SHERIFF SHOTS AT FLEEING PRISONER

ED. MURPHY MAKES A BOLD AND SUCCESSFUL DASH FOR LIBERTY AFTER BEING ARRESTED

BELIEVED HE WAS WOUNDED

While on the Way to the County Jail With Sheriff Aronson, He Takes to His Heels and Bullets Fail to Stop Him—Wanted in Iowa City to Answer to Charges of Burglary and Larceny—He is Still at Large—The Story.

Shortly before ten o'clock Saturday night the people who happened to be on Ludington street in the vicinity of Harrison avenue were startled and thrown into excitement by hearing the reports of four revolver shots fired in quick succession.

Several persons near enough to the corner saw the shooting and the object shot at. The shooter was Sheriff Aronson and his target was an escaping prisoner, Ed. Murphy, whom he had but a few moments before put under arrest.

At Sheriff Aronson's first shot Murphy, who had gained the opposite side of the street from in front of F. H. Atkins & Co.'s store, dropped to the ground, but almost as quickly as a flash he regained his feet and ran rapidly away into the darkness with Sheriff Aronson in pursuit and firing at Murphy as he ran. Murphy, however, succeeded in eluding the officer and others who joined in the pursuit and has thus far succeeded in evading capture.

Probably Wounded. It is believed that one of the bullets fired from Sheriff Aronson's revolver wounded Murphy, but not seriously, for as he ran he was seen to be wiping blood from one of his hands.

Murphy was arrested by Sheriff Aronson at the request of the police authorities of Dubuque, Iowa, who in a letter which Sheriff Aronson received Saturday stated that Murphy is wanted in Dubuque to answer to charges of larceny and burglary.

After getting information in the letter Sheriff Aronson and Chief Rowe started to look for Murphy and the former found him in E. C. Stuhlt's saloon at the corner of Ludington street and Harrison avenue. Murphy did not observe the sheriff until the latter tapped him on the shoulder and informed him that he was under arrest. Murphy offered no resistance and said, "all right," when told to accompany the sheriff.

Surprised the Sheriff. The officer and his prisoner left the saloon for the county jail and were walking along quietly side by side when Murphy made his wild break for liberty and succeeded in getting away in the manner already noted. His action took Sheriff Aronson completely by surprise, but he lost no time in taking after his fleeing prisoner and in using his revolver.

At the time Murphy was arrested Sheriff Aronson did not have a pair of handcuffs with him and so apparently willing was Murphy to "come along" that his dash for freedom was entirely unexpected by the officer.

Murphy was formerly a resident of this city, but has of late been away, down in Iowa it appears. He is said to have returned here last Friday. His reputation here is alleged to be not of the best and it is said he has been arrested more than once for petty offenses.

NEW CITY TREASURER ASSUMES HIS OFFICE

City Treasurer Frank J. Hess is now in full possession of his office, taking hold thereof this morning, when ex-City Treasurer Thomas J. Burke turned over to him all of the city treasurer's books and accounts, which had been audited by the city auditor and found to be in good shape. Mr. Hess will maintain the treasurer's office in the city hall, where he states he may be found at all times during his official business hours.

THE CONTINENTALS TRIM RAPID RIVERS

Local Amateur Baseball Team Takes County League Team Into Camp by Score of 10 to 4—Features of Game Are Hess' Pitching and Hitting of Continentals.

Manager Thomas F. Cleary and the members of his Continental Baseball team are feeling pretty gay today, thank you. Yesterday the Continentals went to Rapid River to play the fast team of that hustling town and when they came away they carried away their opponents' scalp dangling from their belts by the fat score of 10 to 4.

The game was a lively one, but the Continentals had the best of it all the way. The downfall of the Rapid River team was accomplished largely through the splendid twirling of Frank Hess, who threw in midseason for the Continentals, and the heavy hitting of his team mates. Although this was the first game Hess has pitched this season, he had complete control of the ball and the best Rapid boys could do with his slants was to connect safely with them but three times.

Rapid River used two pitchers, Devel and Gundstrom, but they were both easy picking, for they were touched up for a total of ten hits, two of them being two baggers, by Fred Hirm and Fred Roddy.

The game was witnessed by a good-sized crowd, among whom were twelve or fifteen Escanaba fans, who accompanied the Continentals to Rapid River and gave them good support by vociferous "rooting."

DEATHS AND BIRTHS IN MONTH OF APRIL

During the month of April a total of twenty-three death certificates were filed in the office of City Clerk M. J. Lyons. This is a high number, but it may be stated that all of the deaths recorded were not those of Escanaba residents. Several of the deceased persons were from outside and one certificate was that of the death of the seaman, Vallier, who was drowned last fall and whose body was found several weeks ago on the beach about six miles below Ford River.

The birth record is keeping up well in the city, for up to date City Clerk Lyons has reports indicating the occurrence of thirty-six births in Escanaba during the month of April. And it is probable that all of the reports for the month have not yet been turned in.

WALDSTROM CLAIMS FIRST FISH HONORS

Advertising Manager of The Fair Savings Bank Department Store Asserts He Caught the First Trout of the Season—He Likewise Gets the First Cold Bath.

Bright and early, early anyhow, though possibly not very bright, Sunday morning, J. Willard Waldstrom, manager of the advertising department of the Fair Savings Bank and also this city's top notcher on physical culture and vegetarianism and other "isms," betook himself to the wide of the deep wilderness that surrounds Escanaba.

