

TRIBUTE PAID MEMORIES OF THE DEPARTED

MEMORIAL DAY IN ESCANABA IS MARKED BY THE CARRYING OUT OF APPROPRIATE EXERCISES AT THE CEMETERY.

OBSERVANCE IS QUITE GENERAL.

Parade Precedes the Exercises—Program is Carried Out as Arranged by Members of the Grand Army of the Republic—W. R. C. Conducts Marine Memorial Service—Campfire Tonight.

Escanaba members of the Grand Army of the Republic, Women's Relief Corps, Naval Reserves, Sons of Veterans, United Spanish War Veterans, Boy Scouts of America, as organized bodies, and large numbers of Escanaba people as individuals, united this afternoon in an observance of Memorial day, which means that homage and tributes of respect were paid to the memory of the dead, whose graves were decorated with flowers.

The Memorial exercises were held in Lakeview cemetery, which never presented a more beautiful appearance. They were preceded by a parade, which was formed at the Armory on Georgia street, south to Wells avenue and west on Wells avenue almost to Charlotte street.

The line of march was west on Wells avenue to the cemetery and the formation of the procession was as follows:

Members of the Escanaba police force, Naval Reserves, Boy Scouts of America, Sons of Veterans and United Spanish War Veterans, carriages containing the speakers of the day and Post Commander Emil Glaser, members of the Grand Army of the Republic, Women's Relief Corps, city officials and members of the common council, members of flower committee, private citizens and the hook and ladder truck of the fire department.

Exercises at the Cemetery.

Upon arriving at the cemetery the procession broke ranks and the exercises were carried out according to the program arranged by the G. A. R. committee and as previously published in these columns.

Prayer was offered by Rev. P. B. Ferris, Attorney Ira C. Jennings read Lincoln's immortal Gettysburg address, Oliver V. Thatcher sang "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," the assemblage joining in the chorus, School Superintendent F. E. King delivered an appropriate Memorial address and Comrade A. H. Rolph called the roll of honor, which contained fifty names. All but seven or eight of the departed veterans whose names were read are buried in the Escanaba cemetery.

Following the reading of the honor roll call of the dead the G. A. R. Memorial ritualistic services were conducted.

BOAT LOAD OF HAY COMING HERE

The Escanaba Produce company is expecting a boat load of 150 tons of choice Timothy hay to arrive in port this evening. The hay was purchased recently by O. A. Kates of the company, who recently made a trip into Canada for the special purpose of buying this kind of hay, which is now almost a minus quantity in this country. In fact, hay of any kind is a scarce article in the United States and yesterday it sold in Chicago for the highest price on record, $27 a ton.

The remains of the late John G. Zane, who died at Portsmouth, Va., are expected to arrive in the city on the 1:50 o'clock Chicago & Northwestern train tomorrow afternoon. They will be taken direct from the railway station to D. A. Oliver's undertaking rooms, where the funeral services will be held, after which they will be taken to Lakeview cemetery for burial. The Knights of Pythias, of which order Mr. Zane was a member, will be in charge of the funeral arrangements and members of the Escanaba lodge of Elks will also attend the funeral.

CHICKENS TRAVEL BY LAND AND SEA

All the way from Antwerp, Belgium, a crate of chickens, (a rooster and six hens) passed through Escanaba today on their way to Northland, where they will be delivered to Martin Saclens, evidently a native of Belgium. Notwithstanding their long journey by water and land, the fowls appeared to be in good condition. They arrived in Escanaba this morning by the American Express company's service and were transferred here to the Wells-Fargo Express company.

BABY BOY LIVES LESS THAN A WEEK

Mr. and Mrs. Elias Stenstrom, 1433 Stephenson avenue, are mourning the loss of their six days old son, who died at the family home Monday. Death has turned their rejoicing over the little one's birth into sorrow over his demise. The funeral was held from the home at one o'clock this afternoon, Rev. C. A. Lund conducting the services. Interment was made in Lakeview cemetery.

The Richters of this city are playing a game of ball this afternoon with the Gladstone Tigers at Gladstone. "Big Mike" Walsh was slated to pitch for the Richters. The Tigers now constitute Gladstone's first team.

ISHPEMING TAKES MONDAY'S GAME FROM ESCANABA

HEMATITE CITY TEAMS TURNS TABLES ON THE LOCALS, PRINCIPALLY THROUGH THE WORK OF ITS PITCHERS.

ESCANABA GETS BUT FIVE HITS.

It Also Does Effective Work With the Stick, Garnering a Total of Fourteen Swats—Score is 9 to 4—Same Teams Playing at Ishpeming This Afternoon.

The Ishpeming correspondent of the Marquette Mining Journal, who apparently can't see good work by any players than those on his home city team, gives the following one-sided account of the exhibition game played at Ishpeming yesterday afternoon, by the Escanaba and Ishpeming league teams and which was won by the latter by a score of 9 to 4:

Ishpeming turned the tables on Escanaba in yesterday's ball game, winning by a score of 9 to 4. Scott, in the box for Ishpeming during the first five innings had the Indian sign on the visitors, in spite of the fact that his arm was sore. In the five innings he allowed but two hits. Swanson pitched the last four innings and he was wild. He passed four men, hitting one, and allowed three hits. Ernie Burke, in the box for Escanaba, was touched for fourteen hits, two of them doubles by Laxstrom and Geelan.

