

FOR A RELIEF ASSOCIATION

Committee Appointed to Formulate Plan of Procedure in Carrying on Charitable Work Through a Central Body Presents Report and Suggestions.

That there is no intention of abandoning the movement for the establishment of a central organization or bureau for the doing and handling of charitable or relief work among the deserving poor of this city is evident from the steps that have been and are being taken in the matter.

On Tuesday morning of last week a meeting of those particularly interested, including a number of local clergymen, met at the Armory on South Georgia street and the proposition was generally discussed, the trend of opinion expressed being favorable to it.

Nothing definite was done at the morning meeting, but in the evening of the same day at a more largely attended meeting it was decided to authorize Capt. F. E. Plumb of the Salvation Army to appoint a committee of three citizens to which should be delegated the task of formulating or suggesting a plan to be followed in effecting an organization to work along the lines suggested.

Captain Plumb lost no time in selecting this committee, appointing H. H. Allyn, cashier of the State Savings Bank; T. M. Judson, treasurer of the Escanaba Manufacturing company, and William Hall, foreman of the Chicago & Northwestern railway shops.

The committee was equally prompt in taking up the work assigned to it and as the result of its thought and deliberations has evolved a plan which is set forth in the following report or communication addressed to the citizens of Escanaba generally:

The Committee's Report. Citizens of Escanaba: We, your committee, beg to submit: First—We heartily recommend the formation of an organization, the purpose of which will be to systematize and to carry forward the work of relief to such as may be worthy of assistance in our city.

Second—That this organization be known as the Escanaba Relief Association.

Third—that an invitation be given to all charity organizations, institutions, business houses and citizens, to become members of this association, without expense to themselves, with the understanding that all yearling work be, as far as possible, carried forward through the said Relief Association.

An Advisory Board. Fourth—That said association shall be governed by a committee of citizens to serve without remuneration. Fifth—That said committee adopt such rules and regulations as may be deemed expedient, elect officers and serve until their successors shall be chosen.

Sixth—That it would recommend and request that the first advisory board consist of the following: Mayor Solomon Greenhoot, Mrs. A. H. Ryall, Mr. J. A. Stromberg, Mrs. C. A. Cram, Mr. F. J. Hamacher, Capt. F. E. Plumb, Mr. M. A. Haring, Mrs. E. E. Williams, Mrs. W. H. Yockey, Mr. M. Fillion, Mr. W. R. Smith, Mrs. William Hall. Signed, H. H. Allyn, William Hall, T. M. Judson, Committee.

Committee Appointed. Nothing definite was done at the morning meeting, but in the evening of the same day at a more largely attended meeting it was decided to authorize Capt. F. E. Plumb of the Salvation Army to appoint a committee of three citizens to which should be delegated the task of formulating or suggesting a plan to be followed in effecting an organization to work along the lines suggested.

MRS. GEORGE FISH'S FATHER IS NO MORE

Complication of Diseases Causes Death of Ella Morgan at His Farm Home Near Fond du Lac, Wis.—Remains to Be Brought to Escanaba for Burial—Details.

Announcement has been received here of the death of Ella Morgan, father of Mrs. George H. Fish of this city. Death occurred about six o'clock Sunday morning at Mr. Morgan's farm home near Fond du Lac and was caused by a complication of diseases. Mr. and Mrs. Fish were with Mr. Morgan when the end came, having gone to the Morgan home when it became known to them that his condition was critical.

Mr. Morgan was 64 years old and had resided on his farm several miles from Fond du Lac for a number of years. His remains will be brought to Escanaba for burial, arriving here on the 7:25 o'clock Chicago & Northwestern train this evening.

From the train they will be taken to the home of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Fish, 319 Tilden avenue, from where the funeral will be held at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Rev. E. Williams, rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal church, will conduct the services and interment will be in Lakeview cemetery. Funeral arrangements will be in charge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, of which organization Mr. Morgan had long been a member. Besides his daughter, Mrs. Fish, Mr. Morgan is survived by his widow, who will with Mr. and Mrs. Fish accompany the remains to this city.

Mr. Morgan was not an entire stranger in Escanaba, having visited here upon several occasions. He was quite well known in Iron county, having in the early days resided in the township and village of Stambaugh. He was a member of the Iron River Lodge of Odd Fellows and it is probable that that lodge will be represented at his funeral.

PEPIN FUNERAL IS LARGELY ATTENDED

The funeral of the late Theophile Pepin, who died from the effects of injuries sustained in a fall from the top of No. 4 Northwestern dock into an ore packet, was held from St. Anne's church at nine o'clock this morning and was largely attended. Rev. Father Menard conducted the services and the remains were laid to rest in St. Anne's cemetery. Among those in attendance were many members of the Top Dock Workers' union and L'Institut Jacques Cartier, of which organizations Mr. Pepin had been an esteemed member. The funeral arrangements were in charge of the latter society.

LOCALS DOWNED 11 TO 3

NEGAUNEE TEAM FAIRLY RUNS AWAY WITH TODAY'S GAME IN THE CHAMPIONSHIP SERIES.

At South Park this afternoon the Negaunee team won the first game of a double-header by a score of 11 to 3. Escanaba made one run in the first inning and two in the ninth. Negaunee scored four in the second inning, two in the third, two in the fourth and three in the seventh.

Escanaba used three pitchers—Nolden, McDonald and Olmsted—but they all looked alike to the Negaunee players, who secured a total of 17 hits. Roseaver pitched for Negaunee and was found for eight hits. Escanaba made four errors and Negaunee one.

The result of this game gives Negaunee a lead of one game for the upper peninsula championship. If it wins the second game, now in progress, it gets the honor. If Escanaba wins, the score will be a tie of three victories each, which will have to be played off on a neutral diamond.

There is a large crowd in attendance and it is scarcely necessary to say that the result of the first game is a great disappointment to local fans, while the Negaunee bugs are wild with delight.

TIME FOR TRIMMING TREES HAS ARRIVED

Escanaba Has a Number of Trees That Need Trimming—Branches of Many So Low They Are a Nuisance—Expert Gives Directions for Doing the Trimming.

It's all right to trim trees now and, goodness-knows, there are any number of trees in Escanaba that are badly in need of trimming. Almost any street in the city along which one may walk has trees which have branches hanging so low over the sidewalks that they are a nuisance and a downright discomfort.

Especially is this the case in rainy weather, when it is almost an impossibility to keep an umbrella up on account of the low-hanging branches. Tall men and women are even compelled to stoop in order to prevent their hats from being scraped from their heads.

But to get back to the tree trimming. Now is the best time, an expert in tree culture declares, for trimming the trees. He says the sap is down and "bleeding" cannot occur. He warns tree owners against arboreal butchering, however, and insists that the trimming work should be done right. Here are his suggestions for doing this work:

1. Cut branches close to the trunk, and parallel with it. Do not leave a stub. The sap runs in direct currents, just under the bark, along the trunk to the leaves and back to the roots. If leaves are cut off the circulation stops; and as there are no leaves left on the stub, the sap-flow stops, and there can be no healing.

2. Cut off no branches larger than one inch in diameter, close to the trunk until it has been first severed farther out—for six inches to one foot. This prevents the peeling down of the bark just under the wound, which even a slight branch may cause. Always use a sharp saw and never an axe.

3. Be sure the wound is clean. Be sure that all decayed matter is removed. Paint well with ordinary white lead or coal tar and renew from time to time until the wound is healed. Cavities should be cleaned out carefully, all dead matter being removed and filled with a mixture of Portland cement and sand in the same manner that a dentist fills a tooth.

4. August and September are preferred as time for trimming because the tree is in condition to heal its wounds most quickly. Next in the order of preference come the winter months. Early spring, when the sap is rising from the roots, is the worst time.

SLAIN IN STRUGGLE WITH NEGRO BURGLAR

(By Associated Press.)

