

JAMES PELOT NEAR DEATH

While Taking a Bag Containing Money and a Revolver From His Safe, the Weapon is Accidentally Discharged.--Bullet Enters His Left Breast.--The Details.

James Pelot, who conducts a saloon on Sinclair street, near the Chicago & Northwestern railway passenger station, and makes his home in the same building, accidentally shot himself through the left breast with a revolver shortly after two o'clock this afternoon and is now at the Delta County hospital.

The bullet, which entered the breast not far from the heart did not pass completely through, but lodged near the back, from where it was extracted shortly after Mr. Pelot arrived at the hospital.

At 3:45 o'clock Mr. Pelot was reported by Dr. W. A. Lemire and Dr. M. P. Fenelon, the attending physicians, to be resting easily, although they could not say positively how serious his wound may prove to be. He suffered severely from the shock and loss of blood.

Revolver in Money Bag. According to the best information obtainable, the accident occurred when Mr. Pelot went to his safe to take therefrom a bag containing money. In this bag, which was tied at the top with a string, was a loaded revolver and it was while the bag was being untied that the revolver was in some manner discharged, the bullet hitting Mr. Pelot.

Those in the saloon at the time hastened to his assistance and a hurry call for the ambulance was turned in. Within ten minutes the ambulance arrived at the scene and the wounded man was rushed to the hospital.

Mr. Pelot's wife was not at home at the time of the accident, being away on a visit in Green Bay. She has been notified by telegraph of her husband's accident and is expected to arrive home this evening.

ESCANABA BOAT IS A STAUNCH CRAFT

The Sturgeon Bay Democrat has the following notice of a new Escanaba craft of which nothing has heretofore been published here:

The gasoline boat H. B. Burger, Jr. of Escanaba was in part Wednesday bound to Frankfort, Mich., for fruit for the Carpenter-Cook company of Menominee. The boat is a new craft owned by George and John Tonshak of Escanaba and is the largest gasoline boat owned on Green bay and vicinity. She is 50 feet long with 11 feet beam and has a four-cylinder 32 h. p. Sarge engine. She measures 14 and 46-100 tons and was built at the Burger boat works at Manitowoc this summer. The craft is under charter to the Carpenter-Cook company of Menominee and has made ten trips with fruit from Frankfort. The new boat is a very staunch little craft as she came across the lake on September 8th in the same storm that wrecked the car ferry Pere Marquette No. 18 and the barge Kellogg.

TAKES CONTRACT TO SUPPLY MINE TIMBER

Nicholas Britz of Lathrop Plans to Carry on Logging Operations Extensively This Winter--Already Has Two Camps in Operation--Closes a Land Deal.

That lumbering operations in Delta county, at least in the vicinity of Lathrop, will be carried on on an extensive scale the coming winter is practically assured. Nicholas Britz, a prominent lumberman of Lathrop, was in the city today and in an interview stated that he had closed a contract last week to supply a large amount of mining timber to the Cleveland Cliffs Iron company during the winter of 1910-11. A large amount of money is involved, as the deal is of considerable magnitude.

Mr. Britz already has two camps in operation and is making preparations to open several more in the near future. Besides the camps conducted by Mr. Britz, contracts have been let by him to a number of jobbers to supply him with material.

While in the city Mr. Britz also closed a deal disposing of a tract of 200 acres of farming and timber land, at a good price, to Frank Johnson of Lathrop.

Mrs. A. Smith and Miss Martha Jorens have returned to this city after visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter LaChapelle of Green Bay.

SALARIES OF MAYOR AND ALDERMEN FIXED

That is the Charter Commission Agrees to Provide in the New Charter That the Mayor Shall Receive Not More Than $250 and Aldermen Not More Than $150 a Year.

Through action taken today by members of the city charter commission, a section in the charter devoted to the compensation of city officers was finally adopted and incorporated into the new charter. This section provides that the mayor of the city shall receive a salary not exceeding $250 a year and that the salary of each alderman shall not exceed $150 a year.

Under the present charter the mayor and aldermen are each paid $50 a year but there are fourteen aldermen while under the new charter but seven aldermen will comprise the membership of the council.

This matter of seven aldermen was also definitely decided upon today by the charter commission, which is finishing up a lot of heretofore undisposed of sections of the new charter. The committee on public affairs some time ago presented a recommendation that the salary of the mayor be fixed at a sum not exceeding $1,000 a year and that of each alderman at not exceeding $300. This proposition was fought by President John Power and some other members of the commission with the result that the amounts were scaled down to $250 for the mayor and $150 for each alderman as noted.

The commissioners are still at work this afternoon and it is proposed to push the revision as rapidly as possible from this time forward. After the charter is finally drafted and engrossed it must go to the governor for his approval before it can be submitted to a vote of the people of the city.

TEACHERS TO MEET THIS AFTERNOON

Subjects Pertaining to the Conduct and Betterment of the Schools Will Be Considered--Superintendent King to Outline Policy He Desires Carried Out.

After school hours this afternoon there will be held in the music room of the High school a meeting of the principals and teachers of the public schools to consider affairs in connection with the conduct and betterment of the schools. Superintendent King will give a talk in which he will outline his ideas and make suggestions relative to the policy he desires followed relative to sanitary conditions, fire drills, discipline, etc. In this connection it is announced by Superintendent King that teachers' meetings will be held throughout the school year as follows:

General meeting for all city teachers at 4 p. m. on the fourth Monday of each month in the music room of the high school.

Supervisors and grade teachers (3d to 8th) at 3:30 p. m. on the second Monday of each month at the Franklin school.

Supervisors and grade teachers (1st and 2nd) at 2:30 p. m. on the second Monday of each month at the Franklin school.

Kindergarten teachers at 3:30 p. m. on the first Monday of each month at the Barr school.

High school teachers and principals at the call of the High school principal or the superintendent.

A. P. Smith will leave this evening on a business trip to Chicago and other cities in Illinois. He will be absent several days.

HORSE THROWS SWITCH

WRECK OF FAST PASSENGER TRAIN ON OREGON & WASHINGTON LINE IS MOST UNIQUE.

FORMER ESCANABA MAN IS HURT

Locomotive Strikes Animal, Which is Hurled Against Switch Standard, Causing Smash--One Man Killed and Four Injured--Charles H. Gilbertson Among the Latter--Train Splits, Part Going on Ore Track and Part on Another--The Story.

Charles H. Gilbertson, formerly a resident of Escanaba and at one time employed as a brakeman by the Chicago & Northwestern Railway company, now a conductor for the Oregon & Washington railway, was injured recently in a railway wreck, the cause of which is most unique. Mr. Gilbertson's injuries are not reported to be serious, but his back was severely sprained. The story of the wreck is most interesting and as told by the Oregonian of Portland, Ore., is as follows:

One Man Killed. Struck by the Oregon & Washington fast passenger train at Wyeth, Ore. a horse was responsible for throwing the switch which wrecked the train, causing the death of R. A. Shipler, a tramp and injuring four employes of the road Thursday night.

