Are You Born Equal?

"Why is one man able to gather others with equal about him, launch a business enterprise of large proportions and carry it to success, while his neighbor spends an entire lifetime plodding at small things in a small way?"

This is the question James Laurence Laughlin, professor of political economy in the University of Chicago, asks and in the Outlook he proceeds to answer it:

"Because Nature has distributed its gifts unevenly between men. Clear judgment and a genius for managing large affairs are not characteristics so common as to pass unnoticed.

"The competitive spirit is born in us. Every normally constituted human being has in him an impulse to be or to do something better than his neighbor. The world is the gainer by this common impulse, for it inspires invention, promotes resourcefulness, facilitates emulation, makes itself felt everywhere in life."

KEEPING PACE WITH ESCANABA

Gladstone Reporter Boasts About The Recent Arrest in That City of Several Saloon Men

In commenting upon the recent arrest of several of the Gladstone saloon keepers for not closing at the legal hour, the Gladstone Reporter says: "Any time Escanaba can put one over on us without our finding it out, there is to be a big noise. We are going to keep pace with Escanaba if we have to pawn our shoes trings. A short time ago a raid was made in Escanaba with the result that five saloon keepers were compelled to answer to charges for violating the liquor law and the metropolis gloated over us. But we have called their bluff. We are just as metropolitan as they are.

On complaint of Rev. Frank N. Miner warrants were issued by Justice of the Peace McEwen for the arrest of August Johnson, Frank Louis, Peter Peterson, Eric Osterberg and the two partners Soren Johnson and Earl Fisher. Tuesday Sheriff Curran came over and served the warrants. It is charged in the complaint that all of the defendants had their places of business open after the hour when the law says they shall close, on the night of December 31.

All of the defendants were released without bonds and the date set for their hearing January 20th.

All of the defendants were released without bonds and the date set for their hearing January 20th.

There seems to be considerable conflict of opinion as to the nature of the evidence and probably will be until after the preliminary hearing is held, at any rate. Escanaba will have to try something else."

GLADSTONE MAN HAS INVENTION

Joseph Le Blanc Will Take Model of Life Saving Invention to Washington For Inspection

Joseph LeBlanc of Gladstone who took out a patent on a life saving apparatus some time ago is in a hurry to realize something on his invention.

Mr. LeBlanc has had his device on exhibition and a number of prominent persons have examined it and many express the opinion that it will be a success if he does not experience any difficulty in getting representation before the proper officials. He has already an appointment with the chairman of the board of life saving department and expects to start soon with a full sized model to keep the appointment and should his invention be adopted and recommended by the department his patent will probably net him considerable more than the average inventor realizes off from his inventions.

The arrangement, though difficult to describe, consists of two air tight chambers so arranged as to maintain the utmost degree of buoyancy and a third air tight chamber or raft above that which keeps passengers entirely above water. It is also equipped with hand propeller and rudder. It is simple of construction, strong and durable and can be made in any size to accommodate any number of passengers.

HOUGHTON MAN MAY BE WARDEN

Northern Michigan Democratic Leaders Are In Favor of the Appointment of J. J. Byers.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 10.—Northern Michigan democratic leaders are almost unanimously in favor of the campaign started by friends of former Sheriff James J. Byers of Houghton county to secure his appointment as warden of the Marquette state prison by Gov. Ferris. Mr. Byers is one of the big men in the democratic party in northern Michigan and was the first democrat to hold office in Houghton county, always a republican county, in more than twenty years. Voters of all parties elected him county sheriff four years ago, when he was given a majority of 3,000 over the republican candidate, also a popular man. Warden James Russell of the Marquette prison, a Warner appointee, says Gov. Ferris can make no mistake in naming Mr. Byers as his successor.

Bad Breath

It's Your Duty to Get at the Cause and Remove it. O Word to the Wise, You Know.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, oil the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system of impurities.

They do all that dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Olive Tablets without griping, pain or disagreeable effects of any kind.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. Take one every night for a week and not the effect.

"Every little Olive Tablet has a movement all its own." 10c and 25c per box.

SAGE TEA WILL DARKEN THE HAIR

There is nothing new about the idea of using Sage for restoring the color of the hair. Our grandmothers kept their hair dark, glossy and abundant by the use of simple "Sage Tea." Whenever their hair fell out or took on a dull, faded or streaked appearance, they made a brew of Sage leaves, and applied it to their hair with wonderful beneficial effect.

Nowadays we don't have to resort to the old-time tiresome method of gathering the herbs and making the tea. This is done by skillful chemists better than we could do it ourselves; and all we have to do is to call for the ready-made product, Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, containing Sage in the proper strength, with the addition of Sulphur, another old-time scalp remedy.

