ESCANABA TEAM TAKES ANOTHER

For the Third Time Rapid River is Defeated on the Ball Field by Sandy City Players--Details of the Game--Other Baseball Battles.

Escanaba, 9; Rapid River, 6.

At Rapid River Sunday afternoon the Escanaba team of the Delta County league won its third consecutive game by the score indicated above. About 400 fans witnessed the contest, which was not the best in the world on account of the cold weather, principally. Errors were numerous, Escanaba making five and Rapid River six, but there were also a number of fast and sensational plays pulled off by both teams. Escanaba's base running was a feature, six bases being stolen.

The game was characterized by heavy hitting on both sides, Escanaba landing safely on the ball eight times, while Rapid River did better than that by getting ten hits. Noiden, who started to pitch for Escanaba, was not in form and was obliged to retire at the end of the third inning, after he had been found for three hits, which with a base on balls and an error gave the Rapids three of their six runs. Nelson, who succeeded Noiden, pitched good ball in all but the seventh inning, when three hits and as many runs were scored off him and his teammates.

Escanaba Given a Scare.
White, who was on the mound for Rapid River, also got bumps good and hard and was relieved in the sixth inning by Devet, who did better.

In the fourth inning the score stood 3 to 2 in favor of Rapid River, but in the fifth Escanaba took the lead and maintained it to the end, although the local team was given a score in the

TAKEN TO HIS OLD HOME FOR BURIAL

Remains of James McWilliams of Gladstone, Victim of Fatal Accident, Now Rests in Grave at St. Charles, Ill.—Aged Parents Survive—Of Local Interest.

The remains of James McWilliams, who died at Gladstone from injuries received in a peculiar accident, as previously noted in The Mirror, were taken to St. Charles, Ill., for interment. Mr. McWilliams' brother, David McWilliams, and a nephew took charge of the body. A brief funeral service was held in the M. E. church. Mr. McWilliams was fifty-nine years old and had always remained single. His aged parents, Mr. and Mrs. David McWilliams, are living at St. Charles, as well as two sisters, Mrs. R. B. Jennings and Miss Elizabeth McWilliams, and his brother David. Another brother, William, is in Minto, Minn. In its obituary notice of Mr. McWilliams, The Gladstone Delta had the following, which will be read with interest by the many Escanaba friends of the decedent:

"Without a family here, or any fraternal affiliations, Mr. McWilliams enjoyed a wide circle of friends. He came here in 1887, with the town, and until the day of his death was one of its most public-spirited citizens, holding various positions at different times, as member of the water board, street commissioner, and other posts. He was a man of indefatigable industry and of great mechanical skill, having resigned as foreman of the Northwestern shops in Escanaba to come here. One relic of these days is a perfect miniature locomotive, made by himself. He erected Gladstone's first opera house, and after its destruction, a handsome brick block in its place. A man, though eccentric and independent in a marked degree, the soul of honor, always willing to assist his neighbors freely to the extent of his powers, he will long be missed by the people of Gladstone."

PRESIDENT TAFT TO DEDICATE MONUMENT

The editor of The Mirror acknowledges the receipt of an invitation from the Jackson Chamber of Commerce to be present at the dedication of a monument by the president of the United States at Jackson on the afternoon of June 4. President Taft will arrive in Jackson at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon of the day noted and at three o'clock the unveiling of the monument will take place beneath the remaining oaks of the grove where the Republican party was organized July 6, 1854. The addresses will be made at Keweenaw park, where President Taft and other notables will speak.

ADJOURNMENT TAKEN IN SCHWITZ CASE

The disbarment trial of A. E. Schwitz was adjourned at Marinette Saturday until May 31. It will take about four days longer to conclude the testimony and arguments. Judge Stevens was called home by important duties there and will not be able to resume until the time stated.

The state introduced Saturday testimony on charge number four which accused the defendant of uttering a forged lease. Attorney Kirkland testified for the state in the morning. The defense began with its witnesses on charges three and four in the morning. Miss Elizabeth Schwitz, sister of the defendant, and John Hennis, a farmer, were placed on the stand.

SPECIAL SERVICE FOR KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS

Knights Attend First Methodist Church in a Body and Listen to An Appropriate Sermon By Rev. Frederick Spence Just Before He Departs for England.

Sunday evening the First Methodist church was filled to its capacity with worshippers, among whom were a large number of the members of the Escanaba lodge of the Knights of Pythias. The service was not only a special one held in commemoration of the forty-sixth anniversary of the Knights of Pythias, but it was also the last conducted by Rev. Frederick Spence, pastor of the church, prior to the departure of himself and family for a visit in England. In fact, Mr. Spence and his family left immediately after the service and following an exchange of farewell greetings.

Before preaching his sermon dealing with Pythianism, Mr. Spence spoke feelingly of his departure and expressed the thanks of himself and his family and of his dear old mother in England for the kindness of the friends whose generosity had made the coming visit a possibility. He hoped he would also be able to show his appreciation and to reciprocate with something more than words upon his return. He urged the members of his congregation to continue in their religious duties and to give all the aid possible to Rev. E. W. Frazee of Bellevue, Mich., who is to have pastoral charge of the church during Mr. Spence's absence.

Mr. Spence in his sermon spoke particularly with reference to the spirit of friendship as practiced by the Knights of Pythias. He related the well known story of Damon and Pythias and drew therefrom a powerful moral lesson. True friendship such as was exemplified by Damon and Pythias, said Mr. Spence, must contain at least three cardinal virtues—sympathy, service and sacrifice. The greatest of these is sympathy, without which real friendship cannot exist. Service and sacrifice are almost equally essential and all three were exemplified in their perfection by Jesus Christ as well as by Damon and Pythias.

Mr. Spence was at his best and every word of his sermon apparently found lodgment in the receptive minds and hearts of his hearers.

The service was enriched by special music, particularly enjoyable numbers being an organ and violin prelude by Mrs. Brace and Mr. Kiest and a duet by Mrs. A. P. Smith and Mr. Spence.

At the conclusion of the services all of those present remained a short time to bid Mr. and Mrs. Spence goodbye, best wishes for a pleasant voyage across the Atlantic, a happy visit in England and a safe return to Escanaba.

COMMENDATION FOR JUDGE FLANNIGAN

Marquette Mining Journal: And, it may also be stated, Judge Flannigan's attitude in relation to the liquor law is one that meets with the approval of the great majority of people in this county. If Judge Flannigan had been on the bench a little sooner there would probably have been no local option elections in the counties of his circuit.

EXTENSIVE FAIR BUILDING PLANS

Building plans involving an outlay of $100,000 are now under way on the state fair grounds at Detroit. Among the new buildings already approved, is an immense automobile building, 175x275 feet, of two floors; the first unit of the machinery hall, to be 75 300 feet; a new dairy building and possibly a new administration building.