The injured are Engineer E. G. Farley, scalp cut open; Daniel McNamary, Spokane, legs scalded; Conductor Charles H. Gilbertson, Portland, back sprained; Brakeman D. H. Hough, Portland, injured about the head and legs.

Block System Disarranged. In running into the open switch the block system of signals was disarranged for the second time since its installation. The first occasion was when the famous "silver thaw" occurred in 1906. At that time even the signal systems were frozen and all of the signals were out of commission.

Thursday night the fast train was approaching the town of Wyeth, the signals showing a clear track. Within a few feet of the switch the engine struck a horse, the carcass of the animal being thrown against the switch standard with sufficient force to break it and allow the rails to swing open. The oncoming train divided, part of the cars taking one track and part the other.

Out of the Ordinary. For years the Harriman system has prided itself on the most perfect system of block signals on the Coast. It is so arranged that the disturbance of a rail will flash a signal for miles on either side of the place where the break occurs. A rolling stone which dislodges or breaks a rail causes the signal to be instantly flashed. It is that feature of equipment which has been the chief protection of the road against train robbers.

Railroad men consider the cause of Thursday's wreck to be one of the most unique in local railroad history.

YOUNG GIRL IS VICTIM OF A TERRIBLE CRIME

(By Associated Press.) Goodrich, Ont., Sept. 26.--The body of Elizabeth Anderson, aged 16 years, who disappeared Sunday, was found today in a deserted house on the outskirts of the town. She evidently was murdered, her body being horribly mutilated.

JURORS FOR CIRCUIT COURT ARE DRAWN

They Will Serve at the Regular October Term of Court, Which Convenes on Monday, the 24th--List Includes Citizens of Escanaba, Gladstone and Townships.

The Delta county jury commissioners met at the court house this afternoon and drew the petit jurors who are to serve during the regular October term of the circuit court for Delta county, which opens on Monday, October 24.

At this term of court there will not be heard any petitions for naturalization, the law forbidding holding such hearings so near the time of a general election.

The jury commissioners are County Clerk Semer, Sheriff Aronson and Justices of the Peace Glaser and Linden. Following is the list of the jurors they drew:

- Escanaba City. First Ward--George English, Jacob P. Miller. Second Ward--Charles M. Thatcher, Julius Greenhoot. Third Ward--Samuel Dunn, Peter Olson. Fourth Ward--Edward Bolger, Otto Stegath. Fifth Ward--Hjalmar Berg, William Hanrahan. Sixth Ward--A. J. Valentine. Seventh Ward--Henry North. Gladstone City. First Ward--John Louis. Second Ward--Otto Haberman. Third Ward--William Partlow. ESCANABA LOSES PIONEER RESIDENT

Mrs. Elizabeth Buchholz, Resident of Escanaba Since 1881, Passes Away at the Age of 86 Years--Leaves Four Sons and Four Daughters--Other Details.

Following a prolonged illness resulting chiefly from the infirmities of old age, Mrs. Elizabeth Buchholz passed away this morning at her home 324 North Sarah street.

Mrs. Buchholz was one of Escanaba's pioneer residents, having lived here since 1881, and was 86 years old. Her husband died twelve or thirteen years ago. She is survived by four sons and four daughters, all except two of the latter living in this city.

The sons are Nicholas, John, Peter and James Buchholz, and the daughters are Mrs. John Friedtgen and Mrs. S. B. Jensen of this city, Mrs. Anton Odell of Norway and Mrs. Kate Schmidt of Minneapolis. Mrs. Buchholz was well known and held in high esteem by a large number of friends.

The funeral will be held from St. Joseph's church at nine o'clock Wednesday morning. Rev. Father Julius will conduct the services and interment will be in St. Joseph's cemetery.

YOUTH DIES OF LOCKJAW

Alphonse Ethier of Perronville Succumbs to Wound Accidentally Sustained While Hunting on September 16. Is Shot With His Own Gun.--The Story.

Alphonse Ethier, aged sixteen years whose home was at Perronville, died at the Delta County hospital about 8:50 o'clock Sunday night from lockjaw superinduced by a gunshot wound which he accidentally sustained while out hunting in the woods near Perronville on Friday, September 16.

Young Ethier was brought to the hospital from Perronville by Dr. W. A. Lemire in his automobile Sunday afternoon, but his condition was such as to preclude hope for his recovery. Death followed a few hours after the boy reached the hospital.

His remains were taken to the undertaking establishment of J. A. Allo and after being prepared for burial removed to the home of his sister, Mrs. John Henry, 1717 Ludington street.

The funeral will be held at eight o'clock tomorrow morning from St. Anne's church and the remains will be given burial in St. Anne's cemetery. The dead boy's relatives, his stepfather and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome LaPere, and a brother are here to attend the funeral.

Story of the Accident.

Young Ethier's death is particularly sad from the circumstances which caused it. According to the story told by relatives of the dead boy, he was accidentally shot a week ago Friday while out partridge hunting in the vicinity of Perronville. With him at the time was a boy cousin about thirteen years old and the details of the mishap as related later by the two boys correspond.

It appears that while Alphonse was clambering over a large log with his shotgun, a 12-gauge, under his arm, the gun slipped and fell partially to the ground. Alphonse, in attempting to pick the gun up again, caught hold of it by the muzzle and drew it toward him. While doing this the trigger caught in a branch and was then released in such a manner as to discharge the weapon and almost the entire charge of shot and wadding entered into the unfortunate boy's right arm from the wrist up.

Wounded Boy Walks a Mile.

Notwithstanding his terrible wound, which bled freely, the wounded boy, with the assistance of his young cousin, walked more than a mile to the home of his aunt, Mrs. Absalom Brunette, where he lapsed into unconsciousness.

Dr. Trieber of Bark River was called and attended the boy, who appeared to be getting along well until last Saturday morning, when symptoms of tetanus, commonly called lockjaw, developed. His condition became rapidly worse and it was decided to bring him to the hospital where he might receive the best treatment available. He was too far gone, however, for his life to be saved and his death occurred as stated.

So far as known this is the first hunting fatality of the season in this section.

DEATH TAKES LITTLE GIRL FROM PARENTS

Bernice Metevier, the five year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Metevier died Sunday at the family home, 215 North Birch street. The funeral will be held from St. Anne's church at two o'clock tomorrow afternoon, with interment in St. Anne's cemetery.

