REV. FR. MENARD HELD IN ESTEEM

Popular Pastor of St. Anne's Church Is Given a Surprise and Presented With Purse of Gold on Thirty-Fifth Anniversary of His Ordination to the Priesthood—Details.

Rev. Father P. C. Menard, for many years pastor of St. Anne's Catholic church in this city, was given a most agreeable surprise last evening and at the same time a substantial testimonial of the esteem in which he is held by his parishioners in the shape of a purse containing a goodly sum in gold.

The occasion for this manifestation of regard for their pastor on the part of the members of his parish was the fact that yesterday marked the thirty-fifth anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood.

Unknown to him they planned and plotted to hold a celebration of the event and so well and secretly were the arrangements made that the good father had not the slightest inkling of what was in the wind until he was escorted to St. Anne's hall, where the jollification was held. In fact, Father Menard almost spoiled the celebration at the time fixed by going to Ishpeming yesterday morning with the expectation of staying at least over night.

When those in charge of the affair learned of this they were in a quandary, but at last they hit upon a plausible pretext to get him back here in time and the use of the long distance telephone was called into requisition. The idea worked admirably, for Father Menard cut his visit short and left on the train which arrives here at about nine o'clock.

From the station he went to his home and was preparing to retire when he was waited upon by a committee of the conspirators and induced to go to St. Anne's hall, where the surprise was sprung upon him with full force.

The hall was crowded with members of his congregation, several of whom made addresses, in which they reminded him of the anniversary and of their desire to help him observe it in a fitting manner. That wasn't all, for they presented him with, as already noted, a purse of gold, the address of presentation being made upon behalf of the donors by E. M. St. Jacques.

Father Menard was visibly affected by this demonstration of affection borne toward him by his people, but speedily recovered himself and expressed his appreciation and thanks in words whose sincerity all were made to feel as coming from his heart.

Following the program of addresses and a number of musical selections, the remainder of the evening was devoted to sociability and the serving of a fine luncheon.

TWO INSANE MEN TAKEN TO ASYLUM

Sheriff F. W. Aronson and Superintendent of poor F. M. Olmsted left this morning for Newberry having in custody Louis Larson of Lathrop and John Nichols, whose home has been in Detroit, who were ordered committed to the Northern Hospital for the Insane. The order for their commitment was issued by Probate Judge Yrland upon the report of physicians who had examined the men and found them of unsound mental capacity.

MARK TWAIN, BELOVED HUMORIST, IS NO MORE

Death Comes to Man of Remarkable Talents at Age of Seventy-Five Years—Career.

(By Associated Press.) Elmira, N. Y., April 22.—The body of the late Mark Twain will find its last resting place in the Clemens family plot here, where have already been buried the dead humorist's wife, daughters, Susan and Jean, and infant son.

New York, April 22.—Friends of the late Mark Twain announced today that arrangements are being made for a great public memorial service here. Tributes to the departed humorist will be paid by men prominent in public life and the world of letters.

Several pastors have already announced that part of their Sunday services will be devoted to eulogies of the deceased. Expressions of respect over Mr. Clemens' death from men of letters, statesmen, lawyers, clergymen, scholars and business men from the Atlantic to the Pacific were published here today. The tributes were more numerous and varied than those offered upon the death of any other public man of prominence in many years.

Details of Twain's Death. Redding, Conn., April 22.—Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain) is dead.

The end came at 6:30 p. m. Thursday.

The humorist's illness took a decided turn for the worse Wednesday afternoon. Since then he had been growing weaker rapidly and oxygen was administered in a final effort to prolong his life.

Mark Twain's death removes from the international field of letters the creator of American literary humor, and one of its most distinguished literateurs.

With his passing the people of the world—the militant and persuasive doers of things alike—have lost a gentle, sympathizing friend and fearless champion. For almost seventy-five years he lived, and for two scores he numbered his admirers by figures that rival the census of the enlightened world.

He drew his personal friends from every condition of life and held them steadfastly by his engaging, wholesome personality and earnest understanding.

Had Known Much Sadness. Snatched from the obscurity of his gentle birth by fickle fortune and reared in the university of the world (Continued on Page 3.)

ANOTHER DEADLY MINE EXPLOSION

(By Associated Press.) Steubenville, Ohio, April 22.—Eighteen of the night force of the twenty-five machine men employed in a coal mine at Amsterdam are thought to be dead as the result of a mine explosion that occurred in the mine last night. Six bodies have been recovered and seven men were taken out alive, but unconscious.

It is thought that there are still about twelve men in the mine who have perished.

MANY BOWLERS TO ATTEND TOURNEY

At Least Twenty-Five Teams Are Expected to Compete in Tournament of the Upper Peninsula Bowling League at Houghton Next Week—Escanaba to Be There.

Secretary Harold Montgomery of the Upper Peninsula Bowling league, which holds its second annual tournament on the Dee alleys, Houghton, next week, April 25 to 30, says that it is virtually certain now that there will be twenty-five teams in the tournament—that is, twenty-five teams of five men each. All have not officially entered, but have promised to. There will also be a number of singles, doubles and triples so that the bowling program will be a long one.

One feature of unusual interest will be a match between Barbeau of Lake Linden and some iron country man, Barbeau having challenged the entire iron country field to a single match. Dr. Van Idersline of Marquette will probably be the iron country champion.

The expected entries are as follows: One team each from Escanaba, Munising, Baltic, Copper City, Ahmeek, Iron River, Iron Mountain, six from Calumet, two each from Lak Linden, Houghton, Hancock, Marquette.

Until the entries are officially made the program cannot be made out nor can the prizes be given out because according to the league rules the prizes come out of the entrance fees to a great extent.

ROOSEVELT VISITS NAPOLEON'S TOMB

(By Associated Press.) Paris, France, April 22.—Today Colonel Roosevelt paid a visit to the tomb of Napoleon and spent some time there in contemplation of the inscriptions and in talking with the guards and members of the party who were with him. Crowds cheer and salute him wherever he goes.

