PAST MASTERS TO BE HONORED AT A BANQUET

Delta Lodge No. 195, F. & A. M., Prepares for a Notable Function to be Held at Masonic Hall on the Evening of February 11-- Program Arranged.

Officers and members of Delta lodge No. 195, F. & A. M., are arranging for a notable function to be held in Masonic hall next Saturday evening, February 11. This will be a banquet given in honor of the past masters of the lodge, all of whom are expected to be present as the guests of distinction.

Arrangements for the banquet, which will be served at seven o'clock, are in charge of a committee consisting of I. C. Jennings, chairman; O. O. Rollins and Toyval E. Strom. This committee has already arranged the program of toasts, which will be one of the most enjoyable features of the program and will supplement the excellent gastronomic feast with a mental repast fully as excellent.

Toast and Responses.
Brother A. H. Ryall will officiate as toastmaster and will unfold in order the following oratorical features that are bound to be most interesting:

Invocation—Bro. Rev. Frederick Spence.

"Our Past Masters," Bro. W. M. John Lambert.

Respon—Bro. P. M. H. J. Robertson.

"The Minister and the Lodge"—Bro. Rev. Frederick Spence.

Presentation of Jewel—Bro. P. M. John J. Sourwine.

"The Young Man and Free Masonry"—Bro. Arthur H. Landis.

"Glimpses of Masonry Abroad"—Bro. Rev. P. B. Ferris.

Toastmaster's Choice.

Through the courtesy of Manager LeVine musical selections will be furnished by Grinnell Bros.' choicest instruments.

STEAMER McVEA TO BE REBUILT

It is reported in marine circles at Sturgeon Bay that the owners of the steamer Charles McVea, which made regular trips to this port last season, will give her a thorough rebuild before placing her in commission next season. The craft has been offered for sale, but if the sale is not made soon the work of rebuilding will be rushed so as to have her out early in the season. Julius Noll, who has been chief engineer on the McVea for several seasons, has again been offered the same position.

LIGHT VOTE BEING CAST AT ELECTION

Severe Weather and a Lack of Public Interest Conspire to Limit the Ballot Expression of Public Sentiment on Proposed Charter and Fire Station Bonds.

Indications are that a very light vote will be recorded when the polls of today's special election are closed this afternoon at five o'clock. And for that reason it is feared that a fair expression of sentiment will not be obtained on either of the two questions being voted upon, no matter what the results may be.

These questions are the adoption or rejection of the revised city charter and the issuance of $15,000 bonds for the construction and equipment of a fire station in the Seventh ward. On the former question a majority in the affirmative will be sufficient for the adoption of the proposed charter, but in the case of the fire station bonds a two-thirds affirmative vote will be required to carry the proposition.

It is impossible to predict with any degree of certainty what will be the outcome on either question. There are several causes for the light vote, the principal ones being the severe weather and lack of public interest. It is difficult to understand the reason for the last cause. Up to three o'clock o'clock the vote in every ward was exceedingly light.

MASKED MAN LOOTS CAFE IN CHICAGO

(By Associated Press.)
Chicago, Feb. 6.—Rector's restaurant, one of the best known of Chicago's downtown cafes, was held up early Sunday morning and the cashier was robbed of $3,300 by a masked man who pointed two revolvers at the employees, secured the receipts of Saturday night and escaped. There were no patrons in the cafe during the holdup.

MEXICAN REBELS FORCED TO GIVE WAY TO FEDERALS

THEY ARE BAFFLED IN THEIR ATTEMPTS TO PREVENT THE LATTER FROM ENTERING THE CITY OF JUAREZ.

Reported to Have Retired Twenty Miles Away to Replenish Ammunition and to Await Reinforcements—People of City Happy Over Results.

(By Associated Press.)
El Paso, Texas, Feb. 6.—Outgeneralled in their efforts to prevent the entrance into Juarez of Colonel Rabago and 300 troopers from the south, the revolutionists under General Orozco are reported this morning to have retired to Salamatuca, twenty miles south of Juarez to replenish their supplies of ammunition and to await reinforcement.

An Earlier Dispatch.
El Paso, Texas, Feb. 6.—General Rabago and his command of 300 federal entered the city of Juarez at 9:25 o'clock last night, unmolested by the insurrecto forces, and were received with joyful acclaim by the people of the city.

The star of the insurrecto leader, General Orozco, who was to occupy the city of Juarez by sunrise Sunday morning, appears to be on the wane. His policy of delay has enabled reinforcements to reach Juarez and the probability of the rebels taking that city is now considered much more remote than it ever was.

KING OF ENGLAND OPENS PARLIAMENT

(By Associated Press.)
London, Feb. 6.—The royal standard and the union jack of old England tugged and tore in the brisk wind from the spires of the houses of Parliament this morning, a silent token of the fact that the day designated for the reassembling of Parliament had arrived. The usual crowds began to assemble outside the gates of Westminster Palace yard at an early hour, and by noon several thousand people were massed about the outer entrances to the legislative chamber. The crowds which lined the route from Buckingham Palace to Westminster, to view the royal procession, also were unusually large. Guardsmen, assisted by hundreds of police, kept the spectators back, but they had little to do.

ANOTHER MILL FOR MASONVILLE

It is reported upon what appears to be good authority that the Escanaba Lumber company, which is carrying on a big industry at Masonville, and has been purchasing an immense acreage of timber recently, will in the spring add a third mill to its already huge plant at Masonville. It will be a single band sawmill, with resaw of ordinary wood construction, adjoining the present group of buildings.

NEW POSITION FOR J. A. ROBINSON

According to the Manistique Courier-Record, it is rumored about Manistique that J. A. Robinson, formerly manager of the Manistique & Superior railway, has been offered and will accept a like position with the Escanaba Lumber company, which is planning to operate a logging and passenger railroad between Curtis and a point in Germfask township, Schoolcraft county.

CARELESS SHOOTING NO CRIME

HOUSE VOTES TO REPEAL LAW MAKING ACCIDENTAL KILLING OF PERSONS IN WOODS MANSLAUGHTER.

U. P. ESPECIALLY INTERESTED.

Hunters Claim That the Measure is Inhumane, as It Results in the Abandonment of Persons Shot by Person Doing the Shooting as a Matter of Self-Preservation—Law Practically a Dead Letter, Anyway.

Information comes to hand that the first bill to be passed by the Michigan legislature of 1911 is one in which the upper peninsula is especially interested, as it provides for the repeal of the act making the careless shooting of persons in the woods manslaughter. This law has always been practically a dead letter, and one of the first prosecutions to be started under it is now pending in the Houghton county circuit court. The bill repealing this law was introduced by Representative Ammerson, of Elk Rapids.

An Inhumane Law.
Hunters generally claim that the act making accidental shooting of a person by a hunter manslaughter is inhumane, that it results in the abandonment of persons shot in the woods, because as a matter of self preservation, the person firing the shot flees from the wounded to escape facing a serious criminal charge.

Bill Has No Opposition.
Were there no danger of prosecution it is maintained that in almost every case a hunter would be given every opportunity possible by the person who accidentally shot him. Several wounded men were left in the woods last fall, it is claimed, whose lives might have been saved, but for the fear of this law.

There was no debate on Representative Ammerson's bill and it passed the house practically without opposition.