RUNAWAY GIRL IS BROUGHT BACK HOME

About three weeks ago Sarah LaChapelle, aged fifteen years, left her home and widowed mother in this city without permission or giving any intimation of her intentions. Mrs. LaChapelle reported the runaway of her daughter to the police and inquiries were at once instituted to learn of her whereabouts if possible. Several days ago information was received that the girl was in Milwaukee, but the police were unable to locate her. Undersheriff T. J. Curran undertook to find the girl and went to Milwaukee for that purpose. He succeeded and brought the girl back home, arriving with her Sunday morning. Mr. Curran found the girl working as a domestic in a private family. She had not come to any harm through her escapade.

A son was born Sunday morning to Mr. and Mrs. Rueben Gossett of Sault Ste. Marie. Mrs. Gossett, who was formerly Miss Bertha Derwin of this city, is a guest at the home of her sister, Mrs. Louis Lang, 316 Georgia street.

HARD FIGHT BEING WAGED.

The fight which is being waged against tuberculosis in the majority of the states throughout the union is one that will undoubtedly be a winning one if the public at large cooperate with the efforts of those in charge of the different sanitariums and tuberculosis camps throughout the United States, says the Green Bay Gazette.

The death list this year caused by tuberculosis will unquestionably be considerably smaller than last season and it is hoped by the officers of the different organizations fighting to stamp out the white plague that the following years will also show a big decrease not only in the number of deaths but also in the number of cases.

South Dakota is not lagging behind in the procession in the warfare against the white plague. Work has been commenced at Custer on a sanitarium for tubercular patients. This sanitarium is to be erected by the state and will be conducted at the expense of the state. The location for this sanitarium it is claimed is the best site in the country for such purpose and every aid that medical and sanitary science can offer will be utilized by the state authorities in charge of the project. The number of such institutions throughout the United States at the present time is very large and all of them seem to be filled to overflowing with patients. Secret societies are beginning to establish camps for those afflicted with this dreadful disease and this also will help those who are waging such a war against the white plague to obtain more speedy results.

The state of Wisconsin was one of the first states in the union to start the campaign against tuberculosis and great strides have been made during the few years that the Wisconsin anti-tuberculosis association has been organized.

"SCOUTS" IN GOOD HANDS.

In the opinion of the Buffalo Express and doubtless in that of many individuals who have watched the spread of the movement, the Boy Scouts of America is destined to become the largest and most influential and powerful boy organization in the United States. It is in an embryonic state now, but its success is assured and safe in the hands of such prominent men as Jacob A. Rills, president of the Rills Settlement; Ernest Thompson, author and naturalist.

W. D. Boyce, publisher; Luther Halsey Gulick, M. D., Russell Sage foundation; Dan Beard, founder of the Boy Pioneers, Sons of Daniel Boone; Edgar M. Robinson, general secretary boys' work committee, International Y. M. C. A., and Colin F. Livingstone of the American National Bank, Washington, D. C., all of whom constitute the national committee on organization of the Boy Scouts of America, and every man of whom is distinctly and deeply interested in the welfare and life of the boy.

No better qualified and competent committee of men of national reputation could have been selected to act in the capacity of advisers and counselors of this movement. In John L. Alexander, formerly the secretary for boys at the Arch street branch, Y. M. C. A., Philadelphia, as general manager of the scout movement, no more efficient and talented manager could have been secured. He is without question the greatest philosopher on the subject of the boy and the boy problem today.

Democratic candidates should be reminded that it is one thing to extend your hind legs anywhere loose in the bushes, and another to build a structure of legislation in a workmanlike manner.

Many men who are laughing at Bob Chanler would find it a money making proposition to turn over the purse to the real head of their families.

NEW MEXICO NEWS.

The Tierra Amarilla grant, with its 500,000 acres of hills and valleys, the most abundant water supply of any irrigated section of the west, ideal climatic conditions, is an empire within itself, awaiting the hands of development. In order to see what this soil will produce all one has to do is to take a trip from Chama to Tierra Amarilla. The first crop of alfalfa is all safely housed and the farmers are in the midst of an excellent timothy harvest. The early wheat and oats are now ripening and will soon be harvested. Potatoes look fine and the new crop long since appeared on the market.

PASTOR QUILTS CHURCH; HE IS NOT LOVE MAKER

So Says Rev. G. D. Chase, Giving Up His Pastorate at St. Johns--Story.

St. John's Mich., Sept. 26.—"I have never made love to anyone outside of my own family, and when I get into a place where I have to do so to keep my place, I am down and out. Some of the M. E. church members need a wet nurse worse than they need a pastor, but I'm not looking for that sort of a job," so said Rev. G. D. Chase, in resigning from the pastorate of the St. John's First M. E. church.

At the morning service Sunday, Rev. Chase, for one year pastor of that church, quit. A congregation of about 150 listened to the remarks in which he explained the cause for his resignation.

Grievances Against Him. It is said that a few weeks ago two members of the church who have had personal grievances against him started a petition to remove the pastor from his charge. He said that charges against him were malicious and untrue.

Mr. Chase is said to have been told by one of these persons that unless he left, the young people and the best paying members of the church would withdraw, and that he would preach to empty pews.

Will Leave Ministry. Mr. Chase said that when he came to St. John's he was given no public reception, but was left to meet people the best way he could, and that in the year he had been in St. John's he had been invited into but two homes. He said the people must remember that a pastor was not a congregation's hired man, to be discharged at anyone's outcry. He will retire from the ministry entirely, and for the first time in his life would move his family, without a home for them.

CAN INSURANCE BE GARNISHED?

Escanaba members of fraternal insurance societies may be interested in the following report given by the Marquette Mining Journal of a case which involved the question of garnishment of insurance:

The case of David G. Campbell against J. J. Stevenson, record keeper for the Knights of the Modern Maccabees, which was decided in circuit court by Judge Flannigan Thursday, hung on the question of insurance being exempt from garnishment. Mr. Campbell garnished one James E. Bye, attaching $100 held by Mr. Stevenson as a payment on disability insurance in the K. O. T. M.

Insurance is usually recognized as exempt from garnishment, but in this case the plaintiff held that as Bye was a resident of another state the usual exemption did not apply. Judge Flannigan, however, decided the case in favor of the defendant. Local attorneys would be glad to see the case go to the supreme court in order that this mooted question might be finally settled.

BELIEVES PRAYER SAVED HIS LIFE

(Special U. T. Service.) Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 25.—Divine intervention in answer to a prayer uttered as he struggled under the waters of the Mississippi river after he had sunk for the third time in the belief of Byrd Busby, erstwhile crack all around athlete at Vanderbilt university and a former star in the Cotton States league, alone saved his life. Busby lies at his home, 820 Seventh street, slowly recovering from his experience. Before his prayer that he might be saved for the sake of his wife and daughter was finished, his hand came in contact with a cable stretched from the bed of the stream to support an inclined plane.

