POSTOFFICE RECEIPTS SHOW HEALTHY GROWTH

From $20,392 in 1906 They Climb to $26,210 in 1910--Figures Compiled by Postmaster.

Some highly interesting and gratifying figures have been compiled by Postmaster H. W. Coburn which show the growth of the business of the Escanaba postoffice during the last five years. These figures indicate a decided increase each year in the receipts of the office over the year previous.

The fiscal year at the local postoffice ends on March 31 and Postmaster Coburn after an examination of the records gives out the following totals of the receipts of the office for the last five years.

1907	$22,488.20
1908	$23,403.70
1909	$24,009.29
1910	$26,210.66

According to these figures, the gain during the five years, from March 31, 1906, to March 31, 1910, is $5,818.23, or an average increase of nearly $1,200 a year. The increase for the last year is almost $2,000.

The postoffice receipts are generally accepted as an indication of the general conditions prevailing in the town in which it is situated and as they grow or decrease, so does the town. It is a fair inference, therefore, from the showing made by the Escanaba postoffice, that a correspondingly steady growth in business and increase in population is taking place here. Doubtless the result of the next census, which is soon to be taken, will demonstrate the correctness of the theory as to the increase in population at least.

BON AMI THE FIRST VESSEL TO ARRIVE

The first boat to arrive at this port from outside waters, thereby opening the local season of navigation, was the Hart Transportation company's steamer Bon Ami. That vessel arrived in port about nine o'clock last evening from Sturgeon Bay and intermediate points and experienced no trouble in finding a way through the floating ice to the Stephenson dock. The Bon Ami had a cargo of freight for Escanaba, which she took on at Menominee yesterday morning. But little ice was encountered on the trip, what ice there was being in the harbor here.

About six o'clock this morning the Bon Ami left here for Gladstone and after unloading some freight there proceeded on her way to points on the east shore. This boat attempted to get into Escanaba last Friday, but on account of the thick ice was compelled to turn back. This was a sort of an April fool joke, as it were, on the boat and its crew.

WILL ARRANGE FOR BASEBALL DANCE

The officers and directors of the Escanaba Baseball club are scheduled to hold a meeting this evening in the office of Dr. R. E. Hodson for the purpose of attending to various business matters that pertain to the club. For one thing it is planned to make arrangements for a dance which is to be given for the benefit of the baseball fund. The date of the affair probably will be fixed and other details arranged according to the plans of the dance committee, which consists of Dr. H. W. Long, T. J. Burke, J. P. Cleary, Peter Lemmer, Fred M. Olmsted, Dr. R. E. Hodson and Charles Lefebvre.

The directors entrusted with the task of soliciting subscriptions for the baseball club's stock have covered about two-thirds of the city and are reported to have met with fine success, a liberal response being made by those solicited to subscribe for a share or a fraction thereof. More money is needed, however, and the proceeds of the benefit dance will help out some, it is expected.

COMES TO ESCANABA AND TAKES A BRIDE

Joseph Lacombe of Marinette and Miss Mary Beland of this city were united in marriage in this city Tuesday morning, the ceremony being performed in St. Joseph's church by Rev. Father Julius. The bride was attended by Miss Regina Durand of Marinette and the best man was Peter Lacombe, a brother of the bridegroom.

Among those present at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon Lacombe of Marinette, parents of the bridegroom. The bridal couple went to Marinette yesterday and last evening a reception was given in their honor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon Lacombe. About 200 guests were present. The newly married couple will make their home in Marinette.

Mr. and Mrs. De Cremer were called to DePere last night by a telegram announcing the death of Mrs. DeCremer's father, Louis Secor.

THE HERRON-FOARD WEDDING YESTERDAY

Well Known Business Man of Escanaba is United in Marriage to Charming and Popular Marquette Girl--Details of the Event Given By Marquette Paper.

The Marquette Mining Journal of today gives the following account of the Herron-Foard wedding, of which The Mirror made brief note yesterday, and it doubtless will be read with considerable interest by the Escanaba friends of the newly married couple:

"Clotilda Mary, daughter of W. C. Foard, 525 High street, was united in marriage to Albert Edwin Herron of Escanaba at Rev. Father Pinten's residence at three o'clock yesterday afternoon, Rev. Father Moriarty performing the ceremony. The couple were attended by the bride's sister, Miss Florence, and Edward McCarthy. The bride wore a beautiful white embroidered gown and a picture hat, and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. The maid of honor was gowned in pink and white silk mul. "At the conclusion of the wedding ceremony, the couple repaired to the home of the bride's parents, where a reception was held and a wedding luncheon served. About thirty-close friends of the contracting parties attended the festivities at the house, which had been prettily decorated in green and white, ground pine, cut flowers and other decorations having been used to carry out the color scheme. Many beautiful and valuable presents were received. Miss Clara Smith caught the bride's bouquet.

"The bride is one of Marquette's most popular young women, of engaging personality and an accomplished musician. The groom is a member of the Hoyle Baking company at Escanaba, and is an energetic and highly respected resident of that city. The couple left last evening to spend two weeks in Cleveland, the groom's former home. At the conclusion of this trip, the couple will reside in Escanaba."

CONVICT IS TAKEN BACK TO PRISON

Michael Sheridan, the escaped convict who was captured in this city yesterday afternoon by Police Officer Hugh Early, was taken back to Marquette this afternoon and will be incarcerated in the branch state prison, from which institution he escaped about ten days ago by taking advantage of the liberties accorded him as a "trusty." He was taken back to Marquette by Deputy Warden Catlin of the prison, who came to Escanaba last night, leaving immediately upon receipt of the information that Sheridan had been captured here.

STARTS FOR CHICAGO IN A MOTOR BOAT

Charles M. Ewing left early this morning for Chicago, where he has accepted a position as engineer on one of the harbor tugs that work out of that port. Mr. Ewing is making the trip to Chicago in his cabin gasoline cruiser and expects to arrive there by Sunday unless heavy weather prevents. He says that he will enroll his boat in one of the yacht clubs when he arrives there and that he probably will participate in some of the power boat races.

COUNCIL TO CANVASS THE VOTE TONIGHT

The common council is scheduled to meet this evening for the purpose of officially canvassing the vote cast at Monday's municipal election and incidentally to take action upon some important unfinished business. Among other matters that may be finally disposed of are the proposed garbage and peddlers' ordinances, which were introduced before the council Tuesday evening and referred to the committee on ordinances with instructions to report thereon at the meeting this evening. Tonight's meeting will be practically the last of the old council, the new council meeting for the first time on Tuesday evening, April 19.

NORTHWESTERN ROAD GIVES SUNDAY OFF

Following the initiative of some eastern corporations, the Chicago & Northwestern Railway company announces that hereafter it will give a holiday to as many of its employees on Sundays as its business will permit.

The rule is to go into effect at once, and it is expected from 10,000 to 12,000 men, chiefly members of train crews, will be benefited. Only passenger trains and perishable freight will be run on Sundays.

DEAD SAILOR TO BE BURIED AT ST. IGNACE

The remains of Alexander Vallier, the drowned sailor, whose body was found on the beach about six miles below Ford River Tuesday evening, will be shipped to St. Ignace for burial, leaving here tomorrow via the Soo Line. The funeral will be held immediately after the arrival of the remains in St. Ignace.

Alexander Vallier came to his death through falling off the steamer Rannels, which was enroute to Escanaba, on the night of November 10 last, and there was no trace of him until his body drifted ashore at the point where it was discovered. He was twenty-one years old and unmarried. He is survived by his parents, two sisters and one brother, all of whom live in St. Ignace, which was also his home when he was not following his occupation as a sailor.

TWO INQUESTS ARE BEING CONDUCTED

This morning Coroner L. O. Kirstine empaneled a coroner's jury to inquire into the deaths of John Moberg and Elmer DeWitt, both of whom met with a tragic death yesterday forenoon, Moberg by being suffocated in the dust room of the I. Stephenson company's hard wood flooring plant at Wells and the latter being killed by a fall from No. 5 ore dock. The jurors spent this forenoon in examining the scenes of the tragedies and this afternoon are engaged in hearing the testimony of witnesses. The Moberg inquest was taken up first and was still in progress at four o'clock. Immediately following this inquest the inquiry into the DeWitt death will be begun. The members of the jury, who are serving in both inquests, are: Henry McFall, James R. Elliott, Isaac Schram, George Williams, Marc Pepin and R. C. Kellogg.

Miss Mary Jensen, daughter of Hon. and Mrs. Peter Jensen, will leave Sunday night for Seattle, Wash. where she will be married soon. She will be accompanied by her two brothers and Earl Christie, who will remain in the west indefinitely.

J. T. Mason, wife and daughter left last night for Niagara.

PUBLIC DOCK FOR ESCANABA OPPOSED

Citizen Signing Himself "A Taxpayer" Sends The Mirror a Communication Deprecating the Move to Establish a Public Dock--Sets Forth His Reasons.

