

EX-CONVICT CONFESSES TO BRUTAL KILLING OF LITTLE LEMBERGER CHILD AT MADISON; GIVEN LIFE SENTENCE

Sheriff Spirits Man Out of City in Auto-Mob Feared

(By Associated Press.)
Madison, Wis., Sept. 14.—John, otherwise known as "Dogskin," Johnson last night confessed to the abduction and murder of little Annie Lemberger, the seven-year-old child whose body was found in Lake Monona Saturday morning, last. He was immediately sentenced by Judge Anthony Donovan to life imprisonment.
A few minutes after his confession and sentence, Johnson was taken in an automobile by Sheriff Andrew Brown and a deputy and whisked away through side streets and across the country to the state's prison at Waupun. The greatest secrecy was maintained, because of fears that Johnson might be lynched.
Johnson was taken into custody Saturday morning on suspicion, but after being questioned he was released without proof. The officers had him under surveillance all day and in the evening they brought him in again and held him for disorderly conduct. Although the officers suspected Johnson of knowing something about the crime, they could not saddle the guilt upon him absolutely.
Against the strength of the suspicion against Johnson he was taken into court yesterday, pleaded not guilty and placed under $10,000 bond, the preliminary examination being set for Sept. 5.—The prisoner was taken back to his cell. He appeared frightened, and towards evening he called Deputy Sheriff Henry Pogo and said he wished to make a confession.

Tells of Fiendish Deed.
Chief of Police Shaughnessy was at once informed and sent word to District Attorney R. N. Nelson. The county prosecutor, chief of police and other officials soon gathered at the court house and in a few moments the prisoner was before Judge Donovan and had related his story of the brutal crime.
Attorney Emerson Ela was appointed by the court to defend the prisoner, but there was no defense to stand upon, in face of the confession, and it was but a matter of a few minutes when the prisoner heard his doom from the lips of Judge Donovan, which was that he spend the remainder of his life at the state penitentiary at Waupun.
Johnson brooded in his cell at the police station all day, following his arraignment in the morning. He paced restlessly back and forth, apparently listening for the first sounds of a mob which he seemed to fear. The Bible which he had been perusing since he was placed in jail was thrown carelessly in a corner. Finally he announced that he was willing to tell all.
Confesses to Police Chief.
In the presence of Chief of Police Shaughnessy, District Attorney Nelson and Turney Foye, he related that the deed was the result of a sudden impulse. "He had watched through the bedroom window the little girl and her sister undress at bedtime on different occasions, and on the fateful night, at 10:10 o'clock, shortly after the children had closed their eyes in sleep, he raised the sash and entered the room, snatched little Annie from the bed, dragged her to the window and knocked her on the head with his fist, making her unconscious so there would be no outcry. He then took her to the railroad bridge, and, after beating her on the head until life was extinct, threw the boy into Lake Monona.

Avoid Mob Violence.
Johnson said he did not want to make a detailed confession, because he wanted to be on his way to Waupun to avoid mob violence. He said he would make a written confession after he had been lodged in prison.
The testimony at the inquest was conflicting, in that one physician was of the opinion that the child had been criminally assaulted before being thrown into the lake, while another expressed an opposite view.
Johnson had a dispute with Lemberger, the father of the child, several years ago, and at that time wanted to fight, but this, it is believed, had no connection with the commission of the crime.

FRIDAY'S FIGHT CALLED OFF TODAY

FOLLOWING CONFERENCE WITH ACTING GOVERNOR MORRIS MILL IS CANCELED.

Milwaukee, (Thursday, Sept. 14.—The Wolgast-McFarland boxing bout billed for Friday night was called off by the National Athletic club shortly after midnight, after a conference of the club officials, following a long conference between club representatives and county officials, together with Acting Governor Morris. It was evident from the stand taken by the acting governor and Sheriff Arnold, with the backing of the district attorney, that any attempt to put on the contest would not be permitted.
Discuss Situation.
The situation was discussed pro and con from every possible angle, and at the conclusion Governor Morris said he would not recede from his original position. He had, he said, ready a great deal about the proposed bout and had weighed matters very carefully before wiring Sheriff Arnold to see that the law was obeyed.
Governor Morris said he was of the opinion that the proposed contest was a "prize fight" and not merely a "boxing contest." Sheriff Arnold said the contestants would not be permitted to carry out the bout. "Injunction or no injunction," the sheriff said, "the bout will not be permitted."
No Injunction, Says Attorney.
District Attorney Zabel said he did not believe a court would issue an injunction restraining an officer from enforcing the law, and should such proceedings be resorted to he would uphold the sheriff in ignoring the court's order.

Walle Bauman Scores First Run in Second Inning and Escanaba Ties in Seventh When Cole Drives Two-Bagger Sending Bourke In—Win in Tenth.

With "Jawn" H. Gilligan, Minneapolis property, flinging baseball that would have won in any league, almost any time, Jack Pickett's husky Green Bay slugger pushed over the heavy portion of a 2 to 1 score in the tenth inning of the mill with Escanaba at the usual playground yesterday.
It was one of those air tight contests for several lengthy intervals. "Rube" was working his best stuff against the fruit growers and only three clouts were obtained from his American Association manipulations. Ten of the Bays fell before his in-shoots. Support took a tumble at times and with many errors Escanaba succeeded in spilling its chances of winning.
Bauman Scores.
In the second inning Walle Bauman, prize fighter and wrestler during the winter months, scored the first run of the game. He banged to third for a single and a few wild and aimless heaves allowed him to travel the tow path to home.
Escanaba tied it up in the seventh, when with two down, Bourke drove in to right for a single and rested safely until Cole planted a double into right, when he trotted around the sacks to home.
"Red" Murphy in Action.
"Red" Murphy, playing right garden for the Bays, although he looks more natural in the pitching box for Appleton, slammed out a two bagger in the tenth. He reached third on a passed ball and stayed there while the next two batters were put out. The next pitched ball caught Cole amidships and bounded back to the home.