PERFECTS GASOLINE TRACTION ENGINE

(Special U. T. Service.)

Racine, Wis., Sept. 26.—George W. Morris, formerly superintendent of the J. I. Case Threshing Machine company has perfected a four-cylinder gasoline traction engine which is declared by manufacturers of farming implements to be the best ever built.

To operate the engine for a day, only a small quantity of gasoline is required and there is no danger of sparks setting fire to the crops. The engine was given a test yesterday and pulled ten John Deere plows, each fourteen inches wide turning over a strip of land 140 inches wide and from six to eight inches deep. It is believed that a corporation will be organized here for the manufacture of the new engine.

THE SILVER HORDE

By Rex Beach

COPYRIGHT, 1909, BY HARPER & BROTHERS

"You deserted this morning, eh?"
"I did. I want a bath and some clean clothes and a whole lot of sleep."
He was granted his desires.

The Bedford Castle having discharged her cargo steamed away to return in August.
The middle of June brought the first king salmon, scouts sent on ahead of the "sockeyes," but Boyd made no effort to take advantage of this run, laboring manfully to prepare for the advance of the main army, that terrific horde that was soon to come from the mysterious depths either to make or ruin him. Once the run proper started there would be no more opportunity for building or for setting up machinery. He must be ready and waiting by the first of July.

For some time his tin machines had been busy night and day turning out great sheets of gleaming cans, while the carpenters and machinists completed their tasks. The gill netters were overhauling their gear, the beach was lined with fishing boats. On their deck great piles of seines and drift nets were being inspected. Three miles below Big George with a picked crew and a pile-driver was building the fishtrap. It consisted of half mile "leads," or rows of piling, capped with strainers upon which netting was hung and terminated in "hearts," "corals" and "spillers," the intricate arrangements of webbing and timbers out of which the fish were to be taken.

As for Boyd the fester in his veins mounted daily as he saw his dream assuming concrete form. Always he found Cherry at his shoulder, unobtrusive and silent for the most part, yet intensely observant and keenly alive to every action. She seemed to have the faculty of divination, knowing when to be silent and when to join her mood with his, and she gave him valuable help, for she possessed a practical mind. One day when their reparations were nearly completed a foreman came to Boyd and said excitedly:

"Boss, I'd like you to look at the on Chinks right away."
"What's up?"
"I don't know, but something is wrong." A hurried examination showed the machines to be cunningly crippled; certain parts were entirely missing while others were broken.

The iron Chink, or mechanical tender, is perhaps the most ingenious of the many labor saving devices used the salmon fisheries. It is an awkward looking, yet very effective contrivance of revolving knives and conveyors which cleans the fish whole and rivers it cleaned, clipped, cut and ready to be washed. With superhuman dexterity it does the work of twenty lightning like butchers. With the aid of these iron Chinks Boyd saw that his fish would spoil before they could be handled. He hastened nightward to George Balt. A half hour's run down the bay and he clambered from his launch to the pile driver, where, amid the confusion and noise, he made known his tidings. The fellow's calmness amazed him. "What are you going to do now?" "Butcher by hand," said the fisherman.

But how? That takes skilled labor as of it."
George grinned. "I'm too old a bird to catch like this. I figured on accents from the start, and when I got my Chinkmen I included a crew that'll handle the fish. Willis Marsh will have to again."

CHAPTER XIV.

WHILE they were talking a tug-boat towing a pile driver came into view. Boyd asked the meaning of its presence in this part of the river.
"I don't know," answered Big George, staring intently. "Yonder like another one behind it, with a lot of piles."
"Thought all the company traps up stream."
"They are. I can't tell what's up to."

Half hour later, when the new had come to anchor a short distance below, Emerson's companion thought he had known it.

"What's that?"
"It's going to build a trap on each side of this one and cut off our fish."
"Lord! Can he do that?"
"Why not? The law gives us the right to do that. As long as he stays outside of that limit he can do as he wants to."

"Of what use is our trap? The follow definite courses close to shore, and if he intercepts them they reach us—why, then we'll what he lets through."
"His plan," said Big George. "It's an old game, but it don't work. You can't tell what will do till they do it. I've this point of land for five miles and I know more about it than else except the Creator. If they bug the shore, then we're up to it, but I think they strike in about here; that's why I chose this site. We can't tell, though, till the run starts. All we can do now is see that them people keep their distance."

The "lead" of a salmon trap consists of a row of web hung piling that runs out from the shore for many hundred feet, forming a high, stout fence that turns the schools of fish and leads them into cunningly contrived inclosures, or "pounds," at the outer extremity, from which they are "brailled" as needed. These corrals are so built that once the fish are inside they cannot escape. The entire structure is devised upon the principle that the salmon will not make a short turn, but will swim as nearly as possible in a straight line. It looked to Boyd as if Marsh, by blocking the line of progress above and below, had virtually destroyed the efficiency of the new trap, rendering the cost of its construction a total loss.

That evening when he had seen the night shift started Emerson decided to walk up to Cherry's house, for he was worried over the day's developments and felt that an hour of the girl's society might serve to clear his thoughts.

Cherry's house was situated a short distance above the cannery which served as Willis Marsh's headquarters, and Boyd's path necessarily took him past his enemy's very stronghold. Finding the tide too high to permit of passing beneath the dock, he turned up among the buildings, where, to his surprise, he encountered his own day foreman talking earnestly with a stranger.

The fisherman started guiltily.
"What are you doing here, Larsen?" asked Boyd.

"I just walked up after supper to have a talk with an old mate."

"Who is he?"
"He's Mr. Marsh's foreman."
Emerson spoke out bluntly: "See here, I don't like this. These people have caused me a lot of trouble already, and I don't want my men hanging around here."

"Oh, that's all right," said Larsen carelessly. "I'll and me used to fish together." And as if this were a sufficient explanation he turned back to his conversation, leaving Emerson to proceed on his way.

He found Cherry at home and, flinging himself into one of her easy chairs, relieved his mind of the day's occurrences.

"Marsh is building those traps purely out of spite, she declared indignantly when he had finished. "He doesn't need any more fish—he has plenty of traps farther up the river."

"To be sure! It looks as if we might have to depend upon the gill netters."
"We will know before long. If the fish strike in where George expects Marsh will be out a pretty penny."

"And if they don't strike in where George expects we will be out all the expense of building that trap."

"Exactly! It's a fascinating business, isn't it? It's a business in which the unexpected is forever happening. But the stakes are high, and—I know you will succeed. By the way," she continued, "have you heard the historic story about the pink salmon?"