MISSOURI CAPITOL DESTROYED BY FIRE

(By Associated Press.)
Jefferson City, Mo., Feb. 6.—The Missouri capitol building was entirely destroyed by fire last night. Many of the records of the state offices are a complete loss.

Lightning which struck the cupola of the dome shortly after seven o'clock spread the flames to the roof of the house of representatives on the north side of the structure, and in less than half an hour the entire building was doomed.

Governor Hadley personally directed the fight against the flames. The estimated loss is over $1,000,000.

5 DIE IN WRECK ON GRAND TRUNK

(By Associated Press.)

Paris, Ont., Feb. 6.—Five persons were killed and one was seriously injured in a head-on collision late Saturday night on the Grand Trunk railway when a passenger train running from Buffalo to Goderich met a light engine running east of Paris. The victims were all members of the crew of the passenger train. Rather than be roasted alive, John Whitlaw, an express messenger, shot himself dead while pinned under the wreckage.

SEVERE STORMS HIT THE GREAT LAKES COUNTRY

THE MIDDLE WEST, ALSO SUFFERERS FROM VISITATION OF SNOW AND WIND ALMOST LIKE THAT OF A BLIZZARD.

Transportation Companies Suffer Severely and So Have Telephone Lines—Cities in Iowa are Particularly Hard Hit—Dispatches.

(By Associated Press.)

Chicago, Feb. 6.—The storm of last night and today was one of the worst ever experienced in the history of Chicago and vicinity. All the street railways and elevated car traffic was practically abandoned early this morning and all trains were delayed. There were many accidents but only one fatality.

An Earlier Dispatch.
Chicago, Feb. 6.—A snow and wind storm reaching almost the severity of a blizzard covered the Middle West and the Great lake regions last night and today. The storm reached from southwestern Wyoming through South Dakota to northwestern Missouri and to Indiana.

The transportation companies have suffered severely, and so have the telephone and telegraph lines.

Davenport, Iowa, Feb. 6.—Heavy snow tied up the street railways this morning and delayed all the trains for hours.

Burlington, Iowa, Feb. 6.—Six inches of snow fell here during a blizzard that raged for the last 24 hours. All kinds of traffic is at a standstill.

Winona, Minn., Feb. 6.—Southern Minnesota was swept last night and today by the worst snowstorm of the winter.

ESCANABA PLANT IS GROWING FAST

The fame of the Escanaba Manufacturing company's big plant is not confined to local limits, judging from the following item that appeared in the current issue of the Michigan Investor, one of the state's strongest and ablest financial journals:

"The Escanaba Manufacturing company, Escanaba, has developed during the past four years into one of the largest and strongest industrial companies of the upper peninsula. The output of the factory has been increased fully forty per cent under the present management, and the daily average at the present time is about 1,500,000 butter dishes, 75,000 pie plates and 720,000 clothespins."

COUNCIL MEETING TOMORROW NIGHT

The common council is scheduled to hold a regular meeting tomorrow evening and City Clerk Lyon reminds those who have bills to be allowed at this meeting to file them at his office before tomorrow noon. This will be the first regular meeting of the council in three weeks, the last meeting having been a special one, called to take action on the Escanaba Water company's hydrant rental bill.

MICHIGAN MEN AMONG LEADERS IN PROGRESS

Governor Osborn Extols Abilities and Virtues of Citizens of the State in Address at National Dinner of the University of Michigan Alumni.

LOCAL BOWLERS ARE OUTPLAYED

Ishpeming and Negaunee Knights of the Bowling Game are too Much for Their Opponents from Escanaba—Return Match Here Next Saturday Evening—Scores.

Those Ishpeming and Negaunee bowlers were too much for the Escanaba knights of the bowling game who went up north Saturday afternoon to try conclusions with them. At Ishpeming Saturday evening the Escanaba men were taken into camp in two three-game contests and the locals were also defeated at Negaunee Sunday afternoon.

They returned home Sunday evening downcast, but determined to give a better account of themselves when the Ishpeming and Negaunee players come here next Saturday night for a return match. At Ishpeming the Ishpeming men's lead in the first contest was 143 pins and in the second, 239 pins. Figures of the Negaunee games are not available, but the scores of those bowled at Ishpeming are as follows:

New York, February 6.—A discourse upon the role that Michigan men are destined to take in leading the progress of their country was the keynote of an address delivered Saturday night by Governor Chase S. Osborn of Michigan before the "national dinner" given by Michigan University Alumni of the Eastern States. Governor Osborn said, in part:

"The prestige and potency of a university depend to a great degree upon the usefulness and loyalty of its alumni. The stronger the alumni and the finer his fibre the greater is his responsibility. Michigan men are doing their part in the service of society. Everywhere they are giving their strength and courage and charity, to the work of solving the problem of self government.

Honor to Their Alma Mater.
"Everywhere Michigan men have hastened to buckle on the armor of both public and private endeavor. Their accomplishments in all walks of life are an honor to their Alma Mater. To these fine college men of yesterday and to those who will recapture their militant ranks tomorrow, I would give every encouragement to keep on bravely in the way they have

WHAT OTHERS SAY OF THE TRIP TO BERMUDA

Miss Martha Wickemeyer of Michigan City, Ind., Writes Most Entertainingly of Her Trip to New York and Bermuda at Expense of Michigan City News.

Tuesday morning carriages awaited the Cook Tourist people (Cookies as the Bermudians call them) to take a trip to St. George, which was twelve miles distant. The drive was beautiful; all the roads are very winding, and white, and smooth, although we noticed no dust. Geraniums, narcissus and violets grow along the roadside in profusion and all in full bloom.

immense bushes of poinsettias. Listened to Band Concert. Sunday morning we walked to the barracks, where the soldiers gave an exhibition drill after which we attended their Sunday service. After services from 12 to 1 o'clock, we sat on the lawn listening to the band concert which was given by the regiment band.

People would be waving from almost every house, as we passed; little pickaninies threw flowers into the carriage, some ran alongside of the carriage calling "Penny, please." We saw no smoke whatever, there being no factories; nor are there any steam roads, street cars or automobiles. All the houses are white and built of coral; the coral is sawed into slabs as thick and long as needed.

Another strange thing, we saw no undertaker's sign; saw no hearse or churches, and only one doctor's sign. We saw no police; they have a jail, but it has not been occupied for a year or more. We were in hopes our steamer, the Trent, would be delayed another day, but late Monday afternoon we received word that the steamer had anchored, and that meant for us to be ready to sail on the morrow.

We saw no smoke whatever, there being no factories; nor are there any steam roads, street cars or automobiles. Visit Ends All Too Soon. Our visit on the island came to a close all too soon, we had certainly been treated royally. We sailed at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning with a strong breeze blowing. Our steamer soon began to toss. We used to think the waves large on old Lake Michigan, but they are small when compared to the waves we encountered on the ocean.

Queen Maud of Norway, following the example of Queen Mary of England, has issued a book of photographs of herself and her baby, Prince Olaf, as a means of raising money for charity. She sells the book for $1.25. The queen had received many requests for pictures of herself and her baby boy, and it finally occurred to her that she could satisfy the demand and make something for charity by having the pictures published.

Midnight found us starting for Washington, D. C., over the splendid Pennsylvania lines. The Pennsylvania lines have the most beautiful terminal station in the United States, and one should not visit New York without paying a visit to the Pennsylvania company's terminal station.