Editor The Daily Mirror: Before the city councilmen take further steps toward the establishment of a city dock, they should make a careful investigation and find out whether it will be a move that will benefit many people. Some facts that it will be well to bear in mind are: Passenger boats pay their own dockage and by having free dockage, the passenger rates would not be affected in the least; that much of the freight that is received in the city now by boat has the dockage taken care of by the year by the transportation companies; that the rate for dockage is very light, anyhow, and is not burdensome; that it will cost the city more money to run the dock than it can be run by private citizens; that the benefit derived will only go to a few of the merchants and mostly to the boat companies. A free dock looks like something good to talk about, but it is not half as necessary as a whole lot of other things that Escanaba needs much more.

This city has taken on a considerable amount of extra expense in the last ten months and it will be just as well to stop some place. The writer wants to see everything done that will work out for the betterment of the public at large, but doesn't want to see money spent by the city that will help only a few.

Supposing, for example, that a shoe dealer gets a case of shoes over the dock and has to pay fifty cents dockage, which is much more than he has to pay, and by having free dockage would save the fifty cents, would the shoes come cheaper to the purchaser?

If any of the promoters of a city dock can show me where it will be a good thing, I will be glad to change my views in the matter, but until I am so shown I can't see where it will be a good plan for Escanaba to attempt to build and own such a dock.—A Taxpayer.

Special seats will be reserved for them and they will undoubtedly have a great time watching the antics that Professor Powers puts his subjects through.

TRIO OF BANDITS SHOT IN FIGHT WITH POSSE

Robbery of a Bank is Followed by a Thrilling Battle--Robbers Worst, But Two Escape.

(By Associated Press.)
Chicago, Ill., April 7.—Five masked bandits escaped with $2,000 which was stolen from the bank at Coal City, this state. The bandits exchanged shots with a posse today and three of them were wounded and captured. The robbers began their operations by tying Barney Ghetto, the night watchman, and Washington Frye, the engineer at the electric plant. They then blew open the safe in the bank and escaped on a freight train.

A telephone message was sent to Maton and when the train arrived there the night watchman and Dr. Watts opened fire on the bandits as soon as the train stopped. The bandits fired a few shots in return and then all boarded the train and escaped for the second time. By the time the train arrived at Ceona a posse had been formed and three of the men were found on the train in a wounded condition. The other two had made good their escape.

WILL BE BURIED AT HIS FORMER HOME

Acting under instructions received from the dead man's parents, Undertaker D. A. Oliver will tonight ship the remains of the late Elmer DeWitt, who was killed yesterday morning by falling from the No. 5 dock, to Grand Junction for burial. The body will be shipped via the Chicago & Northwestern road and the funeral will be held following its arrival at Grand Junction. DeWitt was but twenty-one years old and is survived by his parents and several brothers and sisters.

ESCANABANS GOING TO NEW ORLEANS

They Will Attend the Convocation of the Imperial Council of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine—Presence of a Battleship Among Many Notable Features—Details.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Young and Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Berry will leave this evening for New Orleans to attend the festivities in connection with the convocation of the Imperial council, Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine of North America, and expect to be absent from the city about two weeks. Mr. Young and Mr. Berry are affiliated with Ahmed temple of the great order named. Members of this temple are scattered throughout the upper peninsula and many will be in attendance at the New Orleans convention, which is to be in session from April 10 to 15, inclusive.

According to all advices, the convention and its attendant features will be most notable. Secretary of the Navy Von Meyer has ordered the battleship Wisconsin, one of the largest and finest sea-fighting vessels in the United States navy, to the port of New Orleans and to remain there throughout the convention. She is expected to arrive in New Orleans next Saturday.

This will be an especially attractive feature in connection with the elaborate plan of reception and entertainment of the Imperial council, arranged by the executive committee of Jerusalem temple, the New Orleans-Louisiana branch of the Mystic Shrine. The Wisconsin will be open to visit by the nobles who make the pilgrimage to the oasis of New Orleans. Being one of the largest fighting craft in Uncle Sam's navy, there is no doubt but that many of the visitors

THE SELF-SUPPORTING WOMAN

There is an increasing respect for the self-supporting woman, as well as an increasing field of endeavor for her. To a certain extent we are getting away from the idea that a girl must marry as a vocation. At the same time we retain the wholesome doctrine that there is no greater success in life than the happiness that results from a marriage that is not contracted as a means of gaining a livelihood, says Louisville Courier-Journal. Spinsterhood, which is in England enforced and intolerable, is losing many of its terrors to young women in America, because self-supporting and independent spinsterhood is greatly preferable to a marriage of convenience, however poorly it may compare with a more fortunate mating. There is certainly nothing in the French system that recommends itself to Americans. The idea of having to buy husbands, no matter what form the purchase may take, appeals in this country only to a few of the title-mad heiresses who want the title and accept the husband as an unavoidable nuisance thereto appertaining, and who frequently regret the bargain in all of its phases. The idea of accepting a husband upon a purely practical basis, as a winner of the necessary meat and bread, grows abhorrent as a larger number of young women learn that they can get a living more honestly and more happily by securing gainful occupations.

An Indianapolis man returned from Alaska wealthy, and gave to his parents, to whom he had been as one dead for 20 years, a check for $5,000 to make them feel that he was still their son. Cases of this kind are frequent enough to cause thought as to whether those who disappear in that way and cause anxiety and sorrow covering half an average life can ever make amends with demonstrations of affection from the check book. Enoch Arden without proper explanation as to their absence are in the same class, and there is always doubt as to the quality of the sympathy that should be expressed.

Oleomargarine will never be satisfied until it has a chance to parade as butter at a less tax than 10 cents per.

PREDICTS A LONG AND HOT SUMMER

Darby, Pa., April 7.—After having successfully predicted a long, cold winter, with several blizzards which arrived within a few days of schedule time, John T. Roberts, a Darby carpenter, who has been forecasting the weather for forty-two years with such certainty that all Darby swears by him, is the first to come forward and say a long hot summer is ahead of us.

June will be warm, as a month," said Roberts, "and the early part of July will be slightly cool, but after the first week it will begin to get warm and will continue all month. August will come in red hot and will stay that way. Crops will be affected by the heat, and many persons will be overcome. There will be severe thunder-storms all summer."

Roberts forecasts the weather by taking the direction of the wind for the three days of the equinox, taking the first day, March 20, as an indication for the weather of June; the second day, March 21, for the weather of July, and the third day, March 22, for the month of August.

RURAL MAIL BOXES SHOULD BE PAINTED

The postoffice department at Washington is urging, through local postmasters from whose offices R. F. D. mail is carried, the desirability of inducing patrons of the R. F. D. service to have their post boxes and the posts supporting them painted white and to have the names of the owners painted in black letters about two inches high. If the suggestion is carried out R. F. routes would be easily distinguished by all people traveling the country roads.

TWO TRAPPERS GET MANY FUR SKINS.

George Tobie and Gus Noland have returned to Iron Mountain from a three months' trapping expedition. They were camped at the Reservoir dam on the Paint river. In summing up their catch for the season they report a total of 120 skins, including one red fox, two minks, one otter, seven wildcats, fifty-seven weasels and fifty-two muskrats. The income from bounties and sale of fur was more than enough to pay all expenses and they enjoyed a good winter's sport.

MINER OWES HIS LIFE TO HIS DOG.

Seward, Alaska, April 7.—St. Clair McClary, a miner, buried deep in a snowslide, owes his life to the keen scent of his dog, according to news which has reached here from the Haugan copper property.

The snowslide swept down the mountain March 28. Four men at work on the property were caught without warning and buried under several feet of snow and debris. Two managed to escape without serious injury. So deep was the slide, however, that difficulty was experienced in reaching the others.

Frank E. Long, the well known actor in repertoire, who for many years has been making trips in the upper peninsula, including Escanaba in his itinerary, is seriously ill in Minneapolis, according to a letter written by Mrs. Long to some friends in Hancock. The letter follows:

"Minneapolis, Minn., April 2, 1910. Frank E. Long, who for a number of years, has been coming to the copper country in repertoire, was suddenly stricken March 23, at Chadron, Neb., with paralysis. He closed his show and was taken by Miss Sullivan to Minneapolis, 2721 Bloomington avenue, his present address. He is on the road to recovery and the physicians believe that by fall he will be able to resume his professional duties."

Madison, Wis., April 7.—The primary election law was upheld today in an opinion handed down by the supreme court. The case in question was one in which a man named A. In his bill of complaint, Van Alstine alleges that the Wisconsin primary law is unconstitutional and that for that reason none of the expenses that had to do with it should be paid.

THE THEATRES

The Peterson:—Of "The Wolf," Eugene Walters' famous and successful drama, which comes to the Peterson next Sunday evening, much has been written of a laudatory nature by the critics, and particularly of the intense and novel climax to each of the three acts. The close of the last act, especially, is declared to be one of the most unique and striking seen in a number of years. The hero and the villain of the drama fight a duel almost entirely in the dark, and the audience can only see the two figures in a fierce encounter without being able to distinguish which is which. When one of them finally falls dead, and the victor stands over him, the spectators are not sure of the identity of either. This is disclosed by the light of a match, with which the hero sets fire to his cigarette. The appearance of the white face of the winner, standing out of the surrounding blackness in the flare of the match flame is so dramatic an incident that the applause at the Lyric theater, New York, was often delayed while the audience took in a picture. As that light begins to flicker and burn out, the applause starts and grows into a deafening avalanche. This is melodrama—real, stirring melodrama of the good old-fashioned kind, according to the critics of the metropolitan dailies—and yet the "wise" Broadway audience, generally so cool and disdainful, did not realize that it was, and lent itself to applause as vociferous as any "gallery god" ever did. That was the remarkable thing about the great success of "The Wolf"—Eugene Walters, its author, demonstrated that a play can be a truly great work, a masterpiece, in fact, and still be melodrama. There is an old saying that "all the world loves a lover," and it is equally true that all the world loves melodrama when it is well written, plausible, real and true to life. Broadway never would admit this fact before, until Walter gave them "The Wolf," frankly and truly labelled as a melodrama, and they had to like it. This remarkable success will no doubt prove as big

SALVATION ARMY WINS VICTORY.

