INSPIRATION OF LIFE.

We lose much as we pass along even the quietest ways of life. It is not necessary that we be conspicuous in the world to meet with abiding sorrows and losses that can never be forgotten or retrieved, says Columbia (S. C.) State. Affliction finds us in every retreat. We lose many material things, over which we grieve, although these may be replaced, and we may regain the heights we have lost. We lose ambitions and hopes and we sacrifice aspirations, and these we may not so readily replace, for the soil in which these spring will hardly grow a second harvest. And we lose ideals—chiefly because of our own languishing or indifference, though often because of the "long-lived pressure of obscure distress." We can seldom set up another ideal, quite so lofty, in the place of the one we have ceased to honor, or that has been shattered by the tectonic hand of circumstance. Ideals pass and leave us barren and seared in heart, and if we create new ideals they are nearly always lower ones. We have been pressed down in the scale of life. We must keep our young faiths and ideals fresh and strong, we must water them with our reverence, or we shall lose them and with them the glamour and the inspiration of life.

The growing determination to hold reckless drivers of automobiles to strict responsibility and to inflict upon them exemplary punishment is indicated anew by bills pending in the legislature. One of these measures makes it a felony for any such driver who knowingly kills or injures a person in an auto accident to run away and thus seek to avoid being held to account. The penalty prescribed is imprisonment not exceeding five years or a fine of not more than $5,000, or both fine and imprisonment. In view of some of the heartless occurrences of this kind the amendment sought to be made to the law is not unreasonable or unjust.

It is proposed to carve a new state of Slakyon out of adjoining parts of Oregon and California. So far as the rest of the country is concerned it would prefer a new state with a name that sounds less like vaudeville. But, as under the constitution, the new state cannot be formed without the consent of both California and Oregon, it is hardly worth while to worry much over the name.

GOLD MEDAL FLOUR

BIRTH AND DEATH RATE ON INCREASE

There were 618 deaths of infants under one year of age; 212 deaths of children aged one to four years, and 1,321 deaths of elderly persons, aged 65 years and over.

Important causes of death were as follows: Pulmonary tuberculosis, 222; other forms of tuberculosis, 36; typhoid fever, 43; diphtheria and croup, 29; scarlet fever, 35; measles, 24; whooping cough, 27; pneumonia and broncho-pneumonia, 384; diarrhea, enteritis, under two years of age, 45; meningitis, 48; influenza, 120; cancer 159; violence, 175.

VALUABLE TIPS ON TIRE CARE

One's That Will Save Owners of Cars Time and Money.

NEED OF CORRECT FITTING.

Motorist Should See That Tire is Placed Tightly on Rim—Don't Overload Machine—Keep Grease and Oil Away—Other Pointers.

One of the most important things of automobilism is the proper care of the tires. Below are some pointers that will no doubt prove valuable to the motorist.

It is absolutely necessary that the tire be fitted correctly to the rim in the first place. If this is not done, blowouts will be frequent. With the new style detachable rims it is an easy matter to replace a tire quickly and safely.

You cannot expect long tire life if you constantly overload your machines. Tires are almost human. They will not stand up under a heavier load than they were made to carry.

Never allow oil and grease to come into contact with your tires. See that the garage floor is clean and wipe off all the oil that might find its way to the tires. It is a wise precaution to see that oil soaked waste, rags, etc., are kept away from inner tubes in the tonneau tool box.

See that the brakes of your car work correctly, evenly and easily. Never jam on the brakes too suddenly. Instant locking of the brakes not only destroys the tires, but is likely to injure the car itself. A car can really be stopped within a shorter distance by putting on the brakes gradually, yet firmly.

Do not round curves at too great speed. It is playing with fate to attempt to round corners on two tires.

See that the wheels always run true. The unequal planes of some wheels will cause unusual strains, which wear the tire out much more rapidly than they would naturally wear.

Keep away from the curb. How often we see cars jammed against the curb, with the tires pushed out of alignment and the wheel itself strained in an unnatural position!

Never expose your tires to too great a degree of warmth or cold for any length of time. It is a wise plan to stop on the shady side of the street on hot summer days.

Start your car in a straight line if possible. Do not twist around on the steering wheel before you get under way. This imposes a heavy and unnecessary strain on your tires.

Do not persist in running your car along in street car tracks, as this grinds down one edge of the casing.

Whenever possible choose the softest part of the road. Avoid all obstacles and irregularities and car tracks at a wide angle whenever you can do so.