Don't Be Fussy. Don't! Even if you can't try to overcome the falling for the sake of your own health and peace of mind try to do so for the sake of the man you will certainly render wretched one of these days. It is said that no woman has a proper sense of proportion. The fussy woman certainly hasn't. On her horizon trifles loom like battleships. She never recognizes what really matters and what is unimportant.

The side trip to Washington was not on the original itinerary, and of course here we would have to depend more or less on our own efforts in getting around and doing the capital city. Not so, however, for the News had preceded us here also, and we had no more than stepped off the train at Washington when to our surprise, a gentleman stepped up to us and inquired, "Is this the News Party?"

There was always plenty of life at the hotel in the way of music and parties. On Friday evening the regiment band entertained us very nicely, giving a concert on the hotel lawn. Every morning would find us up bright and early taking long walks before breakfast. Among the plants we saw were numerous cactuses, century plants, palms of all kinds, and fare of the News party. The trip over the beautiful mountain route of the Pennsylvania was a delightful ride, interesting from the start until darkness obstructed the view and it was time to retire. Our arrival in Chicago was safe Sunday morning. The cold weather reception given us in the north did not appeal to us. How we longed to be back in Bermuda land enjoying more pleasant weather.

From the Experience of Escanaba People. We are fortunate indeed to be able to profit by the experience of our neighbors. The public utterances of Escanaba residents on the following subject will interest and benefit thousands of our readers. Read this statement. No better proof can be had.

When at the Comedy theater I once received an application from a young man who desired to see me on a matter of urgent importance. I wrote him, asking to be informed as to the nature of his business. He replied that it was personal and private, but of extreme urgency, and asked for an interview. I gave him an appointment, and he called to see me, when I learned that his object was to place his services at my disposal. His doctor, he informed me, had ordered him to take a complete rest, or in any case to employ himself in some way that required absolutely no brain work!

THE GROWTH OF ADVERTISING.

The most phenomenal change which the publication business has seen during recent years is the growth of advertising. We have in mind many journals on our exchange list that are printing nearly twice the number of pages they were able to 10 years ago, says the Saginaw Courier-Herald.

Their news columns have not greatly enlarged during that time. The collection of local and telegraphic news was highly developed at that period. The change has come about because business men have found out that they can make a great deal of money through advertising.

The department stores have worked out the idea in the most scientific fashion. No consideration of local pride in a newspaper as a representative of the home town tempts them to their lavish use of printer's ink. It is purely a question of sales. They would no more think of getting along without advertising than they would think of opening some morning without clerks to wait on customers.

Here, and there, however, one finds someone of the smaller merchants who thinks he can get along without this factor of merchandising which the great store finds essential. Actually the little store needs it even more than the big store. The big store would not be apt to make any money if it quit advertising at it would draw a certain minimum of trade by its very presence. If the small store quits advertising, it gets practically no trade except what comes from its show window displays.

The average person will read a newspaper advertisement scores of times for every once he passes a given shop window. Hence the value of the advertisement is worth far more than anything made in a window, which the bulk of the buying public never sees.

NEW YORK'S DYNAMITE CALAMITY.

The instantaneous killing of 30 people by dynamite on the Jersey front of New York harbor is a reminder of how close modern civilization brings us to death.

In the older times comparatively small charges of the relatively innocent gunpowder were handled with fear and trembling. Isolated powder houses were very common, and only careful men were permitted to handle this power of concentrated lightning.

But the gigantic tasks of modern work have called into being forces of destruction. To match the impregnable majesty of rock and hill, the illimitable force of dynamite is called to being.

The worst of it is, that this terrible force is very often handled by aliens who don't know our language. It is said that Polanders and Hungarians have been handling dynamite for years on these New York docks, and minded it no more than handling cement. In most places stricter regulations are needed for transporting and storing explosives.

The American habit of treating is foolish and injurious. Undoubtedly it often leads to tipping. That it can be cured by sumptuary legislation will be doubted, but the experiment proposed in a bill now before the Indiana Legislature. If this measure becomes a law, it is said, the only way to treat a friend in Indiana without becoming liable to fine or imprisonment will be to pass him the money and let him buy his own drink.

Banker Schiff says this country could accommodate 5,000,000 more Jews. One has no longer to die to see the New Jerusalem.

They are dancing now at the white house. Things are getting so blamed formal, that a congressman must blow in part of his salary for a jimswinger coat.

The corset coat and slim trousers is a transparent bluff of the tailors to separate down trodden man from last summer's tightly worn suit.

President Fallieres of France now gets $750,000 a year. The job's worth it, in a country where they use high officials for a target in place of clay pigeons.

THOUGHTS ON BUSINESS

BY
WALDO PONDRAY WARREN

CAUSING LOSS TO OTHERS

NO one denies that it would be wrong to take $100 from another person. But, somehow, the average ethical standard is not so high as to place on exactly the same plane the matter of causing a loss to another—even a loss of a thousand dollars. This is especially true in relation to keeping promises for the delivery of goods.

A furnishing store was to move to a new location and had contracted for fixtures to be delivered at a certain time. A glass manufacturer had promised to deliver glass for the cases at a certain time, which would have enabled the furniture company to complete its agreement. A shoe store was to move where the furnishing store had been. There was a moving schedule, and all would have gone well if the glass man had kept his word. But the glass was delayed several weeks, with the usual series of day-to-day promises, until the plans of the two stores were upset, as the furnishing store could not open in its new location without fixtures, and the contractors who had been engaged to put the stores in order could not do their work at the time agreed. The loss was heavy all around, but it came out of the pockets of innocent men, and the man who caused the loss to others lost nothing—except a volume of future orders and the respect of his former customers.

Our Daily Short Story

She Won a Prize

"Haven't you ever lived in a flat?" asked the young woman suburbanite of her neighbor. "Well, all I've got to say is that you're luckier than most. We did—once.

"A flat's no place for us, of all people—seven kids in the family, and four of them boys that always were used to a house and didn't know how to close doors softly and not drop their boots when they go to bed and refrain from playing the piano at night after they ought to quit. But we did live in a flat for a while, in the suburbs, and just underneath us we had some other people that never ought to have lived in a flat, either.

"At least, the man oughtn't. His wife didn't mind a reasonable amount of racket, but when he was home, my goodness, you couldn't snore but he'd hear you and kick like a steer.

"One night we had a little party, we kids, and of course we were having fun. It wasn't late—only about quarter to ten—but he got the landlord and brought him up into our hall and stood him opposite our door, and told him just to listen. That's the kind of man our landlord was.

"The night we heard he was going to move we gave him a parting serenade with everything we could find that would make a noise, from the dish-pan and potato-masher up to Rob's cornet.

"But I didn't start to tell you about that. What I was thinking of was how there never is any place to put things in a flat and the time that Anne and I went to the Thanksgiving party and Anne won a goose in a guessing contest.

"What? No, that was the worst of it—it wasn't a dead goose. It was a live one, with all its feathers on, and a voice! My goodness, that goose had a voice!

"They made us take it along and we walked home with that idiotic thing in our arms. Every once in a while it would look up at Anne and squawk, and then we'd have to sit down on the curbstone and laugh for a few minutes before we could go on. You've no idea how loud it sounded in those empty streets. I know everybody in the place thought we were crazy.

