

CANDIDATE HEARS CAMPAIGN REPORTS

SMITH'S TOUR LOOKS AHEAD TO 1932 RACE

IF DEFEATED THIS YEAR, HE'LL TRY AGAIN

BY DAVID LAWRENCE.

Copyright 1932, by the Escanaba Press. Enroute West, Sept. 26.—Governor Smith's debut in the West is an event of far more political significance than the 1928 campaign. Conceivably it may affect 1932. And there is a good deal more talk of how Smith's chances of winning four years hence in the event he loses this time than is ordinarily the case.

For Governor Smith has impressed the West as a sort of combination of Theodore Roosevelt and William Jennings Bryan—as magnetic on the stump as either one and equally as capable of drawing throngs from miles around to listen spellbound.

There is, of course, nearly everywhere in the West a sort of prejudice against things New York-like. And Al Smith has that handicap to overcome but his direct, straight-from-the-shoulder and positive utterances are so novel after the phlegmatic, solemn demeanor of the candidates of the last several years that the New York governor may be said to have gone farther than any easterner in winning friends.

Looking Ahead Four Years.

Back in some of the eastern states the writer heard the suggestion that Governor Smith, if defeated, would be in a commanding position to try again in 1932. It appeared to be the hope of friends there but out here where Republican sentiment is dominant the Smith trip is accepted as part of a strategy that looks to 1932 as well as this campaign.

Suppose, for instance, that Herbert Hoover were elected. Four years from now his record would be on trial, what he had actually done on farm relief, what he had accomplished by reason of his organizing ability. Usually presidents are weaker at the end of four years than in the campaign in which they triumphed originally. The accumulation of grievances operates to the disadvantage of the incumbent. Then turn to Governor Smith who during the same four years, freed from responsibility, a national character and much in demand as a speaker from coast to coast, has the opportunity to study national affairs and apply the same intensive study that he has given to state affairs.

Not National Figure.

Some of the Governor's own friends privately suggest that his concentration on state affairs has not given him the chance to study the broad national questions but that four years from now he will have mastered them. Then, too, there is the fact that Smith's popular vote probably will exceed that of any Democratic nominee preceding him and if his electoral vote should exceed either that of the Democrats, his strength in the 1932 convention would be substantial. The Smith group having large funds to spend and having developed organizations in states in which the Democratic cause has been moribund will naturally control the next national convention. Here is a quotation from the Des Moines Register, which takes a long look ahead:

"The Register cannot get away from the thought that the Governor has a much longer eye on the situation than the coming November election. He is only 55 years old, there are two national campaigns still within his range. His speeches have somehow the suggestion of a man introducing himself to the good will of the West on the theory that he will make a later visit. Suppose Secretary Hoover to be elected and suppose the administration to fall short in its program for the farm, would the campaign of 1932 see the New York Governor out renewing old acquaintance and reminding the farm of his pledges at Omaha?"

Radio Has Been Useful.

The radio has brought the Governor's personality direct to the home. His Oklahoma speech following so quickly on the sensations of his Omaha address have left a profound impression. Governor Smith has made more of a dent on the consciousness of the West in these two speeches than Hughes, Wilson, Cox, and Davis put together, and, of course, the radio did it, plus an engaging personality, which emits "wise cracks" now and then and "gets the crowd." In fact, when the Governor delivers a solemn speech and doesn't hit away at his opponents and poke a bit of fun at the other side, the crowd goes home disappointed. It has

Hassell and Cramer to Attempt Another Flight Over Ocean Next Year

Copenhagen, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer, pilots of the airplane "Greater Rockford" in which they attempted to fly from Illinois to Sweden via Greenland, were feted and praised on their arrival here today. They were accompanied from the north by Prof. William H. Hobbs, leader of the University of Michigan Greenland observation party, which rescued them after they had landed far from their objective in the northern country.

"I wish my wife and three kiddies were here," said Hassell, as he landed from the steamer Fulton. He was happy but plainly homesick, yet he announced that he and Cramer would, make another attempt to span the great circle route next year.

"The trip taught us that Greenland is a natural relay station for air travel between America and Europe," he said. "It contains excellent landing places and one that cannot be spoiled by climatic conditions in summer or winter.

Plane Not Damaged. "Next year Cramer and I are going from Rockford to Copenhagen via Greenland and Iceland and back. This route is preferable to a direct flight across the Atlantic because the latter demands too much gasoline cargo space at the expense of passenger capacity.

"Our machine was not damaged on landing but subsequent storms played havoc with it. I still hope to save the motor and the scientific instruments.

"Unfortunately, we lost all the mail we were carrying, including letters for the royal Swedish family. They were buried with the machine under the snow."

The flyers are the guests here of the newspaper Politiken. Everybody who is anybody in Arctic exploration attended the reception given them this afternoon by the publishers of the paper. H. Perival Dodge, U. S. minister, brought greetings to them from King Christian who celebrated his fifty-eighth birthday today. The ruler said he was profoundly interested in their exploits.

To Return October 4.

After a dinner by the geographical societies tomorrow, Hassell will leave for Sweden to visit kinfolk in that country. He created a bit of surprise here today by conversing fluently in Swedish with all who greeted him.

The two aviators and the University of Michigan men who traveled with them will sail for New York from Copenhagen, on October 4, aboard the Danish liner Frederic VIII.

Prof. Hobbs said unusually valuable meteorological observations had been made by his party this year. One of his observers established a height record for pilot balloons.

WILL ROGERS ALL MIXED UP ON HIS ELECTION BASEBALL

New York, Sept. 26.—Every body you see is nutty figuring out mathematic possibilities. If Smith can carry New York, Massachusetts and hold the Ohio heavy hitters, and McGraw wins a double header today and can carry New Jersey, and the St. Louis Cards lose the South South, and Curtis swings the Cleveland Indians vote and the Athletics get all the farmers, why that will mean that Hoover and Robinson will have to win every game even if the selection committee don't know who will play the Argentines while the Yankees are taking New England and holding the border states and stopping all the whippers, why then it looks like Mrs. Willebrandt won't be in the same league next season.

Yours for statistics, WILL ROGERS.

COMSTOCK IS MAKING TOUR

Democratic Candidate Pays Visit to Lansing and Ingham County

Lansing, Sept. 26.—(AP)—William A. Comstock, Democratic candidate for governor, carried his campaign into Lansing and Ingham county today with a blistering attack upon the state administration and paens of praise of Al Smith.

In speeches here and in neighboring villages he challenged the state administration to justify its "failure to attempt to enforce the state prohibition law. He scored it for not completing the women's detention home at Okemos, "although it has found time and money to nearly complete a new barracks for the state police," for increasing taxes fifty per cent, for failing to keep promises to provide more and better roads.

"You have paid for the roads, where are they?" he asked. Urging abolition of the state property tax as a means of farm relief, Comstock declared the state tax commission arbitrarily fixed unfair levies. Farms, he said, cannot be sold for their assessed value.

Praises Smith

"Yet I have property in Detroit which I can sell for five times its assessed value." The speaker linked Bryan and Roosevelt as the two great Progressives who fought against the encroachment of privileged big business upon the rights of agriculture and labor.

Comstock spoke of Governor Smith as a man who "would not break promises." The Republicans are attempting to hide the defects of their candidates behind the smoke-screen of such issues as prohibition and religion," he said. "What difference does it make what a man's religion is? The federal and state governments have failed diamally to enforce the prohibition laws. You must look to the Democrats for the enforcement of all laws."

54 KILLED IN EXPLOSION OF POWDER STOCK

SPANISH SOLDIERS SUFFER IN MAGAZINE BLAST

Mejilla, Spanish Morocco, Sept. 26.—(AP)—The bodies of 54 persons had been recovered tonight from the vicinity of the huge hole in the ground which was all that marked the site where Fort Gaberiza had stood until the explosion of its powder magazine last night. Most of the dead have been identified. The majority of the injured, who numbered more than 100, were soldiers as were all the known dead.

People were just leaving the theatres here when the sky became crimson, followed by a tremendous repercussion and a rain of sand. Most of the windows in the city proper, a mile from the fort, were broken. All huts and cottages in the vicinity of the fort were laid in ruins and in the nearby barracks quarter only the walls of buildings were left standing.

More than a ton of black powder was stored in the magazine when it exploded from an undetermined cause. Taxicabs were pressed into service to carry the injured to hospitals. It was reported unofficially that "heaps" of casualties could be seen being removed from the ruins.

Speaking Campaign Will be Made in State for Hoover

Lansing, Sept. 26.—(AP)—An extensive speaking campaign on behalf of Herbert Hoover and the Republican state ticket was announced today by Seth Q. Pulver, of Owosso, head of the speakers' division. Starting October 7, more than 75 prominent Michigan men and women will take the stump, he said. They plan to cover every section of the state.

MILITARY MEN GIVE SUPPORT

President-elect of Mexico Receives Many Messages

Mexico City, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Telegrams from military chiefs, that is the generals commanding in the states and important districts, began to come in tonight, pledging support to Emilio Portes Gil as provisional president-elect. He received many other felicitations during the day from all parts of Mexico and also abroad.

An official decree was presented today ordering that "citizen attorneys Portes Gil will present himself with congress at noon, November 30, to take oath of office." It was signed by President Calles and by Portes Gil himself, as secretary of the interior.

Although never a soldier, Portes Gil's life has contained plenty of thrills and adventures. Inquirers are discovering many interesting adventures in this man's past. He once was shot and seriously wounded, risked his life recently to save a stranger and suffered imprisonment in 1919 because of his support of the late General Obregon.

Saved Man's Life

According to newspaper accounts, Portes Gil in March, 1918, accompanied as second, General Cesar Lopez de Lara, candidate for governor of Tamaulipas, who was to fight a duel in Chapultepec Park here with his rival, General Luis Caballero. As they drew up beside Caballero's automobile at the park they were greeted by a volley of shots, two of which struck Portes Gil. A delicate operation removed a bullet from the base of his skull and saved his life.

SLEEP WALKER FOUND GUILTY

Strange Defense in Murder Trial Fails to Win for Detroit Man

Detroit, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Chestnut Kutlub, 48, who presented somnambulism as a defense in his trial here on a charge of slaying his wife, was found guilty of manslaughter by a jury tonight, with recommendations for mercy. Judge Alfred J. Murphy withheld sentence.

Kutlub admitted shooting his wife to death in their home here last April, but pleaded that he was walking in his sleep at the time. The defendant said he was awakened by the report of the gun.

Three children of the couple testified, the father was a habitual sleep walker and declared their defenses never quarrelled. Defense attorneys asserted Kutlub was suffering from somnambulism and "somnolentia," and defined the former as "a state of sleep in which some of the senses and voluntary powers are partly awake."

Somnolentia was defined as "the lapsing over of profound sleep into the domain of apparent wakefulness." Ben H. Cole, prosecutor, presented testimony intended to show Kutlub was intoxicated at the time of the shooting and in his closing argument declared:

"If you put this man get away with this kind of story you open the door for every disgruntled husband and wife in this state to a safe avenue of disposing of each other. Did you ever hear of a family containing a sleep walker, which permitted such a person to keep a loaded shotgun within ten feet of his bed?"

Although the manslaughter verdict carries with it a sentence of from one to fifteen years imprisonment, it may be assessed in Michigan at the discretion of the presiding judge. In withholding sentence, Judge Murphy turned the case over to the probation department for investigation. The penalty, he indicated, would depend on the report to be made by that body regarding character of the defendant and his domestic life.

"Sky Pilot of Great Lakes" Dies Suddenly

Detroit, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Rev. W. H. Law, 76, Baptist pastor, who was known as the "Sky Pilot of the Great Lakes," due to ministrations among lighthouse keepers and coast guard forces, died here tonight following a brief illness.

While a young man, Rev. Law established the Baptist mission on Manitow Island and later moved it to Hessel in the Les Cheneaux group. The mission became a haven for lumbermen of the north. Rev. Law extended his missionary work to lighthouse workers and fishermen over the entire Great Lakes district and later those along both American seaboards.

Five daughters and three sons survive. Burial will be at Hessel.

SENATOR BORAH LAUDS HOOVER

Western Republican Addresses Meeting in Kansas City

Kansas City, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Lauding Herbert Hoover as a genuine friend of the farmer who fought for his interests both before and after the World war, Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, spoke here tonight before a crowd in Convention Hall.

Contrasting Al Smith's record and knowledge of the farm problem with that of Herbert Hoover, the Idahoan lashed out with a bit of irony on Smith, and concluded with the question:

"Which of these men, my friends, can best solve these problems that so vitally touch every American home?" There were cries of "Hoover, Hoover."