TAFT WILL SPEAK IN TENT WHEN HE VISITS MARQUETTE, SEPT. 20; ARRANGE FOR CAPACITY OF 8,000

ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE PRESIDENT'S VISIT ARE NOW ON AT LAKE SUPERIOR CITY.

Elaborate arrangements are being completed for the reception and entertainment of President Taft in Marquette on September 19-20, and the plans are now so forward as to warrant a prediction that it will be one of the most successful affairs of the kind ever held in the upper peninsula.
President Taft and his party will arrive in their special train of seven coaches shortly before midnight on the 19th, coming to Marquette from the Soo. The formal program will not begin until 9:30 the next morning, when the president will be taken on an automobile ride through the city and to Presque Isle. In the city proper the automobiles will travel at a speed of less than ten miles an hour, so that all will have an opportunity to see the president and way greetings to him. The route will embrace all the business and principal residence streets. Decorated automobiles carrying their owners and friends will make up an escort, and this parade will be reviewed by the president in the down town district.

The speaking will occur at 11:30 o'clock at Gull hall field, in the most beautiful residence part of town, a ten minutes walk from the business district, where a ten 15x200 feet, covering 30,000 square feet of ground, will be spread, and under which the addresses will be made. The capacity of the tent is estimated at 8,000 people and as many more can gather in the open and see and hear the president, as the sides of the canvass will be raised.
At 1 o'clock the president will be the guest of honor at a luncheon at Baraga auditorium. Of the 300 seats on now arranged for, seventy-five have been reserved for guests from points outside Marquette county, and they may now be reserved by application to Morgan W. Joplin, treasurer of the committee, enclosing a remittance of

SEVENTY-FIVE POLICEMEN HAVE BEEN SWORN IN TO PRESERVE GOOD ORDER.

$5, the charge per plate. For this function the Calumet & Hecla orchestra will furnish the music. President Taft and other distinguished guests will respond to toasts.
All the bands in Marquette county have been engaged to furnish music and in addition the Calumet & Hecla orchestra has been engaged for the musical program at the luncheon. The police arrangements will be adequate. A force of seventy-five officers is now being organized to handle the crowds. The streets in the business districts will be fenced off and every effort will be made to handle the people in a manner that will make for their comfort. Special committees have been delegated with the task of arranging to feed all visitors, and ample provision will be made for taking care of the largest crowd that can come to the city.

ESCANABA PLAYS MARQUETTE SEPT. 20

AN EXHIBITION GAME HAS BEEN ARRANGED TO BE PLAYED THERE ON "TAFT DAY."

L. M. Beggs today completed arrangements with the Marquette team to have Escanaba play an exhibition game in that city on "Taft Day," September 20. As the president of the United States will be in the city that day, an unusually large crowd of visitors, are expected, and a good crowd is anticipated for the game.
The game will have no effect on the league standing and is to be merely an exhibition contest. The regular teams of both cities will be used in the game.
An attempt was made to bring the Menominee or Marinette teams to this city, negotiation having been entered into with the latter, but the attendance at yesterday's game was so small that this was not deemed profitable and was called off.

A GIFT

And What It Brought
By F. A. MITCHEL
Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