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 19.—Clarence D. Hiller, chief clerk of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroad, was shot three times and killed this morning by a negro burglar, whom he found ransacking his home.

The murder was witnessed by Mr. Hiller's wife and two daughters, who were aroused when Hiller attacked the intruder at the head of the stairs, on the second floor. The men fought for several minutes, finally rolling to the foot of the stairs.

Mrs. Hiller started to aid her husband, when the negro fired three times and fled. The suspect who was later arrested denies all knowledge of the killing and will probably be released by the police.

The relief fund is $5,326,000 and the invested funds amount to $49,511,000.

After handily winning Saturday's game at Negaunee in the upper peninsula championship series by a score of 2 to 1, the Escanaba team fell down badly on its own grounds Sunday afternoon and was handed a shut-out, 5 to 0.

There are reasons and reasons that might be ascribed for the home team's defeat, but the long and short of it all is that they were outplayed. The Negaunee players hit the ball hard and often and put up an almost errorless game, while the locals simply could not locate the ball when hits meant runs and perpetrated four bingles, each of which helped the other fellows to score.

"Buck" Nolden, who on Thursday was such a puzzle to the Negaunee players that they were shut out by a 7-0 score, had no terrors for the visitors Sunday and in the first two innings they found his slants for five hits, which, with an error, netted them four runs. Monte Olmsted was called to the slab in his third inning and pitched the remainder of the game in such good style that but three hits and one run was secured off him.

Locals Couldn't Hit Ball.

Siebenshal did the twirling for Negaunee and apparently had the locals hypnotized, for at the close of the game he had twelve strikeouts to his credit. Only four hits were secured off his delivery and but two of them were so clean as to be entirely without question. He was wild at times, too, for he issued four passes and hit two players. But even with these gifts Escanaba could not score. Not until the seventh inning did the locals get a man beyond first base, but in that and in the eighth inning they got the bases full. In the ninth they had a man on third and one on second when the side was retired and the game was ended and added to Negaunee's list, making the championship score two games apiece.

The game might have been won for Escanaba in any one of the last three innings had hits materialized when they were needed. But what's the use of speculating? Here is how Negaunee made its runs.

Making of the Runs.

Cullis, the first up in the first inning, hit the second ball safely on the ground and was sent from first to third on a safe bunt by Rains, who immediately stole second. Tallion was given a walk, filling the bags. Swick hit the ball to Olmsted who

ROLLER SKATING IS STILL POPULAR HERE

Roller skating apparently has lost none of its old time popularity in Escanaba. Saturday afternoon Peterson's roller rink was opened for the season with a large crowd of skaters in attendance and Saturday evening many skaters were again in evidence, notwithstanding the threatening weather. And again there was a large crowd last evening and all of the skaters appeared to be enjoying themselves hugely. From all appearances, roller skating will hold its place in popular favor here for at least another season.

WILL LET PEOPLE DECIDE.

The publication of a story in certain newspapers purporting to come from Beverly and announcing that President Taft has concluded to step aside as a presidential candidate in 1912 to make way for Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, brought many inquiries to the summer capitol at Beverly. For a time an official denial was considered, but it was decided not to dignify the story, which is reported to be without any foundation whatever, with a statement.

It can be stated that there has been no change in President Taft's attitude toward a second term since he told a number of friends a few months ago that he would accept a second nomination if his party desired to tender it to him, and if that portion of the American people represented by his party seemed to want him.

The president, it is said, is not considering his chances for a second term one way or the other at this time. From the first he has said that he would devote himself to carrying out as nearly as possible the pledges of the platform on which he was elected for a four year term. Mr. Taft, it is pointed out, does not know how to play politics, and he has been quoted as saying that he would not do so if he could. The fact that he has often in his speeches referred to the fact that he has only the remainder of his present term to serve, means, it is stated here, that Mr. Taft does not feel that he can nominate himself, and that he will not make a political bid for the nomination.

If, at the end of his term, his party feels that he has been true to his trust and has carried out its pledges in so far as he possibly could, it no doubt would be very gratifying to the president to have his administration endorsed. That, he feels, is for the country and his party to decide, not himself.

THE LAKE SUPERIOR PRESBYTERY MEETING

Gathering of Ministers at Palatka Last Week is Profitable and Delightful—Some Features—Manistique To Have Spring Meeting of the Presbytery.

The following report of the fall meeting of the Lake Superior Presbytery, which was held at Palatka last week, was sent The Iron River-Stambaugh reporter by its Palatka reporter:

The fall meeting of the Lake Superior Presbytery held its opening session on Tuesday evening at the Presbyterian church of this place. Rev. J. R. Mitchell, D. D., of Manistique, preached a masterly sermon upon "The Demand for Men in the Church Today." Everyone who heard it is enthusiastic in his praises of the sermon and speaker.

Wednesday morning was taken up by routine business as was the afternoon also. Through the kindness of W. H. Selden of Stambaugh a delightful auto ride was given the visitors, most of whom had never been in this part of the state before. All were amazed at the wonderful showing of wealth and the great prospects in store for the place, as well as the rapid progress already made.

The meeting closed Wednesday night with a stereopticon entertainment by Rev. J. M. Rogers of Marquette upon the Hawaiian Islands. A hearty vote of thanks was extended the pastor, the people and especially the ladies of the place for their hospitality. The spring meeting will be held at Manistique the second Tuesday in April.

CHICAGO PASSES 2 MILLION MARK

Final Figures Record Gain of 486,708, or 28.7 Per Cent.

POPULATION NOW IS 2,185,283

London, Paris and New York Are Big City's Only Leaders in Cities of the World—Many Contend Count is Too "Low."

Chicago Sept. 19.—There are 2,185,283 of us. This is the verdict of Uncle Sam on the completion of his decennial count of every man, woman and child in Chicago.

This is 486,708 more than there were ten years ago, and 1,985,433 more than twenty years ago, an increase of almost 100 per cent in the twenty year period and of 27.7 per cent in the decade.

This momentous bulletin from the census bureau at Washington aroused at least fifty-seven varieties of emotions in the breasts of citizens of the city who were informed of it. Most of them were satisfied with the showing, expressing a growing interest in the improvement of the city, which has kept pace with its growth.

Among the circumstances cited as reasons why the city had not grown quite a half a million were:

Chicago has not increased one inch to area during the last ten years. The suburbs, composed of people who work in Chicago, are geographically and mentally, part of Chicago. They have grown tremendously. The bank clearings have increased far more than 28.7 per cent in the decade. The commerce of the city has doubled or more than doubled in the decade.

The rate of increase is greater than in the case of cities which rank third, fourth, and fifth in the country, these being Philadelphia, 19.7 per cent; Boston, 19.6 per cent; and St. Louis, 19.4 per cent. Chicago has left Philadelphia, the metropolis of the nation before there was any Chicago, 636,275 behind her. The two million mark has been passed.

Chicago is now either fourth or fifth among the great cities of the world, its rival being Berlin, which probably is smaller, its 1908 census giving it a population of 2,048,000. London, New York and Paris hold the first, second and third places.

The world has no parallel to the growth of a city from nothing to over two million within a century. Men are now living in Chicago who were counted in its first census, that of 1840, when it had 4,479 inhabitants. The growth of the city in the last decade has been solid; no annexations but on the contrary a huge emigration of city men to the surrounding suburbs; no boom times, but on the contrary a panic during the period; no great influx of impoverished immigrants from Atlantic liners.

Notwithstanding this the increase was as great as if during the ten years the fifteen largest cities in Illinois outside of Cook county had been annexed. The increase amounts to the combined population of Peoria, Springfield, Quincy East St. Louis, Belleville, Danville, Joliet, Decatur, Bloomington, Moline, Rock Island, Cairo, Rockford, Pontiac, Lincoln, and a few others.

City Statistician Francis A. Eastman and Robert C. Givins, president of the Three Million club, insisted that enormous numbers had been missed in the counting of noses, and submit many reasons to back up their views.