This preparation gives youthful color and beauty to the hair, and is one of the best remedies you can use for dandruff, dry, feverish, itching scalp, and falling hair. Get a fifty cent bottle from your druggist today, and you be surprised at the quick results. All druggists sell it, under guarantee that the money will be refunded if the remedy is not exactly as represented.

M'CARTY'S LIFE IS PICTURESQUE

White Heavyweight Has Held Every Kind of Job.

WAS ONCE MESSENGER BOY.

Luther McCarty, the big cowpuncher who defeated Al Palzer recently in Los Angeles and is now the best white heavyweight pugilist in the country, has had a varied career.

He has been a district messenger boy, cowboy, farm hand, lumberjack, deep sea sailor, bill sticker, roustabout and many and various other things.

Luther McCarty first saw the light of day March 17, 1892, on a ranch owned and operated by his father, thirty miles outside of Lincoln, Neb.

His mother died when he was less than two years old, but it was not until his father sold the ranch in 1901 that Luther struck out for himself, making his first stop at the home of a relative in Colorado Springs, Colo.

LUTHER McCARTY.

Here he stayed for nearly two years, attending school, much against his wishes, as he longed for the open air life. He had no liking for the classroom and to avoid it took "French leave" in the night and started on life's journey alone and penniless.

With the cornshucking season over, McCarty ambled into Omaha and landed a position as bill distributor for an advertising concern. He held this down for a few months, then landed a berth with the Western Union Telegraph company. He delivered messages, and the number on his cap was 1323.

The old wanderlust again took hold of the big boy, and he made the long jump to Los Angeles.

In southern California McCarty spent several months, then journeyed back to St. Louis, but did not tarry long, making tracks for Boston. He longed to see some of the life on the high seas.

Once in the city of beans and culture, McCarty hiked to the wharfs and shipped as "an abledodied seaman."

Having seen the greater part of the world, McCarty went back to his first love, looking after the cattle on the wide range of the northwest. Interfering at a time when the ranch owner, Dick Collins, was in trouble with McCarty the ownership of a fine saddle horse. With his gift horse he started out to do "some" riding. He landed in the Sioux reservation and spent about a month among the Redskins, then drifted into Montana.

Lack of funds caused McCarty to sell the horse, and he took up with an advertising concern, doing the country wide advertising for a well known tobacco. When arriving at Culbertson, Mont., he learned there was to be a battle in the town and decided to stick around and see the fuss. He tied in with one of the principals as sparring partner. He had from his earliest youth liked boxing and, whether aboard ship or on land, never let pass an opportunity to spar with the gloves.

Jan. 7, 1911, he went in as a substitute for a fighter who had "run out" of a match against Walt Adams, heavy weight champion of Canada. McCarty put out the champ in the second round.

He and Adams afterward went on an exhibition tour, and McCarty attracted the attention of Tommy Burns by beating Joe Grimm, the "Iron man" of Philadelphia. Tommy looked the big cowboy over and told him he was liable to be champion of the world some day.

McCarty, with this encouragement, plunged into the game in good earnest. He first attracted nation wide fame by knocking Carl Morris cold and later by defeating Jim Flynn.

MARTY O'TOOLE VERY TIMID AS A YOUNGSTER.

"When a youngster Marty O'Toole was about the limit when it came to timidity," said Irving O'Hay, former New England league umpire, recently. "I lived at South Framingham, Mass., several years ago and remember the little red haired Marty as a kiddie. Later he broke into the New England league while I was umpiring in that wheel, and an umpire really felt ashamed of himself, every time he called a ball that should have been a strike. Marty never would complain, and no matter how bad an umpire was the ever timid pitcher would just shake his head and continue to pitch. I watched him with much interest from the start, for as a kid he showed much promise. Even before he adopted the spittal he used to foot the old heads."

NEW BOXING WEIGHTS.

New York State Commission Makes Reform in Queensbury Code. The New York state athletic commission has just buried the old Marquis of Queensbury rules for the government of boxing bouts into the scrap heap as far as Gotham is concerned, and it may not be long before the entire country and maybe France and other European countries adopt the new code. Many features of the rules as originally drafted by the famous English sportsman are retained, but not only are others changed, but several startling additions made.

TABER A RHODES SCHOLAR.

Great Miler Will Be a Student at Oxford Next Year.

