At St. Anne's church at eight o'clock this morning Miss Louise Derosier, the daughter of Mrs. Alfred Derosier and Homer Pouliot, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Pouliot, were united in marriage by Father Marreau.

She was attended by Miss Lucy Trotter who was attired in a gown of pink wool crepe and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The bridegroom was attended by Fred Derosier, a brother of the bride. The ceremony was witnessed by a number of the friends of the young people and at its conclusion the newlyweds were driven to the Pouliot home. The marriage in which they rode was carefully decorated for the occasion.

Friends had tacked on the back a large card bearing the words "We have just been married," while a dove pipe, old shoes, etc., adorned the top of the carriage. A wedding breakfast and dinner was served to the wedding party at the Pouliot home and supper will be enjoyed at the home of the bride's mother at 230 North Norris street. POSITION OF U. S. MADE PLAIN

United States Will Not Recede From Demands Already Made Upon the Mexicans

(By Associated Press.)
Washington, D. C., August 26.—President Wilson has postponed until Wednesday the reading of his message on the Mexican situation. The action was taken at the request of Senor Gamboa, the Mexican minister of foreign affairs.

The postponement of the reading of the message indicates that Huerta might withdraw or at least modify his rejection of the proposals submitted.

Under no circumstances will the United States recede from the demands that hostilities shall cease, an armistice declared to permit an early election in which Huerta shall not be a candidate, the agreement of all parties to the result of the election. Huerta's reasons for asking a postponement of the reading of the message are not known.

Lind has returned to Mexico City to resume negotiations.

HE TURNED OFF LIGHTS

Jubilant Jag Followed Patrolman Switching Lights On As Policeman Turned Them Off.

An Escanaba resident who had acquired a joyous jag through long communion with a special brand of laughing booze conceived the notion about eleven o'clock last night that following the patrolman and turning on the string lights across Ludington street as fast as the policeman turned them off, would be a good joke.

He put his idea into execution. The patrolman had proceeded down Ludington street several blocks turning off the lights when he happened to glance up the street. To his amazement he found them all burning. He quietly traced his steps and found the joyous jagger laughing over his joke. STEPHENSON IS REELECTED

GRANT STEPHENSON AGAIN CHOSEN AS COMMANDER OF SECOND BATTALION OF M. N. B.

HIS CHOICE WAS UNANIMOUS

Was Not Named His Staff But It Will Probably Remain as it Now Stands

Grant M. Stephenson, commander of the Second Battalion, Michigan Naval Brigade, made up of Hancock, Escanaba, Traverse City and Marquette divisions, was elected to succeed himself at a meeting held aboard the training ship Yantic. The election was unanimous. Commander Stephenson was chosen to his present office a little more than a year ago, when H. S. Goodell of Painesdale resigned, after serving one year of his second three-year term.

No announcements were made by Commander Stephenson of his selection of staff officers. One of the officers now in service asked the commander, following the meeting, whether it would be advisable that the present officers resign, in order that new appointments might be made. Mr. Stephenson replied, "What's the use of wasting ink?" This is accepted to mean there will be no changes.

Yantic Again in Portage Lake
The Yantic, with the Hancock men and part of the Traverse City division on board, reached Hancock Sunday shortly before noon. The ship tied up at the Wright dock, in West Hancock, where she will likely remain until next summer. It is not likely that even a short cruise will be made again this season, as the entire appropriation of $6,000 allowed for the cruise just ended was expended.

PENINSULA IS THRIVING

DUN'S REVIEW SPREADS BROAD-CAST NEWS OF PROSPEROUS CONDITIONS IN CLOVERLAND

REPORT BOOMS BIG PROSPECTS

Manufacturers Advise That Sales Are Considerably Ahead of Last Year

Dun's Review, the weekly financial paper that circulates throughout the country and extensively abroad, carries in its current issue a special report on business conditions in this section which will be of interest to everybody following the splendid progress that is being made in every line in Cloverland.

The information for the report, covers the entire upper peninsula, was obtained after careful investigation into general conditions in manufacturing, agriculture, whole and retail trade and banking.

Shows Bright Outlook.

