The delegates assembled selected the twelve delegates to attend the republican state convention, which will be held at Lansing on Feb. 11th, at which time the delegates will nominate their ticket, which is to be put before the people at the April election.

The delegates named were Messrs. Frank D. Mead, N. C. Spencer, Peter Jensen, O. B. Fuller, Judd Yelland, Coleman Nee, I. C. Jennings, Matt Filion, John Cumminskey, Moses Buchman, Soren Johnson and Torval Strom.

At the state convention, the Republicans will nominate two judges for the supreme court, two regents for the state university, two members for the state board of agriculture, one superintendent of public instruction, one highway commissioner and one member of the state board of education.

Instruct Delegates

The convention passed several resolutions, instructing the delegates from Delta county to support candidates for several of the offices and in the other cases the delegates are asked to use their own discretion as a unit in supporting the best candidate for the nominations as will be of the most benefit to the state and particularly the upper peninsula.

The following resolution was offered and unanimously passed favoring the candidacy of Joseph H. Steers, for reelection as one of the justices of the supreme court:

"WHEREAS, The Honorable Joseph H. Steers, Justice of the Supreme Court of this state is a candidate to succeed himself and recognizing his high and distinguished abilities as a student of the law and as a fair, honest and impartial judge with recognized attitude for the position, and rightfully appreciating his past services to the people of this state.

"IT IS HEREBY RESOLVED, by the republicans of Delta County, in convention assembled, that we endorse the candidacy of the Honorable Joseph H. Steers as a candidate to succeed himself and we recommend him (Continued on page six)

This dispatch says that a thorough reconnaissance of the Turkish fleet was made and that four bombs were dropped on the arsenal there.

No Harm Done, Say the Turks

Constantinople, Feb. 8.—There was fresh fighting yesterday in the region of Gallipoli and an aeroplane made a flight over the Dardanelles and dropped three bombs. These were aimed at the Turkish warships. Two of them fell into the water and the third exploded on the shore, without doing any damage.

An official dispatch issued tonight says: "The enemy continues his movements along the Tchtalja lines. The bombardment of Adrianople continues night and day, but the damage is unimportant. The courage and vigor of the Turkish troops are admirable."

Constantinople, Feb. 8.—Desperate fighting was reported again on Friday from the peninsula of Gallipoli, where the Bulgarians are endeavoring to open a way for the Greek fleet up the Dardanelles. Semi-official statements confirmed the report that the Turks lost several thousand men in yesterday's battle. Sofia dispatches placed the Turkish losses at 5,000 killed and wounded.

NO INCREASE IS CONTEMPLATED NOW

Parcel Post Duties Will Be Performed By Regular Employes of Postal Service.

A circular has been received by Postmaster H. W. Colburn from John C. Black, president of the United States Civil Service Commission, stating that the commission contemplates no increase in the parcel post service, contrary to numerous reports to the contrary.

Following is the circular: The United States Civil Service Commission has had numerous letters from persons who have been misled by advertisements of correspondence schools to the effect that thousands of appointments would be made to positions in the Parcel Post System. No such increase in the service is contemplated, as the duties required in connection with the administration of the law will be performed by the regular employes of the Postal Service, and if any additional employes are required they will be appointed to positions in the regular service. It is not contemplated that any examinations will be held especially for the Parcel Post System.

By direction of the Commission. John C. Black, President.

SUFFRAGETTES DOING MUCH DAMAGE TO PLANTS AT THE NEW HORTICULTURAL GARDENS NOW

Heretofore They Were Immune to Storekeepers Because of Contributions to Cause

(By Associated Press.)

London, Feb. 8.—The destructive work of the suffragettes still continues. This morning a band of the "smasher gets" destroyed many valuable plants at the new horticultural gardens, and did other damages totaling at least five thousand dollars. They seem to be unusually active today in smashing windows. Two immense windows of Oxford street stores were destroyed. Heretofore they have been immune to merchants because the proprietors have been contributing to the women's funds.