There should be some great mile races in England next fall. Norman S. Taber, the Brown university student who gave A. N. S. Jackson of England a great battle in the 1,500 meter event at the Stockholm Olympiad, will be a college mate of Jackson at Oxford university. Norman follows his brother, Howard A., as a Rhodes scholar at Oxford. The friendly running duels between Jackson and Taber at Oxford certainly should be worth witnessing.

It would not be surprising to see Taber develop into the world's greatest miler. The Brownian showed improvement in all his races last season and as soon as he rids himself of the

NORMAN TABER IN ACTION. tendency to do too much loafing in the early stages of races he is likely to take a few falls out of Father Time.

Taber forced Kiviat all the way when Kiviat hung up the new world's 1,500 meter record and equaled the mile record at the eastern tryouts in the Harvard stadium last June. Taber was right on Jackson's shoulder at the finish of the 1,500 meter event in Stockholm, and the finish for second place between Kiviat and Taber was so close the judges waited for a film of the finish to be developed before awarding the positions.

Taber combines the highest excellence in scholarship and sports and easily is the most distinguished Rhodes scholar America has sent to Oxford. Taber, the old Cornellian danceman, was appointed Schutt contributor to Oxford's success in distance and cross country running. Taber is likely to make much athletic history for the Dark Blues.

MULATTO WOMAN SENT TO JACKSON; OFFICERS REFUSE ADMITTANCE

Kalamazoo, Mich., Jan. 10.—Sheriff Ralph Chapman, who assumed office yesterday, is perplexed. Locked up in a cell is Alice Jackson, a mulatto woman who tried to shoot her husband recently. She was sentenced to Jackson prison for one to 10 years by Judge Knappen, but when taken to the prison by Deputy Sheriff Pat Burns, she was refused admittance. Deputy Burns appealed to the attorney-general, who told the officer to let her go. This Burns declined to do. Now Sheriff Chapman has her on his hands. "We can't send her to Detroit. We can't send her to Jackson. Where can we send her?" remarked Chapman.

SMASHES DOOR TO OBTAIN HIS OFFICE

New Presque Isle Probate Judge Finds His Predecessor Unwilling to Vacate Office

Posse, Mich., January 10.—Edward Bruning, to whom was issued a certificate of election as judge of probate of Presque Isle county, found it necessary to break down the door to get possession of the office.

His predecessor, Theodore C. Hardies, refused to recognize his election and would not yield up the keys of the office.

Bruning put his shoulder to the door, broke the lock, replaced it with a new one and installed himself.

Bruning emerged from the November election with a majority of 36 over Hardies, who demanded a recount, which gave Bruning 39.

Contests Election. Hardies claimed the polls at Rogers City were kept open after the hour prescribed by law for closing and demanded that the entire vote of this township, which gave Bruning 38 majority, be thrown out. The canvassers refused.

Monday found both men attempting to hold court in the probate office. They sat from 10 o'clock until 2, both going without dinner trying to wait each other out.

Hardies hoped by refusing to give up the office to force Bruning to start legal action, while Bruning wanted to throw the burden onto Hardies. Hardies finally left the office and says he will present his claim in court.

WITH THE GREEKS IN THE TURKISH WAR

THOUGH the work of the Bulgarian armies has been more spectacular in the war with Turkey, the Greeks have been doing their part very effectively. Our illustration is from a photograph of a Turkish frontier station destroyed by Greek troops.

THE LITTLE YALLER PUP.

Barney, the big policeman, picked up the limp body of the little yellow dog and threw it over on the dump cart.

Poor little yaller pup! But had he lived in vain? I say no, for the sake of all the poor little dogs that are trying to live and be faithful in the great city I say no.

It was warm, budding springtime, and every one was happy with every one else. Why couldn't some one think of the yaller pup, when such a little thing would have made him happy too. He had been hungry all day—yes, and all the day before and perhaps all the day before that, who knows? So, you see, just a bite to eat would have made him happy, and more than that, it would have made him stronger and warmer. He had pleaded so hard, with his soft brown eyes, at people's back doors, but somehow they didn't understand what he meant. Of course it was because they didn't understand, for who of these worlds of happy people would have refused him willfully? So he had found nothing to eat, and, weak, almost hopeless, he stunk along the sidewalks, close to the road.

Just then a little girl came running down the sidewalk toward him and tightly clasped in her tiny hand was a great buttered bun. It smelled fine to the yaller pup. He stopped, he sniffed, he sat up and begged. Oh, how he begged! It seemed as though his very life depended on that bun, and truly it did. At last this small one of all these happy people understood, for the child, with a happy laugh, dropped it into his mouth. Oh, that bun! Just wouldn't he be this baby's dog forever?