These improvements to the state fair plant were made necessary by the increasing number of exhibitors in the various department, and visitors to the state fair this year will feel a justifiable pride in the improved appearance of the grounds.

SERIOUS RUNAWAY IS NARROWLY AVERTED

Yesterday afternoon, after the ball game at Rapid River, a serious accident was narrowly averted on the road between Rapid River and Kipling, when a horse driven by a Mr. Hannigan became frightened and attempted to run away. So desperate were the efforts of the animal to bolt that it jumped clear through its harness and the buggy to which it was attached and which contained Mr. Hannigan, his wife and his sister-in-law was almost upset. A young man in the automobile party volunteered to patch up the harness and drive the frightened horse to Kipling and he succeeded in doing this. The party in the buggy were given seats in the auto which frightened the horse and taken to their home.

BUSH FIRE CASE IS PUT OFF TO MAY 31

An adjournment of the case of the people vs. Octave LeDuc, charged with having maliciously and carelessly set brush fires in the vicinity of Cornell, thereby endangering the property of other people, was continued in Justice Linden's court today until May 31. It was set for trial tomorrow, but important witnesses will be unable to be here at that time. LeDuc is at liberty under his own recognizance.

CREATES A RUMPUS; TEN DAYS IN JAIL

In Justice Linden's court this morning Orrin Tobias was found guilty of disorderly conduct and was sentenced to a term of ten days in the county jail as he was unable to pay a fine of $5 and costs. Tobias and another man created a disturbance in the New Fayette house Saturday night. The other man left the place when ordered to do so, but Tobias stayed and continued his disturbance until an officer was called and he was placed under arrest.

VOTING TODAY FOR CHARTER COMMISSION

Although There are Practically Two Tickets in the Field, the Voting is Light—Some Candidates Nominated by Second Convention Decline to Run—Details.

Today a special election is being held in Escanaba for the purpose of selecting the members of the commission which is to be given the task of preparing a revision of the city charter. Although there are practically two tickets in the field, the voting in the several wards is light and the indications are that the total vote cast when the polls close at five o'clock will not be heavy.

As noted in The Mirror Saturday, one ticket consists of the candidates nominated at a convention of committees representing the common council, the Escanaba Business Men's association and the Trades and Labor council, and the other is made up of men chosen at another convention said to have been held on May 17. It is understood, however, that most of the candidates named by the latter convention declined to run and will refuse to qualify if elected.

The withdrawal of M. J. Ryan as one of the candidates for commissioner at large and the substitution of Henry J. Wilke in his place on the last-mentioned ticket was noted in these columns Saturday afternoon. Later, A. P. Smith, another candidate for commissioner at large, absolutely refused to accept the nomination and his name therefore does not appear on the ticket, which contains only the nominees for commissioners at large, as follows: Hon. John Power, John Richardson, John Cummins, Henry Wilke and Benjamin MacKillean. It is also said that Mr. MacKillean will not qualify to serve if he is elected. The names of the ward candidates do not appear on the ticket, the board of election commissioners having decided that under the law their nomination by both city conventions was irregular and probably illegal. Voting for the ward candidates is therefore being done by "stickers."

The candidates chosen by the committees are almost sure to be elected. At least four of them are, for they were selected by both conventions, and two of the others on the joint committee ticket are almost equally sure of election. However, the citizens are voting for whom they choose and the result will not be positively known until the votes are counted.

The action of those who endeavored to spring a second ticket for charter revision commissioners almost at the last moment has stirred up considerable feeling, for it was the great aim of those who were instrumental in nominating the joint committee ticket to keep the entire matter out of politics and make the election a purely non-partisan affair.

AERONAUT TUMBLES TWO THOUSAND FEET

Pittsburg, Pa., May 23.—Oscar Leroy fell two thousand feet at Ellwood, Pa., and his only injury was a broken leg, Leroy, who is an aeronaut with a circus, made a balloon ascent when he cut loose his parachute which had been soaked by a recent rain, the umbrella-like contrivance refused to open until the aeronaut had almost reached the ground. An hour later, while the performance was in progress, a grandstand collapsed, carrying down many women and children. A section of the tent fell over the struggling people, but none sustained serious injuries.

CAIRO, ILLINOIS, IS STRUCK BY TORNADO

Cairo, Ill., May 23.—A tornado which struck Cairo at 6:40 p. m. Sunday demolished four houses, damaged a dozen ore and destroyed several barns, aside from tearing up many large trees. No fatalities are reported. One woman was badly bruised and several persons were slightly injured. The house occupied by Henry Smith was lifted from its foundation, carried fifty feet southward and landed bottom-side up. Mrs. Smith

INFERNAL MACHINE FOUND ON A PORCH

Omaha Police Suspect Fiendish Plot to Murder—Suit Case Filled With Dynamite Discovered, Ready to Explode—Police-man "Drowns" a Bomb.

Omaha, Neb., May 23.—An infernal machine was discovered Sunday afternoon on the porch of the residence of Thomas Dennison. Frank Eadman was arrested as a suspect. Dennison said that Eadman stated some time ago that he would murder Dennison.

The infernal machine was in the form of a suit case, containing two compartments. In one, twenty-four half-pound sticks of dynamite were found, while in the other, with the barrel so placed as to fire into the dynamite, was fastened a loaded revolver.

Children Ignorant of Peril.
The suit case was fastened with a string tied to the porch. The belief is that the dynamite was intended to be exploded through the agency of the string and the revolver when the suit case would be lifted from the porch.

Dennison's little daughter and her school mate had tried to lift the suit case during the afternoon, but, failing, because of its weight, the incident attracted Dennison's attention and three children were in the house, and Mrs. Smith was painfully bruised, while the children were slightly injured. The home of Arthur Linguist was carried 500 feet and landed badly twisted. The occupants escaped with slight injuries. While the members of the family of William Wise were at supper, the storm lifted the roof off. A large barn was carried 200 feet and landed on a coal shed. Other houses lost porches and several were unroofed. The tornado appeared to be 100 feet wide.

GOVERNMENT IS NOW AFTER LUMBER TRUST

(By Associated Press.)
Washington, D. C., May 23.—The department of justice is investigating the price of lumber in the United States, with a view to determining whether the so-called lumber trust may be reached by the Sherman anti-trust law on the ground of its being a combination in restraint of trade.

GOOD SUPPER IS SURE TO BE SERVED

All the plans for the supper to be given by the ladies of St. Anne's church have been perfected and nothing will hinder the arrangements that have been made to hold the supper in the hall next Wednesday evening. An elaborate menu has been prepared and as the reputations of the women of that church as cooks is well known it is not necessary for The Mirror to say how good the supper is going to be.

