, and to A. A. Lundgaard, chairman of the Board of Managers, as well as to the various members of the board, A. Wesley Clarke of this city being one of them. And to the many others who worked hard and efficiently to make the first state fair north of the Straits a success."

"It goes without saying, of course, that when bouquets are being handed out, an exceptionally large one be presented to Senator Herbert J. Rushton, who fathered the bill creating the fair in the legislature and fought it through to successful passage. 'Pass this bill, give us the appropriation and we will show you a fair worth while,' Sen. Rushton told his fellow members of the legislature. They took him at his word, and now he has the extreme satisfaction of knowing that his word has been made good. Success of this first fair means that without doubt the legislature of 1929 will make another appropriation thus enabling the board of managers to go ahead with the additions which the big crowds and the big exhibits have already proved necessary."

Complimenting the Dickinson county exhibitors for their splendid showing in the cattle department, the Iron Mountain News declares that these exhibitors, "are much pleased with their success at Escanaba and the public will share their pleasure. It will give further encouragement to the undertaking of bringing the Dickinson county herds up to the point of most profitable production, and all progress made in this direction must have beneficial results for the county."

The News then continues: "Among the crowds that attended the fair Dickinson county was well represented, and its delegation was a unit in the opinion that the fair board is entitled to commendation for the manner in which they acquitted themselves in their first effort. The display buildings, which will have to be amplified, are substantially built, airy and attractive. The poultry and cattle houses are of the same character, though with regard to them, also, they are inadequate in size. The horse speed barn is one of the best structures on the grounds. It is located close to an excellent track and on the opposite side are grandstands that will seat over 5,000 spectators. What has already been done assures that in a year or two the fair plant will be entirely adequate. "The surrounding counties gave all the support to the fair that could be expected the first year. It was amply sufficient to carry promise that with attractive programs and good weather the fair will soon become one of the leading upper peninsula educational and amusement fixtures."

Tom Heflin complains that the public isn't taking him seriously enough. Tom's own seriousness in himself makes up for the deficiency of a good many others.

THE PUBLIC'S MONEY.

IN THE LAST seven years of Republican administration, the public debt of the United States has been reduced by $6,411,000,000. From March 1921 to September 1928 more than $11,000,000,000 of securities, bearing high rates of interest, have been retired or refunded into securities bearing a low rate of interest while Liberty Bonds, which were selling below par, now command a premium. These operations have resulted in an annual interest saving of not less than $275,000,000 without which the most recent tax-reduction measure would not have been made possible.

Four separate tax reduction measures have been enacted with a cut of more than $800,000,000 a year in the tax bill of the American people. Millions of those least able to pay have been taken from the tax rolls. Excessive and uneconomic rates have been radically modified releasing for industrial expansion and development great sums of money which formerly were paid in taxes to the federal government.

Practically all of the war taxes have been eliminated and the tax system has been definitely restored to a peace-time basis. It is easy enough for the critics of the administration to make sweeping charges. It is difficult, however, for them to make their criticisms specific.

The facts and the figures tell an unchallengeable story.

Down in Wisconsin, a farmer found a $750 fiddle in his haymow. Now he's looking for a $750 fiddler.

THE FARM "REVOLT."

DAVID LAWRENCE finds little evidence of a "farm revolt" in the state of Iowa. Agriculture, at that state, is rapidly regaining substantial footing. The need for government aid is subsiding and the farmer is more concerned about maintaining the present prosperity of the state than he is in casting about for some fancied cure for an ailment which no longer exists.

Iowa may be regarded as typical of the middle-west farming territory. The state repeatedly has led the way in the improvement of farm conditions, farming methods, and general agricultural progress. The other states, to a large extent, have followed Iowa's lead. If Hoover, by conservative estimates, can carry Iowa by 100,000 to 200,000 votes, the Republicans need worry very little about the remainder of the mid-west farm territory.

Present Republican prosperity will have a good deal more influence, on election day, than Democratic promises.

Baseball umpires are going to organize a union. Well, their officers will have had a good deal of experience in calling strikes.

The will of a Nebraska farmer left several brothers and sisters $1 with which "you can purchase ropes to hang yourselves." The probate court is anticipating some slight difficulties in administering the provisions of the document.

A federal judge in Brooklyn ordered prohibition raiders to return 425 bottles of liquor to a man who had purchased it before prohibition. The man's name was David Melbrey but the papers considerably refrained from printing his street address.

THE WAY OF THE WORLD

By GROVE PATTERSON.