ILLINOIS CREAMERY FIRM MUST QUIT IN MINNESOTA.

(By Associated Press.) St. Paul, Minn., April 22.—The supreme court today held that the Creamery Package company of Illinois is a combination that was incorporated to act as a restraint upon trade conditions and an order was issued nullifying their license to do business in the state of Minnesota.

LITTLE GIRL DIES OF BRAIN FEVER

Adelle Kieffer, the three years old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Kieffer, died about 4:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon after an illness of about three weeks. Brain fever, superinduced by an attack of the grip, was the immediate cause of death. Mr. and Mrs. Kieffer have suffered a severe blow in her death, for she was the only child they had. Many friends will sympathize with them in their bereavement. The funeral will be held from St. Joseph's church at two o'clock tomorrow afternoon, with interment in St. Joseph's cemetery.

FRIENDS SURPRISE MRS. A. E. VALENTINE

Last evening several of the friends of Mrs. A. E. Valentine surprised her at her home, 308 South Charlotte street, and spent the evening playing progressive pedro, after which a luncheon was served by the hostess. Mrs. Valentine was completely surprised when she went to the door to answer a ring of the bell and was astonished to find so many people waiting to be admitted, but she rallied to the occasion and was soon busy entertaining the guests. Prizes for the card game were won by Mrs. Valentine, Mrs. O'Donnell and Mrs. Stockmer.

MANY ATTEND THE LAST CARD PARTY

The card party given in St. Joseph's hall last evening by the Altar Society of St. Joseph's church was very largely attended and a success in enjoyment and every respect. Progressive pedro was played and at the conclusion of play prizes were awarded and an excellent luncheon served. This was the last card party of the season to be held in St. Joseph's hall.

BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR MISS DECKER

Mrs. John Gorman and daughter, Miss Ruby Gorman, entertained a company of friends at the Colonial hotel, 402 Stephenson avenue, last evening in honor of the birthday anniversary of Miss Mary Decker, who was the guest of honor. The evening was passed in a most delightful fashion, one of the features of amusement being dancing, for which the Lincoln orchestra furnished the music. An elaborate luncheon was served and there was nothing lacking to make the occasion one of rare enjoyment. Miss Decker was made the recipient of a number of pretty birthday gifts.

SWEDISH LUTHERANS TO ASSEMBLE IN ESCANABA

Organization of a New Conference is to Be Effected Here Next Tuesday and Wednesday.

The organization of the Green Bay, Ogema and Ishpeming districts of the Swedish Lutheran church, comprised of the entire upper peninsula and the northeastern part of Wisconsin, into a new conference will be perfected at a meeting of the ministers and lay delegates, representing the churches in the district, in this city next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Fifty-seven congregations are included in the new conference, but it is not expected that all of them will be represented at the meeting next week. Advice received thus far by the Rev. C. A. Lund, pastor of the local church, indicate that about twenty-five ministers and an equal number of lay delegates will be present. The visitors will be entertained at the homes of the members of the local congregation.

Delegates Expected Tuesday.

The visitors are expected to arrive in the city on Tuesday, and the first conference meeting will be held Tuesday evening, when sermons will be preached by the Rev. N. J. Forsberg, of Calumet, and the Rev. J. W. Johnson, of Ironwood. An excellent musical program will be rendered at this service, and also at the Wednesday evening service, by the church choir, composed of Mrs. C. A. Lund and Miss Clara, Dykeman, sopranos; the Misses Edith Edholm and Ida Anderson, altos; Peter Olson and Charles Lundstrom, tenors, and Birger Hedlin, bass. A duet will be rendered by Mrs. Lund and Miss Edholm, and these two ladies and Miss Dykeman will also render a trio.

First Business Session.

The first conference business session will be held at 9:00 o'clock Wednesday morning, and this session will continue until 5:00 o'clock, with a recess of one hour for dinner. The business of the session will be to elect temporary officers, formulate a provisional constitution, and outline such other matters as may pertain to the work of the conference, preparatory for the action of the Augustana synod, which is the governing body of all the churches of this denomination in the United States. The synodical meeting will be held in connection with the semi-centennial celebration of the establishing of the Augustana synod, to be held at Rock Island, Ill., June 5-15, next.

In Nature of a Jubilee.

The Wednesday evening service will be in the nature of a jubilee in celebration of the completion of the first half century of successful work by Augustana synod. This date—April 27—happens to be the anniversary of the date upon which the founders of the synod decided to sever their connection with other Lutheran church bodies and organize an independent Swedish Lutheran synod.

The speakers at the Wednesday evening service will be the Rev. Oscar Sandahl, of Marquette, and Rev. S. L. Wilson, of Norway.

The ladies of the local church will serve a complimentary supper in the church basement on Wednesday for the visitors.

Name to Be Selected.

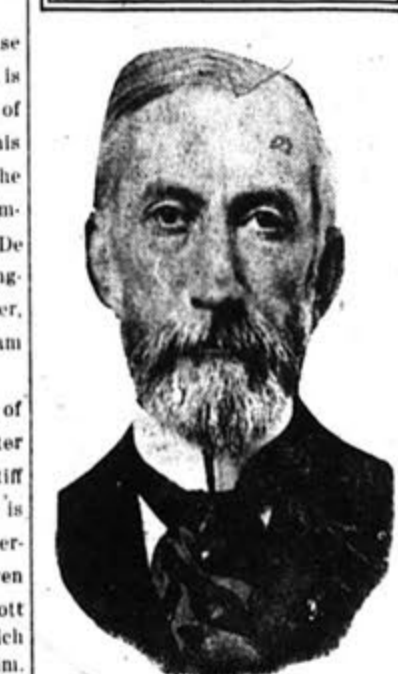

This will be the first meeting of the kind ever held in this section of the United States and is the most important Swedish Lutheran meeting yet held in the territory covered. The necessity for the new conference has been recognized for a number of years, and the movement for its organization was first inaugurated seven years ago. The movement failed at that time, but those who were interested in the movement persisted in their efforts until they met with success at the February meeting of the Illinois conference, when a resolution recommending the organizing of the new conference was adopted. The name for the new conference will be selected at the business session next Wednesday.

