CHICAGO WELCOMES PRESIDENT TAFT

NATION'S CHIEF IS CENTRAL FIGURE IN GREAT CELEBRATION OF ST. PATRICK'S DAY.

EVERYTHING DECORATED IN GREEN

Ireland's Color and Emblems Greet Him Everywhere—The President Makes Significant Remarks Concerning Certain Newspapers—This Afternoon He Addresses Great Audience on Conservation—To Attend Banquet This Evening.

(By Associated Press.) Chicago, Ill., March 17.—Fairly buried in green emblems, banners and bunting, Chicago today received President Taft as its honored guest in one of the biggest and greatest St. Patrick's day celebrations the city has ever known.

From the time he stepped off his special train at 7:57 o'clock this morning, President Taft saw scarcely a building or an individual that was not decorated in green.

Chats With Reporters. Met at the railway station by a regiment of the Illinois National guard and a large reception committee, President Taft swung into line with the St. Patrick's day parade, which marched through Michigan avenue to the down town district and escorted him to the LaSalle hotel.

At the hotel President Taft chatted affably with newspaper reporters. He said he had found no time to write either his conservation speech or his "St. Patrick's address," as he termed his scheduled effort at the banquet of the Irish Fellowship club tonight.

At the Auditorium this afternoon the great audience in attendance showed intense interest in conservation as expounded by the president.

Create Sense of Injustice. Earlier in the day the president addressing the Newspaper club, expressed great interest in the work of newspaper men. He spoke of certain statements made in certain classes of papers which he thought created a sense of injustice. He believed, however, the people are beginning to make up their minds regarding facts concerning which erroneous statements are made by a certain newspaper or a particular correspondent.

Talking before the Traffic club, the president said he was ready to condemn railroads when they violate laws and that he is also ready to favor laws that so regulate commerce as to make all things equal. He declared the people are always ready to do justice when they are presented with the actual facts.

Following his address at the Auditorium President Taft is scheduled to go to the Fine Arts building, where he has promised to greet the Daughters of the American Revolution. After a brief visit to the Hamilton club he will return to the Hotel LaSalle for the reception and banquet of the Irish Fellowship club, at which one of the speakers will be John Power of Escanaba, Mich., first United States Attorney of that district by appointment of President Cleveland.

In honor of Miss Mary Jensen, who is soon to be married and will thereafter make her home in the west, a party will be given in the North Star hall this evening by her friends, a large number of whom are expected to be present.

ESCANABA DAILIES UP-TO-DATE SHEETS

In a second long and comprehensive article devoted to Escanaba The Houghton Mining Gazette has the following reference to the press of Escanaba:

"Six newspapers are published here, two dailies and four weeklies. The dailies are the Daily Mirror by Collins & English, Oliver Torrio, editor, and the Escanaba Morning Press by the Escanaba Morning Press company, John P. Norton, editor. Both are lively, up-to-date sheets with a fine company of congenial newspapermen, who gave the delegates a great time. The weeklies are The Escanaba Journal, F. L. Baldwin, editor and publisher; Escanaba Weekly Mirror, Collins & English, The Iron Port, George F. McEwen, and the Medborgaren, a Swedish publication."

ESCANABA FIREMEN WOULD BE AFFECTED

Members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen in Escanaba are anxiously awaiting further developments in the threatened strike of firemen on a large number of western railroads. It is stated that a strike of all locomotive firemen would affect a large number of employees of the Chicago & Northwestern and the Soo roads in this city and Gladstone and on other roads throughout the upper peninsula and that a walkout would seriously cripple the lines.

It is hoped that the call for a strike will not become effective. At the present time it is held in abeyance through the action of the union officials in agreeing to submit their grievances to national arbitrators under the provisions of the Erdman act.

HERE TO INSTRUCT DISTRICT MANAGER

G. H. DeYoung of Newark, N. J., an instructor for the Prudential Life Insurance company, is in the city for the purpose of instructing and installing W. H. MacAndrews as district manager of the company. Mr. MacAndrews was recently promoted to the position of district manager, his district comprising Escanaba and Gladstone. Mr. DeYoung in his capacity as instructor covers considerable ground, his territory comprising seven states. He will be here until Saturday.

EDOIN IS CANDIDATE FOR SUPERVISOR

Jules Edoin will again be a candidate for supervisor of the First ward at the election next month on the Citizens' ticket and inasmuch as he has served the interests of the people of his ward and has given a good clean administration as supervisor he will probably be reelected. Mr. Edoin is a heavy property owner and is entitled to recognition.

Frank Goniesse expects to leave this evening on a business trip to Chicago.

To Memory Dear

By JAMES C. CORRIGAN

COPYRIGHT, 1910, BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

THE sweetest spot of all is the green sod of old Ireland; The maddest, gladdest times are the ones we used to know When romping o'er the hills, by the streams and through the meadows, In merry, magic days of long ago.

I SEE my mother yet—though so long she has been sleeping; The shamrocks and the roses her grave are growing o'er— I see my mother yet as, with basket at her shoulder, She stood beside our open cottage door.

THE happy winter nights when she knitted by the firelight, Her kindly, patient features alight with dancing gleams, The kettles on the hearth in minor cadence ringing, Return to me and haunt my waking dreams.

THE low and thatched roofed cottage, the tree that stood before it, The hill behind that seemed to childish eyes so vast And 'en the pigs that played about the humble doorway, All go to make the picture of the past.

A H. well do I remember the joy of summer weather, With crinkly heat waves dancing on meadows near and far, As we jogged through the lanes and along the happy roadways Upon the jolly Irish jaunting car.

SO magic is the glamour by memory created, So softened are the scenes her mellow lights reveal, I ever love to dwell in fondest recollection On times I helped prepare the midday meal.

A HAPPY group we gathered about our little cottage From out the fields where we barefooted used to roam, When all the earth was sunny in life's unclouded morning, Enchanted land that bore the name of home.

THE years have slipped away, and that happy group is scattered, For some are o'er the sea, and some are laid at rest, So hide me not that now the green hills of old Ireland Seem like the fabled islands of the blest.

LOYAL TO MEMORY OF GOOD ST. PATRICK

Not Only the Irish but People of All Nationalities Celebrate St. Patrick's Day in Escanaba—Religious Services This Morning—Entertainment This Evening.

St. Patrick's day is being observed in Escanaba not only by people of the Irish race but by people of many other nationalities, judging from the general wearing of shamrocks, bits of green ribbon or other emblems of the Emerald Isle. With many of the Irish-Americans the day is being celebrated as a real holiday and they are doing no work that is not absolutely necessary.

This morning a very large number of them assembled in St. Patrick's church, where a religious observance of the day was carried out. Solemn high mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Nosbisch, assisted by Rev. Father Stahl of Bark River and Rev. Father Pillion of Plat Rock and most beautiful special music was rendered by a choir of thirty voices and an orchestra of ten pieces. In addition, an exceptionally interesting sermon appropriate to the day was preached by Rev. Father Malone of Sault Ste. Marie. These services also marked the conclusion of the forty hours' devotion at St. Patrick's church.

During the day there were numerous private gatherings and entertainments at homes in the city and it is presumed that all were enjoyable.

This evening at Peterson's opera house the celebration will reach its climax with the entertainment that has been arranged for the benefit of St. Patrick's church by Rev. Father J. M. Langan and the members of his parish, including the members of the Ancient Order of Hibernians. The principal feature of the entertainment will be an address by Rev. Father John Daly of Milwaukee. There will also be vocal and instrumental music of high class.

ARGUING ON THE VALIDITY OF THE CORPORATION TAX.

(By Associated Press.) Washington, D. C., March 17.—Arguments on the constitutionality of the corporation tax law were begun today before the United States supreme court.