The report reads as follows:
The upper peninsula of Michigan and northern Wisconsin is generally speaking in a prosperous condition. Lumber mills report demand for lumber keeping up satisfactorily, maple flooring especially being in brisk request. Manufacturers of paper say that sales are larger than a year ago, but there is not the active buying that usually takes place at this season of the year, due to holding back for lower prices. Knitting and woolen mills report that sales are considerably ahead of last season, collections about normal and everything now indicates that this will be a very good year. Jobbers in groceries and produce note a substantial increase in sales over those of 1912 to date.

"Retail trade in the copper section has suffered considerably from labor troubles and the fact that some three thousand people have left that section since the strike was inaugurated about six weeks ago. Prospects are that this season's crops will break all records and a good fall business is looked for. There is a steady demand for money and the banks are well loaned up."

In view of the fact that Dun's Review goes everywhere, it is not difficult to understand the value of the report to Escanaba and vicinity.

SUMMER SCHOOL CLOSES

The summer school that had been in progress for several weeks in the Swedish Lutheran church came to a close last Friday afternoon. No exercises accompanied the close of the summer school.

EXHIBITS TO BE BEST YET

BUSINESS MEN OF CITY ARRANGING FOR BOOTHS AT THE NORTHERN MICHIGAN FAIR

BOOTHS OPEN ON SEPTEMBER 1

President Strom Urges Mercantile and Manufacturing Exhibitors to Action

The Northern Michigan fair is less than a month away and prospective exhibitors are laying plans for displays during the week.

The business men of the city are entering into the spirit of the exhibition with more vim than ever before and it is a surety that the mercantile and manufacturing exhibits this year will far exceed anything of the kind ever before seen in this section.

In a letter to the mercantile and manufacturing exhibitors in the county T. E. Strom, president of the Delta County Agricultural society says:

"I wish at this time to call your attention to the fact that the Third Annual Northern Michigan State Fair dates are fast approaching, and I should like if you would commence to make arrangements now for the putting in of your exhibits and the decorating of your booths. From September the first we will open the grounds and buildings to exhibitors every day, but should any of the exhibitors wish to go out there prior to that time, they can secure the key from myself or the secretary Mr. S. Petersen.

We want to make this fair—the biggest we have had, because we want it to impress the people of the county in such a way that when come to vote for bonding the county to get us the money to fully equip our present grounds or purchase and equip new ones, the general satisfaction will be so strong that the proposition will carry by a large majority. We thank you for your cooperation in the past, and we trust that you will make every reasonable effort to be with us again this fall to demonstrate that as our county is first in agriculture, so is our county foremost and alive in mercantile and manufacturing lines."

CRYSTAL FALLS WON FROM ESCANABA NINE

Nolden Pitched Good Ball But Home Aggregation Won by Score of 4 to 2

The Crystal Falls baseball team partially retried the double defeat suffered at the hands of the Escanaba aggregation two weeks ago when on Sunday they won from the Sandy City nine by a score of four to two.

The game was staged at Crystal Falls as were the two former contests. Nolden was on the rubber for Escanaba and although he pitched good ball the inability of the Escanaba batsmen to connect with the Falls twirler's benders spelled defeat. The Sandy City batsmen connected for four bingles while the Falls sluggers hammered out twice that number. The locals are counting on a three game series to begin next Saturday at South Park and are confident of annexing at least two of the games.

D., 1913, Leslie Schram, an infant about ten years old, in the afternoon of said day, about the hour of 8:30 p. m., at a point on the north side of Escanaba avenue, opposite the public school house known as the Washington school in block number Three (3) of the Smith-Dunlap Addition to the City of Escanaba, and about one hundred and fifty (150) feet from the northwest corner of said block, and about fifteen (15) feet from the outer edge of the sidewalk at that point, was seriously injured, hurt and disabled, by stepping into an excavation or ditch which was being made for the purpose of laying sewer pipes or gas pipes, without any fault on his part, while lawfully passing over said street; said excavation or ditch was entirely unguarded, there being no railing, barriers or other device to prevent or hinder people upon said street from falling into said hole, and there was no light near or about said ditch to warn people of the danger, and that the circumstances of said injury were as follows:

The City of Escanaba had for two weeks and upwards previous to the said injury, been excavating and digging a ditch or trench on the north side of Escanaba avenue, and had reached a point as above described, and where the injury was received, on the afternoon of the 25th day of July, 1913, and its existence was known or should have been known to the City authorities.