WEDS DESCENDANT OF A PRESIDENT

A wedding of interest took place in Milwaukee Tuesday, when Miss Frances Harrison of Berrien county, Mich., a great granddaughter of former President William Henry Harrison, and a niece of former President Benjamin Harrison, was married to Charles F. Haas of Chicago, a captain on the lakes. The couple procured a special dispensation from Judge Turner, who then performed the marriage ceremony. After the ceremony the bride told Judge Turner of her distinguished ancestry.

COSTLIEST RAIL WORK IN WORLD.

New York, April 7.—The Pennsylvania railroad opened to public inspection for the first time 16.5 miles of the most expensive construction work, foot for foot, ever attempted—namely its tunnel and terminal improvement from Harrison, N. J., to Sunnyside, L. I. The average cost of a mile of steam railroad is about $25,000; the cost per mile of the tunnel and terminal improvement has been more than $9,600,000. The company has thus far expended $100,000,000 and will expend $100,000,000 before the improvement is completed. The train service is due to begin late in June or early in July with an initial card of 1,000 trains daily.

Ben's Theater:—The next attraction of Gundlach & Kiedaisch at Ben's theater is to be the western military melodrama, "A Texas Ranger," which comes on Sunday, April 10 night and matinee. This is unlike most western plays in that the "blood and thunder" is left out and it comes well recommended by the press of other cities where it has recently been played. The scenes are laid along the Texas-Mexican border on a ranch and a frontier military post and the scenery and costuming is said to be a noteworthy feature. There are fourteen acting people in the company and the cast, headed by Mr. Leroy Stanton as the ranger, is the same as played over the melodrama circuit of theaters in all the large cities the past season. The company carries a cowboy band, which plays a concert on the street every day.

The Peterson:—The Mock Sad All Stock company will appear all next week at Peterson's opera house, commencing Monday, and presenting a repertoire of all new plays, cleverly devised and staged with special scenery and electrical effect.

The company numbers fifteen people and is one of the largest and strongest stock companies on the road.

The opening play Monday evening is a beautiful comedy drama in four acts, entitled "At Cosy Corners." In addition to the regular play there will be Ladies free night Monday under the usual conditions.

The Leather Bottle Inn.
On the Dover road at Northfleet, just where the old road, down which David Copperfield trudged on his weary pilgrimage to Dover, breaks away on its temporary parting from what is now the main road, is an old inn named the Leather Bottle. Over the door hangs a veritable leather bottle. The uninitiated Dickensian is momentarily deceived into the belief that here is the Leather Bottle of Pickwick fame, and is disgusted when he discovers that this is still four miles farther on. Nevertheless, this is one of the few "real Dickens Inns" still remaining. Dickens, when on his long country tramps, often turned in there for refreshment, and the chair he usually occupied is still to be seen—priceless in the eyes of the host.—London Chronicle.

STERLING PIANO

Already a cherished possession in 55,000 happy homes, and its sales are constantly increasing.

No Piano is so universally popular—none more highly regarded by musicians, teachers and competent judges everywhere.

The largest houses in the U. S. sell and recommend the STERLING, and display it on their floors in company with the illustrious STEINWAY.

THE STERLING TONE delights the musical ear with its sweet, sympathetic singing quality.

THE STERLING TOUCH is remarkable for its responsiveness and elasticity—a joy to the player.

STERLING CASES are artistically and beautifully finished, in the choicest of mahogany, quartered oak and Circaasian walnut.

STERLING DURABILITY is one of the marvels of the Piano trade. The Sterling Factory was established in 1856, yet a worn-out STERLING has yet to be discovered. Age only serves to mellow its charming tone and enhance its sweetness and purity.

We sell a pretty style of STERLING at $325, on terms of $10 cash and $5 monthly. Other styles $350, $375, $400, etc. At these prices the STERLING presents wonderful value—many Pianos selling at $100 to $200 more are far from being the equal of this famous make.

Investigate the STERLING and satisfy yourself that it is the Piano you ought to own. We have just received a shipment of the very newest styles. Come, see and hear them! You will be delighted with their tone and touch, and amazed at the values. Remember, we sell on very easy terms and take other Pianos in exchange on a liberal basis.

The Wonderful Wireless Telephone

U. S. Navy to Follow Example of Japan in Official Recognition of A. Frederick Collins' Invention That "Talks Without Wires"

The Japanese have been the first nation to officially recognize the wireless telephone. The Occidentals are setting the pace for the world. Uncle Sam is not far behind, for congress has appropriated $30,000 this year for wireless telephones for the army and Rear Admiral Cowles, chief of the Bureau of Equipment of the U. S. Navy, has submitted to congress a plan for equipping the vessels with wireless phones.

Graduate of University of Chicago. The inventor, Mr. Collins, is an alumnus of the old University of Chicago, and has been experimenting with wireless telephony since 1899. He patented his invention just after the dawn of the Twentieth Century and continued to develop and improve it until in July, 1908, he made his longest distance test from his laboratory in Newark, N. J., to Philadelphia, Pa., where another instrument was located in the Land Title Building. This test is technically described at length in the Scientific American of Sept. 19, 1908.

Since that time the growth of the wireless telephone idea has been phenomenal. Mr. Collins has perfected a tuning device that insures secrecy of conversation. He has improved the entire system until to-day his wireless telephone is ready for general commercial use.

Wireless Telephone Used by Taft on His Train and at Hotel.

A novel feature of the Taft reception was the wireless telephone on the platform erected for the photographers. E. M. Taylor, one of the Collins Company's experts, boarded the president's train at Fort Wayne.

Before the train reached Thirty-third street, after the Englewood stop, the wireless phones got into communication and the president was welcomed to Chicago. Several of the reception committee used the phone, also Gen. Grant and his staff, ex-Mayor Dunne, Gov. Deneen and others.

The president is much interested in the invention and warmly thanked Henry W. Lee, local agent and Manager Gazley for equipping his suite at the LaSalle hotel with the wireless phones. This eliminated the "hello girls" when the presidential party talked via wireless between the rooms of their suite.

Notable Tests of the Collins Wireless Telephone.

The most notable tests of the Collins wireless telephone were made by the inventor, A. Frederick Collins, in July, 1908, as above stated. The Scientific American of September 19, 1908, states:

"The Collins System of Long-Distance Wireless Telephony.

"The longest distance wireless telephone tests yet made on this side of the Atlantic have just been completed between Newark, N. J., and Philadelphia, Pa., a distance of eighty-one miles, as wireless waves travel.

"The system by which this has been accomplished is due to A. Frederick Collins, a pioneer in the wireless telephone field. The first of his series of tests took place between his laboratory in Newark, where he has a big-

ANGLERS ARE LONGING TO GET AFTER THE TROUT

Indications are That Large Numbers of Escanaba Men Will Be Ready to Fish on May 1.

Trout fishing is the sport that will soon hold the center of the stage with those who look for their recreation and pleasure in the open. In less than a month, the season will begin and the Escanaba anglers are already getting ready. There is no snow in the woods, the streams are all open and before Tuesday's rain, the streams were not particularly high.

As a rule, only the most enthusiastic invade the fishing grounds in the early spring, but there are large numbers of those enthusiasts and they are often rewarded for their timely industry. Unless there are heavy snows or big rains to make the water high, trout often bite as early in May as later in the season, and of course there are more of them than later, after the streams have been waded by a procession of fishermen.

There is little danger of any heavy snow floods this year, as the ground has gotten pretty well dried out and even if there should be a heavy snow fall, it is not likely to have any prolonged effect on the amount of water in the streams. Rains may interfere, but this is a contingency on which the angler must always run his chances.

Greedy Early in Spring.

That trout and other fish are greedy in the early spring is disputed by many, but others familiar with the habits of the finny tribe claim that they are. The amateur who gets cold feet when he hits the snow water thinks temperature affects the appetite of the fish, but others say that it does not, no more than a cold day interferes with your appetite. People must eat, whether the weather be raw or pleasant. So must a fish. Besides, the trout which lives in a stream into which the tributary creeks are emptying snow water as fast as they can carry it, is not very likely to note the change of a few degrees in the temperature of the atmosphere—it is always very cold where he makes his home, at least until the middle of June, and he cannot wait that long for a meal. As a matter of fact, trout poachers who cut holes in the ice over deep ponds in December and January fish out the big fellows almost as fast as they can drop a baited hook in, which ought to be sufficient answer to the claim that trout will not bite in cold weather.