The Modern Woodmen camp of Bark River is making arrangements to give a ball at Bark River on Easter Monday night.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY EVENT IS UNIQUE

This afternoon Mrs. J. J. Cox Hale Street acted as hostess to the members of the Women's Catholic Literary and Art club, at one of the most unique and well carried out entertainments that has ever been given in Escanaba. The Cox home on Hale street has been converted into a veritable museum of art treasures from the "Ould Sod," and much time has been spent by Mrs. Cox in building up castles, wells and other familiar Irish sights.

Mrs. Cox has a double reason for celebrating St. Patrick's day, for in addition to being exceedingly patriotic, her birthday falls on the 17th of March. The decorations at the home were arranged as a surprise to the club members and this afternoon when they saw the efforts that had been made by Mrs. Cox to entertain them, words failed to express their appreciation and admiration.

This evening Mrs. Cox will entertain another gathering of friends in a manner appropriate to St. Patrick's day.

LIVE IN AN AGE OF FINANCIAL DELIRIUM

(By Associated Press.) St. Paul, Minn., March 17.—An address delivered by James J. Hill, chairman of the board of directors of the Great Northern railway, on "Conservation of Capital" was the principal feature of this morning's session of the state conservation congress. The general subject of the session was "Agricultural Development in Minnesota."

In his address, Mr. Hill urged the conservation of capital, condemned extravagance, gave the causes of increase in prices and told how the situation described by him might be remedied. He declared that "we are living in an age of worldwide financial delirium; that next after the conservation of the land, its area, use and fertility, must come the conservation of national capital in the shape of cash and credit."

A large audience is expected to assemble in the First Baptist church this evening to hear an address to be delivered upon a live subject by Rev. C. L. Arnold of Minneapolis.

The public schools will close tomorrow for the regular Easter vacation and will not reopen until Monday, March 28.

STRONG ARGUMENTS FOR FUEL GAS PLANT

They Are Contained in Communication from Directors of Escanaba Business Men's Association Asking the Common Council to Submit Question to the Voters.

For the information of The Mirror readers who are no doubt greatly interested in the matter, the communication submitted to the common council Tuesday evening by the board of directors of the Escanaba Business Men's association relative to the desirability of having a fuel gas plant established in Escanaba is herewith reproduced, omitting the letters attached to it and which were received in reply to inquiries made by the association. It is as follows:

"The board of directors of the Escanaba Business Men's association respectfully call the attention of your honorable body to the great need in Escanaba of a gas plant capable of furnishing to the citizens of Escanaba a supply of gas sufficient and suitable for fuel and cooking purposes. "Almost all progressive cities of the size of Escanaba in this district and elsewhere, have well equipped gas plants for fuel purposes and it is the desire of the board of directors of the Escanaba Business Men's association that your honorable body consider the needs of the city in this direction and the advantages that will accrue to and the benefits that will be derived by the citizens of Escanaba being able to secure a suitable supply of fuel gas.

"Any member of your honorable body who has been in a city where fuel gas is used and has had an opportunity to investigate its use, knows of its great value for domestic purposes, not only in the way of cleanliness and lack of undue heat in warm weather, but also in economy of its use over other fuels.

"Your honorable body is aware that the city gas plant in its present condition is unsuited to and incapable of furnishing a supply of gas of a kind suitable or quantity sufficient for the purposes mentioned, and it is the opinion of the board of directors of the Escanaba Business Men's association that the city of Escanaba should either erect a modern fuel gas plant that will be capable of supplying all demands that will be made upon it or grant a franchise for a reasonable term of years to some responsible person or company for such purposes, safeguarding the interests of the people by proper restrictions, especially in regard to the quality of the gas to be furnished and its cost.

"Your honorable body is therefore requested to submit this matter to the vote of the people at the spring election in the following form, or otherwise as you may direct:

"First. Shall the city of Escanaba construct and maintain a modern efficient fuel gas plant? "Second. Shall the city of Escanaba arrange a sale of the present gas plant and grant a franchise to some person or company to erect and maintain a modern efficient fuel gas plant under restrictions as to quality of gas furnished and cost?"

As noted in The Mirror yesterday, the council was not in favor of submitting the question to a vote at the spring election and referred the entire matter to the board of public works and the superintendent of the municipal lighting plant for full investigation.

C. H. JONES MOVES INTO HIS NEW STORE

C. H. Jones has moved into his new store and is greatly pleased with the change he has made. The new store gives a lot more room and in addition to a new and much larger refrigerator, which Mr. Jones will install there will be a large washing rack for fruits and vegetables. Mr. Jones said today that all the vegetables he handles and most of the fruit will be washed carefully before being sent out and that all fruits or vegetables that show any signs of decay will be thrown away. This will assure his customers that they will always have the freshest and cleanest that the market affords.

The public schools will close tomorrow for the regular Easter vacation and will not reopen until Monday, March 28.

Miss Marjorie Gould. Daughter of George Gould, Engaged to Marry an American.

Miss Marjorie Gould, daughter of George J. Gould and one of America's greatest heiresses, rejected several offers of titles and will marry Anthony J. Drexel, Jr., member of the old Philadelphia family. Miss Gould is in her twentieth year.

HART LINE BOATS TO MAKE ESCANABA

Green Bay, Wis., March 17.—The Gazette is in receipt of a communication from Secretary Eugene C. Hart of the Hart Transportation company of Sturgeon Bay in which it is stated that that line will include Green Bay in its ports of call during the coming season.

This announcement by the Hart company insures a boat line between this port and the northern ports on Green Bay, even if the Green Bay Transportation company clings to its intention to withdraw from the business and the efforts to induce the company to reconsider fails.

The Hart Transportation company, according to its secretary, will operate its steamers between Green Bay, Sturgeon Bay, Menominee, Marinette, Escanaba, Gladstone and all intermediate ports.

The Hart line operates the steamers Sailor Boy and Hon Ami in the freight traffic. The Yacht Thistle has been used in the passenger traffic.

WOMAN WANTED TO RIDE WITH MR. TAFT

(By Associated Press.) Chicago, Ill., March 17.—A woman named Jennie Mud caused considerable excitement soon after President Taft's arrival here this morning by persistent attempts to get into the automobile containing the presidential party. She was finally subdued and arrested. No weapon of any kind was found on her person.

The principal event on the day's program was the president's address on conservation, which is being delivered before an immense audience at the Auditorium this afternoon.

ESCANABA MAN IN BIG MINING DEAL

ATTORNEY GEORGE GALLUP IS HEAVILY INTERESTED IN THE FRENCH GULCH MINING COMPANY

HAS JUST RETURNED FROM EAST

Reports That His Trip in the Interest of His Mining Proposition Was Successful and Profitable—Property is Located in Montana and With Mr. Gallup in Its Ownership is Lieutenant Governor of State—Some Interesting Details.

Attorney George Gallup returned to Escanaba this morning from a trip to Boston, New York and Detroit in the interest of his mining proposition in Montana. Mr. Gallap was very successful in the east and says that he feels that the trip was a most profitable one.

Of the property in which Mr. Gallap is interested The Great Falls Tribune has the following:

"According to a special from Anaconda to The Butte Inter-Mountain, papers have been filed in a big mining deal in which a Great Falls man is interested. Under the new organization twenty-two quartz claims and 480 acres of placer ground and the water rights of five creeks are consolidated under the title of the French Gulch Mining company, headed by Lieut. Gov. W. R. Allen, and with George Gallap of the law firm of Gallap & Gallap of Great Falls, as vice president.

"The French Gulch company is incorporated with a capital stock of $1,500,000 of shares placed at $1 each. Gold and Silver.

"Most of the property included in the company's holdings is largely developed, more than $200,000 having been expended to this end, notably at the Spain mine, where a fine engine has been installed and shaft sunk to a depth of 300 feet.