He shook his head.
"Well, there was a certain shrewd old cannery man in Washington state whose catch consisted almost wholly of pink fish. As you know, that variety does not bring as high a price as red salmon, like these. Well, finding that he could not sell his catch, owing to the popular prejudice about color, this man printed a lot of striking can labels, which read, 'Best Grade Pink Salmon, Warranted Not to Turn Red in the Can.' They tell me it worked like a charm."

"No wonder," Boyd laughed.
"I wish I were a man," she went on. "I'd like to engage in a business of this sort, something that would require ingenuity and daring. I'd like to handle big affairs."

"There is your copper mine. You surely handled that very cleverly."

Cherry's expression altered, and she shot a quick glance at him as he went on.

"How is it coming along, by the way? I haven't heard you mention it lately."

"Very well, I believe. The men were down the other day and told me it was a big thing."

"I'm delighted. How does it seem to be rich?"

"I—I hardly know. Rich! That has always been my dream, and yet—"

"The wonderful feature about dreams," he took advantage of her pause to say, "is that they come true."

"Not all of them—not the real, wonderful dreams," she returned.

"Oh, yes! My dream is coming true, and so is yours."

"I have given up hoping for that," she said, without turning.

"But you shouldn't give up. Remember that all the great things ever accomplished were only dreams at first, and the greater the accomplishments the more impossible they seemed to begin with."

Something in the girl's attitude and in her silence made him feel that his words rang hollow and commonplace.

While they had talked an unaccustomed excitement had been mounting in his brain, and it held him now in a kind of delicious embarrassment. It was as if both had been suddenly enfolded in a new and mysterious understanding without the need of speech. He did not tell himself that Cherry loved him, but he roused to a fresh perception of her beauty and felt himself privileged in her nearness.

It may have been the unusual ardor of his gaze that warmed her cheeks and brought her eyes back from the world outside. At any rate, she turned, flashing him a startled glance that caused his pulse to leap anew. Rising silently, she went past him to the piano. Never before had she surprised that look in his eyes and at the realization a wave of confusion surged over her. She strove to calm herself through her music, which shielded while it gave expression to her mood, and neither spoke as the evening shadows crept in upon them. But the girl's exaltation was short lived; the thought came that Boyd's feeling was but transitory; he was not the sort to burn lasting incense before more than one shrine. Nevertheless, at this moment he was hers, and in the joy of that certainty she let the moments slip.

They heard a child crying somewhere in the rear of the house and Chakawana's voice soothing; then in a moment the Indian girl appeared in the doorway, saying something about going out with Constantine. Cherry acquiesced half consciously, impatient of the intrusion. Boyd finally rose and, going to the door, saw that the sky was deeply overcast, rendering the night as dark as in a far lower latitude.

"I've overstayed my welcome," he ventured and smiled at her answering laugh.

With a trace of solicitude she said: "Wait! I'll get you a raincoat." But he reached out a detaining hand. In the darkness it encountered the bare flesh of her arm.

"Please don't! You'd have to strike a light to find it, and I don't want a light now."

"It has been a pleasant evening," she said faintly.

"I saw you for the first time tonight, Cherry. I think I have begun to know you."

Again she felt her heart leap. Reaching out to say good-by, his hand slipped down over her arm like a caress until her palm lay in his.

With trembling, gentle hands she pushed him from her.

When the black bulk of Marsh's cannery loomed ahead of Emerson he left the gravel beach and turned up among the buildings, seeking to retrace his former course. As he turned the corner of the first building he nearly ran against a man who was standing motionless against the wall. The fellow, with a sharp exclamation, vanished into the gloom. Boyd lost no time in gaining the plank runway that led to the dock and, finding an angle in the building, backed into it and waited.

From his momentary glimpse of the man as he made off he knew that he was tall and active—just the sort of person to prove dangerous in an encounter. But if his suspicions were correct there must be others close by, and Boyd wondered why he had heard no signal. After a breathless wait of a moment or two he stole cautiously out, and, selecting the darkest shadows, slipped from one to another till he was caught by the sound of voices issuing from the yawning entrance of the main building on his right.

The next moment his tension relaxed; one of the speakers was a woman. Evidently his alarm had been needless, for these people, whoever they were, made no effort to conceal their presence. On the contrary, the woman had raised her tone to a louder pitch, although her words were still undistinguishable.

WOODPECKER BESTS AMERICAN EAGLE

The American woodpecker may not be as showy a bird as the American eagle, but there are persons who believe the former to be the more useful of the two, and the woodpecker appears to be in a fair way of getting what is coming to him. The state of Washington, for instance, has done the woodpecker signal honor by substituting him for the eagle on the official seal. And there's a reason. Washington is a great fruit-growing state, and grubs, worms and insects damage or destroy the fruit trees and diminish the yield and impair the quality of the fruit. The woodpecker feeds on "bugs" of all kinds and keeps everlastingly on the hunt of them. The lordly eagle scorns such humble game, and as a result the farmers have little or no use for him. So he goes off the state seal and the woodpecker goes on, which is an encouraging example of the real worker getting his due, while the ornamental but otherwise valueless eagle gets the "throw down."

EPISCOPALIANS TO HOLD BIG CONCLAVE

Most Important Gathering of That Denomination Ever Called in the United States to Be Held in Cincinnati Early in October—England to Be Represented.

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 26.—What is considered by the leading bishops and lay deputies as the most important convocation of Episcopalians ever held in the United States will be held in this city early next month when the general convention assembles in a triennial session, beginning October 5. Delegates from all parts of the United States and from far-away Alaska, Cuba, Porto Rico, Hawaii and the Philippines will be present, together with a number of eminent visitors from Canada and various countries of Europe. The Canadian delegation will be headed by the Bishop of Huron and will include several other churchmen of note. England will be represented by the Right Rev. John Wordsworth, D. D., Bishop of Salisbury. The bishop, who is one of the most distinguished pulpits orators of England, has accepted an invitation to preach the opening sermon.

The lay representation at the coming convention will be scarcely less distinguished than that of the clergy. Heading the list of laymen will be J. Pierpont Morgan, the New York financier, who has rented a large house in an exclusive residential district and will entertain lavishly during the convention. Another notable lay delegate will be Judge Horace Lurton of the United States Supreme Court, who will sit as a deputy from the diocese of Tennessee.

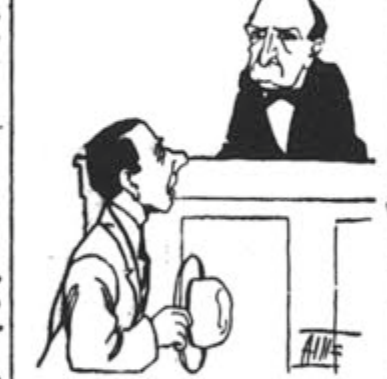

Among the matters to be discussed and acted upon by the convention are the so-called open pulpit canon, the question of changing the name of the church, and the question of adopting the English system of electing bishops suffragan to assist in large dioceses and in dioceses where the negro problem is uppermost. It is expected that several new bishops will be chosen by the convention.