Why Some Anglers Fail.

Sometimes good results are not obtained by anglers very early in the season, but that is often due to the fact that they persist in fishing where there are no fish. Trout winter in the deep pools. They have to because generally the shallower spots are frozen to the bottom. They seek deep water after spawning in the fall, and do not stop until they are assured of a good supply, generally in the deep holes near where the current joins the waters of the lake. There they "den" up and feed until the ice disappears.

Most Promising Places.

When spring comes they begin to ascend, but they are in no hurry and do it in a leisurely way; so that the lower reaches of a brook or river offer much better fishing in May than the pools farther back in the woods. The man who fishes a long distance up stream in the early season is, as a general rule, liable to come home with an empty basket, or at best, with a very small catch.

Of course, many fish winter up stream in the deep spots and in the holes at the foot of rapids, and where there are many such places on a stream, the fishing is bound to be good from the start. Then again, on some trout streams, even up toward the head waters, there are long deep stretches traversing meadows, where there are five or six feet of water at all seasons. Trout winter there, as they do not find it necessary to go further in search of deep water, more particularly, when there are long shallow rapids below, which the fish find it difficult to traverse during low stages. But as a general rule, trout are guided by instinct and go up and down the current as the season indicates. This makes the riffles near the mouth of a stream more promising to the angler about the time that the first worm is cast into the water in the spring.

EMPLOY TACT IN VISITING

Shirley Breese Gives Advice on How Not to Be a Bore to Your Hostess—Always Time Visit to Suit Her Convenience.

If you are intending to visit a friend in the near future do not neglect to let her know it. It will add greatly to the warmth of your welcome, and it will make it more pleasant all around. Even should the person whom you are about to honor with your company be as closely related to you as a mother-in-law do not fail to send a notification of your intention.

It is never safe to take chances in this decidedly delicate matter. A thousand and one reasons make it so. There may be illness, physical or mental, in the household you contemplate entering on the familiar footing of a guest. There may be potent reasons which are not apparent and which should not be that would make your visit at the time a positive infliction, no matter how intimate you are with the family or some member of it. It is most likely that you would not be received with open arms should you appear unexpectedly at a house should your mistress had been thrown suddenly on her own resources by the desertion of her maid. It would be almost equally awkward should you arrive unheralded to find some other guest in full occupation of the only company bedroom.

In "the good old times" matters were different. Then it was the custom to make visits sometimes lengthened out into weeks and even months. There are parts of this great country of ours in which there is still time to carry on this wholesome hospitality, but for the most of us it is no longer practicable. Our American life has become too full and too exacting to admit of it. It is not regarded as good form nowadays to have anything indefinite about a visit.

If you wish to visit a friend and see no reason why you should wait until she takes the initiative it will not be at all out of the way for you to drop a line to your self elected hostess asking her if it will be agreeable and convenient for her to receive you as a guest on a certain day and hour. It will be well to be perfectly frank in this preliminary note, even to the extent of naming the length of your stay. There can be no possible reflection on her hospitality to state that your visit will terminate on such a day. Too much stress cannot be laid on this matter of being entirely frank in from your initiative and that you will actually confer a favor on her by becoming an inmate of her household for a brief season?

Of course no inflexible rule can be made to regulate the manner of a guest, but it is safe to say that she who possesses the most tact will come nearest to success. Let that be your constant inspiration.

Cats Watching Sparrows.

Every afternoon just before twilight a row of cats of all ages, stages, gauges, breeds, tribes and then a few other kinds thrown in to sort of even up the balance of things, can be seen in the yard next to St. Andrew's church, at Eighth and Shipley streets. All of them are squeezed as close to the wall of the church building as they can get, and there they lie in wait for sparrows which infest the creeping vines that grow all over the wall of the church on the south side.

Every moment or so some luckless sparrow alights too near the ground or chirps too loud, and some cat immediately makes a running jump up the vine, and before the bird can fly from under the leaves it is cat food. Sometimes as many as 25 can be seen in a row watching for their evening meal of birds.—Wilmington News.

Eating Hay Cakes in Kansas.

Time was, we are told, when certain learned professors ate grasshopper soup in Kansas. That was when the state was overrun with grasshoppers that had eaten up every green thing. The professors said the soup was delicious, yet the new brand never got into the cookbooks. Now comes Miss Ruth Ingham of Topeka, recently graduated from the Kansas Agricultural college, department of domestic science. Miss Ingham has been experimenting with alfalfa hay as a food material for human beings. Herebefore cows and other live stock have found alfalfa palatable and profitable, but there the line has been drawn. Miss Ingham has appeared before a club and lectured on her alfalfa food experiments. She took with her a supply of cakes, bread loaves and tea made from alfalfa. The cakes, which contained nuts and raisins to overcome the hay flavor, were said to be the most palatable of the three kinds of products. The tea had an unpalatable flavor, and the bread, made from alfalfa flour or meal, had a greenish hue. Green bread does not promise to become popular, so the discoverer of this new food possibility is trying to experiment the greenness out of the flour. Miss Ingham declares she expects to prove that alfalfa is capable of being turned into human food that is palatable and nutritive. She says it will be much cheaper than the materials used now and also much more healthful. Katrina, kindly pass the alfalfa biscuits this way!

Public Good Society Formed.

A club called the Public Good society has been organized and incorporated in New York. Mrs. Alma Webster Powell of Brooklyn being the president and chief promoter. Mrs. Powell belonged to the fashionable Mozart club. At one of the meetings a member spoke sarcastically of her because she had taken an interest in working girls and had introduced two of them dressed in fashionable gowns which she supplied at one of her receptions. Mrs. Powell promptly resigned, saying: "I don't believe in this so-called society anyway. I think one man or woman is as good as another if honest." Then she organized the Public Good society, which proposes to have the rich and the poor meet on equal terms. The plan is to bring the two classes together in social gatherings at a hired hall, where there will be lectures, music and dancing. Fashionable society people and those who work hard to earn their livelihood will dance together and fraternize. Mrs. Powell is enthusiastic over her plan. FRANCES WARD.

A. Frederick Collins, Inventor of Wireless Telephone in Dozier Car Talking to Garage in Newark, N. J., Three Miles Away.

When the two phones are brought in tune, conversation may be held without interruption and with perfect secrecy. When perfect secrecy is desired, the two phone owners will have a secret code number. Say one is tuned to 30,000 vibrations and the other to 40,000. The first party turns the dial to 40,000 and calls up the second party. "I want to talk over the code." Both tune their phones to his secret number, which we will say in this case is 38,750, and there is not one chance in a million of any other phone catching the vibrations. No third phone can call either of the two nor register their ether waves until the connection is broken. Mr. Collins is now perfecting this attachment so that it will be practical for application to an "exchange" of an indefinite number of Collins wireless telephones.

Explanation of the System.

The vibrations are started from the transmitter and converted into electric waves in the instrument just as in an ordinary telephone. There are three types of Collins instruments, operated as follows:

1. Electro-magnetic induction for short distance demonstrations.
2. Conductivity system designed for commercial purposes within limited radius.
3. Oscillation arc system for long distances up to 100 miles.

Ether the Medium.

Ether, that tenuous gas which we usually think of as occupying the space beyond the air among the stars—ether really permeates everything, the interstices of wood, steel, glass, earth, water—everything. All matter is more or less porous. Ether penetrates where air and water and everything else are excluded. The electric impulses generated in the Collins wireless telephone are propagated through space via "ether waves," somewhat similar to the wireless telegraph.

At the receiving instrument these ether waves impinge upon the receiving apparatus and are reconverted power sending station, and the Singer Building in New York city, about twelve miles away, on the night of July 9, when spoken words were clearly and loudly transmitted across the intervening space. The following day the distance was increased to thirty-five miles, when the receiving station was located at Mr. Collins' country home at Congers, N. Y., and then, amplifying the power of the sending station and bringing the instruments into sharp resonance, the Newark-Philadelphia tests were made the following Tuesday at midnight, from the top of the Land Title Building.

Tests in Chicago.

Henry W. Lee, C. E., editor of the Calumet Record, South Chicago, has given demonstration at the La Salle Theater, Calumet Theater, Press Club, South Chicago Business College, South End Business Men's Association, South Chicago Business Men's Association, University of Chicago, Armour Institute, University of Illinois, University of Wisconsin and elsewhere in this state and others. Several interesting tests were also made during the recent Chicago Electrical Show last month at the Coliseum.

More Long-Distance Tests Coming. Experts in the employ of the Collins Wireless Telephone Co. are in demand all over the country for long distance tests.

Dr. Kopp, a Danish expert of the company, who has just given long distance tests in St. Louis and Cincinnati, also gave similar demonstrations in Chicago from the Chicago Yacht club to the steamer McDonald on Lake Michigan, as reported in the Chicago papers.

Interest in the wireless telephone has been at fever heat in Chicago since the invention was first exhibited at the Electrical Show at the Coliseum last month. Mr. Lee, the Chicago representative, states that the company's long distance station, on the shore of Lake Michigan at the foot of Argyle street, will be in operation before June 1.

