MINISTER GIVEN HAPPY SURPRISE

Escanaba Knights of Pythias Present Rev. Frederick Spence With a Hand some Present—Gift is Entirely Un-expected and Recipient is Almost Overcome.

Escanaba lodge of the Knights of Pythias held a meeting last evening that was of unusual interest. Besides carrying out work in the third rank and afterward having a program of addresses and a fine supper, which was served by the Pythian Sisters, the Knights sprung a complete and what proved a most happy surprise upon one of their esteemed members, Rev. Frederick Spence.

At the proper time in the program Mr. Spence was called forward and severely arraigned for his "misconduct" and as a just punishment therefor he was sentenced to receive from his brother Knights a handsome present, the substance and extent of which may enable him to take that contemplated European trip, which last year he was obliged to forego.

City Attorney Ira C. Jennings was the spokesman for the Knights and his presentation speech was a gem of sentiment and feelingly expressed the high regard in which Mr. Spence is held by his brother members of the Knights of Pythias fraternity.

Mr. Spence was so surprised and affected by the incident that for once in his life he was unprepared to immediately respond and for a space could not find words to express his appreciation.

The gift (a check for $200) he received was one which cannot fail to be of great service to him and at the same time it reflects in a high degree not only the esteem in which he is held by its donors but their generosity as well.

DIPHTHERIA CAUSES DEATH OF A CHILD

Louise Clara Neuman, the seven years old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Neuman, died about ten o'clock this morning at the family home, 517 Wells avenue. Her death was caused by diphtheria, with which the child had been ill for some days. The funeral was held this afternoon and was private on account of the contagious nature of the disease from which the child died. Services were conducted at the grave in Lakeview cemetery by Rev. W. P. Peters, pastor of St. Paul's German Evangelical church.

NO PLACE TO DISPLAY STORM WARNINGS

Escanaba officials of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway company have been attempting to make arrangements for placing a storm warning tower near No. 2 dock for the government local weather station, but their efforts have failed and in consequence after April 30 the local weather station will, for a time at least, have no place for the display of storm signals. The signals are at present displayed from a staff over the Cleary building, wherein the weather station is at present located, but this location will not be available after the station is moved into

LIKE CONQUERING HERO ROOSEVELT ENTERS PARIS

People of French Metropolis Give Him Magnificent Reception—Are Roosevelt Crazy.

(By Associated Press.) Paris, France, April 21.—All Paris turned out this morning to give welcome to Col. Theodore Roosevelt when he entered the city at 7:30 o'clock and of all the receptions that the great traveler has received it is not likely that any of the previous ones have exceeded the one tendered him here today.

Government troops were lined up at the passenger station to keep back the crowds that wanted to get closer and closer, and which had been waiting patiently for many hours to see America's first citizen.

Ambassador Bacon, M. Jusserand and many other prominent people of Paris and France received the ex-president as he alighted from his train and escorted him to the hotel where he will remain while in Paris.

Gone Roosevelt Crazy. M. Jusserand, who is the French ambassador to the United States, came over from America on purpose to be present when Mr. Roosevelt reached Paris in order to aid in his reception and entertainment.

The official program for this afternoon included an official visit upon President Fallieres.

The whole of Paris is decorated with American flags and bands play American airs. The French people have gone Roosevelt crazy and the popular cry upon the streets today is "Vive Le Roosevelt."

HENDRICKSON MET DEATH BY ACCIDENT

That is the Verdict of the Coroner's Jury Which Investigated the Death of Man Whose Body Was Found in a Ditch—Sederburg's Death Caused By Heart Trouble.

Death by accidental drowning was the verdict returned by the coroner's jury, which this morning held an inquest to determine if possible the manner in which John Hendrickson of this city came to his end.

As noted in these columns yesterday, Hendrickson's body was found lying in a ditch, partially submerged in water, near Marrangers on the Escanaba & Chgo Superior railway.

No marks of violence were found on the man's body and the only conclusion was that his death was the result of either accident or design. After a careful investigation by Coroner P. C. Dube and the members of his jury, the verdict was found as noted.

The members of the jury were: Dr. W. J. Firkus, Victor R. Blomstrom, Thomas J. Burke, Thomas Matthews, S. F. Edwards and E. L. Jarvis. Hendrickson's body was buried this afternoon at the expense of the county, the funeral being held from J. A. Allo's undertaking rooms, where it has been taken after being brought to this city. So far as known the dead man had no relatives aside from four young children, three of whom are being cared for in different families and the fourth, a little girl, being in the state school for dependent children at Coldwater.

After personally investigating the death of Gust Sederburg, who was found dead Wednesday morning in his bed at the home of Nels Isaacson near Lathrop, Coroner P. C. Dube came to the conclusion that the man died during the night of a natural cause, presumably heart disease, from which he is known to have been suffering. Coroner Dube did not consider it necessary to hold an inquest. Sederburg's body was brought to J. A. Allo's undertaking establishment in this city and will be given burial tomorrow. It is not known that the deceased had any relatives in this country.

FIVE "LIFERS" ESCAPE FROM FEDERAL PRISON

Two Are Speedily Recaptured, However—Escape the Result of a Clever Plot—Story.

(By Associated Press.) Leavenworth, Kansas, April 21.—Five train robbers who were serving life sentences at the federal prison here, escaped this morning, but two of them were speedily recaptured.

The break for liberty was made at eight o'clock and was the result of a cleverly planned plot. Two of the convicts were working in the carpenter shop and the others in the tailor shop.