Emergency Tire Protector. Automobilists are giving particular attention to the new emergency tire sleeve which is now on the market. Along the head portions of each sleeve are attached metal strips which are engaged by hooks to which are secured straps passing around the felly of the wheel. One of these straps is non-adjustable for length, but the other is ratchet-retained within a small housing fitted with a yoke piece for securing it to the felly. In applying the sleeve it can be drawn tightly over the tire by means of a wrench which fits the spindle of the ratchet wheel on whose drum the adjustable band is secured. This construction is clearly shown in the illustration.

MOTOR CAR POINTERS.

Don't let your roller bearings run dry. Front wheels should be taken off and bearings packed in grease every 1,000 to 1,500 miles.

Polishing valve and valve seats with fine graphite largely prevents burning and pitting and obviates leaking and loss of compression.

Don't get frightened at an explosion in the muffler. It indicates weak batteries, lack of gasoline, poorly adjusted coil or stopped up carburetor.

The injection of a small quantity of lubricating oil or a mixture of half oil and half kerosene is recommended in starting a motor long unused.

An acetylene lamp in good order should light up slowly with a hissing noise, followed by a pure white flame. When it lights quickly with a yellowish flame it is a sign of a leak.

$4,000,000 FUND GOES TO SCHOOLS

Lansing, Mich., April 20.—It is estimated that on May 10 the state treasurer will pay out about $3,850,000 in primary school money, and there is a possibility that the figures may be over that amount. At present there is only $987,000 in the primary fund, but according to state officials this amount will reach $4,000,000 by May 10.

A majority of the heavy taxpayers, including the railroad, telegraph and telephone companies, will be coming through with the cash before that date. There is a total approximately of 757,000 school children in the state.

Our Daily Short Story

WHICH WAS MASTER?

By MARY A. BOWERS

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

It was a month after their marriage. Not a word had been spoken to interrupt that current of romance down which they had been sailing ever since they became conscious that they loved. But there is always a beginning.

"My dear," he said pettishly, "I suppose I must go through another day with a safety pin for a suspender button?"

"Another day, dear! What do you mean?"

"If I remember aright this is the third time I have asked you to replace the button that came off a week ago."

She made no reply, but went to her workbasket, got out what was needed and sewed on the button.

Romance had given place to reality. From that moment she began the duties of a wife. Her day was all for her husband. When she arose in the morning her first duty was to see that he had what pleased him for breakfast. She poured his coffee with her own hand. Then when he had gone for the day she superintended the household affairs, planning that everything might be in order against his return. In the evening she consulted his pleasure. If he wished to go out she went out with him. If he preferred to stay at home she stayed home with him. It seemed to her that there was scarcely an hour in the day that she was not working for him.

And he? He went down to business in the morning and worked hard all day for her. When his competitors got ahead of him, when wrangling over disputed business transactions fretted him, when he failed to make money or when he met with success it was all for her. She needed expensive clothing, and he bought them for her. Every spring she must have new apparel, and the next spring, though it was not worn or faded, it was no longer in fashion. One season she must have a hat like an umbrella, and the next it must be replaced by one no larger than a dinner plate. Her winter coat must be short, and the next year it must be long. Since the hat could not be shrunken nor the coat lengthened, they must be cast off and new ones purchased. He wondered why garments never grew smaller, so that those purchased the year before might be reduced.

One day she reproached him. "The day is not long enough," she said, "for me to do all I have to do for my master. I did not know when I married you that I was bringing upon myself slavery. As a girl I could devote all my time to myself. Then I was light hearted because I was free. I had no one's clothes to mend except my own. I had no household duties. I spent my leisure time going to theaters, balls and such other amusements as I preferred. Oh, woe is me that I should have married and become a slave!"

And he replied: "From morning till night I am downtown making money for you to spend for gowns and hats that won't stay in fashion long enough to get the 'new' off them. I must provide house rent and sustenance for you and the thousand other things that you require. I never go fishing or shooting, as I did before I was married, for now, having your necessities to supply, I have nothing left for indulging in those sports of which I used to be so fond. My fowling piece went into a fur coat for you, and you are wearing my fishing tackle on your head. Oh, woe is me, that I married and became a slave!"

One day a baby came. The duties of the wife were changed. The husband returned to the use of safety pins in lieu of buttons. She had no longer time to mend his linen. His clothing remained torn.

The baby needed all her attention, requiring more changes of clothing in a day than her husband needed in a week. She spent much time preparing the child's food, and then after she had got it down him he would throw it up. He had colic most of the time, during which she must dandle him, walk him and give him medicines. Every day he must have the sun and air in his carriage, and his mother, unwilling to trust him to a nurse, trundled him herself. When she was not trundling him she was making or buying clothes for him, and when she was not doing these she was receiving instructions from the doctor as to what she should put into his stomach and what she should put over it.