Senator Borah's answer to the charge that Hoover had beaten down the price of wheat during the war, Senator Borah contended Hoover had kept the prices up, and that over the opposition of the Wilson cabinet, if it had not been for Hoover, the Idahoan declared, the price of wheat would have been $1.50 a bushel instead of $2.20.

CURTIS TALKS ON TARIFF IN MISSOURI CITY

CAMPAIGNER VISITS ELEVENTH STATE ON TOUR

Springfield, Mo., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Kindling the Republican fires in Missouri—the eleventh state visited in his western campaign—Senator Curtis, the party's presidential nominee tonight talked tariff and Herbert Hoover to a crowd gathered in the shrine mosque here.

The senator declared increased tariff protection against agricultural importations to be "an important means by which to relieve the depression of agriculture," but he believed other legislation necessary also and placed faith in the promise of Herbert Hoover to put agriculture on a basis of equality with other industries.

He lauded Mr. Hoover as "the best equipped man ever to run for president."

"Tariff protection," on farm products, he declared, is an important means by which the farmer in a position of economic equality with other industries, but in considering tariff rates as a means for meeting the problem of agriculture, the danger of undue reliance on the effectiveness of this method must be avoided.

"Many of the farmers' ill are the result of the war and of post war conditions, generally; others are in part a result of the result of maladjustment of the administrative system—a lack of proper marketing facilities. Cooperative associations have done much to relieve this latter difficulty and if properly extended, will in my judgement, bring still greater relief."

With Conner's Toll highway reported open from Okeechobee City to Canal Point, affording a western entry for trucks of supplies, Red Cross headquarters here poured in a steady stream of relief from the east both by vehicle and boat.

A. L. Schafer, state disaster directors for the national Red Cross said that the burden of relief measures gradually was being taken by his organization from the shoulders of local agencies. Passage of the task to the national body, he declared, will require several more days and for that reason local workers were continuing to do much of the work.

More Relief Sought

Hundred of bodies were reported being cremated in the everglades but there still was no official check on the number. Meanwhile, plans were laid for a general funeral service here next Sunday for the victims wherever they may lie, in graves, on funeral pyres, or lost in the waters and marsh. The Salvation Army is sponsoring the service and four local ministers have been named to make the arrangements.

BOARD ORDERS SHIP INQUIRY

Ford Ships May Be Classified as Common Carriers, Findings Show

Washington, Sept. 26.—(AP)—The shipping board has ordered an investigation into the operation of several ships by the Ford Motor company to determine whether the vessels are being operated as common carriers in violation of the shipping act or as exclusive industrial carriers.

A hearing has been ordered and representatives of the corporation will be summoned from Detroit shortly to appear before a shipping board examiner. They will be asked to show why Ford's vessels should not file with the board their maximum rates and charges as required of all inter-coastal common carriers. But it was made known that neither Henry Ford nor his son, Edsel, were to be called.

C. O. Arthur, attorney of the board's bureau of regulation, has been instructed to conduct the inquiry through a resolution adopted yesterday by the board following the failure of the Ford Motor company to file its schedule of rates after several notices from the board during the past year or more. The action on the resolution, it was explained, at the shipping board offices today was not made public because Mr. Ford had not been notified of the decision.

Carry Other Cargoes While the resolution stated that the board "on its own motion hereby institutes a proceeding of investigation to inquire into . . . the status of the Ford Motor company of Delaware" under the shipping act, it was made known by Commissioner R. K. Smith, head of the bureau of regulation, that some complaints have been received from inter-coastal ship operators.

The resolution declared that the action is based on "information informally before the board" through which it appears the Ford Motor company of Delaware is among other things a common carrier engaged in the transportation of property on the high seas (Continued On Page Two.)

STRIKES AT SMITH

REAL BATTLE IN N. DAKOTA, HOOVER TOLD

FLORIDA MAY GO REPUBLICAN, SAYS VISITOR

BY W. B. RAGSDALE (Associated Press Staff Writer) Washington, Sept. 26.—(AP)—A decidedly unfavorable report of the political situation in the northwestern wheat belt was brought to Herbert Hoover today by Senator Lynn J. Frazier, of North Dakota, after the Republican presidential candidate had received encouraging news from such widely separated states as Wyoming and Florida.

Frazier, a Republican member of the Progressive group in the senate who has endorsed Hoover's candidacy, said that the situation in North Dakota was far from satisfactory and that there was much discontent among the farmers. He added that his information was that a similar situation existed in South Dakota, Montana, and Minnesota.

"There is likely to be a big vote in my state," he said, after his conference with the nominee. "The Republicans have been promising farm relief for years and with my people farm relief is synonymous with the McNary-Haugen bill."

Smith Losing Votes "I cannot believe that Governor Smith will carry the state, but there is much discontent with the Democratic nominee as a good chance in Montana, South Dakota and Minnesota as well as in my state, I do not know."

Frank W. Mondell, a former representative from Wyoming, who called upon the candidate during the day, expressed belief that Governor Smith had lost more votes than he had gained by his rally into the west.

"If we concede that a considerable number of votes in the west, were in doubt when the Democratic candidate started his tour and that the winning of those votes was the object of his trip," Mondell said, "we are forced to conclude by reports from the west that he has not profited any from his speeches."

"His arguments were not convincing enough to win those who were in doubt," he added, "and the world I receive is that many of the people who were considering giving their support to Smith were so disappointed in his failure to take a definite stand on the real issues that they have now decided to vote for Hoover." Mondell expressed confidence that Wyoming would cast their electoral vote for Hoover and Curtis.

Belief that Florida would desert the normally Democratic solid south was reflected in the views of J. Leonard Replogle, of New York, and E. T. Stotesbury, of Philadelphia, who visited the nominee at his personal headquarters upon their return from a trip in that state.

Replogle, who is a citizen of Florida and is associated with the Republican organization in that state, said that "the sentiment for Herbert Hoover throughout the state is amazing." The condition of the vegetable and fruit growers of Florida for several years has brought them to the conclusion that an adequate protective tariff is necessary, he declared, adding that they particularly needed protection against imports from Mexico, South American and the West Indies.

"If Florida is not in the electoral column for Hoover on election day I am a badly mistaken man," he concluded. The candidate spent much of the day in rounding into final form his speech to be delivered at Elizabethton, Tenn. He is a little behind his schedule in his preparation because of the number of conferences he has been forced to hold since he started work on it. As a consequence, it probably will be several days yet before he completes the address.

Health Conditions Bad in Porto Rico

Washington, D. C., Sept. 26.—(AP) Twenty thousand persons in Porto Rico were reported tonight to be suffering from influenza, malaria and typhoid. The report was made in a cablegram from Henry M. Baker, Red Cross disaster relief director on the island.

Baker said that a drastic health and sanitation program was being placed in effect and asked for the dispatch of 15 additional doctors and 15 nurses from the national headquarters to the island. He added that the Red Cross was caring for 500,000 persons on the hurricane-stricken island.

James Escapes Injury When Plane Crashes

Newport, R. I., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Congressman W. Frank James of Michigan and four army officers narrowly escaped injury today when an airplane in which they had been flying struck a stone wall in landing at Middletown. With Mr. James, who is the senior member of the house military affairs committee and who is making a tour of the coast defenses, were Major General Preston Brown, Commander of the first corps area, Major T. W. Hammond, Captain E. A. Manthey and Lieut. H. A. Dringer, pilot.

Only quick action by Lieut. Dringer prevented the tri-motored Fokker from crashing. The plane was caught by a heavy wind in landing and a wheel and the tail struck the wall. The party was on the way here from Boston to inspect Fort Adams, Congressman James made the inspection and then left for Mitchell Field in another plane.

Find Body of Missouri Murderer Was Murdered

St. Louis, Sept. 26.—(AP)—The body of A. Bedford Terrill, cattle raiser who had been missing from his Hartshorn, Mo., home for more than two months, was found late today hidden in the weeds and underbrush of a section of University, a suburb. There were two bullet holes made by a small caliber gun in the top of the skull. University police said it was apparent the man had been murdered and his body thrown in the weeds. Police learned that Terrill had cleared up his business, liquidated all his indebtedness and disappeared several months ago (Continued On Page Two.)

Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, above, assistant attorney general of the United States, in charge of prohibition enforcement, has struck back at Governor Alfred E. ### K. P. LODGES MEET IN CITY

Five Organizations Represented at Meeting Last Night

Escanaba Lodge, No. 38, Knights of Pythias, was host to the Gladstone, Menominee, Hormanville and Manistique lodges at a special meeting at the K. P. hall last night. Members and officers of the five lodges were present.

The day's activities opened with a school of instruction in the afternoon which officers of the lodges attended. The school was adjourned in time for a 6:30 o'clock dinner at the Delta hotel, followed by the evening meeting.

Charles Folio, Sr., was master of ceremonies and introduced as the first speaker, James E. Wood of Manistique, supreme representative of the order. He gave a report of the supreme lodge meeting held at Milwaukee.

Grand Chancellor Arthur L. Fitch of Charlevoix delivered a stirring address on the ideals of the Knights of Pythias and gave several interesting suggestions for improvements. Mr. Fitch won a hearty applause by his clear cut way of expressing his ideas.

W. E. Hampton, of Ann Arbor, grand keeper of the records and seals and Alfred L. Hennes of Menominee, grand prolate, also spoke briefly. The chancellor commanders of the five lodges were called upon for short talks.

At the close of the meeting, Rev. John B. Hubbard, a member of the Escanaba lodge who is leaving the city in the near future, was presented with a fountain pen as a token from the lodge. Mr. Folio made the presentation talk, praising Rev. Hubbard as one true Pythian and one whose place in the ranks of the order will be hard to fill.

Hubbard responded with an inspirational talk and was given a hearty applause by the members. A lunch was served at the close of the evening.

Son of German Industrial Giant Working in U. S.

Chicago, Sept. 26—(P)—Dr. Edmund Stinnes, eldest son of Hugo Stinnes, is working for a Chicago financial corporation.

"I'm on the contrary side of the kind of development by father was interested in," the young doctor of philosophy said, today. He has been with the Chicago company nearly a year, although no public announcement of his affiliation had been made. He declared that his fortune and his future lies in America.

"I expect to be in Chicago a great deal of the time from now on," Dr. Stinnes said. "I represent European interests in Chicago finance."

Man Waited Until Murder His Wife

Detroit, Sept. 26—(P)—His daughter testified today as the star witness against Melko Petrovich, charged with stabbing his wife to death in their home here last July 21.

The daughter, Mrs. Marina Gesdimer, 22, testified in Lebanon, Penn., her father always said he would wait until he got into some state which did not have the death penalty so he would not be sent to the electric chair. She testified that he not only threatened her mother, but also his son, Peter, 20. Peter Petrovich followed his sister on the stand and corroborated her story.

Dies of Heart Failure Holding Perfect Cards

Newark, N. J., Sept. 26—(P)—Frank Ozol looked at a hand of pinochle he had just dealt himself tonight and toppled over, dead. Friends said it was a perfect hand. Heart trouble was given as the cause of his death.

SENATOR BORAH LAUDS HOOVER

(Continued From Page One.) my opinion. It is the record, Hoover suggested plan. "They charge that Hoover fixed the price of wheat in 1917 and beat down prices of farm products after the armistice. The record in Washington does not sustain them.

"In 1917 congress fixed a price of $2 on the 1918 wheat crop. There was no price fixed for the 1917 crop. In the beginning of the World war the Allies were purchasing on the American market in competition and the price of the wheat crop went to $3. They agreed on a purchasing agent, then, to buy their wheat. They controlled the shipping and in that measure the price. They set their price—$1.80 in Europe or $1.50 in the United States.

"It was Hoover who suggested to President Wilson that he would have to accept the price of the Allies—a price fixed for foreigners—if we did not take some action. The president appointed a commission of twelve men—six of them farm leaders—and this commission unanimously agreed on a price of $2.20.

Utilities Hearing is Recessed Until Early Next Month

Washington, Sept. 26—(P)—After hearing one witness, the Federal Trade commission today recessed its investigation of power utilities until October 3. At that time the affairs of the southern Appalachian power conference which are deemed pre-arranged to the inquiry will be scrutinized.

The commission announced during the day the summoning for hearings on October 10 and 11 witnesses from Washington, Oregon and Idaho.