Telegrams to North England have been delayed today on account of the cutting of wires by the suffragettes.

WOMEN SELL 30,000 BARRELS OF APPLES

Campaign Being Conducted Through Grocers Gives Chicago Fruit at Low Prices

(By Associated Press.)

Chicago, Feb. 8.—Club women who recently conducted an egg sale went into the apple business yesterday and last night it was announced that about thirty thousand barrels had been disposed of.

The apples were on sale in about half the grocery stores in Chicago. No money was invested by the women, but they arranged the buying and selling prices and took orders for apples. In only a few cases were inferior goods offered or prices higher than those agreed to be asked.

All apples were sold at less than the price which has been asked for them by retail dealers in the last few weeks. Many apples are said to be in cold storage, awaiting a raise in price, and it was this condition which caused the women to start the sale.

The women distributed fifteen thousand of the apples among the school children this morning.

LOST AND FOUND

The restoring of lost articles is one of the many emergencies that are met through the Wants. The moment a loss is discovered the use of the Want Columns is suggested, and so it is with the finding of articles of value—the Wants come to mind at once. By reaching the greatest number of people in the quickest time and at least expense, the Wants are wonderfully useful in bringing losers and finders in communication with each other. Many have been grateful to the Want Columns for the return of lost articles of value.

MUCH FAITH IN MICHIGAN

EX-GOVERNOR POINTS TO MARVELOUS GROWTH AND WONDERFUL FUTURE THAT FACES COMMONWEALTH.

OSBORN LAUDS MICH. OUTLOOK

Permanent and Steady Degree of Prosperity is Evident Throughout the State He Says.

In a recent issue of Leslie's Weekly, former Gov. Chase S. Osborn has the following to say under the caption, "A Splendid Outlook in Michigan:"

"Michigan is the eighth state in the union. The last census gave it a population of 2,810,173. It was made a state in 1837. It has developed with uniformity from that date. The first settler visited Michigan in 1618. In that year Etienne Brule built a fur trading post at Sault Ste. Marie. It has been under four flags, including the era of Indian dominion.

"At no time in its interesting history has it been in its interesting history better than at the present. In fact, our citizens are prosperous and satisfied in every material way. They believe that they have attained such prosperity as will warrant them the luxury of improving human condition without reference to economic influences.

"Detroit, which is the commercial capital of Michigan, has enjoyed a marvelous growth during the last decade, Michigan is so diversified in its interests that it is always prosperous. No influence or condition can affect at spruce, and hardwoods as well remain the same time all of the interests, including manufacturing, coal mining, iron mining, copper mining, sugar beet raising, bean raising, lumbering and many other industries that are successfully carried on in this state. There is still considerable white pine left standing in the state, a great deal of cedar, hemlock, tamarack, and spruce, and hardwood as well remain to larger extent than has been cut (Continued on Page Two.)

(By Associated Press.)

Washington, Feb. 8.—The house today adopted, 11 to 60 to consider the Webb bill, which prohibits the shipment of liquor into the "dry states." The rule provides for the introduction of amendments, limiting the debates on the same to three hours.

"When the history of this congress is written it will be the history of the most incompetent and most useless that has ever sat under the dome of the capital," said representative Balzell during a hot debate when the bill was brought up. Representative Fitzgerald said that the bill would never pass but some of the politicians were using it for political favor.

SHERIFF HILL AND DEPUTIES ARE FACING ANGRY MOB OF COAL STRIKERS NEAR CHARLESTON

MARTIAL LAW PREVAILS THERE

Posse May be in Great Danger Owing to being Outnumbered by the Strikers

Charleston, W. Va., Feb. 8.—Great anxiety is being entertained over the fate of Sheriff Bonner Hill and twenty-two deputies, who are reported to be facing an angry mob of coal strikers of Kanawha county. The squad are shooting from a train and it is thought that some of the strikers have been injured. If so, it is believed, that the posse may be in great danger owing to the fact that the miners outnumber them ten to one and they are heavily armed. Martial law now prevails in that locality.

