

CHICAGO CUBS OVERWHELMED

Philadelphia Athletics Take Third Game of the World's Series on the Cubs' Own Grounds By a Score of 12 to 5-- Details of the Slaughter.

SCORE OF TODAY'S GAME. R. H. E. Phila. 12 5 0 0 4 0 0--12 15 1 Chicago 5 6 4 2 0 0 0 2 0--5 6 4

(By Associated Press.) Chicago, Ill., Oct. 20.—Light rain this morning, accompanied by a sharp drop in the temperature, presaged uncomfortable conditions for the third game of the world's championship series...

Story of the Game. The game was called promptly at two o'clock, with an immense crowd in attendance. Ruelbach started to pitch for Chicago and Coombs went into the box for Philadelphia...

In the second inning each team made two runs and the score was a tie, 3 to 3.

Athletics Score Five Runs. In the third inning McIntyre was put in to pitch for Chicago, but after Murphy had knocked out a home run, bringing in two other players in advance of him he was yanked out and Pfeister took his place.

Chicago also scored a run in the first inning. Killing was at the receiving end of the battery for Chicago and Thomas occupied the same position for Philadelphia.

In the fourth inning the Athletics hit the ball as they pleased and passed the plate about as often as they pleased. Doubles were frequent and at the end of the session four more runs were chalked up to the credit of Philadelphia.

The eighth inning developed better luck for Chicago, which scored two runs, making its total five. Philadelphia was blanked.

Both teams drew goose eggs in the ninth and last session and the game ended with the final score standing 12 to 5 in favor of Philadelphia.

IRON MOUNTAIN GETS NEXT MEET

District W. R. C. Decides to Hold its Next Annual Convention in That City—Officers Elected For Ensuing Year Include Two From This City—Other Matters.

Iron Mountain will next October have the honor and pleasure of entertaining the 17th annual convention of the Eleventh District Woman's Relief Corps. This was decided at the final session of the W. R. C. convention held in Escanaba Wednesday.

The final session was devoted entirely to business, the program including, besides the election of officers and selection of the next convention place, a question box and other matters of interest.

The question box developed some very interesting features, for in it were a number of questions which could only be settled by an officer of the state department of the W. R. C.

The convention is considered to have been one of the most successful and profitable in the history of the district and not a little credit for that fact is due the members of the Escanaba W. R. C. who were entrusted with the program arrangements and entertainment of the delegates and other visitors.

Card Party at the Fair Tonight. This evening a card party will be the principal feature of St. Joseph's fair and in addition to the regular door prize an elaborate prize will be given for the best card player.

DEATH TERMINATES A LONG ILLNESS

After suffering for nearly two years with an incurable cancer of the throat, Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Valentine, wife of George H. Valentine, passed away about four o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the family home, 520 South Sarah street.

The funeral will be held from the First Baptist church at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon. Rev. F. W. Almale conducting the services, and interment will be made in Lakeview cemetery.

WELLMAN AND CREW ASHORE

Daring Aviators Arrive at New York and Wellman Tells of Their Rescue After Abandoning the Airship America—Experience was Perilous—

(By Associated Press.) New York, Oct. 20.—Walter Wellman and his five companions were landed here late Wednesday afternoon by the steamship Trent, which picked them up at sea after they had abandoned their dirigible balloon America and fallen in the first attempt ever made to cross the Atlantic through the air.

Equilibrator Causes Trouble. Standing on the deck of the Trent, clad in the same suit of khaki he wore when he and his crew launched the America last Saturday at Atlantic City, Wellman made this statement:

"The "equilibrator" to which Wellman attributes the failure of his voyage was the series of tanks containing gasoline which floated in the water, attached to the airship by a long rope. Its purposes in addition to storing gasoline and serving as a wireless "ground" was to keep the balloon steady, compensating for the expansion and contraction of gas due to changes in temperature, which would have made the America rise or sink erratically.