A switch engine was backed into the prison yard and just as the whistle was blown before the engine started out, the convicts ran towards it, levelling dummy guns at the enginemen and compelling them to reverse the engine while they got aboard.

The engineer was then commanded to use all possible speed in getting out of the prison yard and into the open country.

Three St' at Large. The engineer not waste any time or words, but for the country at once and as the woods were reached the convicts left the engine and sought safety away from the track.

A number of guards from the prison at once set out in search of the men and within a short time found the two which have been returned to the prison.

The other three are said to be surrounded in some underbrush, and it will only be a matter of a short time when they will be taken and returned to their cells.

SALOONISTS ARE GETTING "RED CARDS"

Saloonkeepers whose applications for licenses have been accepted and their bonds approved are beginning to call at the office of County Treasurer Mallmann for their red cards, exchanging therefor the nice little sum of $500 each. Up to three o'clock this afternoon seven of the red cards had been issued and the money for them received. The honor of being the first saloonkeeper to pay for his license this year goes to Alfred J. Moreau. The other six are John Freeman, S. Pichette, John Christie and Ed. P. Johnson, all of this city; August Lilquist and Louis Tardiff of Gladstone. Escanaba saloonkeepers whose applications were approved by the common council on April 11 must pay for their licenses on or before April 25, else they will be void.

AWARDED $358 FOR DEATH OF HORSE

WIDOW SUES FOR $10,000 DAMAGES

Trial of the Case of Mrs. Emily Denter Against Escanaba Saloon Keepers is Begun in Circuit Court—Plaintiff Submits to Non-Suit as to Some Defendants—Story.

This morning in circuit court was begun the case of Mrs. Emily Denter vs. Fred Johnson and Axel Carlsson as copartners, Edward P. Johnson, John Richter and others and is still in progress. The plaintiff, however, before session of court began this afternoon submitted to a non-suit as to all of the plaintiffs except John Richter and his bondsmen and the case is now only against the latter.

After the plaintiff's testimony had concluded the attorneys for the defendants made a motion that the case should be dismissed on the ground of no cause of action. The motion was argued and resulted in its being overruled by Judge Flannigan. Trial of the case resumed this afternoon, with the attorneys presenting their side of the case which is one of unusual interest.

Mrs. Denter brought the action to recover damages in the sum of $10,000 for the death of her husband, which she alleges was caused through the sale to her husband of liquor by the defendants named in her original complaint. Her suit is based on a state law which provides that any person injured directly or indirectly by the sale of intoxicating liquors may sue the sellers of such liquors for damages that may result from such injury or death.

The story of Denter's death and the circumstances surrounding it has heretofore been published in The Mirror, but its repetition at this time will be of interest.

Early in the morning of December 19, 1908, Mr. Denter was found dead in the wash room of Edward P. Johnson's Welcome saloon at 231 Stephenson avenue. It was reported at the time that Mr. Denter had been picked up about seven o'clock the previous evening while lying on the ground outside the building in an unconscious condition and brought into the wash room, where he was left without further care, it is alleged, after some efforts had been made to arouse him from his stupor.

No physician was called, it is claimed, and Denter was left alone in the washroom until early next morning, where he was found dead when an attempt to awaken him was made. An inquest was held and the jury's verdict, in effect, was that the cause of Denter's death was gastritis, coupled with a serious lung trouble which had made it difficult for him to breathe.

Denter had been a resident of Escanaba for a number of years and was employed as a blacksmith in the local shops of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway company. He left a widow and three children.

The jury trying the case is composed of Erick Hall, Edward Bergman, Owen Jones, August Larson, George Pease, T. J. Smears, Jacob Groos, Joseph Gingras, Noa Deloria, John Kniskern, George Laurensen and Frank Burleson.

The attorneys in the case are H. J. Rushton and Gallup & Gallup for the plaintiff and Cumiskey & Spencer for the defendants.

R. W. Priest, advance representative of "The Third Degree" company, is in the city making arrangements for the appearance of his company at the Peterson opera house on Sunday, May 1.

A MAIL BOX AT THE DOOR.

One of the suggestions of the postmaster general for economizing in his department is that the people put up little boxes or other receptacles at their front doors, so that the postman will not have to stand and wait until somebody answers the bell. A great deal of time is wasted by the postman having to wait. It is in the interest of an efficient and economic service to provide these little conveniences. And then they are not only conveniences for the postman; they are also for the people of the house. "There is the mail man," says the housekeeper, with her hands in the dishwater or mixing the dough for the family bread—"run, Johnny, to the door," and Johnny is down in the back yard trying to lasso a black cat, but by this time the mail man, thinking no one is at home, goes off with the expected letter from Mary, who is visiting over in Chicago, and so the family is deprived of the pleasure for several hours, simply for the lack of a neat little letter-box at the front door.

Co-operation by governors may have a potent influence in bringing about a less noisy and dangerous celebration of Independence Day. Nine executives of states have assured the Civic club of Philadelphia, which is working in this cause, that they will join the crusade for a "safe and sane" Fourth of July, says Troy Times. Of course governors do not make laws or interfere with personal privileges. But their suggestions may be effective, and when they combine to aid in bringing about a quiet observance of the nation's birthday their efforts will count for a good deal.

Nine governors of states have given assurances of support to the Philadelphia Civic club's movement for the abolition of fireworks on the Fourth of July except for public displays. Other governors are doubtless in sympathy with the movement, but have not given the matter attention sufficient to dictate reply to the Philadelphia inquiry. The people of the United States are apparently ready for the inauguration of safe and sane methods of celebrating Independence Day.