He notified the police, the cord was cut and the grip was removed to a vacant lot, where it was opened. Dennison has been a man of considerable prominence in local politics.

Policeman Is a Hero.
New York, May 23.—Policeman Edward Mahoney risked his life Saturday by seizing a bomb with a lighted fuse and dipping it into a puddle of water in the street. His act saved about two hundred men from possible death or injury.

When Salvatore Maculoso, a barber who works in a shop on the first floor of a Bowery lodging house, went to the place to open it he saw the bomb. He knew that Tony Geroll, owner of the barber shop, had been receiving blackhand letters and he stood petrified with fright.

Maculoso could not speak, but pointed at the sputtering thing under the basement door. Mahoney tried to stamp out the fuse, but failing, because of its weight, the incident attracted Dennison's attention.

SENSATION SPRUNG IN SUGAR FRAUD CASE

Man Convicted of Underweighing Sugar and Supposed to Be Serving Sentence in Penitentiary is Announced to Have Been Pardoned by President—He Testifies.

(By Associated Press.)
New York, May 23.—When the trial of Secretary Heike of the American Sugar Refining company, was opened today the government called as its first witness Oliver Spitzer, who was convicted for underweighing sugar and was supposed to be serving his sentence in the penitentiary.

The defense objected strongly on the ground that Spitzer being a convict should not be permitted to testify. The government's attorney created a sensation when he announced that Spitzer has been pardoned by the president.

Spitzer then told how scales were manipulated so as to underweigh sugar, and of how employees were warned by a system of signal lights of the approach of government officials.

A RIDICULOUS HABIT.

There have been Americans who have recognized the evil of treating, and have sought to provide a remedy. Thirty years ago the legislature of Wisconsin enacted an anti-treat law, but it was pronounced unconstitutional—an infringement upon personal liberty—and perhaps it was, says Milwaukee Wisconsin. At about the same time Henry Ward Beecher proposed that instead of considering bibulosity as the standard, Americans feeling kindly disposed to their friends should adopt some other formula than the hackneyed, stereotyped, moss-grown invitation, "come in and have a drink." He saw no reason why men feeling the impulse to buy should not drag their companions up the steps of the postoffice and say, "come and have a stamp," or take them into dry goods stores and treat them to neckties or suspenders. The Henry Ward Beecher plan failed to work because the average American is too independent to let anyone place him under obligation by contributing to his support. The average American, who would resent the offer of a friend to buy him a thing he needs, will let his friend buy him a drink which he does not need and often does not want. And having taken the drink which he does not want, the average American will insist on buying a drink for his friend, who does not want it, and for all his other acquaintances who may happen to be standing at the bar, many of whom may be convinced that they have had as many as they need, but who, when they have accepted a treat, will insist upon treating, and buy another round, which nobody desires, but which everybody drinks, and which serves as a starter to more treating.

United States marines in the uniform of their country have been denied admission to a theater in Washington. This is in line with the indefensible action of managers of places of public amusement elsewhere, who have excluded soldiers, sailors and marines of the United States. But the matter is aggravated by the Washington happening. The national capital is under federal jurisdiction, the men engaged in theatrical and other business there are protected by the laws of a government part of which is represented by the service in which the marines are engaged and refusal to admit the men simply because they wear uniforms is in a sense an affront to the government itself. There should be a way to teach offenders better manners and more patriotism.

France is having trouble with the food question, also. It is related in a dispatch from Paris that a grocer in that city has been convicted of violating pure food requirements. He sold eggs marked "fresh," "new-laid" and "today's." There was a suspicion that all were of about the same date, and as it was proved that "today's" came from Russia there did not seem to be much doubt of which to get the accused the benefit. So he was punished accordingly. The old country has something which is quite as objectionable as the American cold storage system, at least when it comes to eggs.

The Duke of Orleans has issued a manifesto predicting the early death of the French republic and indicating his readiness to be king. But royal manifestoes do not "go" as they one did in France, and the foundations of the present government do not appear to have been seriously jarred by the Duke's proclamation. Recent experiences in some old world countries shows that it is easier to be dethroned than enthroned.

A Pittsburg widow who was compelled to sell her beautiful hair in order to keep her children from starving has received an offer of marriage from a rich man in Oklahoma. In case they are married the man ought to do the right thing by immediately buying a nice switch for the lady. She deserves it.

The New York 22 year old amateur desperado, who robbed his stepmother and shot up a saloon, wounding a 9 year old boy, had probably been reading that classic, "Red Wing, the Scout, or How Came the Scar on Bobby's Wrist?"

A Long Island surrogate has decreed that a gentleman may get drunk at least three times a year. But what some of them would like to know is how many times may a gentleman get drunk and still be a gentleman.

The demand for babies is greater than the supply in New Orleans at present. Send all your extra babies to New Orleans—this is the season when the stork flies north.

In Berlin a plan is in operation by which seats in the theaters are drawn by lottery. It is a good way to take a chance on the show.

DARING OPIUM SMUGGLER IS AT LIBERTY AGAIN

Old and Penniless, Larry Kelly is Turned Adrift After Serving Term in Prison.

(Special to The Mirror.) Spokane, Wash., May 23.—Broken in body and in spirit by confinement in the federal prison at McNeil's Island, Wash., where he has served four terms, Lawrence (Larry) Kelly, declared by the customs officers to be the shrewdest and most daring opium smuggler that they have encountered on Puget Sound during the last three decades was turned adrift, a few days ago. He is seventy-three years of age his strength is wasted and his nerve is gone, he is without a dollar. Unless former accomplices come to his aid with part of the fortunes that he made for them at the risk of his life and freedom, it is likely that the veteran will pass the rest of his days in the poor house and rest in the potter's field after the has gone on his final cruise.

Kelly's smuggling days are over. He is a broken down sailor whose heart organs do not perform their functions properly. He is today under the surveillance of the customs officials and he will be followed by them to his grave. Measured by the law's standard he is a criminal, but he is whole-souled and generous, ready and willing to divide his last dollar with an unfortunate. He never confessed or implicated others, and he has the reputation of being square with those who profited by his traffic, though he had many opportunities to fleece the men with whom he worked whenever he brought in a sloop load of contraband goods to the country.

Never Harmed Anybody Smuggling always appealed to Kelly as a game of chance, to be indulged in only for the excitement and satisfaction of eluding the officers. He did not sail under the black flag for profit, and it is known that he never fired shot or harmed anyone. He was qualified for master's papers and could have commanded any craft engaged in regular traffic, but the sea was too tame for him. He would rather lounge in his little sloop, scheming to outwit the customs men by finding loopholes in their carefully drawn picket line.