How Wellman Hurt Hand. The direct cause of abandoning the America was the exhaustion of the supply of gasoline, which had to be thrown out to save the ship. When the crew abandoned the balloon only enough was left to last about twenty-four hours.

This is Wellman's description of how he hurt his hand. "While we were afloat in our life boat trying to reach the Trent, I tried to grasp a rope thrown from the steamer. In so doing the rope got twisted around my hand and before I could get loose it nearly tore off

DAVID B. HILL IS CALLED BY DEATH

Former United States Senator and Governor of New York Passes Away—Early Today—Was Prominent—In Politics Many Years—Coined the Phrase, "I Am a Democrat."

(By Associated Press.) Albany, N. Y., Oct. 20.—David B. Hill, ex-United States Senator and formerly governor of New York, died this morning at 3:45 o'clock at the age of 67 years.

Although he deceased had been ill for nearly two weeks, his condition was not considered serious until last night, when his illness took a sudden turn for worse, his death following in a very few hours.

David B. Hill had been prominent in politics since 1868, when he was a delegate to the Democratic state convention. Since that time he had been a leader in the Democratic ranks and in 1900 he seconded the nomination of William Jennings Bryan for president.

He was governor of the state of New York in 1885-91 and was elected United States senator in 1891. Mr. Hill was the author of that once famous phrase, "I am a Democrat."

FUNERAL OF MRS. A. S. BLOMBERG

The funeral of the late Mrs. Alma S. Blomberg, who died Tuesday morning at her home, 309 North Charlotte street, was held from the Swedish Lutheran church at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. Rev. C. A. Lund conducted the services and the remains were given burial in Lakeview cemetery.

Among those in attendance at the funeral were members of the Brotherhood of American Yeomen, with which order the deceased was affiliated, and members of the local household of that order officiated as pall-bearers.

SENATOR DOLLIVER LAID IN HIS GRAVE

(By Associated Press.) Fort Dodge, Iowa, Oct. 20.—The funeral of the late Senator J. P. Dolliver was held today. During the night many distinguished friends of the late senator reached the city, included among them being Senator Cummins, Governor Carroll and state officials.

C. M. Stewart of Evanston, Ill., was chosen to pronounce the eulogy and President W. F. King of Cornell college of Mt. Vernon spoke on behalf of that institution, in which the deceased was greatly interested and for which he did much.

CRIPPEN ON STAND DENIES CHARGES

(By Associated Press.) London, Eng., Oct. 20.—Dr. Hawley Crippen went on the stand today to testify in his own behalf and gave a short sketch of his career. He denied ever having administered poison to his wife and denied all knowledge of her body having been buried in the London home. He declared that he knew nothing of the circumstances until he was arrested and returned to London.

BOILER EXPLODES; ENGINEER KILLED

(By Associated Press.) Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Oct. 20.—The boiler of an engine that was drawing a heavy freight train on the Chicago & Northwestern railroad exploded near Hartwick today, killing Engineer Edward Kollman, who was blown to pieces. Brakeman Charles Fila and Fireman Bates were both seriously hurt.

PLEASED WITH THE CONVENTION

Mrs. Florence M. Boot, senior vice department president of the Michigan Woman's Relief Corps, who was here to attend the district convention of the W. R. C., left Wednesday night for her home at Holland, Mich. Mrs. Boot was greatly pleased with the convention, and the members of the district organization were just as pleased to have her here.

This was the first time a W. R. C. convention in this district has been honored by the presence of a state department officer. At the final session of the convention the delegates presented Mrs. Boot with a magnificent bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Charles Saxby of Hancock is the guest of Mrs. I. G. English. They will leave this evening for a week's visit to Chicago.

What remained he called his profits, and used half for pleasure expenses, saving the other half. He said it was all due to the little system he used and knowing exactly what he spent."

