

MUCH ADO, BUT LITTLE IS DONE

Legislature Passes Many Bills of Small Importance--Taxation the Burning Question--Lord Displeases Osborn--Tonnage Bill May Pass House--Other Matters.

(Special to The Mirror.)

Lansing, Feb. 22.—The legislature put in some strenuous hours during the past week and passed a number of bills of little importance and mostly local in character. There appears to prevail a tendency on the part of the legislators to shirk the important measures demanded by the people of the state, as expressed in the platform of both political parties, and the desire of some of the members to retaliate for certain real or fancied wrongs, coupled with considerable petty political sideplay, is responsible for the situation.

Taxation is the burning question of the day in Michigan. Governor Osborn is determined to place on the statute books of the state a tax law that is equitable and fair to the various industries and interests of the state. The governor advocates a commission to study tax conditions and report its findings to the legislature. A bill to that effect was drawn by the attorney general and introduced in the house. Chairman Lord of the committee on taxation was intrusted with the steering of the bill through the house. When the committee on taxation discussed the various bills before them, the chairman did not enlighten the members as to which bill was the administration bill, and several members, seeing that the bill provided for a

LORIMER SPEAKS IN HIS OWN DEFENSE

Illinois Senator Presents a Number of Questions Which He Says He Will Himself Answer in a Plain and Truthful Way--Criticizes the Illinois Governor.

(By Associated Press.)

Washington, Feb. 22.—As indicating his general line of defense, Senator Lorimer, in addressing the senate today, presented a number of questions which he said he would answer truthfully, in a plain, matter-of-fact way and truthfully. He said these questions would have to do with the organization of the Illinois legislature when he was elected senator.

He reviewed the political conditions in his home state preceding and during his senatorial contest and denied that he had anything to do with the election of Shurtliff as speaker or Lee O'Neil Browne as the minority leader. He criticized Governor Deneen for the latter's alleged interference in legislative matters and declared that if the fifteen members who voted for Deneen for senator had voted for Hopkins the latter would have been elected.

The session this morning was commenced with the usual custom on Washington's birthday of reading his farewell address, which was read by Senator Young of Iowa.

ANOTHER SALOONIST TAKEN INTO COURT

Michael Reshkus, proprietor of the Bank saloon, was brought into Justice Linden's court late Tuesday afternoon and arraigned upon a charge of having had his place of business open last Sunday, contrary to law. His preliminary examination was then set for two o'clock tomorrow afternoon and he was released under $200 bonds.

TWO CONTESTS WILL MARK REPUBLICAN COUNTY CONVENTION

THERE PROMISES TO BE A SPIRITED TIME WHEN THE REPUBLICANS OF DELTA COUNTY GET TOGETHER TOMORROW.

Gasman Will Have Opposition for the Nomination of County Road Commissioner and Legg Must Contest With Mrs. Spencer for a Renomination.

According to present indications, the Republican county convention, which is called to assemble at the court house at eleven o'clock tomorrow forenoon, will not be a tame and spiritless affair. On the contrary, it is likely to be somewhat lively, for there will be at least two contests for the nominations for office that are to be made.

John Gasman, whose term as county road commissioner is about to expire, is seeking a renomination, but he will have healthy and well developed opposition from Soren Johnson of Gladstone, who is hot on Mr. Gasman's trail and is backed by the cohorts of Gladstone and some other portions of the county. Only one man with a genuine gambler's instinct will bet with any degree of certainty upon either of the men winning, although both are apparently very confident of landing the nomination.

Still more interesting will be the contest for the nomination for the office of county commissioner of schools, the present incumbent of which is Peter R. Legg of Gladstone. Until recently it was supposed that M. Legg would have no opposition in his quest for a renomination, but within the last few days a competitor for the honor has entered the field against him. This competitor is Mrs. Spencer, wife of Attorney N. C. Spencer, whose candidacy is now an assured fact.

Mrs. Spencer before her marriage was a school teacher and has always taken a keen interest in educational matters. There is no question as to her qualifications for the office she is seeking.

Mr. Legg's record in the office is a most excellent one and it is upon that record he is depending for a renomination. Whoever is successful, Delta county is sure to have a capable county school commissioner. If Mrs. Spencer is nominated and elected she will add Delta county to the ranks of other Michigan counties that have women school commissioners.

Besides nominating candidates for the two offices mentioned, the convention tomorrow will choose delegates to represent the county at the state Republican convention at Saginaw on March 2, and transact such other business as may properly come before it. Forty-six delegates will be entitled to seats in the convention.

Since yesterday's report The Mirror has received the names of some other delegates to the convention, as follows:

- Garden township—Thomas Peltier and Stephen Braut.
- Bay de Noc township—Frank Burleson.
- Fairbanks township—John Follo.
- Baldwin township—Henry Lancour.

ALIEN WOMAN MAY SOON BE DEPORTED

Harrison Benner, an official attached to the federal immigrant inspection service, arrived in the city last night with a woman, who is to be taken to Sault Ste. Marie, where she will be given an examination for the purpose of determining whether she shall be deported as an undesirable alien. The woman was arrested at Cornell and is in the county jail here while Mr. Benner is in Gladstone today looking for several other aliens for whom he has warrants.

STRICKEN BY DEATH ON STREET

ELDERLY MAN FALLS ON SIDEWALK AND WHEN PERSONS GO TO HIS AID HE IS FOUND TO BE DEAD.

BODY NOW AT A LOCAL MORGUE.

Body Shows No Indications of Injury, but Blood Flowing from Ear Indicates the Rupture of Blood Vessel and Probable Cause of Death—Identity of the Deceased Not Yet Ascertained.

About two o'clock this afternoon an elderly man, whose identity up to four o'clock had not been ascertained, slipped and fell on the Ludington street sidewalk in front of the Fair Savings Bank store and when he did not arise and people on the street went to his assistance it was found that he was dying or already dead.

Dr. W. A. LeMire, whose office is near by, was called and after making an examination of the man pronounced him dead.

He bore no marks of injury, but blood flowed from one of his ears and it is believed that a blood vessel in his head may have been ruptured by the fall and caused his death.