His Mission was a most commendable one, for it was honor that he sought and not pay. Over his shoulder he proudly carried a steel fishing rod and in his pockets were safely stored a dog biscuit sandwich, some compressed tablets of timothy hay and a bran salad.

The trout season was on and the man who makes the F. S. B. famous was "Johnny on the spot" to catch the first fish that awakened from its long winter's sleep. Long before the good people of the city had opened their eyes to the fact that it was "the day of rest," Waldstrom was knee deep in one of the many creeks that flow into the glorious, fog filled waters of the Escanaba river.

For many hours the fisherman waded the creek, offering the trout everything in the way of attractive bait from corn flakes to peanut butter, but there was nothing doing and while Mr. Waldstrom is a man of infinite patience and easy to get along with, he was beginning to think that the trout did not appreciate his efforts in making an early call upon them.

Suddenly, and without the slightest warning there was a monster tug upon the line. The fisherman thought that he must have a fish at least so long.

Over rough logs, under brush and up and down the stream waded the now thoroughly aroused fisherman. Just as he was about to land the fish a rotten log furnished an insecure footing and the lone seeker after "first honors" was struggling in the creek, in an effort to untangle himself from the fish line and water grass.

After some difficulty he succeeded in getting on dry land again and also succeeded in getting the fish to dry land. The two came to Escanaba together and went directly to a local cafe, where the fish was served as a side dish to a Spanish omelette.

Today Mr. Waldstrom is telling his friends about the large fish he caught and from his "telling" one would be warranted in thinking that it must have been at least this size:

As The Mirror reporter passed along the street today he stopped at the restaurant where Mr. Waldstrom had the fish cooked and the skin was displayed by the chef and it was found that in reality the fish was this size:

MRS. W. E. MARTIN IS TAKEN BY DEATH

Mrs. Walter E. Martin died this afternoon at the home of the family at 242 Michigan avenue at about four o'clock. A few days ago Mrs. Martin gave birth to a child and since that time her condition had been critical.

No death that has occurred in Escanaba recently has been more of a shock to the people of the city, as Mrs. Martin was well known to a large number of people, having been employed at the Ed. Erickson company's store for a number of years before her marriage, which took place about two years ago.

Mrs. Martin was the daughter of B. J. Basingthwaite, formerly of this city, now living at Ashland, Wis. She was popular with a large circle of friends, having a happy disposition and a winning manner that endeared her to many.

Funeral arrangements had not been made this afternoon but will be announced later.

The regular monthly meeting of the board of trustees of the Carnegie Public library is to be held at the library this evening. The usual routine business will be transacted.

ESCANABA TO GIVE BATTLE TO PLAGUE

ORGANIZED EFFORTS TO WAGE WAR ON TUBERCULOSIS TO RESULT FROM MASS MEETING.

SPEAKERS SOUND STIRRING CALL

Although the Attendance Was Far Smaller Than It Should Have Been the Good Work is Given Impetus—Speakers Utter Plain Truths and Drive Them Home—Committee Appointed to Work on Organization of Society—Details.

Determination to effect permanent organization of a local anti-tuberculosis society, fresh impetus given to the campaign in the warfare against the great white plague and stern and unpleasant truths driven home by forcible speakers, were some of the results accomplished at the anti-tuberculosis mass meeting held in the high school auditorium yesterday afternoon.

With shame for the people of this city, it must be confessed that the attendance at the meeting was not at all what it should have been or what its promoters had a right to expect, but those who were there endeavored to make up in earnestness and enthusiasm what they lacked in numbers.

There is Yet Hope.

The program of addresses was one of rare excellence and of a character to stir everybody thinking over this tuberculosis question, which is now becoming recognized as one of surpassing importance to the nation, its people and its welfare.

It is many times a pity that hundreds instead of tens of the citizens of Escanaba were not present to hear those addresses, delivered by men of ability, courage and sound common sense. They would have heard things that perhaps would have awakened them to a quicker and larger sense of their duties as good citizens and of what they owe to themselves, their neighbors, the city, the state and the country.

But those who were there will profit by what they heard and there is yet hope that Escanaba will take a leading position among the cities of Michigan that have enlisted under the banner of the army enlisted to fight for the eradication of tuberculosis.

Committee Appointed.

Following the program of addresses, the matter of effecting permanent organization of the Escanaba Anti-Tuberculosis society was taken up and quickly and decisively settled by the appointment of a committee of five by Dr. A. F. Snyder, chairman of the meeting, to take the preliminary steps for the organization of a permanent tuberculosis society. This action was taken upon motion of A. E. Ellsworth, seconded by City Attorney Ira C. Jennings. It is expected that the committee will select candidates for officers and board of directors and draft a constitution and by-laws. When its work has been accomplished a meeting will be called to proceed with the actual work of organization. Chairman Snyder appointed as the members of the committee: A. E. Ellsworth, chairman;

BISHOP WILLIAMS TELLS OF HIS WORK

While in Escanaba the Head of the Episcopal Diocese of Marquette Observes Fourteenth Anniversary of His Consecration as Bishop—Confirms Class and Preaches.