"VOTING MACHINE" CASE IS ON TRIAL

The so-called "voting machine" case is again on trial in circuit court. It is entitled Edwin H. Cogswell vs. City of Escanaba and its trial was begun this afternoon before a jury made up of the following citizens: M. P. Fay, Ambrose Clement, Maurice Call, Harry Devet, Michael O'Leary, Andrew Englund, George Deller, Nicholas Gunter, George Berry, John O'Meara, William Northrup and John Erickson.

This case was on the calendar of the January term of court, but after trial had been started the plaintiff submitted to a non-suit. Cogswell is suing to recover the amount of interest alleged to be due on a note given by the City of Escanaba to the Abbott Voting Machine company, and which note he alleges was assigned to him. Cumiskey & Spencer represent the plaintiff, while City Attorney Ira C. Jennings appears for the city, with F. D. Mead of counsel.

ROOSEVELT MOURNS DEATH OF TWAIN

Former President Expresses His Sorrow Over Passing of the Great Humorist and Pays Him High Tribute—Papers of Other Nations Print Long Eulogies.

Paris, France, April 22.—When the news of the death of Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain) reached Colonel Roosevelt he was greatly pained and said: "His position was unique in the world of literature and his writings form one of the assets of the American contribution to the world of literary achievement to which we have a right, as a nation, to be generally proud."

In his trip through Africa, Colonel Roosevelt carried with him copies of "Huckleberry Finn" and "Tom Sawyer," both of which he read several times.

Cultured World Grieves.

Berlin, Germany, April 22.—All the German newspapers today have long articles on the death of Mark Twain and his position as a writer of pure humor. The Anzeiger says: "Not only the English speaking people, but the whole world of culture grieves that he has passed away."

The American Chaucer.

London, Eng. April 22.—"American Chaucer" is The Evening Standard's estimate of Mark Twain in a long notice of the great humorist's death.

JURY IN THE CENTER GIVES DECISION

At 4:30 o'clock this afternoon the jury in the case of Mrs. Emily Denter against John Richter and the sureties on his bonds as a saloon keeper brought in a verdict in favor of the defendants by deciding that there was no cause for action.

All of the morning session of circuit court was devoted to the arguments of counsel and the charge of the judge. Attorney Rushton argued for the plaintiff and Attorneys Cumiskey and Spencer for the defendants. Mrs. Denter is suing to recover damages in the sum of $10,000 for the death of her husband, the cause of which she alleges was the liquor sold him by the defendant Richter.

SPECIAL SERVICES AT SWEDISH CHURCH

Evangelistic services are being conducted this week at the Swedish M. E. church by the pastor, Rev. A. E. Pearson, who is being assisted by Rev. O. W. Carlson, pastor of the Swedish M. E. church at Ishpeming. Next week Rev. K. Saline of Marquette will assist in the services, which were begun last Wednesday evening.

BOTTLED LOVE NOTE LEADS TO MARRIAGE

Paducah, Ky., April 22.—Because a sealed bottle traveled all the way from the little town of Energy, Trig county, Ky., to the Cumberland, to the little Illinois town of Joppa, fifty miles below the mouth of the Cumberland, Miss Sarah Baker, of Energy and Mark Shumaker of Joppa were married by Magistrate Liggett of Metropolis Ill.

Miss Baker in a spirit of adventure, wrote a note and sealed it up in a bottle, which she threw into the Cumberland river many months ago.

The bottle bobbing among the logs at Joppa, attracted the eye of Mark Shumaker, who rescued it, and finding it peculiarly sealed, opened it and found the note.

Their meeting followed and they fell in love.

THEATRICAL

Ben's Theater.—At Ben's theater next Sunday afternoon and evening will be shown for the first time the special moving pictures, "Roosevelt in Africa," which are now being exhibited in Chicago and Milwaukee. These pictures have been secured at great expense, but are said to be more than worth the money. They were taken by W. D. Boyce, a Chicago sportsman and an advocate of outdoor life, who is interested in showing the American public the real Africa. Of the 10,000 feet of negatives taken by Mr. Boyce the best one thousand was taken out and it is this film that will be shown at Ben's theater. All of these pictures were taken at the time Colonel Roosevelt was making his famous journey. The photography is marvelously good and the scenes intensely interesting and genuinely educational.

In addition to the feature pictures, two other films will be shown.

The Peterson, "The Third Degree," by Charles Klein, author of "The Lion and the Mouse," which Henry B. Harris is sending to the Peterson for the evening of May 1, is an elegant and dignified work of noble character that is destined to enlighten and entertain audiences for many years to come. It typifies all that is best in the modern topical drama and proves conclusively that its author is a psychologist of keen perception as well as a dramatist of genuine worth and ability.

Its bold and dominant theme is directly derived from the dark days of the frightful Spanish Inquisition, that is brought down to this generation through the channel of the police department and their despicable third degree system. Interwoven as a part of the story is a fascinating romance between a Yale student, the scion of a wealthy old Knickerbocker family, and a daughter of the people. The affection of this young woman for her scape-goat husband is at once pathetic and ennobling. She appeals to the very well springs of the human soul for sympathy and it is not withheld from her. She captivates at her first introduction and goes sadly but persistently on her mission of love, privation, and charity with her audience's fullest measure of sympathy, love and co-operation. It is a fact that one actually forgets that it is only a play and is carried along on the current of credulity that Mr. Klein causes to flow like a torrent through a fertile valley.