Dr. Pearson's Chicago millionaire who has been giving so much money to small colleges throughout the country, says that on April 14 he is going to have a general squaring up with all the institutions to which he has promised money and that he is going on a rampage of giving that will end only when his millions are all gone. "I intend to die penniless," he says, and he really acts as though he meant it.

WILL AUTOISTS HELP TO IMPROVE STREET?

Will the automobile owners of Escanaba, along with business men, raise a bonus of possibly $1,000 for the purpose of paying for part of the work of making Hartnett avenue fit for traffic? That is the question that is agitating the minds of several men who would like to see that street put into shape.

It will not take very long to get $1,000 pledged by people who have to send their teams to Wells and the owners of automobiles will be liberal supporters of the movement. Nothing can be done, however, about raising the $1,000 until some proper person is named to take the subscriptions.

In order to make some kind of a start, The Mirror would suggest that H. W. Reade receive the names of all those who will contribute towards this movement and the amount of money that they will give.

WORLD-WIDE MISSION PROGRAM IS PLANNED

National Missionary Congress to Bring Laymen of the Country Together in Chicago.

The National Missionary Congress, to be held at Chicago, May 3-6, under the auspices of the laymen's missionary movement, will bring together representatives of all the evangelical bodies from seventy-five of the leading cities throughout the country. The most distinguished missionary speakers of North America will be on the program.

Conventions will be held in the seventy-five cities. The meetings have brought together the largest number of laymen that ever met for religious purposes, and millions of dollars have been added to the foreign missionary treasuries of the churches.

The Seattle campaign, which opened a week ago with 2,000 men in attendance at the banquet, was the sixtieth convention held, and broke all records to date. At the Chicago Congress in May, a missionary policy will be adopted that promises to make possible the evangelization of the world in this generation.

Can be Made Christians.

In all the campaigns up to the present time, the laymen have voted to increase their offerings to foreign missions three and four fold, and definite action has been taken to give every member in the churches an opportunity to contribute.

G. Campbell White, the leader in these conventions, has repeatedly declared that the 60 per cent of the non-Christian world, which belongs to the American churches to evangelize, can be made Christian in this generation, provided a business like missionary policy is adopted by the laymen.

The sessions of the Chicago campaign will be held in the Auditorium, where 4,500 seats have been reserved for the denominational bodies throughout the country, each one being entitled to a number of seats determined by the membership and contributions to the foreign work.

Notables Among Speakers.

The program will include sectional conferences for physicians and surgeons, ministers, church officers, Sunday school teachers and officers, business men, lawyers, brotherhoods and editors of missionary and religious periodicals.

There will also be conferences for women, young people and students. Among the speakers will be Bishop Charles D. Anderson, Dr. George Alexander, Ambassador Bryce, George Sherwood Eddy, Colonel E. W. Halford, Bishop W. F. McDowell, John R. Mott, Bishop W. A. Quayle, Bishop J. E. Robinson and L. H. Severance.

For Our Boys and Girls

The Wars of Our Country.

LV.—Spanish War—Battle of Manila.

By Albert Payson Terhune

DEWEY, Asiatic Squadron: "Commence operations at once, particularly against the Spanish fleet. Capture or destroy them."

"M'KINLEY."

The gray mustached commodore of the United States Asiatic Squadron read this dispatch aboard his flagship Olympia on the morning of April 26, 1898. It was the command he had for in months been eagerly awaiting.

Down upon the waiting Spaniards bore the seven Yankee men-of-war. Not a shot did the oncoming Yankees fire. Suddenly, when barely 6,000 yards away from Montojo's stationary fleet, Dewey called to the captain of his flagship:

"You may fire whenever you're ready, Gridley!"

In one blinding flash the gun ports of the whole United States squadron obeyed that curt order. The distant hills reverberated to the roar. Again and again that fearful hail of death poured into the enemy's fleet.

Montojo's flagship, the Reina Christina, dashed from her sister-ships and made for the Olympia. It was a personal clash of the rival leaders, as in some medieval battle. The Olympia, unharmed, riddled her powerful antagonist with shot and shell, and the Reina Christina staggered out of range, a crippled, useless heap of scrap-iron.

After the fifth charge past the Spaniards the American fleet slowly withdrew to a far side of the bay. A cheer and a yell of amazement rose from the forts. The Yankees were beaten! But the exultant Spaniards quickly found out their mistake. Dewey had withdrawn for a far less dramatic reason than his enemies supposed. His men were hungry. Fighting is hard upon the appetite. The commodore was simply moving out of range to give his sailors time for a good, substantial breakfast. Then back he went again to the attack. But it was to an easier victory that he now returned. The Reina Christina was on fire. So was the Castilla. The Mindanao was breached. Montojo, abandoning the Christina, had made the Isle de Cuba his flagship. At the burning Christina the Baltimore rushed, sinking her with a broadside. A shell from the Raleigh wrecked the cruiser Don Juan de Austria. Two Spanish gunboats were next destroyed.

Ship after ship of Montojo's gallant fleet went under the waves or floated the straight by the Spaniards. Dewey's plan was to advance until alongside the enemy, fire as often as possible while within short range and then, wheeling to get out of reach, return to the starting point and repeat the maneuver. In the face of a murderous fire from forts and ships Dewey's squadron moved on. Up to the mast-head of the Olympia a signal flag crashed. At sight of it a mighty cheer crashed out from the fighting decks of every American ship, for the flag bore the watchword, "Remember the Maine!"