The Rt. Rev. G. Mott Williams of Marquette, bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Marquette, while in Escanaba Saturday and Sunday observed the fourteenth anniversary of his consecration as bishop. The fact that Sunday was the anniversary of his elevation to the bishopric was not generally known here until he made the announcement preceding an address which he delivered in St. Stephen's church Sunday evening. In place of a sermon at that time Bishop Williams gave an exceedingly interesting talk, which properly might have been entitled "What It is to Be a Bishop." In the course of his talk the distinguished churchman related many of his experiences as bishop and described in some detail the scope and character of his work.

At the morning services in St. Stephen's church Bishop Williams preached a powerful and eloquent sermon on "The Seriousness of the Christian Profession," taking for his text the words found in holy writ, "Almost Thou persuadest me to become a Christian." Following the sermon and regular services, Bishop Williams administered the rite of confirmation to a class of fourteen members.

The church was filled at both morning and evening services and Bishop Williams received a warm welcome from all the members of St. Stephen's church. The special music at the church services consisted of a solo by Mrs. A. J. Carlson and a trio by the Misses Eastwood and Briggs and Rev. E. E. Williams, rector of St. Stephen's church.

Bishop Williams left Escanaba this morning for Crystal Falls, where will confirm a class and evening. His visit to Escanaba was a very welcome one and is appreciated by not only the people of the city but also those who were at the anti-tuberculosis mass meeting held in the high school auditorium Sunday afternoon.

BERT BILLSON SELLS TO ED. JERNSTROM

Edward Jernstrom has purchased the interest of Bert Billson in the barber shop that the two purchased as a firm from John Vassaw. The two young men have been successful in business since they started and would have continued together had it not been for the fact that Mr. Billson's parents moved to California a few years ago and have been very urgent in their demands that their son should also make his home in California. Mr. Billson will leave in a few days for California, followed there by the well wishes of the many friends he has made in Escanaba.

INJURED ON STEAMER; BROUGHT TO CITY

Frank Joseph, a young man employed as a boiler on the steamer Cadillac, was caught on the propeller shaft last Saturday night just as the boat was leaving Elk Rapids for this port. While his injuries were painful, it was not thought necessary for the boat to put back to Elk Rapids and the young man was brought to this city, where he was immediately taken to the Delta County hospital. Marine Surgeon Reynolds was called and found that a dislocated hip was the most serious of the injuries. It will take a week or two, however, for the young man to recover from the bruises that were sustained, but that he is considered very fortunate in that he did not lose his life.

FOWL THIEF CAUGHT; NOW "COOPED" IN JAIL

One of the chicken thieves who have of late been devastating the chicken coops of divers residents of Escanaba has been caught and is now safely "cooped" himself in the county jail for a period of thirty days. Yesterday, Joseph Powers, who was under suspicion as one of the thieves, was arrested and today was brought into Justice Linden's court to answer to a charge of chicken stealing. The evidence against him was so conclusive that he made no attempt to deny his guilt and was given a thirty day sentence in the county jail. According to the police and court records, this is the eleventh time that Powers has been arrested for minor criminal offenses.

All these complaints will be investigated in their turn and it is likely that the attendance of many of the schools will be largely increased by the end of this week.

NOOK DE NOC GUN CLUB TO HOLD SHOOT

The members of the Nook de Noc Gun club will hold a meeting late this afternoon to arrange for a contest to take place in the near future at the grounds of the club near the Mashek Chemical plant at Wells.

The date that will be set aside for the shoot will probably be the 28th of this month, but that has not been positively decided as yet. There will be several prizes hung up for the contestants and champions will be invited from all over the state to come and get their share.

ESCANABA MAN IS CAUGHT IN WRECK

T. M. JUDSON AND OTHER PASSENGERS ON CANADIAN PACIFIC TRAIN HAVE A CLOSE CALL

ROLL OVER AND OVER IN CARS

Dining Car and Sleeper are Derailed and Do a Lofty Tumbling Act Down a Steep Embankment—One Lands Bottom Side Up and the Other on its Side—Passengers Get Out Through Windows—One Man Only is Hurt—The Story.

Saturday afternoon, while T. M. Judson, manager of the Escanaba Manufacturing company, was speeding homewards from a business visit in Montreal and other points in Canada on a Canadian Pacific passenger train, he had about as near a call from death as he cares to have. Not only was Mr. Judson's life imperiled but those of other passengers on the train were jeopardized as well and that they all escaped is considered a miracle.

It appears that while Canadian Pacific passenger train No. 7, with Conductor Tom Reynolds in charge, was speeding along towards the Soo the two last coaches in the train, a diner and a sleeper, jumped the rails, and breaking loose from the remainder of the train, went over and rolled down a steep embankment. The two coaches turned over and over down the embankment and when they came to the bottom, the sleeping car rested upon its side and the diner was upside down.

Get Out Through Windows. Fortunately all of the passengers succeeded in getting out of the sized cars through the windows and a short time later were enabled to resume their journey on the first part of the train which did not leave the rails and come back immediately after the bad little boys and girls to attend school. Letters were received recently by Under Sheriff Curran from Garden, Vans Harbor, Stonington and Nahma which contained complaints against delinquent children. All these complaints will be investigated in their turn and it is likely that the attendance of many of the schools will be largely increased by the end of this week.

near which latter place a wreck occurred last winter and a large number of persons were drowned. Conductor Reynolds was also in charge of that ill-fated train and his heroism in saving some of his passengers resulted in a substantial recognition from the Canadian Pacific Railway company and also from the Ontario government.