"Mother," said Edith Maynard, a girl of sixteen and just entering the age of romance, "I wish you would tell me a love story. Tell me one that really happened."
"Very well, dear, I know one that happened right in the family. I'll tell you about it. One summer day a little girl—we'll call her Emma, though that wasn't her real name—was about to go to the store of the village in which she lived to buy a dress. Her birthday was soon to come round, and her father had given her a five dollar gold piece to buy the dress for her birthday present. The day was hot, and she took care to keep under the shade of the trees that lined the road. Presently she came upon a boy—he looked to be about fifteen—lying asleep in the grass under one of the trees.
"Emma stopped to look at him. He was a handsome lad, slender and tall for his age, with a profusion of black curly hair tumbled over his forehead. His shirt was open at the neck, exposing his throat. His whole figure was relaxed as only can occur in slumber.
"But even in sleep his face was troubled. His clothes had evidently been good when new, but they were now shabby. Emma wondered who he was and what troubled him. There is something very winning about a sleeper. Perhaps it is that relaxation I have spoken of—that nonresistance which is so endearing in innocent children. At any rate, Emma, as she stood looking down at him, took him right into her heart.
"She would like to do something for him to take that troubled look off his face and replace it with a smile. It occurred to her to drop her gold piece into his fattened straw hat that lay beside him, then stand off and watch his expression when he awoke and saw it lying there shining in the sunlight flickering through the trees. But if she did this she must go without her dress. She involuntarily clutched the half eagle in a tighter grip. Again she pictured the boy awakening and his pleasure at seeing the coin in his hat. And thus she wavered till her sympathy and the pleasure of giving pleasure triumphed, and she dropped her gold piece into the hat. Then she climbed the fence beside the road and hid in some tall wheat which was nearly ready to be harvested.
"She waited nearly half an hour, not daring to take her eyes off the boy for an instant, fearing she would miss that first look of surprise she was giving treasure to see. At last he stretched himself, rubbed his eyes with his fists and sat up. He seemed to be trying to nerve himself to get up and go on, but was too tired to do so. Presently, with a sigh, he reached for his hat and saw the half eagle.
"It is questionable which would have been more delightful to a third person, the look of surprise of the boy or the expression of the little girl hidden in the wheat, clasping her hands over her breast as if to still the beating of her little heart, her eyes beaming with pleasure and expectancy.
"His eyes were fixed on the coin for a moment, then he began to look about him for the donor. Emma enjoyed it all immensely for awhile, then she began to think about what she should do. Would she make herself known or remain in hiding and let the boy go away with his treasure without knowing who had given it to him? If she took the former course he would return the gold piece. If she took the latter she would have given away her birthday present to one who could not even know her as the giver of it.
"But Emma was not a girl to go this far in doing a kindness and turn back. She kept very still, watching the boy, and it seemed as if she could read his thoughts. She fancied him saying, holding the coin in his hand and looking at it, 'I'm going to invest this money and work and save and make a fortune out of it.' Then, standing on his feet after looking all about him, he put the coin in his pocket and reluctantly went on.
"A great many years passed."
"How many years, mother?"
"Let me see. Emma had grown to be twenty-five years old, and she was about twelve when she gave away her birthday present. That means thirteen years.
"One day she heard that a man had offered to build a social clubhouse and give it to the town. The reason he offered it was that when a poor boy on his way to the city to look for a situation he had gone to sleep on the outskirts of the village and some one had dropped a five dollar gold piece into his hat. He had made lucky investments with the money, and it had grown from $5 to $20,000. But more than this, it had given him hope and courage, and he had succeeded in other directions. He wished to return the gift with interest, and, not knowing the donor, would give it to the town.
"Well, Emma met this man and became very much interested in him and he in her. One day when they were together—
"I know the end of the story," interrupted Edith. "He was the boy to whom Emma had given the half eagle."
"That isn't all there is to it," replied the mother.
"What else is there?"
"He was father and I am Emma."

Woman's World

Mrs. W. E. Corey Entertains on Lawns Artificially Cooled by Ice.

Good Money After Bad. It is a curious fact that many men, level headed enough about other things, seem to lose their wits entirely when they become involved in lawsuits. In one case recently concluded in the German courts a Berlin merchant paid out over $500 to recover the value of a five cent postage stamp. He had written a letter asking for an address and inclosing postage for reply. Failing to get an answer, he sued for the stamp.
The famous Missouri watermelon case was just as trifling and even more disastrous. The seed was planted on one farm, but the vine crept through a crack in the rail fence, and the melon grew on the other side. Both farmers claimed it, and instead of perceiving the humor of the situation they went to law. To add to the puzzling features of the question of ownership there was the further complication in that the fence stood on a county line, whereupon a question of the jurisdiction of the courts came up. The farmers bankrupted themselves without obtaining a decision as to the ownership.—Green Bag

Liquid Dynamite.
The Mexicans have a native brandy called aguardiente, which is a species of liquid dynamite, as palatable as corrosive sublimate and as full of potential devilry as an egg is of meat. When you find a Mexican gentleman adorned with a belt full of deadly weapons decorating and deluging his interior with aguardiente it is the port of prudence to retire to a hotel. There is another tippie, a white, innocent looking fluid called mescal, which is distilled from a cactus of the same name, which has in it all the combined energy, activity and homicidal possibilities of a volcano mixed up with the gable end of a mule. In former days the Apache Indians made a crude distillation of the same material, which they called its win, and as a preliminary to a raid among ranches and settlements it was a great success from an Indian point of view.—Boston Herald

Major League Notes
Joe McGinnity says Jennings has a star in Billy Loudon, the utility young star, secured by the Tigers. Loudon is a 325 hitter.
There's only one difference between the way they run the box scores in Canada and the United States. In that country they say: "By innings" just before the score, while here the newspapers say "Score." They use the box tally.
The Pirates have two wealthy young players—Campbell being a St. Louis broker and Pitcher Hendrix owning an interest in a Missouri bank near Kansas City.
Sam Crane says the only way in which Marquard will ever become a great pitcher in the real sense of the word is to trust the other eight men on the Giants and not try to strike out every batter.
Scout Billy Murray of the Pirates, former manager of the Phillies, will probably return to his former berth as manager of the Jersey City club, succeeding Jack Ryan.
The largest sum ever paid in one minor league for its recruits is $60,000 to the Northwestern by the two majors.
Oakland, Cal., has a wonder in Giacomo Martinoni, a young cub, who has pitched rings around several tried veterans in the Pacific Coast league. He's an Italian.
Frank Owen, formerly a twirler for the White Sox and later working for Kansas City, has returned to his home in Ypsilanti, Mich., and will pitch there.
The principal reason George Tebeau made $120,000 this year from his Kansas City club was that George stayed in Chicago. If John I. Taylor were to go to Calcutta the Red Sox would make a million.
Fogel wants 100 Phillies next year. Then he will defy Lynch to embarrass him by suspensions.