Features of the Game.

A feature of the game was a sensational one-hand catch by William Clark, Ishpeming's new second baseman, who joined the team at Escanaba. Clark caught the ball out in right field after a long hard run. He also showed up well at the sack and he made two hits. Other features were the battling of Geelan and Laxstrom, the former having four hits in four times up, and the latter three. Geelan's two-bagger almost hit the center field fence.

Judging from the work of the two teams yesterday, Escanaba has nothing on Ishpeming either in the in or outfield, though it is possible that they have a little better of the argument in their pitching staff. If the Ishpeming infield puts up as good a game today as it did yesterday the locals should win again.

In today's game, which will start at 2:30 o'clock, Toman will be in the box and Nicholls will catch. In the two games played in Escanaba on by STACY E. BAKER.

MARCH! MARCH! MARCH! MARCH! MARCH!

Rattle of drum and the shrill of fife!
When is there music like to this?
March! March! March!
LACCORD lead, in the martial air,
Quicken step in the rhythm there.
Then, the tyrant, must stand aside—
Here are fighting men, true and tried;
Men who answered in the patriot's cry:
Of Death and fought for a victor's place;
Men who slept in the field of war;
Of war and slain in the common's cause,
Dreams of home, and the wife, was eyed,
Or mother here. If the drummer sigh'd
Or moan'd, I sooth'd, 'twas a drummer's right;
Day was day, and the night was night.
Cries of courage had they sung,
Nay was there fear in the drummer's heart
Who, there in the mid, lay down to rest
And deem his dream of the one loved best.
March! March! March!

Rattle of drum and the shrill of fife!
This is the day of the nation's dead!
March! March! March!
Gay and gaudy with their wreaths of youth,
Their tolls of wreaths and their tolls of tears,
See the widows and children come,
And, marching free to the streaming drum,
Their hair as gray as the souls of those
Who fought their fight to a bloody close,
Come the men who have lived to tell
The tales untold by the man who fell,
And flags half mast on the beams today
Wave alike to the blue and the gray.
March! March! March!

MUCH INTEREST IS BEING TAKEN HERE IN PYTHIAN REUNION

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS LODGES OF TWO STATES WILL BE IN EVIDENCE AT GREAT GATHERING NEXT MONTH.

NOTABLE PROGRAM IS ARRANGED.

Escanaba Knights of Pythias Will Be Represented at the Big Convention to Be Held at Menominee in June—Degree Team to Attend—Features of Four Days' Program.

Escanaba Knights of Pythias are taking great interest in the Upper Peninsula Knights of Pythias convention, which is to be held in Menominee June 20, 21, 22 and 23. Escanaba lodge will be represented by regular delegates, and the Escanaba degree team, accompanied by a large number of lodge members, will attend in a body.

The convention will not be a conclave of upper peninsula lodges alone, but will include lodges from Wisconsin. Degree teams will be entered by every lodge in the northern part of both states, while the sessions will be attended by the grand officers of both commonwealths, the grand officers also to take part in the exercises.

The convention will be an interstate meet in which teams will contest for special prizes. The Menominee lodge is making special arrangements to entertain the visiting lodges with that cordiality that has made that city one of the places in the upper peninsula famous for its hospitality.

The program for the four days sets forth the following with special emphasis:

- Upper peninsula teams will compete for the upper peninsula championship.
- Several Wisconsin teams will compete for the special silver cup.
- Amesden's Third regiment band will render concerts today and evening for the entire four days.
- Attend the big Knights of Pythias picnic at the famous John Henes park, the most beautiful in Michigan.
- Trolley and automobile rides.
- Spend your vacation in Menominee at the big Knights of Pythias convention.
- Grand parade and carnival.
- Pythian ball at convention hall.

TWO MORE BANDS MAY BE ENGAGED

Committees in Charge of Home Coming and Fourth of July Celebrations Meet Today—Are Negotiating for the Engagement of Manistique and Iron Mountain Bands.

The general arrangements and the finance committees of the Escanaba Business Men's association having in charge the details and program for Escanaba's Home Coming day (July 3) and the Fourth of July celebrations are holding a meeting this afternoon for the purpose of transacting some business in connection with those events.

It is probable that negotiations now pending for the bringing here on July 4 of the Manistique City band with a big excursion of Manistique people will be closed and that arrangements will also be made to engage the Marine band of Iron Mountain.

It is planned to have the Manistique excursion come here by boat, leaving Manistique at a sufficiently early hour to permit of the arrival of the band and excursionists some time during the forenoon.

Should the deals for the Manistique and Iron Mountain bands go through, as seems probable, there will be at least five bands to furnish music on the Fourth of July and for Home Coming day there will be three and perhaps four. Three bands have already been positively engaged for the two days.

Negotiations are also pending for the engagement of a stellar attraction for the two days.

JOHN FISHER, JR., LOSES TWO FINGERS

John Fisher Jr., who is employed at the Chicago & Northwestern round house, had two fingers so badly crushed Monday night that that it was necessary for the company's surgeon to amputate them. At the time of the accident he was engaged in doing repair work on an engine and in some manner a driving rod fell upon his hand. The fingers amputated were the first two fingers of the right hand.