CUPID'S KISSES TO BE PASTEURIZED

New York, May 2.—Cupid soon will be pasteurized. At the base of the National Pharmaceutical society, which begins May 9 in the Palm Garden, Fifty-eighth street and Lexington avenue, the hygienic kiss will be demonstrated for the special benefit of all true lovers. The National Pharmaceutical society is an association of registered drug clerks and one of them has invented the kiss in quarantine.

He describes it as "A kiss through disinfected silk gauze, the gauze being held in an ivory or metal frame, and placed between the two pairs of lips before they meet. The gauze is to be soaked 'in a pleasant antiseptic to be scented as the users wish. One indignant young woman, however, asserts that kissing through germ-arresting osculator would be about as pleasant as eating ice cream through a fire screen.

BLIND-DEAF-MUTE GIRL EMBROIDERS

Unfortunate Child of Eleven Years Exhibits Wonderful Dexterity With the Needle—Embroiders Handkerchiefs as Gifts for Father and Uncle—The Story.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 2.—Further evidence of the wonderful dexterity which Kathryn Mary Frick, the state's deaf, dumb and blind ward, is acquiring at the Mount Airy Institute for the deaf and dumb reached this city in the shape of three linen handkerchiefs.

Two handkerchiefs were a birthday anniversary gift to her father, William L. Frick. The third was a similar gift to Kathryn's uncle. The anniversary for the brothers falls upon the same date, although there is a difference of several years in their ages.

The embroidery would reflect credit upon any normal child of the age of Kathryn, who is 11. Upon one of the kerchiefs sent her father, Kathryn outlined his initials, "W. L. F." in neat capitals with white embroidery silk, while the other handkerchief he received was marked "Papa" in the same material and with similar painstaking needlework.

The gift sent by Kathryn to her uncle was marked "Uncle Charlie" in the same way.

Accompanying the package which brought the gifts to her father was one of Kathryn's affectionate notes, written—or, rather printed—in neat capital letters with a lead pencil. Until Kathryn learned to transmit her messages in that manner a few weeks ago she was compelled to rely entirely upon the Braille system of writing for the blind, which consists of partially puncturing a sheet of paper with raised dots placed in different formations to indicate letters. Kathryn is now rapidly approaching the happy stage where she can displace her Braille writing with her "real writing," although it requires a vast deal more of labor for her to write a note in that fashion instead of by the Braille system.

Kathryn's messages are always, of necessity, brief, but what they lack in length they make up in affection. "Happy birthday," reads the note which accompanied the handkerchiefs. "I love you, I love mamma, I love Uncle Charlie. Kathryn M. Frick."

Real values find buyers promptly when advertised—for people, nowadays, have come to know.

ST. PAUL ROAD DOES BIG LOGGING BUSINESS

During the past winter the Lake Superior division of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road hauled to mills over 50,000,000 feet of logs. This in addition to ties, poles, posts, pulpwood and other forest products, which undoubtedly totaled several thousand carloads. During the summer the road expects to handle not less than 25,000,000 feet, making the total for the season over 75,000,000 feet of logs. The greater portion of the lumber is hauled to the mills at Green Bay, Menominee, Marinette, Oconto and Sagola.

TO SPEND MILLIONS FOR BETTER SERVICE

Toronto, May 2.—A plan is under consideration by the Canadian Northern Railroad company, which will call for expenditure of between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000 in the future in connection with the establishment of suitable passenger terminals in Montreal. It is also intended to have a fleet of at least three fast steel freight boats to connect with the vessels of their Atlantic service on the arrival of these at Montreal. Imported package freight will be then rushed from the big liners to given points on the great lakes at express speed. The cargoes of the freighters are to be loaded direct from incoming Atlantic boats, thus entailing only one transfer from Bristol, Eng., and Port Arthur and Port William at the head of Lake Superior.

The case is similar to that of Mrs. Charles Hook of South Range who was awarded $850 damages against South Range liquor dealers. The defendants in the Mass City case, which is to be tried in Ontonagon, are James Kidd, John Makki, Matt Pertunen and Emil Ulrickson.

Mrs. Toivanen charges that during the past four years the defendants sold liquor to her husband, although

COMING TO INSPECT ROADS OF THE U. P.

The state officials will leave Lansing about May 23 and expect to be absent about a month. Every city of

DIAMOND DRILL BRINGS COPPER TO THE LIGHT

Core in Keewenaw County Claim Indicates Rich Deposit of Metal—Copper News.

Calumet, May 2.—Probably the most important development in the Lake Superior copper country last week was the encountering of what is believed to be the famous Kearsarge lode by the Keewenaw Copper company's diamond drill in Keewenaw county. The showing of copper in the core is favorable and it begins to look as if the Keewenaw will have a mine on the Kearsarge vein. The opening of a profitable copper property by this company would have a most important bearing on the future of Keewenaw county as a copper producer and is a consummation devoutly to be wished. The Keewenaw Copper company has been doing missionary work in old Keewenaw in the hope of finding red metal in commercial quantities for the past four years, but has so far met with only a fair measure of success. Its prospects now are brighter than ever before.