AN EASTER SERMON

By GRACE ETHEL WEEKS

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

The Rev. Tom Howard was not cut out for a clergyman. He was Tom at school, Tom in college and Tom in the theological seminary. He was a good fellow whom everybody loved, a big framed, big hearted man who should have followed an active career. He had stood low in his classes while in college, but had redeemed himself on the football gridiron, carrying his university colors to victory on his own Herculean shoulders.

When Tom accepted his first call he tried extemporaneous sermons. They were not satisfactory. Members of his congregation hinted to him that they would prefer written sermons. This was a blow to him. In college he had usually secured the services of some student possessing literary gifts to write his essays for him. He returned to that plan.

Howard skirbled till he secured the name of a clergyman living in a small town distant from the city in which he himself lived who made a practice of writing sermons for other incumbents of pulpits. Tom thought it a pity that this man was born with the ability to write not only his own sermons, but those of other people, while he, poor fellow, was not able even to write his own. There was something pathetic in this big broad shouldered fellow, in the vigor of his youth, strong as an ox, not being able to get up a homily that would require a brief twenty minutes to deliver.

Howard wrote the Rev. Egbert Ingelhart asking if he would sell him sermons. Ingelhart replied that he would and named his price. Howard agreed to pay it and ordered half a dozen sermons. They were sent within a fortnight, and Howard was delighted with them. After delivering one of them many of his congregation surrounded him, pouring forth congratulations that he had found the true method of getting up his sermons. Mr. Howard congratulated himself that he had. At the same time he felt somewhat uncomfortable at having his abilities supplied by another.

There were certain points in the sermons that were very unlike Mr. Howard, a feminine tenderness at times more befitting a reverend cream cheese than a reverend athlete. Howard wrote Mr. Ingelhart about it, and Ingelhart asked him to send him his photograph. The photograph was sent, and Mr. Ingelhart asked: "Why didn't you send it before? Now I know what kind of a man you are and can write for you accordingly."

The next sermon received was a Thanksgiving address to be delivered on the date of a great football match between two prominent universities. It was bristling with such expressions as "fight the good fight," "smote them hip and thigh" and "conquer by the Lord's help." In delivering it the minister was in his element, and his sermon was voted a brilliant success.

From that time forward Howard continued to grow in favor with his flock. Most of the girls in the congregation set their caps for him. But there is safety in numbers. Besides, the clergyman didn't fancy any of them. However, he received many hints that the church would prefer a married pastor, and he began to think he must marry or find another field of labor. Thinking that one who had helped him out so well with his sermons might be equally serviceable in a matter of matrimony, he wrote Mr. Ingelhart, with whom he had become quite intimate through correspondence, of his dilemma and asked him if he knew of any girl who would make a good clergyman's wife. Ingelhart replied that there was a number of fine young women in his parish and if he would come up Ingelhart would give him a chance to look them over. Howard replied that he would go over for a brief visit in Lent, because he wished to talk over a sermon for Easter; that would bear upon the duty of the young men of his congregation to marry. This would include himself, but he was doing his own duty in looking for a wife.

So during the second week in Lent, Howard, having secured a classmate in the seminary to take his place at daily services for a day or two, went to visit Ingelhart. He had expected that as a matter of course his reverend brother would invite him to stay at his house. But he received no such invitation and on arrival went to a hotel. The same morning he called on Ingelhart.

"Please step into the study," said the maid who admitted him.

Howard passed into the study and saw a girl writing at a desk.

"Beg pardon," he said. "I supposed I should find your father in here."

"You are Mr. Howard. I know you from the photograph you sent me."

"Sent you?"

"Yes; I pass as Egbert Ingelhart. That was my father's name. I have written the sermons sent you."

The big man looked down on the girl, and a hot blush spread over his face. The girl looked amused.

"You desire me to help you to find a wife," she said.

"No. I don't—that is, if you will accept the situation yourself. With a wife to write my sermons I can fight the devil most advantageously."

The Easter sermon was delivered, and it was a splendid effort, and many of the young men were converted to matrimony. As to the girls, not one in the congregation needed conversion. Just before the benediction the pastor announced his engagement.

THEATRICAL

The Peterson.—"The Third Degree," which Henry D. Harris will present at the Peterson on the evening of May 1, is a strong, clean and pure play. It was written by the most famous of American dramatists, Charles Klein, who is also the author of that sensational success, "The Lion and the Mouse." One of the distinguishing features of Mr. Klein's latest work is the telling of a simple and interesting story with direct and never ceasing movement. Not an unnecessary character is introduced; hence, the perfect action obtained.

The theme of "The Third Degree" is a protest against the brutal methods of the police in their interrogation of suspected criminals; and incidentally it is illustrative of the persistency manifested by a woman who, once started upon a given object, never stops until she obtains her end.

The cast with which Mr. Harris will present the piece is one that includes none but well-known artists, who have creditable reputations by reason of their ability and genius. It includes Paul Everton, Fernanda Elicu, who has made a hit in the role of the heroine; A. H. Symmons, E. A. Eberle, Francis Bonn, Alfred Moore, T. L. Coleman, H. H. Foreman, Ralph Ramsay and Margaret Drew.

HIGH PRICES HIT THE MINISTERS.