Radio shows bring out television, the "infant of the radio family." Nobody scoffs any more. Those of us who have nothing important to add will do well to sit quietly and wonder what is coming next. To hear and see what is not there to be heard and seen has become a commonplace in this mysterious world.

ARMS AND PEACE

The great treaties were signed a couple of weeks ago. It was one of the most important events—perhaps the most important—in modern history. One wonders—hoping for the best—just how much nearer everlasting peace we are. When the treaties were signed Russia had an army of 900,000 men; Germany had 100,000; France 686,000; Italy 347,000; England 408,000. The world will await with deep interest the real test—when the first formidable international dispute arises.

BOYS AND BOYS

Who said boys will be boys? A deckhand on a ship arriving at an eastern port proves to be a college lad—a ceylonese from Colombo, in the far Indian ocean. He is a graduate of Cambridge university, in England. All the young adventurers are not American college boys. This youngster, born on the other side of the world, is like other youngsters. And one learns that football is his favorite sport. He is out just now to see the world. Folks are folks.

ERNESTINE

Hats off to the late Glista Ernestine, Holstein cow of Cornell university. Ernestine, in her 16 years of service, gave the world 202,005 pounds for less than that.

HOBSON'S CHOICE

We can never know just where immortality is going to strike. When Mr. Hobson, some 300 years ago, a livery stable keeper in Cambridge, England, received a customer he always insisted that the customer take the horse nearest the door. Hence grew the expression, "Hobson's choice." Thomas Hobson, when he began this custom, little thought he had provided an enduring memory for himself. As Bernard Shaw said, "You never can tell."

NOT SO CRUDE

Those who think America is crude may be sorry to hear that gifts to American universities at present run 18 times as great as gifts to British universities. And that isn't just because there are more American schools. It is because America has the money, and it isn't all being spent by the silly and the ignorant.

TREMENDOUS INCREASE OF AUTOS SOLD ABROAD DISCUSSED.
 By J. R. NUTT
 Treasurer Republican National Committee.

Sales of American made automobiles abroad have increased by 425 per cent during the last five years and a further important gain is taking place this year. As a result of this large expansion, foreign buying of motor cars now ranks third in the list of the country's exports.

J. R. NUTT

potential demand for cars among other peoples. The world outside of the United States is rapidly becoming motor-minded. In the United States there is one car for every five people, or virtually one car for each family. The average for the world as a whole is 59 persons for every car. At the extreme of the scale is China with one car for every 20,000 inhabitants. Next to the United States is Canada with 10 persons per car. Australia is third with 14 persons per car, and the United Kingdom is fourth with 37 persons per car. In France there are 40 persons for each car, while Germany has only one car for every 148 persons.

So far the automobile industry in no European country has developed to the point where it is an extremely active competitor with American quantity produced popular makes. The rate of growth of motor car exports is seen in the fact that five-year exports totalled 78,000 units, while in 1928 it is estimated that 450,000 cars and trucks will be shipped abroad.

With European conditions making marked progress toward financial stabilization and industry recovery, present prospects are for continued large expansion of exports of American automobiles.

LYRICS OF LIFE

LIFE'S RICHES
 To some this life is gold.
 To some is fame and praise,
 And yet I never knew the old
 To talk of happy days
 And fame or fortune to recall,
 To speak of gold or praise at all.

To some this life is play,
 To some is 'song and wine,
 And yet I never knew the gray
 To talk of days divine
 And speak of pleasure as the thing
 Most worthy of remembering.

To some this life is gold,
 But golden with its love,
 And that is what I found the old
 Were always speaking of,
 So fame I question, fortune doubt,
 Since love was all they spoke about.

DIET AND HEALTH

REDUCING RESTS UNNECESSARY IF NOT LOSING TOO RAPIDLY.
 Inherited Fat?
 "Dear Friend: I have always been very stout, and because my parents and grandparents were stout I just took it for granted it was meant for me to be so and no one could make me believe differently until I read your articles. I was carrying 225 pounds on my short 5 ft. 3 1/2 in., and am only 28 years old. Six months ago I began dieting, and to date I have lost 43 pounds. So today I weigh 180 and I feel like a new person. I never let up for a rest until this last week, but believe me, I am not through yet. I am going at it again and lose more, for I am more convinced that it is not necessary for one to carry such a load around."

MRS. E.

I believe with you, that it isn't necessary to stop reducing after a loss of 30 or 40 pounds if the reduction is done scientifically. And that means with a diet that is supplying all the needed elements except some of the energy needs. However, sometimes the thought of a little rest will buoy you up so you can carry on. But there is the other point—you will get used to the limited diet, and if you get off it you may get into bad habits again.