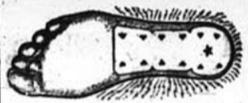

The diamond drill entered the vein at a point 925 feet from surface vertically, or 1400 feet from surface measuring down the incline of the lode. The drill is not yet through the vein and copper is well distributed through the core. The hole is directly north of the new shaft the company is sinking to cut the Kearsarge vein. Development work is still continuing at the Medora shaft, where from the bottom, down 1700 feet, diamond drilling is taking place, and when a depth of some 3000 feet is reached the management hopes to encounter another lode.

Can Carry on Plans.
 The Keewenaw Copper company, with about $100,000 in its treasury, has sufficient funds to carry on whatever work the management has planned for the current year. President Wright says the stockholders will not be called upon this year for further assessments. There is now $14 per share paid in on the stock, the par value of which is $25.

It is expected that the Ahmeek Mining company's new stamp mill will go into commission about a month hence with two stamp heads doing duty. The finishing touches are now being put on the plant which will be one of the most modern in this district. Many new improvements have been installed, all tending to an improved efficiency, and it is confidently expected the mill will show flattering results in the way of copper recovery and stamping costs. Provision has been made for the installation of four steam heads, with a combined capacity of 3000 tons of rock daily.

Following the starting of the two stamps in the Ahmeek mill it is believed that sufficient rock will be shipped to either the Franklin or C. & H. mills to bring the total daily output up to 25000 tons of rock, until

WOMAN ASKS PERMIT TO WEAR TROUSERS

Topeka, Kans., May 2.—Governor Stubbs received a letter yesterday from a widow at Oswego, asking permission to wear men's trousers while at work at her home.

The letter states the widow is supporting a large family which necessitates outside work and that in wearing skirts she is badly handicapped. The letter was turned over to the attorney-general and that official ruled there was no law prohibiting a woman wearing man's trousers, especially if she was the head of the house.

OLDEST ELK IN WORLD TO BE IN THE PARADE

He Lives in Michigan, Is 106 Years Old and Has Smoked and Drank All His Life—Was Born in Ireland and Is a Remarkable Character—Some Details.

Corunna, Mich., May 2.—Daniel O'Connell, aged 106 years, who was initiated into the order of Elks by Owosso lodge, No. 153, Wednesday, is the oldest Elk in the world. He is also the youngest member for his age in the world, for the little old man does not look or act to be a man of over seventy years.

O'Connell was given a life certificate by Owosso lodge, and if nothing happens will take part in the parade at the Elks' National reunion in Detroit next July. O'Connell himself is looking forth with great pleasure to the coming trip, and expects to have a fine time.

Daniel O'Connell was born in County Cork, Ireland, in October, 1804, and will be 106 years old next October. He came to America in 1835, coming directly to Michigan, where he took up his home in Deerfield township, Livingston county, where he has since resided. After coming to Michigan he secured employment in a distillery near his home. Here he worked for a great number of years, until at last he gave up that work and commenced work on a 40-acre farm which he had purchased.

About once a week O'Connell makes a trip to Byron and back, a distance of 12 miles, for the purpose of buying his tobacco and talking over the affairs with his friends in the village. He always makes the distance on foot, he still being a great walker. He also takes an active part in the farm work, and only last summer cradled ten acres of oats.

He loves tobacco and has chewed and smoked all his life. He also says that he likes a good drink of whisky and that he always did. He thinks that his tobacco and whisky have done him no harm, in fact, he says they have done him good.

ATTORNEY FORGOT TO MAIL WIFE'S LETTERS

Trenton, N. J., May 2.—During a trial of the $300,000 damage suit of one big manufacturing company against another Saturday there was a sudden interruption caused by former Attorney General Robert H. McCarter stopping in his argument for fully a minute.

There was a fixed look on his face. His arm, used in a gesture, remained extended. Thinking he was suffering from a sudden attack of illness, those in the court room stirred uneasily and several court attendants made their way to the lawyer to give him assistance.

Slowly, as if in a dream, Mr. McCarter reached to an inside pocket and drew forth three letters, at which he gazed ruefully. Then he gave the following brief explanation, which convulsed the court room:
 "My wife gave me these letters to post and I forgot them until this minute."

SAFE CRACKER EDDIE FAY HAS BAD RECORD

Criminal, Whose Pals Were Caught in Ishpeming Six Years Ago, Widely Known.

Ishpeming, Mich., May 2.—Eddie Fay, the noted criminal, whose pals, Pat Flaherty and Charles Dennis, were captured by Ishpeming policemen, October 16, 1903, after they had burglarized the Superior, Wis., postoffice has been the subject of much newspaper writing since he was taken into custody following the robbing of the Richmond Va. postoffice of more than $80,000 worth of postage stamps. His arrest has given rise to many improbable stories regarding the total of his ill-gotten gains. One of the stories published by Eastern papers relates that he has secured over $3,000,000 in six years, by safe cracking. Another relates that he has $300,000 stored away in safety vaults in various parts of the country; another that he had a string of race horses and a yacht with which to amuse himself when he was not busy extracting other people's money from their strong boxes.

But Fay's actual total stealings, exclusive of the proceeds of the Richmond raid, which were recovered by the authorities, do not appear to have aggregated over $125,000, or in the neighborhood of about $21,000 a year for six years. Most of his thefts were of postal and revenue stamps, which in several cases were divided among his pals.