And the husband. He was now glad to get downtown in the morning to escape the baby's squalls. He passed most of the night walking his son back and forth when the boy had colic and was tired out with loss of sleep. But in his office there was quiet. Besides, in his office he was master, which he was not at home.

One morning the husband, who had taken care of the baby during the night that his wife might get "a little sleep," began the old plaint, "I am your slave." This awakened her own former words. "It is I who am your slave."

This started the wrangle again. Words were getting high when there was a diversion.

There came a sudden yell from the crib. Both rushed to the baby.

"Here is your master," said the father. "We are both his slaves."

LET DREAMS COME TRUE

WILL STRIP THE BEAVER ISLANDS OF THEIR TREES

Lumbermen Are Preparing for Active Work in Virgin Forests of Michigan--Details.

Traverse City, Mich., April 20.—As fast as the complaining saws can transform the pines and hard woods into lumber, the Beaver Islands are being stripped of their trees. For several years the mills have been busy upon the Big Beaver, and as soon as navigation opens the saws will be set to whirling upon High Island and will transform the forest monarchs into material for homes or for whatever else the resultant boards may be used.

A half hundred men have been busy all through the long northern winter preparing for this, cutting roads through the virgin timber, felling the trees and skidding them into piles, getting out the heavy beams, and even the boards for the mill while the carpenters have been doing their part. Until the lake steamer's whistle is heard in the harbor, however, the work of building is halted; for the Beaver Islands while they may get ordinary supplies over the ice or from the tugs that seemingly can follow even a small crack in the ice, boilers and other heavy machinery must come on the big boats.

A Place in Song and Story. The Beavers are by no means terra incognita to the people of Michigan. They have a place in song and story and even in history. Just now they are rather prominent, for the Ottawa and Chippewas lay claim to them by right of a treaty made seventy or more years ago. But the "great white father" down at Washington won't be in a hurry to dispossess the settlers thereon and the sawmill men for he declares the Indians had the islands for their own for only five years after the treaty, and they then became the property of the nation.

Even though the Indian now has no title to the fertile tree-clad acres, he has given them a place in his legends and has even bestowed upon them their name. The white man, always more particular and fussy about certain things and generally favoring specific, while the Indian loves general terms, has improved upon the simple name of "Beavers," applied to the whole group, as the following collection of names, which individualize the group, will amply testify: Big Beaver, High Island, Grape Island, Hat Island, Squaw Island and Whisky Island.

The Indian called the islands Beavers because they looked like a colony of beavers (or beaver houses?) to him, but the white man, judging by his choice of names, was influenced by more subtle emotions.

It is not alone through the Indian treaty that the Beavers figure in history, but because of the fact that King Strang, he of Mormon fame, or infamy, established his headquarters there. Could those roads and forests on the Big Beaver tell their story the tale might be far more interesting than the statements made by those who have written the history of the north country and woven there in the tale of the reign of the king. But Strang is gone, and all that remains are the "king's highway," a magnificent piece of road on the big island, and the king's residence.

St. James the Only City. St. James is the capital of the Beaver Islands, which are a part of Charlevoix county, and is the only city thereon. It has a permanent population of from 1,200 to 1,500, composed of McCanns, Boyles and Gallaghers, with several Molloy's thrown in to make sure of the nationality or descent of the residents. This universal similarity of names has led to some queer descriptions being tacked onto the individuals as distinguishing marks, but so accustomed have the islanders become to their use that little if any remark is occasioned.

Take the name of Owen Gallagher, for instance. There were several Owen Gallaghers on the island, so this particular Owen Gallagher was, by reason of his size, given the name of "Big Owen" Gallagher. When he was married and sons came to him, they, of course, had to be distinguished from the rest of the Gallaghers, and as it would be unhandy to say "Paddy, son of Big Owen Gallagher," the islanders simply shortened it down to "Paddy Big Owen," and "Mike Big Owen," and so on. By and by, time being too short to allow a pause between the last two words, it was made merely "Paddy Bigown" and "Mike Bigown." Everybody knew their last names.

There are "Big Tims" and "Little Tims" and "Big Reds" and "Little Reds" and "Big Mikes," and it has gone even so far that the name "Tim Mary Ellen" excites no comment, for Tim's mother's name was Mary Ellen, and they had to take some way to distinguish him from the other Tims upon the island.