Kelly was successful in many of his adventures between the Canadian shores and the mainland of Washington and Oregon and it is believed that he smuggled several hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of contraband goods, including opium, into the United States during the last fifteen years. He always worked alone, and though deserted when arrested the last time he would not give the least inkling as to who financed the expedition or who assisted him. He said little at the trial and was convicted following a brief hearing and sentenced to serve two years.

Conversation Gives Clue Kelly was born in New York of a family of sailors. He drifted about in the world until about fifteen years ago, when he reached Puget Sound. For a while he worked on sailing vessels then he purchased a small sloop. He loafed and fished. Opium began pouring into the country from over the British Columbia border and for months the customs inspectors searched the country in an effort to trace the smuggler. Finally one overheard a conversation between two prosperous business men at Olympia, the capital of Washington.

"The price has gone up," said one. "How much did you put in?" "Oh, a couple of hundred. When does he get in with it?" That was the clue. The inspector camped along the Sound, played fan-tan with the Chinese and poker with business men. One day he marked a cross on a map indicating a point half way between Point Defiance and Olympia.

"In ten days, at noon, we'll take 'Larry Kelly at this place," he said quietly to his fellow officer, "and he will not have time to throw the 'dope' overboard."

Took His Medicine At 11:55 o'clock in the morning ten days later they darted from the shore in a launch and overhauled Kelly as he idled along in his sloop. Five hundred pounds of opium was found in the hold.

"Are you going to fight it, Kelly?" they asked. "No, what's the use?" You've got me at last," he replied. "But I kept you guessing for a while."

That was the first time that Kelly was arrested. He served two years at McNeil's Island. The second time he escaped on the way to prison by jumping through a window of a passenger coach while being taken from Sumas to Tacoma. The next time he "jumped" his bond for $700, and returned to the profitable but dangerous game.

Kelly has served seven years in the McNeil's Island and other penitentiaries for smuggling. It cost the federal government several thousands of dollars to apprehend him each time and each capture has been but a new lesson to Kelly in evading the customs officials.

Opium Now $50 a Pound Since the United States placed the ban on the importation of opium into this country the price has increased to $50 a pound and is advancing steadily in the Sound country. The official stationed at the boundry says that hundreds of pounds are being smuggled into Washington every month and sent from there to other points in the Northwest.

The customs officers say that acetanilide, a coal tar product, which in a measure, takes the place of opium for smoking is also being smuggled into the country. It is put up in one-ounce packages and is so light that large quantities may be carried about the person or secreted easily.

SPECIAL COMMISSION FOR ISLE ROYAL WORK

Attorney J. A. Hamilton of Ahmeek is Appointed Special Enumerator to Take Census of the Famous Summer Resort—Will Begin Work on the Island Next Month.

Attorney J. A. Hamilton of Ahmeek has received a special commission from Washington, naming him special enumerator to take the census on Isle Royale. Mr. Hamilton will leave for Duluth the second week of June and take passage on one of the boats plying between that city and the island where he is to complete a work which will require several days' time. The special agent has not the faintest idea of the number of people living on the island, knowing only that it is inhabited by hunters and fishermen aside from the government employes, and the latter he will pay no attention to.

The residents of the island in government service were enumerated either before they left the mainland, or the information was supplied by their families when the enumerator called. Isle Royale is inhabited only by the above named and it may require some little difficulty locating the entire lot. Little attention is paid trapping in the summer, however, so that most of the people residing there should be found near the shores. It will not fall upon the enumerator to visit any of the other islands aside from the main one.

Although the tourist season will not open till July still the enumerator will list the names of any early arrivals who have not had opportunity of being enumerated. T his goes to show the determination on the part of Uncle Sam to secure the name of every person in the United States claiming this country as his residence.

Pure in the Can Pure in the Baking

Do you know that Baking Powder undergoes a chemical reaction in the process of baking which entirely changes the nature of the original substance? It's a fact.

One of the greatest authorities on Chemistry in the country found that a loaf of bread made from a quart of flour, leavened with Cream of Tartar Baking Powder, contained 45 grains more Rochelle Salts than is contained in one Seiditz Powder.

Remember, this drug was not in the can. It was formed by the chemical reaction that took place in baking.

That is why so many baking powders which produce impurities in the baking can be advertised as "absolutely pure." It may be pure in the can, but it is not necessarily pure in the food.

CALUMET is absolutely free from every impurity. Food leavened with it contains no Tartaric Acid, Rochelle Salts, Alum, Lime or Ammonia. It is chemically correct.

CALUMET is the only high-grade baking powder sold at a moderate price. Do not confuse it with the cheap and big can kinds, or the high-priced Trust brands. It stands alone.

STEEL TRUST FLEET NOW USES CHECKS

Claimed That the Purpose of the Plan is to Make it Difficult for Strikebreakers to Get Cash Until They Make at Least a Round Trip on the Boats—Details.

Chicago, Ill., May 23.—The Pittsburgh Steamship company, better known as the Steel Trust fleet, has dispensed with cash payment of wage on its steamers and now uses checks. It is asserted that the change was made on account of the difficulty they are having to hold the men and boys brought in to take the places of the seamen who are on strike.

The purpose is to make it difficult for the strikebreakers to secure cash, it having been found that as soon as most of them get a trip's wages they very promptly leave the ships.

The Steel Trust fleet is the controlling factor in the Lake Carriers' association, which now has agents throughout the country looking for men to replace the strikers. They have failed to get anything like a sufficient number of experienced seamen and are bringing in inexperienced men and boys, it is claimed. They are having a busy time because an average of over one thousand men are leaving the Lake Carriers' ships each week.

The strike situation is regarded as favorable by the union men.

Menominee Blacksmith Meets Death Under Most Peculiar Circumstances—Bullet in Body, But No Weapon Found—Relatives Do Not Lean to Suicide Belief—Story.

Adolph O. Janson, a blacksmith, aged forty-five years, whose place of business and residence was at 603 Michigan avenue, Menominee, either committed suicide, was murdered, or accidentally shot Friday afternoon about 5:30 o'clock.

About 5:30 o'clock Mrs. Janson, in the Janson home which is on the same lot with the blacksmith shop, heard the report of an explosion and hurried to her husband's shop.

Janson's wife and other relatives do not incline to the theory of suicide. By some it is believed Janson rammed a bullet into an iron pipe with some powder and then fired it from his forge into his own body.

GIVES OUT PRETTY LIGHT

Beaded Candle Shade Easily Made and is Most Effective Table Decoration.

Shades for candles are among those little things which are not difficult to make, and we give a sketch of a simple and pretty article of this description.

