ESCANABA BUSINESS MEN SUCCEED IN SECURING BETTER TRAIN SERVICE FOR THIS CITY

GET NEARLY ALL THEY ASK FOR

They Confer With Officials of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway Officials in Chicago and Secure Compliance With All But One of Their Requests—And That May Be Granted Later—Changes in Service That Are to Be Inaugurated.

Here is a piece of downright good news.

The delegation of business men appointed recently by the Escanaba Business Men's association—J. E. Byrns, J. C. Kirkpatrick, R. E. MacLean, W. R. Smith, F. M. Shaw and T. M. Judson—to confer with the Chicago & Northwestern Railway company officials in regard to obtaining better train service for Escanaba, have succeeded in securing a good part of what they were after and have returned from Chicago quite jubilant over the success of their trip and its objects.

They were cordially received in Chicago yesterday by W. A. Gardner, vice president; Mr. Johnson, general passenger agent, and Mr. Nash, assistant to the president of the Chicago & Northwestern. The results of the conference were that the Northwestern agreed to soon inaugurate the following changes in train service directly affecting Escanaba and adjacent territory:

Changes to Be Made.

Train No. 3 that heretofore arrived at Menominee from the south at 4:55 p. m. and stopped there, is to run through to Escanaba, making its terminus here.

Train No. 12, due to leave Menominee at 7:35 a. m. going south, is to have Escanaba as its starting point, leaving here about 5:30 a. m. This train will enable passengers going south from Escanaba to transact business at Green Bay or intermediate points and return the same day.

Train No. 116, going south and due here at 11 a. m., to carry a parlor car. Train No. 117, due here at 2:05 p. m., and going north, to carry a parlor car.

Escanaba people are also to have a section reserved on the Calumet sleeper, a section on the Soo sleeper and a section on the Marquette sleeper. Heretofore there was merely one section reserved from Escanaba.

Another Change Wanted. The officials of the Chicago & Northwestern railway named above are to come to Escanaba within a week or ten days, it is stated, to take up with (Continued on Page Six.)

COMMITTEE HEADS ARE APPOINTED

President of the Escanaba Anti-Tuberculosis Society Discharges a Duty Devolving Upon Him by Virtue of His Office—Personnel of the Chairmen Appointed.

At a meeting of the directors of the Escanaba Anti-Tuberculosis society, held at the city hall Wednesday evening, the appointment of chairman of the several standing committees provided for by the constitution and by-laws adopted Monday evening were made by President Ira C. Jennings, as follows:

Committee on ways and means—M. K. Bissell. Legislation—A. H. Ryall. Publicity—Miss Anna Carroll. Inspection and conference—Miss Mary Atkins.

Medical—Dr. C. L. Girard. Membership—J. W. Hoot.

President Jennings announced that he would not for the present appoint the chairman of the organization committee or the members of the advisory board. The chairman of the several committees will have the appointment of the remaining members of each.

There was no other business transacted at the meeting and after the appointments of the committee chairmen were announced an adjournment was taken. The next meeting will be held subject to call of the president and in the meantime the chairmen of the committees are expected to appoint their fellow members and prepare for the duties to be assigned them.

NICHOLAS BRITZ CLOSES LAND DEAL

Nicholas Britz was in the city today on business and incidentally to transact a large tract of land that he had just sold in Baldwin township to H. J. Chapt. The land is heavily timbered and Mr. Britz received a good price for the land. Mr. Britz says that his operations in the woods last winter were most extensive and that he was well satisfied with the general results.

TO FINISH DETAILS OF CELEBRATION

Chairman William Northup of the general committee having in charge the arrangements for the public celebration of the Fourth of July in this city has issued a call for a meeting of the committee in the Elks' club room at 4:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. At this meeting it is expected that the finishing touches will be placed on all the arrangements and that every detail of the program will be adjusted and fitted into place. All of the sub-committees have been doing good work and will be ready to report at the meeting tomorrow, it is expected. The indications now point to a very successful celebration of the "Glorious Fourth" if the weather conditions are propitious.

ARRIVES TOO LATE TO SEE MOTHER ALIVE

Mrs. George Yarwood of Chicago, mother of Mrs. William Hall of this city, died at her home in Chicago early Monday morning and was buried today. Mrs. Hall, who left here Sunday night, arrived in Chicago just too late to see her mother alive. Mrs. Yarwood's death was caused by paralysis, a stroke of which she sustained last Thursday. Mrs. Hall was informed of her mother's illness, but was unable to leave sooner because of the illness of her husband, whose condition is not improving very rapidly. Mrs. Hall is expected home tomorrow.

Mrs. Ole Sundquist has gone to Minneapolis for a few days' visit with her sister.

RATES STICK

PROPOSITION TO ADVANCE WATER RENTALS IN ESCANABA ON JULY 1 IS WITHDRAWN

PRESSURE BROUGHT TO BEAR

Superintendent Hatton of the Escanaba Water Company Authorizes This Announcement After Being Interviewed by Mayor of the City and Representatives of the Escanaba Business Men's Association—Rates to Stay as They Are.

Users of water furnished by the Escanaba Water company will be pleased to learn that the water rentals are not to be raised on July 1 or soon thereafter, as had been announced. Upon the authority of William J. Hatton, superintendent of the Escanaba Water company, The Mirror is enabled to state that the proposition to re-rate the water service and increase the water rentals has been withdrawn and that, for the present at least, the water rates will remain as they are now.

Pressure Achieves Results. Superintendent Hatton came to the decision to withdraw the proposition for an increase in rates at a conference held today with Mayor Greenbush and a committee representing the Escanaba Business Men's association.

Following the conference, at which the city's executive and representatives of the Business Men's association brought considerable pressure to bear in behalf of maintaining the present rates for service, Mr. Hatton authorized the foregoing announcement, and the incident of a threatened advance in the water rates is now declared closed.

YOUNG PEOPLE HAVE FINE CHURCH RALLY

Local Pastor Speaks on the Topic: "An Ideal President" and Rev. C. W. Wolf, State Field Worker for the Baptist Young People Gives an Interesting Talk.

Wednesday evening at the First Baptist church there was a young people rally. In spite of the heat a good company, representing both English and Swedish Baptists, were present. Rev. Mr. Anderson, pastor of the Swedish church, spoke briefly on the topic "An Ideal President". There were three papers and a short address dealing with the various phases of young peoples work.

Rev. C. W. Wolf, the state field worker for the Baptist young people, was present to lend interest to the meeting. In his remarks he emphasized the place of the prayer meeting in the life of the church. He said, in substance, that there must be an expression as well as an impression in every growing christian life, and that the prayer meeting is the one meeting of the church which gives opportunity for this expression. He urged upon the young people the necessity of improving this opportunity.

Mr. Wolf left this morning for Manistique, where he will speak again to Baptist young people.

Miss Nordberg, who has had charge of the millinery department at the Fair Savings Bank, has returned to her home at Minneapolis. While in Escanaba, Miss Nordberg made many friends who regretted to see the close of the millinery season.