Gov. Glascock has ordered six companies of the national guard to prepare to go to the scene of the miner's strike. Sheriff Hill reports that he is unable to reach the strikers, owing to the fact that they are armed. The encampment fires are being heavily guarded, however. The sheriff does not know the extent of the damage done in the shooting by the posse last night.

COL. MOTT HITS THE CITY TODAY

King of All "Boosters" Comes Into Town For a Few Hours Visit With H. W. Reade

Colonel Mott came up from Menominee this afternoon to visit with H. W. Reade for a few hours between trains and talk over some of the plans for the summer campaign. Colonel Mott is the man that is putting "Cleveland" on the map and all those who have watched his work will agree that he is succeeding exceptionally well in doing it.

"Enthusiasm," he said this afternoon, "is the greatest asset that we can have in this Northern country. We lack it to a considerable degree, that is some do and as soon as the snow goes, I am going to awaken some of the dead ones and show them what a fine country they are living in."

Plans are being formulated by the colonel this winter for meetings during the spring and summer in all parts of the peninsula. He says that he wants to meet all the people. He wants to tell them what they can do with their lands, if they will but make an effort.

The Upper Peninsula Development bureau has been fortunate in securing the services of Colonel Mott to promote this north country. He has gone into the business with heart and soul and has ready at hand a great fund of information in regard to the possibilities of this country, that even the people who have lived here for years are not familiar with.

In Michigan and all over the United States the volume of business needed to supply the absolute necessities is so great that there is bound to be a permanent and steady degree of prosperity. The outlook for material prosperity is good in Michigan; the outlook for betterment along moral and ethical lines is likewise good.
The area of Michigan is 157,430 square miles the population may be reasonably placed at three millions at the present time. In the upper peninsula, where there are 16,628 square miles and less than a thousand square miles devoted to agriculture, the soil survey made by the state and the United States government in conjunction, gave evidence that twenty-five per cent of the soil of the upper peninsula is good for agriculture. Farm lands there may be purchased for from ten dollars an acre upwards.
The great fruit region bordering the eastern shore of Lake Michigan, comprises western Michigan as far north as the straits, and fortunes are being made there in fruit culture. Experts believe the south shore of Lake Superior, which bounds the northern part of the upper peninsula, is especially suitable for fruit raising. The great advantage to those who produce anything in Michigan is the proximity of the markets. Nature has canalized the state in a remarkable way. The Great Lakes not only exercise a splendid influence on the climate, but supply transportation at low cost.
The school system of Michigan is one of the best in the country. An annually sixteen million dollars are expended for public school work. The great University of Michigan has been established for nearly one hundred years. Its influence radiates to every part of the country; it has all the freedom and courage of the west without provincialism, and all the culture and polish of the east without aristocracy and exclusiveness. No great institution of learning offers advantages equal to those of the University of Michigan. The Michigan Agricultural college is doing a great work, and has an enviable reputation. The Michigan College of Mines is one of the best in the world.
I do not believe that the average citizenship of Michigan can be excelled in the world. Our people are law-abiding, courageous, tolerant and patriotic. We invite to this state all of those who desire to be good and useful citizens.
The rate of taxation in Michigan is low, and lessening rather than increasing. Our state, with great good feeling for all of its sister commonwealths, vies eagerly with them in a contest that makes for a better and happier life for all society."