A Strictly Cash Business

The Escanaba Steam Laundry Co.
Decide to Do Cash Business.

We have hereby decided to carry on a strictly cash business, on and after August 1, 1910.

Our reasons for doing so are as follows:

FIRST: Our accounts being necessarily small, an endless amount of confusion and expense is entailed to an injurious degree, and the loss in collections and time and attention it requires we can give to our work rooms and insure a higher standard of work.

SECOND: Our current expenses are cash and must be paid when due. The stand we have taken is one we have been forced into and we hope all will lend us their aid.

ANSWER

One—the flat, sad, sickly looking one—was baked with poor baking powder; possibly the high-priced kind—possibly the cheap, big can kind. It denotes a lack of leavening gas, or an uneven distribution of same—or both. The other—the large, light, fluffy one—was prepared with Calumet Baking Powder, and denotes the never-failing, delicious baking that always results from its use.

Calumet does not cost as much as the high price baking powder, but it is very much superior in every way—it is purer—more reliable—more healthful. Here are the reasons:

All baking powders undergo a chemical change in the process of baking. You do not take it into the stomach in the same form as it is in the can. For example: When you use Cream of Tartar Baking Powder you get Rochelle Salts in your food, because the Cream of Tartar during this reaction turns into Rochelle Salts. This, as you know, is a drug, and should be taken only under doctor's orders.

Calumet is so carefully and scientifically prepared that the neutralization of the ingredients is absolutely perfect.

That it is absolutely pure and of highest quality is proven by the fact that

SAND IS GOOD TO EXTINGUISH FIRES

Using It is One of the Best Ways to Smother Gasoline Flames—The Department of Commerce and Labor Officially Recognizes Its Efficiency—Details.

The local customs office has received a copy of an official letter sent by the department of commerce and labor to the collector of customs at Stonington, Conn., which may be of interest to all motor boat owners, as bearing upon regulations governing the carrying of the means of extinguishing burning gasoline. It may also interest anyone, to know how to extinguish gasoline fires.

The letter follows: "Referring to the alleged violation of section 6 of the act of June 9, 1910—equipment of motor boats in the case of the Emma Louise, reported by you, you will please note that the owner of the boat swears that the Emma Louise carried sand in pails. If such be the fact, if the sand were ready for instant use in sufficient quantity, the department perceives no violation of the section. Sand in receptacles ready for immediate use in sufficient quantity is one of the promptest and most effectual means of extinguishing burning gasoline. Coarse flour, suitable chemicals and fire extinguishers are among other means.

"In executing section six where a motor boat is reported for having no means for immediate use of promptly and effectually extinguishing burning gasoline, you will report the facts to the United States attorney, advising this department—bureau of navigation—and the offender of your action. The court will fix the penalty.

"If in doubt in any case whether the means carried comply with law, you will report the facts to this department— notifying the alleged offender—which will instruct you as to your future action. When the department instructs you to report such cases to the United States attorney, the court will determine whether there has been a violation of law, and if so, the amount of penalty.

"In all cases be sure of facts."

EXPRESS COMPANIES UNDER FIRE AT LANSING

Have a Hearing Before State Railroad Commission--Want Higher Rates in U. P.

Express companies doing business in Michigan found their rates and methods of serving patrons subjected to severe criticism at the hearing at Lansing last week before the state railroad commission. There was no decision announced by the commission as to whether it considers the present rates reasonable, as the shipping interests desire to complete certain statistics for the information of the commission before it takes action. It is a safe surmise, however, that the commission is perfectly satisfied there is good reason to revise the entire schedule of express rates. The next hearing will be called in about sixty days, when the commission will be presented with a comparison of the rates in effect in other states with those charged Michigan shippers.

Two Prominent Features. There were two things about the hearing that attracted particular attention. One was the utter lack of sympathy between the patrons of the express companies and the corporations' representatives. The other was the assertion of the companies that the commission has no right to interfere and require the companies to make the rate to intermediate points as low as that to points further away when reached by competing lines. The shippers' attitude was that the express companies are not disposed to treat them fairly in any respect, and they carried the attack to the opportunity. The assumption of the express companies that the commission has no authority to require them to make the rates for intermediate points as low as to competing points somewhat astonished the state officials, for the railroads of the state have never raised this question, but have conceded that the law granting that authority is valid and have accepted rulings and revisions of rates.

It is Not Surprising. That there was a fair basis for the celebrated "Pigs is Pigs" story developed when the rate and tariff sheet matter came up for consideration, and the complex features and confusing rates and rules were brought out. In extenuation and explanation the United States Express company's representative stated that his company has in effect something like 13,500,000 rates and added that it was not surprising if there existed in all that array an occasional injustice or discriminatory rate. He said every effort is made to guard against such errors and would not admit that any considerable number of mistakes of that nature could be found. Chairman Glasgow read computations made by the commission showing the rate charged by different express companies for carrying 33 pounds 60 miles varied greatly, running 60 cents, 88 cents, 50 cents, 76 cents and 66, while for 100 pounds for 100 miles the variation was 75 cents, 90 cents, $1. $1.10 and $1.25. The express men offered no explanation of these widely differing rates. U. P. Companies Want More. The commission is inclined to make their new schedule of rates on a mileage basis. The Pacific, Wells Fargo Co., and the Western Express companies doing business in this state all said they made rates on a mileage basis and considered that the proper way. The American and United States admitted that perhaps fair rates could be prepared on that basis.

The companies doing business in the upper peninsula want to be granted higher rates than are charged in the lower peninsula.

MORE INFORMATION ON HARBOR SOUGHT

Detroit Harbor, Washington Island, Project is Looked Upon With Favor by Major Bromwell of the United States Engineering Department—The Situation.

Major Bromwell of the United States engineering department, who had charge of the hearing held in Green Bay relative to the improvement of the harbor at Detroit Harbor, agreed to receive further information and facts from the citizens of that place than given during the hearing proper. It is said that some valuable points in favor of deepening the harbor and of making it a harbor of refuge for vessels can be given by the citizens and mariners and that there is every reason to believe that the proposed improvements may be carried out by the government.

The trade in fish and potatoes is large at Detroit Harbor. It was said at the hearing that the Goodrich Transportation company's steamers and the Green Bay line boats would touch that port if the harbor was improved. The harbor is land-locked and would make an excellent place of refuge for boats during a storm. The citizens of that place are anxious to make a summer resort out of it and consider that if the larger boats touched Detroit Harbor that large numbers of tourists would visit it yearly.