MISS EDITH E. ROSE BECOMES A BRIDE

Miss Edith E. Rose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Rose of this city, was united in marriage at Chicago Wednesday evening to Robert J. Franson of Chicago. The wedding service was performed at the Humboldt park M. E. church by Rev. W. H. Carwardine and was witnessed by relatives and friends of the bridal pair, including the bride's mother and brother. The bridal couple's attendants were Miss Elmi Peterson as maid of honor and Clarence E. Rose, the bride's brother, as groomsmen.

Following the wedding ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride's grandmother, where a wedding supper was served and an informal reception held. Some hours later Mr. and Mrs. Franson left on a wedding tour in the east. Upon their return they will make their home at 2316 Monticello avenue, Chicago. The bride is a well known and popular young woman of this city, where she has taught in the Franklin school for several years, and her husband is said to be a most worthy young man. He is engaged in the retail coal business in Chicago.

ESCANABA MAN IS WEDDED IN NEGAUNEE

Thomas A. McDonnell Becomes Husband of Miss Barbara Keoschnor of Negaunee—Church Wedding Followed by Breakfast—Bridal Couple to Live in Escanaba.

Concerning the marriage of T. A. McDonnell of this city and Miss Barbara Keoschnor of Negaunee, which took place in Negaunee Wednesday The Marquette Mining Journal in Negaunee department says:

The Keoschnor—McDonnell marriage was performed by Rev. Father Paul's congregation. The bride was attended by her niece, Miss Viola Connors, daughter of Postmaster Connors and Jack McDonnell, brother of the groom, was best man. Following the ceremony the bride and groom with their attendants, together with a number of relatives, partook of breakfast at the home of Mr. Connors, where the bride has lived for some years.

"The bride is a daughter of Thomas Keoschnor, an old resident of Ishpeming, and she had been employed in the Negaunee postoffice for a number of years, until a month or so ago, when she resigned her position. The groom is a popular Escanaba young man. The bride and groom left on the Northwestern train at nine o'clock. They will be at home to their friends in Escanaba after Sept. 1."

GEORGE WINK WILL LEAVE ESCANABA

George Wink has resigned his position with the National Grocer company, today being his last day with that concern, and has accepted a much more lucrative one with the William Tackaberry company at Sioux City, Iowa.

Mr. Wink is considered to be one of the best posted grocery men in the state of Michigan and has made a splendid success in his line of work. The position that he will hold with the Sioux City company will be similar to the one he held with the National Grocer company of this city, but will offer many advantages in the way of a compensation and chance for advancement. The Wink home in this city will be broken up and Mrs. Wink will spend the summer with her parents, Hon. and Mrs. John Power, and will move to Sioux City in the fall. Mr. Wink expects to leave in a few days for his new field of labor. His successor with the local company has not been named as yet.

SHOWS NEW SYSTEM OF STREET LIGHTS

Herman Salinsky of the Fair Savings Bank Installs a Sample of a New System of Street Lighting Which It is Hoped May Be Adopted by the City—Interesting Details.

Herman Salinsky, proprietor of the Fair Savings Bank Department store is now installing a new system of street lighting on his corner, which he presents to the city as an illustration of the vast improvements arising from a more modern plan of lighting. This plan of street lighting is now being adopted by the smaller cities possessing favorable street conditions such as Escanaba has, and they may be seen in Gary, Ind., Flint, Mich., Washington, Pa., Mishawaka, Ind., Green Bay, Wis., and many other of the smaller cities. Minneapolis and St. Paul have already installed them and Chicago shows them on State street and Michigan avenue.

In the larger cities the cost of installation and maintenance is borne by the city, but in the smaller towns the plan is for the business men in each block to pay the first cost of the lamps for their block. The city installs them and furnishes the current. It has been shown that the cost of lighting under this system is much less than with the old plans.

The lamps are installed about 75 feet apart, and there are two three arm lights in each block and two five arm lights, the three arm lights in the middle of the block and the five arm lights on the corners. The lights are controlled by a double switch system which regulates the lights in this manner. The entire lamps remain lighted until a certain hour, say eleven o'clock after which time the lights are all turned off, with the exception of the main globe in each corner light, which gives sufficient illumination for all purposes after that hour.

In order to get the full benefit from this system it is advisable to do away with all lighting poles now in the city and have the street car wires and the street car poles connected with these lamps, and the poles removed, as the lamps are made with an extra arm projecting to hold the street car wires.

It is highly probable that the Business Men's Association will take hold of this plan and have the new system installed here within the next year. The lamps already displayed by Mr. Salinsky give an idea of the splendid effect of Ludington street if entirely lighted by these lamps and the awkward poles removed from view into the alleys.

Commenting on the move made by Mr. Salinsky in attempting to demonstrate the merits of this system of street lighting, an Escanaba business man said today:

"The installation of these lights is another evidence of the commendable enterprise which has always been shown by Mr. Salinsky as a leader in many moves for welfare of the city. (Continued on Page Six.)

SANDS SIZZLE

BUT SHRINER CANDIDATES ARE OBLIGED TO PLOD CROSS THEM TO ATTAIN MEMBERSHIP.

TWO ESCANABANS AMONG THEM

Summer Session of Ahmed Temple, Nobles of the Ancient Order of the Mystic Shrine, at Marquette is Fairly Well Attended—Business and Pleasure are Combined—Good-Sized Class of Candidates Initiated at Evening Session.

Escanaba Shriners who were at Marquette yesterday attending the mid-summer session of Ahmed Temple, Nobles of the Ancient Order of the Mystic Shrine, returned today well pleased with the time they had while in Marquette, although the hot weather prevailing militated somewhat against personal comfort, and of course the burning sands over which the candidates for initiation are obliged to travel appeared to be more sizzling than ever.

Among the candidates initiated were two from Escanaba, Rev. P. B. Ferris and William Craig, and Supervisor Fred W. Good of Nahma. Relative to the meeting and the proceedings in general The Marquette Journal of today furnishes the following report, which will be read with particular interest by those Escanaba Shriners who were unable to go to Marquette to participate in the affair:

Fairly Good Attendance. "Yesterday was Shriners' day in Marquette, being the summer semi-annual session of the Ahmed temple, Nobles of the Ancient Order of the Mystic Shrine. In spite of the intense heat there was a very good attendance from all parts of the upper peninsula and the usual good fellowship and good time was enjoyed. The business session in the afternoon was very short and the remainder of the time was spent in seeing the sights of the city and other forms of pleasure. One of the Pioneer Motor Co. buses was at the disposal of the nobles during the afternoon and many sought to get away from the heat in this manner. Others accepted the hospitality of the Marquette club, which was extended to all visitors.

"In the evening the Shriners in red caps and other regalia marched from the Hotel Marquette to the Masonic hall, leading the candidates who were destined to cross the burning desert sands by the rough and toilsome pilgrimage; finally find comfort and enjoyment in the oasis of Ahmed temple. After the ceremonial session a musical and vaudeville program was given which was followed by a lunch. (Continued on page six.)

The Card Up China's Sleeve.