Fay's first big robbery was that of the Superior, Wis., postoffice, and the capture of his two pals and his escape from the South Shore train here first brought him prominently before the police and the government officials as a criminal of the first magnitude. The Superior robbery was the largest ever committed at the head of the lakes.

The Battle at Ishpeming.

It was thought that the robbers had confederated in Superior, as they succeeded in disposing of some $14,000 worth of stamps stolen from the postoffice before they left there. They were secreted for a whole day following the robbery. They had planned a get-away over the country and had it not been for the fact that the roads were in bad condition, they would doubtless have escaped. They started to drive from Superior to Hawthorne, a little station twenty miles south of there on the Omaha road. They were afraid to leave Superior on any of the trains as they were being watched. Everything went well until they reached a bridge over a stream, a few miles from Hawthorne, that had been washed away by a storm. They started to walk the rest of the way, but got lost in the tangle of logging roads and arrived at Hawthorne too late for the train.

Upon his return to Superior the driver reported his suspicions to the police. The robbers walked some distance from Hawthorne, finally boarding the South Shore train at Lake Nebagamon, a station thirty miles east of Superior. The Ishpeming officers decided that the outlaws would not come into the city, but would probably attempt to leave the train at the Winthrop Junction. Some of the officers boarded the train there, and the others remained at the station. The outlaws had planned to leave the train here and arose from their seats as soon as it pulled into the depot. Seeing the officers at both ends of the car they realized that the game was up and there was nothing for them to do but fight their way to freedom. Dennis and Flaherty soon got their guns into action, but Fay sat quietly in his seat. It was this that saved him from arrest, as during the excitement he quietly got away.

Created Much Excitement.

Although Dennis and Flaherty fired several shots toward the doors of the coach in an effort to shoot the officers, none of the Ishpeming men were injured, though both of the robbers were wounded. They were shot through the car window. Dennis having been hit in the back and Flaherty in the hand just as he had raised his revolver with the intention of firing at one of the policemen entering the doorway.

The capture of Flaherty and Dennis created much excitement, and the firing brought out a large crowd within a few minutes in spite of the fact that it was 4 o'clock in the morning. It was never learned when Fay left the train. The officers searched several days for Fay, but no trace of him was ever found. Dennis and Flaherty remained in the jail here for several days, when they were taken back to Superior. Dennis was sentenced to five years and the federal authorities took Flaherty to Madison, where he had been charged with another crime. He later escaped from the jail, and was never heard from again, but rumors reached the police at Madison that he was killed in the West a short time later.

The following April Fay was arrested in Chicago and lodged in jail at Janesville, Wis. Four months later he succeeded in making his escape and remained at large until recently when he was arrested for the Richmond robbery.

Most of Fay's robberies were of postoffices, but he was known to have also robbed a few banks, among them being the Japanese-American bank at Los Angeles, Cal., when he picked up $16,000. This robbery was committed Feb. 23, 1905. His first appearance as a criminal was in 1897, when he robbed a saloon at Springfield, Ill., and was caught. He was given a reformatory sentence and was paroled in 1898. Flaherty was a bad character. He murdered a man named Collins in 1892 and there were several other charges of murderous shooting against him.

Fay is now serving a ten years' term in a federal prison for the Richmond postoffice burglary.

COMMISSION SHOULD HAVE MORE POWERS

Lansing, Mich., May 2.—Republican legislators in the city recently have remarked that next winter the powers of the state railway commission should be broadened to quite an extent and that body, be transformed into a state public utilities commission, with a sufficient staff to handle matters pertaining to this class of corporations in the state. It is proposed to make this commission a body of considerable authority relative to public utilities and plans will be framed to take the matter up thoroughly and draft new legislation along this line.

Another matter receiving some attention is the question as to whether electric railway lines should be brought under the control of the railroad commission as regards their rates for passenger and freight service. In addition there may be a move to bring them under the ad valorem system of taxation.

Allegan, Mich., May 2.—Flags that floated over the principal buildings of this city today in honor of the 102d birthday of Mrs. Hannah McIntosh Cady, were lowered to halfmast during the day upon the announcement of the woman's death. She had bent all her strength toward surviving until her birthday and collapsed when she realized that her ambition had been fulfilled.

LOSE THREE BABIES WITHIN ELEVEN DAYS

St. Louis, May 2.—Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Stadler of 1413 South Second street followed a small casket to Holy Trinity church, at Eighth street and Lafayette avenue, Saturday as they have done twice before in the past eleven days. Theirs is the triple grief of having lost three sons in that short space of time. The third child, who died Monday, was four years old. His death was due to scarlet fever. The other two, aged three and six years, had been carried off by diphtheria.

The parents have one child left, a baby one year old. That it may not go as the others have gone, it has been taken away from the home and is being carefully watched to prevent the development of disease.

RAIL-FREIGHT RATES TO BE ADVANCED

Washington, D. C., May 2.—Railway freight rates throughout the country will be materially increased by tariff, filed with the interstate commerce commission by Western Trunk lines. The rates are changed primarily to affect points on and between the Missouri river and Mississippi river transfers and proportionately will increase the rates from these points to the Atlantic and Pacific terminals.

RELIC OF THE DEEP FOUND AT THE SOO

Frank Marcellus, while working in the ship canal at the Soo the other day, picked up a solid silver watch that had every appearance of having lain there for years. It was probably dropped overboard by a sailor or a passenger on one of the boats. Perry Reeb, as soon as he learned of the find, went on a still hunt for other valuables, but the only things of value he was able to discover were a potato masher and a pair of curling tongs.