Testimony by Albert T. Reid, who syndicates cartoons and advertising from New York, and was the sole witness, disclosed today that he had been paid approximately $5,000 by the joint committee maintained by utilities associations between August, 1927, and June, 1928. He said the employment consisted of editing and illustrating pamphlets for the committee, and denied that any connection existed between that work and his syndicate cartoon series.

Robert E. Healy, commission counsel, also verified for the record the assertion made by Bruce Barton, the writer, in a telegram to the commission denying that he had even been paid by utilities interests for writing articles. The records verified Barton's explanation that a $5,000 check made out to him had been for the advertising firm with which he is connected, in payment for business services.

Detroit Yacht Owner Dies in Spanish City

Seville, Spain, Sept. 26—George E. Baker of Detroit, captain and owner with his brother of the Yacht Azara, died today a few minutes after a sudden illness while the yacht was lying in the Guadalquivir river.

The Azara was brought from the Great Lakes to New York by Mr. Baker and his brother, Frank Baker, last July and on July 8, with four other yachts, started on the race to Santander, sponsored by King Alfonso. The non-arrival of the Azara after the other craft were in port caused fears for her safety. After a general search, the Azara was located off the Spanish coast on August 2.

As soon as Mr. Baker was stricken today, two physicians were summoned, but he died within a few moments. He had as his guests, the U. S. vice consul and several prominent persons of Seville.

This was the second time that death had visited the Azara, a sea-man having drowned on August 7, when he attempted to board the craft at Santander.

Barge Line Asks Railroads for Water-Land Rates

Washington, Sept. 24—(P)—The inland waterways corporation, the government barge line service, has filed an application with the interstate commerce commission for a certificate of public convenience and necessity in which it requests the commission to order railroads to establish joint rail and water rates on its lines on the Mississippi river from Minneapolis and St. Paul to New Orleans, and on the Warrior river from New Orleans to Birmingham, Ala.

The application is a routine procedure pursued under the barge line act, passed in the last session of congress to permit the corporation through the commission to effect joint rates with the railroads. Under the application the railroads would be directed to enter negotiations on joint rates within 30 days. The commission has not yet acted upon the application.

Kenosha Worker Is Kidnaped by Four Masked Men

Kenosha, Wis., Sept. 26—(P)—Four armed masked men tonight kidnaped Harold Henderson, and employee of the Allen A. company, as he was driving in the automobile with his two sisters, Marie and Olga, on the old Green Bay road, six miles west of Kenosha.

The sisters, who reported the kidnaping to the police, declared the hand car drove along side of them and at the point of a revolver forced them to stop.

Four masked men then got out of the car, they said, and after a fight in which Marie was struck over the head with the butt of a gun, forced Henderson into their car. They drove away westward at a high rate of speed.

The incident is considered another outbreak in the labor war which had existed here since February in the Allen A. company.

About three weeks ago, Portes Gil was bidding farewell to his mother at the Colonia station in this city when a brakeman fell to the tracks between the moving cars. Portes Gil jumped from the platform without hesitation and dragged the man from under the wheels. The frightened brakeman ran off without a word of thanks, not knowing that his rescuer was then chief ranking minister in Calles' cabinet and to be the future chief executive of the state.

PLAN SERVICE FOR VICTIMS

Doyle Carlton, Democratic nominee for governor, telegraphed President Coolidge asking federal aid for the stricken farmers, who, he told the president, have lost millions of dollars and virtually are destitute. Howard W. Silby, chairman of the Palm Beach Red Cross committee was in Washington appealing to the national organization for more funds.

Democratic Bolters Form Organization Against Al Smith

St. Louis, Sept. 26—(P)—The claim that "one and one-half million Democrats of the middle west and south have joined in an organized revolt and will vote for Hoover as a defense of the democracy in which they believe, against a leadership in which they do not believe," was made today by M. D. Lightfoot, chairman of the "national Democratic constitutional committee."

Mr. Lightfoot, who is a former member of the Democratic state central committee of Missouri, announced the establishment of a permanent headquarters here for anti-Smith campaign work until after the election.

"It is the purpose of the national Democratic constitutional committee," said Lightfoot, "to co-ordinate the activities of the various committees and organizations already established with a view to saving the party of Jefferson, Jackson and Wilson from the heirs of Murphy, Croker and Tweed."

The following executive committee was announced today by Mr. Lightfoot:

Jeff. McCann, Nashville, Tenn.; C. A. Walsh, Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; George Cottrell, Seattle, Wash.; Cato Sells, Dallas, Texas, and Mrs. Gertrude M. Pattangall, Augusta, Maine.

Miss Comstock Out of Women's Club Convention Race

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 26—(P)—The withdrawal of Miss Marie Comstock, of Alpena, sister of William A. Comstock, the Democratic nominee for governor, as a candidate for the presidency of the Michigan State Federation of Women's Clubs was announced here this afternoon.

The announcement came with appointment of the nominating committee of the annual convention, which is to report Thursday. The committee is headed by Mrs. Frederick W. Nichols of Houghton. Other members are Mrs. Bates, of Hart; Mrs. Chapman of Cheboygan; Mrs. L. M. Stuart, of Ionia; Mrs. Claude Shattuck, of Albion; Mrs. H. F. Prescott, of Detroit, and Mrs. C. C. Kalkins, of Sebewaing.

It was learned that Miss Comstock had asked that she not be considered as a candidate for the presidency. This narrows the field of candidates down to Mrs. Eben Mumford, of Lansing, first vice president, and Mrs. C. L. Thompson, of Muskegon.

Reading Habits of Candidates Told in Bookman Magazine

New York, Sept. 26—(P)—Biographers of the presidential candidates, in the current issue of the bookman, give intimate details of the reading habits of Herbert Hoover, and Alfred Smith. They say:

Hoover does most of his reading between two and five o'clock in the morning, dividing his customary five or six hours of sleep into a period before and one after his reading. He loves to munch apples during this reading period. Just now he is reading mostly biography and autobiography of eminent statesmen topped off with innumerable detective stories.

Smith's reading is done in the more conventional daylight and evening hours. At the breakfast table he goes over the newspapers and bills and public documents.

His favorite reading is operations and rumor. He detects tragedy in literature, and rarely opens a novel or mystery tale.

Mrs. Willebrandt Speaking Under Party Auspices

Chicago, Sept. 26—(P)—Any doubt as to whether Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt has been speaking under the auspices of the Republican national committee was dispelled today when she called at western headquarters.

"I am sorry only that she cannot give us more of her time," said Walter Newton, chairman of the speakers' bureau.

His declaration resulted from a question to put the woman assistant attorney general as to whether she had been free-lancing. Turning to Mr. Newton, Mrs. Willebrandt suggested he could best answer it.

"Mrs. Willebrandt has been speaking under the auspices of the speakers' bureau of the Republican national committee and she has future engagements in several states, including Kentucky and Tennessee for October," answered Mr. Newton.

"The demands for Mrs. Willebrandt's time from the various states I can place at the disposal of state chairmen in the middle west."

Mrs. Willebrandt, whose recent campaign addresses stirred criticism from newspapers and individuals, arrived here yesterday. She did not explain her visit, but said she was leaving for Washington tonight.

Cleveland, Sept. 26—(P)—Maurice Maschke, Republican national committeeman for Ohio, today characterized the outpouring attacks on Governor Smith by Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt, assistant U. S. attorney general, as "well intended but misguided."

"I believe the campaign should be waged only along one line, the qualifications of our candidate to fill the office of president," Maschke said.

Former President of Railroad Dies

New York, Sept. 26—(P)—Arthur E. Stillwell, former president of the Kansas City, Pittsburg & Gulf railroad, died of apoplexy today at his apartment here. He was 68 years old.

He had been in ill health for six years and retired from active business in 1916. At the peak of his career, after he had engaged in a variety of large-scale enterprises, he astonished all but his intimate friends by announcing that he had been guided in all his undertakings by the advice of spirits.

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle declared his belief that Mr. Stillwell had been through the greatest psychical experiences of any living man.

The first road Stillwell built was the Kansas City Belt Line. It was followed by the more ambitious project of a railroad from Kansas City to the Gulf of Mexico.

The inspiration of that undertaking, he said later, came to him from spirits. The same spirits, he said, warned him when he planned to build a terminal at Galveston, Tex., that the city would be devastated by a storm. He swung his road away from Galveston and four days after completion of the terminal at Port Arthur, Tex., Galveston was swept by a hurricane and tidal wave.

Besides his railroad activities, Mr. Stillwell was a banker and mining promoter. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Jennie Wood Stillwell.

Col. Lindbergh Registers for Fail Election

St. Louis, Sept. 26—(P)—One of the presidential candidates is going to get the vote of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh.

The famous flyer arrived here tonight for the purpose of registering tomorrow so that he may vote in the November election.

Whom he will vote for was not disclosed by Harold B. Bixby, host to Colonel Lindbergh and Major Thomas G. Lanphier, who accompanied him from Chicago.

BOARD ORDERS SHIP INQUIRY

(Continued From Page One.) on regular routes between Atlantic and Pacific coast ports of the United States and as such is a common carrier by water; inter-state commerce within the meaning of section 1 of the shipping act of 1916."

It was explained that the Ford ships were used for the distribution of that company's automobiles but that it had been claimed by other carriers these ships had secured cargoes from other concerns on return voyages. Under the shipping law industrial carriers which transport goods of the company that owns them are not compelled to file maximum rates and charges required of common carriers.

SMITH'S TOUR LOOKS AHEAD TO 1932 RACE

(Continued From Page One.) been taught to expect a kind of show when Al Smith appears and in the end that may or may not prove an advantage. Certainly the Smith personality so familiar to the East is popular in the West and if he made as many speeches and stopped as many places as did Bryan in 1896, the crowds might even be greater. Just what effect this has on electoral votes is something else but what effect it will have on Smith's opportunity to lead his party in 1932 is by no means of passing significance.

Read Must Bring Appeal to Court

Lansing, Sept. 26—(P)—State senator Thomas Reed, defeated candidate for the Republican nomination in the 26th district, has no recourse as far as state intervention is concerned, Clark Brown, head of the state compiling division of the department of state, and in charge of election matters, said today.

Read demanded a re-count when returns showed him beaten by Orville E. Atwood by 26 votes. The state board of canvassers abandoned the recount when in 19 precincts it was found that the ballots had not been properly wrapped and sealed. In most cases the ballot boxes were sealed, as required by law, but the ballots were unsealed. In as much as the state board has no judicial jurisdiction it refused to count the ballots. Read probably would have to carry his case into court if he wishes to pursue it further, it was said.

According to Brown perhaps 90 percent of the precincts in the state violated the law in respect to failing to wrap and seal the ballots. This must be done in addition to sealing the boxes. The matter, however, is one for the courts to decide if candidates wish to enter litigation. While technically the election in these precincts was illegal the supreme court has indicated the election would not be invalidated unless the failure to comply would alter the result.

Because of the widespread failure to comply Brown is preparing detailed instructions for election officials so they may know what to do in the November elections.

Paper Says Moses Had Nothing to Do With Woman's Talk

New York, Sept. 26—(P)—The New York Times tomorrow will quote Senator George H. Moses, director of Hoover's campaign in the east, as saying that he has nothing to do with Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt's part in the campaign and intends to leave it alone.

"I have received what might be termed a significant number of telegrams protesting against Mrs. Willebrandt's work," he said. "They come mainly from what could be called the wet centers of the east."

POLITICAL FERVOR IN WEST GROWS

(Continued From Page One.) E. Smith is willing to surrender without a fight; in fact, both have made special appeals to them. All of these states are interested to some degree in water power, most of them particularly in the disputed Boulder dam project, and it was with that in mind that Hoover soon after his acceptance speech discussed the subject at Los Angeles, and Gov. Smith dwelt upon it in his recent Denver address.

Although the Boulder dam theme runs through all of the group, it is to be made a dominant issue in Arizona, where the Democratic forces led by Gov. Hunt and Senator Ashurst Long has fought for the state's rights which they declare to be in jeopardy under pending plans for the project. Although some Republicans insist the dam no longer is an issue, and others say that Arizona will be satisfied with Hoover's Los Angeles statement that all of the states concerned must consider the others' desires, the Democrats are using it with vigor against Hoover.

Vote Club Formed. In attempting to put the six states in the victory column, the Democrats are confronted with the fact that while all of them have at times divided their favor between the parties, all were carried by Harding and Coolidge eight and four years ago. But they are of strong heart and are depending upon a combination of issues and winning personalities to put them across. They take encouragement from the Republican squabble in Colorado, so serious as to draw the demand of Chairman Work of the Republican national committee, that factional strife cease lest it harm the national ticket; they are encouraged by the winning propensities of Senator Kendrick who is up for re-election in Wyoming, and by the known wet sentiment in that state and Colorado, as in Nevada, where they have Senator Key Pittman running with Smith and Robinson. In normally Republican Utah, Senator King is on the ticket, before an electorate of great Mormon strength that is believed by Democrats to be favorable to Smith.