Discontent in China has of late taken the direction of riots and displays of threatening placards chiefly aimed at foreigners. An intimation comes from Peking that these demonstrations are encouraged and even engineered by the Manchus in order to turn popular wrath from their hated rule. It is ten years since the last uprising against the dynasty. Meanwhile death has removed the wily empress mother and her puppet on the throne, but the new regime is no more popular than the old.

It will be remembered that the Boxer war grew out of a movement hostile to the Manchus rulers. This was turned into a crusade against foreigners, and the old empress encouraged it until the powers stepped in to help control the revolutionists. Turning the anger of revolutionists against outsiders is a familiar trick in monarchies, and China is a past master at the game. The Manchus parade a broad foreign policy before the powers and a totally different one to their subjects. They hate foreigners when that attitude makes for domestic peace and conciliate foreigners at Peking when outside pressure becomes acute.

Statistics bearing on the number of Americans visiting Europe and the amount of money they spend are interesting, but there is usually a wide difference between the minimum and the maximum estimates.

It is about as gratifying to know that "little harshness" is being used in expelling the Jews from their homes at Kiev as it is to know that when a man is murdered he is murdered painlessly.

The United States cannot sit still and see a citizen like Pittman, the Nicaraguan revolutionist, executed, but it ought to have an adequate law of its own to deal with such cases.

Scientists say that radium will soon be within the reach of all, so it must be that we are all going up somewhere, somehow, very shortly.

THE NOMINATION OF JUDGES IS A PUZZLE

Lansing, Mich., June 30.—How three circuit judges shall be nominated this fall to stand for the election required by law is a question that is perplexing the state legal department. Judge Collingwood of Lansing, Finnigan of Norway and Withney of Oceola were all appointed to fill vacancies and the law provides that an election shall be held this fall in those circuits. The primary law provides, however, that the circuit judges shall be nominated in March 1911, and elected in April, and makes no provision for nominations this year for that office. It is presumed that the convention system will govern, but the point has not yet been determined.

THREE GREEN BAY MEN NEAR DEATH

Green Bay, Wis., June 30.—Charles Okruch, Charles Waldo and Otto Panke had a narrow escape from death when the gasoline engine in the pumping station at the cemetery blew up.

Waldo and Okruch were imprisoned in the tower of the building by the explosion and were nearly burned in the fire that followed. They found a piece of gas pipe and knocked a grating from a window, escaping just before the flames reached them.

The force of the explosion was so great that pieces of steel were blown in all directions.

MR. KERR'S LEGISLATIVE RECORD

Official Acts of Mr. Young's Opponent While a Member of the Legislature

Hon. H. O. Young having given to the people of the 12th congressional district a full history of his official acts during his legislative career, it is but fair that the legislative record of his opponent, Hon. Angus Kerr, should be reviewed that the official acts of the two men may be compared and the people be thus put in position to judge which has been the representative of the people.

Mr. Kerr was elected to the legislature in the fall of 1898 and took his seat in the body that convened at Lansing Jan. 1, 1899.

Mr. Kerr's Attitude on Railroad Taxation.

It was at the time that Hazen S. Pingree was carrying on his great battle for equal taxation of railroads. The average rate of taxation on the general property of the state was not far from 2 1/2 cents on the dollar. Corporations that were taxed on their earnings were paying about 6-10 of 1 per cent.

A bill known as the Atkinson bill was introduced in the legislature in 1897, to remedy this injustice but failed to pass the senate. A similar bill was introduced in the 1899 legislature (of which Mr. Kerr was a member) the first section providing for a state tax commission and other sections of the bill providing for an ad valorem assessment of railroad, express, telephone and telegraph companies.

The regular railroad committee was known to be adverse to the bill and to refer it to that committee meant to kill it.

Mr. Kerr, on Jan. 12th, voted to refer the bill to the railroad committee and voted against referring it to a special committee which would be favorable to it.

On Feb. 28, 1899, a motion was made to take the said bill from the table.

MR. KERR VOTED AGAINST THE MOTION.

The bill was then placed upon its immediate passage.

MR. KERR VOTED AGAINST THE BILL.

To test the constitutionality of the act Gov. Pingree had a suit brought against the auditor general and the law was declared unconstitutional. Governor Pingree called the attention of the legislature to the decision and asked that a law be passed to amend the Atkinson bill, but avoiding the unconstitutional features of the latter, be passed.

The legislature refused to act in the matter and adjourned.

Governor Pingree then called a special session of the legislature for the purpose of passing a resolution submitting to the people an amendment to the constitution permitting the enactment of a law providing for equal taxation of railroad property.

The resolution came before the house on Dec. 20, 1899 and but eight members voted against allowing the people to express their opinion in the matter. MR. KERR WAS ONE OF THOSE MEMBERS.

The senate refused to pass the resolution and the session ended.

Governor Pingree immediately afterwards sent in a special message asking the legislature to increase the specific tax so that railroads would be made pay their fair share of taxes. A bill to that end was immediately introduced and passed the house by a vote of 72 to 15. MR. KERR WAS ONE OF THE 15 THAT VOTED AGAINST THE BILL.

Governor Pingree called the legislature together a second time in special session in October, 1900 and the joint resolution, rejected by the senate at the first special session, was passed by both houses. But three votes were recorded against it at this session. MR. KERR BEING ONE OF THE THREE.

The amendment was adopted by the people by a majority of 383,672 votes.

Governor Pingree again called a special session for the purpose of passing a law in conformity with the constitutional provision which the people had just adopted.

A bill designed for such purpose passed the house, only 13 voting against its passage; MR. KERR WAS ONE OF THE 13. The bill failed in the senate.

Mr. Kerr was re-elected to the 1901 legislature. Shortly after the legislature convened the Chandler bill, practically the same as the Atkinson bill, was introduced and passed by both houses.

MR. KERR WAS ABSENT FROM THE 29TH OF MARCH TO THE 6TH OF MAY, the time when the bill was voted on in the house and did not vote.

Mr. Kerr's Attitude on Special Charters.

Special charters had been granted railroad companies in the early days of the state giving the companies special privileges in regard to taxation and to the rates they might charge for

BULL WRECKS TRAIN ON THE SOO LINE

Duluth, June 30.—While backing down onto a sidetrack near Moose Lake, a Soo line engine and caboose were derailed and three men hurt as the result of a collision with a bull that refused to recognize the right of way to the rolling stock. Engineer Kane's leg was broken in two places, Conductor Hustler's chin was cut and brakeman Charles Bradley has a dislocated shoulder. The caboose went down an embankment sixty feet high.

freight and passenger business. No thorough taxation reform could be had until these charters were repealed.

The matter came up at the special sessions the legislature called in 1899 and 1900. On March 30, 1899 Mr. Kerr voted to indefinitely postpone a resolution looking to a repeal of the Michigan Central charter. On Jan. 4, 1900, he voted against repealing the Michigan Central charter. On the same day he voted against repealing the D. & M. charter and again on the same day he voted against repealing the charter of the Michigan Southern.

Mr. Kerr's Attitude on Primary Elections.

On March 29, 1899, Mr. Kerr voted against a bill providing for primary elections in Wayne county.

On Jan. 31, 1901 a bill to provide for primary elections in Wayne county was passed. MR. KERR WAS NOT PRESENT FROM THE 5TH OF JAN. TO THE 5TH OF FEBRUARY so did not vote.