Shades may be trimmed in a great variety of ways, but in all cases a foundation of thin cardboard must be made to fit over the top of the holder, and it should be cut out and bent round and fastened together at the edge with small paper fasteners in the way shown in the diagram on the left hand side.

The top. Round the lower edge a double fringe in beads, and the simple design in sewn should be worked upon the silk prior to its being tacked to the cardboard.

LITTLE POINTS THAT COUNT

Details Making for Neatness and Durability Worth Remembering by the Amateur.

Neatness is always a requisite of good sewing, and besides the fact that durability is increased, there is a satisfaction in knowing that the inside of a garment need not be withheld from a critical eye.

If it is difficult to adjust binding, the edges of seams can be pinked—a method in favor with tailors.

Hems of heavy material can be successfully and neatly finished if the raw edge of just one turn be stitched down underneath a pliable tape of the same color.

When attaching a collar, never allow any fulness at the back of the bodice, unless, of course, there is regular gathering.

When cutting very sheer chiffons, batiste or soft materials, it is well to draw a thread as a guide line.

It is better to shrink washable materials before making them into garments. A little salt in the water will set the color, and it is only necessary to wring out and hang by the selvage on the line.

When fastening a dress at the back, it should be hooked from right to left. It is always advisable to hold all fulness, whether it be of the sleeves or the skirtband, toward the person when sewing it to a plain material.

Skirt braids of worsted or mohair should be shrunken before they are sewn to the skirt. The main point to remember is to hold the braid flat and to sew the top edge with fine hemstitches.

Quaint and Curious. Such curious ideas in millinery! Brown gauze overspreads pink roses. The very narrow old-fashioned hat binding is evident. Roses are dropped upon a huge square crown at intervals.

Our Daily Short Story

A Legal Picture Puzzle

By ANNA BENTLEY Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

A number of gentlemen were speaking of the many cases of poisoning that have occurred in which young wives have been accused of getting rid of old and rich husbands when one of the party, an attorney, told the following story:

"I once had such a case, and it showed me how difficult it is to arrive at the truth when certain persons are interested in hiding an important part of the truth. This withholding of facts makes us see very plainly as true what is really false.

"Mrs. Hockaday was the wife of old Hockaday, who made a big fortune on the Stock Exchange. She was twenty and he sixty when he married her.

"Mrs. Hockaday was very fond of her old husband. But one day Mr. Hockaday died very suddenly of a disease his doctor could not make out.

"Had she been more circumspect in this regard probably the celebrated case of which she was the central figure would have never occurred.

"This is the beginning, where a few scattered parts of the picture puzzle are furnished, but the picture is not even conceived of.

"Unfortunately this disposition of the case did not satisfy the talkers, who still insisted that Mrs. Hockaday had poisoned her husband. She made a statement to a reporter that she would not rest until she had cleared her name.

"This was done, and a heavy dose of a poisonous substance was found in the dead man's stomach.

"It was now plain to those who were so that they form neither a wreath nor a group. The half veil, falling to the bridge of the nose, has appeared.

"The old-time favorites of the garden are blossoming on all the incoming hats; pansies, pinks and sweet peas have come, and the pansies are of purple velvet. Plaits of rafia, of maline and of crepe de chine or mousseline are swathed round the hat in scarf effect in turban shape.

"As to the size, there will be enormously large hats and small ones. The former will tilt over and shade the face, the latter show it, and in many instances turn back over it.

"Nervous and inexperienced Host (rising hurriedly at the conclusion of a song)—"Ladies and gentlemen, before he started to—sing, Mr. Stawall asked me to apologize for his—er—voice, but I—er—omitted to do so—er—so I—er—apologize now!"

amusing themselves solving the puzzle of the Hockaday case that it would turn out to be a representation of a young widow with one hand poisoning an old man and with the other grasping money bags.

"Mrs. Hockaday was arrested and placed on trial. I was her counsel. The prosecution brought out an important fact that tended to prove her guilt. It was proved that she had paid from time to time considerable sums to an attorney of bad repute for services connected with her husband's property.

"The picture puzzle changed. There was now a rich old man, a shyster lawyer pouring out a dose with one hand and receiving a bag of gold from his widow.

"The shyster attorney testified that he received fees from Mrs. Hockaday for legitimate services connected with her prospective interest in her husband's estate, her object being to secure all the property herself and prevent any of it going to any one of her husband's relatives.

"Seeing that it behooved me to exonerate this attorney, who had been receiving money from my client and was accused of poisoning her husband in return for his fees, I urged him to go back to the day Mr. Hockaday was supposed to have been poisoned and discover his whereabouts at the hour the millionaire visited his office.

"By this time the puzzle framers were ready to give up all but a young wife making way somehow or other with a rich old husband and a set of rascals helping her.

"There was a central piece to the picture, without which it was insolvable. One might put all the other pieces together, but nothing would come of it without this central block.

"The nephew was the central piece in the puzzle, and the picture was a rich uncle and a nephew, the latter putting poison into the old man's glass.

"Young Hockaday next intended to poison the widow and get the property, but she was afraid of him and kept out of his way."

Head of Trust (paying exorbitant fare to cab-driver)—Here is your fare, and may I ask if you think you could get me a similar job?

"Nobody should be allowed to purchase anything from a pharmacist without a physician's prescription," said the cautious citizen.

STUDY THE HOUSEFLY; LIKELIKE FEAR HIM

People Have Never Hunted This Dangerous Pest, and So Have Caught Disease-Busy as a Germ Carrier-Study of Anatomy of Housefly is Rather Appalling.

We have always hated the fly, although we have a humanitarian instinct within ourselves, which has made us feel sorry when we saw him stick in the tanglefoot or drowning in the water or milk.

And when we have seen the pesky fly in our coffee or in a dish of preserves we have carefully picked him up with a spoon and put him in a place to dry, not thanking you for saving him but enjoying himself, nevertheless.

We always looked on the fly as a harmless insect and the only time we ever disturbed him was when he tried to make our physiognomy his private playground.

Things have changed; now we sweat the fly at every opportunity. Put a fly under a strong magnifying glass and you will notice that he is covered with thin hair. This hair contains typhoid fever diphtheria, scarlet fever, cholera infantum and consumption germs.

The fly does not carry these germs into the system by biting as does the mosquito when he spreads the malaria and typhoid fever; but transmits them to you by coming in contact with your food. The fly gets these germs by living in filth.

The fly's taste is not delicate and the only time he visits your house is when he wants some desert in the way of custard pie, milk or fruit, and after he has left your table he goes back to diseased matter and sticks to exposed surfaces.

Flies get many of their germs through the proboscis through which they feed. These are connected with an extremely active salivary gland capable of pouring out a large quantity of saliva, which a fly projects against a dry surface, swallowing the subsequent solution.