Miss Fernanda Ellacu, who essays the character of Annie Jeffries, the young wife, is so delightfully naive and unaffected in her impersonation of the broken hearted girl that she is said to have scored a personal hit in the role that is little short of marvelous, in this day and time. She loses herself so completely in the character that it is as if she actually lived the character that she depicts. Others in the cast are Paul Everton, E. A. Eberle, Alfred Moore, T. L. Coleman, H. H. Foreman, Francis Bonn, Ralph Ramsey, A. H. Symmons and Margaret Drew.

WIRELESS CURE FOR RHEUMATISM

Stop taking drugs and try ELECTROPODES, the new electric treatment. The only means known to science by which actual nerve force is supplied to the human body.

We do not merely guarantee a cure, we do better than that. We have arranged with your druggists to sign a binding, legal contract with you, agreeing to refund the money if they fail to cure rheumatism in any form, nervous headaches and other nervous ailments. They restore a good circulation of the blood and invariably make cold feet warm. They purify the entire system, removing all bad odors from the feet and arms.

You know your druggist, you know his name to a contract makes you safe, then why not try a pair of ELECTROPODES? $1.00 if they cure, and not one cent if they don't.

If your druggist cannot supply you, send direct to the ELECTROPODE COMPANY, room 63, Holland block, Lima, Ohio, and try a pair. Contract signed and money positively refunded if they fail to cure. Mention if for lady or gent.

Impure blood runs you down—makes you an easy victim for organic diseases. Burdock Blood Bitters purifies the blood—cures the cause—builds you up.

Money for Hoarseness. Take equal parts of honey and butter and melt them together. Take a tablespoonful, quite warm, three or four times a day.

LOCAL PASTOR PLEADS FOR SACRED SABBATH

Rev. Frederick Spence Protests Against All Forms of Sunday Desecration in Escanaba.

To the People of Escanaba:—

A few weeks ago, through the columns of a local paper I called attention to the growing disregard of the sacredness of the Sabbath, protesting against the lawlessness on the grounds that the present attitude is un-American; is detrimental to the best interests of the city; and is positively destructive to the highest moral and religious ideals of the rising generation. With a pulpit in many instances silent on moral issues, a press advertising entertainments that are in violation of law, and a "respectable" element openly aiding and abetting, the outlook is not encouraging to the man or woman who has a desire to do more for the world than to be merely amused.

In the name of good citizenship; in the name of decency; in the name of the rising generation; in the name of God; I protest against the secularization of the Lord's Day.

It is a splendid tribute to the morals of our city that we are the only people that will receive the Sunday shows. We are certainly broadminded and charitable.

But the saddest feature of the situation grows out of a consideration of the class of people who attend and encourage the Sunday theater and Sunday lawlessness. Who are they?

They are the so-called respectable element.

Rebuking a young man the other day for having attended the theater on a Sunday night, the writer was met with the excuse that "the people who think they are something in this town were present in large numbers." The ignorant and so-called unlettered masses are not responsible for conditions, but the so-called "better class." What are we to think in view of these facts? Are we forced to the conclusion that these people have no conscience? Or that they are so consumed by their own little selfish desires and interests that they positively have no interest in others or in the future welfare of the state; or shall we in charity conclude that they have merely abrogated the right to think?

Sorely no person with intelligence and with heart can fail to see the result of the present mad passion for pleasure which leads a community to trample under foot every thing that is pure and sacred.

But among the people who support this Sunday lawlessness are the public school teachers.

I do not feel that a teacher who has my child under her influence for five days in the week is a fit instructor capable of wielding the best influence over her, if she has no more regard for sacred things than to spend the evening of the sabbath which we are commanded to keep holy at a public or private card party, or at a theater.

I have the highest regard for the teaching profession, and its responsibilities; in fact too high a regard to permit the recklessness, and shallowness of a few to brand the entire profession without a protest. The teacher ought to be as much an example of law respecting citizenship as the preacher.

But another class who support this Sunday lawlessness are the church members.

God pity us! The followers of the meek and lowly Christ turning His day into a day of revelry and lawlessness. What is the matter with the churches? Nothing more than that a few conscienceless people who are high in their counsels have so little regard for its founder that they can crucify Him afresh by their selfishness and sin.

Let the preachers of the city denounce this type of christian and insist that their members shall at least be respectable citizens, if they are indifferent christians.

I seem harsh? Then the occasion demands it.

Lawlessness in the city means lawlessness in the home, and in the school.

I have too high a conception of the duties and responsibilities of citizenship to longer keep silent. I have too deep an interest in the real welfare of the city to stifle my conscience. I have too much love for the boys and girls to longer fear what people may say or think.

Again I ask you: In the name of citizenship, in the name of decency, in the name of the boys and girls, in the name of God, let us arise in protest against this lawless spirit.

LET DREAMS COME TRUE

MAKE TUBERCULOSIS VICTIMS QUIT JOBS

Columbus, O., April 22.—Local boards of health have the power to compel sufferers from tuberculosis, in an advanced stage, to quit their places of employment, when it is for the safety of others who have to come in contact daily with them.

This is the gist of the opinion rendered by Attorney General Denman to Dr. C. O. Probst, secretary of the state board of health.

It is based on the complaint a few days ago from the employes of a shirt and glove factory. The cutter has a bad case of consumption, and the female employes objected.

The opinion of Mr. Denman brings out the suggestion that such ill persons ought to be taken care of by the localities as there is ample law for the construction of county hospitals for the treatment of tuberculosis.

Attorney General Denman's action is of state wide interest, in that, it is said, there is hardly a municipality in the state that is not affected by it.

Supremacy? Government Statistics are Official.

"CENSUS REPORT TABLE NUMBER ELEVEN OF THE DEPARTMENT OF LABOR AND COMMERCE, at Washington, gives a record of but one Piano establishment in the United States that gives employment to over 1,000 persons—the CABLE COMPANY has over 1,800 employes on its payroll."—Leslie's Weekly, May 26, 1904.

"—Additions built to factories in 1909 increase this output an additional 6,000 pianos a year."