While said infant was passing over said street in the evening of said day about the hour of 8:30 o'clock p. m., in a southerly direction, moving at an ordinary pace without seeing said excavation or ditch in the street, and ignorant of the existence of said ditch or excavation, entirely unaware of the dangers and while carefully and prudently playing along and upon said street, stepped and fell into said ditch or excavation; that said ditch was about two and one-half (2 1/2) feet wide, two (2) feet deep and about twenty (20) feet in length, or thereabouts, and his right limb on knee cap and joint came in contact with some glass, and the said leg was, in and about the knee, greatly injured, bruised, contused, lacerated and cut at a length of about six inches and that the back and right arm of said infant was permanently bruised, strained and injured by and through the said unguarded and unlighted ditch or excavation, and the fall of the said infant as a result thereof.

You are further notified that when injured, the following persons were present. Martin Magnuson and Raymond Magnuson, who reside in the City of Escanaba.

And you are further notified that said injury resulted in, among other things, confining the said Leslie Schram to bed for a considerable space of time, to-wit, fifteen (15) days, and made it necessary to have the services of a physician and nurse in and about nursing, caring for and establishing a cure of said injuries, the effects of which still continue and are likely to continue for a considerable length of time.

As a further result of said injury, the father of said infant has been subject to considerable expenses for physicians bills and for nursing and medicines, badges and other appliances.

On account of all which injuries, bruises, wounds and contusions, and the costs and expenses and charges aforesaid, the pain, suffering and general effects to said injured infant, damages are claimed by him and his guardian from the City of Escanaba, to the amount of Two Thousand ($2,000.00) dollars, and you are notified that he intends to hold the City liable for said damages which have been so sustained by him.

The Low Man of Legend is trying to revive the old fashion of apprenticeship and while he shows he knows what he is talking about when he says that many boys are ruined by the lack of some trade, still many parents say that after making great sacrifices to keep their boys four or five years learning a trade, they find that once the boys have served their time their masters have no further employment for them.

OUR BOYS and GIRLS

ELEPHANT NURSE.

Wonderful Faithfulness and Fidelity of the Great Creature.

One year when my husband was at a station in Bengal, says a writer, his work kept him out nearly all day and, being ill, I used to lie for hours in a long garden chair on the veranda, too weak to read or to enjoy any more exciting amusement than my eyes supplied to me.

We had three elephants for our tents and baggage; and one used to feed from my hands every day, and seemed as gentle as any dog or cat.

One of our government chaprasis was particularly devoted to her, and invariably shared his meal of fruit or flour-cakes with his dumb friend. On a particularly hot day, the chaprasi, to my surprise, placed his little child of six months at the elephant's feet, warning her expressively that the infant was in her charge, and was to be cared for till his return.

I was an eye-witness of her wonderful sagacity. Large banana-trees and fig-trees grew around, and, to my surprise, the elephant broke off one of the former's spreading leaves, held it like a fan in her trunk, and from time to time gracefully waved it over the slumbering child, whether to temper the heat of the atmosphere or to keep off flies, I am unable to say. The gentle way in which she moved her feet over the child, and across to each side, astonished me. I sent for a white loaf and some oranges, and calling her by name (she was never chained), tried in vain to tempt her to my side on the veranda. Nothing would induce her to leave her charge.

The warm air and the monotonous wave of the swinging fan overpowered me with drowsiness, to which I yielded; and, after a sleep of some duration, I was awakened by quiet, subdued snorts beside me. To my surprise, I found that the chaprasi had just returned to his offspring, and that the elephant stood near the veranda beside me, patiently waiting and gently asking for the tempting dainties so bravely withstood for more than two hours.

Keeping Birds from Cherry Trees.

Disgusted over the depredations of the birds in the cherry trees Mrs. Samuel Rhinard of Summer Hill, Columbia county, suggested to her husband that he place a bell to one of the trees and attach a rope to it.

Now she sits in the house and whenever the birds appear gives the rope a pull and, ringing the bell, frightens the birds away.

Then Sparks Flw in Earnest.

Florida Roads.

In certain districts of Florida excellent highways are made by covering sandy roads once a year with the leaves of the long-leaved pine.

The Jokes of the Sea.

The rays and skates are the jokes of the sea. Their bodies are as flat as the pancakes made by the man in white on a griddle in the window of a "beef-and" restaurant. Their eyes look upward and they have tails as slender and tapering as a whip of a ringmaster of a circus.