ENGINEER COOKED ALIVE

Seriously Scalded While Working in One of Plant's Boilers.

Hartford City Man Will Probably Die of Injuries Caused by Fireman Turning on the Steam.

Hartford City, Ind., Sept. 19.—Engineer Albert Roush, of the Hartford City Lighting company's plant, was literally cooked from head to foot in the boiler at the plant. He is still alive, but his injuries are believed to be fatal. Roush had spent the greater part of the day inside the boiler and resumed work after dinner.

John Werner, the fireman, forgetting about him, turned on the 150-pound steam pressure a few minutes later and was horror stricken to see Roush tumbled out of the opening, cooked from head to foot, bleeding and exhausted. He is a mass of burns and suffering tortures. Werner is almost distracted over his absent-mindedness and its probably fatal result.

DETROIT TUNNEL IS OPEN

Michigan Central's Big Bore to Windsor in Commission.

Heavily Loaded Freight Trains Are Drawn Through the Tunnel by Electric Motors.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 19.—Establishment of a regular freight service through the double-barreled Michigan Central railroad tunnel under the Detroit river between Detroit and Windsor, Ont., marked the beginning of the end of the road's car ferries, one of the picturesque marine features of the two cities.

Several preliminary rounds were first made through the tunnel by heavily loaded freight trains drawn by electric locomotives in preparation for the new schedule.

Passenger service under the river will be established as soon as the engineers become conversant with the handling of the motors on the tunnel grades. The $15,000,000 tunnel work will be augmented by the complete electrification of the Detroit terminals.

RANCHMAN ROUTS 3 BEARS

Jesse Slaughter Has Unique Experience in Mountain Cattle Camp.

Basin, Wyo., Sept. 19.—While Jesse Slaughter, a young ranchman, was cooking supper at his cattle camp in the mountains, three bears suddenly rushed out of the brush and charged him. He stunned one with a rock and with his pocket knife managed to reach its heart and fell it before the second bear reached him.

Number two rose up and struck at him. He held out the knife and slashed the bear's paw so badly that it turned and ran, followed by the third bear.

BIG STRIKE IN PROSPECT

English and Welsh Coal Miners Involved With Operators.

About 12,000 English Miners Will Strike and 200,000 Welsh Miners May Be Locked Out.

London, Sept. 19.—The Cambria colliery men at a mass meeting here decided to strike. Twelve thousand men will quit work today. The result will probably be that the Welsh Coal Mine Owners' association will lock out 200,000 Welsh miners.

The miners will strike without giving the legal notice, which will render them unable to draw strike pay from their union. The strike will also be in defiance of a decision reached at a conference at Cardiff, Wales, which was attended by delegates representing the entire Welsh coal field. The delegates favored a general stoppage of work in sympathy with the men of the Cambrian field, but the leaders urged the gravity of such a step. Then the delegates agreed that a ballot of all the men should be taken before a strike notice was served on the owners. The Cambrian miners refused. This action, it is feared, will provoke the owners to a general lockout.

ALEXANDRA WANTS ANTHEM

Desire of the Queen Widow Causes Court Circles to Gasp.

London, Sept. 19.—Queen Alexandra threatens to become something of a royal problem. The latest rumor dealing with King Edward's widow has made even court circles gasp. She is credited with the desire to have a "secondary national anthem" exclusively her own, and as Alexandra is the sort of person who gets what she wants, Englishmen are already looking forward to the early publication of "God Save Queen Alexandra," as the song is to be called.

DEMOCRATS HOLD PRIMARY SEPT. 20

Mayor Gaynor Party's Choice to Head State Ticket.

HEARST OPPOSES N. Y. MAYOR

Independence League Gives Notice of Intention to Nominate Full State Ticket—Haven's Name Will Also Be Presented.

New York, Sept. 19.—For the Democratic state convention at Rochester, Sept. 29, the primaries are to be held in the up-state counties and cities on Tuesday, Sept. 20. There is only one notable contest, that in Onondaga county.

There is also a contest in Ulster county between the friends of Alton B. Parker and Supreme Court Justice Betts, the latter desiring to control the delegates to the state convention for the reason that he is a candidate for associate justice of the court of appeals on the ticket to be named in Rochester, and does not wish to be dependent upon Judge Parker. Judge Parker has been the undisputed leader of the Democratic party of Ulster county for thirty years.

There is the greatest eagerness on the part of all Democrats from all parts of the state to know the real physical condition of Mayor Gaynor. In many counties of the state Mayor Gaynor appears to be the most popular candidate for the Democrats to nominate at Rochester. Mayor Gaynor, it is said, will, either before the convention assemblies or while it is in session, make known his desires.

As it is many Democrats are speaking up for the nomination of Representative James S. Haven, of Rochester, who defeated George W. Aldridge in the special election for congress in the Monroe district last spring. The Monroe county Democrats are to present Mr. Haven to the convention as their candidate for governor.

Edward M. Sheppard, of Brooklyn, will have support and possibly there will be delegates there for Supreme Court Justice Gerard, Alton B. Parker, D. Cady Herrick, Representative William Sulzer and Thomas M. Osborne. Former Supreme Court Justice Charles Frank Brown is also being boomed.

There has been no active canvass made for delegates in support of any Democratic candidate for governor except Mayor Gaynor, Representative Sulzer and Mr. Osborne. A bureau was opened at Flakill early in the year under the auspices of Maurice Minton and Mr. Minton's agents have visited nearly every county in the state and organized Gaynor clubs.

Mr. Sulzer has visited many counties in the state and has spoken in many of the cities in advocacy of his candidacy and he said that he had done this understanding Mayor Gaynor was not to be a candidate.

No Democrat in the regular organization connected with the league has the slightest idea what William R. Hearst will do on his arrival in this country Oct. 1. The Independence League, Hearst's organization, has filed notice at Albany that it will nominate a complete state ticket, candidates for associate judges of the court of appeals, supreme court justices, congressmen, senators and assemblymen. Hearst in his papers has practically advocated the nomination of Justice Gerard for governor by the regular Democratic state convention.

Mr. Hearst is unalterably opposed to Gaynor for governor, and his recent cabled interviews from Europe have left the regular Democrats in the dark as to his connection or non-connection with Col. Roosevelt.

BALLOONS RACERS SIGHTED

Three Gas Bags in Aerial Contest Passed Over Pittsburg Sunday.

Pittsburg, Sept. 19.—Three of the balloons which started in the contest for the aerial championship, from the Indianapolis Speedway on Saturday, passed over Pittsburg about noon on Sunday, heading for the Allegheny mountains. After reaching McKeesport, they ran into an aerial eddy, formed by wind currents.

The balloons went round and round in the invisible whirlpool for a long time. Then the pilots shot their gas bags straight up out of the eddy and all proceeded on their way toward the east. Each balloon was too high to identify, even with powerful glasses. They were soon lost to sight.

PILOTS BOAT THROUGH RAPIDS

Capt. Klaus Larsen Makes Thrilling Voyage in Safety.

Niagara Falls, Sept. 19.—Capt. Klaus Larsen has demonstrated that a motor boat can safely pass through the whirlpool rapids and whirlpool, but his little launch, the Ferro, came to grief between the whirlpool and Lewiston.

The engine did not work, and she drifted into an eddy near Niagara university and the boat was pulled ashore. Larsen was helped out and after being placed aboard an electric car was taken to Lewiston. There he was congratulated by many for his daring voyage through the gorge in a launch eighteen feet long and five feet beam.

A Strictly Cash Business

The Escanaba Steam Laundry Co. Decide to Do Cash Business.

We have hereby decided to carry on a strictly cash business, on and after August 1, 1910.

Our reasons for doing so are as follows: FIRST: Our accounts being necessarily small, an endless amount of confusion and expense is entailed to an injurious degree, and the loss in collections and time and attention it requires we can give to our work rooms and insure a higher standard of work.