Major Bromwell will consider the information and claims for the port on Washington Island, and if he recommends that improvements be made, Representative Congressman Gustave Kuestermann of Green Bay will seek to have congress appropriate the needed amount of money.

NOTED PLAYER HAS RETIRED

Frank Bowerman, One of Most Eccentric Figures in Baseball, Drops Out of Game.

With the retirement of catcher Frank Bowerman, baseball loses one of its most eccentric characters. Bowerman has been playing in the bigger leagues longer than many of the other players in the same company today have been living. He made his debut years and years ago, and has played in fast company continuously since. His best work was done for the New York Giants, with whom he played when they were at the pinnacle of their fame. Bowerman has always been a lively, scrappy player, up to his neck in the struggle all the way. He left the Giants and took a whirl at the managerial end of the game in Boston, but his Beaneaters, after making a glorious start, fell by the wayside when the race grew warm. Reports say that he trained his men too fine early in the season. At any rate he left Boston before last season was over, and announced that he had retired from the game. Later he joined the Indianapolis club, and was with them again this year. Recently he left the team and went to his home in Michigan. It is hardly likely that he will play again.

RAILROAD MAN KNOWN HERE IS PROMOTED

Railroad men of Escanaba have been advised of the promotion of John M. Cleveland from traveling freight agent for the Pere Marquette road, to commercial agent of the Pere Marquette, with offices in Milwaukee. Mr. Cleveland has been traveling in upper Michigan for several years, and his many acquaintances will be pleased to learn of his advancement.

FORESEES FOUR C'S BIG LEAD

The Continental Casualty Company of Chicago goes steadily forward in the extension of its business to a well satisfied clientele on the exclusive lines of personal accident and health insurance and its sound financial resources keep pace with its business extension. Thus, the company's annual statement at the close of 1909 shows gains not only in income and assets, but in net surplus, the assets amounting now to $1,917,198 and the surplus to $398,374 above its $300,000 capital and all liabilities. Its reserves, statutory and special, amount to $897,940 well invested for the protection of its policyholders and 1910 will doubtless set another milestone in the road of progress.—The Underwriters Review.

BRIGHT STAR AMONG ATHLETICS

Pitcher Harry Krause.

In the coming series of games for the world's championship between the Chicago Cubs and the Philadelphia Athletics, Manager Connie Mack, of the latter team, is said to have a trick up his sleeve in the person of Pitcher Harry Krause that he is going to spring on the cubs. Young Krause, who is a left-hander, has not been

CLAUDE ROSSMAN CAME BACK

Former Detroit and St. Louis Player Sensation of Year on Minneapolis Association Team.

Claude Rossmann's comeback is the talk of baseball fans in every city of the American association. The large one hit the ball with a painful regularity and played a much improved game in the outfield. He has the worst field in the league to play, as the sun is ever present in the Minneapolis right garden.

Recently at Columbus one of the club officials called Rossmann aside and asked him why it was that he did not play better baseball in Columbus. The fellow who asked the question had always treated Rossmann well, and Ross has always spoken well of this fellow. And Ross told him in short order:

"You always treated me absolutely white and I appreciated it." Ross is reported as having said. "But there were others. Some of the fellows I had to rub against were not to my liking nor I to theirs. We didn't get along any better than two cats with their tails tied together and thrown seen very often of late, it being whispered that Manager Mack is intentionally keeping him in the dark that the Chicago team could not have a chance to study his curves.

Krause has a batting average of .240, fields 933, and is said to be especially effective against hard-hitting teams.

They knocked me at every corner—spread stories of my alleged weak points, and otherwise made life miserable. I could not work right under the conditions, and it was better for me and better for the club for a change.

TRAINING IN ANCIENT TIMES

Athletes Were Put Through Severe "Dose of Sprouts" and Trainers Led Very Careful Life.

Some interesting comparisons may be drawn between ancient and modern athletes. The athletes of ancient Greece, for example, if they should appear to view today, would not be taken for a football team.

The old-time man of muscle wore his hair cropped, a distinguishing feature in a land of long hair. Trainers for the games led a very careful life. They were under orders for a rigid diet, which became especially severe just before the contest.

Their bill of fare consisted of fresh cheese, dried figs and wheaten porridge. A little later in the era meat was allowed, with a preference for beef and pork. Bread was not allowed with meat and sweets not at all.

At one time a strange custom of diet came into vogue. Every day at the conclusion of practice the athletes were obliged to consume enormous quantities of food, which was digested in a long-continued sleep. The amount was gradually increased until huge meals of meat were taken. This diet produced a corpulence which was of advantage in wrestling, but injurious for other sports.

Game in Record Time.
In the concluding game of the Southern league season, played at Atlanta, Mobile defeated Atlanta in nine full innings, playing the game in 23 minutes. This is believed to be the record for fast games.

FISHERMEN MAKE HEAVY CARP HAUL

(Special U. T. Service.)

Stoughton, Wis., Sept. 26.—J. H. Converse, Fox Lake, and his force of carp seiners on Wednesday at Lake Kegonsa made a haul of 4,540 carp, weighing about 50,000 pounds, and valued at about $3,000. It is the largest haul they have made at this lake.

On Thursday and Friday full carloads of fish were shipped to New York where they are "salmoned."

The fish are brought eight miles to Stoughton where they are boxed in ice in 150 pound lots for shipment. One pike, six silver bass and two bullheads were all the game fish with the 4,500 carp.

INSURE YOUR INCOME

Charity's Dole is Superfluous When a Wage Earner or Man on Salary Has a Continental Health and Accident Policy in the House.

The chances are that you, as a sane, reasonable minded man or woman, are a believer in the great principle of insurance.

It is more than probable that you now hold insurance of some kind—protection against fire, or storm, or death.

We hope that you do. You will appreciate better what we have to say to you.

It is our business to protect men, and, what's more, women and children—the wife and the little folks—not only against the great catastrophe which must in time overtake all of us, right now, today.

Ours is broad and better insurance. It is easy to quote figures to you.

To tell you that in this country 3,000,000 people are today seriously ill; that nine days' sickness each year is the average per individual; that ten out of every hundred deaths in this country are due to accident that 150,000 persons will die from accident in the United States in the next twelve months; that 5,000,000 homes will be made wretched. Why not protect your homes by insuring today, tomorrow may be too late. J. R. Harris, District Manager. 600,000 people are today seriously ill. It's an ill wind that blows nobody good, but a Continental policy is better than a cyclone call.