As in Arizona, Boulder dam is an issue in New Mexico, but that state is admittedly a question mark because of strife within both parties. They are working to iron out the wrinkles, however, and both have an eye on the Mexican vote, a Catholic vote of considerable strength. Of disputed importance is the newly formed El Club Politico Independiente, a Mexican body claiming 17,000 members pledged to obtain equal political favor as between the two races. It has been recognized by the Republican state convention but is dismissed by the Democrats as only 1,000 members strong and as a creation of the Republican Senator Cutting to wear Catholic votes away from Smith.

Opposition Has Troubles. One of the Republican disputes has concerned a question asked by a few partisans as to the real political identity of Cutting, who was appointed some months ago to succeed Andrew A. Jones, Democrat, at his death. In the past Cutting through his newspaper has supported both parties in turn, and his foes within the Republican organization declared he is a Democrat.

The opposition, meanwhile, had been having its own troubles, with two factions hurling charges that the other intended to sacrifice Smith's chances in an effort to safeguard the state ticket and vice versa. As a result independent state and national headquarters have been opened and some Republicans are optimistic that the div-

KING PLEASED WITH AIR TRIP

Flyer Writes to Express Appreciation of Reception

The following letter was received here yesterday from Captain Lawrence G. King, of Detroit, a member of the party which flew with Gov. Fred W. Green, to Escanaba last Thursday to attend the Upper Peninsula State Fair: "In behalf of Governor Green and the members of his party, I want to express our appreciation of the cordial hospitality extended to us by your committee and the citizens of the Escanaba community. We were delighted to find such a large and complete airport at Escanaba and such exceptional enthusiasm on the part of the citizens there.

"It is needless to say that we all thought the Upper Peninsula State Fair was a great success, and is bound to become bigger and better each year. Our flyers did not hesitate to express most emphatically their liking for the flying facilities at your airport, with its new hangar and splendid turf. The only criticism any of them ventured was a constructive one, and that was that at the first opportunity some arrangement should be made for widening the field, which is a little bit narrow for landings when there is an east or west wind blowing. However, in view of the prevailing winds in that part of the state, the present field should be ample to serve Escanaba's needs until commercial flying becomes a little more frequent in that part of Michigan.

Commercial Line?

"It would not surprise me to see some sort of a commercial flying line joining the two peninsulas before many months have gone by, and if so, Escanaba will be only about four hours comfortable ride from the city of Detroit.

"If there is anything that we can do in this part of the country toward furthering the interest in aviation in your city, I hope that you will not hesitate to communicate with me, and I assure you that you will have our whole-hearted cooperation."

PAVING WORK PROGRESSING

The paving of South Fourth street from First avenue south to Lake Shore Drive was completed by the Delta Contracting company on Tuesday, but the street will not be open for traffic until 21 days, this being the amount of time required for the proper curing of the concrete.

The concrete mixing machine and a crew of workmen are now paving South Sixth street, and rapid progress is being made there. The one block on South Thirteenth street is more than half paved, and the curb and gutter on South Eighth street is finished.

During the summer, the city crew completed the retreading of 12 blocks. Second avenue south, between Tenth and Seventeenth streets, and Fifteenth street, between Ludington and Fifth avenue south, were the streets thus improved. Considerable patching work was done during the summer, and now all streets in the city are in fine shape.

Gutters on South Sixteenth street are being cleared of their accumulation of dirt and debris to permit the even flow of water to the storm sewers. This will eliminate the formation of pools of water in this street during rainstorms. Work of putting in storm sewers on the streets now being paved is nearing completion.

In spite of war conditions there are more than 30,000 foreigners in China today.

BRIEFLY TOLD

Swedish Supper:

A so-called Swedish Supper will be held by the Ladies Aid Society of the Cornell Community at the town hall of Cornell Friday, Sept. 28 beginning at 6 p. m. A good supper will be served for a reasonable price. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Pantry Sale:

A Pantry Sale by the Swedish Methodist Ladies Aid Society will be held in the Scandia Co-operative Store, Ludington St., beginning at 9 o'clock Saturday morning. A good assortment of baked goods will be offered for sale. The patronage of the public is solicited.

Eagles Initiation:

Twenty-seven new members were initiated into the Fraternal Order of Eagles at the meeting Tuesday night, and seven other candidates were held over for initiation at a later date. State President, W. D. Lorenz of Muskegon, in an address, discussed the Mothers' compensation, Workmen's compensation, Mothers' Day and Old Age Pension laws which he said were first sponsored by the Fraternal Order of Eagles. Upon request of the officers and members, Mr. Lorenz consented to remain in Escanaba another week to assist in the membership campaign now under way. The next class will be initiated Wednesday evening, Oct. 3, it has been announced.

Alleged Rapist Nabbed:

Sheriff Glenn Bagley of Antrim county came to Escanaba yesterday to take into custody Nelson Miller, 52, who is wanted at Bellaire, Mich., on a charge of raping a 15-year-old girl. Miller, who was employed at the chemical plant, was arrested by the sheriff's department upon the request of Sheriff Bagley.

Hangar Doors Stolen:

Four doors were taken from the airplane hangar building located on the south shore, it was reported yesterday to the police station. The hangar was used by "Wallie" Arntzen, local flyer, for several months before the U. P. Airways, Inc., field was established. Police learned that a large truck carried the missing articles away.

Mission Circle:

A meeting of the Women's Mission Circle of the First Presbyterian church will be held at the home of Mrs. Otto Trauds, 419 So. 17th street Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. This is the regular meeting which was postponed from Sept. 18th to this date. Mrs. Hubbard will have charge of the program.

Officers' Meeting at St. Joseph's:

Tonight the officers of the Young Ladies' Sodality and Club will meet in St. Joseph's hall at 8 o'clock. The following have been called to this special meeting: The Misses Susan Sabbin, Hazel Todd, Eva Petri, Jessica Gross, Irene Vogel, Barbara Vogel, Lillian Martin, Catherine Murray, Ullaine O'Donnell, Lucille Stockemer, Margaret Walters, Gertrude Meyers, Nellie Lanthier, and Lucille Valind. At this meeting plans will be made for the fall and winter activities of the Club and Sodality.

The Swedish Baptist church Ladies' Aid society will hold a social meeting at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the church. Mrs. Alex Olson will be the hostess.

Terrace Gardens:

There will be no dance at Terrace Gardens tonight. The management announces

DANGERS NEAR 300-HR. MARK

Staudohars and Sydmark- Seely Couple Yet in Marathon

The two remaining couples in the marathon dancing contest at the Coliseum took a firmer grip upon themselves early this morning as they gradually approached the end of the second lap, insuring the winner a $1,000 cash prize.

Two hundred and ninety-three hours had been danced by Peter and Anne Staudohar, Iron Mountain, and Vivian Seely and Rudolph Sydmark of this city, at 4 o'clock this morning. When they reach the 330-hour mark, the winning pair will be eligible to receive a $1,000 prize, according to the schedule of awards based on the number of hours danced.

None of the dancers appeared to feel any ill effects from the long grind, and neither were any of the quartet exhibiting signs of "goofiness," which troubled some of the contestants who dropped out last week. They have little trouble in arising from their slumber at the end of the rest period between 3 and 6 o'clock in the morning, and after getting up have full control of their faculties.

Joynes and Flute, the two eccentric dancers who are billed as the originators of the "slow motion dance," are still as popular as ever with the spectators.

Peter Staudohar and his sister, Anne, have ambitions to enter vaudeville after leaving the marathon event, and every evening they are giving exhibitions of specialty dancing, which should make a hit on any vaudeville stage.

BACKACHES AND GAS IN STOMACH HAVE VANISHED

Local Matron Highly Pleased With Benefits Brought By Dreco

Welcome relief is promised those who suffer from a weakened, deranged stomach, constipated bowels, worn-out nerves, painful joints and similar complaints, if they'll try Dreco, the new plant and herb compound which is now being so successfully introduced by the Dreco man at the Drug Dept. of the Fair Store.

Read how Dreco helped Mrs. Rose Labombard, 617 North 20th St., this city. She says:

"During the past year I have felt more or less miserable all the time. Although I had but little appetite I was troubled a great deal with gas in my stomach and heartburn, as well as with constipation. At times my back would get so stiff I could scarcely managed to do my housework and I also suffered with dizzy spells. I grew nervous and completely rundown in general.

"Dreco has not only completely relieved all the distress in my stomach and the pains in my back but has also ended all the other little complaints which used to worry me so much and I am now enjoying better health than in a long, long time."

The Dreco Man is now at Drug Dept., Fair Store where he is daily explaining the merits of Dreco to numerous local people and presenting everyone who is interested with a valuable health booklet free.

Some Little Known Facts About the Men Who Made Our Country Great—Or Even Greater.

Contrary to the general impression, the Battle of Brandywine had nothing to do with the administration and enforcement of the eighteenth amendment.

Patriotic music lovers have endeavored to impress upon the younger generation that the instrument which George Washington was so fond of playing was a flute, not a saxophone.

MEASURES NOT MEN

Let's vote for men not measures, truth not laws,
 Concern ourselves not with effect but cause.
 The leader is the army, judge the court,
 And matter more than rules of every sort.
 Platforms and precepts and ideals and creeds,
 What are they all unless expressed in deeds?
 The greatest nation or the smallest clan,
 The thing that really matters is the man.

In men the land must always put its trust;
 No law is just unless the judge is just.
 I'd rather trust my fortunes to the wise
 Than written wisdom that some knave applies.
 A golden scepter is a tawdry thing,
 However wise the law, if fool the king.
 Men matter most, and so I say again,
 Let's vote for measures less, and more for men.

SALVE TO RELIEVE CANCER PAIN MIGHT BE FAR FROM BLESSING.

Marketing Medicines

Mr. S.—It is very laudable for you to want to relieve cancer sufferers of pain with your salve, but even if it were true that it could do this, it might be the worst thing that could happen, for often times it is only when the cancer reaches the painful stage that the patient goes to the surgeon, and very many times even this is too late.

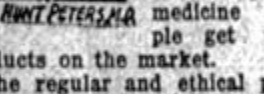

I don't know how the patent medicine people get their products on the market.

The regular and ethical pharmaceutical houses have very large laboratories and staffs of trained scientists working out their remedies, animals to test them upon, etc., and if it is found that a certain drug seems to be curative in any line, they have to submit proof of its efficacy in hundreds of actual cases before it is accepted by the National Pharmacopeia. They also work in conjunction with clinics and hospitals.

Yes, I read the article. I also read the original article in the magazine written by the woman who claims that she was cured of her cancer by a grape diet, for my work makes it necessary for me to read very extensively along non-medical as well as medical lines. The editor of these periodicals, as perhaps you know, is a faddist. He is not a scientifically trained man at all, and he makes some very absurd statements. For instance, it is very absurd to say, as he did in his editorial, that the medical profession is trying to prevent a knowledge of how to cure cancer. There is no disease that it is studying more intensively. There are groups of men who are devoting their entire lives to it.

This editor, with his freak ideas, does an infinite amount of harm. After a cancer has started, the cancer seeds—we'll call them—are sown and they are going to grow unless they are removed by some method.

While there is no doubt that there is something wrong with the chemistry of the body for the cancer seeds to develop, and wrong diet and lack of exercise are among the factors producing the wrong chemistry, after a cancer has started no diet will destroy it. This is the opinion of experts on the subject.

Extensive animal research work done by Fliam and Thoyre (Journal of the A. M. A., March 31, 1925) shows there is no scientific evidence of any chronic poisoning taking place from food cooked in aluminum utensils.

Again about your salve: Not being a physician, nor having any scientific training and experience with drugs and chemicals, your work along those lines could not be accepted. I feel very bitter about laymen's putting out cures or reliefs for cancer, for my own father died of cancer—this was before I began my medical training—and he might not have died had we not depended upon a patent medicine (at $5 a bottle) which claimed to cure the disease. My father had a skin cancer which could have been cured when it first appeared, but through the faith in this patent medicine he neglected to go to the doctor, and when he did go it was too late, for the cancer cells were distributed throughout his body.

As you are interested in the subject, I think you should write to the American Society for the Control of Cancer, 25 West 47th Street, New York City, for literature.