SECOND: Our current expenses are cash and must be paid when due. The stand we have taken is one we have been forced into and we hope all will lend us their aid.

cared to hear about my doings before."

"Please don't discourage me," she urged. "I am really in earnest. I should like to know all about this new trust of yours. Perhaps my little universe is growing a bit tiresome to me."

"So far it has been all hard work," Wayne Wayland at length announced, "but in the future I propose to derive some pleasure from this affair. I am tired out. For a long time I have been planning a trip somewhere, and now I think I shall make a tour of inspection in the spring and visit the various holdings of the North American Packers' association. In that way I can combine recreation and business."

"How far will you go?" questioned Boyd.

"Clear up to Mr. Marsh's station."

"Kalvik?"

"Yes; that is the plan," Marsh chimed in. "You see, I am selfish in urging it, Miss Wayland. I expect you to join the party."

"I am sure you would like it, Mildred," the magnate added.

Boyd could scarcely believe his ears. Would they come to Kalvik? Would they all assemble there in that unmaple-wooded nook? And, supposing they should, had he the courage to continue his mad enterprise? It was all so unreal! He was torn between the desire to have Mildred agree and fear of the influence Marsh might gain during such a trip. But Miss Wayland evidently had an eye to her own comfort, for she replied:

"No, indeed! The one thing I abhor above land travel is a sea voyage; I am a wretched sailor."

"But this trip on a yacht would be worth while," urged her father. "Why, it will be a regular voyage of discovery. I am as excited over it as a country boy on circus day!"

Marsh seconded him with all his powers of persuasion, but the girl, greatly to Emerson's surprise, merely reaffirmed her determination.

"Are there any women in Alaska?" questioned the girl.

"In the mining camps, yes; but we shermen live lonely lives."

"But the coy, shrinking Indian maidens? I have read about them."

"They are terrible affairs," Marsh declared.

"Not always!" Boyd gave voice to his general annoyance. "I have seen some very attractive squaws, particularly breeds."

"Where?" demanded the other.

"Well, at Kalvik, for instance—your one. You must know Chakawana, the girl they call 'the snowbird'?"

"No."

"Come, come! She knows you well. 'Ah, a mystery! He is concealing something!' cried Miss Wayland.

"I know she is a disturbing element in Kalvik and has caused us a great deal of trouble."

It was Boyd's turn to laugh. "But surely that has nothing to do with her character."

"My dear fellow"—Marsh shrugged his shoulders apologetically—"if I had dreamed she was a friend of yours I never would have spoken."

The dinner was finished, and Mr. Wayland had asked for his favorite cigars, so Mildred rose, and Boyd accompanied her, leaving the others to smoke. But, strangely enough, Marsh remained in such a state of preoccupation, even after their departure, that Mr. Wayland's attempts at conversation elicited only the vaguest and shortest of answers.

In the music room Mildred turned upon Boyd. "Why didn't you tell me about this woman before?"

"I didn't think of her."

"And yet she is young, beautiful, refined, lives a romantic sort of existence and entertained you?" She tossed her head, seated herself at the piano and struck a few idle notes, inquiring casually, "Kalvik is the name of the place you are going, is it?"

"It is."

"I suppose you will see a great deal of this—Cherry Malotte?"

"Undoubtedly, inasmuch as we are partners."

"Partners?" Mildred ceased playing and swung about. "What do you mean?"

"She is interested in this enterprise. The cannery site is hers."

"I see!" After a moment, "Does this new affair of father's have any particular effect on your plans?"

"Yes and no," he answered, feeling again the weight of this last complication, forgotten for the moment.

"What do you wish me to do?"

"Nothing, only for the present please don't mention my scheme either to him or to Mr. Marsh. I am a bit uncertain as to my course. You see, it means so much to me that I can't bear to give it up, and yet it may lead to great—unpleasantness."

She nodded comprehendingly.

On that very night, in a little snow smothered cabin crouching close against the Kalvik bluffs, another girl was seated at a piano. Her slim, white fingers had strayed upon the notes of a song which Boyd Emerson had sung. In her dream filled eyes was the picture of a rough, gaunt, silent man at her shoulder, and in her ears was the sound of his voice. Clear to the last melting note she played the air, and then a pitiful sob shook her. She bowed her golden head and hid her face in her arms, for a memory was upon her, a forgotten kiss was hot upon her lips, and she was very lonely.

At the hotel Emerson found Clyde and Fraser in Balt's room awaiting him. They were noisy and excited at the success of the enterprise and at the prospect of immediate action.

Boyd told them little of the news that had started him earlier in the evening beyond the bare fact that Marsh had floated a packers' trust and that secrecy for the present was now doubly necessary to the success of their undertaking. The full significance of the merger, therefore, did not strike his associates, even when on the trip the next day they read the announcement of its formation in the newspapers. Balt alone took notice of it and fell into a furious rage at his enemy's success.

No sooner were they fairly under way for the west than Emerson began the definite shaping of his plans. He and George carefully went over the many details of their coming work and sent many messages, with the result that outitters in a dozen lines were awaiting them when they arrived in Seattle. Without loss of time Boyd installed himself and his friends at a hotel, secured a competent and close mouthed stenographer, and then sought out the banker with whom he had made a tentative agreement before going to Chicago. Mr. Hilliard greeted him cordially.

"I see you have carried out your part of the program," said he, "but before we definitely commit ourselves we should like to know what effect this new trust is going to have on the cannery business."

"You mean the N. A. P. A.?"

"Precisely. Our Chicago correspondent can't tell us any more than we have learned from the press—namely, that a combination has been formed. We are naturally somewhat cautious about financing a competitive plant until we know what policy the trust will pursue."

Here was exactly the complication Boyd had feared; therefore it was with some trepidation that he argued:

"The trust is in business for the money, and its very formation ought to be conclusive evidence of your good judgment. However, you have backed so many plants such as mine that you know as well as I do the big profits to be taken."

"That isn't the point. Ordinarily we would not waver an instant, but the Wayland-Marsh outfit is apt to upset conditions. If we only knew—"

"I know," boldly declared Boyd. "Mr. Wayland outlined his policy to me before the public knew anything about the trust."

"Indeed? Are you acquainted with Wayne Wayland?" asked Mr. Hilliard, with a new light of curiosity in his eyes.

"I know him well."

"Ah, I congratulate you. Perhaps this is—er—Wayland money behind you?"

"That I am not at liberty to discuss," the younger man replied evasively. "I have taken steps to sell my season's output in advance. The commission men will be in town shortly, and I shall contract for the entire catch at a stipulated price. Is that satisfactory?"

"Entirely so," declared Mr. Hilliard heartily. "Go ahead and order your machinery and supplies. By the way, what do you know about the mineral possibilities of the region back of Kalvik?"

"Not much; the country is new. There is a woman at Kalvik who has some men out prospecting."

"Cherry Malotte?"

"Do you know her?" asked Boyd with astonishment.

"Very well indeed." Then, noting Boyd's evident curiosity, he went on, "You see, I have made a number of mining investments in the north. My operations have turned out so well that I keep several men just to follow new strikes."

"Has Miss Malotte made a strike?"

"Not exactly, but she has uncovered some promising copper prospects."

"H'm! That is news to me."

Three weeks passed quickly in strenuous effort, and then one morning the partners awoke to the realization that there was little more for them to do.

Through it all Clyde had lent them enthusiastic if feeble assistance, and now that the strain was off he gave fitting expression to his delight by getting drunk. Being temperamental to a degree, he craved company, and, knowing full well the opposition he would encounter from his friends, he annexed a libulous following of loafers whose time hung heavy and who were at all times eager to applaud a loose tongue so long as it was accompanied by a loose purse. Toward midnight "Fingerless" Fraser, cruising in a nocturnal search for adventure and profit, found him in a seminaudin state, despatching vapors to his train, and upon catching mention of the Kalvik fisheries snatched him homeward and put him to bed, after which he locked him into his room, threw the key over the transom and stood guard outside until assured that he slept.