MAURICE SMITH AT REST IN LAKEVIEW

Funeral services over the remains of the late Maurice Smith, who died in Detroit late Wednesday afternoon, were conducted Sunday afternoon at the home of the parents of the deceased, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Smith, 604 South Elmore street, by Rev. E. E. Williams, rector of St. Stephen's church and were quite largely attended. Following the services the remains were conveyed to Lakeview cemetery and given interment. Upon the casket and grave were numerous beautiful floral tributes, including a magnificent set piece from the King's Sons' society, who attended the funeral in a body. The pallbearers were schoolmates of the deceased—Ernest F. Hughitt, Willis Anthony, Ray Harris, Porter Shaw, Walter Helmer and Andrew Perrin.

BOTH SIDES CERTAIN ON EVE OF BATTLE

(By Associated Press.)
Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 26.—Both the "progressives" and the "old guard" factions of the Republican party are today awaiting the arrival of the candidates for temporary chairman of the state convention tomorrow. Each side claims a majority of the delegates and is preparing a convention program. The main plank of the tentative platform of the "progressives," it is said, declares for direct nominations for congress and the legislature. It is also said that the platform will be "short, crisp and distinctively Rooseveltian."

Vice President Sherman arrived this afternoon and immediately went into conference with "old guard" leaders. He refused to be interviewed, but said he is confident he will preside over the convention.

Roosevelt Sets Forth.
Oyster Bay, N. Y., Sept. 26.—Colonel Roosevelt left this morning for Saratoga. He is confident that he will be elected temporary chairman of the Republican state convention tomorrow by a majority of at least 100.

TO SPEND $18,000 ON COUNTY ROADS

At the meeting of the Delta county road commission held Saturday afternoon it was decided to expend in the neighborhood of $18,000 in the improvement of roads during the coming year. To raise this amount of money it will be necessary to levy a two mill tax on all taxable property in the county. The estimated amounts that will be expended on the roads to be improved are as follows:
Bark River road, $500; Cornell road, $3,500; Marquette road, $500; Rapid River road, $100; Masonville road, $1,500; Portage road $3,500; Nahma road, $1,500; Garden road $1,000; Fairbanks road $400; Bay shore road, $100. The Portage and Cornell roads have been adopted as county roads.

THEATRICAL

The Peterson.—In "Managing Mired" the audience attracted to the Peterson last evening was treated to a distinct and meritorious novelty in the field of musical comedy and it is to be regretted that more people were not out to enjoy it. Not only is the comedy itself of high class, but those presenting it are finished vocalists and actors. There are but four people in the cast, but each is an artist, and their singing either in solo or ensemble selections is a treat. They are especially strong in the scenes taken from Verdi's opera, "Il Trovatore." The manner in which the roles of the comedy are handled left nothing to be desired and the production in its entirety is one of the cleanest, most wholesome and genuinely entertaining that has ever been staged at the Peterson. The company carries its own orchestra, each member of which is a skilled musician, and it works in perfect harmony with the members of the cast and the action of the play. Those in the cast are Charles W. Piquet as Lee Smith; Louis Ritzkus, as Jack Seaton; Carolyn E. Miles, as Louise Smith, and Juanita Rush, as Mildred Morrison, the young woman who needs "managing." The play was attractively staged and beautifully costumed. It is a Canadian attraction sent out by C. P. Walker of Winnipeg and is under the personal direction of Mr. Piquet. Tonight the company plays at Gladstone and tomorrow evening at Sault Ste. Marie.

after which it goes back into Canada to fill a series of dates, every one of which is to be played under a guarantee. Should the company ever play a return engagement in Escanaba it doubtless will receive a hearty welcome and a larger patronage.

Ben's Theater.—The Raeburn-Lyall Stock company opened at Ben's Theatre last night to a capacity house and many were turned away. The company is a clever one and should receive good patronage here. Their presentation of "In Arizona," last night was a meritorious one, all of the characters being in capable hands. Miss Judith Raeburn, the clever little leading woman of the company, as Roxie, the owner of the Ranchman's Rest, was a real treat. This little woman is as good in her line of work as has ever been here and should become very popular with the patrons of the house. Her portrayal of the uncultured child of the west, just budding into womanhood, was true to life and cleverly done. Charles Douglas, in the role of Jack Delmore, the road agent, handled the part in a manly fashion and was able to support Miss Raeburn. He is one of those big wholesouled fellows one is bound to like, despite the fact that he is a road-agent. To D. S. Redfield, fell the part of the unlikely but in the character of Luke Short, the gambler-sheriff, he proved himself a capable actor. Harry Barlow, as Sam, kept the audience in good humor and had his troubles with Betsy. He is a finished character actor and played his part well. Miss Elsie Barlow, in the part of Betsy Berry, was in the character at all times and handled the part most capably. Mr. Lyall, as Clay Allison, showed that he was capable of handling a better part. Mr. Abbott and Miss Montague also showed ability. Altogether, it was a very satisfactory performance and deserves good patronage. Special scenery was used and good moving pictures were shown between the acts.

SOO MARKSMEN WIN THE MUNISING CUP

At the second annual meeting of the Upper Peninsula Sportsmen's association, held at Channing last Wednesday, all of the old officers were re-elected, as follows: President, P. B. Wyman; first vice president, P. D. Swift; Houghton; second vice president, John Schuster, Manistique, secretary and treasurer, Charles E. Chipley, Sault Ste. Marie. Senator M. H. Moriarity of Crystal Falls delivered an interesting address on "Some Phases of Game Protection from the Legislative Viewpoint." The Munising cup, donated by the Munising Business Men's association, to become the property of the club winning it three years in succession, was won by the Soo club, they defeating Channing by eight points. This cup was won by the Channing club at the first meeting of the Upper Peninsula Sportsmen's association. The next meeting and tournament of the association will be held at Sault Ste. Marie.

AUSTRIANS ARRESTED FOR BEATING A MAN

Four Austrians, who live at Wells—Martin Simonic, Mike Siminic, Stephen Josinovic and Isadore Kolic—were brought before Justice Glaser this afternoon on complaint of Joseph Hosnyak, another Austrian, who claimed that he had been set upon and badly beaten by the men named in the complaint.

Two other Austrians who were said to have been implicated in the fracas, fled upon the arrival of the police at Wells this afternoon. As the witnesses of the complainant did not show up, the case was continued until Wednesday morning at nine o'clock. Bail was fixed for each of the prisoners at $100 and as none of them could furnish it, they were taken to jail.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

REACHES RIPE OLD AGE OF 105 YEARS

(Special U. T. Service.)
Madison, Wis., Sept. 26.—Mrs. Ellen Glennon, town of Fitchburg, a few miles south of here, today celebrated the 105th anniversary of her birth. She was born in the county of Posconmin, Ireland and came to America with her husband in 1847. She settled in 1858 in Dane county. She was the mother of seven children, one son who died in childhood and six daughters, five of whom are living and reside in this county. There have been forty grandchildren and twenty-six great grandchildren. At the present time, she is still able to get about unassisted.