By RUFERT F. FRY
It dates back many years to the time when John Doe and his neighbor Frank Webster that it would be a good plan for them to make an arrangement to protect their respective families against the total loss of their money-making ability. An arrangement was therefore made, no story given, whereby in event of Doe's premature death Webster agreed to provide for Doe's family and vice versa. A little later a neighbor heard of this arrangement and asked permission to join. Finally one of the contracting parties died and his family was not dependent. Then others sought admission to the community were provided for under this crude arrangement. About this time it was found necessary to employ a secretary, manager, etc. to look after the affairs of this so-called association and what later developed into a simple business.
This is one of the old and simple explanations of the life insurance business. To go back a little further: the neighbor who originally got his idea from the old Bible story of Pharaoh as a prophet of seven years of plenty and seven years of famine. Years ago insuring lives collectively was an experiment. It has now been worked out on a scientific basis. The majority of the people who are working out their lives, use the American Experience Table of Mortality, which is taken from the mortality experience of a large number of people. The plan of legal reserve insurance has given a success and was adopted by the Old Line Life Insurance Company of America, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, a company which has been successful from its inception. This company holds funds in a fiduciary capacity for people who make deposits with it, and who by reason of its small annual deposit create estates for themselves. It was the first to start with a perfect system, as far as perfect can be, by reason of the superior quality through the experimental stage of perfecting, proper and correct plans and rates for life insurance at different ages.
The Company is supervised by a Board of Directors, who in addition to assuming a moral obligation are financially interested as well. That giving them a double interest in looking after the welfare of the state and the welfare of the policy holders of this Company.
The Old Line Life Insurance Company of America possesses at this time $1,000,000 in assets for every $100 of liability. Its capital and surplus is held as an additional security to its policy holders. It is one of the largest companies of its kind, and has been from its inception, ever organized in the United States and it is the largest stock life insurance company ever organized under Wisconsin laws and the largest Life Accident and Health Insurance company organized under the laws of the state.
A very substantial surplus has been established by The Old Line Life Insurance Company of America, where it is domiciled and so well known, and where it is doing a successful life insurance business, a business which is enjoyed by no other life insurance company in the United States. In fact it has between four and five hundred stockholders in Milwaukee comprising prominent business and professional men. The Company's capital, paid in, surplus and reserves are over $1,000,000, invested in non-speculative securities. About 100,000 of the amount represented by the surplus and reserves was raised by Wisconsin people in the belief that a serious life insurance company would be a benefit to the people generally and to the state. This has proven true.
The business of the Company extends over the state of Wisconsin and into other states. It is a home institution, enjoying the patronage of the citizens of the Badger State. As a result of its activity the surplus of money are being collected and invested in the state.
The Company wishes all of its friends to competitors a successful year—1913.

GETTING GRAY? NOBODY CAN TELL WHEN YOUR HAIR IS DARKENED WITH SAGE TEA

Says Sage and Sulphur Darkens Hair Beautifully and Ends Dandruff
Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair, says a well-known local pharmacist. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful and even today this simple preparation has no equal. Millions of women and men too, who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only Sage Tea and Sulphur. Nowadays we are not bothered with the task of gathering the sage leaves and the mussy mixing at home. Simply ask at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of the ready to use preparation, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." Customers like this best because it darkens so naturally; so evenly that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. Besides, it contains ingredients which take off dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. No, it isn't a dye or even like it. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush, with "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur" and draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning; the gray hair disappears after another application or two it is restored to its natural color. What delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that besides beautifully darkening the hair they say it brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

Witchita Man Eats Hearty Meal and Then Suffers Hiccoughs and Dies
(By Associated Press.)
Witchita, Feb. 8.—William Burgess, aged 61 years, is dead. He had suffered with hiccoughs four days after eating a hearty dinner.

The Dread of Death.
Granted that it is the will of God that we shall remain on earth and live our appointed lives there, it is essential that mankind should feel the dread of death. Without that dread the world could hardly remain peopled. The dread of death is to the soul what the law of gravity is to the body. It anchors us to the earth. Without that dread to weigh us down and keep us to the globe half mankind would be driven by curiosity, by the love of change, by the dread of ennui, by what Bacon calls "niceness and satiety," to push open the closed door and see what is beyond. Children and a few very happy and easily pleased people might perhaps say they would not explore farther and that they were perfectly content with things as they are.—St. James' Gazette.