Naturally, solid particles, living organisms parasites and eggs small enough, may pass into the digestive tube. Bacilli of different types and eggs of the menatodes have been found in the tract and defecations. The particles remain in the tract from twelve to twenty three days.

Digestive secretions do not harm the fly, as organisms will not only pass through alive, but increase in numbers in transit.

There must be some absorption of the toxins of bacilli for after the flies indulge in the plague and anthrax bacilli, they die in large numbers.

Moral:—Do not depend upon plague and anthrax germs to kill the fly, but keep the place clean, and you will not have flies.

NEW PLAN FOR GOOD ROADS SUGGESTED

Spokane, Wash., May 23.—Maintaining the public highways by a tax of $1 for each horse power of all automobiles, trucks and motorcycles operated in the state, is advocated by Gov. Marion E. Hay in a letter to J. A. Perry, secretary of the Spokane County Good Roads association.

Owners of cars are generally in favor of the tax, the importance of which will be brought to the attention of the legislature at its next session. Licenses for 3,748 motor vehicles, with a total of $3,316 horse power, were issued for the year ending April 30. This would bring $3,316 into the roads fund, or more than enough to maintain all the existing roads and those under construction, thus leaving a balance to expend on highways which are without care of any kind, because the present laws make no provision for such work. Officers of the various good roads associations in Washington are keenly interested in the proposed law and will do everything possible to secure its enactment. Governor Hay suggests that the moneys collected by taxation be disbursed to the various counties by the secretary of state.

The Wars of Our Country.

XLIX.—The Modoc War. A Settler's Barbarism.

By Albert Payson Tappan

THE name of "Modoc Jack" today is forgotten. A generation ago it was almost as well known throughout America, and especially in the far west, as that of the president himself. Here is Jack's story:

The Modocs were a troublesome Indian tribe belonging to the Klamath Nation and living in California. The name "Modoc" means "enemy," and the tribe won it fairly. They were ever at war, at first with other Klamath tribes, later with the white settlers.

In 1852 one of these settlers, Benjamin Wright by name, hit on a plan to avenge himself for wrongs suffered at the tribe's hands. He invited forty-six Modocs to a banquet and, having plied them with liquor (to which they were unaccustomed) until they were helpless, murdered forty-one of them.

This barbarous act, worthy of the lowest savage mind, was never forgotten by the Indians. They retaliated by a series of outrages that dragged on intermittently for twelve years.

Then, by treaty, the Modocs were sent to the Klamath agency, or reservation, and for a time there was peace. But the reservation was barren and almost void of game and fish. The tribe could not eke out a living there. The government agents and local traders defrauded them. The other Klamaths took frequent occasion to molest them.

This went on until a chief known as Captain Jack collected an array of braves and went on the warpath. Jack had already made himself feared by the more peaceful natives of his own tribe. Complaints had been made to the government against him, and when he and his followers left the reservation those complaints poured in afresh.

Jack was ordered to return with his band to their agency. He refused and defied the authorities to capture him. He pitched a double camp on opposite sides of a river in Oregon and calmly awaited attack.

In November, 1872, a body of United States soldiers, re-enforced by hundreds of armed Oregon settlers, marched against this camp. The Modocs, under Jack's clever generalship, beat their assailants back with great loss. Then, unable to hold his position on the river, Jack retreated toward an inaccessible region known as the "lava beds," slaughtering many white pioneers and their families whose homesteads lay along his route.

The following June troops under General Wheaton tried to dislodge the Modocs from this stronghold, but lost several men and were unable to penetrate to the Indian camp. A second expedition led against them by General Gilson met with equal failure.

Modoc Jack was making good his boasting defiance of the national authorities. The government was for the time utterly baffled.

A commission had been appointed to confer with the Modocs. At an appointed spot the United States commissioners met representatives of the warring tribes with plans for adjusting the quarrel.

But before any understanding could be reached Jack took a leaf out of Benjamin Wright's book by treacherously attacking the government's representatives.

Two of the commissioners, General E. R. S. Canby and Dr. Thomas, were butchered, and a third, Meacham, was badly wounded.

After this horrible violation of every rule of war there could be no further question of compromise. The government pressed the campaign against Jack and his TREACHEROUS AT-TACK.

The Modocs fought gallantly, yielding no inch of ground without fierce resistance. All summer the fighting went on. Little by little the troops beat down their elusive foes, cornering them at last like rats in a trap. Escape was impossible.

In the autumn of that year the chief and his band were caught, overpowered and forced to surrender. Then came the long deferred punishment of the traitors.

Jack and three of his foremost warriors were tried for murder and on Oct. 3, 1872, were hanged at Fort Klamath. The rest of the insurgents were herded without difficulty on a reservation in Indian Territory.

Merits of a Wonderful Device Are Being Investigated at Danville, Ill.—Details.

Danville, Ill., May 23.—Representatives of important interests have been in Danville the last few days investigating the merits of a device to stop loss of life and property on railroads. With much secrecy but with great detail tests were made some months ago of a device which is as absolute in its working as the air brake. Negotiations for the control of the device have been pending at different times and representatives of Pittsburg, New York, Kansas City and other interests have made unsuccessful attempts to secure the control.

Unusual interest manifested at the patent office in Washington concerning this new automatic signal which all agree will reduce greatly the growing sacrifice of life and property on American railroads is because no less a personage than Theodore Roosevelt in a message to congress in the spring of 1907, following the Tern Cotta disaster near Washington, demanded an audible signal in the cab of a locomotive, one that if not heeded, would cause the automatic stopping of the train.

Foretold by President. President Roosevelt at that time said he felt sure that American ingenuity would produce such a device. Shortly after these remarks, the patent office at Washington granted patents to F. M. Collard, a fellow-townsmen of Speaker Cannon, and a locomotive engineer, for a device which practically cures human fallibility so far as it relates to the main dangers in the operation of railroads.

Owing to the secrecy which has been thrown around the tests of the device, few details can be secured but the people who are investigating the matter have made sufficient progress to promise public tests within a very short time in passenger trains and electric cars which will be run at full speed towards open switches and stopped without shock but effectively by the Collard signal.

Absolutely Perfect. It has been learned however that the device absolutely protects against open switches, misplaced signals or the ignoring of signals by engineers. The device consists of obstructions called trips placed on the ties outside of the rail in such a position that they are caught by a trigger on the locomotive. When the trigger touches the trip it sounds a whistle in the cab and also brings the train to a standstill regardless of the action of the engineer. These trip projections or trips are either permanent, moveable or portable. The moveable ones are connected with the block signal system or switches, if a switch is open a trip is automatically set to stop the locomotive and this is accomplished long before the locomotive reaches the switch or point of danger.