SAGINAW PREPARES FOR MASONIC MEET

Saginaw, Mich., April 20.—Preparations are being rapidly completed for the convening of the Grand Lodge, F. & A. M., in Saginaw next month, which is expected to bring some 800 delegates. It will be a business session chiefly and little time will be given over to entertainment or pleasure. There are many important matters to come before the meetings besides the election of a grand marshal. There is keen competition for this position and eight candidates are already in the field. The location of the new Masonic home will be decided upon and it is expected that the Kellogg sanitarium in Battle Creek will be purchased for this purpose according to the general plans now being discussed. The sanitarium is especially well adapted for the Masonic Home and is ideally located and the present owners are willing to dispose of it to the Masons. During the meeting here the manager of the Tyler-Keystone, a Masonic paper, will start a movement towards making this the official paper of the Michigan Masonic order.

A local entertainment committee has been appointed, and this committee is now engaged in preparing for the visitors. It is believed that tickets to some good play will be purchased and distributed among the delegates.

Really Poor Penman.

There is a certain Philadelphia physician of considerable prominence who is renowned among his friends as the worst penman in the Quaker city. He used to write them letters and then feel hurt when they could not read them. When he wrote to persons who were not familiar with his scrawl they frequently would not know whom the letters were from. Some time ago he introduced a typewriter into his office, and this rendered the body of the letter intelligible, but did not clear up the difficulty over the signature. Now, however, says the Record, he has had made a rubber stamp bearing his name and address in printing. He signs his name in the usual scrawl, but alongside he impresses his stamp. It is a little humiliating, he says, but he no longer has any trouble about persons to whom he writes not knowing from whom the letters are.

Yes; the Merchant Who Advertises Can AFFORD to Sell It For LESS.

No matter what the article is, unless it should be something whose selling price is as fixed as that of a postage stamp, the merchant who is an enterprise advertiser is sure to sell it for less than the merchant who does not advertise.

For, in spite of his advantages in buying—buying in large quantities, for cash or short credit, taking instant advantage of buying OPPORTUNITIES—his selling advantage is the decisive factor. For he is enabled to count his profits on a large aggregate of sales—not compelled to secure them from a FEW SALES, for he would then be taxing a small number of customers with the entire support of his business.

A store that makes a net profit of $100 in a day from sales to three hundred customers, is sure to sell to each of those customers on a closer margin of profit than is the non-advertising store that is COMPELLED to make enough to cover a daily expense of $50 out of sales made to fifty customers.

If you are one of the 300 daily customers of the merchant who advertises, you are paying but one three hundredth part of his store-profits on the days you buy. If you are one of the fifty daily customers of the non-advertising merchant, you are paying one fiftieth of his profits.

If you are fairly "good at figures" you will quickly convince yourself that you ought to buy advertised things!

For Our Boys and Girls

Window Box Gardening.

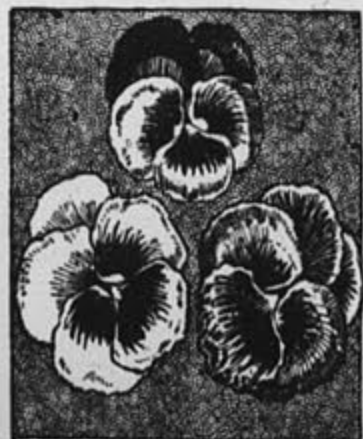

It is an easy thing for boys and girls to have gardens and raise beautiful flowers. Even though you have no patch of ground where you can plant things, you will be surprised if you try it to find how pretty a miniature garden can be made in a sunny window.

In any case, it is time now to begin operations. If you have ground space for flowers plant pansy seed in a window box. The seed will come up in due time; then so soon as the ground gets warm the tiny plants must be set out in beds in the open ground. Get a packet of mixed pansy seed. Have a shallow wooden box two or three inches deep. Fill it nearly full of light rich earth—street sweepings are as good as anything. Have holes in the bottom of the box for drainage.

Chocolate Nut Sticks. First mix carefully together, says Woman's Home Companion, one cupful of fine granulated sugar, one-fourth of a cupful of melted butter, one unbeaten egg, two squares of unsweetened chocolate (melted), three-fourths of a teaspoonful of vanilla, one-half of a cupful of flour and one-half of a cupful of English walnut meats cut in pieces. Line a seven inch square pan with paraffin paper and spread mixture evenly in pan. Bake in a slow oven. As soon as removed from oven turn from pan and remove paper, then cut cake in strips, using a long, sharp knife. If these directions are not followed the paper will cling to cake and it will be impossible to cut it in shapely pieces.

French Cook Wrinks. French cooks add a teaspoonful of sugar to each quart of water in which peas, squash and other green vegetables are cooked. This brings out the flavor of the vegetable and is very agreeable, especially in very young peas, which the French cook, pods and all, with cream, serving under the name of mangestouties ("eat it all").