Not Yet Identified.
His body was taken to J. A. Allo's undertaking establishment, where it has been viewed by many people. No one was able, however, to positively identify the dead man, who was perhaps between 55 and 60 years old. He was fairly well dressed in a black suit of clothes.

Coroner Dube has been notified and may decide to hold an inquest, although that may not be necessary in view of the fact that the man was seen to fall and die immediately thereafter.

ALDA ROBB GIVEN SURPRISE PARTY

Tuesday was the thirteenth birthday anniversary of Miss Alda Robb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Robb, and in honor of the event she was given a delightful surprise party after school by a dozen of friends at her home, 801 Wells avenue. Including the young hostess there were just thirteen girls at the party, one for each year of Miss Alda's life, and they all had a most delightful time in various ways, after which refreshments were served. The guests were: Laura Brown, Marion Shevaller, Beaulah Peterson, Ellen Erickson, Mamie Hanson, Louise Northup, Helen Roede, Hazel Shaw, Rose Saunders, Phoebe Carlson, Ethel Baum and Letitia Hewlett.

GOES TO JAIL FOR CARRYING WEAPON

Ben Willis, arrested on a charge of carrying concealed weapons had his trial before Justice Glaser Tuesday afternoon. He was convicted and sentenced to a term of 15 days in the county jail, being unable to pay the fine of $5 and costs imposed as an alternative. Willis, it appeared from the testimony introduced, not only had a loaded revolver in his possession but threatened to shoot somebody with it.

The "Miss Nobody from Starland" company has changed its date again and will not be here until March 5. It was booked for March 2.

ESCANABA TO HAVE MEETING OF YOUNG PEOPLE ON MARCH 10

DELEGATES WILL ATTEND FROM THIS CITY, MENOMINEE, IRON MOUNTAIN, MANISTIQUE AND GLADSTONE.

Ministers of Presbyterian Churches of Cities Named Also to Be Present—Convention to Be Held in Local Church—Program in Preparation.

A convention of young people will be at the First Presbyterian church in this city Friday afternoon and evening, March 10. Those included in this convention and who have received an invitation by the young people's societies of the local church are Menominee, Iron Mountain, Manistique and Gladstone.

Rev. Henry F. Shier, chairman of the Presbytery's committee on young people's work, will attend this meeting and effect an organization for a district rally. The ministers of these churches will be present and two delegates from each society. Gladstone will charter a car and bring their entire society here. The King's Sons' society and the Westminster guild will make arrangements for the reception and entertainment of the delegates.

Although this will not be a large convention in numbers, it is hoped that by this start, a better organization will be formed in the presbytery and a better knowledge obtained of the extent and effectiveness of the young people's work.

The young people of the First Presbyterian church are entering upon the work of planning for the meeting and entertaining the delegates with enthusiasm, and it is certain that a pleasant and profitable session will be had when the convention is held here.

The full program will be announced later. Rev. J. R. Mitchell, D. D., of Manistique, who is well known here will be one of the speakers. Rev. J. E. Wilson of Gladstone, Rev. Daniel E. Long of Menominee and Mrs. Henry F. Shier will have prominent places on the program. Walter E. Helmer, president of the King's Sons' society will tell of the work of that organization during its five years of his.

The convention will be the first of its kind held in this district for many years and will be well attended by the local young people. The Shaw quartette will lead the singing of the convention and render special music.

BRILLIANT PARTY BY ST. AGNES GUILD

Clark's hall was the scene Tuesday evening of a brilliant society function in the form of a dancing party given by St. Agnes' guild of St. Stephen's Episcopal church. In response to the invitations issued, about fifty couples attended and enjoyed themselves to the limit. For the occasion the hall was attractively decorated and there was nothing lacking that could add to the pleasure of those in attendance. Brotherton's orchestra furnished inspiring music for the dance numbers. The patronesses of the affair were: Mrs. N. C. Spencer, Mrs. A. H. Groesbeck, Mrs. B. L. King, Mrs. William Clark and Mrs. Miles Thomas.

G. M. MASHEK BUYS MASONVILLE STORE

Tuesday afternoon a deal was closed whereby George M. Mashek purchased the general store of the Escanaba Lumber company at Masonville and he will continue the business under the name of the Masonville store. Mr. Mashek intends building a new store building in the spring.

NEW SOCIETY IS ORGANIZED HERE

It Will Be Known as the Westminister Guild of the First Presbyterian Church--Its Purposes and Work to Be Carried on By Young Women of That Congregation--Details.

At the parsonage of the First Presbyterian church Tuesday evening a society of young women was organized, which is to be known as the Westminister Guild of the First Presbyterian church.

The new society is to be limited in its membership and the work will be carried on by a group of young ladies, who are members of that congregation. They will have two annual events, which will be announced later, and judging from the enthusiasm of the meeting Tuesday night the organization which has been effected will be a potent factor in accomplishing great benefit not only for the members themselves, but also for the institution for which they will direct their efforts.

A very pleasant evening was spent socially after the first business session was over and each member of the new band of workers expressed themselves as anxious to begin their active work as soon as possible. The next meeting, at which the constitution will be adopted and new members will be held at the home of the pastor, Rev. P. B. Ferris, 208 Douglas street, on Friday evening, March 3.

Miss Elsa Atkins, who was unanimously chosen director of the guild, laid plans Tuesday night for the first work of the organization. They will take an active part in the convention of young people which is to be held at the First Presbyterian church, Friday afternoon and evening, March 10.

The spirit of willing service which prevailed at the meeting Tuesday night speaks well for the future usefulness of this society. The society will hold its regular meeting the second Tuesday of each month. A full list of the officers will be announced in a subsequent issue of The Daily Mirror.

Ed. Follo was a visitor in Crystal Falls yesterday.

President—Thornton A. Green, Ontonagon.

First Vice-President—Patrick Flannigan, Sagola.

Second Vice-President—A. T. Roberts, Marquette.

Byers, Iron River; W. J. Smith, Mohawk; L. W. Holbrook, Helmar; W. R. Hudson, Garnet; George W. McCormick, Menominee; W. L. Middlebrook, Manistique.