ONLY A COLD.

In every household there is a favorite remedy, but, as a matter of fact, no effective cure, for the common and distressing malady known facetiously as "the scourge of the north." Distinguished physicians are much engrossed with more specific and isolated problems: "a cold in the head" counts for nothing. It is only a sneeze. However, this sneeze has been taken into serious consideration by Dr. Kuhn, a German authority, who asserts that "colds" are not usually contracted from other persons, as was recently believed, but that a chill affords to microbes, already in the nostrils, throat or mouth, conditions favorable to their active growth by alteration of cutaneous circulation. It isn't the causation of the "cold" most people seek; it is the cure. And while the eminent scientists are discussing the source of it we must needs fall back upon quinine, hot lemonade, nasal sprays and the old homely remedies of menthol, smelling salts and berry tea. More important still is to keep warm, avoid chill and thereby attack the common "cold" at its source and before it has a chance to develop.

The death of a young college professor in Paris from an overdose of morphine administered hypodermically has led to a movement for the rigid administration of the law regulating the sale of morphine. The morphine habit is said to be at its worst among the young women frequenters of the night cafes and dance halls in the Montmartre district and in collegiate circles in the Latin quarter. There is a possibility of the arrest on a charge of homicide of a student of the higher Normal college who is said to have administered the drug to the dead professor. All over the world there is a growing use of so-called habit-forming drugs. To fight it effectively is a problem which seems to be everywhere unsolved.

A Yale professor declares that college men, as a rule, drink too much. He holds the view that a university should rise superior to the vices of the community about it, and set a better example. This is theoretically supposed to be one of the objects of the higher education, but practically young college men are not doing their utmost to carry out this high ideal. The American university and college should stand for a high standard in every respect, and the professor in question is doing good and loyal service in calling attention to the fact.

Despite reports of the continued killing of hunters and guides, under the impression that they were deer, an official statement from the Adirondacks is that 7,354 deer were killed in that region, and not a single guide or fellow hunter. Deduce as suits your taste whether this implies better aim or worse.

Deer hunting is no enterprise to be undertaken in partnership with your pet enemy.

When trying to put out an incipient fire keep perfectly cool.

Winter doubtless has plenty more at home like this.

The Easiest Task.

Loafing Would Stimulate Genius In America

By HENRY CARO DELVILLE, Noted French Painter

WHEN AMERICA BEGINS TO HAVE A LARGE LEISURE CLASS THEN IT WILL PRODUCE ART AND LITERATURE TO ASTOUND THE WORLD.

I believe that America will duplicate on a grander scale the history of Venice. Venice, it will be remembered, had no art until it had a perfected material civilization, leaving the citizens TIME FOR REFLECTION.

Most of the American artists are too hurried. They TRY TO PRODUCE TOO MUCH, whereas the masters of antiquity passed many hours in just LOAFING, CHATTING AND MEDITATING. Even in your own literature the rule holds. Thoreau and Walt Whitman were splendid loafers, and yet they produced works which are enduring monuments.

A ROYAL INSULT.

Lord Brougham Bided His Time and Repaid George IV.

With all of his knowledge and talent Lord Brougham was eccentric and slovenly in his personal habits. While he was a young and comparatively unknown barrister he was asked to a dinner at which the prince regent presided. Mr. Brougham's hands needed washing. The regent's keen eyes rested on them. He beckoned to a waiter and gave him an order which the man heard with a scared face, and then going out he speedily returned with a ewer full of water, soap and a towel.

He carried them to Brougham, presenting them with the prince regent's compliments. The barrister instantly withdrew and never afterward referred to the insult.