PYTHIAN KNIGHTS MEET TOMORROW

Escanaba lodge No. 98, Knights of Pythias, will hold a regular convention at three o'clock tomorrow afternoon and after transacting some of the business will adjourn until six o'clock for supper, which will be served in Castle hall. At 7:30 o'clock the session will be reconvened for work in the Third rank. All the members of the lodge are expected to attend and a member of Gladstone Knights will be present.

SPLENDID PLACE TO CARE FOR THE INSANE PATIENTS

THAT IS WHAT THE UPPER PENINSULA HOSPITAL FOR THE INSANE AT NEWBERRY IS CONSIDERED TO BE.

LOCAL PHYSICIAN DESCRIBES IT.

Dr. A. F. Snyder Visits the Institution, Gives it a Thorough Inspection and Furnishes The Mirror With a Review of What He Saw and His Impressions Generally.

By general consent of those people who are in a position to know from personal observation and study, the Upper Peninsula Hospital for the Insane at Newberry is an almost ideal institution for the care and treatment of unfortunates whose intellect has become clouded or diseased to an extent that makes their commitment there a public duty.

There are not a few such mental wrecks who have been committed from this county, and their relatives and friends and citizens generally will no doubt be pleased with the assurance that they are well treated and given all the comforts and happiness it is possible for them to have.

This assurance is given by Dr. A. F. Snyder, of this city, who recently made a visit to the institution and gave it a thorough inspection. Dr. Snyder, in response to a request from The Mirror for some information regarding the hospital and the impressions he formed as the result of his visit, kindly furnishes the following: Impressions at First Sight.

"You ask me about my visit to the Upper Michigan Hospital at Newberry?"

"I reached there about 8:30 a. m. Tuesday, May 23. I was impressed at first sight, more from the isolation of the location than from anything else. The general neat and orderly condition attracted my attention at once.

"The farm consists of six hundred and eighty acres, it is well stocked with 100 Holstein cattle, many hogs, numerous chicken and such horses as are required to do the work.

"The cows are kept chiefly for the milk supply, and occasionally, one is sent to the slaughter. The hogs are used exclusively for food, and you may know that there is much need for food when I tell you that there are at the present time 828 patients; then add to this number such help as is required to run the establishment, you will readily see that such provision must be made for the feeding.

"I have said that there are 828 patients. Of this number there are 460 males, while the women patients number 347. All are not insane, as I saw a few who are imbeciles.

"Thirteen patients have been admitted within the month, while ten have been discharged cured or otherwise.

"The outbuildings consist of one cold storage, cow barns, horse stables, carriage house, pig pens, silo and chicken coops. There is a conservatory where I saw many beautiful

STATE OFFICERS GUESTS OF HONOR

Mrs. Albert Droelle, state commander, and Mrs. Cora Sunday, district deputy, of the Lady Macabees of the World, were in the city Monday night and were guests of honor at a meeting of the Escanaba lodge of that order, held in North Star hall. They came down from Marquette and on the way stopped over a few hours in Negaunee. At the meeting here Monday evening they were given an opportunity of seeing how the initiation ritual and work are carried out by the members of the local lodge and expressed themselves as well pleased with the results. Following the regular meeting an enjoyable social session was held and refreshments served.

Miss Lucille Hansen has returned to her home in Marquette after a visit with friends in this city.

TICKET AGENT HAS AN IMPORTANT JOB

Passing Out Ticket in Exchange for Money is But a Small Part of His Duties.

"Some people are of the opinion that passing out pieces of pasteboard in exchange for coin of the realm is about all there is for a ticket agent to do," said a well known railroad man today, "but such is far from the truth. The distribution of tickets to passengers is not the simple matter it appears on the surface. Ticket agents must have a thorough geographical knowledge and a full understanding of connections to different points. Often a ticket is sold crossing fifteen or twenty roads. The difficulties increase when it is made out in another language. A traveler of Mexico into this country recently had several of the coupons on his yard long ticket printed in Spanish. On at least one of the Canadian railroads, tickets are issued printed in both French and English.

Carefully Accounted For.

"Ticket agents receive their tickets from the central offices of their own particular road. Each of these offices handles a very large number of ticket forms. Every one of these may be arranged for a number of different points. These railroad tickets are as carefully accounted for as though they were money. When an agent orders a certain number they are sent to him in carefully sealed packages handled by the express companies under the same valuation as money. The agent is charged with their value and a note of them is sent to the railroad auditor. The stubs from the tickets sold are turned into the general office, as are also the tickets after the conductors have collected them. All are carefully audited and outstanding tickets are credited.

Reason for Time Limit.

It retards the setting of accounts to have the tickets uncollected after a certain time. This is the reason for the time limit which appears upon most tickets. The central offices of large railroad companies keep thousands of ticket forms on file, arranged after an elaborate card index system. From these forms it is possible for an agent to make up a thorough ticket across the continent, giving almost any desired route. A few hours' time will enable the ticket agent in any important city to sell through transportation to any place in the world desired, for there is always co-operation between the railroads and steamship companies.

An Important Industry.