Heart disease is 60 per cent or so more prevalent among those overweight than it is among the normal. There are two factors—causing toxemia, and at the same time a deficiency of the vital elements, and the added burden of fat around and in between the fibers of the heart, and finally fatty degeneration of the heart muscles. You have demonstrated how reducing helps the heart when it is burdened with fat. Kidney disease is also more prevalent among those overweight, and so are a lot of other diseases—a lot of them.

Carry on, Mrs. E.

Americans Excel In Zeal For Music

Bad Gasteln, Austria (P)—Ossip Gabrilovitch, the internationally famous orchestra leader, says that the United States leads the world in the care given to preparing a symphony concert.

"We worked four years in Detroit on Bach's Passion according to St. Matthew," he said, "before the performance was taken to New York."

"There is a tendency in large European centers," he said, "for orchestras and leaders to rest on their laurels. European orchestras have a tradition of a hundred years and more; they think it isn't necessary for the conductor to rehearse more than once or twice with them. I am not questioning the ability of the players. They are, in many cases, truly marvelous. The same thing applies to the choral societies."

"It is wrong, though, to argue from the excellence of the aggregations that numerous rehearsals are unnecessary. Take the New York Philharmonic orchestra. It, too, has a long and honorable tradition. Yet Toscanini would not think of contenting himself with two rehearsals."

Christian Science Lecturer Discusses Scriptural Promises

Following is an abstract of the lecture entitled "Christian Science: The Fulfillment of Scriptural Promises," given here Sunday by Salem Andrew Hart, C. S., of Cleveland, Ohio. Mr. Hart is a member of the Board of Lecturers of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

Mr. Hart's Address.

When the seventy disciples whom Jesus had sent forth on a mission of healing, returned with rejoicing, the Bible tells us that he said to them: "Behold, I give unto you power to tread on serpents and scorpions, and over all the power of the enemy; and nothing shall by any means hurt you" (Luke 10:19). This promise, or assurance, of spiritual power to heal is beautifully set forth in the following correlation passage on page 55 of the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science: "The promises of Christ will be fulfilled. The time for the appearing of the divine healing is throughout all time; and whoever layeth his earthly all on the altar of divine Science, drinketh of Christ's cup now, and is ended with the spirit and power of Christian healing."

Webster defines the word "promise" as that which causes, or gives ground for, hope, expectation, or assurance. Now, I feel sure that we will all agree that the promises made in the Bible are true, and were made for all time; so have we not the right to expect the fulfillment of these promises? Christian Science answers this question in the affirmative, and is fulfilling the promise of health and long life to the afflicted; of deliverance and forgiveness to the sinner; of comfort and protection to the sorrowful; of peace and plenty to those in want and woe; of wisdom and strength to the humble and obedient. It fulfills God's promise found in Isaiah: "And I will bring the blind by a way that they knew not; I will lead them in paths that they have not known; I will make darkness light before them, and crooked things straight. These things will I do unto them, and not forsake them" (Isaiah 42:16). So, if there be any here tonight seeking a solution for their problem of grief and separation; if there be any who are sick or in want; if there be any who are struggling with misfortune or sin; if, perchance, there be any who for the first time have crossed the threshold of Christian Science, we have for you a joyous message of Love, of deliverance, of comfort, and happiness.

Sense Testimony.

One of the basic causes of so much discord and sickness today is the general acceptance by mankind of personal sense testimony as reliable and true. We are not trusting God when we accept and rely upon the testimony of the senses as real or true, for we are then believing that matter has life, intelligence, and sensation. The five physical senses cannot be depended upon for guidance and truthful information, and I feel sure many of us have experienced striking examples of the falsity of sense evidence. Let us consider for a moment two parallel lines, such as the tracks of a railroad. Sense testimony would have us believe that these two lines converge into one at a distant point. Can we accept such a statement as true? Certainly not. And why? Because we know the truth about this proposition, and no amount of argument can change it. We also know that the sun does not rise in the morning nor set in the evening. We also know that the earth is not stationary, but revolves on its axis once every twenty-four hours. We also know that any object in the distance is not as small as mortal vision would have us believe. And so I could go on and cite many instances of the unreliability of sense testimony. There is a marked difference between understanding and belief. Sense testimony subjects us to many conflicting beliefs, while Truth only is knowable, for there is only one Truth. Mrs. Eddy states on page 293 of the Christian Science textbook, "If God were understood instead of being merely believed, this understanding would establish health." Christian Science bids us awake from this material dream of sensation—a matter, from this snare and delusion which has victimized mankind, to the full realization and understanding that God is All-in-all, the only power, and that everything unlike Him is unreal and untrue.