Mrs. F.—We have an article Anemias, which gives the Min Murphy diet in the pernicious type.

Women Dress to Please the Men

Newcastle-on-Tyne (P)—Men are interested in women's clothes but not in babies. So declares Mrs. Walter Runciman, M. P., who is the latest addition to women parliamentarians in the house of commons and should be an authority on the subject.

In addressing the Newcastle Rotary club here on women's questions Mrs. Runciman said that there were none which did not interest men as well as women unless it was the care of babies. Men, she declared, are responsible for all modern eccentricities in feminine dress because women dress to please them. They, however, are not so ready to please women in the same way.

"It is a pity men do not give more attention to their own adornment," says Mrs. Runciman, "and produce something more interesting and becoming in their clothes than they do now."

CHAPTER XXXV. CHEERS FOR THE "YOUNG BOSS"

For a moment there was a breathless silence, and then a rush of all the men and women in the room toward Ralph Armitage. He sank into a nearby chair, his knees were beginning to slump as the whole office force clustered near, congratulating him on his narrow escape.

"Anyone would think this was my reception day, instead of a business office," he said, a little unsteadily. "What would the senior partner of this institution think if he could see the dignified business of Armitage & Son smashed into little pieces in this way?"

Ralph's eyes were misty. "However, I didn't think you all thought so much of me. Help me up, Wilson. I must get away from this, or else I'll play the child. I don't want any of you to think I don't appreciate your kindness, and I guess, after all, you don't think I am such a bad employer."

"Three cheers for the 'young boss'!" said Stanley Horton, the bookkeeper, who had been with the firm ever since Ralph was born. He came up now, and threw his arm across Ralph's shoulders. The tears overflowed both men's eyes, and they were not ashamed to let the force see them.

"You should not have come down, Mr. Armitage," Lynda exclaimed, as she went forward to meet him.

He was almost in a state of collapse. He had not expected the enthusiastic welcome he had just received; neither had he realized before how weak the shock of his accident had made him.

"Help me to that big leather chair over there, Wilson," he said, in tones that told of extreme physical suffering.

"Lynda, come here and help us. Wilson, you get on the right side of me."

As the man moved, Armitage fairly flung his left arm about Lynda's shoulders, and as he did so, he gave a sigh of relief that ended in a groan.

As soon as he was settled, he closed his eyes for a moment, and then opened them quickly at the sound of the instant-telephone.

"Wilson, answer that damned bell," he ordered, as Lynda moved to go to it.

"The man held the receiver to his ear for a moment, and then turned.

"Someone wants to speak to Miss Fenton."

As Lynda slipped from off the arm of the leather chair, from where she had been supporting Ralph, she gently took his arm away from her shoulder, where it still was lingering.

"You may go, Wilson. Stay at the telephone desk in the reception room, and I'll have Miss Fenton call you when I want you."

Lynda picked up the receiver as Wilson left the room, and Ralph Armitage, who had an intuition of who was at the other end of the wire, heard her say:

"Yes, this is Miss Fenton who is speaking."

Lynda Fenton listened intently to the words that were coming to her over the telephone. Impatiently sitting in the leather chair, Ralph Armitage wondered if his business were correct and it was Pamela Sheston who was speaking. In reality, it was less than a half minute before he heard Lynda answer: "Yes, Miss Sheston."

He swore under his breath, saying: "I wonder what that woman wants of Lyn?"

She was listening again.

"I don't quite understand you, Miss Sheston."

"If you have read the newspaper reports, you know as much as I do about the accident."

Ralph grew restless as Lynda seemed listening to a longer speech than ever. At last she answered:

"I cannot tell you that, Miss Sheston, but Mr. Armitage has just come in, and I will ask him the question and relay the answer to you. . . . He can't come to the phone. His man has just put him in a large leather chair from which he cannot—"

"Hang up that receiver, Lynda. That woman does not need any explanations now. When I think she does, I'll give them myself."

Lynda obediently hung up the receiver.

Who's Who and Timely Views

WORLD VIEWED AS IN NEED OF OLD ETHICAL STANDARDS.
By JUDGE FLORENCE E. ALLEN

Justice, Supreme Court of Ohio.

The men at Valley Forge and the wives who waited, endured more for their ideals than could we today.

What the world most needs today is to come back to the old ethical standards laid down by our forefathers and our foremothers. Honor and honesty and truth were at a very high par in their day. There were no creature comforts then, but they had something which we can't duplicate. They possessed sturdiness and strength and worked for the sake of working. In them lies the strength of our country. They so worked for the love of working that they were willing to sacrifice themselves to take part in the "Great American Enterprise." Women, too, took part, giving counsel and encouragement and exhibiting both a woman's and a man's courage.

We have built up a framework of government which is now being copied by other nations of the world. We were able to do this because men and women worked for the love of working. This government is a government "of the people, by the people, for the people," and not a government of the politicians, by the politicians, for the politicians.

There are many fine politicians in politics today, but many politicians have been thrown out of office, because they thought politics a game to be played for the personal benefit. We have slipped from the old integrity, from the old ethical standards of our forefathers, and there is a laxity, tolerance and acquiescence among the American people at large. Men who would not steal, will yet condone and take part in the misappropriation of public funds. When the honesty of the ballot box goes, the government will be in grave danger.

Chicago is a magnificent town. It has a splendid university, a fine orchestra, and a system of parks and playgrounds unequalled throughout the country. But to have a magnificent university and a fine orchestra does not make up for the laxity and apathy of its inhabitants in supporting the government. In Chicago they are reading exactly what they have sown. The recent demonstrations are due to a great, devastating disease of indifference.

Ours should be not only a lip service, but a heart service. Then we shall begin to make our country the great country that our forefathers envisioned.

JUDGE ALLEN

A PLEA FOR THE COACH.
KNUTE ROCKNE, Not a r.e. Dame's famous football coach, writing in the current issue of Liberty Magazine, very sensibly insists that the football coaches association ought to be officially represented, as an association, upon the national rules committee. For, as he points out, the coaches are "of the profession which is most intimately concerned with the game of football."

"Most coaches have little authority," Rockne asserts. "Faculty men arrange schedules, buy equipment, and hire assistants for them. If the faculty men do a poor job the coaches must make the best of things or get out."

"If a professor of English makes a botch of his athletic sideline he continues to hold his job indefinitely without a severe test of his efficiency as an instructor and no strutting whatever of his athletic stewardship. His coach may have an impossible schedule, poor equipment, mediocre material, disloyal assistants, and be embarrassed by discomforts on trips which seriously affect the team; but that, it seems, along with making the rules, is none of the coach's business. Yet he is tested, publicly, every week. A winning coach is lauded all out of proportion to his worth. But the losing coach? Ah!

"First come the squawking five dollar betters among the alumni. The big guns of the press lay down a barrage for the snipers, machine gunners and bayonet men, the faculties, townspeople, and plain darn fools among the coaches. The smoke clears—revealing the losing coach in open light before the victorious rebel.

"The coaches," Rockne continues, "have worried of that sort of thing. They seek stability and respect. They believe that their profession is worth while and far more useful than that of the educated derelicts, dilettantes and parasites on the game who would put the American coach on the same level as the coach in England and Canada."

Mr. Rockne makes a case sufficiently strong to convince real lovers of football. Unfortunately, however, the "educated derelicts, dilettantes and parasites on the game" to whom he refers are not true lovers of the game. They merely love themselves. They are men of the type that has all but ruined tennis in the United States. They'd ruin football, too, further to inflate their own vanity, if they were given a chance.

Sportsmen of the Upper Peninsula have asked the conservation commission to protect bear. As far as we are concerned, personally, bear are thoroughly able to protect themselves.

Mullagh, in County Clare, Ireland, has a population of 57, and nine saloons. It couldn't do a great deal better than that if it were in dry territory.

Women of the United States are said to have spent $40,000,000 last year for permanent waves—you know—the temporary kind.

THE WAY OF THE WORLD
By GROVE PATTERSON.

CHANGEABLE

Most of us live in fear of being thought changeable. We act as though we were baseball umpires and didn't dare to change our minds, even after a bad decision. The sensible program is to change your mind as often as you get new facts enough to justify it.

THE BOOTLEGGER

Society is very cruel to the bootlegger. He is welcome among our best people, but he isn't taken in at the front door. That's hardly fair.

VITAL

One wonders if anything can be more important in this strange world than kindness. Just as blasting was about to begin on a six million dollar building job at a San Francisco corner, word came to the contractor that a woman in a nearby apartment house was expecting the arrival of a baby in about a week. And the contractor stopped all his men and all his horses and put the job off until a much more important matter than a six million dollar building had been disposed of.

SHIPS

There is a verse which goes like this: "If all the ships I have at sea Should come a-sailing home to me, Ab, well! the harbor would not hold."

So many ships at sea would be. If all my ships came in from sea. All through the years we are sending out ships. Some day a dear one dies. All the years you have been putting things in the ships—love and care and tenderness, or thoughtlessness and cruelty and disloyalty. And on that day the ships come home from sea. How about the cargoes then?

Can we say, then, with those other lines: "Oh skies be calm! Oh winds blow free—blow all my ships safe home to me!" Or will we be wishing that some ships might never come home again?

The ships will come in. Be sure of that.

Tenor Who Drives Rivets Dreams of Singing in Opera

Pittsburgh, Pa.—A structural steel worker who sings in a tenor voice as he drives red-hot rivets into their slots hundreds of feet above the roaring traffic of the city has been "found" here.

The "find" is Maximilian Bradoc, 33-year-old, German-born American citizen, who served in the United States navy during the World War.

Victor Saudek, Pittsburgh orchestra conductor and radio artist, discovered Bradoc. While passing a skyscraper under construction he was amazed to hear a tenor singing ballads. Waiting on the spot until the noon whistle released the workers for lunch, he sought out the aerial vocalist. Since then Bradoc has sung at civic club meetings and over the radio.

While working in New York, "Max" gave recitals in The Little Church Around the Corner and in the First Presbyterian church.

Bradoc's "heart's desire," he says, is to sing in grand opera, and he sees the concert stage as a stepping stone to his goal.

But in the meantime, he says, he'll continue to drive rivets for his perch high above the earth.

FRIENDS OF FARM RELIEF.
WHO ARE THE real friends of farm relief and where are they to be found? The answer to that question may prove interesting, in the light of some of Gov. Alfred E. Smith's recent utterances in the west.

Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon and Congressman Gilbert N. Haugen of Iowa, chief sponsors of the McNary-Haugen bill are supporting the candidacy of Herbert Hoover. So is Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, the staunchest and most influential friend of farm relief in the country. So is Senator Smith Brookhart of Iowa. So are scores of leaders of farmers' organizations, and the editors of virtually all of the influential agricultural papers.

These men undoubtedly believe that Herbert Hoover has the broad training, experience and executive ability necessary to restore agriculture to a firm footing.

Gov. Smith's declaration that he favors, "in principle," the terms of the McNary-Haugen bill came a bit too late to be convincing. The men who know best what agriculture needs sized up the two candidates and made their selection many months ago, while Gov. Smith was talking about "calling a conference of the best minds" to work out a solution. "The best minds" in agriculture beat him to it. They're for Hoover.

However, comma, the old-time who used to pulverize his pipe tobacco between the palms of his hands, has a son who rolls his own cigarettes.

FOURTH CONVICTION.
FRED PALM, Michigan's "plint of gin lifer" now has a companion. Alfred Noyes, 54 years old, of Iowa, has been sent to prison for life under the Michigan habitual criminal law. Noyes' fourth offense was possession of liquor in his home.

That fact will give the soft-boiled sentimentalists of the country more ammunition. The comparative mildness of the fourth felony will, as in the Palm case, be emphasized. The seriousness of the three previous convictions and their importance in the life sentence, will again be overlooked.

Alfred Noyes was convicted once on a charge of grand larceny and twice on charges of burglary. He is an habitual criminal and his record plainly shows it. The place for habitual criminals is in the penitentiary.

It isn't shooting square with the law and the court to remember the details of the fourth felony Noyes committed, unless we also remember the details of the first, the second and the third.

We've been waiting for some prominent citizen to get himself on page one, top-column next to pure reading matter, by announcing his refusal to "boil."

A CIVILIAN PRESIDENT.
EMILIO PORTES GIL, the new president of Mexico, is a lawyer, not a professional soldier. That fact may be significant. Mexico has been ruled for generations by military men. Few have been its presidents who have had no military career.