This photograph taken from a captive balloon. Photographic cuts of our other factories and buildings will appear in this space in subsequent issues of the "Mirror."

This cut shows the great Chicago factory of The Cable Company, covering over an entire city block. There is no exaggeration here; every available inch of floor space in this as well as our other factories is used exclusively for the manufacture of musical instruments.

There are manufacturers, and manufacturers (?)—Many pianos are composed of parts bought from various manufacturers. The cases come from one place, the actions from another, the keys from some other maker, etc., the manufacturer whose name appears on such instrument, acting only as assemblers of these different elements.

All parts that enter into pianos made in the great CABLE factories are produced under the same roof and one supervision. As a result there is uniformity in quality accuracy in adjustment, and a higher degree of excellence than can possibly be secured when the parts are made under the varying conditions which exist in different factories.

CLASSMATE OF ANGELL IS REMARKABLE OLD MAN

A. J. Robert Tells of Old College Days and Stirring Incidents of the Civil War.

(Special to The Daily Mirror.)

Spokane, Wash., April 22.—Robert Alexander J.—Two years in Denison University, Granville, O. A. B. and A. M., Brown, 1849; LL.B., Yale, 1861.

The foregoing, inscribed on the register in the rooms of the University club of Spokane, are Mr. Robert's claims to membership in that organization. He is one of the six survivors of the class of eighty, called the "Akers of Brown," of whom another member is James B. Angell, president of the University of Michigan.

Mr. Robert, who came from Texas to Spokane four years ago is a native of Georgia, of French-Huguenot extraction, and served as an adjutant under Gen. Stonewall Jackson from 1861 to 1864. He was wounded at Chancellorsville. Though eighty-one years of age Mr. Robert has excellent health and works daily in his garden at 2324 East Harston avenue. His home is typical of the old southland and its owner is as hospitable as were his forebears. He speaks slowly and musically, with that wonderful liquid southern enunciation which is a delight to those privileged to hear his stories of the old college days and the trying times during the war.

Didn't Travel Around.

"College life in the early '40s was interesting," Mr. Robert said after he and Madam Robert had welcomed the interviewer. "We did not travel around playing baseball in those days. We stayed at home and worked. Of course, we played ball some, too, but it was among ourselves. We had sport those days, but we did not make a business of it.

"The boys went to college to be educated and not to become 'star' athletes and it was exceptional for the year's expenses to exceed $500. There were fraternities, but they did not hold the important place in undergraduate days they do at present.

"I was invited to become a member of the 'Psi-Ups,' as we called them, but I said to 'Jim' Bailey, who asked me to join: 'Jim, tell me true, if you were out of the society, would you go in again?' And he replied: 'Robert, I can't say that I would.' That decided me, and I never joined a secret society to this day."

Some of Mr. Robert's reminiscences of the early '60s throw light on the stirring events during the war. His recollection of the battle of Shenandoah is an example. School histories tell of Sheridan's ride from Winchester, but they do not mention the fact, the veteran said, that if the general had been away from home he would have been in a southern prison the next day. It was Mr. Robert's company which was delegated to surprise "Little Phil" and carry him away the night before the battle.

"No canteen and not a word above a whisper," were the orders as they started over the mountain and filed into the valley," said Mr. Robert in telling the story. "Not even the southern pickets heard the departure. The brushing of the branches, the occasional sound of a horse's hoof striking against a stone alone disturbed the midnight stillness.

Sheridan Wasn't There. "There stood the general's headquarters, with only a sentry between our men and one of the greatest leaders on the Union side. In three minutes the house was surrounded. No one could escape it alive. The signal was given, the sentry surrendered without a murmur, the door was forced in an instant and the company poured into an empty house—Sheridan was in Winchester." Mr. Robert's recollections of the conflict are not the romantic fancies of a contemplative veteran—his memory for facts is simply amazing.

In the battle of Chancellorsville, where General Jackson was wounded, Mr. Robert was hit in the leg by a bullet. The story of how the southern general was wounded in the arm by his own men was graphically narrated by Mr. Robert, who said that, while the general died, he recovered, which only goes to show how differently men are affected by similar wounds. One man may be killed from the shock of a scratch on the arm, while another will recover with a bullet wound through the body. It all depends upon the conditions and the temperament of the individual.

Used Sword for Cane. The veteran then told of the charge in which he was wounded. The shot did not knock him over. He was on foot. For an hour or so the wound gave him no pain, and, unstrapping his sword, he used it as a cane and started for the rear. Rheumatism set in afterward and he was sent home on sick-leave.

"It wasn't so hard, though," he explained with a smile, "for I met my wife there. She is a real Georgia girl and a graduate of a Georgia seminary. Before I was able to be about the war was over, and we were married. We've been happy ever since.

"Some of our best friends are northerners," Mr. Robert went on, after saying that while he has not renounced the opinions that led to the irrepressible conflict, he is free from any animosity, adding: "Particularly out here there is no place for old-time quarrels. Let them all be buried in this great and glorious northwest."

Jim Jeffries Rooster. Mr. Robert likes to work in his garden and among the flowers, and he is proud of his fowl, especially a prize rooster named Herbert. The white bird is the most imposing fowl that ever strutted around a barnyard. It is a sort of a feathered Jim Jeffries, and is so heavy that its owner had to fit its ankles with braces. Its crowing can be heard a mile.

Before leaving the Robert home the veteran permitted the visitor to take Herbert in his arms to test the fourteen pounds and know why the big rooster drew first prize at the Spokane interstate poultry show in 1909.

After bidding goodbye to Madam Robert, the old college graduate, adjutant of the gallant Fourth Georgia and pioneer at the age of eighty-one years, accompanied the visitor to the gate, saying in shaking hands at parting:

"Glad to have made your acquaintance, sir, and I hope for the pleasure again."

BURROWS NOT TO QUIT SENATE FIGHT.