"The Golden Era, Esther, Eureka, Lucky Strike and McKinley claims have been prospected and on all of them the lead has been located and it can be traced from one to the other. The ledge is an immense body of sulphide pyrite ore and gold, and as depth is gained shows a tendency decidedly towards strong percentages of copper. Assays from the Lucky Strike, on which some work is now being done, show 5.10 ounces of silver, 2.08 ounces of gold, the latter values $41.60 per ton. A later return is silver 7.20 ounces, gold four ounces value gold $80, and copper 2.30 percent. From the McKinley claim a sample went silver 1 ounce, gold 1.81 ounces, a value of $36.40 in gold.

Location of the Mine. "The point of discovery of the quartz vein in French gulch is the same as in the Butte fields, or at the head of the placer workings. The mother lode has an east and west trend with others that strike it at right angles, giving the district a decided similarity to that which has made quite the greatest copper camp in the world. This district was discovered in 1855, from which time for three years 1,000 men pulled out untold wealth in placer gold. The gulch is twenty-four miles west of Butte and twenty-one miles south of Anaconda. It is on the same volcanic belt as Butte, with veins running and dipping in the same general directions."

GOOD MAN FOR MAYOR.

Walter F. Hammel, the young banker of Gladstone, will be a candidate for mayor of that city at the next election and if the people of our sister city don't elect him they are "overlooking a good bet." Mr. Hammel has lived in Gladstone long enough to show the people what kind of a fellow he is and he has shown that at all times he has the interests of his home town at heart. He has a large amount of money invested in Gladstone and intends to live there the balance of his life.

The Mirror doesn't want to run politics in Gladstone, nor in Escanaba for that matter, but when an exceptionally good man will consent to hold a position that is filled with a considerable amount of responsibility, we want to see him win. Vote for "Walle."

The spring campaign in Escanaba has been very tame up to the present time. It would be well to continue it along the same lines. Nothing is gained by the people in a town the size of Escanaba, in having a political fight each year. The best interests of the town would be conserved if it was cut out for good and all. Surely one man could be selected who would be satisfactory to a great majority of the people.

DETROIT MAN IN THE BOWLING LEAD.

Wayne Gardens Detroit, Mich., March 17.—Thomas Healy, Detroit, at the finish of the American Bowling congress tournament here late Wednesday afternoon broke all previous tournament records for the individual event by rolling a total of 705. This gives him the lead over William Riecher of Chicago in both the individual and all events classes. His all events score is 1,960.

FAMOUS APE DIES OF PNEUMONIA.

Dallas, Tex., March 17.—Consul Junior, the so-called educated chimpanzee, who was dressed and taught to act like a man, died Wednesday of bronchial pneumonia after an illness of four days. Consul was valued at $50,000 and was insured with a London company for that amount. During his illness physicians attended the monkey as they would a human being. The body will be embalmed and sent to Europe for burial.

PLUNGES 800 FEET TO DEATH.

Republic, Mich., March 17.—Few men have plunged to their doom a greater distance than William Kakala, who met death by falling 800 feet at Ferdinand Schlessinger's Newport mine. Hakala was assisting in straightening out a "kink" in the hoisting cable.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

DRUNKEN WOMEN.

The other day in New York city a well dressed young woman was arraigned in a police court for being drunk.

The policeman who arrested the girl testified that he found her alone in the streets the night before smiling foolishly and talking to herself.

Friends who interfered in her behalf told the court that the young woman had attended a dinner party, had drunk too much champagne and somehow had wandered out into the streets.

Nothing strange about that. In the large cities well dressed women regularly get drunk at dinner parties, only they seldom get into the streets alone. Usually they are piled into cabs or limousines by the coachmen.

The disgrace of it! Surely! Not, mind you, the disgrace of getting intoxicated, for in certain circles that is more or less of a virtue, but the disgrace of getting found out! Discovery and publicity, not the lapse itself, constitute the shame.

One who happens into certain cafes and swell restaurants knows the ordinary spectacle of women drinking cocktails at the beginning of a course dinner, wines between and ending up with champagne or other intoxicants.

Also he will witness some of these same women smoking cigarettes. Scarlet women these?

Certainly not. Many of them belong to the "best society" so called. And the men of the party hold her adept and blasé who can gulp down her liquor without making a face.

Also— In certain families of large wealth the birthday of a daughter or a "coming out" party is not thought to be sufficiently celebrated unless the guests have been well drenched with fancy wines.

Now— The drinking habit among the women of the wealthier classes as well as among the poorer classes is alarmingly on the increase.

Can any woman lose her head to the very verge of idiocy without losing something of the finer flush of purity, something of the finer edge of womanliness?

How can any man look with complacency on the intoxication of his sister or daughter or wife or mother?

Poor New York girl! She will carry the memory of that day in police court to her grave.

But it was not her fault.

It was the fault of her friends and the degeneracy of that society in which she moves.

FIREMAN SUES THE NORTHWESTERN.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 17.—The case of William T. Burton, in which he asks $25,000 from the Chicago and Northwestern railroad company for the loss of the use of his left shoulder, arm and hand as a result of an accident at North Fond du Lac on June 17, 1909, has gone to trial in federal court before Judge J. V. Quarles. Fireman Burton says he received his injuries when his engine struck a wreck that was left on the tracks.

JAMES JOY IS FINALLY LOCATED.

Detroit, Mich., March 17.—James Joy Miller, of last season's football team of the University of Michigan, who mysteriously disappeared from home here early in January, was employed by a fruit company two miles from Walla Walla, Wash. Joy's father, James G. Miller, has received two letters from his son in the last two days, and before the end of the week will leave for Walla Walla to bring his son back to Detroit. The famous quarterback and later discredited student at the U. of M. is still in a dazed condition it is said.

ANCIENT IRISH ROUND TOWER AND CROSS.

The round towers of Ireland have been much discussed, and various unsatisfactory explanations have been offered for their appearance in the island in considerable numbers. They are evidently not bell towers and may have been used as watchtowers or places for the deposit of valuables in case of sudden forays.

REVENUE CUTTER SERVICE BOON TO DISABLED CRAFT

Organization of Twenty Vessels is Always First to Answer Signals of Distress.

Washington, March 17.—"Semper paratus" (always ready) is the motto borne by the United States revenue cutter service, of which much has been heard lately in connection with the search of the ill-fated naval tug Nina and of the rescue of storm-tossed vessels engaged in the coastwise trade of the United States.

This organization, which is composed of twenty vessels, 230 commissioned officers and 1,500 petty officers and enlisted men, guards the coast of the United States, Hawaii, Porto Rico, Alaska, and does the patrol duty on the Great Lakes. During the past year the cutters assisted 156 vessels, the value of which together with their cargoes, amounted to $14,000,000. During the last five years the entire service has assisted 1,092 vessels unable to help themselves, representing, approximately, from appraisements of vessels and cargoes, $43,000,000.

Aided by Wireless. When information is received of a vessel in distress—usually a wireless message—several revenue cutters at once respond. Captains of vessels know that the call meets with instant response no matter how the sea may be running and whether a gale is blowing or not. The service was created to succor disabled vessels of all kinds and the men who are employed on this mission fully expect to cope with conditions under any circumstances.

The wonderful utility of the wireless was demonstrated at the time of the disaster to the steamship Republic. When the call was received four revenue cutters responded from the various stations, starting from distant points along the coast to the assistance of the sinking ship. A boat from the cutter Gresham rescued the last survivor as the ship went down.