Moreover, as governor of Tamaulipas, and as secretary of the interior under President Calles, Portes Gil has shown keen interest in education and in other governmental affairs upon the stabilization of Mexico must be predicated. He established the first free-state supported industrial school for children. He stamped out syndicated gambling in many of the larger cities. He has repeatedly shown his desire to assist in the agricultural development of the land. And he has been, consistently, the friend of the United States.

It is possible, as some observers charge, that the Mexican people can not safely be ruled by a man who has no military background. We aren't so sure about that. The rule of the soldier, in that country, certainly can not be regarded as highly successful. The change in viewpoint from the president is a very desirable one.

Plan World-wide Highway Survey

Geneva (P)—The convocation of an international conference for the protection of birds will be urged upon the September assembly of the League of Nations, according to a statement issued by the international committee which is interested in the preservation of bird life. Several members of the league council believe the question of protection of migratory birds falls within the scope of league activities and will advocate a conference.

Premier Mussolini, of Italy, is cited in the statement as a man who is leading the way to proper bird protection by insisting that birds are national property and by protecting them as of value to humanity. The committee believes Italy will become one of the greatest bird sanctuaries in southern Europe.

The international institute of agriculture at Rome has been asked to co-operate in making known the value of birds to agriculture.

GARDEN NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Boyer visited relatives at Stephenson Saturday, returning to their home here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Van Remortel, of Fayette, left here Monday for Green Bay where they visited relatives for several days, returning to their home here Thursday. The following Saturday, Mr. Van Remortel motored to Escanaba from where he went by rail to Chicago, remaining there until Monday of this week.

Mrs. Baker spent the whole of the past week at the home of her son William and family, at Escanaba.

William McNally, whose temporary home is at Houghton, spent the past week end with his family here. Mrs. McNally and son Lloyd accompanied him as far as Escanaba on his way back Monday morning.

Sunday and Monday were most unusual days. The weather was such as to remind that winter was not far away. It consisted of quite a variety, including rain and snow with a little hail, a little sunshine at intervals, much wind, and extremely cold. No killing frosts have as yet been reported in the district.

Aristide Thibault and son Ulysses made a brief visit at the Joseph Balthras farm east of town Saturday.

Ulysses Thibault motored to Manistique Sunday.

A number of farmers are much concerned about their grain crops that are still out in the fields. Reports are received that peas are sprouting badly. Much extra work is entailed in turning in order to give them a better chance to dry out. In some places, potatoes are rotting in the ground. Continued wet weather is responsible for these conditions.

The Misses Lorraine Hennessey and Stella Gauthier made a business trip to Manistique Saturday.

While assisting in the loading of a lumber boat at Nahma several days ago, Ulysses Thibault met with a painful accident when a companion working by his side drove a pickaxe in his left foot.

He went to the local doctor for treatment and is not able for some time to follow his employment.

Albert Beardsley and Solby LaLafave were Fayette callers Sunday.

Charles Laux of Fayette, was a caller in town Sunday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gardner of Manistique, called on friends here Sunday.

William Aldous, local barber, was unable to open up his place business all last week, on account of a bad attack of rheumatism.

While somewhat better he is still unable to open his shop, hopes to be able to get back his a few days.

John Kohlman was confined to his home here during the whole of last week. While somewhat better, he is still unable to be out at this time.

Charles Arnold of Fayette, was a business caller in town Saturday.

The Department of Agriculture is seeking the cooperation of students of local schools in locating any cases of White Pine Blister Rust which appears on practically all varieties of currants and gooseberries. Black currants are most susceptible to this disease. While there are not many black currant trees in the gardens on this peninsula, there are numerous bushes growing wild and it is feared that these are hosts for the rust. Pupils are requested to be on the lookout for suspicious bushes, and take leaves from these, to the local teachers who will report to the department.

Post Office Inspector McDougall was in Garden and Fayette Thursday last on his annual official visit.

Mr. and Mrs. John Geniesse, son William and Mrs. John Folio of Fayette, made a business trip to Escanaba Friday and returned Saturday.

after spending several days at the home of his friend, David Hornung.

Mrs. Johnson went to Manistique Wednesday and visited at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Joseph Turpin. She returned to her home at Garden Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rousseau and family, and Miss Lucille Boudreau of Manistique, visited at the home of the latter's father, Napoleon Boudreau, Jr., Sunday.

The car in which Delphus LeMotte and Joseph Rochefort were driving Saturday took the ditch near the former's home at Puffy Creek. It remained there some considerable time before they could get help to tow them out. No serious damage was done either to the car or to its occupants. The only reason given for the accident was that the driver lost control of the steering wheel.

Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Lewis of Gladstone were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. Lafave Sunday morning. Later in the day they motored to Fairport and returned to Gladstone Monday.

Nicholas Thill is very sick at his home at Fayette. An Escanaba physician was called in Monday night. He has been in poor health for several years.

William Folio and son Bert, also John Fagan of Fayette, were callers in town Monday.

Mrs. Joseph Turpin and Mrs. Lela McKenzie of Manistique, were callers at the home of the former's mother, Mrs. Emma Johnson Monday. They returned to the city the same day. Mrs. Walter McGavin of Waukegan accompanied them. The latter will visit with them for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Noel Deloria and Mrs. Gaffney of Negaunee visited relatives here Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Folio and family motored to Escanaba Saturday and returned Sunday.

Just before they arrived at Deer Creek on the return trip, they saw two deer in the highway just ahead of the car and had to slow down in order to avoid hitting them. They evidently sensed the fact that hunting season was not yet.

Local church services, Sunday, September 30:

St. John the Baptist Church, 8 a. m., Low Mass, followed by Benediction with the Blessed Sacrament.

2 p. m., Catechism.

2:30 p. m., Baptisms.

Rev. Fr. V. C. Savageau, Garden.

Congregational Churches.

10:00 a. m., Garden.

2:30 p. m., Fayette.

Welcome for all.

The usual stereopticon lecture will not be given in the Fayette church Sunday night. They will be continued in the latter part of October.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Eucke and son Roy of Menominee, Mr. and Mrs. Caine, Mrs. Lawrence and brother of Marinette, visited at the LaMotte Institute Sunday.

Mrs. Caine remained to take a course of treatment.

Mrs. John Chaffee and son of Fairport were business callers in town Monday.

While following his employment, Clifford Gauthier hurt his knee and was compelled to consult a physician. He is able to be around with the aid of crutches.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Hynes returned to their home at Manistique Saturday night after visiting at the home of the former's mother here. Soon after their arrival there, they moved their household goods to Camp 16 near Nahma where they expect to make their home during the coming winter.

A party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Tatrow Sunday afternoon on the occasion of the eighth birthday anniversary of their daughter Lorraine. Those present included Fred Boudreau, Pauline Guertin, Doris Boudreau, Muriel Gauthier, Rosalind Hynes, Ione Kautchen, Priscilla Farley, Dene Kautchen, Norma Tatrow, Doris Chandanols, June Duchene, Gerard Gauthier, Leona Duchene, Donevin Chandanols, Theresa Hynes, Thomas Duchene, Norbert Boudreau, Bertha Hynes, James Hennessey, Van Deloria, Melvin Beeck, Allen Hynes, Ralph Deloria and Allen Hynes. Lunch was served at 4:30 after which the guests returned to their homes. Miss Tatrow was the recipient of many gifts.

Gordon and Andy Tatrow motored to Nahma to get the box factory saws filed.

Theodore Hynes of Nahma, spent Saturday at the home of his mother here.

After conducting services in this village Sunday morning last, Rev. Fr. V. C. Savageau motored to Dargett where he preached at the "Forty Hours Devotions" held in the Dargett church, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. He returned to his home here Tuesday night at the conclusion of the services there.

It is expected that there will be three threshing machines operating in the Fayette district this fall, but up to the present, only one, the Stellwagen outfit, is on the job. We are informed that there are still many acres of peas, and some of buckwheat not even cut. Most grain crops were good a little while ago but continued bad weather is taking the energies of farmers to get it safely in the bins.

Escanaban to Tell of His Work in U. P.

Rockford, Ill., Sept. 26.—A conference of the American Sunday School Union of the Lakes District, including Illinois, Wisconsin and Western Michigan, will be held here from Friday to Wednesday. Escanaba is in this district and has one of the district vice presidents, Lloyd Walker, President of Cloverland Commercial College.

David L. Catcart, of Escanaba, Sunday School missionary in the Upper Peninsula, will deliver an address on his work at the Friday morning session.

OBITUARY

PATRICK COFFEY.

The body of Patrick Coffey was removed from the Allo Funeral Home to the home of his sister, Mrs. M. Shipman, 905 So. First Ave., Wednesday noon where it will remain until this morning at 9 o'clock when funeral services will be held at St. Patrick's church. Burial will be in the family lot in St. Joseph's cemetery where other members of the family are buried.

ALFRED PEPIN.

Many sorrowing relatives and friends attended the funeral services which were conducted Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock at St. Anne's church for Alfred Pepin, who passed away Monday evening at the home of his niece, Mrs. Helena Fillion, 621 So. 16th St., and where the body lay pending the hour of the funeral services. Rev. Fr. Bonaventura Kilfoyle, O. P. M., was the celebrant at the requiem high mass.

Many spiritual offerings and a number of floral tributes were received at the home and many friends called to recite the rosary for the repose of his soul.

The pallbearers were Jerry Clouthier, Frank Beaudouin, Paul DeMars, Joseph Beauchamp, C. Derost and Simeon Pouliot.

Burial was in the family lot in St. Anne's cemetery where his wife was buried several years ago.

MRS. E. H. FULLER.

The body of Mrs. E. H. Fuller arrived from Green Bay Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock via the C. and N. W. Ry., and was taken to the Allo Funeral Home. At 4 o'clock it was removed to the home of her sister, Mrs. A. J. Beery, 307 So. 7th St., where it will remain until this morning at nine o'clock when funeral services will be held at St. Joseph's church. Burial will be in the family lot in St. Joseph's cemetery. Members of the family accompanied the remains to this city.

JAMES BODDY.

Many friends have called at the Allo Funeral Home where the body of James Boddy of Gary, Ind., formerly of this city, lies pending the hour of the funeral services which will be conducted there this afternoon at 2 o'clock by Rev. H. C. McDonald, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

A profusion of beautiful flowers surround the casket, tokens of esteem from a wide circle of friends.

The close friends who will act as pallbearers this afternoon are P. H. Connell, Henry Dostingney, E. P. O'Leary, James Tolan, Nick Thinnes and J. F. Burns.

Interment will be in the family lot in St. Joseph's cemetery where his wife was buried twenty-one years ago.

Out of town relatives who have arrived are Mr. and Mrs. Neil Blaney, Gary, Ind., Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Garrett and children of Gwin and Bert Boddy of Detroit.

NOAH LAFOND.

Many friends attended the funeral services which were held Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock for Noah Lafond, 110 So. 14th St., at St. Anne's church when Fr. Anthony Waechter was the celebrant at the requiem high mass. The pallbearers were Charles Namelle, Frank DeGrals, Octave LeDuc, Hermidas Fish, Phil Murray and John Smith. A large number of floral and spiritual offerings were received at the home where many friends called to extend their sympathy to the members of the family.

MATHIAS J. FILLION.

The body of Mathias J. Fillion was removed from the Allo Funeral Home Wednesday afternoon at 6 o'clock to the family residence, 516 South Eleventh street, where it will remain until Friday morning at 9 o'clock when a requiem high mass will be sung at St. Anne's church. Members of the Knights of Columbus, Holy Name Society, Catholic Order of Foresters, and all other organizations of which the deceased was a member, will assemble at the home this evening at 7:30 o'clock to recite the rosary for the repose of his soul.

Burial will be in the family lot in St. Anne's cemetery.

MRS. ANDERS LARSON. Mrs. Anders Larson, aged 47, passed away Wednesday noon at a local hospital where she had been admitted late Tuesday evening in a critical condition. Mrs. Larson had been ill with anemias for the past four years and her condition gradually grew weaker. She had been confined to her bed at home for several weeks.

Mrs. Larson is survived by her husband, her mother, Mrs. Charlotte Moberg of Minneapolis; three brothers and two sisters, Einar, Edward and Carl Moberg, Mrs. George McLeod, Mrs. Carl Hoberg, all of Minneapolis.

Mrs. Larson was born in Sweden, October 25, 1881, and had resided in this city for the past 27 years. She was a member of the Morning Star society.

The body was taken to the Anderson Funeral Home, but no definite funeral arrangements have been made.

Swallow Airplane Visits Ishpeming

Ishpeming—Wally Arntzen, pilot, and Harold Westcott, an official of the Upper Peninsula Airways, flew here yesterday morning from Escanaba and spent the remainder of the day in the city. The plane, which landed at the municipal airport, west of the city, is the first that has been in Ishpeming for several weeks and it attracted considerable attention.