Stops itching instantly, cures piles, eczema, salt rheum, tetter, itch, hives, herpes, scabies—Doan's Ointment. At any drug store.

PANSIES.

Scatter the seed evenly over the soil and sprinkle earth lightly upon it for a covering. Then water with spray from a rose watering pot. Keep moist and not too warm in a sunny place. Pansy seed is rather slow to germinate, but in from six weeks to two

RATIO OF MANUFACTURED TO ROUGH LUMBER SHOWN

The Department of Agriculture Makes a Study of the Wood-Using Industries--Results.

(Special to The Mirror.)

Washington, D. C., April 20.—The United States department of agriculture in connection with a study of the wood-using industries of various states is learning what part of the rough lumber output of our American sawmills passes through a second process of manufacture before it is ready for the consumer. The study is regarded as having an important bearing on the extent to which more economical use of our forest resources can be brought about. So far, the results obtained show that more than five-eighths of the rough lumber sawed is to be counted as the raw material for other industries which convert it into a more highly finished and more valuable product.

In the United States waste in the woods, the mill, and the factory is so great that two-thirds of what was in the tree is lost on the way to the consumer. The heaviest part of this loss takes place in the sawmills. Much of this waste is unavoidable under present conditions, but the greater the demand for the product and the higher its value, the better will economy pay. Waste in manufacture is very small compared with that at the sawmill. Study of the demands of the wood-using industries may be a means of finding out how the mill may profitably market a part of what now goes to the burner in sawdust, slabs, and trimmings.

What Statistics Show.

Statistics of the wood-using industries of Massachusetts, Maryland, North Carolina, and Wisconsin, lately gathered by the department of agriculture in cooperation with these states, show that of their total sawmill output thirty-six per cent is in the form of rough lumber and sixty-four per cent is manufactured into other forms of output. If the same ratio holds for the entire country as for these states, about thirteen billion

MARINETTE MADE POINT OF TRANSFER

The Goodrich Transit Company Makes the Wisconsin City a Terminal and Embarking Point—Arrangements Made With the Railroads—Details of the Plan.

According to The Marinette Eagle-Star, the Goodrich Transit company, which runs boats from Chicago and intermediate points to Escanaba, has decided to make Marinette an important transfer point for its summer excursion business. Regarding the matter, The Eagle-Star says:

"A representative of the company was recently in this city completing arrangements for the new move. The Goodrich company will make Marinette a starting point as well as a terminal for its summer excursion traffic.

"Agreements have been made with the railroads whereby passengers can come to this city and take the boats for the trip to Mackinac Island and the east shore of Lake Michigan. They will also be permitted to disembark in this city and return home whenever they desire to cut off the trip down the lake to Chicago.

"There will be three boats a week this summer into Marinette and it is expected that a hundred or more passengers will change from the boats to the trains at this port. This means additional business of all kinds for the city as passengers will have several hours' stopover. The bus and transfer lines are making arrangements to handle the business which they expect to be an extensive one.

"It means that Marinette will be used as a terminal transfer point in connection with the railroad lines and that thus people who desire to make the northern ports will avoid the long trip from Chicago to this port by making it by railroad.

How It Was Made and Retained in Escanaba.

A good reputation is not easily earned, and it was only by hard, consistent work among our citizens that Doan's Kidney Pills won their way to the proud distinction attained in this locality. The public endorsement of scores of Escanaba residents has rendered invaluable service to the community. Read what this citizen says:

Mrs. E. Steinke, 615 Wells Ave., Escanaba, Mich., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills for a number of years and would not be without them in the house. The statement we gave for publication several years ago, was correct in every respect and I am perfectly willing to have my name used in the local papers as an endorser of this remedy. Doan's Kidney Pills can be procured at the Mead Drug Co. and will never fail to bring relief if given a fair trial."

CONGRESS MAY PASS THAT FINE ARTS BILL.

What Pending Legislation is Intended to Do for Our Public Buildings.

A most important and significant change in the management of federal affairs is contemplated in bills now pending in congress for the creation of a Bureau and Council of Fine Arts.

On its face the matter may seem of small moment, but actually it is part of a far-reaching movement for the systematization of the entire executive branch of government on what has come to be called a business basis. Eventually it may come to a redivision of various departmental activities that, now split up variously, naturally and economically jostle.

This, of course, is not contemplated in legislation before congress except in the particular case of federal building operations, but the tendency of the times is in the direction of greater economy and higher efficiency, and this forms an initial step in the right direction.

Senator Newlands' bill brings all the building operations of the government under one head, with representation from each department. It also provides an advisory council of eminent specialists to keep the standard of excellence in building up to the possible maximum.