Mary Baker Eddy.

Mrs. Eddy states on page 107 of the Christian Science textbook, "In the year 1866, I discovered the Christ Science or divine laws of Life, Truth, and Love, and named my discovery Christian Science. God had been graciously preparing me during many years for the reception of this final revelation of the absolute divine Principle of scientific mental healing." This revelation came to Mrs. Eddy at a time when all seemed dark and hopeless. Lying upon a couch of pain as the result of an injury, she was placed in the hands of a physician, who despairing of her recovery and promising no hope. Left alone, she opened the Bible and turned to the ninth chapter of Matthew, second verse, and as she read about the man sick of the palsy who was healed by Jesus, the light of spiritual Truth or the Christ-spirit dawned in her consciousness, and she arose from her couch instantly and perfectly healed. Thoroughly convinced that her healing was the direct result of the operation of spiritual law, Mrs. Eddy continued to search the Scriptures until the Science of Christianity was fully revealed to her and she became conscious of the fact that the same law which enabled Jesus to heal the man sick of the palsy had healed her, again fulfilling the promise of the Master, "He that believeth on me, the works that I do, shall he do also" (John 14:12).

Thoroughly satisfied that her discovery was in accordance with God's law, Mrs. Eddy, undismayed, set out to prove her discovery. This pure and spiritually minded woman bore the heat and burden of the day patiently and lovingly, overcame obstacles, and gave to the world the result of her search and discovery, the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures."

Says Powdered Glass Safe.

Exploding the stories that the Borgias and other notorious poisoners of history mixed finely powdered glass in food and drinks for their victims, Dr. Roche Lynch recently demonstrated to the Medical-Legal Society of London that this supposedly deadly material usually passes through the human digestive system without causing death or even doing serious damage. Danger lurks in larger pieces of glass with sharp edges, he added.

Dotter-Call.

A romance of school days culminated in the marriage on Saturday, September 23, of Miss Grace Dotter of Tomohawk, Wis., to Charles Call, Jr., of Pine Falls, Manitoba, Canada, formerly of this city. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Dotter.

The bride was attired in a close-fitting ivory satin gown with a lace edging and a novel veil arrangement of tulle and orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of roses and sweet peas. The only attendant of the bride, her sister, Elma, wore a gown of flowing yellow chiffon and carried tea roses.

Miss Ruth Dotter, sister of the bride, played Lohengrin's wedding march. The autumn note was carried in the house decorations, purple actors, goldenrod and autumn leaves being used in profusion.

Mr. and Mrs. Call left for a short honeymoon at various points north, including this city, and will be at home after October 3 at Pine Falls, Manitoba, where the bridegroom holds a position with the Altitude Paper company.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Charles Call, Sr., William Marguerite and George Call, Mr. and Mrs. A. Lambert of this city, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dahlies of Wausau, Wis., and Miss Pearl Drake of Chicago.

The bride is a graduate nurse of Augustana hospital, Chicago.

PIN LEAGUE ORGANIZED

Meeting Held Monday Evening at Rialto Building

Monday night witnessed the organization of the Rialto Bowling League for the coming season. President Walter Olson called the meeting at eight o'clock and the matter of adjusting handicaps was thoroughly thrashed out. It was finally agreed to allow a general team handicap of 2-3 of the difference between the actual team averages, blanks to count at 135.

It was also agreed to schedule the league this year on a split season basis, the winners of the first half playing the winners of the second half for the final championship. This gives the team who got off to a bad start a chance to redeem themselves in the second half of the season. The league will formally swing into action on October fifteenth. Mr. Olson appointed Walter Vandeweghe, E. J. Noreus and L. W. Kircher as a committee of three to arrange the schedules etc. All told there will be twelve competing teams, eleven of which are already assured or accounted for, leaving just one vacancy.

Following is the tentative lineup of the teams to date:

Soe Line, Marble Card, Florine Mill, Venser Mill, Office, Goodman Tires, Rialto Theatres, Consumers, American Legion, Rotary, High School, City Club.

THEATRES

AT THE RIALTO
A man whose occupation was once to stand near Pancho Villa, the Mexican dictator, ready at a moment's notice to hurl a knife into the form of a sudden attacker, was Lon Chaney's tutor for the famous star's strangest role of the screen.