Plan of organization: A working fund of $50,000 to be raised, this to be apportioned on a basis of population to the several counties. Land holding corporations to be assessed one cent an acre on their land holdings; railroads to be asked to donate according to their mileage in each county; donations to be solicited from banks and other corporations; county boards to be asked to appropriate a certain amount, which will be raised either by direct taxation or taken from the contingent fund. None of these subscriptions or donations to be paid until the sum of $100,000 is raised.

Well Satisfied With Results.

The foregoing is a summary of the decisions arrived at by the directors following the formation of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau of Michigan at Menominee Tuesday.

It was after midnight before the final session was concluded, but those who had labored earnestly and arduously were well satisfied with the results. Officers of the organization were elected as noted above at the final session and articles of incorporation were adopted and signed by all the charter members present.

Delta county played a prominent part at the meeting, for next to Menominee county it had the largest representation of any county at the meeting. Among the citizens from this county present were: Mayor Solomon Greenwood, W. W. Olfner, Dr. W. A. Cotton, H. W. Rode, George F. (Continued on Page Six.)

Special Period Prize Offer

Closes Saturday, February 25th, 10 p. m.

Miss Helen Barlow and Mrs. E. B. Fosterling Fighting for First Honors in District No. 3.

"Now, Miss Candidate," we desire to call your attention to the fact that there are just four days more for you to accumulate a sufficient number of votes to win one of the beautiful Special Period Prizes, and at the same time place yourself in at least reaching distance of one of the New York-Bermuda Tour Trips; votes which count for the Special Period Prizes will also count on the Tour Contest, and the persistent effort shown by you at the close of the Special Period Prize offer on February 25th, will be very gratifying to your friends who are watching your progress with the same interest a Base Ball Fan would have in a game of Base Ball.

Are you discouraged because some candidate has a lead of a few votes so that you feel that you are hopelessly outclassed? Here is a fair question: Do you know how many more votes that candidate can secure? You have no way of telling but that her resources are almost at an end, while in your own case you, no doubt, have several to call on who have promised you a subscription for some future date. Let us say right now that "the subscription in your hand is worth twenty in the other fellow's pocket."

Now girls, let's start something. Keeping eternally at it will bring success, and the regular, earnest and steady workers are those who will secure one of the Special Prizes and a trip to New York and Bermuda.

Special Notice!

On and after Saturday, February 25th, the vote ballot which has appeared daily, will be discontinued, and all outstanding ballots bearing date of February 27th must be voted in the ballot box at the Mirror Office, Escanaba, Mich., not later than Monday, February 27th at 12 o'clock noon. WASHING MADE EASY.

A Woman May Do the Work in Thirty Minutes.

Eighty-five dollars will pay for a washing machine of family size that will wash better than any woman can wash by hand. A good machine may, perhaps, be bought for even a little less. The machine is equipped with a wringer that is also run by power and a one-eighth horsepower motor. A plumber in a day will make the hot and cold water and drainage connections. Then the machine is ready for business, says the Delmeator.

How simple washing becomes! Soap the clothes. Put the clothes in the machine. Turn a valve and let in the hot water. Turn a switch and let in the electricity. Close the top to keep in the steam and smell and go about your other business, not for a day or a half day, but for twenty minutes. Then come back and turn off the power. Open the valve at the bottom and let out the dirty water. Let in clean water and run the machine two minutes to rinse the clothes. With a twist of the wrist, switch the power to the wringer and wring the clothes into a waiting tub of blue water on the other side. If there is any starching to be done, do it. If not, hang out the clothes to dry.

That's the whole operation. A quick woman can perform it in thirty minutes. Most of the time she need not work. Nor need she lift the clothes from the time she puts them into the machine until she hangs them out. All she must do is to feed them through a wringer.

Furthermore, washing done this way can be done two or three times a week instead of once. It is better with a machine to wash frequently. Simply use the machine as a clothes hamper and when it is full turn on the water and the power. Instead of a bugbear, washing becomes not much more of an ordeal than winding the clock.

What He Forgot.

The one woman invited to attend the meetings of the first conference of governors held at the White House in 1908 was Mrs. Sarah S. Platt Decker of Denver, then president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and during her speech to the conference she told this story:

One evening Farmer John came back from his weekly trip to town, half a dozen miles away, and after unitching his mare walked over to the pump for his customary scrub and then joined his son and daughter at supper in the kitchen.

"Sort o' pears to me 's though I'd 'a' forgot something or other," he remarked toward the end of the meal as he searched for his tobacco.

"Why, pa, did you get the reel of thread and the pink gingham for my dress?"

"Yep."

"And the crock for butter and the bag of flour and the vanilla s'ring?"

"Yep."

"Did ye git the barrer mended and shoe old Jinny?"

"Yep, Sam."

"Well, pa, I don't rec'lect that ye had anything else ye ought to have brought back."

But still pa did not seem quite satisfied. He chewed awhile reflectively, his gaze fixed ruminatingly on space. Suddenly he smote his thigh with a prolonged exclamation: "By gosh! It's ma I've forgot!"

"And that," observed Mrs. Decker, "has been the trouble all along. Ma's been left behind. But now she has given up waiting. She has arrived by a path of her own, and she's not going to be forgotten again."—Hildegard Hawthorne in Century.

Makes Pies For the President.

Mrs. Philander C. Knox, wife of the United States secretary of state, sent a jar of homemade mincemeat to Mrs. Taft, who made it into pies for the White House private table. The president likes pie. He is fond, too, of a certain kind of spiced homemade sausage, and he received some of that also. Mrs. Stephen B. Elkins sends many good things from her own kitchen, and many of the charitable institutions of Washington as well as of feinal homes enjoy her jellies and preserves. Mrs. Joseph Bailey, wife of the Texas senator, is one of the best cooks in Washington. Her cakes are famous and are in constant demand at charity bazaars. She also sent them as Christmas presents to personal and official friends.

Sewing Suggestions.

Where duplicates must be made in any part of a paper pattern, instead of doing the work twice use carbon paper and mark with a hard pencil. Thus your work is perfectly exact and you run no risk of ruining the garment.

Instead of using the "wooden egg" darning try utilizing your old shoe trees. The entire form of the foot is then taken on by the stocking, and you can see exactly where your darns ought to go.

Another darning idea is to paint half of your darning ball white so as to use it under black footed stockings. Oil paint mixed with a little turpentine will do the work.