"Well, anyhow, we got home with that goose. The minute we got inside the vestibule it had another squawking fit. Anne tried to smother it in her petticoat, but that only made it squawk worse.

"We set it down on the stairs and tried to pacify it. I remember that Anne said 'Poor kitty!' and 'Soh, boys!' and 'Hushaby, mother's lamb,' and I tried to sing it a lullaby, but I couldn't do anything but snort.

"Anne suggested that we tie it to the nervous man's door with a string and let it squawk—it would distract his attention from us, anyway. But I said that I meant to keep that goose now that we'd got it home. So we went upstairs and unlocked the door to our apartment.

"Then Anne told me to wait a minute. 'That thing will keep us all awake if we let it squawk all night,' she said. 'I've got an elastic band in my pocket book, and I'm going to muzzle it.'

"Pretty soon she found a strong, healthy, thick, elastic band, and though we nearly died doing it, we got it on that goose's snout. The beast insisted on turning its head to look at us all the time, too, and when we finally had it on the nose it made trying to squawk through the muzzle worse than before, though, of course, it didn't have quite as much volume.

"Well, as I said, there isn't any place to put things in a flat. When we got to looking around for a place to put the goose we were stumped.

"I suppose geese ought to roost, oughtn't they? But there didn't seem to be anything like a roost in the flat except the mahogany hatrack, and mamma's very choice of that. I knew she wouldn't stand for any geese roosting there. So just as I was about to give up and put it under our bed Anne suggested that we keep it in the bathtub.

"I wish you could have seen that creature slithering around on the porcelain bottom of the bathtub trying to squawk through the elastic band and looking reproachfully at us. Honestly, it would have given a mourning angel the hiccoughs. Anne suggested turning on the water, but I said I wasn't going to make that poor goose exercise all night, so we left it dry and went to bed.

"Mother was the one who found it in the morning. She went to take her bath early, and when she met the goose face to face she let out a shriek that brought every soul in the flat out of bed with one jump.

"We rushed to the bathroom and found mother in her kimono and our papers, sitting on the rug and having as nice a fit of hysterics as anybody ever saw.

"We didn't hear the last of our goose for weeks—long after it was croquetted.

"We moved at the end of the year. Mother said it was too trying to live where there wasn't any place to put things when you brought 'em home. Anne and I didn't blame her a bit."

Worst of It.

JAMES E. MARTINE. "THE FARMER ORATOR."

BEFORE Dr. Woodrow Wilson, who used to be president of Princeton university, took the oath as governor of New Jersey he took occasion to go about the state making strenuous efforts to induce the Democratic legislators to stand by James E. Martine of Plainfield, who received a plurality of the votes in the primary election to indicate the party choice for the United States senatorship. Dr. Wilson made special pleas against former Senator James Smith, Jr., who came out as a candidate before the legislature as soon as he heard that the general assembly was Democratic. Smith, asserted Wilson, stood for the corporate interests. Martine, said the scholastic governor to be, represented the will of the people of the party, not the will of the politicians of the party. Mr. Martine is a unique character in New Jersey. He is known as "the farmer orator." For many years before and since New Jersey went into the Republican ranks in 1896 Mr. Martine has been a wheelhorse in the New Jersey Democracy. He has run for many offices and been defeated. But he is the perennial candidate, and the people of his party stood for him and by him when they voted to indicate their preference for a United States senator to succeed John Kean, Republican.

WHEREVER YOU GO YOU WILL NEED A CALORIS BOTTLE

Solids or fluids kept ice-cold three days
Solids or fluids kept red-hot 24 hours without ice or fire—ready for use as you please—without any more care than filling and turning on the top. Any liquid—baby's food, or hot broths for the sick, may be kept to any temperature—hot luncheon, or by drink, liquor, champagne for the motorist, fisherman, hunter, traveler, vacationist, or stay-at-home.

Made in many sizes—bottles, jars, jugs, for all uses. Prices range from $3 to $16, according to size—sold by dealers generally. If you do not find a Caloris Bottle at your dealer's—do not take a substitute—but send direct for complete catalogue and prices. Caloris is a hot-cold bottle that can be thoroughly cleaned and sterilized—and while any part of it can be easily replaced, it is strong enough for very rough usage.

TO BE WELL LIKED.

There are eight rules for living which have been posted in a nurses' training school in a California hospital. How would they do for your home?

1. I will not permit myself to speak while angry, and I will not make a bitter retort to another person who speaks to me in anger.
2. I will neither gossip about the failings of another nor will I permit any other person to speak such gossip to me. Gossip will die when it cannot find a listener.
3. I will respect weakness and defer to it in the street car, in the department store and in the home, whether it be displayed by man or woman.
4. I will always express gratitude for any favor or service rendered to me. If prevented from doing it on the spot, then I will seek an early opportunity to give utterance to it in the most gracious way within my power.
5. I will not fail to express sympathy with another's sorrow or to give hearty utterance to my appreciation of good works by another, whether the party be friendly to me or not.
6. I will not talk about my personal ailments or misfortunes. They shall be one of the subjects on which I am silent.
7. I will neither eat nor drink what I know will detract from my ability to do my best work.
8. I will strive to be always prepared for the best that can happen to me. I will seek to be ready to seize the highest opportunity, to do the noblest work, to rise to the loftiest place which God and my abilities permit.

MONEY FOR RAISING MAINE NEARLY GONE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 6.—Word has been received from Havana that the work of raising the Maine must stop in a few days because of the exhaustion of the appropriation. It is said that at least $300,000 is needed in addition to the $150,000 appropriated last session if the work is to be completed.

You should be on the list of Daily Mirror subscribers, if you are not already there. There is going to be a lot of good news printed here this year and you should have it reliably, as The Mirror gets it.

CASH FOR SLEEPER RESERVATION

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 6.—With inauguration of the 20 per cent reduction in Pullman car fares, it is officially reported that the Pullman company will soon make an announcement that travelers will be required to pay for their reservations in advance. The question is said to have been submitted to heads of the passenger traffic departments of the various railway systems.

This year is to be the ad-re- year—every day of it. There is an endless procession of opportunity—but not one of them for the ad-reader.

MANY ACCIDENTS OF VETERAN CAR PILOT

Lewis Strang.

Lewis Strang was recently asked if he ever had any narrow escapes and smilingly answered, "No." But when asked why he replied in that way said he had dozens of accidents, but they were so quickly forgotten that he would not dignify them with the appellation of "narrow escapes."

"The first accident I remember," said Strang, "was in 1904, when I hit an elevated post on Third avenue in New York. I wrecked the car, but escaped without injury. Two years later at Elkwood Park, in a midsummer meet, I went through the fence on the inside of the track. I wrecked the car in this accident, but again escaped without injury."

"I went through the fence at the Parkway turn in the 1906 Brighton Beach twenty-four hour race. This was probably the most fatal accident that has ever occurred in any race. About eighteen persons were seriously injured and five killed outright. The car was in the middle of the track about 3 o'clock in the morning, when the left front wheel collapsed. Swerving around, the machine tore through the fence, breaking up the heavy barrier as if it were so much matchwood, then charged directly through a large crowd of spectators, repair men and race track employees. At the coroner's inquest no blame was attached to me, as the car was beyond control as soon as the front wheel collapsed, and it was just luck for me that it did not roll over and kill me. About two hours after this accident the repair crew had put the machine back in running order, replacing the broken radiator, front springs and axles, and I continued the race and finished, but the loss of time had been so great that I was unable to get better than fifth place.