With The Fighters
"Cyclone Johnny" Thompson yesterday signed articles to meet Bob Moha in a scheduled twenty-five round bout, to be staged before the West Side Athletic club at New Orleans, Sept. 24. Thompson will leave for New Orleans in a week. The winner of the bout will probably be matched for a battle over Thompson in fair shape now, but expects to take off several pounds this week, Moha is already in New Orleans.
Spike Kelly and Morrie Bloom have entered training for their bout to be pulled off before the Elks' club at South Bend on Sept. 26. Both welterweights are eager for the fray and when they get together a real fight is the only possible result.
Pal Moore, the clever Philadelphia lightweight, and Tommy Murphy, the New York boy, who fought a fast ten-round draw at the National Sporting club there on Thursday night, are going to battle again. They have been matched by Miah Murray, the Boston fight promoter, to meet in a twelve-round bout at the Army Athletic association of that city tonight. This will be the third time they have met, Murphy having outpointed Moore in the first bout, while the second resulted in an even break.
Jim Stewart, who is going to try his hand at meeting the heavyweights again, has been engaged by Kid McCoy as his sparring partner to get him into condition for his two fights, one with Kid Ely on Sept. 22 at Brown's gymnasium, New York, and with Sailor Burke in Brooklyn on Sept. 25.
Harry Forbes has had an offer to box in England. Matchmakers of the National Sporting Club of London have written the "come back" champion offering him transportation and a purse to meet "Digger" Stanley or Merchant, who are the representative bantams of the British Isles.
The mill would be at 118 pounds, which is Forbes' best weight. And the English prize ring rules, which call for clean breaks and two-minute rounds, also would be a help to the Chicago boy, for he is a finished boxer and not a slugging fighter.

CALUMET PEOPLE FOLLOW JACK LESTER

Calumet people have been closely following the ring career of Jack Lester, who won the decision on points over Bill Lang of Australia for the Australian championship on Saturday. Lester was originally a Calumet lad, was born there, in fact, and later moved to Bessemer with his parents. Going west, he was taken up at Seattle by Tommy Burns, better known there as Noah Brusso when he played baseball and hockey in this part of the country and tried to teach lacrosse to the people of Houghton county. Burns developed Lester into a "white man's hope" and has great hopes that he can fit the Calumet man into some shape to trim Jack Johnson.

The SKY PIRATE by GARRETT P. SERVISS.

PROLOGUE.

The sea pirate has long been a fascinating figure of romance, at the march of progress has given him into well deserved retirement...

CHAPTER IX.

AN OBLIGING SECRETARY. ALFONSO PAYTON had played his master card, and if he could judge by Mr. Grayman's conduct...

letter? "Yes," said Grayman in far better humor than he had answered his mysterious intercomuter the first time...

"Wait a moment," interrupted Grayman, mindful of the secretary's injunction. "I am involved in transactions of the utmost importance...

If Payton felt a momentary doubt he apparently quickly dismissed it, for in half a minute he replied: "Good! You'll hear from me tomorrow at the same hour."

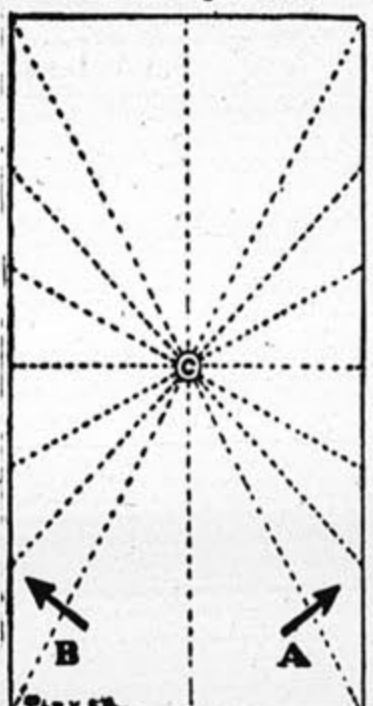

"I HAVE HEARD GOOD REPORTS OF YOU," said the secretary...

"Well," he said finally, "I am sorry, Grayman, that you didn't tell me of this at the beginning. But I think that I can help you, and of course, I'll, luckily, there comes to my memory a young man in our service...

"Yes, and I don't know at what moment a ring on my bell here may come from him. It makes me jump in my half every time I hear it."

In the afternoon of the same day which Mr. Grayman had his interview with the secretary of the treasury...

"And you'll not disappoint me," he returned with a most engaging smile. "Get your apparatus into shape at once. I'll see that you are from this moment detailed for special service..."

Suppose that O represents the center from which the waves radiate and that one of my needles is placed at A and another at B. Then, by observing the direction and the inclination to one another of the radial lines O-A and O-B and the direction of the dotted line joining them and knowing the distance between A and B, you have all the elements needed for a simple trigonometrical calculation...

"I had to deal with many crooks in the service, but never with one of Payton's caliber. Besides, I felt more and more the importance of this affair to my future, and the secretary's mysterious words about a reward which he thought that Mr. Grayman ought to offer me had got hold of my imagination..."

"Well, I don't know, either," he replied, with a quizzical smile, "but I have thought about it, and I know what I'd do, anyhow."

"The next morning Mr. Grayman and I went together in an auto from our hotel, where we had arrived in the middle of the night, to Mr. Grayman's office."

"It is just here," he said, "that your invention ought to prove invaluable. The first thing to do is to find out where he harbors. That once known, I will give you plenty of help to run him down."

two messages, that will be sent Lieutenant Allan tells me that he wishes to select a place for the second communication at a considerable distance from New York, in order to be sure of having a 'manageable angle'...

"Of course you know the wireless telephone number of some Buffalo correspondent. Give it to Payton and tell him to call you up there. Then we will take the night train for Buffalo and I guarantee that after that Allan will not be ten minutes in uncovering the hawk's nest."