"The printing of railroad tickets is in itself an important industry. To prevent counterfeits requires almost as much care as is taken by the United States treasury in printing paper money. There are a large number of special printing machines adapted exclusively to railroad ticket printing. A careful record is kept of every ticket printed and all imperfect tickets and proofs destroyed. Mileage books are printed in one long strip because they must be numbered consecutively. A particular style press has been invented for this work. After the long sheet of paper is printed and perforated it is cut and bound into the book form so popular with the traveling public.

Art of Ticket Selling.

"Ticket selling requires much care and every effort is taken to facilitate accuracy and speed. The ticket office located in the Palace Hotel, San Francisco, is said to be the most perfect in the world. The ticket salesrooms are on the main floor, but an order for a through ticket is quickly sent by pneumatic tube to the basement below where expert ticket agents quickly make up the desired routes. Straight local tickets are sold directly from the case. Making up a ticket covering a number of roads is a complicated task. Generally a separate coupon is attached for each road crossed, as an accurate record must be kept of every mile of the route in order that the accounts of the respective companies can be kept."

Do Your Cooking in the Cool

A hot kitchen is little better than a prison in summer. But the range is there, so all the cooking and the washing must be done there, too.

What a relief it would be to move the range where you pleased. You can do this with a New Perfection Oil Cook-stove—cook your dinner out on the porch, if you like. It is the only range that is really portable—that works equally well in any place. There are no connections to be made, as in a gas range; no wiring, as with an electric stove; no sooty flues and ash-filled grates, as with coal or wood.

The long, enameled chimneys carry the heat directly up to saucers, oven or boiler; you get full value from your fuel, without waste.

Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners, with long, enameled chimneys. Free delivery in Escanaba. The 2- and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without a cabinet top, which is lined with drop shelves, lower racks, etc. Dealers everywhere; or write for descriptive circular to the nearest agency of the Standard Oil Company (Incorporated) flowers in bloom, and numerous other plants, ready for transplanting in the open. Also, some of the finest tomatoes and cucumbers ready for picking. I enjoyed eating of each and never tasted better.

All your meat troubles are speedily and permanently eliminated by trading at Gunters who handle none other than prime native meats.

"The hospital proper consists of a series of cottages—14, built around an oblong square, court, each of these cottages representing a ward. The patients are placed in these wards according to the individual condition.

Painstaking and Efficient.

"This court is 900 feet long by 600 feet wide, the cottages are entirely separate one from the other except by a cloister, or porch, which extends the entire distance around this court. The cloister is so arranged that each cottage opens out onto it, and it is a delightful place for the patients in all kinds of weather, as in the winter it is enclosed by glass, and in summer it is well screened, so that it becomes a sun-parlor; there is a sun-parlor in reality where the patients may go and enjoy the health giving qualities of such a room.

"The kitchen is very clean, commodious and convenient. The same may be said of the laundry.

"The medical staff I found very painstaking and efficient. Dr. E. H. Campbell, the superintendent, has had charge of the institution for six years. He is in every way competent and he is very humane. He studies each individual case, and does all that is possible to be done, through every known modern device. Dr. Campbell is surely the right man for the place. He is ably assisted by Drs. Thompson, Mullen and Kemp. The last named, a lady physician, is intelligent and is well spoken of by all who know her both as a physician and a lady.

"Dr. Thompson and Dr. Mullen are rare young men for the duties of such a position. Their gentleness, with quiet intelligent firmness, will commend them to any one who understands at all the work required in such a hospital.

"The medical staff is delving deeply into the special features of each patient as he enters the institution for care and attention, and I was much pleased to note that they are looking into the pathological state of affairs, and direct treatment accordingly. The hospital is equipped with a good laboratory and surgery. There is order absolute everywhere, and perfect harmony abounds. This is the first institution of the kind that I have visited where it was not difficult to separate (in my mind) the attendants from the patients.

Clean and Inviting.

"After dinner—which was presided over by the amiable wife of the superintendent—we visited the several wards, and it was very pleasing to note the cleanliness in each one. Clean everywhere, the patients were clean, the attendants were clean, the rooms were clean, the beds spotless.

"The dining rooms were inviting. This is saying much, because, often in such establishments the dining rooms are not to our liking. There is so much that I would tell of the appearance of the wards, that I hesitate, fearing that I may tire you, and, too, that space and time will not permit.

"We will take the best ward of the men, i. e., where the patients are the nearest normal. The rest room in this ward is large, light and airy. Tables and chairs and couches are provided, so that these poor unfortunates may be comfortable, either by sitting, reclining on the couch or walking about, or they may enjoy a game of billiards, or other games as the fancy dictates, and they seem to enter into the games with pleasure. I was much relieved to find that the ward was supplied with rugs, and the harmony that prevails in the coldest scheme is gratifying. Blooming plants in the windows—even in the "worst wards," healthy, thrifty plants. Just think of it, for this lot of so afflicted! This I found in each and every ward. A sigh escapes us when we recall why these men are here—still the great state of Michigan has done much to make their lot as endurable as is possible.

Has Chosen Wisely.