At present the architectural work of the government is divided among six offices, each without relation to the others. There are separate architectural staffs for the life saving service, the capitol, the army, the bureau of Indian affairs and the treasury department, while the department of justice, postoffice, commerce and labor and others have no representation except what they can secure from the treasury department. The cost of these various architectural offices is about $1,200,000 per year.

The purpose of the legislation now pending is to bring all these separate and sometimes antagonistic organizations together so that the work may have the benefit of supervision from the government's best man, may be given a reasonable artistic uniformity and be produced more economically.

The other part of this pending legislation—that of creating a council of the arts, to be composed of eminent architects, sculptors and painters, who shall serve in advisory capacity without compensation—is generally recognized as of the greatest value. Practically all the European countries have such a body, and even the larger American cities, notably New York, are so equipped. The purpose of such a body is to pass on all designs for buildings, monuments, parks, medals, etc., and to insist that they be really good according to the best standards.

Such a body as this if it had existed for the last twenty years would not only have saved the nation from some of its worst architectural monstrosities—now recognized as a national disgrace—but would have saved to the nation millions of dollars. The truth of this has been demonstrated in other countries, though there the standards of public taste were and still are far higher than ours.

HOUSE PASSES THE PUBLICITY BILL

Washington, April 20.—With Mr. Mann, of Illinois, along voting in the negative, the house passed the McCann campaign publicity bill. Mr. Mann declared that, like the Sherman anti-trust act, it would be found that the provisions of the bill would far exceed the purposes of its advocates.

YARD OF CLOTH IN WOMAN'S BODY

Sloux Falls, S. D., April 20.—Mrs. Sippert of Eureka a year ago was operated on at a hospital outside of this state but instead of being relieved she had since been ill. As a last resort she was taken to a hospital at Emery a few days ago. There, in an operation, surgeons pulled from her body a cloth a yard long, which had been there since the first operation, and which the surgeons who performed the first operation had forgotten to remove.

PLEASURE TO BE PAID FOR

How Wise Mother Directed Little Daughter's Steps in Ways of Common Sense.

She was a very little maiden, and she thought that Willy Smith, whom she met at a party, was the very nicest boy she had ever seen. "Mummy," she told her mother the morning after the party, "I want to write every day to Willy Smith; I said I would."

"All right, dearie," was the cheerful reply.

A very lively letter went off that day to Willy Smith. But the next day, when the small damsel had finished writing her missive, she looked up at her mother.

"Must I pay two pennies every time I write to Willy Smith?" she asked, plaintively.

"Why, of course, darling," said the mother.

"But if I pay two pennies every day to write to Willy Smith, I won't have any pennies of my own."

"No, that is true."

"Mummy," in a pleading voice, "won't you give me two pennies for my letter?"

"No, dear. I don't care to write to Willy Smith. Why should I spend my pennies on him?"

"Then," with a sigh, "I think I won't write any more to Willy Smith. I'd rather have my pennies."

The modern parent seems to be adopting Herbert Spencer's advice—to leave the children to be taught by the penalties that life inflicts.

The banquet was served in courses and the principal decorative feature of the festive board was a huge birthday cake.

The Escanaba team was invited to play ball at Ishpeming with the Ishpeming team next Sunday, but for good and sufficient reasons the invitation has been declined. The home team is not ready yet to go up against teams that are reported to be playing in midseason form.

The weather today has been more springlike than that of yesterday, but the weather man will have to do still better if he is to regain his place in popular affection.

FIXING OF BUTTER PRICES UNDER PROBE

(By Associated Press.) Chicago, Ill., April 20.—The relations between the butter boards of Chicago and Elgin is the subject of a formal inquiry that is being made here today by Special Investigator Harrison from the office of Attorney General Wickersham. The visit of Harrison is said to be the preliminary step to searching investigations that will be made by the federal authorities into the existing conditions governing the fixing of the price of butter every week at Elgin.

SUING TO RECOVER FOR LOSS OF HORSE

The case of Henry Hirm vs. Nicholas Walsh is now on trial before a jury in circuit court. Hirm is suing to recover damages for the loss of a horse which was killed through falling into a cess pool on the defendant's premises one day last winter. Attorney James H. Clancy is representing the plaintiff and Cumiskey & Spencer appear for the defendant. Hirm in his testimony this morning placed the value of the horse at $350.