"In the next twenty-four hour race on this same track a string of eight or ten kites was sent up, which carried aloft a wire cable to which were hung some large advertising signs. The wind died down about 4 o'clock in the afternoon and the cable looped down until it hung across the track. It caught me in the throat and I was thrown from the seat of my machine.

"While trying for the Vanderbilt cup race the same year, and riding around the course with Walter Christie in the Christie car, something happened to the steering gear. The car swerved in a straight stretch while going about eighty-five miles an hour, ran full tilt into a telegraph pole, breaking the pole and splintering the machine, but I was only cut in the calf of the leg and my front teeth damaged.

"In aeroplanes I have had planes turn over with me twice. Once at a height of about 150 feet I had a plane turn over and fall. Outside of a couple of cuts from splintered spars, I escaped injury. The other plane that turned over hit a pole in the ground while running on the ground just preparatory to ascending, while going about fifty miles an hour. The engine came down on my back and I was badly burned with hot water.

"While testing a racing hydroplane with John Tyson, the owner of the craft, we capsized in the middle of Long Island sound, but this plane was so fast that we had expected an accident and had on heavy oilskins and cork jackets, so we just climbed on the hull and sat there until a yacht, which had been following us a couple of miles behind, picked us up.

"One's feeling the second after an accident is indescribable. He almost says, 'Well, you didn't get me that time,' with an inward chuckle or laugh. You often hear the remark made that 'Nothing is sport unless you take a chance.' That shows the way the sports of the world are measured; hence the greatest sport must be that which you play for the greatest stake.

"Strang, who is shown in the illustration, will act as captain and manager of a team which will participate in the 500-mile international sweep-stake race to be run over the Indianapolis Motor Speedway on May 30. game, and visiting pugilists are made much of by them.

Green has been most successful both in the land of the Kaiser and France, where he has fought and won a good many battles. French and German society people are fast becoming infatuated with the game, and the clubs are conducted on "pink-tea" lines, in which dress suits among the spectators are quite the proper thing.

The pugilists themselves have caught the dress idea, and prior to a bout appear clad in garments that would make the average American fight fan howl with amazement. Green is one of the nattiest "dressers" among the "400," and a photograph just received from Berlin shows him arrayed in a fashion calculated to infuse awe and joy into the hearts of his many admirers.

Billings Gets Gold Cup.

The management of the Allentown, Pa., fair has presented to C. K. G. Billings, owner of Uhan, 1:53 1/4, a magnificent cup as a souvenir of the world's record of 2:05 1/4, made at their fair last September by the noted trotter. The trophy contains 2,300 pennyweights of gold and is twenty inches high. It is valued at $4,000.

IRA DAVENPORT IS HONORED

James E. Sullivan Picks Maroon Star as Greatest 440-Yard Runner in United States.

An all-American college track team has been selected by James E. Sullivan, secretary and treasurer of the Amateur Athletic Union. Like the all-American football teams, the selection has no official significance and is merely Mr. Sullivan's rating of some of the best college athletes in each of the ordinary track and field activities. Ira Davenport of the University of Chicago is placed in a class by himself in the 440-yard run.

Fourteen men are named and it is notable that seven of them are from colleges on the western side of the Alleghenies.

The team chosen is as follows: 110-Yard Run—F. L. Ramsdell, University of Pennsylvania. 230-Yard Run—R. C. Craig, University of Michigan. 440-Yard Run—I. N. Davenport, University of Chicago.

880-Yard Run—G. H. Whiteley, Princeton. 120-Yard Hurdle—W. A. Edwards, University of California. 220-Yard Hurdle—C. P. Gardner, Harvard.

One-Mile Run—A. F. Baker, Oberlin. Two-Mile Run—T. S. Berna, Cornell. Running Broad Jump—J. Wasson, Notre Dame. Running High Jump—K. W. Burdick, University of Pennsylvania.

Pole Vault—L. S. Scott, Leland Stanford University. Putting 16-Pound Shot—J. Horner, Jr., University of Michigan.

Ira Davenport.

Throwing the Hammer—Lee Talbot, Pennsylvania State College. Cross Country Run—T. P. Jones, Cornell.

CERTAIN OF LARGE STADIUM

Chicago University Students Expect Two Athletic Buildings as Result of Gift.

Material athletic expansion at the University of Chicago may be one of the early results of John D. Rockefeller's gift of $10,000,000 to the Maroon Institution. Members of the department of physical culture admit that the long-wished-for stadium and a new gymnasium for the women students might follow the oil king's generosity. The matter will be considered by the university board of trustees.

Under the terms of Mr. Rockefeller's donation the university authorities will be allowed to construct buildings for the use of any existing department, while all new departments are to be made possible by other gifts. Although the trustees assert that building expansion is not probable in the near future owing to the university's wish to give the first installments of the $10,000,000 for endowment purposes, the ultimate erection of the needed buildings is assured. The officials stated that they would reach no decision on the building question until later.

If the members of the board decide to take advantage of Mr. Rockefeller's permission, the Midway school will have the costliest and most complete department of athletics in the country. The physical culture experts believe that the additional buildings are necessities.

President Harry Pratt Judson names the stadium and the women's gymnasium as two of the four most needed features of the university's material growth, the other two being a building for the use of the department of geology and geography and an astronomical observatory on the campus for the use of the students.

The location of the prospective stadium has not been fixed. Coach Stagg is modest in expressing his views, but he has stated his wish that it be located on the ground owned by the university on the south side of the Midway Plaza, between Ellis and Lexington avenues. If the university should remove one flat building from this land a block and a half would be available for the purpose.

TAX LAW UPHELD BY FEDERAL JUDGE

Through Decision of Judge Denison at Grand Rapids Telephone Companies Operating in Michigan are Heavy Losers—If Not Appealed State Will Gain $205,000.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Feb. 6.—Federal Judge Denison has dismissed the bill of complaint of the Citizens' Telephone company of Grand Rapids, the Michigan State Telephone company, the Citizens' Telephone company of Jackson and the Union Telephone company to prevent the state of Michigan from collecting the ad valorem tax on the companies imposed by the law of 1909. The extension of the ad valorem tax to telephone companies is thus upheld.

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 4.—If not appealed, the decision of Judge Denison in Grand Rapids, holding the ad valorem tax of the telephone companies constitutional, will mean the payment of over $205,000 back taxes to the state and a yearly tax of nearly a quarter of a million dollars.

DEALERS PREPARE FOR FEBRUARY 14

St. Valentine's Day is on the Way and Many are Already Watching the Shop Windows for Sentimental Souvenirs—Cupid to Have Full Sway—But Few Comica.

Escanaba femininity is to be surprised on the morning of February 14, St. Valentine's day.

In the local drug and stationery stores the details of the plot are being arranged and many young men are already consulting with the proprietors on how best to make the surprise a notable one.

For the advance styles of valentines have arrived and are being examined and bought by many an admiring swain, who would not dare to personally whisper the sentiments engraved on the card, which will be presented on St. Valentine's morning by Dan Cupid distinguished in a post-man's uniform.

Never has there been such a profusion of dainty sentiments in forms designed to melt the coldest heart or quickened the pulse of the most blasé. The old time favors of paper lace and the so-called comic efforts have almost disappeared and their places have been taken by cleverly painted water color cards, which will tell the tender wishes of the sender.