"From the way the patients greet the physicians and the manner in which the approaches were received, by the doctors, and all, indicates good usage, and assures me that I was not mistaken in my measurements of the management. I seem determined to digress; so much I wish to tell you that my thoughts run riot. Right now I want to speak of the audience room. I wished all of Escanaba could see it; it is very pleasing to the eye in its shades of brown, from the lightest tints to mahogany brown. This beautiful room has an excellent floor for such as delight in dancing. Music is supplied for the dancers every Monday night. The patients are not allowed to dance together; the attendants dance with the patients, and it would interest you to see how orderly they all are in entering and leaving the hall. This room is supplied with a stage and suitable scenery for such literary and other exhibitions they may find possible to provide, and here on the Sabbath they may assemble for Divine worship.

"But, above all, do I think that Dr. Campbell has chosen wisely. He gives (as often as he can) exhibitions of moving pictures. Here you see, all readily understand moving pictures. We have Danes, Germans, Finns, Poles, Americans, Indians, Austrians, Swedes, Norwegians, Roumanians, Africans, Italians, French and many others. They may not enjoy one common language that is spoken, but those who can see get pleasure from looking at moving pictures.

Escanaba Man on Board.

"I might go on telling you of many, many kind thoughts put in force by Dr. Campbell, aided and abetted by the board. These gentlemen have been selected and appointed by the governor of this great commonwealth because, of their fitness to handle so important a task, as is the care of this particular class of patients. They bring to this institution their best judgment, giving these unfortunate people all that is possible to give to them while so afflicted. Ah! it is a great work; and these gentlemen deserve great credit. They give of their time and strength, so that it may be possible for these patients to be properly cared for, and understand, too, that these gentlemen have no salaries, all that they do is done gratuitously.

"When I tell you that our Mr. J. C. Kirkpatrick is a member of that board, you will the better understand its calibre.

"Once a month this board inspects the institution and they extend to the superintendent such advice and assistance as they can out of their abundant store of knowledge of the business end of the work.

"What I have said of the one ward characterizes all the others; all, of course, are not supplied with billiard tables, but each possesses its particular attraction.

"In the ladies' wards you may find musical instruments, sewing tables, and different games; you may look across the lawn into the ball park, where some are enjoying the sport actively, others interested onlookers, some like croquet and enter into it with zest.

Nurses' Training School.

"I must not forget to tell you of the and considerate, and the governor would have pleased his people had he listened to the petition of this board. Now they must get along the best way they can with present accommodations for the next three years.

"I have told you about this hospital as briefly as I feel that I can, and from the standpoint of a physician, I am free to say that I find nothing in its management to condemn, but I do find much to commend, and to all who have friends there I will say: Rest assured that these friends are receiving the very best care and attention that is possible to give, and in every way made comfortable without abuse or injury. Should any of you go there, you will be cordially received, and be given every consideration possible."

Stops earache in two minutes; toothache or pain or burn or scald in five minutes; hoarseness, one hour; muscleache, two hours; sore throat, twelve hours—Dr. Thomas' Eclectic Oil, monarch over pain.

No Evidence of Violence.

"What are they doing at the hospital for the patients? Well, in the first place, you will be interested to know there are no cribs, there are no straight jackets—nor muffs to be found in the institution. When a patient has his disturbed time he is put into a warm bath, the tub is filled with tepid water, the patient placed in this tub of warm water and covered over entire excepting the head. It is quite surprising to observe the change come over him. Often he will fall asleep in this bath, (all the while being watched by his attendant or nurse) and his irritable condition gives way to one of calm.

"You find no evidence of violence having been used in the hospital; there is absence of the worried look on the faces of both patient and attendant.

"The present accommodations are insufficient; there is a crowded condition of affairs; some wards are full to overflowing as the beds are so close together in some wards that one can scarcely walk between them; some of the rooms originally meant to accommodate one or two single beds at the most, have three and four beds, so you see how crowded they are.

Poor Place For Economy.

"To complete this 'oblong square' three more buildings are required. The superintendent asked for one building (another cottage) so that he might use it for acute cases, this cottage to be known as the (Acute Cottage.) His object—and to my mind a commendable one—is to place all acute cases in this cottage (or ward) until satisfied what disposition is best to be made of them. If this can be carried out the congested condition in the wards will be relieved, and the physicians in charge be given a chance to do for many patients what cannot be done in present quarters. The idea of the superintendent is to insure a more speedy cure than has been possible heretofore. The thought, in my opinion, is an excellent one, and should be tested. I find that to tell you all that is in my mind regarding the proposed work, is by far too far-reaching, and would extend my communication to an unparadiseable length. Suffice to say, that the board accepted the plans as suggested by Dr. Campbell and recommended that such a building be erected for the purpose. This recommendation the governor vetoed, presumably on the economical basis, notwithstanding the fact that the bill had passed both the House and Senate, and it appears to me to be a poor place to practice economy, and I question if it be economy.

Finds Much to Commend.

"The great state of Michigan is humane enough to give the unfortunate people who must go to such a hospital for care and treatment every chance for recovery, and as Dr. Campbell asked for only what is absolutely needed, I can but feel that had Governor Osborn gone and looked over the situation he would have willingly and gladly agreed the appropriation.

"The present board is a distinguished, honorable body of men, very humane

"I have told you about this hospital as briefly as I feel that I can, and from the standpoint of a physician, I am free to say that I find nothing in its management to condemn, but I do find much to commend, and to all who have friends there I will say: Rest assured that these friends are receiving the very best care and attention that is possible to give, and in every way made comfortable without abuse or injury. Should any of you go there, you will be cordially received, and be given every consideration possible."