BOY FINDS LOST BAG WITH $550 IN GOLD

Newark, N. J., May 2.—The finding of a bag of gold broke up a boy's ball game in Oxford street yesterday. The boys ripped the bag open and were counting over $550 in eagles and double eagles when Policeman McGarrick came up and interrupted them. He walked off with the money to the station-house, followed by a crowd of wide-eyed youngsters.

Half an hour later Mrs. Mary Donhue and Miss Margaret Sullivan, sisters living at 230 Freeman street, hurried into the station out of breath. They thought it had dropped out on Oxford street, they said, and had missed a bag of gold containing $550 from a stove where they had concealed it. They thought it had dropped out on the street while the stove was being moved, and discovered their loss when they accepted a junk man's offer to buy the stove for 30 cents.

The sisters wept with joy when they heard that Policeman McGarrick had recovered the bag.

THEATRICAL

The Peterson:—It is a downright satisfaction to write something about such a play and its players as appeared at the Peterson opera house last evening before a discriminating and highly appreciative audience.

"The Third Degree" is a wonderful play—one of intense, gripping heart interest. One cannot fully define the mixed emotions which it produces: the lump which rises in the throat turns into a laugh at some happy sally of the brave little woman who makes such a noble gift for her husband. Pathos and humor, tragedy and comedy, are delightfully intermingled and all in all it deserves the place that has been accorded it of being one of the truly great American dramas.

Strong as the play is, its presentation last evening was equal in strength. The company is made up of sterling actors and is exceptionally well balanced. There is scarcely a flaw anywhere, even the scenic settings and costuming of the four acts being practically faultless. The story of the play has been sufficiently told in the advance notices and need not be repeated here. It remains only to speak of the company presenting it and this, too, affords the writer satisfaction.

Miss Fernando Eliscu, the young Roumanian girl, who essays the leading feminine role as Mrs. Howard Jeffries Jr., is an actress of appealing qualities. She handled her difficult part in a manner which enlisted the sympathies of the audience from the start and held them through the long evening. Paul Everton as Richard Brewster, the great constitutional lawyer, was great in his portrayal of his character, and Thomas Colman interpreted the part of Howard Jeffries Sr., the unrelenting father, with more than ordinary ability. Jack Ellis pictured the uncultured, egotistical, brutal police captain with a trifle too much emphasis, but was very good, nevertheless. E. A. Eberle, one of the oldest men on the American stage, made Dr. Bernstein's a most lovable character. Ralph Ramsey, who takes the part of Howard Jeffries Jr. falsely accused of murder and tortured into a "confession" by "the third degree," rose to unexpected heights of realism in his portrayal of his character. The audience scarcely breathed through his one big scene of the play and there was an audible sigh of relief when his head dropped to the table and his form shook with sobs following his terrific ordeal. Margaret Drew as Mrs. Howard Jeffries Sr. was sufficiently good as the cold hearted, selfish woman of society and she wore some stunning gowns. Her poor enunciation was the one flaw that marred her work. Francis Bonn as Robert Underwood had comparatively little to do, suicide cutting short his career in the first act, but he did it well. The minor roles were also capable hands. Harry Forsman as Mr. Jones, Brewster's office man, was so well liked, and handled his little "bit" so capably that his every appearance was the signal for laughter and applause.

The Peterson:—The laughing comedy success of the season, "The Traveling Salesman," by James Forbes, author of "The Chorus Lady," will be the offering at the Peterson next Thursday evening, May 5, when Henry B. Harris will send the original New York and Chicago company of this city.

The story of "The Traveling Salesman" concerns Bob Blake, a jovial drummer, who is compelled to spend his Christmas day in a lonely village of the middle west, and on arrival finds in the presence of Beth Elliott, the ticket agent at the depot, a most congenial person. They strike up an acquaintanceship which soon ripens into affection, and for the first time in his life, the young, well-meaning drummer discovers that he is enthralled with the sweetness and beauty of a charming young woman.

Through her he learns that she is about to lose a tract of land, and he at once takes steps to protect her rights, and thereby runs counter to his employer, who has laid plans to obtain what the girl thinks is a worthless piece of real estate, but which has suddenly assumed considerable value, as it is needed by the railroad company to complete some improvements they have in view. Blake jeopardizes his own position in espousing the rights of the girl, and this leads to many interesting complications. The comedy of the play is of a most delicious character, and never before in the history of the stage has there been a play which includes so many laughs as does "The Traveling Salesman." So well does it depict the life of the drummer on the road, that it has won the endorsement of the United Commercial Travelers of America and the Travelers Protective Association. If the success attained by this play in New York and Chicago is any criterion, a crowded house should await its advent in this city.

The Peterson:—Miss Blanche Walsh's hobby is animal pets. She spends her summers at her beautiful estate at Woods Hole, Mass., where she has a splendid collection of St. Bernards, Boston Bulls, and several Maltese cats. Miss Walsh loves home life and for that reason her season on the road each year is limited to an exceedingly short period. The management of the Peterson announces her annual engagement of one night, Thursday, May 12. Miss Walsh's newest vehicle is "The Test," the work of Jules Eckert Good-

How one man fooled his wife

She had been using her "favorite" baking powder. Wouldn't think of trying anything else, because "mother always used it," or some similar excuse. Hubby said she was prejudiced. He figured if Calumet, the new baking powder, selling at a moderate price, could be so successful, there must be some good in it. So he took a hand, and bought a can of Calumet, emptied the can containing her "favorite" baking powder and filled it with Calumet.