So it was decided, and immediately I made my arrangements for connecting my instrument with the aerial receiver on the roof of the building containing Grayman's offices. We rigged up a temporary telephone from the sanctum to my station, and Secretary Grantham remained with Grayman to give me word the instant that Payton's call was recognized...

"Hello, Allan! It's coming! Have you got it?" I said, "I've got it. Don't interrupt me now, please."

SUDDENLY IT JUMPED ROUND. position, as at a command, and in the second it lost its rigidity and wandered all around the compass."

"This is Lieutenant Allan," said Mr. Grantham, presenting me very courteously. "I have already told you about him and my expectations of him. He is not going to fall us. He has brought along a little apparatus which, I fancy, will do the business for Mr. Alfonso Payton. Lieutenant Allan, please show Mr. Grayman your machine and tell him how it works."

"But are you sure that he sent his message from his key?" I asked. "Not a doubt of it. Mr. Grayman got that out of him by inquiring about his daughter's health, and he replied that she had just gone to her room with Susan, in excellent spirits."

"But will he communicate from the same place tomorrow?" "Have no fear about that. He told Mr. Grayman that they were going fishing in the morning and that he would call him up at 9 o'clock."

"Then," I replied, equally unable to restrain my delight, "we certainly have got him!"

FINDS A BRYANT POEM. California Woman Discovers Hitherto Unpublished Verse. When Mrs. Elizabeth Mumford of Pasadena, Cal., was looking through several autograph letters of William Cullen Bryant she discovered written on one of the sheets of paper a hitherto unpublished poem. The verse was written on the back of a letter sent to Mrs. Mumford about thirty years ago. The lines follow:

There's a dance of the leaves in the poplar boughs, There's a flutter of wind in the beechen trees, There's a smile on the fruit and a smile on the flower And a laugh from the brook as it runs to me.

READ THE MIRROR WANT ADS. Concerning the manners of Tibetans a traveler writes: "The main part of the Amdo population is fond of meeting together for frivolous conversation on all suitable and unsuitable occasions. The most the men do is to go hunting and robbing. The domestic work, such as tending the cattle, collecting fuel, drawing water and, in short, everything, falls on the women. While the wife is working incessantly all day long the husband grows weary with idleness and does not go to her assistance unless she is physically incapable of doing any work at all. On horseback the women are as dexterous as the men. To catch any horse she likes out of the troop, lay her hand on its mane and quickly spring on to the back of the barebacked steed and ride off in any direction she wishes in an ordinary race for any young Amdo woman."

WORLD TRAVELS OF A WOMAN'S HAT. Always Just Behind Her and Out of Date When She Got It. Trilled to various parts of the world by a $300 Paris hat which she purchased in Europe nearly a year ago, Mrs. William Dean Ellsworth of Newport and New York finally gave away the elaborate headpiece which she once thought in fashion, but now regards as out of style.

Mrs. Ellsworth was with friends in Paris last winter when she ordered the hat. Before it could be delivered she was called to Moscow by the illness of a friend. At Moscow she ordered the hat sent to her, but before it reached there she had departed for Berlin. The hat followed, but Mrs. Ellsworth had already gone to London. In obedience to instructions it was expressed to London, but Mrs. Ellsworth was sailing for New York when it was delivered to her London hotel.

Impatient that she might have the opportunity of displaying the hat to friends at Newport, Mrs. Ellsworth called that her hat be sent to her New York hotel. But in the rout of pleasure that followed Mrs. Ellsworth forgot all about her hat, and she left New York without giving instructions to have it forwarded to Newport.

$5,000,000 FOR MISS FORCE. Colonel Astor Will Also Provide For Her Liberally in His Will. The money which Colonel John Jacob Astor settled upon his fiancée, Miss Madeline Force, in a marriage agreement was $5,000,000. In addition to $5,000,000, which will belong to the young woman the moment she is pronounced Mrs. Astor, a further agreement was made providing that certain provision shall be made for Miss Force in Colonel Astor's will. The provision is understood to be a most liberal one. The will, it was said, will be drawn immediately after the wedding. As soon as the document is drawn and signed by the witnesses it will be deposited, with the marriage agreement, with the United States Trust company, in New York.

The Optimist's Corner Daily Helps to Health and Happiness. By GEORGE F. BUTLER, A. M., M. D. Many people could be rendered perfectly happy with the happiness which is lost in the world. We less happy because we often despise calm, quiet pleasures, and take interest and delight in nothing but that which excites, or we make the fatal mistake of thinking that happiness lies only in sensational events, instead of in the small, trifling incidents of daily life. There is nothing which we waste more than happiness, and even those who are prudent and economical in other directions are prodigal in this respect. They pinch and stint to save a penny, but are often indifferent about the loss of days of happiness. We frequently fail to appreciate our friends until they die, or we lose them in some other way. We rush through a holiday trip and miss half the beauty of the scenery because we are in a hurry or anxious or troubled by worthless trifles. Nearly every old or middle-aged man who looks back honestly on his life will admit that, however wretched he may be now, opportunities for happiness were given to him which in some way or other he has neglected.

RECIPROcity IN SHIPPIng.

A writer in the Scientific American proposes a new plan for the development of the American merchant marine. And his plan does not call for subsidies from the public treasury, the granting of special privileges in shape of rebates of port fees, lessening of tariff dues, mail contracts or any other drain on the national purse. He suggests reciprocity in shipping.