We have in this film a western picture that is different from others. Girls have been captured by Indians before, but it remained for this girl to challenge the chief's warriors to a race. ## "SWAT THE FLY" IS NOW THE COUNTRY'S SLOGAN Organized Campaign Against Flies and Mosquitoes Being Carried on Everywhere.

Judging from the number of bulletins that are being sent out, the federal government proposes to make a more terminated fight against the house fly, this year than ever before. Numerous clubs and organizations have also taken up the fight, and cries of "Swat the fly" are being heard everywhere.

For generations man has given the fly a home, only shooting him away where he became too pestiferous, and only using a fly brush when he insisted on eating at the first table. During all these years the fly requested the shelter of mankind by secretly dragging in all manner of filth and disease and placing it where his benefactors must eat it.

Professional Poisoner.

He has been the advance agent of pestilence and the drummer of disease, and as one bright crusader recently put it: "He has six legs, and a half dozen hairy grips on each leg with which to carry samples, and these he distributes with a lavish hand." These samples he gets from the stable, from carrion—from any place where disgusting things and deadly disease germs are to be found. In short, the fly is a professional poisoner. Instead of slipping a little arsenic into one's food, he secretes typhoid germs in milk, consumption germs in butter or other equally deadly though invisible germs in the meats and vegetables. Men hang the occasional human poisoner, but every day they let this insect poisoner go scot free.

All Join the Crusade.

With these facts before them, the crusaders are going into the campaign in deadly earnest this spring. They are going to annihilate the advance guard before the innumerable reinforcements arrive, thereby hoping to avoid unnecessary warfare. There will be many phases to the campaign this year. Newspapers everywhere, daily and weekly, are joining in the crusade, and all admit that they constitute the artillery of the crusading army. The American Civic association and the bureau of entomology furnish all the ammunition the press desires, and this ammunition is of as fine a quality as the art of war affords.

Mosquitoes in Same Class.

The warfare against the fly also includes the mosquito, a recent bulletin on this pestiferous insect reading in part as follows:

"Since the discovery that mosquitoes are not only nuisances but are also conveyors of malaria, yellow fever, a great deal of remedial work has been done by individuals and communities.

"Where the rain barrel and rain water tank are necessary they should be screened. The waste places in the immediate vicinity of a house should be carefully searched for tin cans, bottles and wooden or tin boxes in which water can accumulate, and all such receptacles should be destroyed or carried away. The roof gutters of every building should be carefully examined to make sure that they are not clogged, so as to allow the water to accumulate. Where the branches of tall trees overhang roofs this is especially likely to occur by agency of falling leaves or twigs.

Breed in Any Old Place.

"The chicken pans in the poultry yard, the water in the troughs for domestic animals, the water cup of the grindstone or all places in which these mosquitoes will breed, and water should not be allowed to stand in them for more than a day or so at a time.

In slightly marshy grounds a favorite breeding place is the footprints of cattle and horses. In one country village, which contains many small vegetable gardens in clay soil, during a rainy season mosquitoes were found breeding abundantly in the water accumulating in the furrows.

"Even in the house these mosquitoes breed in many places where they may be overlooked. Where the water in the flower vases is not frequently changed, mosquitoes will breed in water pitchers, in unused guest rooms. They will breed in pipes and under stationary washstands, where these are not frequently in use, and they will issue from the sewers in back yards of the city houses during dry spells in summer time, when the sewers have not recently been flushed by heavy rains.

How to Keep Them Away.

"Public dumps are great breeding places, because here accumulate old bottles, cans, boxes, bits of tin or iron vessels, and other objects in which water may accumulate for a time. Even a small amount of water will make a breeding place for many mosquitoes. It is quite possible for half a beer bottle to contain enough water to give out literally thousands of mosquitoes.

"All such breeding places should be abolished by covering, draining or treating with kerosene. To keep mosquitoes away temporarily camphor, oil of pennyroyal, oil of peppermint, lemon juice, vinegar, oil of tar and oil of citronella are recommended. A few drops on the face and hands or on a towel hung at the head of the bed are sufficient.

"Hit 'R Miss"

Sigh and arrive at nowhere. Work and the prize is won. For the nervy man with the backbone can. By nothing be outdone.

"No", assured the local citizen to his friend from out of town. "That is neither a fight nor a fire; no, not even an automobile accident, just a crowd waiting to get into a picture show house."

A stitch in time saves an embarrassing exposure.

Lots of people become dirty without entering into politics.

When a man owns an automobile some people think it a sign that he has money. Don't be misled; it is merely a sign that he had some once.

Escanaba's annual crop of dandelions is sure going to be a bumper this year.

Tinker, tinker, little man. While we wonder if you can fix the automobile right Or if we'll stay out here all night.

Some people are born good, some make good, and some are caught with the goods.

"Of all wise words of tongue or pen The wisest are these," Leave pants for men.

High School Scholar's Ode to CAESAR:

Here lies a man of honest worth; Born on the day that saw his birth; To do his best he always tried And lived until the day he died. Friends, weep above him if you choose, But take a sneak and let him snooze.

Half the men who are with the house on pay day are against it the other six.

"Ah, I see you're married," exclaimed the merchant.

"No, sir," replied the applicant for a position, "I got this scar in a railroad accident."