Washington, April 22.—The retirement of Senator Hale from the campaign for re-election may or may not have moved Senator Burrows to speak, but he said: "You can rest assured of one thing; there will be no word from me of an intention to retire from the campaign I am in it to say."

MARK TWAIN, BELOVED HUMORIST, IS NO MORE

to become the master of wholesome humor, Mark Twain retained to the last his delicate distinctions of light and shade, giving to the world its dearest smiles and drawing from it its most willing, sympathetic tears. For withal his humor the public eye has seen no happy life punctuated with deeper sorrows. He had known every travail of the soul, and few there are whose spirit of sound humor would have survived so many onslaughts of a whimsical and cruel fate.

It was the same man who gave this message to an anxious world: "Rumors of my death are large exaggerated," who subsequently described his health as "not ruggedly well, but not ill enough to excite an undertaker," and who on return from Bermuda two days prior to the sudden death of his favorite daughter, Jean, the day before last Christmas, confirmed the belief of the newspaper reporters who met him at the gang-plank with this discouraging statement:

"My active work in this life and for the world is done. I shall write no more books nor attempt new work."

Fate Mocks His Gentleness. The accompanying smile was one of amiable sadness. His cheeks were hollow and furrowed, and his gait was shuffling and uncertain, as if tired almost unto death.

The next day, twelve hours before her untimely death, his daughter Jean made public this statement at the instance of her father:

"I hear the newspapers say I am dying. The charge is not true. I would do no such thing at my time of life. I am behaving as well as I can. Merry Christmas to everybody."

How merry was his Christmas is known throughout a sympathizing universe. The hand of fate, always inscrutable, dealt its cruellest blow to the kindest, gentlest of men.

His Daughter's Death Crushed Him. The hour hand had traveled but once around the clock before the daughter—his confident, companion and amanuensis—was found dead in her bath at their country home, "Stormfield," Redding, Conn. Her last act had been the preparation of a mammoth Christmas tree.

The shock which transformed the Christmas symbols into a bier—the shrine of his last earthly idol—almost completed the wreck made possible by the ravages of time.

Recalling the statement of the previous evening which mocked the rumors of his death, the author ventured, pitifully, that "the punishment is more than the act merited," and settled back into a silent, stoic conflict with his latest grief. That his health declined gradually from this cause no one doubts, and Mark Twain himself did not deny it.

Born in Missouri Cabin. In 1835, while there were less than 1,000,000 white inhabitants in the great empire west of the Mississippi, Samuel Langhorne Clemens was born. It was on Nov. 30, and the scene of his nativity was a humble cabin at Florida, Mo., which at that time marked the extreme fringe of frontier settlement. His parents were John Marshall Clemens of Virginia and his good wife, who was Jane Lambert of Kentucky.

fame. His important works and their date of appearance follow:

"Roughing It," in 1871; "Gilded Age," in 1873; "Tom Sawyer," in 1876; "Sketches," in 1877; "Tramp Abroad," in 1880; "Prince and Pauper," in 1883; "Life on the Mississippi," in 1883; "Huckleberry Finn," in 1885; "Library of Humor," in 1888 "A Yankee in King Arthur's Court," in 1889.

He founded the publishing firm of Charles L. Webster & Co. in 1884, which was a disastrous undertaking. Through the business depression of 1894 the firm failed, and Mark Twain, at the time rated a wealthy man, assumed its debts, though it swept away his fortune and left an indebtedness of $100,000 which he paid in full.

TROUT FRY RECEIVED FOR DELTA COUNTY

The trout streams of Delta county are to be stocked with trout fry this spring. Last night the state fish car Fontinalis arrived in Escanaba from the state fish hatchery at Sault Ste. Marie and brought along a number of cans which contained 95,000 trout fry. The cans were brought down and unloaded in the railroad yards, where they were taken charge of this morning by Timothy Killian, who will attend to the distribution and planting of the fry in several trout streams of Delta county. Mr. Killian was engaged to do this work by the county board of supervisors at its last session.

HOOKED NOSED MEN FOR ROMAN GHOSTS.

Berkeley, Cal., April 22.—After a great deal of trouble, Coach Garnet Holme, who is reciting the production of "Nero" to be given tonight by students of the University of California, has succeeded in finding men with the true Roman type of nose to play the parts of the ghosts of Julius Caesar, Augustus, Calus, Tiberius and Claudius. These parties appear in the play as "hants" to remind Nero of his misdeeds. That they might seem realistic and convincing, Coach Holmes determined that the spirits must necessarily have Roman noses. After a long and searching examination of applicants, he succeeded, and the audience at tonight's production will see the only Roman-nosed spooks in captivity.

ANTELOPE TO BE THE ROOSEVELT.

London, April 22.—Edmund Heller, the zoologist of Riverside, Cal., who accompanied Mr. Roosevelt on his African hunting trip, has decided that the sable antelope killed by Kermit Roosevelt is a new species peculiar to the Mombasa region and not heretofore described. It will be named the Roosevelt.

Washington, April 22.—Senator Chauncey Mitchell Depew is today receiving the congratulations of his colleagues upon attaining his seventy-sixth milestone. The senator and Mrs. Depew will give a dinner tonight to celebrate the anniversary.

RE-ENACT LAND OPENING SCENES

Oklahoma City, Okla., April 22.—Oklahoma's opening to settlement was reenacted today at the state fair grounds. A large number participated in the "run" for claims and prizes were awarded the winners. A parade was also held in connection with the celebration of the '89ers who took part in the memorable "run" on April 22, 1889.

SOO LINE ASKS TOWN TO CHANGE ITS NAME

Glenwood, Wis., April 22.—The Soo road, through Superintendent Van Valkenburg, has asked the city of Glenwood to change its name. There are now on the Soo line Glenwood, Minn., Glenwood, Wis., and Greenwood, Wis., and this circumstance leads to endless confusion in the transportation of freight to those points, misshipments occurring almost daily. Many letters are also mis-carried, the mistakes frequently, however, being due to misdirection by the senders.