The fliers reported that the trip from Escanaba to Ishpeming was one of the hardest they had ever experienced. They encountered a heavy snow storm before they reached Little Lake and were unable to find any ground markings to keep their course. It was necessary for them to follow the railroad tracks from Little Lake to Negaunee and because of the snow storm the ship was at no time higher than 40 feet from the tracks.

SMITH VISITS NORTH DAKOTA

Candidate Enroute to Minneapolis on Way to Home in East

BY PAUL F. HAUPERT
(Associated Press Staff Writer)
Governor Smith's train, enroute to Minneapolis, Sept. 26—(AP)—On the homeward bound stretch of his first stumping tour, Gov. Smith invaded North Dakota today and found it another state classed by his supporters as a real campaign battle ground.

Encouraging reports were given the Democratic presidential nominee as his train, headed for the twin cities of Minnesota, traversed North Dakota's vast farming territory.

At least an even chance to carry the state was the word brought to the governor by more than one of his followers, who boarded the special train for informal conferences with the nominee and his political advisers.

Others, however, emphasized that North Dakota normally is heavily Republican, particularly when there is no large scale bolt on the part of the non-partisan wing of the party, and they were of the opinion that the Democrats faced an uphill battle, despite certain encouraging trends.

Works Into Night.
Before breakfast had been served to the Democratic standard bearer, who never before had been in North Dakota, his train was well into the western part of the state. Throughout the day it reeled off mile after mile through rather level country with stops few and far between.

Bismark, the state capital, was on the schedule for a brief layover at midday with Fargo to the east, down for an hour's stop at nightfall. Only a few other station stops in the state were scheduled.

Gov. Smith worked far into the night as his train was leaving Montana on the speech he will deliver tomorrow night in St. Paul. He withheld definite announcement as to what would be his theme, but it was expected that he would touch on several campaign issues of particular interest to the agricultural northwest. After St. Paul, only one campaign, at Milwaukee Saturday night, is to be delivered before the Democratic nominee returns to his home state to take part in the New York Democratic convention and get some rest in Albany before starting out on another speech-making tour.

As he traveled eastward today, Gov. Smith was informed that from his standpoint western North Dakota, the stronghold of the non-partisan league, looked better than the eastern section of the state, generally regarded as more conservative.

Religion is Issue.
Advisers told him that he had gained support, despite the admitted weakness of the Democratic organization in the state, among the former followers of LaFollette and the independent voters among the German population and among those dissatisfied with conditions under prohibition.

On the other hand, those familiar with the North Dakota political situation emphasized that the religious issue was a factor working to Smith's disadvantage, particularly in the eastern section of the state.

Generally there was a feeling among the New York governor's lieutenants that his cause in North Dakota had been strengthened by the decision of Walter E. Maddock, who became governor recently on the death of Arthur G. Sorlie to run for that office this fall on the Democratic ticket. He is a non-partisan leaguer and seeking non-partisan league support. He is in the field against George Shafer, the nominee of the independent Republican faction.

Gov. Maddock, who is a farmer living north of Bismark, greeted Gov. Smith on his arrival at Bismark and was invited by the presidential nominee to accompany him to Fargo.

When he ran for Lieutenant governor, Maddock was on the Republican ticket and it is generally conceded that his switch to a Democratic designation on the November ballot may have a far-reaching effect on the national political situation in his state.

On the other hand, both Senators Nye and Frazier, who have been identified with the non-partisan Republican wing, have come out for Hoover. Frazier is a candidate for re-election.

RABBIT SEASON OPENS OCTOBER 1

Many inquiries received at the office of Rene H. Labre county clerk, indicate that there is considerable misunderstanding among sportsmen in this district relative to the state regulation on the rabbit hunting season.

Mr. Labre points out that in the upper peninsula all kinds of rabbits may be hunted from October 1 to February 1, whereas the open season on some kinds of rabbits is different in the lower peninsula.

The reason for the misunderstanding, Mr. Labre says, is that in the state game law pamphlets, published by the conservation department and distributed to sportsmen by county clerks, the dates designated for the open season on rabbits in the upper peninsula are not clearly indicated and persons reading the pamphlet are likely to confuse the regulations for the lower peninsula with those applying to the upper peninsula.

SENATOR CARAWAY

I would oppose any legislative proposal to change the federal jury system with respect to unanimity of verdicts. While I understand that in one or more states the procedure of jury verdicts by a majority of the jury is being tried out, I believe the requirement of unanimous verdicts is a proper one.

I personally have a great respect for the courts and juries, as they were understood at the time of the framing of the Federal Constitution. I have a great respect for the composite judgment of groups of people. I have the greatest respect for public opinion when formed deliberately, uninfluenced by prejudice or passion, which usually represents the very ideals for which America strives.

I had a case, particularly in my mind in this connection, which in-

Washington—To Spain, first to send domestic livestock to this country, the United States will express appreciation by exhibits at the International Livestock Exhibition in Seville next year.

The American commission planning participation, has decided to portray the history of the livestock industry on this continent, beginning with the cattle Christopher Columbus brought to America under the Spanish flag in 1493. Another exhibit will show sheep introduced by Coronado, a Spaniard, in 1540.

In connection with the mule-producing industry, which at the beginning of this year was valued at approximately $500,000,000, the exhibit will record the fact that in 1785 the King of Spain sent George Washington a fine Spanish jack, named Royal Gift, and two jennets whose offspring at Mount Vernon started a family tree which today has five and one-half million descendants.

CATTLE SALE TO BE TODAY

Danforth Holstein-Freisian Association Selling Out.

Dairy farmers from all parts of the upper Michigan and northern Wisconsin are expected to attend the auction sale of the Danforth Holstein-Freisian association at the U. P. State fair grounds today. Forty-four head of registered Holstein-Freisian cattle will be sold at the sale, which will start at noon.

Col. C. Wesley Graves of Marquette, will be the auctioneer and Jim Hays, Lansing, secretary of the Michigan Holstein-Freisian association, will serve as clerk.

The Danforth Holstein-Freisian association, composed of Escanaba business men and Delta county farmers, was organized in January, 1924. Its purpose was to bring pure bred cattle into this county, thereby improving the dairy stock in this section.

Each farmer who took a share of stock in the association was entitled to one cow. The cow belonged to the association but the farmer received all milk that she gave and one-half the increase.

The association was organized for five years, at the end of which time all original stock and increase was to be sold at auction. The original purchase consisted of sixteen heifers and a bull. These animals were purchased in Livingston county and were all from high producing herds.

The sale also includes two bull calves, which will be a credit to any herd. The proceeds of the sale will be distributed among the stockholders of the association. There is, of course, nothing to prevent a stockholder from purchasing cattle at the auction sale, provided his bid is highest.

The last Town Crier passes

Not so long ago, the newspapers made quite a feature of the retirement of the last-known public Town Crier. For years he had trod the streets of Provincetown, Massachusetts, ringing his bell and crying out the news and what not.

In Colonial times and during the early days of the Republic the Town Crier was a public institution. People depended on him for the latest news as well as for information regarding sales of goods by local merchants. But the newspaper and advertising made his services unnecessary years and years ago.

Today we turn to the newspapers for our news—and to the advertising columns for news of merchandise as naturally as we do to the sports page, the home economics page, the financial page or to any one of the specialized features that make the modern newspaper so indispensable to our every-day life—and advertising is as indispensable as the news, for advertising is news.

Advertising is the news of the moment just as surely as the latest press dispatch. It tells us what and when and where to purchase to save money and time and energy. It touches our daily lives in a thousand ways—it affects the health of our children, the happiness of our families and our own well-being.

Read the advertisements in the daily papers. They are vitally important to you and yours. They are your loyal friends and advisers.

AT THE RIALTO Girls who long for screen careers—here's a word of advice from Lon Chaney, famous character star, and the weird hero of "The Unknown," his new M-G-M vehicle at the Rialto Theatre, now showing.

Unless you can take your minds off the Charleston and Black Bottom, and resolve to study harder than you ever did in school—don't attempt it.

"Work," says Chaney, "is the only formula for screen success. While it is true that usually there is a spark of talent that leads to stardom, this does not mean that without it a girl cannot succeed as an actress.

In support of Mr. Chaney in "The Unknown" are Joan Crawford and Norman Kerry.

Friday Milton Sills, without resorting to a dual role, enacts two distinct characterizations in his First National starring production, "The Hawk's Nest," which will open at the Rialto Theatre tomorrow.

Completion of the enlargement of the Canal-du-Midi in France will require eight years.

Don't neglect Constipation

End It Today! The cause of sick headache, dizziness, biliousness, nausea, indigestion, bad breath—even simply or shallow complexion—is often constipation. FLIES' Feet Reek with FILTH

FLIES are born in filth. They habitually live in filth. Their bulbous, spongy feet absorb freely. When they trek across food or on the human body they deposit what they pick up. Germs are carried by flies. Flies must be killed. FLY-TOX KILLS FLIES. FLY-TOX is safe, stainless, fragrant, and sure death. Also kills mosquitoes, and bed bugs. Guaranteed.

STOCKS CLIMB, THEN GO BACK

STOCK SALES AVERAGES. Twenty Twenty Industrials Railroads Today 218.62 146.58

BY STANLEY W. FRENOSIL Associated Press Financial Editor

New York, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Organized efforts to extend the recent rally in stock prices were only partially successful in today's market.

Trading Pace Falls. Trading failed to maintain the terrific pace set yesterday with the result that the ticker was able to keep much closer to the actual market.

Banks called $10,000,000 in loans during the morning but the influx of out-of-town funds was so large that the call rate quickly dropped from 7 to 6 1/2 and finally to 6 per cent.

Private Cables Indicated that $5,000,000 of the gold sold for American account, but no details were available here.

Automotive shares again attracted a large speculative following in today's market. Graham-Paige common stock certificates, which have the same equity and dividend rights as the common stock, but without voting power, were a strong feature.

Radio, which is reported to harbor a large short interest, ran up nearly 11 points to 211, but lost half its gain. Abraham & Straus, Austin Nichols Preferred, Commercial Investment Trust, Johns Manville, Peoples Gas, Union Carbide and Woolworth sold 3 1/2 to 8 points higher, some of them touching new high records.

Chicago, Sept. 26.—Hogs, receipts 20,000; market closed 56 to 75c lower, mostly 75c lower; top 11.50 paid early for choice 190 to 220 pounds; shippers took 2,000; estimated holdover, 18,000.

SAFETY TIPS FOR HUNTERS

Carelessness Cause of Many Accidents in Woods

There are three conditions in which you may return home from your duck, small game or deer hunting trip this fall. You may come back with a whole skin, a hole in your skin or a hole in the skin of your hunting companion.

Be careful when you take the guns out of the boat or put them in. A gun dragged muzzle foremost across the seats of a boat has an excellent chance to catch hammers or triggers and send its charge into the chest or face of the hunter who is doing the dragging.

As for the pitfalls that beset the path of the upland game hunter, they are legion. Dragging a gun through a fence or over a fence, muzzle foremost, is one of the most frequent causes of serious accident in this type of hunting.

The Worst Menace. As for the hunter who carries his gun through the woods, marshes or fields cocked or with the safety off, in case of a hammerless, he is not a fit companion on any trip.

Most of the accidents that cause most of the accidents are caused by carelessness. Carelessness is never to point a firearm at any person under any circumstances. The gun may not be loaded—but the opinion of its owner—but those are the guns that cause most of the accidents.

Duck Hunting carries special hazards of its own, somewhat different but no less dangerous than those of upland gunning or deer hunting. Greatest menace of all to the duck hunter is the narrow confines of the little duck boat.

There is room in such a craft for two guns only if the utmost carelessness is exercised. If two hunters are shooting from such a boat they should sit side by side or back to back, close enough together that neither can possibly get within range of the other's gun.

If you are sneak shooting in a duck boat there is only one rule of safety. Let the man in the bow handle the gun and the man behind do the paddling. If the rear man has a gun he should lay it down in the bottom of the boat, the muzzle pointing back away from his companion, and he should leave it there no matter how the ducks may fly.

Many German business concerns attempted to establish Paris branches, but discovered that in the absence of a commercial agreement they had no protection in case of lost shipments. Once a temporary tariff arrangement was agreed upon the flow of Germans over the border increased.

Other German colonies are being established at Marseilles, Lyon, Bordeaux and Le Havre. In the past 16 years the Ancient Order of Druids has collected 427 tons of tinfol, which realized $55,000 for distribution among hospitals.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT.