On April 11, 1901 the house passed a bill providing for a state wide primary election. MR. KERR WAS NOT PRESENT and did not vote.

On March 21 a bill to provide for primary elections in Wayne and Washtenaw counties passed the house, only 7 members voting against it. MR. KERR WAS ONE OF THE 7.

On May 27, 1901 he failed to vote on the bill providing for primary elections in Grand Rapids.

Mr. Kerr's Attitude on Other Questions.

On April 6, 1899 a bill to prevent deception in the manufacture of oleomargarine, process butter, imitation butter or butterine came up in the house.

Mr. Kerr voted to exempt the entire upper peninsula from the provisions of the act. Failing to carry the amendment he then voted against the bill which was designed to protect the farmers and curtail the hold of the beef trust on the business.

Again in 1901 Mr. Kerr voted against a bill to prevent deception in the manufacture and sale of imitation butter.

At the special session of 1899-1900 Mr. Kerr voted against the resolution so as to allow cities to own electric light plants and street railways.

On Feb. 27, 1901 Mr. Kerr voted for the bill to increase the pay of the members of the legislature to $1,000.

On May 22, 1901, Mr. Kerr voted against a bill taxing the Pullman company.

On Feb. 6, 1901, Mr. Kerr was absent when the important bill regulating the employment of women and children in factories was passed. Mr. Kerr was absent on April 24 when the bill for the protection of coal miners was passed, so did not vote.

There were 106 days in the session of 1910. Mr. Kerr was present 27 days. Mr. Kerr drew pay for that session as follows: per diem, $780.00; Mileage, $106.50; stationery, $5.00—total $891.50 for 27 days attendance.—adv.

ONCE A BROADWAY SPORT, NOW BELBOY

New York, June 30.—It is a big jump from being a Broadway "sport," with a pocketful of money to lend to friends, to be working as humble bell-boy in the Hotel Frederick in West Fifty-sixth street. But that is the descent taken by Aubrey Moore, a young Englishman of good family, within eight months after he landed in New York with about $30,000 in his pockets.

Aubrey Moore is the grandson of Thomas Moore of Glasgow, a shoe manufacturer, who died a few years ago and left several millions of dollars to be divided among his three sons. One of these sons was Robert F. Moore, Aubrey's father. When Robert died, Aubrey came in for some of the money.

Aubrey decided he wished to see what the Great White Way looked like. He liked its looks.

IMPORTS OF PRECIOUS STONES INCREASING

New York, June 30.—Imports of precious stones as reported by the New York customs officials for this month have sent the total for the fiscal year ending June 30, above the $45,000,000. The highest prior record was $43,502,476 for the year 1907.

About 85 per cent of the imports are diamonds, one-third of these being uncut. Although the number of diamond cutters and polishers in New York is less than 500, the diamonds they finish are of as much value as those cut by several thousands of European workmen, the reason being that the American workmen handle only stones of larger size and of better grade.

RURAL CARRIERS TO MEET IN KALAMAZOO

Delegates and visitors will be here from all over the state to attend the two days' gathering. A banquet will be held Wednesday evening, July 10, and Senator J. C. Burrows and Representative Charles G. Townsend will be the principal speakers.

POISON BERRIES FATAL TO CHILD

Seattle, Wash., June 30.—Poisoned by eating wild dogwood berries, little Jeanette Campagni, eight years old, died at her parents' home yesterday. Norman and Roy Rootnew, aged nine and seven have been in a serious condition, and are just recovering, and four other children were made sick by eating berries in the same patch.

FLATIRON EXPLODES; THREE INJURED

Grinnell, Iowa, June 30.—While Mrs. Ralph Montgomery was ironing with an alcohol-heated iron, the fuel exploded, throwing the burning fluid over her dress which took fire. Her husband wrapped her in a quilt but found it too small and started to get another when she, maddened by the pain, jumped out of the window and started for the well. She was overtaken and her father-in-law Rev. C. H. Montgomery, and her husband, succeeded in putting out the fire, though they were burned. Mrs. Montgomery is in a critical condition.

KEEP YOUR EYE ON THE BALL," WAGNER'S ADVICE

GREAT SHORTSTOP AND BATTER OF PITTSBURG CHAMPIONS BELIEVES INSTINCT PLAYS IMPORTANT PART.

BY "HANS" WAGNER. (Copyright, 1910, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

The secret of winning at baseball is to be found in the first order given to the new ball player. It is: "Keep your eye on the ball." I believe there is such a thing as the instinct for playing the game, but the greatest success comes from quick eyesight and from never taking the eye off the ball for a moment, whether batting, fielding or running bases.

I never have written anything about baseball, and never have thought much about why a team wins or why a player is a winning player until asked to tell how to win. It is harder for a player to explain how he wins than it is to win. I think, however, after thinking it over, that the eyesight has more to do with it than anything else. It is the quick eye and the steady one that makes a man a winner. This is especially true in batting. The batter who faces a clever pitcher is certain to be out-guessed by him the majority of times. There is no way to overcome the pitcher's advantage except to have an eye quick enough to see either from the way the pitcher swings or from the way the ball comes, what is pitched, and then have an eye quick enough to enable him to follow the course of the ball.

In batting a player should stand firmly on both feet. It does not so much matter what his position at bat is, and he ought to take his most natural position, but he must stand on the balls of both feet to get the force of his body, arms and shoulders into the swing of the bat. Every batter has a different style, but the good ones swing with a steady drive, backed up by the whole body. I think there is a lot in the way a man holds his bat. It is impossible to tell a young player how to hold his bat. He must use his own motion and grip. He can, however, learn to shift his feet in hitting.

The quickness of the eye is especially valuable in playing the hit-and-run game, and being able to follow balls that are curved away or pitched away from the plate to let the catcher throw out runners. The batter who can follow those balls and hit them, even if he does not hit them hard, helps his team.

In fielding, the quick eye saves many hits and errors in judging bad bounds. Perhaps one in five ground balls hit to an infielder bound crooked or shoot in unexpected directions, and a quick eye and a good pair of hands will save the team.

But there is much more to winning than that. No player can win by himself. A team must have team work to win at all. I think the big reason for Pittsburg's success has been first that they have played together a long time and know each other and second, and greater, that every man is there to win for the team, no matter what he may do himself. Last year Gibson caught the greatest ball of any catcher living, and he enabled all the rest of us to play team ball all the time, because he was in the team work every minute. Besides Clarke is the greatest manager in the business and a great leader. No one knows how good Clarke is until he has played with him.

It was team work and inside play that won for us, and I think it will win again.

Rube Waddell Suspended. When Pitcher Rube Waddell asked President Hedges for money, Hedges indefinitely suspended "the Rube" or until he could prove he is in fit condition to pitch. Waddell hotly replied he was doing as well as any one else on the team. It is believed Waddell will soon be playing on a minor league team.

Calls Johnson Speediest Pitcher. "Donie" Bush more firmly than ever believes that Walter Johnson has the fastest ball of any man in the game. Donie was struck out three times when he faced Johnson the other day at Detroit. Bush has always maintained that Johnson could shoot a ball across the pan faster than any man who ever lived.