He is Steve Clemente, former circus knife thrower, who was picked up in the ring by Villa and appointed the Mexican general's bodyguard, and who instructed Chaney in the art of knife throwing for his uncanny role in "The Unknown," his new M-G-M vehicle coming today to the Rialto Theatre. Chaney's tutelage was especially hard as he had to throw the knives with his feet, playing an "armless wonder" in a circus in the strange new drama.

It took two months of steady practice under the expert's instruction to perfect Chaney in the trick, so the he could do his "act" before the camera.

In the new picture Chaney plays a sinister armless sideshow freak, hiding from the police in a Spanish circus while ruling a strange underworld. It is an original story by Tod Browning, who also directed it, and who is responsible for such Chaney hits as "The Unholy Three" and "The Road to Mandalay."

Chaney, in his masquerade as an armless man, had to learn to throw knives, shoot, play cards and eat, smoke and drink with his feet.

The cast is a notable one, including Joan Crawford as the heroine, Norman Kerry as the romantic lead, John George, Nick de Ruiz and others well known on the screen. An entire circus was moved into the M-G-M studios for a background for the big production, in which several thousand people took part in the circus sequences.

Budapest (AP)—"Halt a bed to let by decent family. Terms moderate. Inspection invited. Address Madam Andassy, 42 Sandor street, Budapest."

Thus read an advertisement in the newspaper "Pesti Hirlap." In order to ascertain whether the advertisement was a joke or genuine the correspondent went to the address indicated. After climbing six flights of stairs, he reached the flat where a kindly looking old woman opened the door.

"Do you see?" she said. "You can have this bed from 8 p. m. until 8 a. m. the following morning. Times are so hard in Hungary that some people cannot afford to hire a room or even a bed for permanent use. When a tenant happens to work in the day he rents his bed during the day to one who works at night."

WOOD ALCOHOL MAKES MANIAC OF DAIRYMAN

Takes Drink at Escanaba; Leaps From Train and Automobile

Yielding to the desire to celebrate after his purebred Hereford cattle won 21 prizes at the Upper Peninsula state fair in Escanaba, Frank Brindley, 39, Pickford dairyman, took one drink with friends, and in a few hours was a raving maniac.

Enroute to Allenville with his carload of cattle Sunday, Brindley jumped out of a freight car at Ensign, and started wandering aimlessly down highway US 2. A motorist bound for Manistique picked him up, but when within three miles of this city the Pickford dairyman again became possessed of the demon, was unable to restrain himself, and leaped from the moving automobile. Joseph Weber of Manistique came along, and brought Brindley on to this city with difficulty, turning him over to the custody of Sheriff J. M. Hewitt.

At the county jail, the farmer's condition became steadily worse, and local officers were forced to remain with the insane man all Sunday night, padding the floors of his cell with mattresses, and finally resorting to a straight jacket.

Sheriff Hewitt got in touch with Brindley's wife and other relatives and they came to take him to a Sault Ste. Marie hospital Monday afternoon. Mrs. Brindley was grief-stricken, declaring that she had never known her husband to take a drink. It was believed that the liquor supplied him at Escanaba was wood alcohol. Physicians said that Brindley's recovery was doubtful.

My Invite U. S. To Fight Opium

Geneva (AP)—The question has arisen whether to ask the United States to sit on the league's new anti-opium commission or wait for America's voluntary cooperation. Now that the opium convention is assured and the world fight on habit-forming drugs can begin, the eyes of the world are turning expectantly to see what the Washington government will do.

The American delegation walked out of the last opium conference before the convention was concluded because other delegates declined to accept the American principle that the production of opium should be restricted to medical and scientific needs. The United States has not signed the convention, but nothing precludes the designation of an American expert on the central board.

This will consist of eight persons chosen from producing and consuming countries. The experts must represent neither governments or opium interests. They will compile and publish statistics concerning the opium traffic.

Recently several states, including Canada, announced ratification of the convention, which will probably become legally operative by the end of the year, as the necessary number of states will have ratified.

The assembly of the League of Nations must, however, make a budget allowance for the board, the amount being estimated at from $30,000 to $50,000. The board members are appointed by the League Council.

Says English Girls Too Shy For Movies

London (AP)—English girls are too shy and too sincere to achieve fame in moving pictures. With this pronouncement, Sinclair Hill, England's veteran film director, has just dashed cold water over the ambitions of pretty applicants who are swarming British studios by thousands.