Years later, when the prince, now king, tried to divorce his wife, Brougham as her defender so vehemently sustained her cause that she triumphed. The king's name was not mentioned during the trial, though the nation knew that he was secretly the prosecutor. Brougham in his speech declared that he saw "in the distance the nameless persecutor of his innocent client, quoting with terrific effect Milton's words:

The other shape,
If shape it might be called,  black it stood as night,
Fierce as ten furies, terrible as hell,
And shook a dreadful dart; what seem'd his head.

The likeness of a kingly crown had on.
George IV felt seriously this savage attack. The nation sided with the queen, and her husband paid the debt with interest.

Dr. Johnson and Tea.

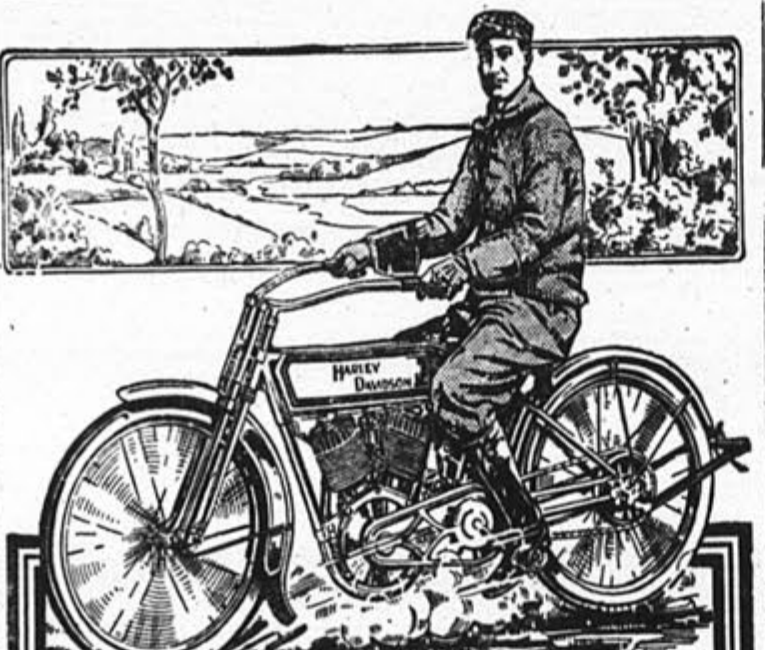

Jonas Hauway was an inveterate foe to tea and wrote a pamphlet in which he ascribed the majority of nervous disorders to tea drinking. He declared that the practice was sapping the vigor of Englishmen and spoiling the beauty of women and expressed horror at the fact that no fewer than six ships were employed in the China tea trade. Dr. Johnson, who reviewed Hauway's diatribe in the Literary Magazine, prefaced his criticism with the frank avowal. "The author is to expect little justice from a hardened and shameless tea drinker, whose kettle has scarcely time to cool, who with tea amuses the evening, with tea solaces the midnight and with tea greets the morning," but even he admitted that tea drinking was not good for the working classes, as he thought it an inducement to idleness. —London Chronicle.

More Than Was Asked.

The old tombstone, in the quaint fashion of its kind, implored the passer-by to pause and drop a tear, and no sooner had the beautiful girl read the inscription than she began to weep. But her mother reproved her. "Cecilia," she exclaimed, "why can you not have more restraint? You are requested merely to drop a tear, and here you have burst into several!" —Puck.

Comforting.

Wife—Why did you tell the Ratsons that you married me because I was such a good cook, when you know I can't even boil a potato, fry a ham, and I didn't know what else to say? —London Chronicle

The Greatest Harley-Davidson

Eight Honest Horsepower.

HARLEY-DAVIDSON

without question is the fastest machine on the road today.

Its exceptional speed has been obtained in a measure through the use of large intake and exhaust chambers and passages; and pistons, connecting rods and fly wheels individually and collectively in perfect balance. And this speed comes without sacrificing one atom of Harley-Davidson reliability or endurance. In fact the decreased vibration, due to more perfect balance of the vital parts has actually increased the life of the motor.