Keeps String on Johnson. Pitcher Johnson, property of the St. Louis Nationals, sent to Memphis for a tryout, has been sold to Dallas of the Texas league. Manager Bresnahan sanctioned the deal with a recall string attached.

OTHER WELCOMES TO NOTABLE AMERICANS

New York, June 30.—The reception given Colonel Roosevelt on his arrival in New York recalls the welcome to Gen. Ulysses S. Grant on his return from a tour of the world in 1873. Admiral George Dewey on his return from Manila Bay in September, 1898, and to William Jennings Bryan following his tour of Europe in August of 1906.

General Grant and Admiral Dewey were given greetings marked with patriotic enthusiasm such as belong to distinguished men whose achievements were on the battlefield, while that to Mr. Bryan was largely a tribute from political adherents and admirers.

General Grant, on his return from his triumphant tour of the world in 1873, the year following his retirement from the presidency of the United States, reached San Francisco from Yokohama on September 29. He came in the steamship City of Tokio and was transferred to one of the ship's boats, which brought him ashore.

Grant's Tour of Triumph.

In General Grant's honor was given the biggest naval parade in San Francisco's history. As it passed in review, cannons in the harbor forts boomed a salute of twenty-one guns. From the wharf to his hotel the distinguished ex-president and soldier was driven in an open carriage and was greeted by thousands of enthusiastic San Franciscans who lined the way. That night a parade was given in his honor and the city was illuminated and fireworks were set off. From a stand in front of his hotel General Grant made a brief speech of thanks.

On his journey east with Mrs. Grant he was given banquets and receptions and greeted with every manifestation of enthusiasm in the different cities in which he stopped. The journey was interrupted by a visit of several weeks to his old home in Galena, Ill.

Returning from his memorable victory over the Spanish fleet at Manila Bay, Admiral Dewey reached American waters on Sept. 26, 1899, with the flagship Olympia. The next day the Olympia dropped anchor off Tompkinsville, and Admiral Dewey was welcomed on board by Mr. Roosevelt, then governor of New York, on behalf of the people of the state. He was next greeted by a committee of city officials and citizens, who outlined the reception in his honor. Mayor Van Wyck visited Admiral Dewey on the Olympia the next day.

Honors for Dewey.

The Dewey celebration lasted two days. On Friday, Sept. 29, a grand naval pageant, consisting of war vessels, merchant marine and private yachts, was held, and on Saturday there was a land parade. The program on Saturday began at 7 o'clock, when a reception committee visited Admiral Dewey on board the Olympia. The admiral was landed at the Battery at 8 o'clock, and there was met by another committee and a guard of honor, consisting of a squadron of mounted policemen. He was escorted to the city hall, and there received a loving cup, the gift of the city. The admiral next visited Grant's tomb on board the steamer Sandy Hook, and later luncheon for five hundred guests was served on board the vessel.

The land parade followed at one o'clock. After passing through the Dewey arch at the north entrance of Fifth avenue and Washington square, which was erected to commemorate the victory at Manila Bay, the admiral reviewed the parade from a reviewing stand at Madison square. There were in line 32,800 marchers, consisting of soldiers, sailors, militiamen and civic organizations. Other features of the celebration consisted of night pageants on Friday and Saturday nights, the harbor, North and East rivers, for miles being illuminated, together with pyrotechnic displays on land and water.

Mr. Bryan was given an affectionate greeting by thousands of his admirers when he returned from his memorable European trip on Aug. 30, 1906, but his reception was not characterized by the spectacular features which have made of lasting memory and significance the homecomings of his fellow-Americans mentioned.

Think of Last Summer—

You can remember days when the heat inside your kitchen was so great you could hardly bear it. With the right stove you would have made a better hostess. Save your health. Don't put up with the drudgery of a coal range. You can have a clean, cool, pleasant kitchen. The

New Perfection Oil Cook-stove

Standard Oil Company (Incorporated) does away with all drudgery of cooking. Why should you be a slave to a coal range when you can have an Oil Cook-Stove that is cheaper than coal, cleaner than coal, doesn't "smell," doesn't smoke, lights instantly, can be put out instantly, leaves no ashes, and doesn't heat the kitchen. With one of these stoves you can boil, bake or roast the most elaborate dinner. You can change from a slow to a quick fire, or the other way about, by simply turning a wick. Apply a match, and instantly the heat from an intense blue flame shoots upward through the turquoise-blue enamel chimney to the bottom of pot, kettle or oven—but nowhere else. The stove has every convenience that can be thought of: Cabinet Top with shelf for keeping food and dishes hot, drop shelves to hold coffee or teapots, towel rack; in fact every convenience possible. The nickel finish, with the bright blue of the chimney, makes the stove ornamental and attractive. Made with 1 1/2 and 3 burners; the 2 and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without Cabinet. Every dealer everywhere. If not at yours, write for Descriptive Circular to the nearest agency of the Standard Oil Company (Incorporated)

RAILROADS DESIRE UNIFORM SIGNALING

CHURCH PEOPLE CAN YELL AT MEETINGS

Chicago, June 30.—Uniformity in signaling is to be adopted on the railroads of the United States, if plans now under consideration by the various railroad operating associations can be worked out. The question is being considered by a committee of operating experts which probably will report upon the subject at the fall meeting of the American Railway association. The committee is composed of committees from the American Railway association, the American Railway Engineering and Maintenance of Way association and the Railway Signal association. If possible the committee, which held a meeting in Chicago yesterday, is expected to inaugurate a movement toward uniformity in railway signaling in the belief that that will promote safety of operations.

WILL MAKE TESTS OF WOOD FOR PAPER

Washington, D. C., June 30.—The forest service is formulating its plans for experimenting on the various woods to determine their adaptability in the manufacture of paper. An appropriation of $44,000 for conducting the tests is available for the next fiscal year. The American Paper and Pulp association has appointed a committee to co-operate with the forest service in making the experiments. Assistant Forester Hall says that a commercial mill will be selected as the place for making the tests. These will be started soon. The first experiment will be made with hemlock, jack pine and birch.

BELGIAN AMBASSADOR TO VISIT GREEN BAY

CHEMIST SEEKS TO PROTECT CHILDREN

Lansing, Mich., June 30.—Desiring to reduce the mortality rate among infants the state dairy and food commissioner has sent out sixteen chemists, whose duty will be to inspect dairies and the supply of milk in many of the larger cities. The workers are under the supervision of State Chemist Robinson. The work will be handled more along the lines of education than an effort of prosecution. July and August are the months in which the crusade will be fought.

BALLOON RIDING IS CURE FOR INSOMNIA

New York, June 30.—Sleepless people, attention! Be of good cheer. A man to rescue you from your restless nights is at hand. The rescuer is Sidney F. Beckwith, a New York clubman and literary dilettante. The remedy is one of the simplest ever proposed, merely take a ride in a dirigible balloon. Beckwith tried the recipe while sojourning in Louisiana and it worked like a charm. Every time he took an aerial cruise he found that he slept like a top the following night. The beauty of the remedy lies in the fact that any sort of dirigible you may have about you will do; Zeppelin, Gross or Parseval type, as well as American makes. Beckwith says it is foolish to pay more than $50,000 for your dirigible.