Mr. Hill's indictment is published in the "Manchester Evening News." He writes: "There is something about English women which is too reserved and of course the whole English nation is steeped in a kind of charming hypocrisy. The film actress must give her physical beauty on the screen. She must put her beauty in the shop window American girls achieve this handsomely, but there is something indefinable about the average English girl which unfits her for film fame."

Casting directors are more likely to find potential film talent in the palais de danse than among girls of the upper and middle classes of English society, he continues.

Englishmen, however, "offer the finest interpretation of male parts and win the favor of audiences everywhere."

"The majority of leading men in Hollywood are undeniably of British extraction," says Mr. Hill.

Young men leaving English public schools and universities are inundating British film production organizations with application to start in the executive side of the business rather than on the screen, however.

2 YEARS PASS WITHOUT JURY AT MANISTIQUE

Circuit Court Here Establishes Record Without Parallel

Adjournment of the September circuit court session in Manistique Tuesday marked the fourth time in succession that the Schoolcraft county jury term has been completed without calling a jury.

Not once during the regime of Sheriff J. M. Hewitt, which started January 1, 1926, has the sheriff been required to summon jurors. Jury lists were duly selected in routine form for each of the jury terms in the last two years, but jurors were later notified that they would not be required to report for service. Pleas of guilty in many cases did away with the necessity of jury trials, and as a result the county was spared considerable expense.

The record is without parallel in Schoolcraft county, and also in the entire circuit, it is believed.

Judge H. W. Runnels, presiding at the term yesterday, paid a tribute to Sheriff Hewitt and prosecuting attorney V. I. Hixon, declaring that their diligence in procuring and preparing complete evidence in criminal matters was responsible for the fine record made in the local court.

This week's game is the big event of the year for the green and white, and Coach Cook's men will be satisfied with nothing less than a victory over the celer city huskies. Three more trips are on the program for Manistique high before they play their next home game against Newberry here. Next week they go to Gladstone, and the following week invade Escanaba again to play St. Joseph's.

A host of rooters have laid plans to attend the contest at Newberry Saturday.

Cornell Reports Big Enrollments in Rural Schools

Increased enrollment for Schoolcraft county rural schools has been noted by Commissioner W. T. S. Cornell, who has just completed his rounds of the county, delivering supplies for the opening of the school year.

Two teachers have been engaged at Calspar because of the unusually large attendance at this new school, Whitedale has a larger enrollment than last year, and the consolidated school in Inwood township also has an increase in students.

Commissioner Cornell expressed himself as greatly pleased with the improvements made to school buildings during the summer months by the various school boards. A number of the schools have been painted outside, and other renovations made.

A complete list of the Schoolcraft county teachers, together with the enrollment at each school, is being prepared by the commissioner, and will be given out shortly.

All rural schools were closed last Friday to give teachers and pupils an opportunity to attend the state fair at Escanaba, hear Governor Green, and see the fine displays. The county was well represented at the exposition.

Hugmen Need Three Victories to Win Pennant

YANKS SWAMP INDIANS, 10-1

Old Tom Zachary Holds Cleveland at Bay All Afternoon

Cleveland, Sept. 25.—(AP)—The Yankees marched another long mile toward the 1928 pennant by routing the Cleveland Indians by 10 to 1 in the rubber game of the series here today. Even though the Athletics defeated the Browns by 9 to 5 in St. Louis, the Yankees held their lead of two games and moved into a position where they can clinch the flag with three more victories.

Old Tom Zachary, the Washington orphan, won his third victory for the champions, holding the Redskins at bay all afternoon. He gave up only eight hits and was in small danger of being scored upon at any time until Joe Sewell and Hodapp bunched doubles in the eighth after Tom had a lead of ten runs.

The Yankees pounded George Grant from the mound under a six-run barrage in the first inning and scored from time to time on Billy Bayne who succeeded him.

Babe Ruth was forced to retire from the game in the sixth when his injured left knee began troubling him again. Durocher took Ruth's place in right field. Tony Lazzeri also gave way to his understudy, Leo Durocher, a little later. The third Yankee cripple, Mark Koenig, played through the game.

The Indians added three double plays to their record, which again is rivaling that of the Cincinnati Reds, dual league leaders.

The Yankee scoring was closed out in the eighth with a three-run assault capped by Lou Gehrig's 25th home run of the season with one man on base.

"Fill the Stands" Is School Slogan For Football Game

"Fill the Grandstand." That's the slogan among the students of the Escanaba and St. Joseph high schools this week. The student bodies of both institutions are actively engaged in selling tickets for the annual clash between St. Joseph and Escanaba high school on the gridiron next Saturday.