The Ful-Flotcing Seat which does away with all jolts and jars due to rough roads, and the Free-Wheel Control, a device which permits starting without the usual hard pedaling or running alongside are incorporated in all models.

Both of these features are patented and are to be found only on the Harley-Davidson.

WHISTLING BUOYS

They Are Simple In Principle and Certain In Operation.

PLAYTHINGS OF THE WAVES.

The Rise and Fall of the Water Gives Birth to Their Penetrating Shrieks. Placing and Removing Them Are Tasks Fraught With Deadly Peril.

Sea travelers up and down our coast lines often hear a strange, weird sound to port or starboard, a sort of compound of moan and shriek, at once soft and insistent, subdued and penetrating. It is the call of the whistling buoy to the man at the helm, warning him of shoal or dangerous place.

These whistling buoys, which are enormous masses of iron, often weighing several tons, are as simple in principle as they are certain in operation. The buoy proper consists of a huge pear shaped bulb, little end up, on top of which is a powerful whistle, protected from accidental blow or collision by a framework of iron bars, and an air intake. Below and projecting far down into the water is an open tube of metal. The whole thing is secured in position with an anchor and a chain, which last is long enough for the depth of the water in which the buoy is placed to permit the free movement of the mass up and down.

When a wave lifts the buoy up in the air the water in the tube, acting as a piston, sucks in air through the intake. It is confined in the bulb of the buoy by a simple valve which prevents its egress through the intake. When the waves drop the buoy in the trough of the waves the water in the tube presses up on the confined air and compresses it. It finds exit through the whistle, which thus sounds its warning note.

It might be supposed that, having no mechanism but a valve, such buoys, once put in position, could be left there for an indefinite period of time. But the sea has strange ways with her playthings, and even if the necessity of constant painting of the buoy to protect it from the action of sea water were not existent it would still be necessary to keep a watch on these signals and to take them up and replace them rather often, for the big tube projecting down into the water is a great attraction to barnacles and seaweed, and not infrequently these marine growths so interfere with the action of the buoy and to dim its voice in bad weather.

It then becomes necessary to "work" a new whistler in position, which is a regular part of the duty of a lighthouse tender or buoy tender, of which vessels there are many in the service.

When a buoy is to be "worked" the tender repairs to a yard or station and by means of her crane lifts on deck the freshly painted and thoroughly repaired new buoy which is to replace that one which is either silent or which has served its allotted time and is now due for replacement.

There is nothing difficult about this. It is getting the enormously large and unwieldy mass of iron overboard and taking on board the one which is in the water which causes the difficulty. The very waves which are necessary to the successful operation of the buoy make it hard to manage at the end of a crane on board a comparatively small vessel.

When a buoy tender goes to "work" a whistler she clears her deck of everything else but the buoy, which is secured with chocks and chains against the roll of the vessel. The old buoy is approached cautiously, within a couple of hundred feet, and the new buoy is allowed to slide overboard rather than picked up and placed in the water, the crew guiding it by guy ropes, while the powerful crane lifts just enough to permit the buoy to move. With the vessel slowly rolling from side to side on the slow seas of even a quiet day—the good days are purposely picked for this work—the mass of freshly painted iron with its long tube presents potentialities for evil which must be closely watched. Let the buoy but get clear of the deck and the fall tackle get jammed and there would come into being a three ton pendulum with an iron fall thirty-six feet long, capable of smashing the boat to bits and certainly of sweeping broken bodied men about the deck with no more effort than if they were so many flies.