REVIEW OF THE COPPER HANDBOOK

The ninth annual edition of the Copper Handbook, edited and published by Horace J. Stevens, Houghton, Mich., is just received. This work, which has become a standard authority on the subject, for the entire globe, has, in its latest edition, 1628 octavo pages, containing considerably more than a million words, and, in addition to the miscellaneous chapters, lists and describes no less than 7,751 copper mines and copper mining companies, in all parts of the world, descriptions ranging from two to three lines in the case of companies that have died recently, to sixteen pages in the case of one of the largest mines—a mine, by the way, that employs some 7,000 men, and has paid dividends of considerably more than a hundred million dollars. The mine descriptions are the same as in the preceding volume, except that upwards of 800 new titles have been added, covering descriptions not contained in any previous edition. The chapter of statistics, containing upwards of forty tables, treating of copper from almost every conceivable standpoint, has been fully revised, and brought as nearly as possible to date.

The miscellaneous chapters of the book, twenty-four in number, treat of the subject of copper from a great variety of viewpoints, including the history, chemistry, mineralogy, metallurgy and uses of the metal, and this section of the book also has chapters devoted to substitutes, alloys, brands and grades, and a copious glossary.

The plan on which the book is sold remains the same as for seven years past, the publisher sending the book by mail, fully prepaid, to any address ordered, without advance payment of any sort, and subject to approval after a week's inspection. The price is $5. That this unusually liberal plan has proven successful is shown by the statement of the publisher that net losses through returned copies and defaulted payments are less than four per cent. Anyone interested in the subject of copper, as producer, consumer or investor in shares, should write to Mr. Stevens for a copy of the Copper Handbook on the unusually liberal terms noted.

FAIR GRADUATES TO WEAR SHIRTWAISTS

There is a foreboding quietness about the high schools of Menominee and Marinette these days. It all centers about the girl members of the graduating classes, and it arises from the edict which has gone forth from the sanctums of Superintendents E. J. Shives and G. H. Landgraf.

These gentlemen have decreed that there will be no elaborate reception gowns, at the reception to be given by the graduating class of the two cities to each other. This annual affair, which has become one of great social importance, has devoted to a grownup, dressy function, which in the opinion of the superintendents is not at all in keeping with the democratic spirit of a high school.

Therefore this year the budding grads will go forth to the reception arrayed in shirtwaists. The simplicity which will mark these affairs will be carried out in all the other ceremonies incidental to graduating the 1910 contingent of the twin cities.

Why Some Anglers Fail.

Sometimes good results are not obtained by anglers very early in the season, but that is often due to the fact that they persist in fishing where there are no fish. Trout winter in the deep pools. They have to because generally the shallower spots are frozen to the bottom. They seek deep water after spawning in the fall, and do not stop until they are assured of a good supply, generally in the deep holes near where the current jogs the waters of the lake. There they "den" up and feed until the ice disappears.

Most Promising Places.

When spring comes they begin to ascend, but they are in no hurry and do it in a leisurely way; so that the lower reaches of a brook or river offer much better fishing in May than the pools farther back in the woods. The man who fishes a long distance up stream in the early season is, as a general rule, liable to come home with an empty basket, or at best, with a very small catch.

Of course, many fish winter up stream in the deep spots and in the holes at the foot of rapids, and where there are many such places on a stream, the fishing is bound to be good from the start. Then again, on some trout streams, even up toward the head waters, there are long deep stretches traversing meadows, where there are five or six feet of water at all seasons. Trout winter there, as they do not find it necessary to go further in search of deep water, more particularly, when there are long shallow rapids below, which the fish find it difficult to traverse during low stages. But as a general rule, trout are guided by instinct and go home, at least until the middle of June, and he cannot wait that long for a meal. As a matter of fact, trout proachers who cut holes in the ice over deep ponds in December and January fish out the big fellows almost

Shirley Brees Gives Advice on How Not to Be a Bore to Your Hostess—Always Time Visit to Suit Her Convenience.

If you are intending to visit a friend in the near future do not neglect to let her know it. It will add greatly to the warmth of your welcome, and it will make it more pleasant all around. Even should the person whom you are about to honor with your company be as closely related to you as a mother-in-law do not fail to send a notification of your intention.

It is never safe to take chances in this decidedly delicate matter. A thousand and one reasons make it so. There may be illness, physical or mental, in the household you contemplate entering on the familiar footing of a guest. There may be potent reasons which are not apparent and which should not be that would make your visit at the time a positive infliction, no matter how intimate you are with the family or some member of it. It is most likely that you would not be received with open arms should you appear unexpectedly at a house whose mistress had been thrown suddenly on her own resources by the desertion of her maid. It would be almost equally awkward should you arrive unheralded to find some other guest in full occupation of the only company bedroom.

In "the good old times" matters were different. Then it was the custom to make visits sometimes lengthened out into weeks and even months. There are parts of this great country of ours in which there is still time to carry on this wholesome hospitality, but for the most of us it is no longer practicable. Our American life has become too full and too exacting to admit of it. It is not regarded as good form nowadays to have anything indefinite about a visit.

If you wish to visit a friend and see no reason why you should wait until she takes the initiative it will not be at all out of the way for you to drop a line to your self elected hostess asking her if it will be agreeable and convenient for her to receive you as a guest on a certain day and hour. It will be well to be perfectly frank in this preliminary note, even to the extent of naming the length of your stay. There can be no possible reflection on her hospitality to state that your visit will terminate on such a day. Too much stress cannot be laid on this matter of being entirely frank in from your initiative and that you will actually confer a favor on her by becoming an inmate of her household for a brief season?

Of course no inflexible rule can be made to regulate the manner of a guest, but it is safe to say that she who possesses the most tact will come nearest to success. Let that be your constant inspiration.

Cats Watching Sparrows.

Every afternoon just before twilight a row of cats of all ages, stages, gauges, breeds, tribes and then a few other kinds thrown in to sort of even up the balance of things, can be seen in the yard next to St. Andrew's church, at Eighth and Shipley streets. All of them are squeezed as close to the wall of the church building as they can get, and there they lie in wait for sparrows which infest the creeping vines that grow all over the wall of the church on the south side.

Every moment or so some luckless sparrow alights too near the ground or chirps too loud, and some cat immediately makes a running jump up the vine, and before the bird can fly from under the leaves it is cat food. Sometimes as many as 25 can be seen in a row watching for their evening meal of birds.—Wilmington News.

Eating Hay Cakes In Kansas.

Time was, we are told, when certain learned professors ate grasshopper soup in Kansas. That was when the state was overrun with grasshoppers that had eaten up every green thing. The professors said the soup was delicious, yet the new brand never got into the cookbooks. Now comes Miss Ruth Ingham of Topeka, recently graduated from the Kansas Agricultural college, department of domestic science. Miss Ingham has been experimenting with alfalfa hay as a food material for human beings. Herebefore cows and other live stock have found alfalfa palatable and profitable, but there the line has been drawn. Miss Ingham has appeared before a club and lectured on her alfalfa food experiments. She took with her a supply of cakes, bread loaves and tea made from alfalfa. The cakes, which contained nuts and raisins to overcome the hay flavor, were said to be the most palatable of the three kinds of products. The tea had an unpalatable flavor, and the bread, made from alfalfa flour or meal, had a greenish hue. Green bread does not promise to become popular, so the discoverer of this new food possibility is trying to experiment the greenness out of the flour. Miss Ingham declares she expects to prove that alfalfa is capable of being turned into human food that is palatable and nutritive. She says it will be much cheaper than the materials used now and also much more healthful. Katrina, kindly pass the alfalfa biscuits this way!

Public Good Society Formed.

A club called the Public Good society has been organized and incorporated in New York, Mrs. Alma Webster Powell of Brooklyn being the president and chief promoter. Mrs. Powell belonged to the fashionable Mozart club. At one of the meetings a member spoke sarcastically of her because she had taken an interest in working girls and had introduced two of them dressed in fashionable gowns which she supplied at one of her receptions. Mrs. Powell promptly resigned, saying: "I don't believe in this so called society anyway. I think one man or woman is as good as another if honest." Then she organized the Public Good society, which proposes to have the rich and the poor meet on equal terms. The plan is to bring the two classes together in social gatherings at a hired hall, where there will be lectures, music and dancing. Fashionable society people and those who work hard to earn their livelihood will dance together and fraternize. Mrs. Powell is enthusiastic over her plan. FRANCES WARD.

A. Frederick Collins, inventor of Wireless Telephone in Dozier Car Talking to Garage in Newark, N. J., Three Miles Away.

When the two phones are brought in tune, conversation may be held without interruption and with perfect secrecy. When perfect secrecy is desired, the two phone owners will have a secret code number. Say one is tuned to 30,000 vibrations and the other to 40,000. The first party turns the dial to 40,000 and calls up the second party. "I want to talk over the code." Both tune their phones to his secret number, which we will say in this case is 38,750, and there is not one chance in a million of any other phone catching the vibrations. No third phone can call either of the two nor register their ether waves until the connection is broken. Mr. Collins is now perfecting this attachment so that it will be practical for application to an "exchange" of an indefinite number of Collins wireless telephones.

Explanation of the System.