Danger from Derelicts. According to the officials of the service, one of the greatest dangers of the sea is the existence of derelicts— hulks of wrecked vessels that drift aimlessly in the paths of commerce. One-half of the accidents, it is reported, that bring disasters to vessels is brought about by collision with one of these hulks. To remove these dangers to navigation the government has specially commissioned the revenue cutter Seneca for this purpose. Its special duty is to remove all obstructions to navigation anywhere along the Atlantic seaboard. She has been specially fitted out with various kinds of wrecking apparatus and has a full complement of high explosives which are utilized for the purpose of tearing the hulk to pieces when necessary.

An incident of this kind is described in a service report by the captain of the revenue cutter Androscoggin, during the search for the steam lighter Columbia, when the cutter cruised from the coast of Maine to as far south as Cape Hatteras. He says "a remarkable feat of endurance was performed by Carpenter Abrahamson, attached to this cutter, when an effort was being made to get a line fast to a derelict found off Diamond shoals." For several hours, it appears, Abrahamson was lashed to the upturned keel of the derelict while a number of sharks swam near by. Big seas swept over the bottom of the derelict and had Abrahamson not lashed himself to the keel he would have been swept

ROOSEVELT JR.'S WEDDING DAY.

New York, March 17.—It has become known that the date for the wedding of Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., and Miss Eleanor B. Alexander has been fixed for June 16. That date, it was said, had been approved by Colonel Roosevelt, who will arrive in New York in time to be present at the ceremony. To be here in ample time for the wedding, it is considered probable that the Roosevelt party will cross from Liverpool on May 31.

Carcass Splitting Machine. A Missouri man has patented a carcass splitting machine for packers, consisting of two circular saws, one operating above and in front of the other, to bisect an animal as it is moved along an overhead track.

VESSEL MEN WILL NOT HAZARD GUESS

They Have No Idea of the Probable Date the Straits of Mackinaw Will Be Open to Navigation—Ice is Still Thick, but not So Thick as Last Year—The Summary.

Vessel men will not hazard a guess as to the probable date the Straits of Mackinac will be open to navigation. Reports received today state that the ice at Mackinac island is ten inches in thickness. Last year at this period it was twenty inches thick. This would indicate that weather conditions from now on being favorable, the straits would be free from ice perhaps by April 10. Naturally, however, the date of the opening of communication between the upper and lower lakes will depend on wind and temperature the next ten or fifteen days.

Except for floating fields, Lake Michigan is largely free from ice. The harbors of Milwaukee, Chicago, South Haven, St. Joseph, Grand Haven, Muskegon, and Ludington are open. Black lake, the entrance to Holland, is solid, the Graham & Morton steamer City of Traverse having failed in its efforts to buck a channel through the ten-inch ice. The ice is out at the Door, Sturgeon Bay canal is open and the ice on Green Bay is softening. At Escanaba and Gladstone it holds firm, being 23 inches thick at Escanaba and twenty inches at Gladstone. East of Beaver Island there is an open channel six miles wide extending nearly to the straits. North and northwest of Beaver Island the ice holds in an unbroken flow, extending from Gray's reef to Manistique and the north shore. There are still immense floes of ice in the lake, carried here and there by the winds. At present these fields rest against the east shore.

On the way down the lakes the ice conditions are favorable. Beginning at Mackinaw, the ice is solid. At Cheboygan it is from ten to twelve inches thick. At Bay City it is fifteen inches thick. There is no ice at Port Huron. High westerly winds broke up the field ice in Lake St. Clair and drove it over toward the east shore; there is a large field at the mouth of the lake with many open spaces showing. The ice has been running during the week in the Detroit river.

Cleveland harbor is open, as is that at Ashtabula. At Kelly's island the ice fields extend beyond vision, but the lower harbor at Erie is open. With no ice in Dunkirk harbor, no open water can be seen. And the same conditions prevail at Buffalo, although the ice is broken up a distance of five miles out.

Going up the lakes it is found that Huron is free to Detour, while the harbor is free as far up as the mill dock. In St. Mary's river the ice holds ten inches in thickness and is solid as far up as the Soo. At this point the harbor ice is fifteen inches in thickness. In Whitefish bay the ice is solid and extends three miles into Lake Superior. At Marquette the harbor is clear and no ice is visible in the lake. At Ashland the ice is twenty-four inches thick and at Bayfield seventeen, but South channel is open to Long Island light. At Duluth the lake is open except for small floating fields, although in the harbor it holds firm and is thirty-four inches in thickness.

In comparison with last year there is less ice in the lakes and conditions are generally favorable for an earlier opening of navigation.

NEW COPPER RANGE TRAIN SERVICE.

Houghton, Mich., March 17.—Arrangements have been made by the Copper Range and St. Paul railroads whereby the former road will be enabled to offer to its patrons a through sleeping car service between Calumet and Chicago. The through sleeper will run into Calumet for the first time next Sunday afternoon.

It is probable, too, that the Copper Range road's new buffet and dining car will be run through to Iron Mountain instead of to Channing as it is at the present. From Iron Mountain to Chicago the Copper Range sleeper will be attached to the Copper Country Limited.

It is understood that the Northwestern road is planning improvements in its Chicago-copper country service, also.

GROWS HAIR and we can PROVE IT!

A lady from Minnesota writes: "As a result of using Danderine, my hair is close to five feet in length."

Beautiful Hair at Small Cost

HAIR troubles, like many other diseases, have been wrongly diagnosed and altogether misunderstood. The hair itself is not the thing to be treated, for the reason that it is simply a product of the scalp and wholly dependent upon its action. The scalp is the very soil in which the hair is produced, nurtured and grown, and it alone should receive the attention it really is to be expected. It would do no earthly good to treat the stem of a plant with a view of making it grow and become more beautiful—the soil in which the plant grows must be attended to. Therefore, the scalp in which the hair grows must receive the attention if you are to expect it to grow and become more beautiful.

Loss of hair is caused by the scalp drying up, or losing its supply of moisture or nutriment; when hairless occurs the scalp has simply lost all its nourishment, leaving nothing for the hair to feed upon in plant or even a tree would die under similar conditions.

The natural thing to do in either case, is to feed and replenish the soil or scalp as the case may be, and your crop will grow and multiply as nature intended it should.

Knowlton's Danderine has a most wonderful effect upon the hair glands and tissues of the scalp. It is the only remedy for the hair ever discovered that is similar to the natural hair foods or liquids of the scalp.

It penetrates the pores quickly and the hair soon shows the effects of its wonderfully exhilarating and life-producing qualities. One 25-cent bottle is enough to convince you of its great worth, as a hair growing and hair beautifying remedy—try it and see for yourself.

NOW at all druggists in three sizes, 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle.

FREE To show how quickly Danderine acts, we will send a large sample free by return mail to anyone who sends this free coupon to the

THE SHAMROCK CLUB'S ANNUAL

By BERNARD QUINN
(Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.)

There were three generations between the turf cottage in County Galway and the brownstone house in a quiet uptown street.

Margaret Flynn, slender and black haired, whose eyes were deep pools of blue fringed with thick black lashes, closed her book and gazed disconsolately into the peat fire on the hearth.

"No ridiculous father to burn turf in the library," she fretted.

The door opened, and Michael Flynn blew gustily in, big and bluff, with sandy gray hair and freckled hands.

"Well, Peggy, girl, how goes it?" he said, crossing to the fire and dropping a light caress on her dusky head.

"Same as ever, dad," returned the girl absently.

"What's troubling you? Out with it, Peg! I know you like a book. Is it the usual grouch over the St. Patrick dinner or the special green livery I ordered for Timmy?"

Margaret flushed hotly. "You may laugh, dad," she said defiantly; "you may think me small and mean to the decorations, and she could fancy the scorn on his handsome face. Something that Larry had once said returned to her with startling distinctness:

"Isn't the country big enough for all men and all nations she will adopt? What's in a name after all?"