At an early hour the adventurer was peremptorily roused to find Emerson hammering at his door in a fine fury.

"What is this?" demanded Boyd through white lips, thrusting a morning paper before Fraser's sleepy eyes.

"It's a newspaper," yawned the other—"a regular newspaper."

"Where did this story come from?" With menacing finger Boyd indicated a front column, headed:

NEW ENEMY OF THE SALMON TRUST!

FIRST GUN FIRED IN BATTLE FOR FISHERIES!

N. A. P. A. Promised Bitter Fight For Supremacy of Alaskan Waters!

"I don't know."

"You don't know?"

"No; I never read anything but the 'past performances' and the funny page. What does it say?"

"It is the whole story of our enterprise, but ridiculously garbled and exaggerated. It says I have headed a new cannery company to buck the trust. It tells about George's feud with Marsh and says we have both been secretly preparing to down him. Good Lord! It's liable to queer us with the bank and upset the deal."

"I didn't give it out."

"It is all done in your particularly picturesque style," declared Emerson angrily. "Alton swears he knows nothing about it, so you must have done it. It is too nearly correct to have come from a stranger."

"Well?" inquired Fraser quietly.

"The harm is done, but I want to know who is to blame." When the other made no answer except to stare at him curiously he flamed up. "Why don't you confess?"

For the first time during their acquaintance "Fingerless" Fraser seemed at a loss for words, but whether for shame or some other motive his companion was unable to tell. His nature was so warped that his emotions expressed themselves in ways not always easy to follow, and now he merely remarked, with apparent sullenness:

"I'm certainly a hot favorite with you." He clambered stiffly back into bed and turned his defiant face to the wall, nor would he meet his accuser's eyes or open his lips, even when Boyd swung out of the room, convinced that he was the culprit.

A telephone message summoned him to the bank at 11 o'clock the following morning.

"That means trouble," he told George. "Maybe not," the big fisherman replied. "If Hilliard took any stock in the story it seems like he'd have jumped you the next day."

"Our machinery is ordered. You realize what it will mean if he backs water now?"

"Sure! We'll have to go to some other bank."

"Humph! I'll wring Fraser's neck," muttered Emerson. "We have troubles enough without any new ones."

It was with no little anxiety that he asked for the banker at the appointed hour and was shown into an anteroom with the announcement:

"Mr. Hilliard is busy. He wishes you to wait."

Inside the glass partition Boyd heard a woman's voice and Hilliard's laughter. He took some comfort in the thought that the banker was in good humor at least; but, being too nervous to sit still, he stood at the window, gazing with vacant eyes at the busy street crowds. Facing him across the way was a bulletin in front of a newspaper office, and after a time he noted idly among its various items of information the announcement that the mail steamer Queen had arrived at midnight from Skagway. He wondered why Cherry had not written. Surely she must be anxious to know his progress. He should have advised her of his whereabouts.

The door to Hilliard's office opened, and he heard the rustle of a woman's dress, then his own name spoken, "Come in, Mr. Emerson."

His attention centered on the approaching interview, he did not glance toward the departing visitor until she stopped suddenly at the outer door and came straight toward him with outstretched hands.

"Boyd!"

He checked himself and turned to face Cherry Malotte.

"Why, Cherry," he ejaculated, "what in the world!" He took her two hands in his, and she laughed up into his face. "In the name of heaven, where did you come from?"

"I arrived last night on the Queen," she said. "Oh, I'm glad to see you!"

"But what brings you to the States? I thought you were in Kal!"

"Sh-h!" She laid a finger on her lips, with a glance over her shoulder to the inner office. "I'll tell you about it later."

"Mr. Hilliard will see you now, sir," the attendant announced to Emerson.

"I must talk to you right away," Boyd exclaimed hurriedly. "I won't be long. Can you wait?"

"Certainly! I'll wait right here, only hurry, hurry!"

The pleasure of seeing her was so genuine that he squeezed her hands heartily and entered Hilliard's sanctum with a smile on his lips.

Soon he returned. The smile was gone from his face. Hilliard had now refused to make the loan of $100,000 required for the enterprise. He told Cherry. "We must have the money or we are ruined," said the girl.

"Yes," answered Boyd wearily. He made an engagement to meet Cherry later and went to visit three other bankers, but they all turned his proposition down.

CHAPTER VIII

MARSH directed a sharp glance at Boyd before answering. "I presume you refer to Constantine's sister. I was speaking generally. Of course there are exceptions. As a matter of fact I wasn't exactly right when I said we had no white women whatever at Kalvik. Mr. Emerson doubtless has met Cherry Malotte?"

"I have," acknowledged Boyd. "She is very kind to us."

"Oh, delightful!" exclaimed Mildred. "First a beautiful Indian girl, now mysterious white woman! Why, Kalvik is decidedly interesting."

"There is nothing mysterious about a white woman," said Marsh. "She quite 'pleas'—just a plain mining camp hangar on who drifted down our way."

Not at all! Boyd disclaimed angrily. "Miss Malotte is a fine woman," he said at Marsh's short laugh, "and her direct bears favorable comparison

"What do you mean?"

"That of the other white people at Kalvik."

Marsh allowed his eyes to waver at but to Mildred he apologized. "It is not the sort one cares to discuss."

"What do you know?" demanded Mildred's champion. "Do you know anything against her character?"

SENSATIONAL FEAT PROPOSED IN ITALY

(Special U. T. Service.)

Milan, Italy, Sept. 19.—"Over the Alps lies Italy," is now the slogan of the aviators of Europe. What promises to provide the most sensational performance yet attempted by the aviators is the flight proposed in connection with the Milan aviation meeting, opening today. It is the feat of making a trip over the Alps. Three prizes of $14,000, $1,000 and $2,000 are offered to successful competitors.

Nominally the distance to be covered is only ninety-five miles, but the aviators in the course of their journey will have to fly over mountains exceeding 6,000 feet in height. No flying by night will be permitted and a maximum of twenty-four hours will be allowed to complete the journey. The race will start from Brigue, on the Swiss side of the Alps, and end at Milan.

BEDBUG GREAT ENEMY TO PUBLIC HEALTH

Bedbugs were solemnly denounced by the Wisconsin Medical Women's association in annual session at Milwaukee.

Dr. Adeline Riddle of Oshkosh, president of the association, characterized the bedbug as one of the greatest enemies to public health. She declared that communication of some of the most obnoxious diseases are traceable to the vicious little beast that feeds impartially on the pure and the impure, while they are trying to steal a few winks of sleep, and that the greedy bug has no hesitancy about communicating germs from one person to another.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 19.—Chase S. Osborn, in a letter to the Detroit News in reply to an inquiry, says he has no desire to dictate to the state convention regarding the platform and wishes to avoid anything that might be construed as improper interference with the rights and functions of the delegates.

He says the convention will reflect the wisdom and spirit of the Republican party in Michigan.

GREAT DEMAND FOR PRISON MADE TWINE

The Michigan state prison at Jackson is receiving a shipment of $104,000 worth of sisal to be used for the manufacture of twine. Forty-six carloads, enough to make a fair-sized train, are on the way from Merida, Yucatan, Mexico, to the prison. Some new machinery, a special breaker and spreader, to be used in the twine plant has arrived. In order to supply the demand for the product of the factory it has been necessary to crowd or overwork some of the machinery, and it is to afford relief and also to provide for a greater capacity that these new machines were ordered. They will be installed as soon as possible.

Superintendent Brewer states that with a few more spinners added to the plant the output can be greatly increased. It is figured that it could turn out 1,000,000 more pounds a year. Last year the output was 3,000,000, but not enough to supply the trade. Much more could have been sold by the state if it had been on hand. It is hoped that 4,000,000 pounds can be made before next harvest. The factory is now turning out from four and a half to five tons a day.