There may be seen pictures of shattered hearts of a shape, unknown to science, but familiar to romance, blue and gold portraits of the ladies of the times when Bath and Gretna Green were in their heyday, of sun-bonnet babes or colored mammites of the old south. Yet the legends engraved upon them are all couched in a language which love, though blind, may read.

DAILY DIET HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN, Food Specialist.

GUARD AGAINST TOO MUCH ALBUMEN

Life cannot be generated spontaneously, but artificial tissue has been produced closely resembling serous membrane, by the action of phosphoric acid upon albumen. All tissue is formed from albumen, and the assimilation of this food element and elimination of its waste through the kidneys is the most costly of the processes of nutrition. Whence it is important that there be no excess of albumen in the daily ration (not ordinarily over ten per cent. in that of the adult, less for the aged), and that albumen be taken in its natural form, uncoagulated by excessive heat. No albumen is more readily assimilated than that of the unroasted peanut (which is 30 per cent. albumen), and the peanut contains phosphoric acid. (See bulletin of U. S. department of agriculture.) This accounts for the apparently stimulating effect of peanuts, unroasted, or prepared at a temperature below 150 Fah. and blanched. Like other vital foods, they should not be indiscriminately mixed; they combine well with dry whole wheat bread, or ripe bananas, or dates, and with apples.

ALLIANCE WOULD BE ADVANTAGEOUS

Marquette Paper States That is the Way Escanaba People Feel About the Escanaba Team's Joining Marquette County Teams in Forming a Baseball League.

The Marquette Mining Journal states that it has been informed from Escanaba that there is a strong likelihood that the Escanaba baseball management will favor the proposal that it join with Marquette, Negaunee and Ishpeming in a Marquette-Delta county league. The Journal says further:

"The Escanaba management has had negotiations under way with Menominee and Marinette, but many Escanaba people feel that an alliance with the Marquette county teams would be more advantageous to them than any other they might make. They know there is a live interest in the game in this county and that the league teams would be well supported in all three towns. Sentiment here strongly favors Escanaba for the league, if the game is going to be taken up in the manner it was last year. Marquette and Escanaba are old rivals on the baseball diamond, and it is doubtful if any other team in the upper peninsula could draw better here than Escanaba."

THE NEED OF UNIONISM.

Without Organization the Workers' Case is Hopeless.

Many years ago, before the era of concentration, when master and man were on familiar speaking terms, there was some semblance of justice in the dealings between the individual and the employer. Even then, through the greed of human nature, there were those employers who never gave any man what he did not force them to yield. In the time of which we speak there was no female or child competition in the trades. The factory system was yet in its infancy. Then came the high tide of immigration, which was brought about by a desire for cheaper labor and the allurements held out by the steamship companies.

The colleges were busy teaching the exploitation of labor, and a generation of vipers in the shape of graduates was turned loose to theorize how to keep down expense of production and economize in cost of raw material. Flesh and blood were counted of less consideration than in the dealings between the individual and the cost of a finished product.

Then the immigrant, through painful experience, got wise. The American workmen had formed trade unions for their protection, and many of the newcomers had known of them in Europe, although they were crude as compared with the present conservative status. These trade unions were only formed as a means of self preservation, and if they were not in existence today the lot of all workers would be hopeless. The European gradually refused to be further made use of, with the exception of the most illiterate races, who flocked to the coal regions and to the New England textile mills.

The manufacturers next turned to female labor, which they used as a club or lever to reduce male wages. As the factories grew under a beneficent protection the standard of age was lessened until the familiar sight of the child carrying the dinner pail was reversed and the parent then did the lugging.

From this condition the trade unionists are striving to deliver the nation. You who never aligned yourself on the side of what you know in your heart is the only remedy at hand should give earnest thought as to whether you are getting the best there is in life for a worker. We would ask you in a serious, unimpassioned manner when you are informed that you are free and independent how much that counts for. Go single handed to a corporation or a large employer of labor or even an individual and demand what you may think is just. If there is another free and independent in reach will you get justice?

CRITICISM OF COURTS.

Governor Hadley of Missouri Declares It Perfectly Proper.

Governor Hadley in his address before the American Federation of Labor convention at St. Louis declared it perfectly proper to criticize a court after a decision had been rendered.

"Judges in general have been more solicitous in protecting the rights of property than in protecting the rights of the individual," said Mr. Hadley. "I have never recognized any department of our government as immune from criticism, and certainly the executive department has not been."

"I do not see why the judiciary should not have the correctness of its reasoning subjected to criticism. This should be done for the protection of just judges as against unjust judges, whose decisions are not based upon good reasoning or good faith with public morals. We have been too tender, too solicitous, in our criticism of the judiciary, but the judge should not be criticised while a case is under advisement."

"Legislation and court made law both are only the expression of the people of the time, and a decision which may be just at one time may be quite impossible at a later date."

AT THE MATINEE.

Noted Opera Singer as She Appears Off the Stage.

THE RUSSIAN ORCHESTRA.

A Craft That Calls Real Artists to Do Its Work—Motives Borrowed From Our Own Roadside and Fields Instead of From Foreign Museums.

Dear Ella—Don't you like to see noted opera singers off the stage where you can get them at close range and feel that they are really human and not some impersonation of the brain of Wagner, Puccini or some other great composer? I do, and this week I had the pleasure of sitting next to Gerladine Farrar at a matinee performance of the Imperial Russian Balalaika orchestra, and what a delight it was to listen to its strange and beautiful music! But to describe Farrar:

"She is just as lovely off the stage as on and looks exactly like her pictures. What did she wear? A charmingly simple empire frock of black crepe de chine with yoke and very high collar of a creamy pin dotted net, and let me say in passing that this net is the smart thing to use for yokes this winter. Settling off her fair beauty to perfection were six strands—I counted them for your benefit—of magnificent pearls, small gems, but of wonderful luster, being about the neck in close fitting rows. What fascinated me most was the arrangement of her blond hair that seemed to be a soft mass of puffs that were not puffed, if you can understand this contradiction of terms, and curls that did not curl, clinging closely to the contour of the head. A long fur coat of skunk and a muff of black lynx—yes, I mean that the pelts did not match, for Paris this winter has declared in favor of the fur coat and coat trimmings that are different from the muffs carried with them—had an odd misfit appearance that is not attractive, but it is a charmingly economical way to use up one's odds and ends of small fur pieces.

To come back to the prima donna, her hat was a cap—now, how is that for a fashion description, but really for the modes are so complex and interchangeable that one has to use them in this absurd way—of black velvet, with a puffed crown, and a narrow band of skunk fur held the velvet frill about the face. Between the intermissions her escort, an opera impresario, and Farrar studied a music score. I could hear her softly hum a line or two and say when she finished: "That's how I'm going to interpret it. How do you like it?"

I have given Farrar the center of the stage, but she paled into insignificance when the Russian court orchestra was playing. It is wonderful and has been the musical sensation of the season here in New York. Mr. Andreeff, the leader, a Svengali-like looking creature, seemed to move as if by command of the czar or on pain of instant execution if he turned on his conductor's box in a less mechanical manner to acknowledge the appreciation of the audience. But why cavil at a mannerism? The conducting was all that one could wish. The instruments used by the players were peasant pipes producing sweetly melancholy sounds, the domra, dulcimer and the balalaika, which gives the orchestra its name and seems to take the place in numbers and in tone value of the violin in our own orchestra.