Jackson, Mich., June 30.—John Aile brought back to Jackson prison missing, the Richland robber who escaped from prison, married and settled down in Moline, Illinois, only to be brought back to Jackson prison to finish his sentence, has been in trouble frequently since his release on conditional pardon. The offense at present charged against him is having in his possession obscene pictures for display. He failed to appear in court to answer the charge and the case was adjourned. Again he failed to appear, and the impression of the court and his attorney is that Allison has left for other parts. He is yet under the jurisdiction of the prison authorities.

Virginia of the Air Lanes

A ROMANCE OF FLYING

By Herbert Quick

Copyright, 1909, by the Bobbs-Merrill Company

CHAPTER XI THE ALPINE VIRGINIA

VIRGINIA, left alone, was rather glad of it. Her desertion of the Shyne's was a crisis in her life. She had acted impulsively in a matter of great moment and needed time for thought. She had taken flight to Carson's Landing and to shelter in the shade of the sole remaining branch of her family tree, full of confidence that she would find there a silver haired uncle and a delicate old lavender aunt, redolent of the old regime and ready to receive her tenderly loyal to the Carson blood.

asked the captain if he supposed she had been recognized. "Ah reckon not, miss," said he. "Just a chance meetin', Ah reckon. She's come to, right o'er the inn," said the captain.

Virginia sat under the middle of the awning, quite in a tremble. The boat slowly threaded the shelly entrance to the bay and passed the wharf of the inn. The people on the quay were craning their necks at the descent of the passengers from the Roc.

"Hurry, captain, hurry!" urged Virginia. "Ah can't, ma'am," said he. "Ah'll hev to lie to a minute fob that boat. Neve' fear, miss; yo' all right with me?"

"Here you see," said a voice from the wharf, "two soon to be discarded modes of navigation—the boat displacing water and the aeroplane floating in the air upheld by gas. The hydroplane must replace the boat; the aeroplane, the hydroplane. I have made a specialty of this. I know. The value of that cigar shaped craft up there as junk, deducted from her present value, is the measure of Mr. Finley Shayne's loss when our big show opens its ticket wagon. Seest thou?"

Virginia looked attentively at the speaker, started to hear her uncle's name mentioned almost in his presence. She saw a youngish man of medium height, thin habit of body and long, thick hair, who was gazing, with every appearance of interest, not at the airship, but at a lady of perhaps twenty-seven years, short, plump, admirably gowned in a sort of reduced half mourning, with her jolly little face turned toward the Roc, her brown hair tousled about her face, her prominent little chin carrying the facial angle forward and downward.

"That talk will do with me," said she, "but you've got to show papa something besides oratory pretty soon or there'll be trouble. He tells me that you and Mr. Carson are the first ever to sell him a gold brick, and he proposes to make an example of you. You're supposed to be in custody now. Why, here's papa?"

Mr. Waddy came down the wharf, combing his whiskers and mustache out in front of his nose with his fingers. As Harrod's boat glided within arm's length of the wharf the lift descended from the airship, filling Virginia with terror.

"I don't think I'll get you another pony, Caroline," said the old man, "picking it to bits like that."

"I'm trying my fortune," said she, with a little embarrassed laugh.

"Humph!" said her father.

The younger man, seemingly recovered from his perplexity, was touching the row of buttons one by one, and as the launch gathered way Virginia heard him say to button after button: "She loves me! She loves me not! She loves me! Hooryay!"

The shout greeted the favorable answer of the oracle. The lady, as if feeling the fingers in her curls, turned and gently slapped the gentleman's ears. The launch shot into the canal and out of sight. The ladies were made sole owners of Carson's cabin, and the men slept with the aeroplane by night, while by day Captain Harrod stood by to aid Theodore, slipping away to the top of the dunes at times to scan the offing for the slimy nosed Stickleback, luxuriantly reappearing with her oval deck just awash, her thin, semi-invisible periscope in air. Having arranged with Reagan for a cessation of the contraband business until the aeroplane was off the stocks, the captain was worried. He waved the Chautauque salute one day, whereupon the submarine sounded like a galled roquet. The captain's ingenuity was not equal to the task of developing a theory to account for her presence or her alarm.

Carson suddenly became possessed of an unrelenting energy that commanded Virginia's admiration. As he told her again of his struggles, his experiments, his falling into the garden of Dr. Witherspoon, his meeting with Craighead, the financial enlistment of Mr. Waddy and of the puzzling messages he had received she became an enthusiast too.

"I'd like to meet Mr. Craighead," said she. "I'd like to feel sure that he can secure a monopoly of the navigation of the air."

"You might form an opinion of him," said he, "by reading his telegrams."

"Of whom?" inquired Virginia, evidently thinking of something else.

"Craighead," replied Carson. "Here they are. What do you think of them?" The first was dated Charleston, W. Va. "Air products incorporated," it ran. "Immense sensation in trust incubator and brooder. Why don't I hear from illustrious co-conspirator? Craighead, the Plute."

"Tries to be humorous," said Virginia. "Let's see the next."

The next date was dated, "En route to Cosmopolis from Incubator," and was unsigned. "To him who commands the winds, from him who winds the commands, greeting," it ran. "Be of good cheer. The train is laid, the gin is set, the dogs of war strain forward in the leash. But is there any aeroplane? Broom end of pipe dream assumes terrifying concreteness. Noble, sir, assure me of thine! Just wire saying you are you and there is an aeroplane, collect!"

"Did you answer this?" asked Virginia.

Theodore shook his head. "It was days and days before I got it."

"Why didn't he send it to the plantation?" asked Virginia.

"I gave him this address," said Theodore. "I—I stayed there too—too long."

He opened the gyroscope globe and began running the engines lightly, settling the heavy little wheels spinning, rocking the aeroplane from side to side to note the operation of the balancing devices. Preserving their perpendicularity, as if of intelligent purpose, the gyroscopes moved the levers of the wing differentials which would accelerate the propeller wheels of the lowered wing and correspondingly slow the upper. Right or left, stern or bow, the depressed area would work the harder, the raised part slower, while powerful rudders co-operated, moving like a fish's fins, even now while the propeller rested. Theodore was getting past an awkward reference to his long stay at the plantation by a painstaking examination of the brain of his airship.

"See how it works, Virginia," he exclaimed. "It knows the levers to be moved. Why, if a puff starts to overturn her she'll strike with the lowered wings alone like a bird. And see the intelligence of those rudders! And Wizzer said she'd turn turtle!"

"And Mr. Craighead doesn't get any report of all this! What must he think?"

"I told him about it," said Theodore proudly. "And it was no time to telegraph apologies. It was a time to work."