NOTED INVENTOR BREATHES HIS LAST

Washington, D. C., Oct. 20.—Willard Stephen Whitmore, inventor of the paper-mache-matrix process of stereotyping, and from which invention he gained no material benefit, is dead at his home here, aged 68. He was born in Laporte, Ind. He was the founder of the Stillwater (Minn.) Gazette and the Minneapolis Chronicle, then the only paper in Minneapolis, which later consolidated with the Tribune. At the time of his death, Mr. Whitmore held a position as steryper in the government printing office.

BANKS TO DELAY PARCELS POST

Washington, Oct. 20.—No recommendation for the establishment of a most comprehensive parcels post system will be made in the report of the postmaster general, who takes the position that reforms and new features of postal work should not be precipitated upon the department.

Postal savings banks are about to be created, and Mr. Hitchcock would prefer that congress permit the department to watch the results of this innovation for a year at least before entering upon any further radical changes in postal matters.

There is no other form of protection in the world where so much is secured at so little cost as in accident and health insurance. And there is no other where it is so much needed. Any man of intelligence will concede this if the facts are properly brought home to him. Let him be made to feel that in going without such protection he is guilty of a most unbusinesslike course and of great folly.—Eastern Underwriter.

HEMANS' RECORD IS A DROWSY ONE

Sturgis, Mich., Oct. 20.—Repeating his charge that Lawton T. Hemans was purposely juggling campaign issues in frantic attempt to make votes for himself, Chase B. Osborn scored a big hit when he spoke to one of the largest crowds ever assembled here. The speaker pointed to what he called the drowsy and disinterested legislative record of Mr. Hemans and added that the Democratic candidate was unjustly heralding himself as a reformer. He also said that Mr. Hemans was taking a step backwards when he sought to arouse sectional strife and class hatred by his statements.

MICHIGAN LIBRARY BOARD IN SESSION

Jackson, Mich., Oct. 20.—The 29th annual convention of the Michigan Library association opened in the auditorium of the Jackson public library Tuesday afternoon. About 60 members were present. All the towns of importance of the southern tier of Michigan counties and north as far as Saginaw were represented, several delegates from the northern part of the state being also present. Affiliation with the American Library association, the national organization, was the principal topic of discussion at the afternoon session. No action was taken and the question may be taken up later.

DIETZ TRIO HELD ON MURDER CHARGE

Hayward, Wis., Oct. 20.—John Dietz, his wife, Hattie Dietz, and Leslie Dietz, his son, have all been bound over to the circuit court by Judge J. F. Riordan on the charge of having murdered Oscar Harp, a deputy, during the siege of the Dietz cabin at Cameron dam.

TO REALIZE MUCH FROM TIMBER SALE

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 20.—That the state will realize a large sum from the sale of dead and fallen timber on lands owned by the state both in and out of the state forest reserves is shown by the large number of applications received by A. C. Carton, secretary of the public domain commission.

main commission, after which the applicant is sent a blank. He then sends a sealed bid to the state department, bidding on the tract or description of timber he wishes to purchase. According to the applications already received, Mr. Carton says the applications will each average 300 acres. Aside from the applications have also been received for 15,000 acres of land in the forest reserves of the state. The sealed bids will be opened before the public domain commission, Nov. 5, and the awards made. It is expected that before the close of another year the state will be many thousand dollars ahead as a result of the sales, and will have practically all the dead and fallen timber removed from state lands, thus lessening the chances of forest fires.

HOUSE THAT JACK BUILT IN CHICAGO

A literal house that Jack built will be a unique feature of the Chicago land congress to be held in the Windy City this fall. It is proposed to have there a house built from the different kinds of zinc ore produced in Marion county, Arkansas. Among the zinc miners the ore is commonly known as zinc.

LOGGERS SHOULD BURN SLASHINGS

In the opinion of a prominent Marquette man, there are parts of this country that are in just as great danger of devastation from forest fires as the districts recently burned over in northern Minnesota. "Most of the forest fires everywhere," he says, "start in the slashing left by the loggers after taking off the timber. When this brush has lain on the ground for a year or two, it becomes as dry as tinder and a spark from a locomotive, a camp fire carelessly left burning, or any number of everyday occurrences, is sufficient to start a blaze which under proper conditions, will spread into standing timber and perhaps do great damage to life and property. In many parts of this country, the loggers, even now, are making no attempt to clean up the slashings they make, and are creating conditions that are likely to result in great damage in future years."