Pittsburg, April 21.—The annual meeting of the board of home missions of the United Presbyterian church which will be held in Philadelphia on May 18, will wrestle with applications for increases in salary from 270 ministers. The board has applications in hand now and they come from practically every missionary and pastor of a non-self-supporting congregation in the church.

High prices of commodities and increased cost of living is given as the reason for the applications for more salary.

THE STATE G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT.

Ex-Governor Van Sant of Minnesota, commander-in-chief of the national G. A. R., will be present, as will a portion of the state national guard, headed by Governor Warner and General McGurkin.

The most these drugs can do is to drive the blood poison back into the system and another it for several years. Then when you think you are cured, pitiful mercury symptoms will break out, and you find that your bones have been rotting all the while. Your teeth will begin to loosen and your tissues, glands, brain and vital organs will show the terrible destructive power of the mercury and potash. Locomotor Ataxia, Paralysis, Insanity and Premature Death are then almost inevitable. Any medical authority will corroborate these statements. ## CHILD'S LIFE SAVED THROUGH TELEPHONE

New Richmond, Wis., April 21.—Miss Jessie M. Smith, whose home is at Clintonville, Wis., but who is employed here as assistant in a doctor's office saved the life of a year and a half old child by instructions given over the long distance telephone. The little child of Henry Germain, a farmer, residing six miles from this city, fell into a tank of water, and when taken out by the mother was unconscious, cold and apparently dead. The mother summoned a doctor in this city by telephone, who immediately started for the country in his auto. In the meantime, Miss Smith got busy on the wire and instructed the frantic mother what to do, with the result that the child was restored to consciousness and out of danger when the doctor reached the place.

SMALL BOY HELD AS SECURITY FOR BOARD

St. Louis, Mo., April 21.—One seven-year old boy was received on a bill of lading at the Union station here over the Iron Mountain railroad from Monroe, La. He was consigned to a local bank as collateral for a board bill to be remitted to a bank at Monroe. Mrs. J. J. Koontz, acting as agent for F. J. Koontz, father and owner of the boy, whose name is Arthur, called at the station for the consignment but the railroad officials refused to deliver him to her because she was not the consignee, named in the bill of lading. The boy, still tagged was taken to the bank in a taxicab. A disputed board bill incurred by the boy being in Monroe for seven months caused the bill of lading to be issued. When the boy reached the bank the amount due was paid and the boy was turned over to his parents.

ISSUES NEW RULES ON CAR DEMURRAGE

Manager of Wisconsin Bureau Sends Notice to Agents in Wisconsin and Upper Peninsula of Michigan—Makes Failure to Report a Misdemeanor—Some of the Rules.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 21.—Manager James O. Klapp of the Wisconsin demurrage bureau is sending to all agents the rules and instructions governing car demurrage on interstate and intrastate traffic at all stations and tracks in the state of Wisconsin and Upper Peninsula of Michigan reached by road members of the bureau, except stations covered by any other demurrage bureau.

An accompanying letter says in part:

"Your attention is called to the fact that these rules are promulgated at the instigation of the National Association of Railway Commissioners, which comprise both the state railway commissions and the interstate commerce commission.

"It will therefore appeal to you to study the rules in question very carefully and to consider further the fact, that violation of any of the provisions of such rules makes you personally liable, in addition to your company, for the penalties provided for failure to carry out such provisions.

"Failure to report demurrage due or erroneously report cars so as to avoid demurrage, is a misdemeanor under the law, and it will therefore be to your interest to study carefully the changes in the rules in order that you may the more intelligently handle the different questions which will arise.

"Our particular attention is called to the change in the private car rule in which no private car is exempted, and the notification rule which stipulates information which shall be given and how, upon all cars.

"Length precludes possibility of giving the complete text of the new rules. However, the most important may be the average agreement, notification and demurrage sections.

FORSAKES PULPIT TO ENTER POLITICS

Spokane, Wash., April 21.—Firmly in the belief that as a minister of the gospel he was living in a sphere of ideals and theories, apart from the world's activity and progress, Charles H. Braden, formerly pastor of Grace Baptist church of Spokane, has abandoned the pulpit to enter national politics, which, he says, after all, to some extent, expresses life as it is actually lived, adding:

"I have come to feel that while the ministry continues to preach and idealize, politics continue to live and do; that the gap between them continues to widen, and that the preacher's world of ideals is coming to be regarded by the practical world as an embodiment of fanciful theories, excellent to be written about, sung about, theorized about, and, to some extent, cried about, but not to be carried into politics and government and made universally operative. I have no word of criticism to pass upon the calling of the ministry. It is the highest among men. While I was in it I tried to fulfill its requirements to the utmost."

COFFEE CAUSED HIS CHICKENS TO CACKLE

Cedar Grove, N. J., April 21.—Max Reisman was compelled to visit his big henhouse fully fifteen times the other night between sunset and sunup and administer large doses of moral suasion to a flock of wildly cackling hens and wildly crowing roosters. Not a roost was occupied, not one head was tucked under a sheltering wing, not a bird slept all night long. Neither did Max. Neither did the neighbors.

All the hens were good Plymouth Rocks, White Leghorns, and Max saw no reason why they should celebrate the night with insomnia and nightmare combined. He questioned his wife and the truth came out. Unthinkingly, she had poured the coffee grounds into the henyard the afternoon before and the hens, eating, had been stimulated unduly. All sleep left them.

GOLD PLANTED ALL OVER THE HOUSE.