I know how interested you are in the mandolin, and this weird, wonderful music would have appealed to you, for the balalaika is related in sound to both the mandolin and to the lute families. It has a triangular body and a long slender fingerboard. The musical numbers were chiefly Russian peasant songs, although the players are able to produce music by great masters most artistically. A butterfly waltz given was the impersonation in sounds of the flitting and final flight of these beautiful winged insects. It always hurts me to call them by this name, for they have soared so high above the grub state—indeed, one could actually feel the butterflies sipping honey from the rose and could imagine them discussing in epicure fashion the delicious flavors.

Real Art in Handmade Jewelry.

To change the subject, have I told you about the exquisite Christmas gift Dorothy D. made for me? Well, I really haven't had much time, for the holidays are just past, and I am still lost in admiration of my beautiful hair decoration. Dorothy is an expert craftsman in this work, and, like all members of the new cult, she is going to nature as an inspiration for her designs. The best workers nowadays are not going to Italy, Egypt or the orient for their motives, but are finding them in the fields, along the roadsides and on the seashore.

The beautiful wild carrot or Queen Anne's lace is the motif for my charming piece of hand wrought jewelry. It is a sort of low tara that any American woman could wear without being accused of a longing for strawberry leaves and a ducal coronet. Only a true lover of nature could have made the design, for even the inconspicuous little garnet flower characteristic of the wild carrot umbel has not been forgotten.

I have a passion for this sort of jewelry and can never resist a display of the work. In a case devoted to handmade jewelry in a small but very exclusive Fifth avenue shop there is a plaque pendant designed by a well known artist which is a joy to every trained eye that sees it. The plaque is of opalescent blue and green enamel subtly suggesting seaweed in the partial relief of the design. The very breath of old ocean is in the trinket.

When I give you the recipe you want for grapefruit salad I'll excuse you from further friendly torture. Here's for the grapefruit: Remove the pulp of the fruit and arrange it on lettuce leaves and then mix the juice of the fruit with a light French dressing of oil and vinegar and pour it over the pulp. Garnish with romaine or pimento olives. Simple and delicious! Lovingly yours, MABEL.

Bargain Papering.

A young woman who thinks she cannot repair her room this season because she cannot afford it should make sure that cost is prohibitive before resigning herself to dirt.

One girl has just papered a bedroom charmingly at a total cost of less than $3. Reading of bargains in wall paper one day, she noticed some that were reduced to a cent or two a roll.

Her family insisted the results would be dreadful, but the selection was made of a nice quality of figured cream ceiling paper at a cent a roll for the walls and a narrow rose border at 2 cents a yard.

The border was cut out by the girl herself and run at top of room and down the sides of each corner. The paper was put on by a country paperhanger, a friend of the cook, at much less than the usual rates. It would have been possible to have done the papering oneself, but the work is not likely to give satisfaction, though many women are fairly skilled paper-hangers.

Most stores have bargains in paper, though few as cheap as the one described. By taking advantage of them a room can be freshened for a surprisingly small sum of money.

To Stop Cough In Church.

Every woman has experienced the mortification of one of those exasperating, hacking little coughs which tickle the throat and seem to grow worse the more one tries to overcome them.

They always come upon one just at a time when the kindly cough drop has been left at home and it is impossible to procure the saving sip of water.

Many a woman has hastily left her seat in a church with a red face and the echo of a hacking little cough following her down the aisle and into the vestibule when the trouble might have been conquered in a very simple way.

A cough drop is not at all essential to the stopping of a tickling cough.

A bit of paper torn from the corner of a hymn book leaf or any available pamphlet or leaflet will answer quite as well as the bit of board or lincorin, for the action of the throat muscles in masticating the bit of paper and the consequent flow of saliva soon eases the cough, and by the time the paper is reduced to a pulp the cough will have ceased and one's nervousness will be entirely gone.

Ribbon Neckwear.

Mademoiselle of the slender purse may contrive all sorts of clever things at little cost this season, for neckwear of ribbon is very fashionable and easily made if one has deft fingers.

Little pecky bows of two colored ribbons or Persian ribbons may readily be made. These may be worn with stiff collars or pinned to collar of a fingerie or silk blouse.

Rabats, too, are made of ribbon, closely plaited ends, with a bow at the top.

These things may be made from little pieces of silk or ribbon, not expensive to buy and usually to be found in the workbasket at home.

So, you see, sometimes fashion is kind to the girl with the limited income.

Cocoa is A Very Wholesome Food

Yes, it's a drink but it's a food too. It is especially valuable during the winter for it makes good red blood and lots of it. It feeds the blood better perhaps than any other beverage you can use. It makes good sound flesh. Do you use cocoa three times a day. It's a fine drink for children and we believe that Rotterdam is the best cocoa produced, at any rate we sell more of it than all other kinds. It's 12c per 1-4 lb. We also have Van Houten's at 50c 1-2 lb. can.

MUST GIVE FOURTH TEAM FAIR SHAKE

The Crystal Falls Diamond Drill Notes Plan of Marquette County Teams to Form Alliance With Escanaba Team and Advise Its Marquette Range Friends.

The Diamond Drill of Crystal Falls, which city had a team in the Marquette county baseball league last year and did not fare very well, according to reports, has the following relative to the proposition now being considered for the formation of a league in which the teams of Escanaba, Marquette, Negaunee and Ishpeming shall be included:

"The Marquette range baseball fans are endeavoring to work out a circuit membership for the coming season. It looks as if Gwin will be the fourth town taken in as Escanaba doesn't seem to warm up to the proposition. We hope that our former associates will succeed in building up a good circuit. We were somewhat peeved last fall at the haste displayed in trying to make other alliances before we were decently laid away but that's a matter of the past. Crystal Falls' experience in the league last year was not the most enticing and we fear that the fourth team will always be in the same boat until the league settles down to a permanent membership and the new town is given time to season up a team and get into the running. Escanaba, with Ishpeming, Negaunee and Marquette would make a league that ought to be self supporting. Of Gwin's ability to support a team, we know not, but one thing we can tell our Marquette range friends—and it's a lesson learned from experience—they must accord the fourth team the same patronage that they do to the three 'home teams' if they want to get a fourth member that will stick."

RIDICULES REPORT ABOUT MAYWOOD

The Sturgeon Bay Democrat, which is usually pretty well posted on Lake Michigan and Green Bay marine matters, ridicules the Green Bay Gazette's report that there is a probability of placing the handsome steel steamer Maywood, owned by the Escanaba & Gladstone Transportation company, on the run between Gladstone and Green Bay and intermediate ports during the coming summer. The Democrat says: "The same rumors were afloat here last winter when the steamer spent the winter at the local shipyard, but it was all wind." In view of the fact that the Hart Transportation company is to run a daily line on this same route it does not seem that it would be paying venture for a boat of the Maywood's class."

TWIN CITIES MUST GET A HUSTLE ON

Escanaba Wants to Know Right Away What Menominee and Marinette Propose to Do About Joining Baseball League With Escanaba and Gladstone—The Situation.