Suddenly Margaret seemed to see herself in a different light. She sprang to her feet and rushed to her dresser.

Now, she could never cease to appreciate the love of the two men whom she cared for most in the world.

She dug out a green satin sash which she had worn on gala days before she attended Miss Henny's fashionable school and been finished beyond recognition of her old Irish friends.

Joke and song and merry quip were flying about the round table under the stars and stripes when Margaret opened the door and entered the room.

They rose from the table as she came forward in her white gown, with its broad green sash about her slender waist, a huge bunch of shamrock at her breast. In her hands she carried a silver tray heaped with green favors.

"One of Ireland's daughters must help to celebrate," she said graciously, while the color flickered in her cheeks.

Then she went from place to place distributing the tiny pots of green shamrock.

"I'D RATHER YOU SPELLED IT G-R-A-D-Y." harp on the old subject of changing the spelling of our name! Now, F-I-L-I-U-N-E is so much more!"

"I'd rather you spelled it G-r-a-d-y," interrupted Michael with twitching lips.

"It will never be that," flashed Margaret.

"Why not?" demanded Flynn brusquely.

"Because."

"Because why, Peg? Is that too-too Irish, like the rest of the things?"

"Yes."

"And you've told the boy?"

She nodded.

Michael took a swift turn up and down the room and came to a standstill before his daughter. With hands deep in his pockets and heavy jaw thrust out he looked at her out of sharp gray eyes from which all humor had fled.

"Just because his name is Grady. Go away, Peggy. Sometimes after I've been talking seriouslike with a woman—I want to be alone for awhile."

Margaret winced, but with head fung high she left the room. In the hall she paused at the dining room door and pushed it open.

The handsome chandelier had been equipped with delicate green globes, and from its center wide green satin ribbons were looped and fastened to the cloth of the great circular table. On the board silver and cut glass shone and sparkled about a magnificent pot of shamrocks, while at every corner were favors appropriate to the day.

Margaret eyed the table and its decorations with infinite scorn. How she detested the annual dinner of the Shamrock club, of which her father was the president!

Now a clock in the hall chimed 6, and a strange light came into Margaret's eyes. If she only dared! It would take five minutes before the dinner hour at 7, and it would be a at her flushed and downcast face and his own brightened.

"Margaret!" he whispered softly.

And she turned a radiant face to his. Later in the evening Michael Flynn addressed the assembled Shamrock club. "Gentlemen," he said, with a twinkling eye, "Peggy here was asking me awhile ago could she change her name?"

"Father?" Margaret's hand flew to his lips.

"And I said," resumed Mr. Flynn in muffled tones, "I said, 'If you change it to Grady it's all right,' and, gentlemen," he beamed upon them, "it is all right!"

The Shamrock club arose to a man and cheered lustily—as only an Irishman can cheer when his heart is stirred by sentiment.

just rebuke to these men, who vaunted their love and loyalty to Ireland before the eyes of true Americans.

"Because I am an American!" breathed Margaret an hour later as she sat in her own room with a bundle of green satin ribbon in her lap and a basket of green favors beside her.

She heard the tramp of feet as the men went into the dining room, and she almost felt the little shock of surprise with which they greeted the table arrayed in a glory of red, white and blue ribbons, tiny American flags and miniature figures of Uncle Sam and the Goddess of Liberty, all salvaged from her recent Washington's birthday party.

There was a buzz of conversation, and she knew that there was a hurt look in her father's eyes—that father who had worked so hard, who denied her nothing and who so enjoyed his annual celebration of St. Patrick's day.

And there was Larry Grady—oh, horrible name! Of course he would guess that she had been the one to change

MATRIMONY QUEEN GOING TO REFORM

(Special to The Daily Mirror.)

Spokane, Wash., March 17.—Mrs. Madge King, the self-proclaimed "Queen of Matrimony," who was arrested in Spokane a few days ago on the charge of swindling unsophisticated swains and lonely spinsters and widows in various parts of the Pacific northwest with the ancient matrimonial bureau game, said in an interview at the city jail that she will reform when she is permitted to leave the cell. Her husband is also under arrest on a similar charge.

"No more matrimony in mine when I get out of here," quoth Mrs. King, adding: "Me for the house-work, where I belong, instead of butting into Dan Cupid's game. I never was cut out for a match-maker, anyhow. We did not hold them up as strong as they do in New York, Boston, Chicago and other eastern cities. They make a minimum charge of $25 for an introduction to soul mates, while out here we were giving the people a regular bargain counter rate, never charging more than $5 for bringing them together."

WOMAN TO SIGN MR. TAFT'S NAME.

Mrs. Leroy's duties will be, by special dispensation, to affix the president's signature to all land patents issued from the office in which she will work.

SPECIAL TRAIN FOR SHRINERS

Members of Ahmed Temple May Make Pilgrimage to New Orleans Next Month in Their Own Car—Many Shriners Scattered Throughout the Upper Peninsula—Details.

Ahmed temple, Ancient Order of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, will make the pilgrimage to New Orleans this spring in its own special cars if plans announced by illustrious Potentate C. D. Hanchette materialize.

Ahmed temple has a membership of 800 nobles, and covers the entire upper peninsula. Escanaba has a number of Shriners. It is believed that of this number at least 100 will make the pilgrimage this year, and if this proves true two special sleepers will be required, one for the Copper Country delegation and another for the Soo and Marquette contingents. These cars will run direct to Chicago over the St. Paul, change there to the Illinois Central and run on through to New Orleans without another change. It is proposed to leave Hancock on Saturday afternoon, April 9, which would take the upper peninsula pilgrims into New Orleans the following Monday morning.

If a party of fifty or more is secured for each special car, the privacy and additional comfort will not cost anything extra, and if necessary, the nobles may sleep in their cars during their stay at New Orleans. The Ahmed delegates probably would remain the full week, returning Monday, April 19. There is nothing definite as yet, but the plan is a good one and is meeting with favor wherever proposed, and there is every probability that it will be carried out.

The imperial council session opens Sunday morning, April 10, and continues until Friday night. The entertainment program includes many novelties which insure visitors a good time during their stay in the historic old southern town. The session will, in fact, be a second Mardi Gras on an even grander scale than the original.

Washington, D. C., March 17.—Recent conferences of representatives of the department of agriculture with several lead-pencil manufacturers have resulted in plans for testing new woods to find out whether they can be used in the pencil industry. According to some of the manufacturers, the supply of red cedar, which furnishes practically all the wood for the annual output of some 325,000,000 pencils, will be exhausted within five years. A substitute must be found which will whittle easily, which shall contain a large amount of material free of knots, which shall not be porous, nor spongy, nor unduly hard, and which shall occur in sufficient quantities to meet the manufacturers' demand.

In view of this and at the suggestion of the pencil makers, the forest service is to cooperate in a test of a number of national forest woods. Among those to be tried are Rocky Mountain red cedar, alligator juniper, western juniper, redwood, incense cedar, western cedar, Port Orford cedar, and Alaska cypress. Wood specimens collected from the national forests will be sent to four leading manufacturers, who have agreed to make pencils of them. The manufacturers will keep a record of the tests and report to the forest service the results, as well as their judgment as to the fitness of the individual woods.

The forest service is assisting in this experiment because there are on the national forests large quantities of junipers and cedars which may be suitable for pencil manufacture. For several of these woods no very valuable use has yet been discovered. Foresters believe that in the future the woods from the national forests may, to a considerable extent, come into use to supplement the diminishing stock of eastern woods, the supply of which has received no protection.

Despite the fact that the grand and great western circuits come together at Columbus, the directors of the meeting there are likely to feel some opposition as a result of the vote of the directors of the Michigan state fair recently, which voted to have a week's racing of grand circuit proportions the week of Sept. 19. It will be recalled that when the grand circuit stewards met Detroit wanted two dates, but was unsuccessful in its application for a September sanction. Now, however, the state fair folks have decided to go it alone.