As good as a patent ripper is a steel crochet hook, which will catch under threads, pull out bastings, etc., in double quick time.

Mend your rug by whipping over the worn edges with yarn to match the rug and then single crochet over the hole or worn place very tightly with a crochet hook.

You can sell real estate if you are "lucky" by means of most any kind of advertising. But, whether you are lucky or not, you can sell real estate through adequate newspaper advertising.

FIGURES FROM BIG SOCIETY WEDDING

The wedding expenses of Miss Helen Vivien Gould, married to Col. John Grahame Hope de la Poer Horsley Beresford, Baron Decies—as we started to say, the girl's wedding expenses have been reported as amounting to $320,000.

This is somewhat more than President Taft will have earned by his four years' service as president of the United States.

It is as much as 674 average American wage earners would earn in a year. In other words, it represents the income for one year, of an entire village of American workmen containing 3,370 inhabitants.

For an average American to earn that much money, he would need to have started back about the year 1215 when English liberty got its start in the great charter wrested from King John—and he'd have had to keep right on working ever since.

If the former Miss Gould had earned that money herself, as a shop girl, it would have taken her quite a considerable time. She'd have to start in at the ribbon counter back in the year 680, when England was just being christianized, and she'd have kept right on selling ribbons about ten hours a day, six days a week, forty-two weeks a year, for 1,231 years.—Boston Traveler.

SEVENTEEN-YEAR OLD LOCUST COMING

Beware of cicada septendecim! Cicada is en route. In ordinary language it is known as the seventeen-year locust. This is the Anno Domini in which the destructible insect saunters forth to destroy whom it will.

The department of agriculture at Washington has sent out notification of the appearance of the locust that was sixteen years in developing into a pest. Park Forester Alfred Senn has taken official cognizance of septendecim and mercy will not be shown in Milwaukee.

In New York, so Uncle Sam allows, cicada already has caused much damage to trees and shrubbery. Strict vigilance will be required this year for the protection of trees and other wood growths.

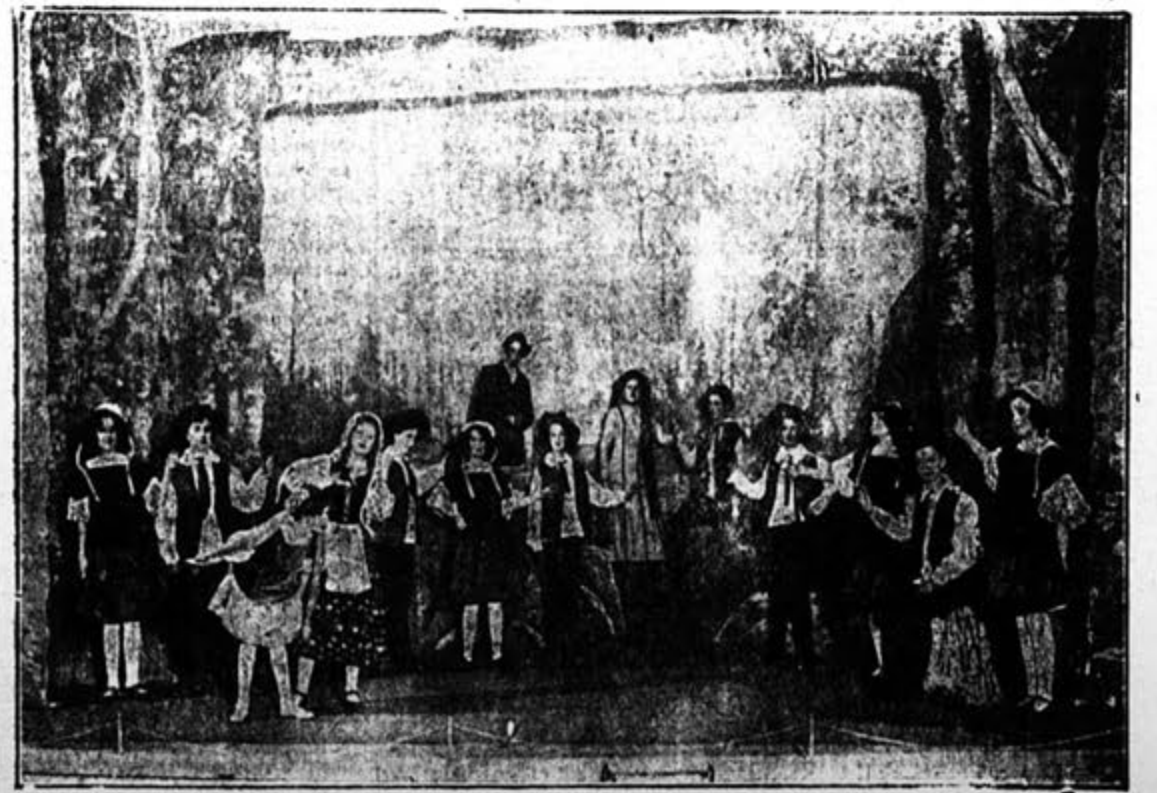

The sparrow, the robin and other birds are usually fond of his lordship cicada. It is a delectable morsel for the birdlings.

ADVERTISING PROTECTS.

Every once in a while there comes on the market an article similar to those sold under well known brands and the people are told that it is "just the same" but is sold at a lower price because "no money is wasted in expensive advertising."

Now whether this is so or not depends upon the quality of the goods offered in both cases and the prices charged. But certain it is that advertising brands and labels has a value to the consumer that is worth all it adds to the price, which is very little, says the Milwaukee Daily News.

In the first place the well advertised brands of food products, are the well favored brands. Could this be so if there were not virtue behind the advertising? Would the public buy and buy again if there was not something in the goods that gave them confidence?

By advertising the manufacturer has brought his goods to the attention of the reader. By excellence of goods he has held that attention. Behind that advertising is the reputation and the profits of the manufacturer. To hold the trade his advertising has brought him, he must furnish goods of a quality that will continue to please. He cannot afford to let his goods run down. So his customers come to know that his brands mean something to them. They know that any article well advertised by a reliable firm, an article on which a firm is willing to spend large sums for advertising, must have virtue or the maker could not hope to get his money back. And the confidence they feel in the goods, the fact that they can without misgivings accept and take into their homes such goods has a value to them even where they are sold at a slightly higher price than the unbranded, goods upon which nothing has been spent to give them confidence.