Virginia opened another of Craighead's telegrams. It was addressed to Palmetto Beach, "or somewhere it is hoped," and seemed to be regarded by Craighead as very important. "My luck hath turned! It is Craighead Felix now," said he. "Have found a gang of grafters organized to get us grants in no time; will clinch New York by Friday; Chicago already hemmed in. New thought—fee of roads in grants everywhere. Will secure title except for road purposes. Shayne, thy suit sets apace! Whoop! Whoop! Whoop! We've got 'em, we've got 'em! Caroline's dad ready to bust all eight banks to back scheme. You must make good, Theodore. Answer for the sake of divine pity just one little teeny peep! Napoleon Bonaparte Hannibal Militades Craighead."

"What does he mean," asked Virginia, "by all this about grants, highways and fee simple? It's awfully queer."

"I don't know," replied Carson. "Some visionary thing."

"And who is Caroline?" asked Virginia.

"Mrs. Graybill, Mr. Waddy's daughter. Now, listen, Virginia, and watch. She's ready to try."

He threw in the clutch, and the wings began whirring like great buzzes. Faster and faster the wing sections whirled until the aeroplane strained upward on her lashings like a restive horse. Theodore tipped a lever, and she leaped forward, stretching the ropes at an angle of forty-five degrees.

He reversed it, and she slacked backward, as might an eagle repulsed by a foe. Virginia swung her hat and shouted.

"Pull the line on the end of that wing," said he, "and see if you can tip her. Pull!"

Virginia walked gingerly forward, her dress flying, her hat whisked to the top of the room. Grasping the flying rope end, she pulled downward. The wings settled slightly, and then as the gyroscope brain felt the depression the lowered wings lifted as if consecutively rising to a load. It was marvelous.

"Can't you pull harder?" cried Theodore, bareheaded, his hair flying.

"Try."

"Aye, aye, sir," cried Virginia cheerily. "Try it is."

Reaching up, she gulled herself clear of the floor, her strong little form away like a most charming pendulum. The enormous dragon fly, throwing its power into the depressing wing, rode level, with nine stone weight of solid American girl dangling from the tip of one wing—a mechanical paradox. The boat stood in air as level as a ship in a calm.

NAHMA YOUNG MAN IS CLASS PRESIDENT

Charles Good Takes Prominent Part in Class Day Exercises of the Senior Literary Class at the State University—Welcomes Guests and Bids His Farewell.

Ann Arbor, Mich., June 30.—Under a perfect June sky and the spreading branches of the oak trees planted in campus by the graduating class of 1858, the senior literary class held its class day exercises. The president, Charles Good of Nahma, gave the welcome from the class to the guests and his farewell to his classmates. In the class history Leo White, of Detroit, called attention to the fact that few classes have so widely controlled the affairs of the university as did 1910. The poem, by Lyman Bryson, of Omaha, Neb., it is said by teachers of rhetoric, was a gem of finest water. The ode was dedicated to President Emeritus Angell. The class prophecy by Miss Nellie Canright of Grand Rapids was cleverly given. The exercises closed with an oration by Morrison Shaffroth of Denver, Colo. The annual senior reception took place in Waterman gymnasium, in which the graduating classes of all departments met for the last social function of the class of 1910. It was a brilliant function and several hundred guests attended.

WARM WEATHER IS A BOON TO TRADE

Escanaba Retail Stores Now Receiving Belated Patronage—Straw Hats are Leaders and There is a Great Demand for Light Summer Clothing—Everybody Busy.

The splendid weather of the past week while it was unusually warm, has been a great boon both to the shoppers and merchants of Escanaba. The stores are showing a complete and up to date stock of summer goods this year, and the shoppers are taking advantage of the favorable conditions to make their purchases; also the high temperature has created a demand that was previously noticeable from its absence. Summer straws, which were not worn until a couple of weeks ago on account of inclemency of the weather have been in great demand and it is pleasing to note that the local merchants have a most complete stock of this headgear on hand. Summer clothing, something light and cool, has also been called for a great deal, everyone seeming to want something that they can be the most comfortable in, which they are finding without leaving their own city.

GANDERBONE'S RHYMING FORECAST FOR JULY

Jolly Wielder of the Pen Prognosticates Some Things That Are Likely to Happen.

(Copyright 1910, by C. H. Rieth.)
lockjaw to himself!
When the Ballinger trial is ended,
And the jury has said what it thinks;
When the case has been made and defended
With the wonted political winks—
We shall smile—and gads, we shall need to
That feel it as well had been dropped,
And the Guggenheim crowd will proceed to Resume where it was when it stopped.

July is a tribute to Caesar. One day, with some other insurgents, he talked by the Pillar of Pompey on things of political urgency. He was just on the point of explaining the key to some government riddle when a party of regulars jumped him an cut him in two in the middle.
There were Decius Brutus, the speaker, and Cassius, boss of the Senate, together with others insistent upon some political tenet. "The party forever!" they shouted, and what with that terrible slasher, Servilius Casca great Caesar as well had been run through a hasher.
At any rate, Antony found him cut up in fodder for fishes, and begged this request of the Romans, who granted the least of his wishes. And thus it has happened and shall be so long as the Tiber runs by the Pillar of Pompey that Caesar shall live in the name of July.
The Fourth shall return to discover

And what with one thing and another
Regretting we won, anyway.
The cannon shall boom, and the scramble

Aspiring to freedom themselves.
The dynamite cap and the rocket shall remind us of tyranny thwarted, and the valiant forefather shall turn in his coffin to see what he started.
The eagle shall mount on his pinions and circle the North and the South, and the rapid-fire orator stand on the platform and shoot off his mouth.
This latter, however, is harmless in a strict pathological way, but remains notwithstanding an evil we must in due to season ally. Alas, how deficient is nature that might lay this pest on the shelf with ruling that shooting his mouth off he gave the

COUPLE CARRY ON LOVE BY WIRELESS

New York, June 30.—After a courtship carried on by wireless telegraph and communication transmitted over steam pipes connecting two apartments, and which resulted in an elopement and wedding two weeks ago when Annabelle Rooney, nineteen years of age, 963 Washington avenue, the Bronx, became Mrs. James Connelly, the young couple returned to the home of the bride's parents today and were forgiven. Connelly, who is 22 years of age, was graduated from the Clason Point Military academy a year ago. There he learned wireless telegraphy, and when he returned to the place where he boarded on the floor above the apartment occupied by the Rooney family, he rigged up a wireless station on the roof. Here he taught Annabelle how to send and take messages, and this knowledge was turned to Cupid's account when Connelly asked Annabelle's parents for her hand, only to be laughed at as a boy by her father. Cut off from any other communication with each other, the young lovers exchanged messages by wireless when Connelly went back to the military academy to pursue his special Marconi studies. When he returned to his boarding place on the floor above the Rooney home, he and Anna-

THIS STURGEON WAS VERITABLE MONSTER

Crookston, Minn., June 30.—Weight 251 pounds, girth 3 feet at the largest point, length from nose to tail, 7 feet 2 inches. Those are the dimensions of a sturgeon recently captured in Red river here by William Anderson. It is conceded to be the largest fish ever found in either the Red river or Red lake. Anderson was working on the sluice gate when he first saw the monster and he jabbed it with a pike pole that he carried. The sturgeon whirled about in the water and threw the man ten feet from the dam, where he was obliged to let go of the pole and swim. He secured a large rake which is used at the dam for clearing away debris, and when the sturgeon appeared again, Anderson drove the teeth of the rake into its body. The fish made a hard fight, but finally was landed. How the sturgeon got into that part of the river is a mystery.