That evening, unsuspecting the trick, Wifey prepared and served some of her famous biscuit—piping hot, temptingly browned and puffed up to airy lightness, they were even more delicious than usual. Hubby, after considerable difficulty, succeeded in convincing her that the basis of the improvement was Calumet Baking Powder. And so an everlasting friend for Calumet was made.

This truthful little incident simply proves that the housewife is often prejudiced against all baking powders except the one she has been using for years. She imagines that no other kind can possibly be as good. This is a mistaken impression. A trial of Calumet will prove that it is purer, more reliable; it has a greater leavening power than any other baking powder made. And it is moderate in price.

NORD ALEXIS PASSES FROM A LONG LIFE

(By Associated Press.) Kingston, Jamaica, May 2.—Nerd Alexis, ex-president of Haiti, died here today. He had lived here since 1908, when he was deposed and was obliged to flee from Haiti, after the revolutionists under General Simon overthrew his government. Alexis, who was variously estimated at from ninety to 100 years old, was a well-educated negro who became conspicuous in the Haitian wars as a soldier. He was the president of the treasury board of the government. Early in 1908 the movement against him gained great strength and his reign of terror followed, in which Alexis executed as many of his subjects as possible. Warships of foreign nations were rushed to the island to protect the foreigners. Simon later entered the field and Alexis was obliged to flee for his life to a French warship. Simon was then elected president.

The Optimist's Corner

Daily Helps to Health and Happiness
By GEORGE F. BUTLER, A. M., M. D.

The world is a grand old place and we are pretty sure of the reward we deserve. We may grumble and growl at adversity. We may moan and make miserable over misfortune; we may chafe under trouble, but in our inmost hearts we know why we suffer these, and that the faults it would be convenient to lay on the doorsteps of others belong to us.

Remember, that all sunshine makes the desert. If we had no clouds or storms in our experience, our life would be barren and useless. A little trouble is a good thing. It checks recklessness, opens the eyes of the blind plunger and endows the unappreciating with the sense of appreciation.

As the misfortunes, the troubles, the mis-steps of others are of value to us in our struggles for attainment, so are our errors of value to others. We would avoid them if we could. We should avoid them, but when they come to us let us bend our shoulders to their burdens or pluckily get beneath and throw them off. And let us do it ourselves. It will make us happier, stronger, better men—independent, courageous, progressive, and dauntlessly ambitious. It will make of us the very men the world needs, and needs badly.

Dr. H. W. Long, L. C. Jennings, Dr. A. J. Carlson and A. J. Young.

Strong Speeches Made.

The speakers at the meeting were Dr. A. F. Snyder, who presided; Dr. H. W. Long, city health officer; Ira C. Jennings, city attorney; Rt. Rev. G. Mott Williams, bishop of Marquette; J. W. Hoot, Dr. O. C. Breitenbach, city chemist and Rev. Frederick Spence.

Each and every one of these speakers had a special message to deliver on the subject of tuberculosis and the necessity of its eradication.

All of the addresses were of great interest and value in the discussion of the questions before the meeting. Those of City Attorney Jennings and Bishop Williams were especially strong and full of plain truths, inclusively and forcibly presented. Both were unsparring in their condemnation of those who are derelict in their duties and who fail to make use of their knowledge. Mr. Jennings was especially caustic in referring to the limited attendance at the meeting and Bishop Williams fired a hot shot at the lawlessness of the American people generally. Bishop Williams considered tuberculosis and its eradication to be a moral question and along these lines presented some original and thought-inspiring ideas. Lack of space prevents The Mirror from giving all of the addresses the extended summary their excellence and importance justly entitles them to.

MIGHTY GOTCH AND ZBYSKO ARE MATCHED

(By Associated Press.)

Chicago, Ill., May 2.—Frank Gotch, world's champion wrestler, and Zbysko, the premier of the European grapplers, have been matched to meet in a finish contest the afternoon of Decoration day, May 30, at the White Sox baseball park. The Empire Athletic club, under the auspices of which the bout will be held, has set a high mark in the matter of mat purses by guaranteeing the men $25,000, with the privilege of 65 per cent of the gross receipts of which Gotch is to get 60 per cent and Zbysko 40.

The agreement specifies that Police Gazette rules will govern the go, which is to be catch-as-catch-can and best two out of three falls. Rain or shine, the club officials propose to stage the big battle. In case of rain the ring, which is to be centered near the middle of the diamond, will be skied with a canvas, thus waterproofing the gladiators. The same method will be adopted to protect the spectators in the new seats which will be built around the ring.

In addition to the novelty of an outdoor wrestling match the fans at the ringside will also break into the moving picture films, which will reproduce the match. The picture privilege goes to Gotch exclusively, a concession that is expected to be worth thousands of dollars.

GRANGE NOW HAS AN INSURANCE COMPANY

Members of the Grange in Escanaba and Delta county will be interested in the news that the Grange Life Insurance company has filed articles of incorporation with State Insurance Commissioner Barry at Lansing.