This second Detroit meeting will follow the grand circuit meeting at Syracuse, N. Y., which makes a rather favorable shipment possible, while the story runs that some of the purses will be of sufficient size to make them worth while for any horseman to win. The racing at Detroit state fair will be along practically the same lines as have made trotting one of the features of the state fairs at Hamline and Milwaukee. There are to be two $5,000 early closing stakes, and altogether something over $25,000 in purse money is to be hung up.

The great majority of driving associations controlling a half mile track thoroughly believe at heart that the hoppers should be abolished and feel that the gradual manner in which

KETCHEL EPIGRAMS ON FIGHTING GAME.

I read the knocks through; I throw away the boasts.

It took me five years of training to win the middleweight championship. Now I am going to live the way I want to.

If a fighter hasn't got the punch he might as well quit the ring.

I notice that the man at the top hasn't any trouble in finding friends. I wonder how they look from the toboggan.

There are always people who will spend a lot of time advising a champion. Why don't they advise the man who's coming up? He needs it.

I know colored fighters who are whiter than white ones.

It's the people who guess at what I do that bother me. I never am bothered by those who know what I do.

I don't fight because I like it. I fight because I can make more money at it than I could by shoveling sand around the equator and make it a lot quicker.

There probably have been a lot of square fighters who turned crooked because they were constantly charged with being off the level. The game goes with the name sometimes.

A man's color doesn't denote the quality of his punch.

It's a cinch that any one who sticks to the game is going to get trimmed. The thing is to know when to quit, and I notice that there isn't one in a thousand who does.

they are to disappear under the rule just adopted will not work much of hardship in the way of costing entries. The city is that with hoppers now limited in their career matinee organizations do not come out unannounced against their use in club and interclub races instead of permitting the hopped sidewheeler to compete on equal terms with the free legged pacer.

The first $500,000 racing circuit in the history of the light harness horse was organized at Chicago recently, when the stewards of the great western circuit got together for their much belated annual meeting. They made up for lost time, however, in mapping out a circuit that not only for the richness of the prizes offered, but for duration and territory covered, is far more pretentious than anything ever before attempted.

Just how far—if at all—the great western circuit will hurt some of the grand circuit tracks remains to be seen. It is a certainty, however, that in the case of Kalamazoo, Detroit, Cleveland and Columbus the circuit will be a benefit, as all of these tracks made application for and received the same dates in the great western circuit as they now hold in the grand circuit. Some may construe that action as an indication of weakness on the part of the grand circuit tracks, but in any event it assures larger fields for the grand circuit meetings during those weeks in which the purses are of top notch proportions. Indeed, it is the $150,000 that these four grand circuit tracks will hang up that sends the total of great western stakes and purses up beyond the half million figures.

The great western circuit under its new makeup will open on July 4 at Fort Wayne, Ind., with weeks following at Terre Haute, Ind. and Grand Rapids, Mich., before joining forces with the grand circuit for the Kalamazoo (Mich.), Detroit and Cleveland meetings that follow upon consecutive weeks. The great western then jumps to Peoria, Galesburg, Joliet, Ill., and the state fairs at Hamline, Minn., and Milwaukee before swinging in with Columbus for the meeting the last two weeks of September.

Then comes Springfield, Ill., for the first week in October, followed by a long jump into the far southwest, with Oklahoma City the first stopping point, followed by a week's session each at Dallas, El Paso, Tex., and Phoenix, Ariz., where the circuit ends the week of Nov. 9. But of course nobody expects that any of the horses that start in at Fort Wayne will be in at the finish at Phoenix. It is possible, of course, as was the case with Margin and a few others last season, but not altogether probable.

Men, Women and—Clothes.
A true man is known by his unfaithfulness—to fashion. A true woman is known by the way she wears her clothes. She is not to be thought of as separable from them. Of the many illusions wherewith veritable woman veils herself from reality, truly man, none is more characteristically feminine than this one, that she bath for dressmaker Dame Nature's own self. Resplendent though it may have been, the glory wherewith Solomon was arrayed was indubitably unnatural, "put on," whereas the glory of the Queen of Sheba was, beyond a doubt, natural as that of the lily of the field. In brief, man's clothes are for use; woman's for beauty. Nay, more. Dress is of man's life a thing apart; 'tis woman's whole existence.—Harry Cowell, Smart Set.

LATEST NEWS IN MARINE CIRCLES

Cleveland, O., March 17.—Vessel capacity to move about 1,250,000 tons of coal to the head of Lake Superior has been tied up at 30 cents, but rates to Lake Michigan ports have not been fixed. Vesselmen are confident of getting 40 cents to Milwaukee and if that rate is paid it will mean 35 cents to ports at the foot of Lake Michigan.

Cargoes for the first trip are offered freely. Practically all the tonnage that is at Ohio ports except Steel trust boats has been chartered, no boats of that fleet have been placed, but some of them will load before the opening.

"We can get better rates on coal to Lake Michigan if the vesselmen will only make a stand," said a leading owner yesterday, "but if tonnage is offered at the old figures, the shippers will, of course, take it."

The ore shippers are not doing any business and no more chartering will be done in that trade until near the opening.

Will Abandon the Richardson.
Cleveland, O., March 17.—According to an official statement the Great Lakes Towing company will probably abandon its attempt to save the steamer Richardson, sunk off Buffalo breakwater. The heavy winds drove the ice up and down the lake and according to report the steamer has been completely covered. Following Sunday's experience it is probable that no further attempt will be made to build another cofferdam around the steamer.

The ice will not form again this season, excepting with severe weather, and it is said it will be next to impossible for wreckers to do any work on the vessel. The Richardson is being subjected to the full fury of the elements and it is the general opinion of marine men that she will be unable to stand the fierce onslaughts of the heavy ice fields.

Contract to Raise the Meyers.
Tonawanda, N. Y., March 17.—Capt. Louis Hartman and Capt. Edward Kelley left for Detroit, where a contract will be given for raising the lumber steamer Fred A. Meyers of Tonawanda, which went down in Lake Erie off Bar port last December, while bound down with a cargo of lumber for the White Lumber company of Buffalo. The Meyers is owned by Capt. Adam Hartman of Tonawanda and carried no insurance. She is in 80 feet of water. Capt. Kelley was in command of the vessel when she went down. The Meyers was the largest lumber carrying vessel on the Great Lakes.

Carfery Was Insured.
Manitowoc, Wis., March 17.—One of the marine insurance companies carried insurance on the carfery No. 1 which burned here a few days ago, and adjusters are now here to fix the loss. R. Tawsee, superintendent of the company had insurance of $75,000 on boat and cargo. The loss was total.

RARE U. P. TIMBER SENT TO EUROPE

Timber from Upper Michigan is being utilized in the manufacture of costly articles of furniture in Europe. Much of it is believed eventually to find its way back to the United States in finished form. Bird's-eye maple is the timber concerned. It is much in demand, and especially in France. This particular kind of maple is a scarce article, even in the upper peninsula's vast stands of hardwood, and necessarily it commands high prices. Frequently it requires a number of weeks to assemble a carload.

The trees are widely scattered and generally they are remote from a railroad. The timber is forwarded by the carload for export from the coast, much as is the South American mahogany consigned to this country. The few Upper Michigan loggers engaged in the business ship direct to manufacturers in Europe. The trees are located during the summer season and are felled and shipped during the winter.

NEW PILOT CHART OF GREAT LAKES

The new pilot chart of the Great Lakes just issued by the hydrographic office is full of interesting information. It illustrates the wide and useful field of work in which that branch of the government service is engaged. Not content with notifying lake navigators of all changes affecting navigation, by means of weekly notices to mariners, the hydrographic office makes use of its pilot chart to convey valuable information outside the scope of the notices to mariners.