GOLD MEDAL FLOUR
belle rapped out the language of love with shears on the steam pipes. The rappings ceased when Annabelle eloped with Connelly two weeks ago. They were married at St. John's Baptist church, and immediately he took themselves to a furnished flat.

THE SHOW SITUATION AS IT NOW STANDS

Independents Hold Whiphand Over the Trust, Having 1,634 Theatres in 1,580 Cities as Against the Trusts 134 Theatres in 104 Cities—"Open Door."

A table showing the number of theaters under the control of the National Theater Owners' association, as compared with those under the domination of the Klaw & Erlanger interests, has been issued. There are now 1,634 independent theaters in the United States and Canada, against 134 controlled by the trust. The independent theaters are located in 1,580 different cities, while the 134 houses under the control of Klaw & Erlanger are located in 102 cities, including six circuits. There are nineteen circuits in which the house managers have declared for the "open door." The latest information in the theatrical situation is that Erlanger has sent telegrams to the managers all over the country saying "Play any attraction that you please." This is regarded as an admission on Erlanger's part of the utter defeat in the attempt of his firm to get the control of the theatrical business in America. Erlanger has agreed to book all of the attractions of his own firm in the play houses of the National Theater Owners' association, and to raise no objections to his few remaining allies doing the same, but only on a condition that his firm be permitted to act as booking agents for those still clinging to them and for any others who might desire their services in this connection. The officers of the Theater Owners' Association have refused to grant this concession. They are perfectly willing to give time to Klaw & Erlanger for their own attractions, and to furnish routes for the attractions of those allied with them but each of the managers must come to the National Theater Owners' direct, and not in a body through a central booking agent. This stand was taken by the independents in order to prevent any one man, or set of men from gaining the power that a return to the old syndicate methods would be possible. It has been decided that any manager, or firm of managers, can book for not more than one other producer in addition to themselves.

THE FOURTH MAY YET BE SANE AND SAFE

The fat occupant of the White House
Will lie on his back in the grass
Beneath the green Beverly maples
Observing the aeroplanes pass.
The chauffeurs will keep right on chauffing,
With seeing it's no one but Bill,
And they'll sigh just to think what had happened
Had they flown over Sagamore Hill.
But not every man can be Caesar, as someone has stated, alas! and in the due course of the matter somebody must lie in the grass. It's hard on a strenuous nation, afflicting us all in a way, but we'll look on the brighter side of it, and conclude it is good for the hay.
However, Time flies is a proverb,
And one day, his foot on his gong
And his engine back-pedaling, August
Will come aeroplaneing along.

BIG VOTE FOR OSBORN IN UPPER PENINSULA

Lansing, Mich., June 30.—Chase S. Osborn will receive the largest vote ever given to any candidate in the upper peninsula. This talk of 40,000 majority is no dream and I would not be surprised if the number of votes polled for the Soc candidate will exceed that number." A. L. Sawyer, of Menominee, one of the oldest and most prominent attorneys of the upper peninsula made the above statement in this while here on business. Continuing Mr. Sawyer said: "We like Mr. Osborn because we know the admirable qualities of the man, his honesty, fearlessness and strength of character. We know that he will clean out the objectionable features of the state government and give the people a business administration on economic principles. I find a strong sentiment in his behalf wherever I have been in the lower peninsula."

FEDERAL BUILDING AT SOU IS DELAYED

Sault Ste. Marie's new federal building will not be ready for occupancy on July 4 as had been anticipated and for which arrangements had been partially made. It will probably be the middle of the month before the change of the postoffice is made. The delay is caused to a large extent from the fact that the marble slabs for the lobby were delayed in shipment, and from the further fact that a number of the slabs were broken while being hauled from the freight yards. The grounds about the building are being rapidly gotten in shape and the greater portion of the cement walks have been finished.

SHOWS NEW SYSTEM OF STREET LIGHTS

(Continued from Page One.) and most certainly the commendable example he has set should be followed until Ludington street is lighted its full length by this system. It is easy to understand how the appearance of the street would be improved by the removal of the unsightly poles now used for the street railway and the lighting plant.

FAYETTE READY FOR SUMMER RESORTERS

W. A. Garner, one of the officials of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company, came down from Negaunee yesterday to inspect the work that has been done to the location at Fayette. He returned today and was much pleased with the general appearance of the location. All of the houses have been given liberal coats of white paint and the big hotel has been improved by paint and a new porch. Fayette is an ideal place at which to spend the summer and will undoubtedly be crowded with resorters in a few weeks. The little hamlet has a wonderful natural harbor and is practically an island. Flies and mosquitoes are not much in evidence and the air is always cool.

AN APPEAL TO ALL THE PEOPLE OF DELTA COUNTY, HAVE ONE, WHO IS SO AWFULLY BUSY ALWAYS.

For two years have I in vain appealed to men of means and influence in order to have them check up the iron ore which has been cut in Delta County. One year ago I was promised by a man, without word, that he would make this test long before this and since have I been held out strong hopes to having this done and have been asked to wait many long weeks by an awfully busy man to only be swindled out of valuable time in the end. What is there about money and influence that will crush the man out of some would be men? Why treat with contempt and ridicule men who are men to the core? Why ride rough shod over men who will wrong no man men who will do their duty by their town and county as they see it—who possess the courage of their convictions. Where is the wisecrack so brave as to state that he can see one-sixteenth of an inch under the ground? And then have the audacity to say that there is no iron ore in Delta county? The iron ore is here. It has been cut. How much of it is there? Is there enough to dot with mines several parts of this county and line with steel rail and furnaces the shores of your bay? Several facts speak for a deposit of such depth as will make for a bigger Escanaba and a more prosperous Delta county. And right here is where we start in dead earnest going after the iron ore that has been cut in Delta county. No more appeals will be made to haughty mammon with their overbearing importance.

To the good will and common sense of the people of this town and county will I now appeal in that I ask you to let me go to work for you and to let me give you value for value received in supplying a share of your wants in the meat line. We handle the best and will always please you. Our street number is 419 Ludington street. Our phone number is 956.

Should we fail in this for want of showing up a sufficient depth of ore, we shall know that we failed through no fault of ours and that we dared hand this town and county something more substantial than mere hot air. This town and county has a future with iron ore and its allied industries. Your other raw materials will be a thing of the past in the near future. I have set myself to no small task of helping this town and county into their own with said iron ore mines, furnaces and steel mills, if such be possible.

A sufficient depth of ore will make possible all of the above and to check up by diamond drill said depth of deposit. I shall do my all—my best. Will you do your part?
Respectfully yours,
MIKE GUNTER.

HOTTER TODAY, BUT GETTING COOLER

With a change of the wind the temperature in this city is becoming a little more comfortable and the indications are that tomorrow will not be so insufferably hot. At noon today a temperature of 94 degrees was registered, but the temperature did not hold at that point very long and at 2 o'clock had dropped to 90. Tonight it will probably get low enough to make sleeping comfortable and pleasant.