The enlarged grandstand now accommodates 3,000 spectators, and efforts will be made to have it filled to capacity. Under the arrangement worked out, each school will keep the money obtained in its advanced ticket sale.

The Escanaba high school band of 35 pieces, under the direction of R. W. Nordling, will furnish music during the game.

Friday has been designated as annual color day at the Escanaba high school. On this occasion, every student wears the orange and black colors.

CARDS DEFEAT DODGERS, 4-3

St. Louis Forced to Work Overtime to Win Game

Brooklyn, Sept. 25.—(AP)—The Cardinals carried a stubborn fight through to a successful conclusion, in 15 tense innings here today, defeating Brooklyn by 4 to 3 for their third straight triumph. By their victory, the Red Birds escaped falling into a tie for the lead with the Giants, who nosed out Cincinnati by 4 to 3.

Wee Willie Sherdel went the route for McKechnie's men and kept Brooklyn's 11 hits so scattered that he seldom was in danger. The Cardinals got only ten safeties of Douglas McWeeny and Watson Clark, but Del Bissonette started Clark to his downfall in the fifteenth by fumbling Rabbit Maranville's grounder with one gone.

Sherdel then sacrificed and Douthit delivered the winning hit, a Texas League double which fell at Max Carey's feet just a few inches from his outstretched glove.

Sherdel would have won in regulation distance but for Hafey's error in the eighth. This permitted Carey to take an extra base on a single and put him in position to score the tying run on Bissonette's one-bagger.

The Cardinals got all of their runs except the winning marker by bunting hits on McWeeny in the third. The Robins launched a sudden attack for a pair in the fifth, moved into a tie in the eighth as related, and then plunged into a long extra-inning fight with the leaders.

St. Louis, Sept. 25.—(AP)—The Athletics remained two games behind the Yankees in the American league pennant race today when they defeated the St. Louis Browns, 9 to 5.

The Macks batted both Ogden and Coffman out of the box. Earnshaw was replaced by Walberg when he was hit freely during the first three innings. Dykes, Philadelphia shortstop, got five straight hits, driving in four of Philadelphia's runs.

Bill Killefer, who was coaching at third base for the Browns, was ordered off the field when he protested a decision of Umpire Guthrie.

Brannon, St. Louis second baseman, was injured and was taken from the game.

New York Giants Have Best Defensive, Says A. P. Sports Editor

BY ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

New York, Sept. 25.—(AP)—If performances of the past month are to be taken as the index of the world's series form, the New York Giants are the best defensive outfit of any of the four clubs engaged in the current hand-to-hand struggle for the major league pennants.

Take a few recent examples. In the game with the Cardinals last Saturday that meant the making or breaking of their pennant hopes, young Karl Hubbell went into the box with the bases full, none out and Jim Bottomley at bat, Jim tied the score with a hit but Hubbell checked all remaining efforts of the Cards to score and the Giants won. This was superlative relief pitching, which comes under the classification of defense.

The next day the Giants faced defeat in the ninth inning of a game with the Reds when Wally Pipp, with the score tied, tripled and the next batter punched a long fly to center. Nine out of ten times Pipp would have tallied but Jimmy Welsh came through with a perfect throw to the plate that nailed Wally. The Giants won in the 14th. This was typical of a superlative fielding defense.

Have Good Defensive Cardinals have a fine defensive record but they fell considerably below the flashier standard of the Giants in the big series here last week. The left side of the card infield and outfield both have displayed defensive flaws but the St. Louis pitching corps is capable of blocking most enemy moves especially when Alexander, Sherdel or Haines is in the box.

The Yankees seldom have been credited with as much defensive ability as they possessed. The big sock has overshadowed the finer points of the club's all-around play, just as the casual observers of Babe Ruth see chiefly his hitting power and overlook his marvelous fielding or throwing ability. Bob Meusel may have a rifle-shot arm for long distance but it never has had the accuracy of Babe's southpaw heaves from deep right field.

Since the big slump set in, the Yankees haven't sparkled arfield as they usually do. The long absence of Tony Lazzeri took a lot of dash out of the infield. So did the decline of Joe Dugan, who in the days before he developed a trick knee yielded to no man in agility around third base. Added to these have been the weakness of the pitching staff.