The vibrations are started from the transmitter and converted into electric waves in the instrument just as in an ordinary telephone. There are three types of Collins instruments, operated as follows:

1. Electro-magnetic induction for short distance demonstrations.
2. Conductivity system designed for commercial purposes within limited radius.
3. Oscillation arc system for long distances up to 100 miles.

Ether the Medium.

Ether, that tenuous gas which we usually think of as occupying the space beyond the air among the stars—ether really permeates everything, the interstices of wood, steel, glass, earth, water—everything. All matter is more or less porous. Ether penetrates where air and water and everything else are excluded. The electric impulses generated in the Collins wireless telephones are propagated through space via "ether waves," somewhat similar to the wireless telegraph.

At the receiving instrument these ether waves impinge upon the receiving apparatus and are reconverted

power sending station, and the Singer Building in New York city, about twelve miles away, on the night of July 9, when spoken words were clearly and loudly transmitted across the intervening space. The following day the distance was increased to thirty-five miles, when the receiving station was located at Mr. Collins' country home at Congers, N. Y., and then, amplifying the power of the sending station and bringing the instruments into sharp resonance, the Newark-Philadelphia tests were made the following Tuesday at midnight, from the top of the Land Title Building."

Tests in Chicago.

Henry W. Lee, C. E., editor of the Calumet Record, South Chicago, has given demonstrations at the LaSalle Theater, Calumet Theater, Press Club, South Chicago Business College, South End Business Men's Association, South Chicago Business Men's Association, University of Chicago, Armour Institute, University of Illinois, University of Wisconsin and elsewhere in this state and others. Several interesting tests were also made during the recent Chicago Electrical Show last month at the Coliseum.

More Long-Distance Tests Coming.

Experts in the employ of the Collins Wireless Telephone Co. are in demand all over the country for long distance tests.

Dr. Kopp, a Danish expert of the company, who has just given long distance tests in St. Louis and Cincinnati, also gave similar demonstrations in Chicago from the Chicago Yacht club to the steamer McDonald on Lake Michigan, as reported in the Chicago papers.

Interest in the wireless telephone has been at fever heat in Chicago since the invention was first exhibited at the Electrical Show at the Coliseum last month. Mr. Lee, the Chicago representative, states that the company's long distance station, on the shore of Lake Michigan at the foot of Argyle street, will be in operation before June 1.

REVIEW OF THE COPPER HANDBOOK

The ninth annual edition of the Copper Handbook, edited and published by Horace J. Stevens, Houghton, Mich., is just received. This work, which has become a standard authority on the subject, for the entire globe, has, in its latest edition, 1628 octavo pages, containing considerably more than a million words, and, in addition to the miscellaneous chapters, lists and describes no less than 7,751 copper mines and copper mining companies, in all parts of the world, descriptions ranging from two to three lines in the case of companies that have died recently, to sixteen pages in the case of one of the largest mines—a mine, by the way, that employs some 7,000 men, and has paid dividends of considerably more than a hundred million dollars. The mine descriptions are the same as in the preceding volume, except that upwards of 800 new titles have been added, covering descriptions not contained in any previous edition. The chapter of statistics, containing upwards of forty tables, treating of copper from almost every conceivable standpoint, has been fully revised, and brought as nearly as possible to date.

The miscellaneous chapters of the book, twenty-four in number, treat of the subject of copper from a great variety of viewpoints, including the history, chemistry, mineralogy, metallurgy and uses of the metal, and this section of the book also has chapters devoted to substitutes, alloys, brands and grades, and a copious glossary.

The plan on which the book is sold remains the same as for seven years past, the publisher sending the book by mail, fully prepaid, to any address ordered, without advance payment of any sort, and subject to approval after a week's inspection. The price is $5. That this unusually liberal plan has proven successful is shown by the statement of the publisher that net losses through returned copies and defaulted payments are less than four per cent. Anyone interested in the subject of copper, as a producer, consumer or investor in shares, should write to Mr. Stevens for a copy of the Copper Handbook on the unusually liberal terms noted.

FAIR GRADUATES TO WEAR SHIRTWAISTS

There is a foreboding quietness about the high schools of Menominee and Marinette these days. It all centers about the girl members of the graduating classes, and it arises from the edict which has gone forth from the sanctums of Superintendents E. J. Shives and G. H. Landgraf.

These gentlemen have decreed that there will be no elaborate reception gowns, at the reception to be given by the graduating class of the two cities to each other. This annual affair, which has become one of great social importance, has devoted into a grownup, chummy function, which in the opinion of the superintendents is not at all in keeping with the democratic spirit of a high school.

Therefore this year the budding grads will go forth to the reception arrayed in shirtwaists. The simplicity which will mark these affairs will be carried out in all the other ceremonies incidental to graduating the 1910 contingent of the twin cities.

CHURCH IS GROWING AND PROSPEROUS

Pleasing Facts and Conditions Revealed at the Annual Congregational Meeting of the First Presbyterian Church—Interesting Reports—The Proceedings.

The annual congregational meeting of the First Presbyterian church was held last night at that church and there was a large representation of the church members present to listen to the reports from the various societies of the church.

The meeting was one of the most encouraging and enthusiastic congregational gatherings which has been enjoyed by that congregation in many years.

The Bible school report was read by Miss Charlotte Robertson, secretary of the Bible school, and showed a gain in many ways over the report of last year.

The King's Sons, represented by their president Albert Allyn, read a report of the extensive work carried on by those young men and submitted an account of all expenditures which run into hundreds of dollars.

The work of this society is charitable and extends to all denominations. A good word was spoken for the generous supporters of this society, and from the report of last night it is certain that all the money given to these young men, has been wisely used and much has been done for the people who were most deserving.

The Ladies' Aid society, represented by the secretary and treasurer, Mrs. C. C. Flint, read a report that gave in detail how more than $1,000 was raised and where much of it was expended, showing that the society still had money in the treasury with which to begin the new year.

The Mission Circle gave a report through their president, Mrs. Willis Anthony, that was very encouraging and showed the large amount given to missions this year by that society.

The treasurer's report was read by M. K. Bissell, who for many years has been the treasurer of the First Presbyterian church, and with his detailed report he gave some good advice to the members of the congregation along the line of more liberal giving.

In the election of officers, following the reports of the departments of the church W. W. Berry was elected to the board of trustees, to fill out the vacancy made by the death of the late Ole Erickson.

The congregation shows a steady and healthy growth and the people of that church should be pleased that the reports of this year were better than ever before and that there is such perfect harmony and such a spirit of willing service on the part of every one.

Immediately after the business session, a luncheon was served in the lecture room of the church and a pleasant and social time was enjoyed by all in attendance.

The congregation shows a steady and healthy growth and the people of that church should be pleased that the reports of this year were better than ever before and that there is such perfect harmony and such a spirit of willing service on the part of every one.

SON OF A MILLIONAIRE TO PITCH FOR PHILLIES

Another millionaire's son will break into the big leagues as a professional baseball player this season. Abe Rachlin, the Newark boy who was taken to Southern Pines with a half dozen other southpaws for a tryout by the Philadelphia nationals, is reputed to be the son of a millionaire, and while his family is not anxious to have him play the game for coin, they want to see him make good at anything he attempts.

Rachlin is 20 years of age and played in the Newark City league last season. He has lots of speed and good curves. Johnny Miller, the Pittsburgh second baseman, claims that Abe is a better hitter than he is, and says that if he doesn't make good as a pitcher he can play the outfield.

Rachlin will be the second millionaire on the team. Lew Moren's father has a barrel of mintage and gets $100 every time he wins a game.

Abe was so anxious to go south with the Phillies for a trial that he told the manager he would pay his own way, but Horace has decided to furnish him with his expenses.

PREDICT HARD FIGHT FOR THE PENNANT

MANAGERS OF THE AMERICAN ASSOCIATION TEAMS SURE OF VICTORY.

HOT RACE OF LAST SEASON

Clubs in Neck and Neck Finish, Louisville Winning by an Eyelash at Close of One of Baseball's Most Exciting Races.

BASEBALL has never seen a closer race than that put up by the teams in the American association throughout last season. At the close of the season of 1908 Chicago, New York and Pittsburg were neck and neck and one game decided the issue, but the three teams had not been so close together all year as were the leaders in the American association last season.

Most of the American association teams have been strengthened this season and it is not unreasonable to expect another close finish. However, baseball dope is uncertain and any one of the teams is likely to start out at the opening of the season and make a runaway race of it.

Heinie Peltz of Louisville.—We won the pennant last year; why can't we do it again? You've got to show me. We've strengthened our team since the close of last season, and although the other clubs have also done the same, I think we are a bit stronger than the rest.

Joe Cantillon of Minneapolis.—I am glad to be back in the association again, and only hope that we may cop the flag during my first year as manager of the Minneapolis club. We have a bunch of vets on our club who, although they may be a bit slow on their feet, still can hit well and use their brains to good advantage.

John McCloskey of Milwaukee.—Although I am not by any means satisfied with the way our team shapes up, prospects for a good team were never brighter. Although the team will be mostly composed of veterans, all the new men will get a chance, and if they show enough class will dispossess the vets without more ado.