The same thing is true when a signal is set against a train. Unless the track is cleared and the proper "go-ahead" signal shown, the trip remains in a position to engage the trigger on the locomotive thus stopping the train. Portable trips may be carried by flagmen of all trains. They weigh ten to twelve pounds each and can be put in a position to absolutely stop a following train regardless of everything. In fog or bad weather, engineers run by flags or signals and many of the most disastrous collisions have been due to this cause. The new device is neither electrical nor of a character which will easily get out of order. It will work whenever the airbrake of a train works.

To Prevent Loss of Life. The people interested who are here now believe that it will solve the question of the terrible loss of life, limb and property which is ever increasing on the American railroads. For the first 19 years that the interstate commerce commission collected facts about railroad accidents, nearly 6,000 passengers and over 4,600 employees were killed. In the same length of time over 1,000,000 were crippled, scalded or injured. Terrible as this is, it is only emphasized by the fact that the danger of railroad travel doubled in 1905 over 1895 or an increase of 10 per cent a year. Subsequent years are also showing an increase.

In fact, so great is the percentage of risk in railroad travel in the United States as compared with foreign countries that an organized effort to improve conditions is being agitated. Those in favor of new legislation along this line cite a table prepared by Carroll W. Doten of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. That table shows that per million passengers carried on railroads in five different foreign countries and in the United States the number killed in 1903 by accidents was as follows:

United Kingdom07
German Empire08
Belgium05
Austria07
France02
United States51

The gentlemen who are here in Danville investigating the new device decline to give any indication of whom they represent, but say that their investigation thus far is so satisfactory that they had determined on further and more public tests of the new device at once.

REMAINS OF MISSING MAN ARE FOUND. The body of Leo Winkler, the homesteader of the town of Lake, who mysteriously disappeared about ten days ago, was found Saturday near Loomis, Wis., on a trail near the Skidmore road. The discovery of the body was made by Charles Hughard, who owns a farm a short distance from Loomis. When found the head of the deceased was resting on his arm and his hat was found a short distance away. The body was well preserved and according to reports, there are no marks on the body to indicate that he had met with foul play. The general supposition now is that while leading a cow home he was stricken with heart disease and died alone in the woods. The place where the body was found was about a half a mile from his own home and about twice that distance from the McVane home. The reason the remains were not found sooner by the searching parties is that the trail is an unused one.

MAY BRING THE U. P. RAILROADS TO TIME

The State Railroad Commission Takes Up the Excess Baggage Rates, Having Reference Particularly to the Three-Cent Roads—Many Complaints Are Made.

Lansing, Mich., May 23.—Representatives of the various railroads in the state still doing business under a three-cent rate were before the state railroad commission Saturday discussing the excess baggage rates which have given the commission so much trouble during the past few months. When the court issued an order compelling the roads in the lower peninsula to adopt the schedule promulgated by the commission, the companies north of the straits refused to check baggage over their roads at the same rate and many jobbing houses have made complaints, alleging injustice and discrimination. It is probable that the commission will compel the three-cent roads to carry baggage at the same rate as the other companies. Chairman C. I. Glasgow stated that an opinion will be rendered in the matter some time next week.

SUITABLE IN TWO MATERIALS. Spotted Delaine or Muslin Will Make Up Well in This Dress for Young Girl.

Lansing, Mich., May 23.—Attorney General Bird's department has sent out the ruling that druggists can not be compelled to fill prescriptions for liquor. He says the druggist must see that the same is written and contains the name of the person for whom it is intended and the direction for its use by registered practitioners. Prescriptions from dentists, osteopaths and veterinaries are barred.

Attorney General Bird announced Saturday he had agreed with the telephone companies fighting the ad valorem tax to bring the case immediately to the United States court at Grand Rapids without any preliminary skirmish.

Marinette, Wis., May 23.—The propagation of wild African ducks, in an effort to make them one of the water fowl of this country, is the experiment that has been started on the farm of Senator Stephenson by Fred Stephenson, who accompanied Cartoonist McCutcheon on his trip to Africa.

COLLEGE CLOSES DOORS TO WOMEN

St. Louis, May 23.—St. Louis University has closed its doors upon fair and timid co-eds because they would eliminate from law definitions which are necessarily frank. Eight young women in this year's class, however, will be permitted to finish their studies.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Velvet Necklet. With the low-cut blouses and the Dutch necks dominating waist styles, women speedily discovered the attractiveness of the velvet ribbon bent about the throat. A distinct novelty embodying this idea is the band made over a thin strip of spring steel. This can be sprung around the throat on the same principle as the trouser guards that the cyclists used to wear. Most of these are ornamented with bows or buckles or tiny pendant tassels and give a distinctive touch to the costume.

WILL REOPEN STATE GEOLOGICAL OFFICE

Hon. Luther L. Wright, State Superintendent of Public Instruction and Member of the State Geological Board, intimates as Much on a Visit to Houghton.

The state geological office in Houghton, which has been closed since the resignation of Dr. Lane, former state geologist, or rather of A. H. Meuche, Dr. Lane's assistant, who resigned later, will be opened again with an assistant state geologist in charge. This on the authority of Hon. Luther L. Wright, state superintendent of public instruction and member of the state board of geological survey, who was in Houghton.

Mr. Wright was there to visit the Michigan College of Mines officially. The state superintendent would not say that his visit there was exactly official and would not talk along that line but he was willing to discuss the geological matter.

When, about a year ago or such a matter, Dr. Lane resigned as state geologist A. H. Meuche was his assistant in charge of the Houghton office. He wanted to succeed his old chief and the upper peninsula was with him. But the board decided on an Ann Arbor man and Mr. Meuche resigned to go into the diamond drilling business. Since then the Houghton office of the Michigan geological survey has been closed.

During the last session of the state legislature one of the benefits derived by Houghton from the junket was an appropriation for the building of a Houghton office of the state geological survey. It has begun to look as though Houghton will get this appropriation about a lifetime—the Michigan College of Mines gets an appropriation for sidewalks. But Supt. Wright said yesterday his board was going to get busy with that Houghton appropriation. In the meantime a Houghton geologist will be appointed. Mr. Wright would not say whom he had in mind for the post.

CANNOT COMPEL THE DRUGGISTS

According to a Ruling Made By Attorney General Bird's Department, They Need Not Sell Liquor With Accompanying Prescription—The Phone Company Case.

Lansing, Mich., May 23.—Attorney General Bird's department has sent out the ruling that druggists can not be compelled to fill prescriptions for liquor. He says the druggist must see that the same is written and contains the name of the person for whom it is intended and the direction for its use by registered practitioners. Prescriptions from dentists, osteopaths and veterinaries are barred.