Lansing, Ia., April 21.—The home of Bass Fultz, who died recently, is turning out to be a gold mine. The widow is an invalid, with impaired mental faculties. After Mr. Fultz's death currency to the amount of $3,000 and notes to the amount of $4,000 were found in a box in his room. Last week the administrator learned that Mr. Fultz had been trying to exchange paper money for gold. A further search revealed an old trunk in the attic, which contained $3,600 in gold and it is believed more will be found.

DEEP WATER CANALS ACROSS THIS STATE

Grand Rapids Paper Maintains Their Feasibility and Vital Importance to Commerce.

If a deep water canal across the state of Michigan is feasible from an engineering standpoint, there is no question of its tremendous advantage from the viewpoint of commerce. We have heard much during the last few years regarding the development of inland water ways. Greater, more direct and cheaper facilities for freight transportation by water are generally admitted to be at the crux of our commercial problems.

Such being the prevailing sentiment it is of general importance not only to Michigan, but to the entire north-west and northeast that there be an authentic determination at once of the possibility of a trans-Michigan deep water canal. Such canal would cut days as well as dollars off the water freight routes from Chicago to the east. This single sentence moreover embraces a world of possibilities. Chicago, for example, is the world's central granary, filling its storehouses from the entire west and sending its fruits to the entire east, even beyond the Atlantic seaboard. Of what vital importance would a water way be which would afford new directness and economy for this tremendous important traffic!

Four Possible Routes.

It is therefore of interest to the entire country that the amendments offered by Senator Smith to the pending rivers and harbors bill, shall become a part of this legislation. Senator Smith proposes that the possibilities for the development of canals running across Michigan shall be thoroughly investigated. His amendment calling for this investigation has been drafted. It outlines four possible routes and calls for a report from the National Water Ways Commission on each of them.

First—From a point on Lake Erie across the southern part of Michigan to Lake Michigan.

Second—From Lake Huron or Saginaw bay in a south-westerly direction across the state to Lake Michigan.

Third—From LaCrosse St. Clair across the central part of the state to Lake Michigan.

Fourth—From Lake Superior in a southern direction across the Upper Peninsula to Lake Michigan.

Worth While to Know.
 The amendment specifies that as far as possible, well known water courses such as Grand river, shall be utilized so far as they are deemed suitable for such purposes by the government. Under this latter course it is at once apparent that much of Michigan's entire water way problem is involved in this one great issue. Obviously, if there is a comprehensive way of joining many water way propositions into one great comprehensive plan, which shall be not only a permanent advantage to this state, but to the traffic of the entire world, then it is worth while to know once and for all from an authoritative source whether such a possibility is anything more than a dream.

There are many earnest advocates for a trans-Michigan canal. There are many engineers who have said that the project is feasible. We are entitled to a report upon a project of such national importance from national authorities—Grand Rapids Herald.

TRANSFER ORDERED IN DAMAGE ACTION

Marinette, Wis., April 21.—Through an order signed by Judge Samuel Hastings, the $10,000 damage suit brought by Christopher W. Schuette against Frank E. Noyes will be tried in the United States court of Wisconsin, instead of Marinette circuit court. The defendant, through his attorneys, Eastman and Martineau, filed a petition asking that the case be tried at Milwaukee, but reason is stated for asking for the change of venue.

The petition sets up that according to an act of congress a civil case involving more than $2,000, in which parties interested reside in different towns, the case can come to trial at a place agreed upon by the persons in the case.

Schuette is suing Frank Noyes, editor of The Eagle-Star for the loss of a horse valued at $300 and for personal injuries received when the animal became frightened at the automobile owned and driven by the defendant. The accident occurred at Mellen on July 29, 1909.

RECORD CROPS OF FRUIT PREDICTED

(Special to The Daily Mirror.)
 Spokane, Wash., April 21.—Representatives of transportation companies predict that the fruit crops in Washington, Idaho, Oregon and Montana and along the border in British Columbia this season will be double the production in 1908, the banner year in the history from 14,000 to 16,000 cars, of which it is expected that about 9,500 will come from eastern and central Washington. Shippers in the Yakima district place the yield there at from 3,500 to 4,000 cars, and the Wenatchee valley looks for fully 3,500 cars.

Crops in Spokane and other counties in the extreme eastern part of this state will also be heavy. Growers in the Lewiston district expect to harvest from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000 worth of fruit, and other parts of northern and southern Idaho also report the outlook bright for big yields, while indications are that Montana and Oregon will have larger crops than ever before. Fast train service between points in central Washington and St. Paul and Chicago is promised.

DIES SUDDENLY WHILE AT CIRCUS.

St. Louis, Mo., April 21.—John Donovan a well known politician and former circus man, dropped dead while watching an Indian dance at a circus.

Apparently in good health, it is believed the excitement of renewing acquaintance with old friends now with the circus over taxed his heart. He was thirty-five years old and weighed more than three hundred pounds.

HOUGHTON TO HAVE WIRELESS STATION

Great Lakes Radio Telephone Company Decides to Install Service in That City—Contract Let for Erection of Buildings—Will Be Connected With Escanaba.

Houghton, Mich., April 21.—Wireless telegraph and telephone service will be installed in Houghton by the Great Lakes Radio Telephone company within a short time, contracts for the installation having been signed yesterday. Stations will be erected on the roof of the Douglas House and at White City and the canal.