But, if letting the new buoy overboard is that serious work, hauling the old one in is more so. The buoy is first secured by good seamanship, nailing the steam vessel, with a rope through the iron eye at its top. Working from this, ropes, chains and "springs" or heavy cables are brought into play and the whole very cautiously lifted and secured as it comes over the side. It is allowed to swing free not at all, save perhaps for an instant, just as it is laid flat on the deck, and then, apparently in the very face of death, a dozen men spring at the mass, ready to swing with the waves and to demolish them and thrust huge billets of wood underneath its sides to hold it long enough for lashings to make it secure. The boat being belayed to the anchor chain then cautiously back-ways to raise the anchor, and there is a general scampering away from the cable while this is being done, as should it break it would be like having a couple of cannon balls coming tearing along the deck.

However, so skillful are these handlers of heavy masses of iron on an unstable keel that it is rare that an accident happens. C. H. Cloudy in Set outfit American.

Seasonable weather now prevails over most portions of the country although it is still rather cold over some upper Rocky Mountain and Plains states. Reports of precipitation since yesterday morning show about the same conditions as prevailed during the preceding 24 hours, viz., snow flurries over scattered portions of the Lakes and rains and snows throughout the southern tier of states. Fair weather with moderate temperature is indicated for this vicinity tonight and Sunday.

To Cultivate Longevity. "I have been a great interest in longevity and its secrets," said a physician, "and the signs of long life and of short life are as true today as they ever were. You won't live long if you have a thin nose, a thin hair, a thin skin, a thin chest, a thin neck, a thin mouth, a thin ear, and a thin eye. Your life, by the way, will be very long if you have a thick nose, a thick hair, a thick skin, a thick chest, a thick mouth, a thick ear, and a thick eye."

Obligation Both Ways. "Some of those pictures are genuine old masters," said Mr. Cumroy. "Of course you are very proud of them." "Yes, and I have no doubt the masters would have considerable respect for me if they knew what I paid for them." —Washington Star

RAILROADS CONTROL THE LAKE BOAT LINES

No Real Competition in the Through Freight Traffic is Report of Commissioner Conant.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 6.—The extent to which traffic of the great lakes is controlled by the steel trust and the railroads is shown in a report on the control of water carriers by railroads and shipping consolidations, prepared by Commissioner of Corporations Luther Conant, Jr.

"Control of through passenger and package freight water traffic by railroads is marked in the case of the great lakes," says Commissioner Conant. "All of the important through packet lines operating on the lakes between Buffalo and Duluth are controlled by railroads. In fact, in the through package freight business the domination of the railroad controlled lines is so complete that it may be said that real competition scarcely exists in this traffic."

Independent lines appear only in the case of local traffic, according to the report.

"By far the largest shipping consolidation on the Great Lakes is the Pittsburg Steamship company, a subsidiary of the United States Steel corporation," says the report. "It is a merger of five important ore fleets, namely, those of the Bessemer Steamship company, Minnesota Steamship company, Pittsburg Steamship company, Old American Steamship company and the National Steel company.

"The capital stock of the company is $7,880,000, of which $7,658,300 is owned by the Carnegie Steel company of New Jersey, one of the constituent concerns of the steel corporation, the remainder is owned directly by the steel corporation itself."

The report gives the Gilchrist Transportation company, with forty-nine steamers and one barge, as the next largest ore carrier. Then comes the Great Lakes Steamship company, with twenty-one modern steamers engaged in carrying ore, grain and coal.

"Besides consolidations effected through stock ownership there are many instances of the great lakes where a number of steamships have been brought under a common management. Some of these managements appear to be merely ship brokers' lists," says the report.

FLINT'S LETTER

The action of copper stocks this morning showed that the Producers association report of yesterday was practically discounted in the break of prices during the week. While today's market was dull the undertone was strong especially in New York where Amalgamated gained three quarters of a point. The uncertainty at the present time in the copper situation has led a good many traders to invest in the silver and gold stocks and these stocks are quite strong as a consequence. When we take into consideration the fact that the best silver stocks have been consistent dividend payers in the past five years and are now selling upon a basis that will net the investor anywhere from ten to thirty per cent, we cannot wonder that investors are looking to that form of collateral.