According to this plan treaties would be made with the countries with which America wishes to trade, by which the business between the two countries would be restricted to the ships of those countries.

This means that a merchant marine would be created on the high seas by the same methods that have given this country so great a coastwise and Great Lakes shipping.

There would be no drain on the public purse, no special privileges, no favored few making their dividends out of the nation. And the trade of the two countries would be developed by the ships of the two countries, as the plan contemplates an equal division of the shipping between them.

Special treaties could be made with several nations jointly, like the South American republics, so great bulk and passenger liners could make regular runs and call at the ports of those nations.

Now that the Panama canal is nearing completion and both this country and South America are preparing to take advantage of the shorter shipping routes it will create, this is a timely subject for consideration.

THE WORLD LOOKS ON.

The world over, there will be interest in the undertaking to cross the American continent by aeroplane, which was begun a few days ago when Robert G. Fowler at 1:37 in the aftnoon went up into the air from the Stadium in Golden Gate Park, San Francisco.

Fowler arrived at Sacramento at 3:28 refreshed himself in a leisurely way, and after less than an hour of additional aviation descended at Auburn, California, where he arranged to pass the night. Today he will reach the Sierras. If he can cross their crest at an altitude of more than seven thousand feet, it will impart confidence that nothing is infeasible which he has mapped out for the remainder of his journey.

Sacramento, ninety miles from San Francisco, is at a height of thirty feet above the level of the sea. The Sierras rise 7017 feet. Crossing them, a descent to Reno will take him to an altitude of 4497 feet, at a distance of 244 miles from where he started. The next height—Elko, 5065 feet—will be followed by a descent to 4301 feet at Ogden, Utah, which will be reached when he has traveled 790 miles from San Francisco. The next point he will aim for is Evanston—866 miles, 6795 feet above the sea level, and then he will proceed to negotiate the greatest altitude he will meet in the course of his tour—7149 feet, at Laramie, which is 1217 miles from San Francisco. From there he will be constantly descending to lower levels all the way to Omaha, 1709 miles from San Francisco and 1031 feet above the level of the sea. From Omaha to New York he will have before him practically the same task that Atwood performed in journeying from St. Louis.

BOY SAVES N. W. TRAIN; RUNS QUARTER-MILE

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 13.—Eugene Labbey, 17 years old, a farmer boy, yesterday saved Train No. 2 of the North-Western, from Omaha, from running into a washout near Mendota. The washout was caused by the cloud-burst at an early hour.

The danger point was behind a sharp curve, and the lad ran for a quarter of a mile before he was at a point where he could stop the train and prevent loss of life.

The train left Omaha an hour late and was running fast to make up time, when the engineer caught sight of the boy's red bandanna danger signal. Because of the washout the train had to be detoured and did not reach St. Paul until 12 o'clock.

An explosion of gasoline finally sent the ship to the bottom with all on board.

Lindquist missed connections last week and did not appear. He left the team a short time ago to go to Chicago and resume his studies at Armour Institute.

HE WOULDN'T BE A HERO

By M. QUAD
Copyright, 1911, by Associated Literary Press.

Joe Harper was a sturdy young farmer, and Ellen Taylor was the daughter of another, and they were engaged to be married. All their friends said it would be a sensible match. Joe was given the credit of lots of "horse sense," and no one could say that the young woman was a bit frivolous. That is, they couldn't until after a certain girl friend of hers from town had made her a three weeks' visit and left her for five novels behind her when she departed.

Those novels were about heroes, cavaliers, chivaliers and knights. They told of perils, combats and rescues. Mrs. Taylor would have chucked them into the stove had she found them, but she didn't find them. They were read at night after the rest of the family was asleep. By the time she had finished the second one the girl was looking askance at Joe. He was sunburned and freckled; his ears were rather large; instead of saying "prithce," he said "yoosh," in all the novels the cavaliers had plumes in their hats; Joe didn't even wear a hen's feather in his old straw. He had a hoe on his shoulder instead of a lance, and he plowed corn with an old seabitten mare instead of riding around on an Arabian steed.

No, Joe didn't size up for shucks, compared to the chivaliers. In the meadow, near the field where Joe was plowing corn, a colony of bumble bees had taken up their quarters in a tuft of grass. This fact was known to the Taylor family, and the farmer intended to rout them out some evening. Bumble bees are not cavaliers, but they are the next thing to it. At 2 o'clock one afternoon, when it was seen that Joe and the old mare were hard at work, Miss Ellen put on her bonnet and walked out to that bumblebee caucus. At five feet from it she halted and screamed and danced around.

The scream reached Joe Harper's ears, and he let go of the plow handles and made for the fence. In an instant he realized the situation, but he didn't dash forward and fall over several stumps. Instead of so doing he sat on the fence and called out:

"Oh, the bumble bees!" she shouted.

"Yes, but don't stand there like an idiot! Make for the house!"

A week had passed and the stings had been cured, when Joe got another chance. At 2 o'clock one afternoon Miss Ellen sat on the veranda sewing and wondering how Joe would look in armor and on horseback, when she caught sight of a big dog coming along the highway on the gallop. She screamed for Joe again. He dropped his hoe and came running, but paused as he reached the fence to ask what was the matter.

"Mad dog! Mad dog!" she shouted.

"Then climb up that ladder on to the roof of the kitchen!"