Trial of the case of Joseph Beauchamp vs. Kurz Bros., was concluded late Tuesday afternoon and the jury returned a verdict, in favor of the plaintiff awarding him damages in the sum of six cents and costs of the action. The case was one involving a chattel mortgage which Mrs. L. A. Kaufman held against Beauchamp on a house and which house had been sold to Kurz Bros., after the mortgage had been foreclosed. Cumiskey & Spencer represented the plaintiff and Attorney James H. Clancy the defendants.

Four more aliens were granted their naturalization papers late yesterday afternoon after successfully passing the required examination.

ROBBERY CHARGE IS NOT SUSTAINED

Trial of the case of The People vs. Frank Starr, charged with assault to commit robbery, was begun before a jury in circuit court this morning, but soon came to an end. After hearing the testimony of Julius Spike, the complainant, and the states' principal witness, Judge Flannigan directed the jury to bring in a verdict of no cause for action and the defendant was discharged from custody. Starr was accused of having assaulted and robbed Spike of $75 while the latter was in a room at the St. Clair hotel on the night of March 24.

MISCREANT SCALDS HARMLESS PUPPY

This morning some person living at or near Wells was the perpetrator of one of the meanest acts that a newspaper is ever called upon to make public. W. O. H. Paul recently acquired a valuable Alredale puppy and this morning while it was wandering about the location it was severely scalded by some miscreant.

Mr. Paul is thoroughly aroused over the cruelty of the deed and says that he will make an effort to find out who done it and will then take some means to mete out sufficient punishment. There is nothing lower in the category of petty crime than scalding any kind of an animal. A person who will resort to such a thing is not fit to live in a decent community like Wells and it is to be hoped that an example will be made of the guilty individual. The pup is only about three months old and of considerable value.

DEMOCRATS SCORE ON REPUBLICANS

Rochester, N. Y., April 20.—Between six and eight thousand voters in Monroe county changed from the Republican to the Democratic column Tuesday and elected the first Democratic congressman that has represented the Thirty-second district of New York in twenty years.

James S. Havens, Democrat, running on a tariff reform platform, defeated George W. Aldridge, for a score of years ruler of the county Republican organization, by 5,900 votes. James Breck Perkins, whose death in the middle of his third congressional term necessitated a special election Tuesday, carried the district in 1908 by 10,767 votes. Taking the vote on the presidency in 1908 as a comparison, the total turnover vote was 8,033. It is acknowledged that Perkins' vote that year was abnormal. Accepting the average Republican plurality, the turnover Tuesday was about 6,000 votes.

BASEBALL GAMES TO BE PLAYED SUNDAY

Although the formal opening of the Delta County Baseball league season will not occur until May 15, the baseball fans will not be permitted to suffer for lack of their favorite sport. Through arrangements that have been made by the managers of the Escanaba, Gladstone, Rapid River and Continental teams, there will be exhibition games for the next three Sundays. Next Sunday afternoon the Escanaba team will play an exhibition game with the Continentals at South Park and the Gladstone team will play Rapid River at Gladstone. On Sunday, May 1, Gladstone will play the Escanaba team here and the Continentals and Gladstone will clash at Gladstone. The repairs and improvements being made at the South park ball grounds are well under way and by Sunday it is expected the grounds will be in excellent condition for play. The work of moving the east fence was finished last evening.

HALLEY'S COMET NOT YET VISIBLE HERE

Although many Escanaba people have been rising at all hours of the night in the hope of catching a glimpse of Halley's comet, it is not known that any have as yet been rewarded for their early rising. For several mornings past, the sky has been overcast and the comet could not have been seen, even if it were otherwise visible. The comet was sighted with the naked eye for the first time yesterday at St. Johns, New Foundland, and this morning it was seen without the aid of telescopes by laymen as well as astronomers in Chicago. A number of Escanaba people have fitted up telescopes and are diligently watching and waiting for a good look at the rare celestial wanderer, who is returning after a long lapse of years.

LOCAL BARBERS ADD TO THEIR LAURELS

In the dance given at Clark's hall last night the members of the barbers' Union added another bright page to their social history. Agreeable to expectations, the affair was a success in every way. There was a large attendance and the enjoyment was in complete proportion to the size of the crowd. There was nothing lacking that could contribute to the pleasure of the dancers. The floor was in prime condition, the music furnished by the Ideal orchestra was of the best and the knights of the razors and shears exerted themselves to the utmost in entertaining their guests and seeing to it that those not acquainted should become so and have partners for every dance. There were twenty-one regular dances on the program and it was one o'clock before the last one was reeled off.

INSPECTION OF THE RESERVES POSTPONED

Owing to the non-arrival here of Adjutant General Cox, the official inspection of the Escanaba Naval Reserves did not take place last evening as scheduled. Grant T. Stephenson, one of the officers, however, conducted an informal inspection and stated that the regular inspection will be held at a later date. The Reserves were notified that checks for the amounts due them for their cruise last summer will be sent by mail to them within a few days.