If Menominee and Marinette are thinking seriously of getting into a baseball league with Escanaba and Gladstone, it is up to them to declare themselves without further delay. It now seems to be the sentiment here that unless Menominee and Marinette soon arrive at some conclusion regarding a league arrangement for this year, Escanaba will consider the businesslike proposition made by the Marquette county teams and arrange to have the Escanaba Baseball club represented at the meeting of the latter on the 17th inst.

Secretary-Treasurer L. M. Beggs of the Escanaba club has received from Frank Russell of Marquette a detailed account of the meeting of Marquette baseball men held at Ishpeming last Friday and the action taken in inviting Escanaba to attend a conference on February 17, with a view to joining a league to be composed of the teams of Marquette, Escanaba, Ishpeming and Negaunee. This invitation will be accepted if Menominee and Marinette are not willing to soon make known their position relative to Escanaba's proposition.

Secretary Beggs has had no reply to his letter addressed to Menominee fans, while from Marinette he has received the rather unsatisfactory statement that if Menominee goes in to a league with Escanaba, Marinette probably will be willing to come in also. Escanaba wants something more definite than that from both cities and if it is not forthcoming rather soon, it is likely further negotiations with Marinette and Menominee will be called off and consideration given to the Marquette county men's proposition.

PLANS RETIREMENT PAY FOR TEACHERS

According to advices received in Escanaba, Representative D. T. Morgan of Ishpeming will soon have presented to the legislature a bill providing for retirement salaries for school teachers in certain cases, and to provide means to meet same. The bill is now in the hands of the committee on education of the legislature. The public school superintendents and commissioners throughout the state have begun to circulate petitions urging the passage of the bill among the teachers and it is said that the petitions will probably contain the signature of every teacher in the public schools of Michigan. An Escanaba educator, who is keeping in touch with what is being done at Lansing and elsewhere in the state to advance the proposed measure, said today that the teachers favor it.

OWLS BID ADIEU TO THE SHEPARDS

The Ishpeming Owl's society tendered those who took part in its minstrel performances at the Ishpeming theater last Thursday and Friday evenings a banquet Saturday night. The menu was a fine one. A few of the guests gave short talks and Tommy Sayle sang comic songs and gave humorous recitations. The members of the company went to the midnight train to bid Mr. and Mrs. Holly Shepard good bye. The boys sang the choruses of the minstrel songs as the train was pulling in and departing. Mr. Shepard will put on a show in Ashland the latter part of the month, and he is booked for an engagement in Superior next month.

FUNERAL OF BOY IS HELD TODAY

The funeral of the late Carl J. Hanson, the twelve year old son of Rev. and Mrs. Olof Hanson, whose death occurred Friday evening, was held from the Swedish Lutheran chapel at North Escanaba this afternoon. Rev. C. A. Lund conducted the services and burial was made in Lakeview cemetery.

Woman's World

Cupid Wins Victory In Suffragette Camp.

MISS INEZ MILHOLLAND AND HER PIANIST MR. BATES.

The croakers who fear that the suffragette will lose her matrimonial chance may set their fears at rest, for the engagement is announced of the most obstreperous of suffragettes, Miss Inez Milholland, who perhaps has done more spectacular and strenuous work in the "votes for women" cause than any other American woman.

The lucky man with sufficient courage to marry this socialistic suffragette is Lindon Bates, Jr., of New York, ex-assemblyman, author and civil engineer and a recent convert to the "cause."

Victory through defeat will be Mr. Bates' slogan, for he does not promise to aid the girl of his heart in all of her activities, but he promises not to interfere in them. A dangerous trip taken by Mr. Bates through Siberia and his book recounting the experience, "The Russian Road to China," published last winter, completed Miss Milholland's interest in the author. The Russian road led directly to her heart.

A resume of Miss Milholland's short career will show just what her husband will be up against. "As a child," said her mother, "Inez was constantly bringing home the most forlorn and maimed specimens of femininity." And at Vassar later her socialistic tendencies quite shocked the conservative faculty, for early in her college career she had herself made probation officer. The chapel having been refused the fair Inez as a gathering place for a suffragette meeting, nothing daunted, with sixteen of her sworn allies, a meeting took place at midnight in a nearby graveyard, where they listened to burning words from President Inez. After that suffrage became a tolerated if not an approved subject at Vassar.

Miss Milholland has the honor of being the girl who "broke up the big Taft campaign parade." As the procession moved down Fifth avenue, the band playing "There'll Be a Hot Time," a voice from a window of one of the houses called, "Give us votes for women!" Miss Milholland, then a member of the Political Equality league, was shouting these words to the crowd through a megaphone.

Some of the men broke and ran into the house, and after fifteen minutes' coaxing talk Inez had converted them to the cause. It was a great victory from the suffragist viewpoint. Several arrests, two in London and one during the shirtmakers' strike in New York last winter, are added to Miss Milholland's victories, for the oftener a suffragette can suffer for the cause the greater the glory.

She made four militant suffragette speeches in Hyde park, London, when only fifteen years old. She interviewed Premier Asquith last summer, when she persuaded him to be more openly friendly to the suffragettes. Her conversion of Mr. Bates took place a year ago at a suffragette tea, and now it is said that the wedding bells will soon be heard.

The Vogue of Ribbon Work. There is a daintiness about pompadour ribbon work that never fails to please. A tiny ribbon has just been put on the market with a crimped edge that works up effectively. The pin-been going. I would urge them to lead in the battles for our country and our civilization. The pendulum has swung briefly away from the fundamentals of our civilization, which I would state as being found in the simple but sternal truths of Christianity. "Our Christian civilization of today is contesting for human service with Buddhism, Mohammedanism, Brahminism and the lesser beliefs that seek to guide the people of the world into happier pathways. Often times the very simplicity of Christian virtue and its common presence fails to impress the younger mind trained in the great universities of America and Europe. Our immature scholars incline to turn Plato Pythagoras, Zarathustra and Confucius, as offering in their nebulous attractiveness more agreeable mental pabulum. They do not at first always remember the failure of these philosophies to uplift the world in a practical and catholic manner."

Civilization of Christ.

"The more serious task of leadership today is to guide our people back to their moorings of truth and love. Let science have its swing and philosophy its filling, but let us remember that ours is a civilization of Christ and that all we have in Christendom grows out of the persistent interpretations and applications of the religion of the Nazarene. Agnosticism is cowardice. Infidelity is a disease. Apostasy is disloyalty. "Men educated in popular universities like Michigan must and will help the public to bear the burdens of higher and fuller education by giving of their means and influence to the expansion and growth of their Alma Mater. Michigan men are pioneers. Let them blaze the way for a new philanthropy that has for its effective purpose the financial strengthening of these splendid state institutions that have been up to the present sustained by the people, but which must in the future, in order to live and compete, have a share of the profits in their investment in their alumni, which has made their material success possible."

THEATRICAL

THE GRAND—Without saying anything about the bill itself, the music at the Grand is well worth the stinky little ten cents that is charged. Tolman's orchestra is furnishing the best there is in the way of music and plays many of the classics as well as popular stuff every night. The bill this week is composed of a comedy bicyclist and Burnison & Taylor in a comedy sketch.

Another thing at the Grand that will be of interest to many Escanaba people is a rare specimen of horticulture that is being fostered by Manager Carl Tolan. In spite of the cold weather—or perhaps to spite it—Carl has undertaken the job of raising a luxurious mustache. As yet it cannot be seen at a great distance, but it is there just the same—if you don't believe it, count 'em.