Attorney General Bird announced Saturday he had agreed with the telephone companies fighting the ad valorem tax to bring the case immediately to the United States court at Grand Rapids without any preliminary skirmish.

seventh inning when Rapid River piled up three runs. The game was a slow one, occupying a full two hours, but was enjoyed by the Rapid River fans and a few Escanaba bugs.

Cole of Rapid River was the star with the stick, getting three singles out of five times up. Gafney, Arenson and N. Welch were the only players to bang the ball for two baggers.

Following is the score by innings and the summary:

R. H. E.
Escanaba 1 0 0 1 3 3 0 0 1—9 8 5
Rapid R. 2 0 1 0 0 3 3 0 0—6 10 6

Hits—off Nolden, 3; off Nelson, 7; off White, 4; off Devet, 4. Two base hits—Gafney, Arenson, N. Welch. Struck out—By White, 3; by Devet, 2; by Nolden, 1; by Nelson, 5. The Escanaba and Rapid River teams are playing the second game of the series this afternoon.

GLADSTONE TAKES ONE

Saturday afternoon the Gladstone team of the Delta County league defeated the Sault Ste. Marie team on the latter's own grounds by a score of 11 to 7. Sunday afternoon the game between the same teams went to but six innings and neither side won, the score standing 1 to 1 at the close. The game was called at the end of the sixth inning to enable the Gladstone players to take the train for home. The Gladstone team had the best of the series of four games with the Soo team, for it lost only one game, winning two and being tied for the fourth. That is doing pretty well and encourages the Gladstone fans to hope that their team will put it over the Escanaba team when the two aggregations meet at Gladstone next Sunday and Saturday afternoons. City League Games.

At South park yesterday afternoon two fast and clever games were played by the teams of the Escanaba City league. The Richters defeated the South Sides by a score of 1 to 0 in a seven inning contest and the Tip Tops took the Continentals into camp by a score of 2 to 1, nine innings being played. A good sized crowd saw the games, which were exceptionally good for amateurs.

The batteries were: For Richters, Welch and Murray; for South Sides, Klinger and Logan; for Tip Tops, Carroll and Corcoran; for Continentals, Hess and Hira. James Mercer umpired the Richters-South Sides game and a like service was performed for the Tip Tops-Continental game by N. E. Feller of Chicago. The work of both umpires was satisfactory.

The game played by the Richters and South Sides will not figure in the regular standing of the City league teams, being only an exhibition contest, but that played by the Continentals and Tip Tops will count therein, being the first game of the regular schedule. Next Sunday the Richters and the Continentals will play and on Monday the Richters and Tip Tops will play.

OTHER CITY GAMES

Saturday afternoon the Cigar Makers romped away from the Knights of Pythias, the score at the close of the game standing 16 to 2 in favor of the former. The secret order men never had a look-in, the makers of "smokes" leading in every inning.

In a game whose chief characteristic was lack of speed the Yankees trimmed the Cuban Stars by a score of 18 to 6.

Saturday the second team of St. Joseph's school was defeated by the Franklin school team by a score of 18 to 4.

Madison, Wis., May 23.—Damages of $1,600 were awarded to John Daley because he lost a leg when he was thrust off a Chicago & Northwestern train while stealing a ride.

Is the Tuberculosis Crusade Losing Ground?

Sanitaria Seemingly Fail to Check the Terrible White Plague. Enormous Sums Spent.

The recent report of the Penna. State Board of Health reveals the startling condition that despite all the efforts being made by advocates of fresh air and egg-and-milk-gorging treatments, the number of new cases has not been noticeably decreased.

This report applies to Sanitarium treatment. It does not take into account the cases cured by Eckman's Alternative—when the disease was in an advanced as well as early state. The Sanitarium treatment has only benefited temporarily, while Eckman's Alternative has cured.

Write to any sanitarium and ask them to refer you to even five or ten cured cases—not those temporarily benefited; but people who had tuberculosis and are today in perfect health. At the same time write to the Eckman Laboratory, 6th & Market Sts., Phila., and ask them to refer you to clergymen, priests, men and women who took Eckman's Alternative and are today well and strong without a trace of tuberculosis—pronounced so by physicians. Some of them took the Alternative 11 years ago when doctors said they would not live 11 weeks.

Could anything be fairer to yourself and those who love you and would do anything to restore you to health? If you are skeptical—investigate us, our medicine, our advertised statements. Write, if you will, to those who have sent in affidavits and testimonials telling how Eckman's Alternative cured them.

Eckman's Alternative is good for all throat and lung troubles, and is on sale in Escanaba by W. C. Ammerman Druggists. It can also be obtained at, or procured by your local druggists. Ask for Booklet of Cured Cases or write for Evidence to the Eckman Laboratory, Phila. Pa.

ECLIPSE OF MOON TO BE VISIBLE TONIGHT

According to the "dope" furnished by the astronomers, the moon will be totally eclipsed tonight. It will enter the shadow of the earth at about 1:20 o'clock. From eleven to twelve o'clock the eclipse will be total. It will be visible throughout North America—that is, where the skies are clear, which is not likely to be the case here, according to indications this afternoon.

Concerning the eclipse, John Novack, Escanaba's chief astronomer, says:

"There will be a total eclipse of the moon this evening. It begins at seven o'clock and ends at eight o'clock, Greenwich time. The moon passes through the southern part of the earth's shadow. An eclipse of the moon is not an important event in the heavens, but the shadow effect is beautiful through a large telescope. I will have an article on Halley's comet in a few days. The comet has a great easterly motion just now. It is north of Orion at present."

FINE NEW CLUB HOUSE IS OPENED AT GWINN

Saturday evening the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co. opened the magnificent new club house it has provided for its men at Gwinn. It is a two story brick building, with a basement containing a tiled swimming pool, baths, and bowling alleys. The first floor has a library, reading room, billiard and pool tables, and a large lobby for other games. The second story has a hall, seating 250 people with a stage; and may be used at other times for a gymnasium. A kitchen is provided. There are rooms for educational classes and gatherings. This is the company's contribution toward the welfare and amusement of the men and women, boys and girls, of Gwinn.

REMOVE TARIFF FROM POLITICS

(By Associated Press.)
Detroit, Mich., May 23.—Removal of the tariff from the domain of partisan politics was urged by Representative Henry S. Boutell in a speech delivered here today at a luncheon given at the Banker's club.

Mr. Boutell spoke in support of the item in the sundry civil appropriation bill appropriating $250,000 for securing information bearing upon the tariff and outlined the change in the parliamentary procedure in congress that must be made by a joint rule before it will be possible to make specific changes in the tariff.