Mike Kelly of St. Paul.—After a winter of hard work we have our team practically completed. It is my opinion that we have as fine a bunch of players on our roster as ever played in St. Paul. They are a bunch of enthusiastic and willing boys, most of them young and ambitious for advancement.

Charlie Carr of Indianapolis.—We must finish better this year than we did last season. We won the pennant in 1908, and we are just about due for another victory. We have the makings of a great pitching staff, while our infield and outfield are not bad by any means. Our catchers are also classy.

Billy Friel of Columbus.—We lost some good men last fall, but I think they will not be missed greatly, for we have secured several crackerjack players this winter. I look to see Rossman, Downs, Hinchman, Reilly and Stiton among the best in their positions in the American association.

Ducky Holmes of Toledo.—I am new to the association and new to my players, but if what I heard about them is true, you may look for some stiff battles from the Toledo club this season.

Danny Shay of Kansas City.—We finished in the rut last year, and it is scarcely possible that we will win out in the race this year. But we will do all we can to better our position and let some one else take care of the cellar for a while.

WESTERN MICHIGAN FAVORS GOOD ROADS

Traverse City, Mich., April 7.—That people of western Michigan are heartily in favor of better wagon roads, and that they are actually building roads is made clear by the figures on the amount of "reward" money that has been paid to them because of highways that have been constructed in accordance with state specifications. For the four years ending June 30, 1909, better than $76,000 of state money has been paid out as bonuses for good road building. The amounts earned by the several counties are as follows:

Antrim	5,093
Benzie	2,127
Grand Traverse	540
Kalkaska	7,822
Kent	6,800
Lake	500
Manistee	8,967
Mason	10,910
Mecosta	1,978
Montcalm	2,650
Muskegon	11,180
Oceana	12,749
Osceola	4,582
Wexford	1,003

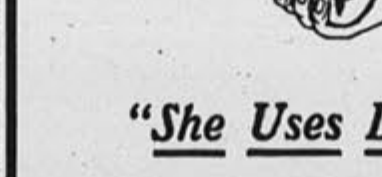

Doubtless the above named counties have received checks from the state since the first of July, so that the figures, were they brought up to the minute, would be materially larger.

THE IRON INDUSTRY HAS A TREMENDOUS FUTURE

Mining Men Marvel at Wonderful Developments in the Lake Superior District.

"It is wonderful the strides that the iron industry of the Lake Superior region is making," said a mining man to a Marquette Mining Journal man the other day. "I believe that ten years hence the shipments will reach 75,000,000 tons annually, and it would not surprise me if 100,000,000 tons should be forwarded within fifteen years. The mining interests are only beginning to realize the great possibilities of this country. On all the iron ranges I find great activity and extensive preparations are being made for the exploration of lands or the development of mines on ore bodies that have already been located. I have never before seen similar interest in iron mining during my thirty years residence in this region. They tell us now that all furnaces are cancelling their orders for foreign ores and that all of these contracts will be placed with the producers of the American ores. This being true, the demand for iron will be increased somewhat during the present season. I have never believed that competition from the foreign mining districts would amount to much. The European demand for iron has greatly increased during the past few months, and prices for all grades of ore have advanced. This has, perhaps, had something to do with the cancelling of the contracts on this side. Foreign ores, as a rule, do not work as well in the furnaces as the ores of this country.

Wonder at the Pace.

"When we stop and think what has been accomplished in this region since the time the first cargo of ore was shipped through the locks at Sault Ste. Marie in June, 1855, we wonder how the pace has been maintained, from the production of 1,400 tons, in 1855, to the enormous output of 42,200,000 tons last year. I am satisfied from the preparations now being made for the coming season that in excess of 50,000,000 tons will go forward. Negaunee, where the first iron ore was discovered in 1844 at the Jackson mine, will this year send out a greater tonnage than during any previous period in its history. Negaunee has been on the shipping list practically every year since the first ore discovery was made. There will be a larger number of mines shipping from this city the coming season than ever before, and at some of the larger properties a record-breaking movement is looked for.

"A few years ago it was common talk among the people that this, and other old ranges, would soon be put out of business by the Mesaba and other new districts being opened up, but this fear has long since passed away. The mines here are going to be operated just as long as iron ore is in demand, even though some of the larger companies are becoming so heavily interested in other ranges that they could suspend operations here, or at any other point, for that matter, without seriously affecting their output. Take, for instance, the United States Steel corporation. Its interests on this range are a mere drop in the bucket as compared with what it has in other regions, particularly on the Mesaba.

Muskegon, April 7.—That the immense estate of the late Charles H. Hackley, Muskegon's philanthropist, was far underestimated when its value was placed at about $13,000,000, is shown by the fifth annual accounting just filed by the trustees with Probate Judge Prescott. During the year $1,100,000 has been turned over in legacies to various sources, while the income of the estate during that time was nearly $600,000.

If the earnings of the estate continue such as they were last year it will take nearly a score of years to dispose of the immense fortune as the Hackley will directed. Of this amount about $1,250,000 will go to the schools of this city, nearly $2,000,000 to the Erie L. Smith fund, more than that sum to Thomas Hume and a like amount to Charles M. Hackley. Muskegon's blind millionaire, who however, can only use the interest of the money, the principal going to his children.

The southern state holdings of timber, the last purchases made by Mr.

Hackley before his death, already had realized several hundred percent upon the amount invested and only half of the land has been disposed of at the present.

TAFT DEDICATES CARNEGIE LIBRARY.

Washington, April 7.—With a speech by President Taft and in the presence of the donor, Andrew Carnegie, the new library of Howard University was dedicated today.

The more than 30,000 volumes in the library were transferred from the old third-story of the main building to the new library in a unique way. The books were tied up in bundles by student labor. The students of the college and the academy then formed in relays, and, without missing a single recitation, in two-days the whole library was transferred without any charge, as a generous expression of their interest in the new library given by Mr. Carnegie.

GOING TO THE CIRCUS

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1910, by Associated Literary Press.

Moses Fairman was visiting the Widow Hooper at least two nights a week with a view to matrimony. Just about this time the billposter for a circus appeared and pasted the roadside barns with the usual gaudy bills, and the excitement began.

Perkinsville was no circus town. It never had had one and didn't want one. Such things were looked upon as demoralizing in the extreme. The bills were hardly up when the parents began warning their children and the ministers had something to say from the pulpits. On one of his visits to the widow Moses Fairman expressed the hope that she would not even permit her cat to view the circus parade, and the next instant he was a surprised man.

"Why, I shall be a spectator myself," replied the widow. "Not only that, but I shall attend the circus both afternoon and evening. I shall expect you to escort me in the evening."

"W-h-a-t!" gasped Moses as he stared at her with open mouth.

The widow repeated the words and said she was tickled to death that a circus was coming.

"But it's wicked! It's monstrous! You can't be in earnest!"

"I shall be there on a front seat."

"But I won't go, and neither will any church member. You have heard what has been said about it. Why, you'd be turned out of the congregation as a black sheep. Mary, don't think of doing any such thing."

"Moses, I'm going to that circus, and that's that!" replied the widow as she put her foot down. "I don't believe there's any more wickedness about it than at a spelling school. Why should there be?"

"But circus men swear and fight," protested Moses.

"So do lightning rod men and tin peddlers. I've heard some of the men around your mill swear."

"But circuses have a clown, and the clown—"

"And the clown he jokes and makes fun. Why shouldn't he?"

"Mary," solemnly said Moses, "if you go to that circus then all is over between us."

"All right, Moses; I'll be there."

Moses went straight from the house of the widow to that of his minister and told his story. It produced consternation. The widow's independence had been winked at, but here was a case of revolution, rebellion, defiance. It must be met and crushed in the bud. The hour was late, but the minister went to struggle with the rebel. She put her head out of her chamber window and after ascertaining his errand replied:

"I have been to Sunday school picnics of our church and seen selfishness, quarreling and backbiting. It can be no worse at a circus, and I am going. Did you ever see a two horned rhinoceros?"

"N-no!" was the stammering reply.

"Then by all means go and see one. It may be your only chance for the next twenty years. Yes, and there's a five legged calf and a dodo."

Next day the news was all over town, and the earth proceeded to rock. The widow had many callers at her mill. All were "again" the widow. It was decided that she must be put down. At first she was only determined. So much was said, however, that she got her mad up and announced that she would attend Thursday evening prayer meeting and announce her position. She was there, and the church was crowded. It was hoped that she intended to recede from her first position, but it was a vain hope. She took the floor to ask how many persons present had ever attended a circus. Five men signified that they had, and seven or eight more could have done so, but didn't.

The widow asked how they had been harmed—if it had led to profanity, drunkenness, wife beating and theft. All pleaded not guilty. Then she asked why it was more wicked to look at an elephant than an ox. No one answered. Then she asked why it was worse to listen to a clown's joke than to some of the stories told around the postoffice while waiting for the mail to arrive. No one answered. Then she asked why a woman shouldn't walk a tight rope or a rail fence if she wanted to? She had seen men walking over the bridge on the railing, and no one had raised a fuss about it. Women would jump through hoops at the circus. What of it? She knew a woman in Perkinsville who had crawled through a screen door when locked out.