She ran on, and the yaller pup followed close. There's lots of life hidden under the brown crust of a buttered bun—plenty, at least, to fill two soft eyes with springtime sparkles and make one stubby tail wag joyously. She smiled at him often and put her soft little hand on his head—once.

They were so happy together, she talking to him and his great eyes answering, when all of a sudden, as they turned a corner quickly, something great and heavy came toward them, swayed a moment and fell. It was a chest, being trundled on a two wheeled cart by a man who was nearly senseless with drink. As it came toward them the child stepped back, stumbled and fell prone upon the curbing. As it swayed she lay, terror stricken and helpless. As it fell yaller pup fell, too, straight across the body of the child, his head protecting hers.

Then a great cloud passed over the sun—the sun of the yaller pup and the child. When the chest was lifted she was found breathing jerkily, but surely. A tall man strode across the street and picked her up. He held his face for a moment against hers. "She's all right," he said and carried her away.

Barney, the big policeman, picked up the limp body of the little yellow dog and threw it over on the dump cart. Poor little yaller pup! But had his life been in vain? Hampden Leaflet.

Cause and Effect.
"Mrs. Smythe has a beautiful new plume for her hat."
"I thought so. I just saw her hat hat."
"Did he tell you about it?"
"No, but he looked so if he had just been plucked." Hampden Leaflet.

Corrected.
The humorists in their postscript in large cities are subjected and the sometimes positive dangers to which they are exposed occasionally give rise to real jests. Take this one:
Two young men walking beneath an elevated railway in a town that shall be nameless were appointed to find themselves the recipients of a bucketful of oily liquid dropped on their heads—from above.
"So this is America!" sneered the first, wiping his neck.
"It's not," declared the second. "This is Greece!" Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Stay Single, Girls, And Enjoy Life

Denver, Colo., Jan. 10.—Miss Mary Shearin is the youngest old lady in Denver and the oldest bachelor girl in the world. Miss Shearin was 101 years young Christmas day, and she celebrated the occasion at St. Joseph's hospital, where the centenarian plus one is a permanent guest of the good sisters.

Miss Shearin has never worn glasses she says, and darts and mends. She has never been sick a day in her life, and, furthermore, having lived in a state of single blessedness for a century or more, she has never regretted it.

"Women are every bit as good as man and better."
"Always mind your own business and you'll be young at 101."
"Married women are overcome with trouble; they break their backs over the frying pan, nursing babies and waiting on 'some good-for-nothing' man."
"Married women get precious little out of life."

The Worm That Turned.

The power of discipline and precedent in the army cannot be appreciated by civilians. At a two company post in the west some years ago a captain of infantry was in command, as his commission was of earlier date than that of the captain of cavalry also there. The two captains hate each other, but of course, preserved the usual amity in official intercourse. One day the cavalry captain ordered the junior to take a squad of men to the forest and cut the firewood needed for winter. The cavalry captain would have been expecting a report, but the junior reported that the firewood was cut and the cavalry captain arrived, and the cavalry captain ordered for letters. The cavalry captain issued an order to the captain of the post and the cavalry captain was chopping wood.

HEALTHY MEAT FOR TODAY.

Varicose Veins.
Operation is necessary in very severe cases. In simple early cases treatment consists of applying suitable bandages and paying attention to regularity of the bowels and general health. The bandage, which should be of flannel, about two inches wide and a yard or so long, is wrapped spirally round the limb affected, commencing well below the prominent veins and taken well above them. It should be adjusted firmly, but not too tightly, and each layer should slightly overlap the last. It should be put on while lying in bed in the morning and not taken off again till lying down in bed at night. Never massage or rub the parts.

ST. PATRICK'S CHURCH TO BE REDECORATED
Money Made by The Coming Production of Military Drama Will be Used For That Purpose
the best home talent productions that has ever been staged in this city. Mr. and Mrs. John Allo, who have charge of staging the drama put the piece on in Ashland several years ago and at that time it was a decided success. The rehearsals are well under way and a good cast has been selected.
A New Chinese Language.
A reformation of the Chinese language seems not unlikely, for the educational conference which recently met in Peking, headed by the minister of education, has passed resolutions looking toward the adoption of a phonetic alphabet. It was made clear that the ignorance of the common people is the large obstacle to the diffusion of the Chinese written language.

NOVELTY IN DRINKING FOUNTAINS

The latest thing in sanitary drinking fountains has just been installed by the government in Lafayette Square, Washington, across the street from the White House. The water is carried into the bottom of the drinking cup by a rubber hose and the cup is continually running over, so that it is not necessary for the lips to come into contact with the metal.