No rushing to the rescue, no beating the dog's brains out, no remarks worth leaving to posterity. Miss Ellen was furious with him. That was the reason a rung of the ladder broke as she was descending and precipitated her on an ashheap. Within an hour the cavalier of the hoe received word that he need never show up at the Taylor house again. The engagement was off.

"Now look at that!" he exclaimed when he had been made to understand. "There was that ladder handy to climb. I saw the dog coming and knew it belonged to Perkins. Was there any need for me to break my other suspender? And if it had been a real mad dog would it have helped the case any for both of us to have been bitten?"

Joe stayed away. He had been told to and he obeyed. At the end of two weeks he took a day off to go fishing. Miss Ellen heard through her brother that he was going, and she made a little plan. She had got over being mad at the man who wouldn't be heroic. In fact, she wanted to "make up." She would go a-fishing too. She wouldn't fish for fish, but for Joe Harper. The lover of other and happier days was fishing from a shady bank when she came into view, but he was on the other side of the stream. He watched her walk out on a stranded log and said to himself:

"If she gets a bite and jerks up her pole she'll sure go off that log."

Two minutes later the thing happened. There was a nibble, a jerk and a snout, and after the snout a yell for Joe. He had been seen. The water was only about three feet deep, and as the girl gained her feet after the snout she was called to:

"Don't get skeart, Ellen!"

"Oh, Joe—Joe!"

"You can wade ashore easy enough."

"Joe, I shall—shall!"

"No, you won't."

In the six weeks following the bet were ten to one that Joe and Ellen would never marry, but those who gave the odds lamented it. The two met on the highway, and after pretending not to see each other they halted, and the girl said:

"Joe, I wanted to marry a hero."

"Well, I hain't one."

"I wanted to marry a hero, but I guess I'll have to take up with a great, big, good natured, shal-sided farmer."

"Looks that way to me, Ellen," smiled Joe, and that evening the marriage day was set.

The Blushing Octopus.
The octopus frequently changes its color like a marine chameleon. It would appear, from studies of this creature, that the colored pigment whereby this change in color is effected is contained in envelopes in its skin in the tissue of which are muscular fibers actuated by nerves. Should these fibers become relaxed a dark pigment appears. The phenomenon is said to be analogous to blushing. Har-

1. Transpose natives of a certain European country and form a range of mountains; again, and form ecclesiastical dignitaries; again, and find a fortified town of France.

2. Transpose a strip of ox hide and prince.

form weapons; again, and form a plan-

6. Transpose a military chief and

The Crocodiles Dived.
The cunning of wild animals in concealing themselves in moments of danger is well known. A party, spending a week on the Nile, were watching eight or ten crocodiles sunning themselves on the surface of a small lagoon. It was determined to trap these monsters, if possible. The water was breast deep, including about two feet or more of heavy mud. Four nets were tied together, so as to make one long enough to reach across the lagoon,
and this was weighted on the bottom.
This net was drawn with long poles from each shore, and behind the net came a line of men a yard apart, preparing the mud with poles. The scheme looked like an admirable one, but the crocodiles sleepily dived, and that was the last seen of them. The water was dragged backward and forward, but they had burrowed so deeply in the mud that not one could be found.

Ten Commandments For Baby.
Give the baby his food at regular hours.
Give the baby water.
Give the baby no medicine unless prescribed by the doctor.
Give the baby a tub bath every day.
Do not put warmer clothes on the baby in the summer time than you wear yourself.
Keep a window open night and day in the baby's room. Colds come from closed windows, not from open ones.
If the baby does not gain weight see the doctor. Something is wrong.
Do not rock the baby to sleep. Put it down and let it cry itself to sleep.
Boll all milk before giving it to the baby.
If you cannot employ a doctor apply to the nearest police station.

Teaching Chivalry.
"My little boy has always been very chivalrous in his attitude toward me," said a mother recently. "This trait I make use of now when he comes from school saying, as most small boys do at one time or another, 'I don't like the teacher.' I talk about the large number of little boys the teacher has under her charge, how tired she must get, how much she needs strength, manly little boys to help her, and my son decides at once that he'd like to be a brave, strong knight to protect the teacher. He always goes back in a helpful frame of mind."

A Friendly Suggestion

KNOWS HOW
Doctor had been over the road.

When a doctor, who has been the victim of the coffee habit, cures himself by leaving off coffee and taking Postum he knows something about what he is advising in that line.

A good old doctor in Ohio, who had at one time been the victim of the coffee habit, advised a woman to leave off coffee and take Postum.

She suffered from indigestion and a weak and irregular heart and general nervous condition. She thought that it would be difficult to stop coffee abruptly.

She says:
"I had considerable hesitancy about making the change. The doctor, however, gave explicit directions that Postum must be boiled long enough to bring out the flavour and food value.
His suggestions were carried out and the delicious beverage fascinated me.
"I observed, a short time after starting Postum, a decided change in my nervous system. I could sleep soundly, and my brain was more active. My complexion became clear and rosy, whereas, it had been muddy and spotted before; in fact, all of the abnormal symptoms disappeared and I am now feeling perfectly well."
"Another friend was troubled in much the same manner as I, and she has recovered from her heart and stomach trouble by leaving off coffee and using Postum."
"I know of several others who have had much the same experience. It is only necessary that Postum be well boiled and it wins its own way."

John Kling

John Kling Has Rival for Leadership of Senators in Person of Outfielder Donlin.