An intimate, behind-the-scenes romance of three interesting and human persons is being featured on the current Delft program. It's a Paramount offering called "The Sawdust Paradise."

Ether Ralston and Reed Howes are ballety girl and grifter respectively with Hobart Bosworth as the aged revivalist. First and foremost it is not a religious picture, though it has a religious angle. It is a chunk of life from the colorful career of a carnival girl. It capitalizes the present public interest in evangelism without treading on anyone's toes.

Movie Stars have their real dramatic moments as well as the screen type. During the filming of "South Sea Love" current screen offering at the Strand Theatre, Patsy Ruth Miller was in "jungle" location on the Santa Ana River in southern California.

The sudden push tumbled her into the water. Being a good swimmer, she managed to come out of the mishap without any damage. "South Sea Love" is one of the most stirring emotional roles Miss Miller has ever portrayed.

CHICAGO POTATOES

Chicago, Sept. 26.—Potatoes, receipts 122 cars; on track 406 cars; total United States shipments 820 cars; trading fair; market steady; Wisconsin sacked, Irish cobbles, 56c to $1.10, few 1.15; ditto in bulk, 70c to 85c, few fancy shelled higher; Minnesota sacked, red river, Ohio, 1.10 to 1.15; sacked Irish cobbles, 1.10 to 1.15; 1.19; South Dakota sacked, Ohio, 1.10 to 1.15; Western sacked, Ohio, 1.10 to 1.15; Idaho sacked, quality, 1.10 to 1.15, according to size and quality; Nebraska sacked Irish cobbles, 1.10 to 1.15.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Sept. 26.—Indications that export business in wheat from North America is on a broader scale than generally supposed had a bullish effect today on prices here. Besides, evidence developed showing a notable fallowing in the quality of wheat arrivals at Winnipeg. Last quotations on wheat were firm, 1 to 1 3/8c and higher. Corn closed at 1 1/8 to 1 1/4c up, oats varying from 1-3c decline to 1c advance, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 3/8c.

AIR MEETING AT MENOMINEE

Escanaba Men Invited To Participate In Conference

Menominee, Sept. 26, (Special)—Menominee will be host to a delegation of business men at the first Air Congress ever held in Michigan. The dates, October 12 and 13, have been selected as a fitting observance of Landing Day which in many sections of the country is celebrated as a legal holiday.

The Air Congress is being sponsored jointly by the Menominee Chamber of Commerce and the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau. The purpose of the two day session is to have interested parties of the northern peninsula get together and lay plans for the establishment of more airports and the launching of some plan which, it is hoped, will bring about an air mail, express and passenger service that will connect the Upper Peninsula with lower Michigan and the states which adjoin this territory.

Invitations Sent Out. Invitations will be sent out this week to five representatives of each county in the peninsula. In addition, the county highway engineers, owners of airplanes and airports and a select list of others who have been instrumental in the promotion of airway development in this section of the state will be invited.

A directorate committee, consisting of W. F. Doyle, president of the Chamber of Commerce, George E. Bishop, secretary-manager of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, Frank L. Betts, highway engineer of Menominee County, John P. Norton, president and publisher of the Escanaba Daily Press and G. Harold Earle of the Wisconsin Land and Lumber Company, Hermansville, has been named to take charge of the active workings and program for the Congress.

Local Committee. On the local Executive Committee which has charge of raising of funds, locally and the disbursement of them are such men as G. W. McCormick, president of the Menominee River Sugar Company, G. A. Hirsch, president of the First National Bank, F. M. Prescott, president of The Prescott Company, Mayor Edward Daniell, August Ludwig and Attorney John J. O'Hara.

The Executive Committee will hold a meeting in this city tomorrow afternoon (Wednesday) and the directors will meet at the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce offices Thursday morning, at which time definite plans will be formulated and made ready for public announcement.

SOCIAL

Reception for Palms.

The beginning of the twelfth year of the pastorate of Rev. O. R. Palm, in Escanaba, was celebrated by a large assemblage of members and friends of the Swedish Methodist church Tuesday night. Clergymen present included Rev. Paul Hammer of Norway, Rev. John Hugo of the Swedish Baptist church of Escanaba and Rev. F. W. Johnson of Lafayette, Ind. The program included short talks by Rev. Hammer and Rev. Hugo.

Rev. and Mrs. Palm were presented with a substantial purse of money by members of the church and friends.

Coffee and refreshments and a social hour, followed the program. The cordial and friendly feeling which was so manifest throughout the evening made the event a most enjoyable one.

Rev. Palm and Mrs. Palm are greatly beloved by their congregation and all others who have had the privilege of knowing them during the eleven years they have spent in this field, and the Tuesday night reception was heart-felt testimonial of the popularity they enjoy.

Farewell Party.
A group of friends and relatives spent a most enjoyable evening at the home of Mrs. Herman Koch, First Ave. No. Tuesday when five hundred was the chief diversion. Awards went to Mrs. John Langenfeld, Mrs. Del LaComb and Mrs. Arthur Lindstrom. Refreshments were served and Mrs. Koch was presented with a handsome gift from her friends. Mr. and Mrs. Koch are leaving the city in the near future to make their home at Pine Falls, Canada. Mrs. Koch was formerly Miss Alvah Sjogren.

Local Committee.
On the local Executive Committee which has charge of raising of funds, locally and the disbursement of them are such men as G. W. McCormick, president of the Menominee River Sugar Company, G. A. Hirsch, president of the First National Bank, F. M. Prescott, president of The Prescott Company, Mayor Edward Daniell, August Ludwig and Attorney John J. O'Hara.

The Executive Committee will hold a meeting in this city tomorrow afternoon (Wednesday) and the directors will meet at the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce offices Thursday morning, at which time definite plans will be formulated and made ready for public announcement.

St. Francis Hospital
Helen Velinc was admitted yesterday.
Alvin Lemere was admitted suffering with a severe cold.
Patients who have been discharged are Mrs. A. Bredahl of Wells, Mrs. E. L. Carrington of Gladstone, Mrs. Henry Blake, Mrs. Phil Sullivan and Mrs. M. Milkevich.
The condition of Albert (Lou) Villemure is still unchanged and no visitors are allowed.

A new process, invented in Germany, for rolling aluminum on ordinary black steel sheets, is said to be successful in making cans for preserving foodstuffs.

DANCERS
The Wolverines
Will Play at
Terrace Gardens
Saturday, September 29

NOTE—For the balance of season dances will be held only on Saturdays, holidays and specials as advertised.

COMFORT
THERE is a great degree of comfort to be secured from the ease and safety that is inherent in wearing three-vision bifocal glasses—three lenses blended into one—for reading, for distance and for walking, totaling comfort, ease and security.

NEW SCHEDULE NEXT SUNDAY

New Chicago and North Western Time Card Issued

Changes in the arrival and departure time of Train 216 at Escanaba and elimination of several regular and flag stops of some passenger trains at the smaller stations are contained in Time Card No. 173, which will go into effect on the Chicago and North Western railway on Sunday, Sept. 30.

Train No. 216, which is the Iahpening to Chicago passenger, arriving here at 10:25 a. m. and leaving at 10:35 a. m., will arrive at 10:20 a. m. and depart at 10:30 a. m. under the new time table. Several adjustments are made on the running time of the train between Escanaba and Stephenson, but the time of arrival at Green Bay will be the same, which is 2:25 p. m.

The regular stops of Train 216 at Sands, McFarland, Trombly and Beaver will be changed to flag stops, and Narenta, Carbonado and Birch Creek have been removed from the new time card as flag stops.

Train No. 217, the Chicago-Iahpening passenger train, which arrives at 2 p. m. and leaves at 2:15 p. m., will continue to observe the same time, but the regular stops have been switched to flag stops at Carnoy, Nadeau, Beaver, Trombly and McFarland. The flag stations of Brookside, Talbot and Indiantown also were eliminated.

The schedule of Train 16, operating between Iron River and Powers, has been slightly changed. Instead of leaving Iron River at 8:30 a. m., the train will depart at 8:40 a. m. and arrive at Powers at 10:55 a. m. instead of 11:05 a. m.

Ford River has been designated as a flag station instead of a regular stop for Train No. 221. The station of Saunders, a few miles from Iron River, has been given the new name of Scott Lake on the new card, and winter passenger runs Nos. 517 and 504, will start on Nov. 28. Train No. 517, which will run between Green Bay and Iron River via Laona and Scott Lake, will leave Green Bay at 10:15 a. m. and will arrive at Scott Lake at 3:55 p. m. and Iron River, 4:10 p. m. Train No. 504 will leave Iron River at 1:35 p. m., arrive at Scott Lake at 1:50 p. m. and Green Bay at 7:15 p. m.

Huge Eagle Killed in France.
Measuring 6 feet 11 inches from tip to tip of its wings, an eagle was recently killed by a sportsman on the Laval Plain near Cannes, France. It required two shots to bring down the bird, which was then killed with the butt end of a gun.

Ladies Band Gets New Uniforms; Officers Named

At a meeting of the members of the Escanaba Ladies' band, election of officers was held. Miss Adrienne Toussaint was unanimously elected matron and business manager and Miss Mabel Roland was also unanimously elected secretary and treasurer.

The new uniforms have arrived and are unusually attractive. The members of the band will give a concert at the Delta county poor farm Sunday afternoon, September 30, at 2 o'clock, and at St. Francis hospital the same afternoon at 4 o'clock. They will wear the new uniforms for the first time.

A number of new members will be enrolled at the next meeting which will be held Friday evening at the band hall. First avenue north, and plans will be completed for a bake sale to be held at the Peterson Flower Shoppe Saturday, October 13.

A program is being prepared for the near future when the members will appear in uniforms and a treat is in store for the general public. Many social affairs are planned for the winter months the proceeds of which will be used to pay the balance due of the uniforms, as others added to the membership will also require uniforms.

The officers and Director Joseph Greenfield plan to have a fifty-piece band by the first of May.

MANY TOURISTS VISITED IN CITY

Reports Show Hotels Did Good Business During Summer

This season's tourist business was about equal to last year's figure, according to Escanaba hotel owners, tourist camp attendance reports and other agencies. During the four busy months of June, July, August and September, Escanaba hotels were often forced to divert some of their business to private homes, who were renting out rooms to tourists. September saw a drop in the regular tourist business, but the deficiency was made up by the huge influx of visitors for the Upper Peninsula State Fair. During the fair, the Michigan and Colonial hotels were opened for business to increase the accommodations, but in spite of this local hotels were filled to overflowing.

The Delta Hotel and Annex management reports that it had 14,341 guests during the four months, while the Ludington Hotel placed its figures above 9,000. A total of 898 automobiles, bearing 2866 persons, stopped at the Escanaba municipal tourist camp during the season. City Manager T. F. Kessler said yesterday. The records showed that automobiles bearing the licenses of 23 different states and virtually all the Canadian provinces visited the city. The largest registration was of Michigan cars, which numbered 243, with Illinois a close second with 235. The complete figures are as follows: Michigan 243; Illinois 235; Wisconsin 149; Indiana 59; Minnesota 38; Ohio 35; Canada 29; Iowa 19; Missouri 8; New York 8; Oklahoma 5; California 5; North Dakota 4; Kansas 4; Nebraska 4; Maine 4; District of Columbia 3; Florida 3; Washington 2; Vermont 2; Kentucky 2; Montana 1; Massachusetts 1; Tennessee 1; Texas 1; Colorado 1; Maryland 1; Pennsylvania 1; South Carolina 1; Virginia 1.

Paris Likes Auto-Horn Rest.
Busy, noisy Parisiennes are pleased over the four-hour rest period for auto horns. Since it was put into effect, the order of the prefect of police that no motor horns be sounded between 1 a. m. and 5 a. m. has been effective and has grown in popularity.

Canada is using more American agricultural implements this season than ever before.

Czechoslovakia mined more than 17,000,000 tons of bituminous coal and lignite in the past year.

PARIS POLICE CHIEF EXTENDS REFORM DRIVE

Paris—Jean Chiappe, the energetic police chief who launched the reform wave against Paris theaters and public licentiousness, has just issued an order greatly restricting the traditional Paris street fair.

He has decreed that the fairs block traffic and in general interfere with the march of progress.

Chief Chiappe's famous purification squadrons of police continue their nightly cruises through the boulevards and tributary streets arresting girls, male dancing partners and others who cannot explain what they are doing among the bright lights.

He has even attempted to abolish jay-walking.