The widow's best-weapon was saved to the last. She had made a good case, but she clinched it by asking if any one present would please point out in the Bible where Christian men and women were forbidden the circus any more than the paring bee, the corn-husking or the "lasses candy pull. All heard, but no one complied, and Mrs. Hooper wrapped her toga about her and walked out.

The circus appeared on the date given. The widow was there, Moses was there, and the three or four people in town who weren't there were down with the mumps or measles. It was even said that the three ministers penetrated as far as the cages of the ostriches and the hyenas and that those who tried to figure up the increase of crime during the next year got lost in the maze before arriving at any startling results.

A MODISH VEIL

The past season has been especially notable for the variety and picturesque-ness of its face coverings, and the fad for distinctive veils still prevails. Figured, net in an endless variety of designs, some of them, for instance, those of animals conspicuous to the verge of grotesqueness, is in almost universal use. The veil shown herewith has an elaborately ornate border and is regarded as the height of the present mode.

Decries Brickbat Suffragettes.
"One ounce of solid argument," says Miss Ethel Arnold, sister of Mrs. Humphry Ward, the British novelist, "is worth a ton of brickbats." She refers to the methods of the militant suffragettes who have been performing all sorts of cut-ups in England lately. Miss Arnold is lecturing in the United States. She declares that the breaking up of cabinet meetings, the attacking by women of memorial institutions and the other severe and sensational actions of the suffragettes have turned the men of England against the cause and have retarded its success indefinitely. "The suffragettes," she said recently in the course of a lecture under the auspices of the Limited Suffrage League, "are so much occupied with the sound of their own noise that they do not stop to listen to the comments of the country at large. Their much vaunted militancy has obsessed them, and they cannot realize that they are losing the fight. Violence will never win the women's movement, and so far its results have been disastrous." There was one dissenter in her audience, Miss Alice Paul of New Jersey, recently returned from England, where she served a prison term for militant suffragette tactics and refused to eat, being fed liquid food through the nostrils. Miss Arnold has no use whatever for that type of suffragist.

Helen the Most Popular Name.

Recently a curious investigator took the pains to look through the printed list of students in a young women's college to learn what given names are most popular nowadays. It was discovered that in the list of about 500 girls 102 were named Helen. Mary came next with ninety. Margaret was third, though considerably below Mary. Such names as Hope, Prudence and others usually deemed old fashioned were plentifully sprinkled through the list. Contrary to the expectation of the investigator, there were but few Geraldines, Ediths, Phyllises and other fancy names.

We Treat You 30 Days FREE

Blood Poison can never be cured with mercury or potash. You might as well know this first as last. Medical authorities say so. The most these drugs can do is to drive the blood poison back into the system and smother it for several years. Then when you think you are cured, painful mercury symptoms will break out, and you find that your bones have been rotting all the while. Your teeth will begin to loosen and your tissues, glands, brain and vital organs will show the terrible destructive power of the mercury and potash. Locomotor Ataxia, Paralysis, Imbecility and Premature Death are then almost inevitable. Any medical authority will corroborate these statements. The remarkable vegetable Obbec Treatment does not drive in the

to New Orleans will take advantage of the opportunity of visiting the ship. Promiscuous masking, or, in other words, a second Mardi Gras, has been granted by Mayor Martin Behrman. This will be on Thursday, April 14, and will be the first time in the history of carnivals in New Orleans that promiscuous masking will be allowed "out of season." On the night of the day of free masking members of Jerusalem temple will form the cast on 23 gorgeously and brilliantly decorated and illuminated carnival floats. Following this brilliant street pageant will be the Imperial council ball in the historic French opera house, at Bourbon and Toulouse streets. This will be a most select affair and will be one of the big social events of Shriners' week.

The foregoing is only a part of the entertainment program, as there are several other equally attractive features that will be introduced, one being a smoker for visiting Arab patrols and a special vaudeville bill to be rendered at West End, known as the Coney Island of the South. This resort is located on the shore of Lake Pontchartrain.

The sessions of the Imperial council will be held in the Scottish Rite cathedral, located on Carondelet street. This is but a short distance from the St. Charles hotel, selected as the official headquarters of the Imperial council. In fact, the cathedral is within easy walking distance of every hotel in New Orleans.

Jerusalem temple's members are preparing to give the visiting nobles a most enthusiastic welcome and are doing those things which will insure the Shriners of North America a stay of the most pleasant character.

"Glad-U-Kum," is the welcome slogan. Large placards with "Glad-U-Kum" printed in red type are being liberally distributed throughout New Orleans and the country immediately surrounding, and already the slogan is familiar to the ear.

The bill provides that food kept in cold storage for more than a year should be considered as adulterated, and food that is taken out of a cold storage warehouse and erroneously marked as to the time it had been in cold storage should be considered as misbranded and in violation of the pure food law.

PASTOR ACQUITTED OF MISCONDUCT

Mansfield, Ohio, April 7.—Rev. Simon P. Long, pastor of the First Lutheran church in this city and president of the Wittenberg synod, was acquitted today by the church committee, which tried him on the charge of misconduct.

SOME LIMIT NEEDED ON COLD STORAGE

(By Associated Press.) Washington, D. C., April 7.—That a limit should be put on the use of the cold storage business for the purpose of advancing prices artificially, is the judgment of the senate committee on the cost of living. Chairman Lodge introduced a bill in the senate today to meet this recommendation.

Escanaba members of the Modern Brotherhood of America are making preparations for a proper celebration of the thirteenth anniversary of the organization of the order, which event falls on Friday, April 13. According to the plans now in contemplation the celebration here will take the form of an entertainment to be held in the Odd Fellows' hall on Friday evening. There will be music and social amusements and the women will serve refreshments.

Messrs. Shubert in naming their new Thirty-ninth street house after her is a pretty one, — deserved. The popular Russian actress opened the playhouse on Monday evening with Ibsen's "Little Eyolf," incidentally making her first metropolitan appearance this season. The theatre, which is one of the smallest in the city, will be devoted exclusively to dramatic productions of the "intimate" order under the Shubert management.

44,000 ENROLLED IN U. P. FOR OSBORN

(Special to The Daily Mirror.) Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., April 7.—Out of a total vote of 50,900 cast in 1908 in the upper peninsula for both Taft and Bryan, 44,000 voters are enrolled as Republicans and are qualified to vote for Chase S. Osborn for the Republican nomination for governor at the September primary.

The enthusiasm for Osborn swept the district like a prairie fire, astounding even those who were in active management of Mr. Osborn's campaign. While Mr. Osborn has been carrying the fight into the lower peninsula his friends in the upper peninsula for the past three months have devoted themselves to organizing for enrollment day. How successful were their efforts is shown by the returns.

When Mr. Osborn announced his candidacy the Twelfth district had the smallest proportional Republican enrollment in the state. Today it has the highest. At Mr. Osborn's headquarters, when the returns were finally received, no attempt was made to conceal the intense gratification felt over the results of Monday's enrollment.

"Chase Osborn will come down to the Straits next September with 40,000 votes at his back," declared W. F. Knox, Mr. Osborn's campaign manager.

PIANO PLAYER IS STOPPED BY POLICE

The young man that Professor Powers hypnotized and started on a test of twenty-four hours' continuous piano playing last night, was stopped at twelve o'clock by order of the police, who claimed that parties living up stairs were complaining of the noise. Professor Powers immediately closed the piano and the young man continued playing on the piano cover. Early this morning the cover was opened and once more there is "music in the air."

At 1:30 o'clock this afternoon Powers was again compelled to stop his exhibition. The subject only joined the company here Wednesday, coming from Saginaw. He claimed that he had previously been in a number of similar tests, one of fifty-six hours' duration in Battle Creek.

It is usual to have every subject going into a test of this nature examined by a doctor, but this man had every appearance of health and so this precaution was neglected. At one o'clock the subject showed signs of fatigue and this being so unusual, Powers examined his heart, and found it to be very weak. He immediately stopped him playing and took him to his room.

As advertised, he will be awakened tonight at 8:30 o'clock on the stage at Peterson's opera house.

WOODSMEN WIN SUIT OVER "TURKEYS"

In Justice Linden's court this morning there was tried the case of Joseph Zawatzke for himself and as the assignee of another man against the I. Stephenson company and the result was the awarding of a judgment for $60 and costs in favor of the plaintiffs.

The action was one in trover to recover the value of two "turkeys" containing wearing apparel and other articles usually included in a woodsman's kit of the alleged value of $84. It was alleged that the "turkeys" had been held possession of by the foreman of the I. Stephenson company's camp No. 12, where the plaintiffs had gone for employment under the representation, as they alleged, of the agent who hired them that they would get $30 a month. When they learned that they would be paid but $22 a month the plaintiffs, along with a number of others, left the camp and came to Escanaba, where they were clapped into jail for fifteen days under charges brought against them by the company.

After getting out of jail they attempted to recover their "turkeys," but failed and two of them brought the action tried today. The preliminary events leading up to the litigation occurred last November at the time the men were hired by the employment agent in Chicago to come up here to work in the woods for the I. Stephenson company. Attorney Clyde Hayden represented the plaintiffs and Attorney Frank D. Mead appeared for the defendant company at the trial of the case this morning.

Miss Edith Foy returned last night from Negaunee, where she has been visiting relatives.