There is considerable opposition to a change of name among Glenwood people, based chiefly on sentimental grounds.

Many declare, however, that if the Soo will agree not to disturb Glenwood's rank as a main line station enjoying through limited train passenger service, they will be glad to favor the adoption of a new name for the city that will be agreeable to the road.

NO GUNBOATS CAN BE BUILT ON THE LAKES

Washington, D. C., April 22.—Secretary Meyer's communication to the house of representatives endorsed a former opinion of the navy department that the construction of naval vessels on the great lakes would constitute a violation of the Rush-Bagot convention of 1817. This statement was in reply to a house resolution asking why the appropriation for the building of a gunboat in these waters, authorized in 1898, had not been expended and whether any steps had been taken to remove any obstacles to construction there.

Mr. Meyer says when congress authorized the construction of a gunboat in 1898, the navy asked the state department if the navy was justified in proceeding with that construction under the treaty mentioned and the state department replied in the negative. The United States and Canada joint commission considered the question of the right to build a vessel on the lakes in 1900. It became evident that Great Britain was prepared to stipulate for total disarmament on the lakes, but the commission adjourned without final conclusion in the matter.

The navy department advised the secretary of state, February 28, 1906, that "it would seem to be to the best interests of the United States if the Rush-Bagot convention could be terminated at once." There have been no subsequent steps.

MILLIONAIRE IS A PRIVATE SOLDIER

Washington, D. C., April 23.—Fort Myer, near this city, is said to be unique among army posts in the possession of an enlisted man who is a millionaire. Not only is he a millionaire. Not only is he a millionaire but he is also a favorite in Washington society and this somewhat to the consternation of the officers of the fort, who themselves sometimes, through duty but more often inclination, are frequently in attendance upon the very event at which the rich enlisted man finds himself.

Corp. Albert Myer Jr., of the signal corps, is this anomaly, a millionaire soldier. His home is in Boston and he is a grandson of Brig. Gen. Albert Myer, who served in the civil war and after whom Fort Myer is named. Corporal Myer decided upon a military life and determined to seek the top by way of the bottom. Therefore he enlisted. With the day's duty done at night at hand Corporal Myer, Chrysler-like, lays aside his enlisted man's uniform, dons evening clothes, enters his automobile, which has arrived for him from his city garage and, armed with a pass, descends upon social Washington. Already Corporal Myer has taken his examination for a lieutenantcy, and, it is said, greatly to the relief of the officers at the post, has passed handsomely. Soon they may be able to recognize him socially, without feeling that their dignity and all that is due their rank, is compromised.

METHODISTS APPEAR TO BE PROSPEROUS.

Washington, D. C., April 22.—Nearly $200,000 was raised for the work of the African Methodist Episcopal church in the fiscal year just ended, according to a report made to the financial board in session here today. Bishop Grant of Kansas City, is presiding. Rev. John Hurst, financial secretary, reported that after reservations for educational purposes, church extension, superannuation of ministers and provisions for their widows and children, nearly $100,000 was reserved for the general treasury of the church for payment of salaries of bishops, general officers and denominational needs.

GENERAL BELL RETIRES AS HEAD OF THE ARMY

Man Who Proved Himself a First Class Fighter Ends His Active Career as Soldier.

(Special to The Daily Mirror.)
 Washington, D. C., April 22.—Exit, Gen. J. Franklin Bell. The intrepid fighter—fighters are always intrepid, you know—retires today as chief-of-staff of the United States army, giving place to Gen. Leonard Wood, whose rapid advancement by ex-President Roosevelt caused such ructions in the army, during the Roosevelt regime. Incidentally, General Bell is doing the hardest service of his life just now, namely, keeping quiet in obedience to his doctors in order to recuperate from a very painful automobile accident, in which he figured recently.

But Bell came in for some rapid-fire promotion also, after the record he made in putting down Philippine insurgents, and for which he received the medal of honor—that little bronze button that probably costs the beneficent government a nickel to make. The only difference was that army men didn't fuss about Bell's promotion. He had served twenty-eight years as a soldier when for his varied services President Roosevelt jumped him about 1,500 numbers in the army list and made him brigadier-general.

Wanted Men to Fight. He had to serve twenty years, however, before he got his chance—and those twenty years had earned him a first lieutenantancy and a chance to be retired as major about the time he learned to really like a steady diet of strained brook. And then the Spanish war broke out, and general in the volunteer army he threw away his soldiers' pick and shovels, thereby making a frantic hit with the hikers.

 "I don't want you to dig," said General Bell. "I want you to fight." Which they did. They helped earn him the honors he received. Born fifty-three years ago in Lexington, Ky., he proved that he was a soldier with his head as well as his hands when he was made chief of the secret service department in the Philippines, and later chief of staff at Leavenworth. Tall, muscular, with a grim fighting face and a fancy little lip shade, he looks the fighting man he is. He was once asked by a jester what he best liked to do.

 "Fight," said Bell.

NATIONAL FARM LAND CONGRESS

Hon. G. T. Werline, of Nadeau, who has been appointed as a member of the Conference Committee of the National Farm Land Congress, was in Chicago on Monday attending a meeting of that committee at the Hotel LaSalle.

The first session of the National Farm Land Congress was held in Chicago, Nov. 16-20, 1909, and delegates were present from nearly every state in the Union. Mr. Werline was a member of the first session by virtue of appointment by Governor Warner. This meeting was a complete success. In fact, a success so much greater than its promoters had anticipated that the value of its work was definitely proved and the popularity of the idea demonstrated beyond all doubt. It is hardly a too enthusiastic view to take of the prospects of this Congress to say that just as the farm business with which it has to do and which it is designed to promote is the greatest of all American business so will this Congress, with its plans carefully laid and executed by experienced hands under public sponsorship and by a representative public body be greater than any or all other public congresses.