The negotiations for the service were opened some time ago by Joseph Croze who desired wireless service to facilitate marine intelligence on Portage lake. Roscoe Kent, representative of the company came here during the winter to look over the ground and this week C. D. Reinhardt of New York, engineer for the company, working with F. W. Packer, copper country agent for the company, closed up all preliminary arrangements.

Herman Gundlach has been given a contract for the erection of the station buildings and the work will be begun within ten days. The company has wireless equipment on many great lakes craft as well as stations at Duluth, Escanaba, the Soo and other lake ports so that it will put Houghton in communication with all these ports as well as through a series of stations to the Atlantic coast. It is the intention to have the system in operation before June in order that communication may be established between Houghton and the steamer Theodore Roosevelt which will then be en route to Houghton with the Chicago Association of Commerce excursion, the Roosevelt being fitted with this company's equipment.

Mr. Reinhardt left yesterday for Escanaba to complete arrangements for the station there.

JENNIE MOORE'S WILL FILED FOR PROBATE

Suicide Leaves Estate. After Payment of Funeral Expenses and Just Debts, to Mrs. Alice Church of Marinette—Hearing on Petition is Set for May 10.

The will of Miss Jennie Moore, who took her own life by throwing herself in front of a Chicago & Northwestern passenger train at Marinette and who was quite well known in Escanaba through her work in soliciting purchases of mining stock, has been filed in the county court at Marinette. Hearing on a petition to have the will admitted to probate has been set for May 10.

The will is brief and provides that after the payment of funeral expenses and all just debts the residue and remainder of the estate is bequeathed to Mrs. Alice Church of Marinette, with whom the deceased made her home. The will also designates Mrs. Church as executrix without bond. The will was signed by Miss Moore and witnessed by Attorney I. B. Kirkland, Dr. M. D. Bird and Miss Leah I. Place of Peshtigo.

The petition for probate places the personal property at about $1,000, with no real estate. The following sisters and brothers and brothers' children are named as surviving: Albert P. Smith, Door Center, Mich.; Jessie Blant, Hubert E. Smith, Grace Tubbs, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Minnie Champion, Junta, Col.; Lloyd Smith, Tiffin, Ohio; and Ernest and George Smith, minor children of Jay Smith, deceased, residence unknown.

WOMEN CARRY OFF FINE ARTS PRIZES

Paris, April 21.—Women students carried off the majority of the prizes at the recent competitions at the national school of fine arts here. In the section of painting all the medals were awarded to women, as were also the highest mentions in the sections of modeling and decorative composition. There are practically no women students of architecture, so not unnaturally the prize winners in this department were men. Only during the last few years have women been admitted to the school of fine arts, and it must be admitted that they have justified the new department.

THIS PARROT HAS AN UNUSUAL MEMORY

New York, April 21.—In a roadhouse on the Pompton turnpike at Cedar Grove, N. J., is a parrot with a long memory. Eighteen years ago Robert Turner of Bontoon, N. J., a sailor, got a parrot in South America. He kept the bird eleven years, taking it on all his voyages.

Seven years ago Turner got into this port, and when his ship was discharging its cargo—the parrot, Jim, was stolen. The sailor went to every bird fancier in New York trying to find Jim, but failed. Last Saturday the sailor, who had been at his home in Bontoon, was walking past the roadhouse singing. The parrot heard the song and screamed: "There goes Bob! Hello, Bob!"

When the amazed sailor got his breath he called "Hello, shipmate!" and the two renewed acquaintance. The roadhouse keeper offered to return the parrot, which he had bought, but the sailor would not take the bird. "I'll come over and see you every time I land in a New York port, Jim," said he.

EX-SENATOR TURNER GOING TO THE HAGUE

(Special to The Daily Mirror.)

Spokane, Wash., April 21.—Former United States Senator George Turner, who has returned to his home in Spokane from Washington, D. C., will sail from New York on May 21 for The Hague, where he will appear before the tribunal as one of the counsel for the United States in the famous fisheries case.

This controversy involves fisheries rights on the Newfoundland and Labrador coasts and is of prime importance to this country. As it is the first of its kind involving these questions of rights it will furnish to some extent a precedent on the future conduct of the fisheries on the coasts.

Mr. Turner said that all the testimony has been taken and that the arguments are to begin on June 1 and continue until early in August, the tribunal sitting four days a week and for about four hours each day. Col. Theodore Roosevelt, while president of the United States, appointed Mr. Turner as counsel for the government, and the latter has been at work on the case more than four months.

FOUR BATHS A YEAR NOT SUFFICIENT

Oshkosh, Wis., April 21.—Not taking more than four baths a year is deemed sufficient grounds for a divorce by Judge Burnell, who granted a decree to Elizabeth B. Ogden, who charged her husband, William H. Ogden, with being "lazy, indolent and good for nothing." He was also charged with a "refusal to keep clean wearing the same underwear week in and week out, sleeping with his clothes on for periods of two months at a time so that there was an odor which made her and the children ill." On the witness stand Mrs. Ogden asserted that her husband bathed only four times a year, three times in summer and once in winter and charged him with never changing his underclothes in winter. She said he would put clean clothes over the soiled underwear and by spring he had collected much clothing "and other things."

The Chauffeur

By BEATRICE TUCKER

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

"Come, Molly; the auto's waiting."

"All right, Imogen; I'll be with you as soon as I can tie on my veil. Have you your goggles?"

"Goggles? No! Do you suppose I would make myself hideous by wearing such things?"

Imogen went out to the piazza, where at the foot of the steps the automobile was waiting, and said to the chauffeur:

"You needn't go today, William. I'm going to drive myself."