The Continental Casualty of Chicago now has assets of over two millions and its income is upwards of three millions. The Continental Casualty is the largest personal accident company in this country, and is growing at a very rapid pace.—The West-ern Insurance Review.

AXE TO FALL AT LANSING

Many Changes Will Develop When Osborn and New Administration Take Hold of Affairs at the State Capital--Osborn Will Keep His Promises.

Uneasy are the heads that wear the crowns at Lansing, for already is the vision of the gullotine apparent to many who have been holding office under the Warner administration. Chase S. Osborn, the successful candidate in the recent primaries, has said throughout his campaign that if elected he would give the old capitol such a house cleaning as it never before knew. He is nominated, just as good as elected, and now the appointees are waiting for the time to come when the axe shall fall.

One man knows he will not have a chance under the new administration. That is Dick Fletcher, state labor commissioner. Dick and Osborn fought tooth and nail throughout the campaign. Dick's friends went to Osborn time after time, asking him if he would not take care of Dick if nominated. Osborn always told them the first man to go would be Fletcher.

Dick came back with the statement that Osborn would never get his chance, and he worked as no man ever worked to prevent his getting the chance. But Dick's old power was gone. Once he ruled as a little tin god up in Bay City, but Osborn carried Bay in spite of him. Now Dick knows the end is near and awaits it with its usual complacency, interspersed with a few Fletcherisms.

Many Must Walk Plank.

Another change looked for is in the dairy and food department, to which Colon C. Lillie was recently appointed. Lillie also fought hard for Kelley and once during his campaign Osborn was asked if elected if he would retain Lillie. Osborn promptly declared that he would not. Therefore Lillie has nothing to expect but the ax.

An upheaval is also expected in the military department. General McGurrian, adjutant general, is a democrat and took no part in the campaign. He is also not only competent, but popular, and the entire National Guard has united in asking that McGurrian be retained. On the other hand, Gen. Robert L. Bates of the Soo, a life-long friend and admirer of Mr. Osborn, has worked up from the ranks to the head of the brigade and now believes he is entitled to the job with the salary in it. But whether Mr. Osborn removes General McGurrian or not it is certain that many of the subordinates in the department must walk the plank. Some of them were out working tooth and nail in the interests of Kelley, leaving no stone unturned to defeat the successful candidate. Moreover, there are many military men in Michigan, and these will doubtless be remembered if they are efficient.

Will Be Interesting.

In the game warden's department a change is expected. Charles B. Pierce, the incumbent, was a strong Kelley man, and Mr. Osborn, having once been game warden himself, knows whether he has given satisfactory service or not. It is expected that Pierce will have to go, as Mr. Osborn has friends who would like the job. Wm. H. Hoyt, is head of the state tax commission which expires January 1. This place will be left open for Mr. Osborn to fill. Mr. Osborn, has, however, assured the people he will not appoint another member from the upper peninsula, and it is therefore a matter of mere speculation who will land the plum.

Mr. Osborn will have the appointment of a state oil inspector, state salt inspector and a big grist of board members and minor offices. What is going to happen will make interesting reading when the fireworks are finally touched off. Meanwhile the big bunch down at Lansing are waiting to see whose turn will be first.

ROSS NOT IDENTIFIED WITH ANY FACTION

Republican Candidate for Lieutenant Governor Makes a Positive Statement of His Position--Will Take the Stump in Campaign With Other State Candidates.

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 19.—"If I am elected lieutenant governor," says John Q. Ross of Muskegon, "I shall pledge myself to preside over the senate with absolute fairness to all the people or the least to control my political acts, but because they, know that my opponent had long stood as a leader in the dry movement. The liquor question, in whatever form it comes before the state senate will receive the same fair treatment that will be accorded all other matters."

When the campaign opens Mr. Ross says he will take the stump with the other Republican candidates.

Muskegon, the home town of Mr. Ross, is all fussed up over having one of its citizens in second place on the state ticket. It is the first time in half a century that the city, once famous for its saw mills, but now thriving as a general manufacturing town, has been represented in the state government.

STEPHENSON SENDS COW TO WHITE HOUSE

Washington, D. C., Sept. 19.—Pauline Wayne is about due at the white house. Pauline is the pureblooded northwesterner that Senator Stephenson of Wisconsin has sent to the executive mansion. The coming of Pauline has put the white house aflutter.

THAT HOODOO IS LUCKY IN COURTSHIP

(Special U. T. Service.)

Thirteen guests were present at the wedding breakfast.

DUNSTAN-OSBORN WEDDING AN EVENT

Daughter of Former Lieutenant Governor of Michigan Weds Son of Republican Candidate for Governor of the State--Ceremony is Performed at Houghton--The Details.

There are many people in Escanaba, the women especially, who will be interested in a detail account of the wedding of Miss Emma H. Dunstan of Hancock and George A. Osborn, of Sault Ste. Marie, son of Chase S. Osborn, which was solemnized at Houghton Wednesday evening. Such an account is supplied by The Houghton Daily Mining Gazette, as follows:

One of the prettiest wedding ceremonies in the Portage Lake district for a long time was performed at Trinity Episcopal church at Houghton last evening when Miss Emma H. Dunstan of Hancock and George A. Osborn of Sault Ste. Marie were married. Miss Dunstan is the youngest daughter of Mrs. Thomas B. Dunstan of 231 Water street, Hancock, and of the former lieutenant governor of Michigan. Mr. Osborn is the son of Hon. Chase S. Osborn of Sault Ste. Marie, nominee of the Republican party for governor of Michigan. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. E. Curzon, rector of Trinity church. The church was tastily decorated with bells and bouquets of pink roses and asters, with festoons of cedar. This was the first wedding at the church since its consecration. The bride's family have been members of the congregation, however, for the past 47 years.

At 7:30, as the Calumet & Hecla orchestra played Lohengrin's wedding march, Miss Dunstan, supported by her brother, Robert P. Dunstan of Hancock entered the church preceded by ushers and the maid and matron of honor. They were met by Rev. Curzon and the groom and best man at the chancel rail where the betrothal service was performed. During the ceremony the orchestra rendered "Adoration," a composition of George Barnard, leader of the orchestra. At the close Mendelssohn's wedding march was played.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Chas. W. Wright of Sardinia, Italy, the bride's sister and the maid of honor, Miss Emily F. Osborn of Sault Ste. Marie, a sister of the groom's. The groom was supported by his brother, Chase S. Osborn, Jr., of Sault Ste. Marie. The ushers were C. W. Wright of Sardinia, Italy, Paul D. Swift of Hancock, John H. DeVisser of Detroit and Philip A. Zang of Denver.

The bride was attired in a gown of white satin with yoke and sleeves of rose pointe lace. The gown had a court train and was draped with embroidered white satin and pearl garniture. Her tulle veil was fastened with orange blossoms. The only jewelry worn was a rich circle of diamonds and pearls, the gift of the groom. The bride carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Wright, the matron of honor, wore her wedding dress, a creation of white satin with an embroidered panel. Miss Emily F. Osborn, the maid of honor, was attired in a handsome gown of pink embroidered chiffon over pale pink satin, embroidered in pink and gold. The matron and maid of honor wore short tulle veils, fastened with French rose buds, and carried arm bouquets of Killarney roses.

A gown of white embroidered net was worn by Mrs. Thomas B. Dunstan, the bride's mother. Mrs. Chase S. Osborn, the groom's mother, wore a dress of Irish lace over white satin with panels of baby Irish lace. Mrs. R. P. Dunstan wore a beautiful creation of lavender chiffon heavily embroidered with silk and pearls, and Mrs. James S. Dunstan wore one of mild green satin draped with embroidered chiffon and chantilly lace. Mrs. A. E. Ferguson of Sault Ste. Marie, a sister of the groom wore a gown of white hand painted chiffon.