If the sum spent for advertising such goods was stripped from the cost of marketing in order to reduce the price, the reduction per package would be so low it could not be counted and what is more important, there would be stripped from the consumer the confidence and the publicity that is his protection.

GEORGE WASHINGTON.

"G. W." These fateful initials are read by the average person with the feeling that they signify chiefly a joke about hatchets. If their possessor came back to earth today, he would hear more about cherry trees than his superb military genius.

Washington had a temperament that would make him a master of men in any age and among any race. In his struggle with an overwhelming force he was usually beaten in battle. But the foe he faced on the field was the least of his troubles. He fought against hunger, disease, lack of men and money, plots against his authority among the band of ragamuffins that constituted his army, and in the seats of legislative authority.

Amid all these baffling fates, he was calm, firm, persevering, prudent in husbanding narrow resources, confident, trustful in a higher power, and in the certainty of American destiny. Lacking the force of his personality, the American colonies could not have won independence until at least a later generation.

We are disposed to say unkind things about the mule, but the fact remains that there are many men who are worse kickers.

CANAL DEFENSES DIVIDE AMERICA

Fortification Advocates Argue Lack of Guns Might Cause Building Nation Huge Damage In Case of War.

Opponents Figure Battleships Could Destroy Locks Without Being Endangered by Defense Artillery.

By JAMES A. EDGERTON.
THE completion of the Panama canal at our doors is brought startlingly near by the designation of San Francisco as the city in which to hold the canal exposition and by the discussion as to fortifying the big ditch. Colonel Theodore Roosevelt says that fortification is opposed by some "worthy ladies of both sexes."

Among these "worthy ladies" are former Secretary of State Richard Olney, William Dean Howells, President Jordan of Stanford university and President Faunce of Brown, United States District Judge Holt, Bishop Anderson of the Episcopal church, Jane Addams of Hull House, Governor Baldwin of Connecticut, General J. Warren Keifer, General Sherwood, another representative, Methodist ministers in Cincinnati and elsewhere, 100,000 Quakers, more or less; various peace societies, two or three New York newspapers and a number of senators and representatives, but just how many nobody seems to know.

On the side of fortifications are arrayed President Taft, Colonel Roosevelt, guns on land can shoot quite as far as those at sea, that they would be several miles nearer to any battleship than the ship itself could get to the locks and that while attacking vessels might not furnish a stationary target the fort guns themselves would be stationary, which would be a big point in their favor. Moreover, the fortifications could be placed at both ends of the canal for $12,000,000, or a trifle more than the cost of one battleship. This is a point of no small importance, since defending the canal by the navy would be very much more expensive than fortifying and would tie up a whole fleet that in case of war would be needed for other service.

Land Defenses Formidable.

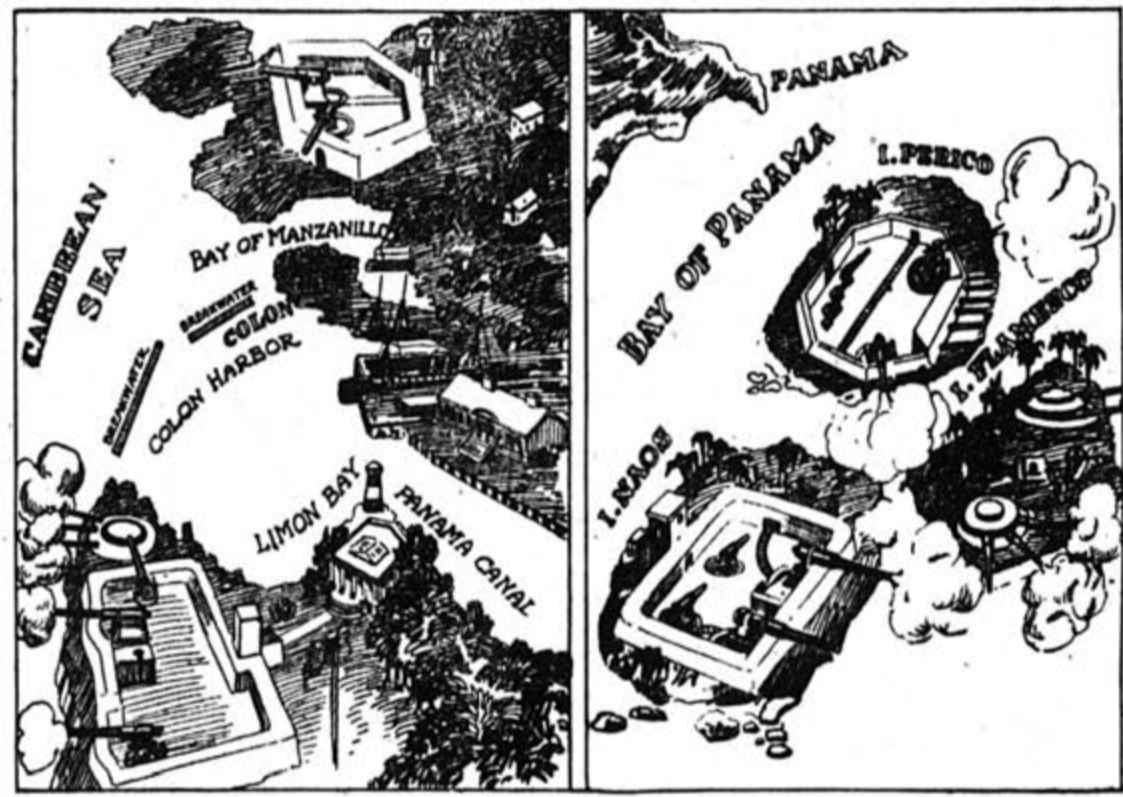

Naval experts make a telling point in favor of fortifications. In case of war it would be practically impossible without forts to take an American fleet through the canal in face of an enemy. That would be like marching an army through a narrow defile with a foe at the other end to pick them off as they emerged. With forts all this would be changed. The fort guns could keep the opposing fleet at least the battleship Oregon around the Horn that Uncle Sam definitely made up his mind to get into the game. Thus the new waterway is as much a naval as a commercial venture. How silly it would be, argue the advocates of fortification, to allow all the military benefits to slip out of our hands now that we are building the canal and have them securely in our grasp! We have constructed the waterway with our own money on our own land. Who has a better right to say how we shall use it?