Danderine

GROWS HAIR and we can PROVE IT!

A lady from Minnesota writes:
"As a result of using Danderine, my hair is close to five feet in length."

Beautiful Hair at Small Cost

Hair troubles, like many other diseases, have been wrongly diagnosed, and altogether misunderstood. The hair itself is not the thing to be treated, for the reason that it is simply a product of the scalp and wholly dependent upon its action. The scalp is the very soil in which the hair is produced, nurtured and grown, and it alone should receive the attention if results are to be expected. It would do no earthly good to treat the stem of a plant with a view of making it grow and become more beautiful—the soil in which the plant grows must be attended to. Therefore, the scalp in which the hair grows must receive the attention if you are to expect it to grow and become more beautiful.

Loss of hair is caused by the scalp drying up, or losing its supply of moisture or nutrients; when baldness occurs the scalp has simply lost all its nourishment, leaving nothing for the hair to feed upon in plants or even a tree would die under similar conditions.

The natural thing to do in either case, is to feed and replenish the soil or scalp as the case may be, and your crop will grow and multiply as nature intended it should.

Knowlton's Danderine has a most wonderful effect upon the hair glands and tissues of the scalp. It is the only remedy for the hair ever discovered that is similar to the natural hair foods or liquids of the scalp.

It penetrates the pores quickly and the hair soon shows the effects of its wonderfully exhilarating and life-producing qualities.

One 25-cent bottle is enough to convince you of its great worth as a hair growing and hair beautifying remedy—try it and see for yourself.

NOW at all druggists in three sizes, 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle.

FREE To show how quickly Danderine acts, we will send a large sample free by return mail to anyone who sends this free coupon to the KNOWLTON DANDERINE CO., CHICAGO, ILL., with their name and address and 10c in silver or stamps to pay postage.

Our Daily Short Story

THE NEW WOMAN OF 1955
By AMANDA V. NICHOLS.
Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

His mother said I should not have him, his father was on my side, but with the change that has been coming on during the past half century in the transfer of the government of the family from the man to the woman his father's wishes counted for nothing. Even formerly, when the woman was supposed to be obedient to her husband, she ruled him, some said by tact; it was really by persistence. But now that she has got him under there is no need of either tact or persistence. She rules him because she is his superior.

Well, as I was saying, Charlie had accepted me, and there was nothing to be desired but his mother's consent, when his father, as ill luck would have it, made a dash to recover the family management, asserting that Charlie should be mine. This spoiled everything. "We shall see," said Mrs. Spangler. The result was that Charlie and I lost the support of the head of the family, while the support of the foot was of no benefit to us. Mr. Spangler sulked, but said nothing. Mrs. Spangler threatened him with divorce, and since the new law gives the woman in such cases not only the property, but the children, Charlie's father asked forgiveness.

However, I was better satisfied to have a foe worthy of a woman's opposition than a delicate man, whose heart was in the right place, but was that of a chicken. I went at once to Mrs. Spangler and said to her:

"Madam, I love your son. When I told him so I knew before he spoke by his blushes that my love was returned. 'But,' he said, 'alas, mother will not consent.' Madam, I have come to tell you that whether you consent or not your son shall be mine."

There came o'er her lips one of those steely smiles betokening that will power which has made women dominant despite their inferiority of muscular power, and she said, drawing a batpin—not one of the little spikes of forty years ago, but an elongated stiletto:

"Take him!"

The words were few, but they outweighed the pyramids. I recoiled. But love put new vigor into me. At the same time I remembered that she was the mother of the man I loved. To kill her would be to raise an impassable barrier between me and Charlie. I resolved to discover if in this stern woman there was a trace left of the grandmothers as they were before our new birth.