It will be one grand battle between Johnny Kling and Mike Donlin for year. It is pretty generally understood that Kling went to Boston with the understanding that he would be placed in charge of the club in 1912.
Now comes Sir Michael, with the managerial bee in his bonnet, and, if he can hit the spheroid like he used to, he will soon be a big favorite with the fans and a dangerous competitor for the place. Mike would have liked to manage the Reds, and McGraw boosted him to Garry Herrmann for the job, but the Red chief could not see it.

FIRE CHIEFS MEET AT CANADIAN SOO

The members of the Provincial Fire Chief's association of Ontario will convene in Sault Ste. Marie on Thursday, and already Chief Wetmore has got as much as he can handle in running around, making the necessary preparations so that the visitors may go away from Sault Ste.
Marie with as good opinions as have other delegates who have met in the Canadian Soo during the summer just passed.

This will be the first convention to be held in Sault Ste. Marie this year and in fact for many years, where the delegates are actually the guests of the city and citizens, for all its members are municipal servants. For this reason it is hoped that citizens will be more than usually lavish in their decorations along Queen street in their honor. Most of the delegates will arrive by the Huronic from the east tomorrow, while a few will come from the north later in the day.

Why the Head of a Lion.
A custom, there is in most parts of Europe to adorn aqueducts, spouts and cisterns with lions' heads, which, though a laudable ornament, is of an Egyptian genealogy, who practiced the same under a symbolical illation.
For because the sun being in Leo, the food of Nilus was at the full and water became conveyed into every part, they made the spouts of their aqueducts through the head of a lion.
—Sir Thomas Browne, "Vulgar Errors."

GRAY HAIR MAKES YOU LOOK OLD

Use Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur and Your Gray Hair Will Quickly Vanish.

Gray hair is a mark of age, and nothing that can be said as to its beauty will offset the disadvantages of this mark of age set upon your brow.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy darkens the hair and restores it to its youthful beauty. Our grandmothers and their grandmothers before them used sage and sulphur for darkening their hair. Nothing has ever been found more effective for this purpose than these two time-honored remedies, but Wyeth, a modern chemist, has combined the two with other ingredients, which makes a delightful dressing for the hair, and which not only removes every trace of dandruff
but promotes the growth of the hair.
It also stops the hair from falling out,
and makes it beautiful.

All druggists are authorized to refund the money if it fails to do exactly as represented.

Don't neglect your hair and don't resort to old-time hair dyes. Get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur from your druggist today, and notice the difference in your hair after a few days' use.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

THEATRICAL

AT THE PETERSON—Much interest is felt in local circles over the coming engagement of "A Messenger Boy" and Manager Peterson is to be congratulated on having secured this excellent attraction. The advance agent says the "Messenger Boy" has met with more success than any other comedy drama in recent years, and he guarantees 100 laughs in as many minutes. Any one familiar with the average advance man will appreciate the fact that he is always truthful, at least he is in the instance judging from all accounts. They will be seen at the Peterson opera house, on Friday, Sept. 22.

Something of the character of the play, "A Messenger Boy," may be judged from the following letter of indorsement given to Manager Sweet by Rev. W. Parry-Thomas, Rector of Holy Trinity Church at Luverne, Minn.

"It was my good fortune to witness the excellent play you gave us, 'A Messenger Boy.' You and your supporters deserve all the hearty applause you received. The play is good, clean and moral, and deserves the support of the public."

DYNAMITE CASE IS CAUSE OF THEORIES

Menominee, Sept. 14.—Since the death of Frank McGash, of Wallace, by the premature explosion of dynamite carried on his person, there have been hundreds of theories expressed by people throughout the state. In answer to the question "could the heat from a smoker's pipe cause the dynamite to explode" a man writes that it would not, because dynamite must be heated to approximately 350 degrees before it will explode. He says, however, if the pipe or fire from the pipe came in contact with the caps of the dynamite it would cause an explosion no different than if the explosive were in the pocket or hands of the man.

NINE-YEAR-OLD CHILD TRAVELS FROM RUSSIA

After being ten weeks alone on the road, 9-year-old Jenny Bobrowski, arrived from Vladavostok, Russia, without mishap in the Soo, Monday morning, having traveled nearly around the world to get here. The little girl was left on Kamchatka Island two years ago by Bobrowski, a tailor for A. S. Hyman of the Soo, after he was unable to take her with him and his little son, because the Russian master of a government transport would not have a female on his vessel.

MOVE BUILDINGS ON SCOWS AT THE SOO

Sault Ste. Marie, Sept. 14.—The sight of a big two-story building being towed down the river by two government tugs, caused many to stop and marvel this afternoon about 1 o'clock and endeavor to figure out just how the big structure got through the locks.

The building was the fish hatchery, which was moved from the clay dam on the scow to the new site at the Fort Brady pier property. The building was placed on rollers a short time ago and removed to the clay dam. From there the federal government undertook the transporting of it down the river and this job, which looked the most difficult to man, was, in fact, the easiest.

STATE OFFICERS WILL VISIT HERE IN FALL

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 14.—State Dairy and Food Commissioner Dane announced this morning that he has sent three inspectors to the West Michigan Fair at Grand Rapids to inspect the restaurants and other lunch counters on the grounds and to see to it that all vendors were providing clean and pure food for the people. Another number of inspectors will perform similar work at the state fair in Detroit next week.

"We have received complaints that doctored food had been offered by some greedy salesmen at these fairs and we proposed to put a stop to the practice," said Commissioner Dane. "There is no reason why these lunch men should sell poor foodstuffs and several fairs will be watched this fall."