Don't jump at conclusions, unless you can see the conclusions.

One good thing about a boy's going through college is that it never has to happen but once.

NOT long ago I read that a monument had been raised on Johnson's island, at the mouth of Sandusky bay in Lake Erie, to the memory of the Confederate officers who died there as prisoners of war and were buried on the island.

DEFINITION OF A LADY. A little while ago an English paper offered a prize for the best definition of a lady. This is the answer that took the prize: "To be a lady means, lightly, to be a gentlewoman who shows by her every word and action a sweet and gentle dignity, with a gracious charm of manner; a woman whose heart is pure and true, who is tender toward all suffering, who sympathizes with those in trouble and is ever ready to give that which costs her some effort and self-denial.

Chief Stone of the Brotherhood of Railway Engineers declares that the nation has gone stark mad on the subject of speed. It has come to a point where an engineer who does not take any reckless chance to keep the train on schedule time has to stand aside. However, it will probably not last. Railroads have pooled on practically everything else and they will probably get together and cut out speed competition.

A Bullet From Antietam. By LILA BERTON. Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

EVERY Memorial day since I can remember my Great-aunt Margaret has spent in retirement. She does not leave her room, and if any one enters she will be found shrouded in gloom.

"I was seventeen when the civil war broke out. Seventeen is a very impressionable age for a girl. She is likely to meet some young man she has never seen before and open her heart to him at once.

"The smile he gave me is with me to this day. He had auburn curly hair and a light brown mustache. He asked me if I would let him take away some water in a tin pail he carried.

"The regiment was delayed in moving for a long while. The young soldier used to come every day for water, and I used to watch for him that I might be out in the yard when he came.

"That one kiss sealed my fate. I could neither forget it nor the man who gave it to me. When he left me he took my heart with him.

"I lay awake so late that night thinking of the strange new happiness that had come to me that I awakened late in the morning. I looked immediately out for the camp, as I had become accustomed to doing, and my heart sank.

"It is strange to me now how one man seen by a young girl but a few times can fix the status of her whole life. Perhaps at that tender age it is more possible than when she is older.

"A year passed. We used to hear of the great battles, the boys crying extras, with a list of killed and wounded, certain houses with the shutters all closed and afterward the persons living in them appearing robed in black.

"And so it did. When the war ended one day the regiment marched into town. But how different from what it had been four years before!

"On the third day I saw an officer coming from the camp. With my heart in my throat, I went, carried by my trembling legs, to meet him. We came together at the well house. But "I tried to say 'yes,' but could not. I knew this man brought a message from him and what that meant.

"He took a bullet from his pocket and handed it to me.

"He was killed at Antietam more than two years ago with this bit of lead.

"He told me if I ever got north again to bring it here to you and to say to you that his last thoughts were of you."

"My aunt ceased to speak. I went to her and put my arm about her caressingly, but did not speak to her. Then I left her to herself.

Death's Shining Marks In First Year of the Civil War

By JAMES A. EDGERTON.
(Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.)

SINCE its establishment in 1868 Memorial day has grown steadily in popular regard as the most touching of our patriotic holidays. This year it has an added significance in that we are celebrating the semicentennial of the beginning of the great war in commemoration of which the day was founded.

The list of Union dead in 1861 was not a long one, few big battles having been fought. Bull Run, Ball's Bluff, Big Bethel and Wilson Creek were about the only engagements worthy of note. During the first year both sides were feeling their way and preparing for the campaigns of the future. There was only one Federal general lost, but he was a man of great promise, General Nathaniel Lyon. There were six Union colonels and several minor officers among the year's dead, the two most conspicuous being Colonel Elmer E. Ellsworth and Colonel Edward D. Baker, Lincoln's friend.

The first to fall in point of time was Colonel Ellsworth. The three events that aroused the north to fever pitch in 1861 were the firing on Fort Sumter, the Baltimore massacre and Ellsworth's death. This gallant officer was only twenty-four at the time of his assassination, yet he had organized two regiments of zouaves, one in Chicago and one in New York, and was planning a reorganization of the militia of the country. He had also participated in Mr. Lincoln's campaign for the presidency and had accompanied the president elect to the capital. On the call for troops on April 15 Ellsworth hastened to New York and organized a regiment of 1,200 zouaves from the fire department. In three weeks he had marched his new regiment through Pennsylvania and on May 23 was ordered to Alexandria, Va., where he arrived with his command on the morning of the 24th. Seeing a Confederate flag floating over the Marshall House, he entered the hotel and demanded of the proprietor to know whose flag it was. Receiving an evasive answer, he went to the roof with two of his soldiers, took the flag down, wrapped it about his body and descended. The proprietor, Jackson, awaited him in a dark passage and shot Ellsworth dead, being killed in turn by one of the soldiers. The sad news made Ellsworth the hero of the north. In New York state a regiment composed of one man from each town was made up in his honor.

On June 10 was fought really the first engagement of the war, at least the first where organized forces opposed each other on anything like equal terms, because of palpable blunders it proved an ill starred battle for the Union side. General Pierce was in command and was sent out from Fort Monroe by command of General Butler. Two federal officers lost their lives, Lieutenant Colonel John T. Greble and Major Theodore Winthrop.