"Consider your own love," I said, "for him who is now your husband." She tapped the table nervously with the hilt of her hatpin. I saw that I had touched memories now unpleasant to her. I tried another tack.

"Do you know, madam," I said, "that in the reconstruction of the English house of lords which occurred some twenty years ago titles are now given direct to women?"

"I do."

"Well, I have influence with her majesty to secure a title."

"But you will expect some millions with Charlie."

"Not a cent."

"Charlie is bound up in what he loves," she said meditatively. "It would break that tender heart of his to oppose him."

I saw my advantage. "I can be Earl of Baltimore for the asking," I said.

"Charlie under a coronet?" she mused dreamily.

"And think how happy our union will make his father."

Foo! To spoil all by this reference to the man who had said our wish should be granted despite his wife's opposition! The cold, steely smile returned. Fingering the batpin as if hungry for blood, she hissed:

"Three lives shall be sacrificed rather than that my son shall ever be yours!"

"Very well, madam," I said, drawing one of the new belt dagger ornaments with a mother-of-pearl handle and shaking it under her nose—"very well, madam, since you wish it let it be war to the knife!" Then I withdrew.

When I told Charlie what had happened he put his head on my shoulder and cried as if his heart would break.

"Steady, darling," I said. "It becomes us to act with decision."

"What do you mean?"

"We will walk out and be married."

"I could never do it!" he moaned.

"Be brave."

"I will ask papa what he would do if he were I. You women don't understand how much we young men need a father's love and sympathy."

"Charlie," I said, "if putting the necessary pluck into you depends upon your father you will never be mine."

"I am but a man. I dare not disobey my mother."

"Charlie," I said, giving vent to the scorn I was beginning to feel for this fragile creature, "it is all over between us. Either I will marry a man in whom there is some independence, one who has got always been and always will be his mother's slave, or I will sever marry at all."

"What can I do? Once we men took the lead. Did we tyrannize over women? No; we loved them so well, gave them so much of their own way, that they subjected us. And being subject to them is very different from their former subjection to us. They are crushing us."

I left him in disgust.

THE TARIFF ON PRIDE

PROBABLY NEEDS REVISION

WHILE the Tariff question engages the attention of the lawmakers, it is appropriate that you should consider one phase of it which comes home to you, personally:

It is the TARIFF ON PRIDE---and, it is likely, this particular tariff costs you more than all other tariff schedules combined.

If pride prevents you from going "bargain-hunting," from seeking the best market in which to buy things; from watching the want ads. for opportunities to buy and sell things; from advertising for boarders or lodgers, even though you need the income they would bring; from advertising your services, or used articles which can be spared, or from taking advantage of chances to save or earn money---then you are, indeed, paying a high tariff on Pride.

The matter of how much tariff you pay on Pride is in your own hands---and if there is need for revision, YOU are the person to revise it!

THE LEGISLATURE MUST TAKE ACTION

Hon. Charles E. Townsend Explains the Situation Relative to the Election of Michigan's Next United States Senator—There is Some Misunderstanding.

Detroit, Oct. 20.—In many quarters there has been misapprehension on the part of the people over the senatorial situation. Many have believed that because Charles E. Townsend won in the recent primary he was sure of election as United States senator. This is not the case.

To make this clear to the people of the state Mr. Townsend has issued a statement in which he says: "I have no hope of becoming senator unless the next legislature is Republican and the only way my friends can assist me now is to vote for the Republican candidates for state representative and state senator in their respective districts. The great benefit which the voters expected and have a right to demand out of this state primary law is that the members of the legislature will observe the choice of the people and vote to elect the man for senator who was endorsed by their party at the September primaries.

"In many legislative districts throughout the state Democratic candidates for the state legislature have expressed a determination to vote for me if they are elected. I am profoundly sensible of their good will thus expressed, but it is well to understand that they are morally and politically bound to support their party candidate of the legislature if Democratic and I have no doubt they would support him. I should certainly advise them to do so, for the maintenance of the principle involved in the primary for senator is of infinitely more importance than the success of any individual man."