The Reserves will meet for drilling purposes next Monday evening, at which time it is expected several recruits will be admitted to membership. It is stated that there is room for fifteen more members of the Reserves and those desiring to join and be in line for the cruise next summer should get their applications in early.

Your Checks are Receipts

"Pay as you go" is an excellent maxim provided you "pay-by-check." It's foolish to carry money on the person, except for the smallest purchases and incidentals, for aside from the care and inconvenience there is always the danger of theft or loss.

But with a check-book of this bank in your pocket the inconvenience and worry is eliminated. You write out a check for the exact amount of each purchase, your check-stub is a record for reference and the check itself will later be returned to you by the bank and may be retained as a receipt.

Some persons may think of the check account as being complicated. Nothing could be more simple, however. We keep books for you and there is a record for your every transaction.

STEAMER NIKO HAS RUN OF HARD LUCK

The steamer Niko is certainly having her share of hard luck. Last Saturday while towing three consort, the barge S. J. Tilden, Annie Peterson and the Delta, the Niko ran aground near Clay Banks and was not released until many hours of hard work. After being worked off the bottom into deep water the Niko picked up her consort and started out again, but early yesterday morning she again ran aground, this time on Dry Shoals, about three and one-half miles south of Ford River. Her consort did not strike bottom and stood by, as they had done at Clay Banks.

The Niko was unable to free herself and the tug Sioux of this port was called upon for help. With Capt. George Shipman as pilot, the Sioux went to the stranded vessel's assistance and after working nearly all day succeeded in pulling the Niko off the shoals. She was uninjured and taking the Tilden and Peterson in tow started for Manistique. The Delta was towed by the Sioux into Ford River, where she is now being loaded with lumber. All of the consort and the Niko were light at the time of both strandings.

MUST SHOW CAUSE TO CIRCUIT COURT

Under Sheriff T. J. Curran went to Gleason yesterday afternoon and served papers upon Andrew Mills, summoning the latter to appear in circuit court here on April 25 and show cause why he should not obey the court's order to pay alimony of $15 a month to his divorced wife. Mrs. Mills, who lives in this city, secured a divorce from her husband some time ago and in the order granting her a decree was given the custody of the one child born to the couple and Mills was directed to pay alimony of $15 a month to her. It is alleged that Mills has for several months neglected to comply with the court's alimony order and is therefore in danger of being declared in contempt of court unless he can show cause why the court's order was not obeyed. He will have a chance to do this in circuit court next Monday. Mills is in charge of a log loading crew for the I. Stephenson company.

PRICES OF FOOD IN NEW YORK FALLING

New York, April 20.—This morning when the housewives of this big city went to their favorite grocery stores to make the purchases for the day they were greatly surprised and delighted to find that since the trip that was made by them yesterday, many prices had been lowered.

The foods on the lower priced list included potatoes, flour and many varieties of canned goods.

While the prices of meat are still too high to meet with the approval of the public, the bakers have come to the front with bread that weighs two ounces more to each loaf.

MORE LIQUOR BONDS RECEIVE APPROVAL

the license fee must be paid within two weeks from the time the application and bond are approved.

Upon the recommendation of the sewer committee, the petition of the Delta Hardware company for a change in the direction of the storm sewer emptying in the bay under No. 2 engine house was granted. The sewer committee was authorized to do the work and to purchase a quantity of pipe to have in reserve for just such odd jobs and emergencies.

A petition asking for an extension of the sewer in Tweedy street through block 6 to Jacob street was presented and referred to the sewer committee.

The same action was taken with a petition from Janet Neeley of Negauene, owner of lots 15 and 16 at the southeast corner of Ludington street and Tilden avenue, who asked for the construction of a lateral sewer to connect with the Ludington street sewer. The petitioner claimed that the contractor of the Ludington street sewer had been paid for constructing such a lateral sewer, but that it had not been laid. At least diligent search had failed to discover its existence, she declared in her communication to the council.

The bond of the city treasurer for the coming year was fixed at $25,000 by the adoption of a resolution. Later, City Treasurer Frank J. Hess submitted his bond for that amount, with W. W. Oliver and A. R. Moore as sureties, and it was accepted. Upon motion of Alderman Valentine, the city clerk was instructed to advertise for bids for doing the city printing the coming year, all bids to be in and opened at the first meeting of the council, in May.

It was decided that when the council adjourn it be until next Friday evening.

Note of other business transacted at the meeting will be found in other columns of this issue.