Colonel Greble was the first regular army officer killed in the great conflict. He was twenty-seven years old, was a West Point man and for four years had been an assistant professor of ethics at the Military academy. He had also served in the artillery branch of the service in Indian troubles. In 1860 he asked to be transferred to Fort Monroe and rendered efficient service in preventing its seizure.

Major Theodore Winthrop was a graduate of Yale, a traveler and novelist. At one time he was aid and military secretary to General Butler. When killed at Big Bethel while leading a charge of his troops he was thirty-three years old. Among his effects were found two novels in manuscript, which were published after his death.

Bull Run took the heaviest toll of officers of any battle in 1861. On the Confederate side two brigadier generals and other officers were on the list. The Union officers killed were Colonel James Cameron of the Seventy-ninth New York, Colonel John S. Slocum of the Second Rhode Island, Major Sullivan Ballou of the same regiment, Captain Levi Tower of the First Rhode Island and Captain Otis H. Tillinghast, chief quartermaster of General McDowell's army. Colonel Cameron had served in the Mexican war and had studied law in the office of President James Buchanan. Colonel Slocum had been a brevet captain in the Mexican war, promoted for gallant conduct at Contreras. Major Ballou had been clerk and speaker of the Rhode Island house of representatives and judge advocate general of the state militia. Captain Tillinghast was a West Point man and had served in the Mexican war.

General Nathaniel Lyon, who was killed at Wilson Creek, Mo., on Aug. 10, was perhaps the man chiefly responsible for keeping Missouri in the Union. He was a West Point graduate, born in Connecticut, who had been made a captain by brevet in the Mexican war, had served in the Indian troubles in California, then in Kansas during the disorder before the war and at the time of his death was a brigadier general in command of the western department. Early in 1861 he took Camp Jackson, which changed aspects in St. Louis. Later he defeated the Confederates at Boonville and Dug Spring. Then the enemy received great re-enforcements and had five to one against Lyon, but, nevertheless, he attacked them at Wilson Creek and fought on until twice wounded and finally killed. He killed most of his property to the government to aid the Union cause. It was generally predicted that had Lyon lived he would have become one of the greatest Union commanders.

Colonel Noah L. Farnham succeeded Colonel Ellsworth as head of the zouaves. Previously he had been an officer of the Seventh New York. On Aug. 14 he arose from a sickbed to lead his troops in an action at Manassas and was fatally wounded.

On Sept. 10 Colonel John W. Lowe of the Twelfth Ohio was killed at Carnifex Ferry while clearing out the Kanawha valley. Colonel Lowe had been a soldier in the Mexican war.

Colonel Edward D. Baker, who fell at Ball's Bluff on Oct. 21, was one of the most romantic figures in American history. Born in England and left an orphan in Philadelphia at an early age, he made a living for himself and a brother, emigrated to Illinois and became one of the leading lawyers in the state. A member of congress at the outbreak of the Mexican war, he enlisted and before it was over commanded a brigade. Going to the Pacific coast, he was elected a United States senator from Oregon, but his high position did not prevent him from offering his services at the outbreak of the civil war. While ranking only as a colonel at Ball's Bluff, he really commanded a brigade and had been nominated for brigadier general. Colonel Baker was perhaps the leading orator in the senate. He was a devoted friend of Abraham Lincoln and introduced the president elect to deliver his first inaugural address.

THEATRICAL

THE GRAND—Included in the bill at the Grand this week is one of the best singing and musical acts staged in Escanaba for a long time. Reference is made to the offering of the Original Faust Trio, singers and instrumentalists. One of the trio has a beautiful voice and can sing in a fashion to thrill and delight anybody with an ear for vocal excellence. When the others sing with him the result is exquisite harmony. The others play various instruments with surpassing skill and to hear them is a genuine musical treat. Lew Kjeslo and his "Baby Dolls," the Deavenport Sisters, present a fairly good singing and dancing act and it is attractively put on. The remainder of the bill is made up of new photo plays of an interesting character.

SHOW IN A TENT—If you see a band of musicians on the streets who look as if they came from way down east, just keep your eyes on them. No, they are not dangerous characters, but are just around to let you know that "Uncle Josh Spruceby" is back under canvas. When they all get together, you will hear one of the best bands of its size ever in this city.

HIS STRAWBERRIES BEAT THE WORLD

The Fruit Belt, published at Grand Rapids, publishes the following item, recognizing the fact that Delta county is a good section of the country for strawberry culture:
"James Snell, a successful strawberry grower of Delta county, says that prospects for a crop in the upper peninsula this season were never better. Snow has kept the plants covered all winter and the ground has not frozen. Mr. Snell is a pioneer in strawberry culture in the Rapid River valley. He has acclimated the hardy varieties to Delta county conditions by several years' culture and is meeting with unusual success, claiming that his berries beat the world."

GLADSTONE MAY HAVE A CITY FAIR

Gladstone Delta: The agricultural development association of the city of Gladstone is putting on its best legs just now. The city will undoubtedly have many a prize-winning exhibit at the Northern State fair this fall; and for that matter, why not a city fair? An exhibit, say at the city hall, of the finely-flavored fruit, delicious berries, perfect and juicy vegetables, raised by the citizens of Gladstone within its limits, would be a revelation to many who have not considered the amount of produce raised here yearly.