Very many public men, governors, senators, congressmen, federal and state department officials, were present and expressed their unqualified approval of the work done by the congress, of the very great value of its foundation idea, and their great desire that such work should be perpetuated and the congress brought annually together. Of governors not able to be personally present many appointed special commissioners to represent them and most of the others wrote or telegraphed their approval to be read to the assembled delegates. To attend this congress thirty-five state governors appointed full delegations of twenty-five members each while commercial and business men's organizations everywhere showed the greatest interest and appointed representatives to attend.

The objects of the National Farm Land Congress are: "By the widest possible publicity, through the press, of knowledge of American farm lands to promote American farm home building, bring into permanent productive use all lands available for farming purposes, and increase among the people the spirit tending to remove crowded population from the cities to settlement upon the land."

This movement is one of the many indications of national, in fact world-wide, attention to the subject of agriculture.

THE BALLINGER PROBE RESUMED

(By Associated Press.)
Washington, D. C., April 22.—The investigation into the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy was resumed today. Secretary Knox held a conference yesterday with several members of the committee and urged that the inquiry be expedited and it is alleged that he was speaking for no less a personage than President Taft.

ANOTHER MOVING PICTURE THEATRE

Escanaba is to have another moving picture theater. It will occupy the building at No. 1216 Ludington street and be conducted by William Le Duc, who was formerly in the employ of E. M. St. Jacques. Mr. Le Duc has decided to call his theater "The Daisy." The exact date of its opening for public patronage has not yet been announced.

MAN IS ARRESTED FOR NON-SUPPORT

Undersheriff T. J. Curran this morning served a warrant of arrest upon Peter Belanger of this city and locked him up in jail on a charge of not supporting his family. Belanger will be arraigned before Justice Linden tomorrow. The warrant was issued upon complaint of his wife, who alleges that he has failed to contribute to the support of herself and the children.

WHOSE HEN CAN LAY OVER THIS SPECIMEN?

Allen Tyrrell was in the city Tuesday from Brampton and he had with him three samples of the product of an ambitious Black Minorca hen that he has in his flock. One of the eggs measures 8 1/2 inches in circumference the long way, and 6 1/2 inches the short way. Two other eggs laid by the same hen are of unusual size, but the one mentioned above is the largest hen's egg that the editorial "we" has ever seen. Mr. Tyrrell says this particular hen lays a good-sized egg five days in each week, and on the other two days of the week she lays eggs of an unusually large size. He prizes his flock of Black Minorcas very highly and declares they are the best to be had.

MAN HAS CALF WITH HEART IN HIS THROAT

Spokane, Wash., April 22.—M. Cosselman, a rancher near Cheney, Wash., formerly the seat of Spokane county, boasts of a freak of nature, probably without parallel in this country.

It is a calf with its heart in its throat, just above the shoulder. The calf was born a week ago and has been kept alive by careful nursing; in fact it is watched as closely as the newest arrival in a millionaire's household.

The freak was not discovered until the animal was a day old, when the keeper noticed the pulsations of the heart in the throat. These have become so pronounced they shake the calf's head at every beat. Road showmen wintering in Spokane pronounce the animal a remarkable freak and have offered large sums for it, but the owner declined all, saying he will turn it over to the live stock department of the Washington state college at Pullman for experimental purposes.

HIGH SCHOOL CLASS RUSH DUE TONIGHT

The annual class rush of the Escanaba High school is scheduled to materialize tonight and some lively doings are expected. The struggle between the seniors and sophomores on one side and the juniors and freshmen on the other promises to be something fierce. Last evening the juniors and freshmen boastfully issued their challenge to combat in the following warning, copies of which were posted up in all parts of the city, particularly in the neighborhood of the high school:

BEWARE!
The Ides of April—Friday, April 22, 1910.
Hear Ye! Hear Ye! Hear Ye!
Ye Dirty Dribbling Seniors!
With thy faces so white
Prepare thy will
For thou must "Dye" tonight!
As to the fiendish Sophs
Nothing much need be done.
For they will die also
And without the aid of Gum!
Then hunt thy poor companion,
And as Angels to you sing
Think of the Chesty Juniors
And how their name does ring.
Make way for the Educated,
The Class of 1911.

DEFECTIVE SWITCH CAUSES WRECK

(By Associated Press.)

CHINESE FANATICS THIRST FOR BLOOD

(By Associated Press.)
Hankow, China, April 22.—The situation in the Huna province is reported as critical. Women and children are fleeing from Changsha, for the country has been placarded with threats to kill all foreigners.
All property belonging to foreigners has been destroyed and any Chinamen who try to stop the disturbance are killed by the angry mob of fanatics.

Your Checks are Receipts

"Pay as you go" is an excellent maxim provided you "pay-by-check." It's foolish to carry money on the person, except for the smallest purchases and incidentals, for aside from the care and inconvenience there is always the danger of theft or loss.

But with a check-book of this bank in your pocket the inconvenience and worry is eliminated. You write out a check for the exact amount of each purchase, your check-stub is a record for reference and the check itself will later be returned to you by the bank and may be retained as a receipt.

Some persons may think of the check account as being complicated. Nothing could be more simple, however. We keep books for you and there is a record for your every transaction.

GRAND COUNCIL OF K. OF C. TO MEET

The annual session of the grand council of Michigan, of the Knights of Council will be held at Port Huron on May 10. It is expected that every other council in the state will be represented at this meeting. The grand council is composed of the past grand knight and the grand knight of each council. The meeting will be a very interesting and important one. It is expected that at the regular meeting of Escanaba council No. 640, which is to be held next Sunday, alternates will be elected to the grand council.

DETAILS THE DEATH OF CRISMAN SWOPE

(By Associated Press.)
Kansas City, April 22.—Anna Houlhan, the woman who led the nurses' strike in the fight against Hyde in the Swope household, at which time she is said to have declared that "people are being murdered in this house," was put on the witness stand today and part of her testimony was the strikingly detailed death of Crisman Swope, for whose death Dr. Hyde is also indicted.