"Yes, ma'am."

"Is everything all right?"

"Yes, ma'am."

"Come, Molly; let's be off."

Molly came hurrying out, trying to adjust a veil and pull on a pair of gloves at the same time, a somewhat difficult feat to perform. The two got into the auto, and the machine chugged down the driveway to the gate. It was a mild spring morning, and the roads were fine. Imogen was quite an expert driver, and there was nothing to mar the pleasure of the trip till they had been out a couple of hours and were some thirty miles from home. Then one of the tires subsided and let the wheel to which it belonged down on to the ground.

"Oh, dear!" exclaimed Molly. "What shall we do?"

"There's a shed or stable or something over there; let's go over and see if we can get any help."

Having passed the auto on the side of the road, they both walked the hundred yards that separated them from the house and found a man in overalls tinkering with an automobile.

"Oh, how fortunate!" exclaimed Molly. "It's a garage."

"We've got a puncture or something," said Imogen to the man. "We've left our auto out there in the road. Would you mind coming out to see what's the matter?"

The man left his work, went with them to their auto, inspected the wheel and said:

"It's not a case of puncture. There's a rip in the tire."

"Oh, dear!" exclaimed Imogen. "Can it be fixed?"

"Not here. I haven't the tools."

"What shall we do?"

"I'll put enough wind in it to get your machine into my garage, and there it must be left till you can get another tire. I see you have no 'extra.'"

The man managed after much difficulty to get the auto into the garage; then he said to them:

"I will take you to your home, and you can send some one out with an extra tire to take your auto back."

"Do you think that's the only thing to do?"

"Yes. Please wait till I go to the house and get off these overalls. I'll be back in a moment."

He went up a byroad and disappeared. The two girls occupied themselves looking at an imposing mansion on the top of a hill, at the foot of which they waited.

"That's a fine house," said Imogen. "I wouldn't mind being at the head of that house—that is, if I had a husband to be!"

"At the foot," supplied Molly.

In a few moments the man returned in chauffeur costume.

"I should think you'd be hungry," he said. "It's past lunchtime, and you'll not get home before 3 o'clock. Perhaps you'd better go up to that summer hotel," pointing to the house they had been admiring, "and get something to eat. It's not yet opened for the season, but I think you'll find something to stay your appetite."

"What a beautiful site for a hotel!" exclaimed Imogen. "We thought it a private house."

They climbed the hill, were admitted by a maid in white and black uniform and shown into a dining room having none of the appearance of one belonging to a hotel. There a delicious luncheon was served. On attempting to pay for it the maid said that there was no one in the house to receive cash and they would have to pay another time.

"We'll leave it with the man at the garage down there," said Imogen.

"Yes, m'm," the girl assented.

Returning to the garage, they found the man waiting for them with an auto ready. They entered it and started for home. On the way home the chauffeur became more communicative, and Imogen remarked sotto voce to Molly that he used very good language for an auto tinker.

They reached the house Imogen took out her pocketbook, asking him how much his charge would be, including the luncheon.

The chauffeur replied that there was no charge for the ride; on the contrary, he had been much honored. As for the luncheon, he owned the house in which they had lunched, and in this, too, they had honored him.

The girls looked at each other in consternation.

"But you said," Imogen protested, "that the house was a summer hotel."

"I lied there," said the man imperturbably.

The three sat regarding one another for a few moments, then burst out laughing.

"Pardon me," said the chauffeur, "I couldn't help it. You walked right into your own trap."

That was some years ago. Today Imogen is at the head of the house on the hill, and the gentleman chauffeur is at the foot of it.

The highest nobility, or peerage of England consists of five ranks, duke, marquis, earl, viscount and baron. All persons holding these titles are members of the upper house of parliament, where they sit as lords temporal. The archbishops and bishops of the Established church are termed lords spiritual. They are not peers of the realm, but have seats in the upper house.

EMTOMBED MINERS PROBABLY DEAD

(By Associated Press.)
Birmingham, Ala., April 21.—There seem to be but little hope for the lives of the thirty-five or forty miners that are entombed in the Mulga mine of the Birmingham Coal and Iron company.

The men were entombed last night in a mine explosion and resultant fire. The entrance to the mine was immediately sealed up in an effort to smother the flames.

Of the men that are entombed in the mine fifteen are white and the balance negroes.

Rescuers who gained entrance to the mine this afternoon and after making some explorations found the bodies of five of the men. Upon their return to the surface they stated that all of the imprisoned men are probably dead.

BRAKEMAN INJURES ONE OF HIS HANDS

Patrick Connelly injured his right hand yesterday while braking on the Chicago & Northwestern railroad and was obliged to return to the city for medical attention by the company surgeon. No bones were broken, but the hand was so badly bruised that "Pat" will have to remain idle for a week or ten days.

Your Checks are Receipts

"Pay as you go" is an excellent maxim provided you "pay-by-check." It's foolish to carry money on the person, except for the smallest purchases and incidentals, for aside from the care and inconvenience there is always the danger of theft or loss.

But with a check-book of this bank in your pocket the inconvenience and worry is eliminated. You write out a check for the exact amount of each purchase, your check-stub is a record for reference and the check itself will later be returned to you by the bank and may be retained as a receipt.

Some persons may think of the check account as being complicated. Nothing could be more simple, however. We keep books for you and there is a record for your every transaction.

SAFE. STRONG. OBLIGING.