The present edition is devoted largely to treating the question of local magnetic attraction, showing the points on the Great Lakes where it is found, and the dangerous effect assisted in many cases of distress.

While the majority of the vessels on the Pacific coast are cruising in northern waters one or more cutters are retained to safeguard the western coast of the United States proper.

Created by First Congress. The revenue cutter service is a military arm of the government attached to and under the treasury department. The service had its inception in the act of the first congress approved by President George Washington on August 4, 1790, and constituted the original naval force of the country, being organized before the actual establishment of the United States navy and a large part of the enlisted force were men who served the colonies afloat in the great struggle for independence. There being at that time no navy department, the service was placed under the treasury, where it has remained ever since.

THE THEATRES

The Peterson.—The Evening Republican of Newton, Kan., said of "The Man on the Box," which will be the offering at the Peterson next Sunday evening:

"Probably the best play of its class, without exception that has been presented in Newton for years was 'The Man on the Box.' In many cases the dramatization of a book does not follow the story told by the author, but this cannot be said of the one under consideration. While it is true that the length of the story precludes all possibility of following out all the details, nevertheless the most interesting parts are culled out of the book and woven into the play in such a manner as to afford an evening of rare pleasure, particularly when interpreted by such a capable company."

D'URBANO'S CHALLENGE STILL HOLDS GOOD

Hancock, March 17.—The challenge, which D'Urbano, the Italian bandmaster, issued to Barnard, leader of the Calumet & Hecla band, still holds good, according to Leonard Meala, who has received a letter from Signor Luigi, who is now playing at Menominee. D'Urbano asks if Barnard has returned to the copper country yet and whether he has accepted the challenge issued by D'Urbano.

D'Urbano declares a willingness to return to the copper country at any time to play in a competition with the Calumet & Hecla. Either honor or money will be a suitable prize for D'Urbano and he is anxious that the contest be arranged.

The D'Urbano band will return to Hancock again this year, though it will not be here again till late summer or in the fall.

English-Speaking Jews.

"It has been calculated," says the Hebrew Standard, "that against 50,000 English-speaking Jews toward the end of the eighteenth century, there are now 3,000,000. That is to say, one-quarter of the entire Jewry throughout the world to-day are using English as their medium of communication. Going on at that rate, we may say that at the end of the present century English will be spoken by 6,000,000 Jews. That will then put a new face on the Yiddish. It will be a Yiddish-English instead of a Yiddish-Deutsch, and a Tchernowitch congress at the opening of the twenty-first century will stamp the English jargon as the national language of the Jews."

Will Tattooed on Body.

A Mexican miser who died not long ago was found to have his will tattooed on his breast. It caused his heirs no end of bother, as the document had to be copied before the man could be buried.

After a heavy meal, take a couple of Doan's Regulents, and give your stomach, liver and bowels the help they will need. Regulents bring easy, regular passages of the bowels.

Superstition of Chinese.

The Chinese are a superstitious people, and think it a bounden duty to keep the body intact, and if by any misfortune they are compelled to lose a limb by amputation they invariably ask for the severed member and keep it in a box. Sometimes they will actually eat it, thinking it only right that that which has been taken from the body should be returned to it. On this same principle an extracted tooth will be carefully preserved or ground to powder and swallowed in water.

ESCANABA IS AN IMPORTANT TOWN

The Houghton Daily Mining Gazette Devotes Considerable of Its News Space to This City and Also Makes Some Interesting Editorial Comments Thereon—Details.

Tuesday morning, as noted in The Mirror yesterday, The Houghton Daily Mining Gazette published a long writeup devoted to Escanaba and Wednesday morning followed it up with a still longer article devoted to this city. Not only that but The Gazette on Wednesday had something to say editorially of this city. The news writeups are too long for reproduction and besides give no information of which the residents of Escanaba are not already in possession, but the editorial comment is undeniably interesting and will make pleasing reading for Escanaba people. It is as follows:

Did you know that Escanaba is the greatest ore shipping port in Michigan and second only to Duluth, in the United States, and that means the wide world? Probably you didn't. There are a lot of other interesting facts regarding this prosperous and growing city of which you have small knowledge. Yet Escanaba is just a few hours' ride from Houghton.

"We often bemoan the fact that the people of the southern peninsula of Michigan know so little about the people and the industries and the business and politics of the upper peninsula and assert that we might as well be separate states as far as intercourse of a business or social or political nature is concerned.

"Yet the guilt is not all on the part of the folks of the southern portion of Michigan, for our ignorance of southern Michigan conditions is quite as evident as their ignorance of copper and iron mines and our farms. And when we come to think about it there is a whole lot about our upper peninsula of which we have small knowledge indeed. Here we will be perfectly frank in stating that our general idea of Escanaba has been, for a long time, that of a wild, woolly lumbering town where the lumberjack continued to frolic in the springtime and where everything ran wide open.

"To correct wrong impressions and to give our readers a clearer idea of the real conditions in Escanaba and some comprehensive facts relative to the industries of the town and the outlook for the future we have commenced the publication of a series of articles from the pen of one of our staff who is now at Escanaba attending the annual meeting of the Upper Peninsula press association. The first of these articles appeared in yesterday's Gazette and the second will appear in this issue:

"While Escanaba has maintained its reputation as a shipping point for iron ore it continues to be an important lumbering city and a number of its important manufacturing concerns are built as subsidiaries to lumbering interests. It is a good thing for our readers to realize what an important upper peninsula town Escanaba really is. We are going to try to work out that same idea along broader lines some time in the near future with the thought of putting the facts regarding various upper peninsula towns before readers of the Gazette. A campaign of education along that line may do some good toward putting the upper peninsula communities in closer touch, one with another."

Capt. Bogardus Again Hits the Bull's Eye

This world famous rifle shot who holds the championship record of 100 pigeons in 100 consecutive shots is living at Lincoln, Ill. Recently interviewed, he says:—"I have suffered a long time with kidney and bladder trouble and have used several well known kidney medicines all of which gave me no relief until I started taking Foley's Kidney Pills. Before I used Foley's Kidney Pills I was subjected to severe backache and pains in my kidneys with suppression and oftentimes a cloudy voiding. While upon arising in the morning I would get dull headaches. Now I have taken three bottles of Foley's Kidney Pills and feel 100 per cent better. I am never bothered with my kidneys or bladder and once more feel like my own self. All this I owe solely to Foley's Kidney Pills and always recommend them to my fellow sufferers."

THE COMING OF SAINT PATRICK

By BRYAN CONWAY.

(Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.)

T WAS, Conal, the bard, grown white with years, Chanted this lay in Cru-ach-an,
While leaning around on their sparkling spears
Listened the chieftains of his clan:

Let death's hand pale my hoary head
And freeze the pulse of my heart within!
I've seen the people that rest were dead
Resurgent rise from the tomb of sin.

MY HEART HAS SIGHED.

For summers freestone by Carr's wave
My heart has sighed for the pure creed.
Death beckons me to the grass green grave.
I go, for my clan from the curse is freed.

The forest oft as the wind sang through
Whispered the name of the beaver of faith;
The spectral mist in the mountains blue
Showed crozier and cope in the shadowy wreath.

The founts that flowed and the foaming rills
Of Patrick lapped as they flashed and fell;
The voice of the tempest among the hills
Shouted his name in the thunder's swell.

And oft it haunted the twilight's hush
In tones melodious murmured soft.
The blackbird warbled it to the thrush;
The skylark caroled it forth aloft.

WITH MYSTIC FIRE.

Wood on Ben Eder and saw the east
Kindle and flame with mystic fire,
And out of the glory God's high priest
Walked on the golden surge of the Eim.