Following the ceremony the wedding party returned to the home of the bride's mother where a reception was held and the wedding supper served. During the supper the Calumet & Hecla orchestra rendered selections. The home was prettily decorated with pink roses. The bridal party dined at a table decorated with lilies of the valley and bride's roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Chase S. Osborn were here to attend the wedding of their son. Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. McClure of Saginaw, J. Parke Channing of New York, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Dunstan of New York, Adolph Zang of Denver and Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Ferguson of Sault Ste. Marie were among the out of town guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Osborn will make their home at Sault Ste. Marie, where Mr. Osborn will associate himself with his father in business. They will live in a handsome residence, the gift of the groom's father to the couple. Mr. Osborn is a graduate of the University of Michigan and the Michigan College of Mines and a most talented young man. Mrs. Osborn is from one of the copper country's oldest and most prominent families. They will be at home at Sault Ste. Marie, after the middle of November.

WHO WILL GET TAX COMMISSIONER'S JOB?

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 19.—There is considerable speculation about Lansing as to who will be given the appointment for a member of the state tax commission in place of William H. Hoyt, of Plymouth, whose term expires January 1, 1911, in case Chase S. Osborn is chosen governor at the November election. That the member should fall from the southern part of the state is a matter of vital importance as at present the board has one member from Houghton and another from Evart.

It is claimed that should a member be chosen from the upper peninsula that the interests of the mining concerns would be benefited, and the lower peninsula taxpayers would be the ones to suffer. The wise ones about the capitol, however, say that no such rash measures will be taken, and that the new man undoubtedly will be named from one of the southern tiers of counties, presumably Wayne.

FALL STYLES SHOWN IN ESCANABA STORES

The show windows in Escanaba stores now reflect the near approach of fall and winter weather, summer clothing and furnishings having been replaced by more somber looking garments. In the dry goods stores fall suits, coats and hats have taken the place of lingerie, and the windows of the gents' furnishings and clothing stores are no less changed in appearance.

Our Daily Short Story

Aunt Sally's Money

By M. QUAD
Copyright, 1910, by Associated Literary Press.

Aunt Sally Henderson was the widow of a farmer. She was a bustling little woman with a babyish look. She kept a hired man on the farm and a hired girl in the kitchen, but she was a boss and a worker as well. She was kind to wayfarers and a liberal contributor to the unfortunate, and she was ready to take advice on all points but one. There she was singularly obstinate and seemingly foolish.

During his lifetime Farmer Henderson had been the victim of a bank failure. True, he lost only $17 in it, but it was a lesson to last him the rest of his days and to be handed over to his wife when he departed. She had been a widow for three years, when a sister died and left her a thousand dollars in cash. There was then a private banker in the nearest village, and he was spoken of by all as God fearing and strictly honest. There were people who had known him from infancy, and they vouched that there was not a blot on his character. When Aunt Sally got her thousand she was advised to bank it. She declined. After she had been talked to by her neighbors, her minister, the justice of the peace and others she did consent to drive into the village one day and take a look at the banker. He looked good to other folks, but after five minutes Aunt Sally turned from him and said: "I wouldn't trust that man with a single dollar!"

"But why?" was asked.

"Because he asks in when he walks. You take my word for it, he'll turn out to be a rascal."

She was laughed at, but she said no toe-in banker for her thousand dollars. She'd keep it in the house. Of course she was warned of the danger of robbers, but she smiled in her baby way and replied that they could come on as fast as convenient. In a month it was known pretty much all over the county that Aunt Sally Henderson had a thousand dollars in the house. Some said it was buried in the cellar, others that it was hidden in the garret, others still that it was in a trunk under her bed. With everybody talking there was bound to be results.

It was a big tramp who came limping along the highway at sundown one day and talked of his hunger and afflictions. Besides his limp he had his left arm in a sling. No friends, no home, nothing in the future for him. He wept as Aunt Sally questioned him. He was fed and given quarters in the barn. At midnight he came out of the barn without his limp or his Pittsburg, Sept. 19.—There was near rioting at Circleville, Pa., near Irvin, Saturday evening when Rev. Thomas G. "Auction tonight. The undersigned will sell at public auction his two children, as hereinafter described. One boy, 7 years old, fair complexion, weighs 45 pounds. Strong of body and mind. Has never been to school, but would make a competent newsboy and be able to earn good wages in three years.

PANAMA CANAL TO BE FORTIFIED—U. S.

President Will Ask $2,000,000 Appropriation to Start Work.

TAFT LEAVES ON SHORT TRIP

Reciprocity Treaty Between the U. S. and Newfoundland Also Said to Be Contemplated—Naval Base on Guantánamo Island.

Ipswich, Sept. 19.—President Taft, in his coming message to congress will give prominence to a recommendation that at least $2,000,000 be appropriated for immediate use for beginning the fortification of the Panama canal.

Mr. Taft believes that there ought to be no delay in this government's undertaking the fortification of the canal. He recommended an appropriation of $2,000,000 for this purpose at the last session, but it encountered some opposition in the house and was not passed.

Mr. Taft holds that the United States has ample power under her treaty rights to fortify the canal. In fact, the only way this government can "police and protect" the canal, in his opinion, is by fortifying it, and he proposes to exert his influence to accomplish this as soon as possible.

It was learned that the administration is thinking of establishing a strong naval base on Guantánamo island, near Cuba. Secretary of the Navy Meyer will take a trip to Guantánamo for the purpose of observing conditions there. It is the opinion of the navy experts that future wars in which this country may be engaged, if they ever come, will be fought out in the neighborhood of the Panama canal and it is in connection with this opinion that the secretary is looking toward Guantánamo as affording a base for an American fleet.

Of almost equal interest, with the news of the president's attitude toward the canal, was the announcement of the likelihood of the negotiation of a reciprocity treaty between this country and Newfoundland. Charles Pepper, an American tariff expert, is in Newfoundland now investigating the tariff question with a view to opening of negotiations.

The president left here about 11 o'clock last night for Boston, where he took the midnight train for New Haven. Mr. Taft will leave New Haven at 3 o'clock this afternoon after attending a meeting of the Yale corporation. He will go to Cincinnati by way of Springfield, Albany and Buffalo.

The president's three day cabinet session at Washington will begin a week from today. It is said that the Ballinger case will not be taken up by the cabinet. The president regards the case as absolutely settled, as far as he is concerned, until the majority members of the congressional committee report. It is doubtful if the president would accept Ballinger's resignation now, even if it were offered.

SHOOTS HIS WIFE TO END HER AGONY

Man Who Obeyed Spouse's Appeal Is Nervous Wreck.

EXONERATED OF CRIME BY JURY

Woman Fell Over Precipice in Wilds of Canadian Northwest and Husband Shoots Her to End Her Terrible Agony.

New York, Sept. 19.—James McDowell, prospector and miner, a nervous wreck at the home of friends in the Bronx, told of killing his wife to end her agony when she was helplessly injured in the wilds of the Canadian northwest.

McDowell is being treated by specialists, but is growing worse. With his wife he was traveling on a narrow trail high on a mountain side, when her mule suddenly plunged over the precipice.

"It was twenty-four hours later before I found the carcass of the animal 2,000 feet below," he said. "I had eaten nothing for thirty hours and was nearly insane from grief, hunger and thirst. Fifty yards away I found a shapless mass. It was my wife, alive but unconscious. I think every bone in her body must have been broken. "I forced some brandy down her throat. When she revived her sufferings were intense and she begged me to shoot her.

"There was not a human being within a hundred miles. The nearest medical help was 120 miles away, and it would have taken me ten days at least to go and return, and wolves would have devoured her. There was nothing else to do. I shot her, then fainted away.

"Hours later I covered her body with rocks and started for Calgary. I was ten days making the trip. I hunted up Sheriff Hamilton and they sent two deputies with me to the scene of the tragedy. They found things just as I had stated. An inquest was held and I was exonerated."