GOPHERS HAVE STRONG OUTFIT

Pile Driving Machines to Be Defending Minnesota Honors

Chicago, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Another of those pile driving football machines that wrecked many an aspiring football team in the past is in the making at the University of Minnesota, where Coach Spears is bringing a powerful line and backfield into being. The line ripping work of Bronko Nagurski, a giant fullback, made over from a 1927 tackle, occupied the limelight today. Nagurski is larger and stronger than the famous Herb Josting and will probably remain in the backfield indefinitely.

Although the Minnesota backfield lacks experience, Spears spent much of his time today with the line, which in scrimmages stopped the best backfield the Gopher squad could muster. Playing behind the veteran line, however, the backs looked much better.

Snow, sleet and rain drove the Michigan candidates to the field house after a half-hour practice and Fielding Yost and his assistants spent the remainder of the session in "skull" practice. The first scrimmage will be held tomorrow.

Chicago Works Out.
Pat Page ran all the Indiana hopefuls through an intensive scrimmage in search of enough material to form two squads for Saturday's games against Wabash and State Normal. A promising end was uncovered in Richardson, who was snatching the ball out of the air with ease. An entirely new backfield composed of Springer, Hoover, Crawford and Parks was tried out by Page with success.

With Hugh Mendenhall tearing off long gains, Coach Stag today sent the Chicago hopefuls through the longest scrimmage of the year. Although it was only the second time out for Mendenhall, who has been ineligible, the veteran back broke loose for one run of 60 yards and repeated the feat for 10 and 15-yard gains. Benny Wattenberg, the candidate for halfback who wears glasses, exhibited his speciality—passing—to the satisfaction of Stag.

Badger Squad Split.
A house to house canvas has been instigated at Northwestern where Coach Dick Hanley is wondering just where he will Vacation Bible School—The girls of the daily vacation Bible school presented Rev. and Mrs. John B. Hubbard with a handsome handmade afghan shawl for their car after the school hours Monday afternoon. During the vacation a group of girls from every church of the city crocheted the blocks of yarn and after joining the large number of varied colored blocks offered the gift to Rev. and Mrs. Hubbard as a token of remembrance as they are soon to leave this city. A representative from each church was on the committee who called at the Hubbard home with the gift.

A man who entered a police station in London and offered a bunch of flowers to the officer on duty was fined for being drunk and disorderly.

SUCCESSOR TO HUBBARD NAMED

Rev. Carl Berger of Petoskey Will Assume Pastorate Here

Rev. Carl Berger, of Petoskey, will succeed Rev. John B. Hubbard as pastor of the First Presbyterian church here.

The invitation to Rev. Berger was extended at a congregational meeting held at the church Monday night. It is expected that formalities which the church organization demands will be carried out speedily, and that Mr. Berger will be here shortly to assume his new duties.

The meeting was followed by a social hour, during which Rev. Hubbard was presented with a Gladstone traveling bag and Mrs. Hubbard with an over-night bag.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubbard and their son, Jimmie, will leave about October 1, for Chicago, where Mr. Hubbard will enroll in the university to study for a doctor's degree.

During his three years in Escanaba, Rev. Hubbard has won an immense circle of friends among persons of all faiths and creeds. He is one of the upper peninsula's most popular platform and after-dinner speakers, and he has been active in civic and fraternal circles. His successor, Rev. Berger, appeared in the local pulpit on two occasions during Mr. Hubbard's absence, on vacation, and is regarded as possessing the training and the capabilities needed successfully to carry on Mr. Hubbard's work in this field.

Eiffel Tower Solid Say Paris Engineers

Paris (AP)—The Eiffel Tower, 1,000 feet high has a clean bill of health. It is solid and it stands squarely on its feet, says a commission of engineers that has made a periodical examination of the tallest structure in the world.

From time to time someone gets the idea the steel tower erected in 1889 is getting old and decrepit or that settling ground may make it imitate the leaning tower of Pisa. The alarmists are all wrong, the engineers say, and all that has ever been recommended has been occasional coats of paint and increases in the box office charge for taking a ride up the tower.

Modern Pants Baffle Painters, is Charge

London (AP)—"Tailor and Cutter," official journal of London tailors, hurls the charge at painters of not knowing how to paint a suit of clothing.

The butt of criticism is the exhibition hanging in the Royal Academy. Mr. Lloyd George's portrait, says the journal, is dressed in a suit that is "wild and wooly, suggesting the Far West more than the West End."

"The sight of a modern suit," it continues, "raises the artists' ire and makes him a vandal. He lays waste and dismantles coat, waistcoat and trousers. He disdains buttons, ignores collars, plays the deuce with pockets and is a devil among tailors' creations."