The kings were wroth in the council hall
On Tara's hill, but the stranger spoke,
And I heard the idols of Erin fall
And a wailing wild in the Druid's oak.

And the sword was stayed in the warrior's grasp.
Peace held the island from shore to shore.
And calm embathed in friendship's clasp,
Bowed 'neath the cross the stranger bon.

To God be glory! Mine eyes have seen
The dream and hope of my life fulfilled.
Christ bless forever mine isle of green!
His home in the hearts of my brethren build!

BOWED 'NEATH THE CROSS.

On Patrick the blest be benison
Who brought the gospel to Erin's shore!
To Mary maid and her Saviour Son
Be honor and praise for evermore!

This Conal, the bard, in Cru-ach-an,
Whose brow was white with the snow of years,
Chanted his lay while the listening clan
Leaned around on their sparkling spears.

Hiawatha council No. 65, R. & S. M. of Manistiquie will confer the council degree tomorrow and several Escanaba Masons are expected to be in attendance. Gladstone Masons will also be represented at the council.

SUPERVISORS GET THROUGH THEIR WORK

About 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon the old county board of supervisors finished all the work cut out for it and adjourned sine die. The new board will meet the first time subject to the call of the county clerk. There was not a great deal of business transacted after the time up to which The Mirror carried its report of the proceedings yesterday afternoon. The building committee presented a report in which it set forth all of the improvements that it has made in the county jail and poor farm buildings, which report was accepted and ordered placed on file. Note of these improvements has previously been made in these columns. They include a general renovating of the county jail and the addition of a padded cell and the installation of an electric lighting system in the old building at the county poor farm. A large number of bills were allowed and ordered paid upon recommendation of the auditing committee.

THE SHAMROCK SO GREEN.

By JOHN M'MAHON

THOUSANDS of shamrocks are sent to this country from Ireland for St. Patrick's day. They are not sent as a commercial proposition, but as messages of love from those on "the old sod" to their dear ones here. The shamrocks that are sold in the United States are almost universally American clovers, which are larger than the Irish plant and can be told at a glance by any true son of Erin. The real shamrocks are not for sale. They are prized too dearly by their recipients to profane them by barter. They symbolize a sentiment, and sentiments cannot be bought—that is, unless they are the imitation kind. It is just so with shamrocks. Only the counterfeiters are on the market.

So common has become the custom of sending shamrocks to America that there is now what is known as the "shamrock ship." This is the last possible mail steamer to get them here in time for St. Patrick's day, the senders delaying to the last moment in order to have the plants fresh. Most of the shamrocks are sent in letters and are moistened so as to keep. When the postal authorities handle a fat moist envelope bearing an Irish postmark they know it is a shamrock letter. This wetting of the plants often plays havoc with the letters, rendering the superscription illegible in many cases or even causing the envelope to come to pieces in a few instances. It is also probable that the little plants are sent in newspapers and other packages. The postal authorities are not very strict at such times and do not inspect the Irish mail too rigorously. When the "shamrock ship" comes in the postoffice people are too busy to be unduly curious.

Tradition has it that St. Patrick actually brought the shamrock to Ireland. As the old song has it:
There's a dear little plant that grows in our isle,
'Twas St. Patrick himself, sure, who set
And the sun on his labor with pleasure did smile,
And the tear from his eye oft times wet
It grows through the bog, through the brake,
Through the mire land,
And they call it the dear little shamrock of Ireland.

The fact of the matter seems to be that St. Patrick used the three leaved shamrock as an illustration of the doctrine of the Trinity—three in one. As to just what plant the saint employed there is a question. Some maintain that it was the wood sorrel. The curator of the Dublin botanical gardens says it was the black nonesuch. The general view, however, is that the wood shamrock is Erse, from seamróg, meaning little clover, and that means that the Trifolium repens or Trifolium minus is the real shamrock. It is questionable, however, whether white clover is a native of Ireland. The use of the word seamsage by the oldest writers would seem to uphold the wood sorrel view, as seamsage means wood sorrel.

Legend of St. Patrick.
St. Patrick was a holy man
And minstrel, too, of old
And bore on all his wanderings
A harp with strings of gold.
When Erin's heroes went to war
With sword and lance and shield
In early times they lacked a flag
To follow on the field.
So good St. Patrick took the leaves
Upon the willow tree
And stitched the emerald strips to make
A banner broad and free.
But ere his task was done he heard
The trumpet's wild refrain
And called it to his golden harp
And joined the march again.
The banner of the willow leaves
Grew dry and fell to dust;
The strings that rang to battle songs
Were soon devoured by rust.
But still on Erin's ancient flag
The willow's tint is seen,
And still the legendary harp
Adorns its folds of green.

St. Patrick.
St. Patrick cleaned the auld sod top.
The devil had to give in.
He made grand old Hibernia
A bully place to live in.

So let us pluck a shamrock green
In honor of his day
And plant the prathies for good luck
Upon St. Patrick's day.

CLEANING by air is the proper easy method. It is no longer the hygienic "Combing" method. IT HAS COME.
Dust penetrates where no broom or brush can reach. Air suction dislodges it from its deepest crannies.
The broom or brush gathers only the coarse top dirt and frees the lighter particles to float awhile and settle back.
Air suction gathers the dust, heavy and light alike, into a hose and conveys it straight to a dust chamber whence it cannot escape.

AUTO TRAVELS MILE IN 27.33 SECONDS

Daytona, Fla., March 17.—Barney Oldfield, driving against time from a flying start in a 200-horsepower automobile of special design, yesterday covered the fastest mile ever traveled by man. His time was 27.33 seconds. Nothing projected into space by man save a bullet ever has traveled a mile at equal speed. The previous record was set here four years ago by Marriot, who drove a special steam car a mile in 28.20 seconds. Oldfield's rate was 131.72 an hour.

Returning to the starting line between files of cheering spectators, Oldfield ran his car from a standing start a mile against time and crossed the finish line with another record—40.53 seconds, as against 41.23 seconds made with the same car by Hemmery on the Brookfields track in England.

BASEBALL MEN TO MEET ON SUNDAY

At That Time an Inter-County League of the Teams of Delta and Marquette Counties May Be Formed or a Playing Agreement Between the Teams Decided—Details.

It is now pretty well assured that the baseball managers of Delta and Marquette counties will meet in this city next Sunday for the purpose of further considering the formation of an inter-county league of six teams of each county. Notice has been received from the Marquette county men that they will be here Saturday evening and that the meeting will be held the following day. Relative to the matter the Negaunee correspondent of The Marquette Mining Journal yesterday said:

"T. A. Thoren, president of the Marquette-Alger County Baseball league, has called a meeting of the representatives of the teams of Marquette and Delta counties, to be held Sunday at Escanaba. The Marquette county men will leave here Saturday evening and will return Monday morning.

"The Marquette county men have not yet reached an agreement as to how the receipts shall be divided. It is possible, however, that they will be split on a basis of seventy per cent to the home team, win or lose, and thirty per cent to the visiting team.

REMAINS OF A MAN FOUND IN A SWAMP

(Special to The Daily Mirror.)

Watersmeet, Mich., March 17.—Several days ago a piece maker in the employ of the Bonifas Lumber company found the remains of a man in a cedar swamp about one and one-half miles from camp. The remains are supposed to be those of a man named McDonald. An inquest was held and the verdict of the coroner's jury was that the man came to his death through exposure.

On July 17, last, a one-armed man, who said his name was McDonald, came to Bonifas' camp and stopped over night. The next afternoon he walked down the right of way and that was the last seen of him alive, although the men employed in the camp looked for him at various times. McDonald was about sixty-four years old; six feet tall and weighed about 200 pounds.