Natural Sites For Forts.

The natural features of the canal termini seem almost made for forts. On the Atlantic side there are necks of land that would make an ideal site for a bunch of fourteen inch and other guns, while at the Pacific entrances there are three or four cute little islands that appear specially designed for the purpose and, heaven knows, will never serve any other. Failure to take advantage of these sites placed ready at our hand would be little less than impious, say the fort supporters. It is designed to build the forts while Colonel Goethals is still on the job. In this way much time and expense can be saved. Besides, the work will be sure to get finished. Goethals has a habit of going through with anything on which he starts, even an appropriation. Landslides have no terrors to him. He simply continues shoveling out the landscape and lets it slide any blooming way it pleases. If he were put on the fortifications he could utilize his concrete gangs after they had finished with the locks.

Not long ago the colonel appeared in Washington to testify before a committee and while there was invited to deliver a stereotypical lecture in the hall of the house of representatives. The second time such an honor has been reit, W. R. Hearst and a vast army of American newspapers, public officials, members of both houses of congress and American citizens of the plain voting variety, nobody knowing just how many there are of these either. Both sides claim public sentiment, after the manner of factions in this land of the free. The division is not a partisan one, since the minority leader of the senate introduced the resolution favoring fortifications. Neither is it sectarian, as many ministers oppose building forts and others just as stoutly favor it. Nor is it a division between those who are for peace and those against it, since President Taft is something of a peace advocate, and Andrew Carnegie, who is for peace with his whole heart and $10,000,000, is a believer in fortifying the canal.

Foreign Opinion Divided.

Foreigners are quite as much divided on the question as ourselves. Those in responsible positions have, of course, refrained from comment, but others have not been under like restraint. Of these a number hold that it is our right and duty to protect our own property. Others insist that our best method of guarding the great waterway would be through international agreement, leaving the canal itself open to the whole world. Possibly they think we should carry our magnanimity a point further and not charge tolls. On the same principle a farmer should not put up fences, but should depend on a neighborhood agreement to keep the cattle out of his corn and if he had any crop left should give it away. The great argument against fortifying the Panama canal is that England has not fortified the Suez canal. Yet England has amply fortified Gibraltar, which guards the entrance to the Mediterranean sea and thus commands the approach to the canal.

Another argument against fortifications is that it is physically impossible to protect the Panama canal by such means. Some guns now have a range of nearly twenty miles and the canal locks are in such an exposed position that they can be shot at from far out at sea and from several points along the coast. Ships could thus keep out of sight of the forts and still do execution against the canal. Even if sighted they would be in motion, thus being difficult to hit, while the canal locks would offer a stationary target. This line of reasoning would imply that where there cannot be complete protection there should be none at all. Advocates of fortifications insist that ten miles distant and give the American ships an opportunity to go through the canal unmolested and form in battle line under the protection of the forts.

Of course everybody hopes that there will be no more war. We have been hoping the same thing for over 2,000 years. Twenty-six hundred years ago Isaiah wrote that "they shall beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning hooks." We still believe that "they" will do this, but the nations have not done it yet and give no certain indication when they will. The powers run a race in building Dreadnoughts and increasing armaments. Moreover, the advocates of fortification at Panama insist that this would be a defensive rather than an offensive measure. It would make for peace rather than war. It would discourage and not invite attack. The fortifications would be no menace to commerce. They would never be used except against an enemy of the canal or an enemy of the country owning the canal.

For Police Duty.

Another argument in favor of fortifications is that they are necessary in the proper policing of the great waterway. They are required to enforce neutrality. The duty of policing and protecting the canal and of making it neutral rests on the United States government. Who then can object if we take the necessary steps to perform our duty? The weakness of an international agreement for assuring the neutrality of the canal is that an international agreement would necessarily consist of treaties between individual nations, and in time of war such treaties are hardly worth the paper on which they are written. Besides, what is to prevent some irresponsible nation that is not a signatory to the agreement from inflicting injury on the waterway? Even if there were an understanding somebody would still have to police the canal, and for this purpose some sort of fortification would be essential. From the American viewpoint there would be another fatal defect in the plan. In case of war, say, between the United States and Japan there would be nothing to prevent a Japanese fleet from passing through the canal and attacking the Atlantic coast. Thus the waterway we ourselves had built would be used for our own injury.

It was the military necessity that first crystallized American sentiment for the enterprise. An isthmian canal had been talked of for generations, but it was not till the spectacular trip of recorded an outsider in the history of the country. He was not there to talk for forts, yet everybody knew how he felt on the subject.

It is designed to use disappearing guns for the forts. A disappearing gun has the same advantage as a man shooting from behind a tree. It bobs out suddenly, fires its load and before the enemy can get back at it is again in hiding.

Big Growth on Pacific.

The Panama canal will be the gateway to the Pacific. Its importance to the world no one can yet measure. The outlines of the new civilization taking form around the great ocean grow more clearly defined with the passage of the years. Here is the new theater of human activity, and what a vast theater it is! Everywhere the Pacific lands are becoming keenly alive. Our own coast states show the most marvelous growth in the nation. Northwest Canada is emerging. Eternal frost cannot wholly stifle activity even in Alaska and Siberia. Under Japanese control Korea is awakening from the sleep of thirty centuries. China is establishing a parliament and shedding its pigtails.

Under free trade with America Philippine commerce is on the upgrade. Australasia, with her advanced theories of government, seems almost a Utopia. With the opening of the great canal a new life will flow out to all these lands. Europe will have found a pathway to the east. The dream of Columbus, which led to the discovery of two continents, will have been realized and a new route to India will be open to men.