BATTALION OF BOYS FOR NAVAL RESERVE

Duluth Woman Suggests a Plan Which Appears to Meet With Approval and Which May Be Adopted Here—Local Member of the Naval Reserve Favors the Proposition.

It has been suggested by a Duluth woman that it would be a good idea to form a battalion of boys as an adjunct to the Naval Reserves. It is possible such a plan will be adopted here. Concerning the woman's proposition, The Duluth News-Tribune says:

"A naval battalion of boy scouts is suggested by Miss Jean Poirier of the state labor bureau as an adjunct to the organization of scouts which has just been formed in Duluth. "I think it would be grand training for the little fellows to learn something about naval matters and the details of handling boats," said Miss Poirier, "and believe that with all the facilities at command in Duluth this would be the ideal place to start such an organization."

"There are a lot of positions on the boats during our annual cruise," said an Escanaba reserve, "which could be filled with youngsters 14 or 15 years old and they would learn to like the naval militia, and as soon as old enough would probably enlist. It would provide a sort of recruiting service for the Michigan naval militia and provide us with young fellows becoming of sufficient age each year to keep our ranks continually filled with men who know something of the work at the start. I, for one, think it would be a great scheme."

LOCALS LOSE SUNDAY GAME

fired the ball to O'Connors, retiring Cullis at the plate. O'Connors then threw the ball to M. Walsh at first in time to retire Swick and completing a fine double play. Heidensohn landed on one of Nolden's curves for a two-base hit, scoring Rains and Tallon. Ellmore got to first on a grounder fumbled by Lantz and Heidensohn scored. Messier ended the agony by going out on a grounder to first.

In the second inning Negaunee made its fourth run after the first two men up had been retired on two hits and a muff of an infield fly by O'Connors that he should have left the first baseman go after. There was no more run getting for Negaunee until the seventh inning when it got its final score on a couple of hits and a wild pitch. In this inning another Negaunee man was put out at the plate.

Some Spectacular Features. There were some fine features in the game, one of the most notable being the double play in the first inning executed by F. Olmsted, O'Connors and M. Walsh. Another was the fine fielding of Hoffman, who accepted five difficult chances and got away with every one of them. His running catch of Rains' fly in the fourth inning was especially noteworthy. Another spectacular play was M. Walsh's left-handed stop of a widely thrown ball. By making this stop Walsh got his man out at first and prevented the probable scoring of two runs. Following is the summary of the game:

Escanaba—No. runs, 4 hits, 4 errors; Negaunee—5 runs, 8 hits, 1 error. Batteries—Escanaba, Nolden, Olmsted and O'Connors; Negaunee, Siebenthal and Heidensohn. First on balls—Off Nolden, 1; off Olmsted, 1; off Siebenthal, 4. Left on bases—Escanaba, 9; Negaunee, 8. Wild pitch—Olmsted. First base on errors—Escanaba, 1; Negaunee, 4. Two base hits—Heidensohn, Ellmore, F. Olmsted, O'Connors. Struck out by Siebenthal, 1; by Olmsted, 3; by Siebenthal, 12. Double play—Olmsted to O'Connors to M. Walsh. Hit by pitcher—Hoffman and M. Walsh. Time of game—1:50. Umpires—Nelson and Harris.

The game was witnessed by a crowd estimated at from 1,200 to 1,500 and it included a number of warm rosters from Negaunee. The teams are playing a double-header this afternoon and the Negauneeites are encouraged by the presence and cheers of a large delegation of Negaunee and Ishpeming fans who came down on a special train, arriving here about 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Carson, manager of the Army theater at Bemidji, Minn., under date of September 14, wrote as follows to the manager of the attraction: "Managing Mildred" opened here last night before a big house and was the greatest kind of a hit. Audience wildly enthusiastic and demanded encore after encore. You can send us a "Managing Mildred" every day in the week and we will pack the house."

REV. FRED. SPENCE GOES TO DETROIT

Rev. Frederick Spence, pastor of the First M. E. church, left this morning for Detroit, where he will attend the annual Detroit conference of the Methodist Episcopal church and the 100th anniversary celebration of Michigan Methodism. It is expected here that Mr. Spence will be reappointed to his present charge for another year, as the wish for his retention is unanimous.

At Sunday morning's service Mr. Spence gave an interesting review of the past year's work in the First M. E. church and also a summary of some of the things accomplished during his four years' pastorate. One of the features of his pastorate was the addition of 135 persons to the membership of the church. In his regular sermon Mr. Spence discussed "The Boy Problem and the Scout Movement," giving a clear explanation of the latter and expressing the belief that it would be an excellent thing to adopt in Escanaba.

BIG DEPARTMENT STORE AT NEENAH, WIS., IS BURNED (By Associated Press.) Neenah, Wis., Sept. 19.—The Ansbach department store burned today, with a loss of $75,000.

FOURTH GAME WAS A FINE EXHIBITION

The Marquette Mining Journal gives the following story of Saturday's ball game, which the Escanaba team won by a score of 2 to 1, as announced by The Mirror Saturday:

Escanaba won Saturday by a score of 2 to 1. The game was a fine exhibition, both pitchers receiving excellent support. Siebenthal, in the box for Negaunee, allowed but three scattered hits, and four hits were secured by McDonnell, who was in the box for Escanaba. One of these was a three-bagger by Elmore in the fourth inning, which scored Swick, the first man up, who had reached first on a hit and had been sacrificed to second by Heidensohn. Two more hits were secured in the third inning. In that inning Messier reached first on balls; Simpson fanned and Siebenthal flied out to Lantz; Cullis singled, advancing Messier to second and the latter was advanced to third by Rains, who singled; McCrory went out, Olmsted to M. Walsh.

Escanaba secured her first run in the first inning. Olmsted reached first on balls and was advanced to third on a wild pitch by Siebenthal, and scored on another wild pitch. The next three men up went out in one, two, three order.

The visitors scored their next run in the eighth. M. Walsh flied out to Simpson, Lantz singled and Enders flied out to Messier; McDonnell singled, scoring Walsh, Olmsted went out. Rains to Elmore.

In the next inning Hoffman attempted to steal home on a batted ball, which Cullis fumbled. Cullis threw to Heidensohn at the plate, the latter sending the ball to Rains at third and after the ball had been tossed between Heidensohn, Rains and Cullis a few times Hoffman was run down, this retiring the side.

The work of the infielders of both teams was fast. In the out field Negaunee had the better of the argument. In the second inning, Hoffman, for Escanaba made a long run into right field after a drive by Rains which he caught but failed to hold. Olmsted made one of the prettiest stops seen on the local grounds this season when he scooped in Swick's fast grounder in the second inning, throwing the runner out at first.

Cullis, in the fifth inning, had two pretty stops, getting M. Walsh's and Lantz's fast grounders.

D. A. R. OPEN THE SEASON'S PROGRAM

The season's program of the Lewis Cass chapter, D. A. R., was opened by a tea given by Mrs. A. H. Ryall at her home in honor of the State Regent, Mrs. James P. Brayton of Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Brayton gave the members an interesting and inspiring talk on the rapid growth of the organization in the past year, and told of the valued work accomplished by the chapters in the state along educational and patriotic lines, both in the upper and lower peninsulas. Among other things accomplished during Mrs. Brayton's term of office was the presentation of an unusually handsome silk flag to the battleship Michigan, besides the placing of markers on many points of historic interest throughout the state.

The local chapter has resumed its monthly meetings and will continue its literary program.

Be Safe--- Not Sorry

3% is the limit of what can be paid by a bank and conduct its business on lines of the strictest conservatism. In short, it is the rate that is consistent with absolute safety.

There are many schemes and seemingly attractive investments that offer more but with every added per cent comes an added risk, and why should you take any risk when you are investing the net results of your labor and economy.

A man who loses his savings thus acquired, usually quits saving from discouragement. "Better be safe than sorry" is a good maxim to observe in choosing a place for investment.