Philanthropists believe that it would be a magnanimous and beautiful thing for America to build this waterway and say to the world, "Take it; it is yours." More practical beings feel that it is still important for the United States to control the Pacific—important for herself and still more important for civilization. By fortification we retain the key in our own hands. From our island forts at the western gateway America can proclaim:

"I awakened the Pacific; I furnished the example for the republics of the western hemisphere; I broke the sleep of Japan and maintained the integrity of China; I furnished a type of freedom for Australia and New Zealand; I am leading Hawaii and the Philippines into the paths of self government; I breathed life into all this vast new and old empire around the world's greatest ocean, and I will guard its destiny."

NEW ROAD WOULD BE EXTENSIVELY USED

Negaunee Man Says People South of that City are Calling for Better Highway.

The Negaunee correspondent of the Marquette Mining Journal has the following of semi-local interest:

A Negaunee business man who recently spent several days in the district between Little Lake and Escanaba yesterday said that the people in that region are disappointed because the county road commission has failed to take any steps to improve the highways leading through Forsyth township. The farmers have been asking for highway improvements for several years past, but the county has done very little for them.

The Negaunee man expressed the opinion that the opening of the road through Cyr swamp, so that Marquette county will have a passable highway connecting the roads in Delta county, would be an improvement of great value. He said that he was familiar with the swamp and that it ought not to cost an excessive sum to put a road through it, as trenches along the sides of the highway would drain a road. There is material for road making to be had on either side of the swamp, and the cost of the fill would not be particularly heavy.

Good in Delta County.

The opinion is expressed that it would perhaps be more satisfactory to Marquette county people to give this highway attention before commencing the proposed highway connecting with Baraga county. The highway between here and Escanaba would be used more than would the road connecting the iron with the copper district. If the highway between Marquette county cities and Escanaba was in good condition, many automobile parties would make the run between the two points.

The highway between Escanaba and Lathrop, a distance of about thirty-three miles, is in good order. Three miles of it has been macadamized by Delta county, and there is no place in this thirty-three-mile stretch, where automobiles cannot be used. The road between Negaunee and Little Lake is also passable but a few hundred dollars could be used to excellent advantage on this stretch, as there are a number of rough spots, as well as some sandy places, that require attention.

THIS HORSE COLLAR IS SOMETHING BIG

H. E. Penninger, a copper country harness maker, turned out the largest horse collar this week that he has ever handled during his many years in the business. The collar in question was a number twenty-six. To give some idea of the size it was placed beside a flour barrel and was one inch higher than the barrel. There is also something in connection with the horse that the harness maker has never seen before. In most cases the neck of a horse after he is five years old does not become much larger and when it does it takes three or four years to make the difference of one size, but with the animal that this collar was purchased for the size has to be changed at least every year.

BOAT CAN CRAWL OVER WORST OF SANDBARS

St. Louis, Feb. 22.—Plans of new types of river craft, some unique and startling, were submitted here by the federal board of army engineers recently appointed to design, construct and experiment with towboats, barges and necessary landing apparatus for handling freight on the Mississippi river and its tributaries. An inventor, whose name is withheld, described a peculiar wheel he had designed, which would enable a boat to walk over a sandbar.

He got his idea watching heavy engines on road work. When in sufficient dept of water his wheel is designed to propel in the same manner as the wheel of the present type of stern wheel steamer, but, on coming to a sandbar, the heavy paddles he has designed will dig into the sand and enable the vessel to cross the bar easily.

He was a personal friend of Governor Osborn. Mrs. Dora Newcombe, a sister, aged 71 years, died on Saturday, preceding him only twenty-four hours.

NEW YORK TO HAVE HOTEL FOR SAILORS

New York, Feb. 22.—Ground will be broken in New York this spring for a $750,000 hotel for sailors. The enterprise, fathered by the Seamen's Church Institute, is the first of its kind in the world. It has received the indorsement of the Chamber of Commerce and various maritime organizations and nearly $500,000 of the necessary amount is already in the hands of the trustees, John D. Rockefeller and J. P. Morgan having each given $50,000.

The hotel will be managed along lines similar to those which have made the Mills hotels in this city self-supporting. It is the aim to give the seafaring men an up-to-date hotel with all modern conveniences, together with a savings bank and other welfare features.

WATER SAFER THAN LAND FOR PEOPLE

The report of the Steamboat Inspection service for the fiscal year shows that the loss of life from all causes among both passengers and crews during the year was 379 for 328,666,000 passengers carried, a ratio which works out at one-one-thousandth of 1 per cent. This proves the contentions of authorities that people are safer on the water than anywhere else, safer than they are on the streets of any large city and far safer than on any railroad.

To the qualified electors of Delta county:

$14,500,000 IS THE COST OF THE CENSUS

Washington, Feb. 22.—Director E. Dana Durand has presented to Secretary Nagel his annual report concerning the operations of the bureau of census. It is shown that the entire cost of the field work on population and agriculture in continental United States for the thirteenth census was about $5,855,500. The original estimate of $14,117,000 as the total cost of the decennial census the director now believes too low and he thinks, in view of the additional work required by Congress and for other reasons, it will reach fully $14,500,000.

The total payment to enumerators in continental United States as compensation for their service and traveling expenses in the thirteenth census aggregated about $4,870,000.

Good values are the only kind that it "pays" to advertise. If your store cannot compete with other stores in values, advertising will not pay you. If it can, it will.

RAYMOND GRIFFITH CRUSHED TO DEATH

Raymond Griffith, announcement of whose death at Antigo, Wis., was received here Sunday, was crushed to death at the Antigo mill as the result of a coupling breaking on a log train. Mr. Griffith was seated on one of the cars and when the coupling broke he was caught between the engine and the logs. Practically every bone in his body was broken. Mr. Griffith was a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. E. LeVine of this city and also of Mrs. Garland, who is here at the present time caring for the home of Mr. and Mrs. LeVine during their absence from the city. Mr. LeVine is in Detroit attending the annual meeting of the branch managers of Grinnell Bros. and Mrs. LeVine is visiting in Milwaukee.

Yes; there probably is such a thing as "luck." But it does not usually favor those who believe in it. Its smiles are for those who work and advertise just as though there were no such thing as chance in the world.

Or are you more or less uncertain?

Uncertainty in your baking from start to finish is entirely unnecessary.

COUNCIL HOLDS SHORT MEETING

Important Matters Scheduled For Consideration Tuesday Evening are Laid Over Until Thursday Evening—Prepare for the Primary Election.

Tuesday evening's meeting of the council was short and uneventful. Owing to the absence of Mayor Greenhoot and City Attorney Jennings, several important matters that were scheduled for consideration were laid over until Thursday evening, when an adjourned meeting will be held.

President of the Council Louis Follo presided and most of the business transacted was of a routine nature.

Arrangements for the primary election on March 1, when a candidate for circuit judge is to be nominated, were made by the adoption of a resolution declaring that the election shall be held on that date, designating the polling places and naming the inspectors of election, as follows:

First ward—P. F. Gannon.
Second ward—A. J. Stegath.
Third ward—X. Beauchamp.
Fourth ward—A. D. Dupuis.
Fifth ward—John Follo.
Sixth ward—Peter Beck.
Seventh ward—C. E. Snyder.

Upon the recommendation of the city engineer, the council ordered H. C. Sorby paid a balance of $420 due him on his contract for constructing a sewer in Escanaba avenue and in blocks 2 and 3 of the Hessel & Hentschel addition.

Several other bills were allowed, including one of $325 for a horse which Q. R. Hessel sold the city for the fire department. A contract for this sale was presented and the mayor and clerk were authorized to sign it on behalf of the city.

There was but one bid received for furnishing the city with 100 cords of four foot maple wood. This bid was from R. Kirby of Hermansville, who offered to sell the wood at $5.25 a cord. This price was considered too high and the committee in charge was given further time in which to make the purchase.

Plans and specifications for the improvement of North Birch street, bearing the date of September 10, 1907, were dug up from where they had been slumbering and Alderman Kirkpatrick gave notice that he would offer a resolution at the next meeting to have them adopted and the improvement made.

Lake Superior Press Association Elects Officers at Final Session of Annual Meeting in Menominee—Will Meet Next Year in Chicago—Resolutions Adopted.

At the concluding session of the annual meeting of the Lake Superior association, held in Menominee Tuesday afternoon, officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

President—W. F. Trayes, Menominee.
Vice President—Thomas Cozlin, Crystal Falls.
Sec'y-Treas.—Patrick O'Brien, Iron River.

Directors—Frank J. Russell, Marquette; Carl P. Mason, Gladstone; Homer Guck, Houghton; J. H. Marston, Stephenson; W. E. Smith, Keweenaw.

It was decided to hold the next meeting in Chicago during the life of the National Land Show in that city and at which time the Upper Peninsula Development association, organized at Menominee Tuesday, will be represented.

Resolutions Adopted.

Before finally adjourning the association unanimously adopted the following resolution:

"Whereas, the most productive area of fertile land in the United States now remains uncultivated and untitled lies in the upper peninsula of Michigan:

"And, whereas, the state government has seemingly ignored the agricultural development of the rich country above the straits, and, while giving minute attention to its taxation for general state purposes, has done little to advance its settlement and the interests of its pioneer farmers;

SAM LANGFORD IS AN EASY WINNER OVER "BILL" LANG

BLACK AMERICAN PUGILIST HAS A WALKAWAY IN GETTING VICTORY OVER FORMER CHAMPION OF AUSTRALIA

Wins on a Foul in the Sixth Round, But Lang Is Almost Out When the Foul is Committed—Lang Punched all Over the Ring By Langford.

(By Associated Press.)

London, Feb. 22.—Bill Lang, who once held the heavyweight championship of Australia, was not a match for Sam Langford, the American negro, in their scheduled twenty-round bout here last night. Langford won in the sixth round, when Lang was disqualified, but the chances are that the Australian could not have gone much longer, as Lang was almost out when he committed the foul. Six thousand spectators gathered to witness what they expected would be a long and fast fight. After six fierce rounds, and when Langford was down, the Australian, in a dazed sort of way, rushed at the American and struck him. Immediately the referee proclaimed Langford the winner.

The saying that "a good big man will always beat a good little man" proved a fallacy, for the Australian, with all his natural advantages, including an extra fifty-two pounds in weight, was hopelessly outclassed by the colored fighter, who walked into him and hit him from all angles where and when he willed.

Every County Represented.

As noted in a special dispatch from Menominee to The Mirror yesterday afternoon there were fully 300 representative men from all sections of the county in attendance at the meeting, which resulted in effecting a complete organization, as already noted. Every county was represented by from five to 30 delegates. Through this organization it is expected that the resources of the upper peninsula will be advertised as they have never been before. For one thing, the directors arranged with Secretary R. P. Cross of the Chicago Land Show for reserving four booths at the show in Chicago next fall for the bureau, which will make a comprehensive exhibit of the products of upper Michigan.

Corporations in Evidence.

Among the larger interests represented at the meeting were every board of supervisors in the upper peninsula, the Chicago & Northwestern, South Shore, and Soo Line railroads, the Western Land & Securities company of St. Paul and the Chicago Land Show. The St. Paul company recently purchased 712,000 acres of land in the upper peninsula, which will be thrown open to settlement as rapidly as possible.

Mayor F. D. Sullivan of Sault Ste. Marie, acted as chairman of the meeting and Robert Douglass of Ironwood was chosen secretary. The first business was the appointment of a committee of fifteen, one from each organization and order of business. H. W. Reade was the Delta county member of this committee.

On the recommendation of this committee, a permanent organization was formed, with a board of directors consisting of five members from each of the fifteen counties. These directors met Tuesday night to elect officers. It was decided to hold an annual meeting in February of each year and to engage on salary a publicity manager, whose headquarters will be determined later.

Will Advertise Upper Peninsula.

In accordance with the action of the meeting, steps will be taken immediately toward systematic advertising of the resources of the upper peninsula, with the specific purpose of attracting settlers and capital to this region, so little known to the greater part of the United States. E. P. Cross, representing the Chicago Land Show, was in attendance, and plans were inaugurated whereby the upper peninsula will have a display at the show next fall, and possibly one day will be set apart as Upper Peninsula day. Several members of the Western Land & Securities company were present, and explained the plans of the company. They were promised the hearty support of the organization in their project.

ADDITIONAL SHORT NOTES.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Carney Jr. of Marinette were in the city last night, stopping over here on their way to Massey, Ontario.