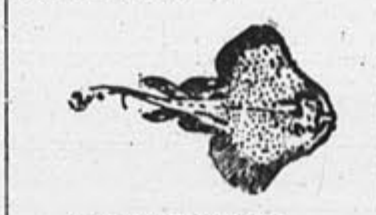

In the United States the most common rays are called "skates." The whip-tailed rays, because of their long, slender tails with their erectile spines at the end, capable of inflicting severe and dangerous wounds, are frequently called sting-rays. The common sting-ray feeds on oysters, clams and other valuable mollusks and in the Atlantic waters is known as the "clam-cracker."

Of the skates, the commonest as well as the smallest species on the Atlantic coast is known as the tobacco-box; the largest is aptly called the barn-door. On the Western coast of the United States is found the big skate, which reaches a length of six feet, two feet larger than its Eastern relatives.

COMMON SKATE.

Because of its habit of rolling itself up when caught the common skate has been called "bonnet skate." It is also known as the "hedgehog ray."

On the New Jersey coast the trawl fishermen cut off the broad, fleshy "wings," and they are sold for "saddles," sometimes bringing five and even ten cents a pound. These men call the fish "possum," "sea possum," and "bob-tailed skate." As a rule anglers throw the fish back into the water as being of no value.

A Valuable Invention.

An industrial novelty of exceptional interest is a new substance, "cellite"—so named by its inventor, Dr. A. Elchengrun Elberfeld, who described it in a recent lecture delivered before a scientific association at Dusseldorf. While resembling celluloid in some respects, it is distinguished in being non-combustible. Moreover, it is available not only for the manufacture of hard-finished articles of all descriptions, but for elastic utensils. In all cases the things made of cellite are transparent as glass, not breakable, and not affected by water. The inventor is convinced that cellite will be substituted in many cases for glass, gelatine, celluloid, leather, and rubber. First, however, means must be found for reducing its cost.

In Afghanistan.

The primitive "eye for an eye" code would still seem to be in force in Afghanistan, where the Amir threatens to tear out the tongue of every one of his subjects who shall preach war against India, and cut off the feet of every one who shall cross the frontier. Trust promoters in Afghanistan are probably strangled.

Germany's colonies are five times as big as herself, those of France, 18 times, and Britain 97 times bigger than herself.

BENEFITS OF YAWNING.

It is the Most Natural Means for Strengthening Respiratory Organs.

Dr. Emil Bunsel of Vienna, Austria, in speaking of diseases of the throat and remedies, said that yawning has its great value. Yawning has recently been recommended, "independently as a valuable exercise for the respiratory organs." "According to Dr. Usagil of the University of Luetich," said Dr. Bunsel, "yawning brings all the respiratory muscles of the chest and throat into action, and is, therefore, the best and most natural means of strengthening them. He advises everybody to yawn as deeply as possible, with arms outstretched, in order to change completely the air in the lungs and stimulate respiration. In many cases he has found the practice to relieve the difficulty in swallowing and disturbance of the sense of hearing that accompany catarrh of the throat. The patient is induced to yawn through suggestion, imitation of a preliminary exercise in deep breathing. Each treatment consists of from six to eight yawns, each followed by the operation of swallowing. It should be added, however, that it is quite possible for deep breathing to be overdone, particularly by persons with weak hearts, and it is at least open to question whether the obstacles to free respiration, which the yawning cure is alleged to remove, are not useful in preventing the entrance of germs and other foreign bodies.

Could Close Only One Eye.

A West Philadelphia dentist had a visitor yesterday with a tooth which, he said, was putting him in an early grave. He requested the immediate removal of the troublesome molar and said he didn't wish the dentist to hurt him.

The dentist suggested that the man take gas and the man agreed.

"Now," said the tooth puller, as he held the stiff apparatus, "very gently—very gently. One, two, three; you'll be off long before I've counted twelve—four, five, six—slowly the patient closed one eye—"no larks, now—seven, eight"—one eye only was closed—"nine, ten."

The tooth tigger raised his forceps, but still the patient regarded him placidly out of a single optic.

"Eleven—Hi! I'll have to give you a double dose!" roared the dentist, "losing all patience. "Shut that eye!" "Can't," murmured the drowsy patient, on the verge of sleep. "It's glass!"

An Apache Love Dance.

A dance that will end at sunset tomorrow is being for the heart and hand of Lena Ketzera, a fourteen-year-old Apache maid. When the intermissions are called the contending bucks drop to the ground outside the blazing fire line.

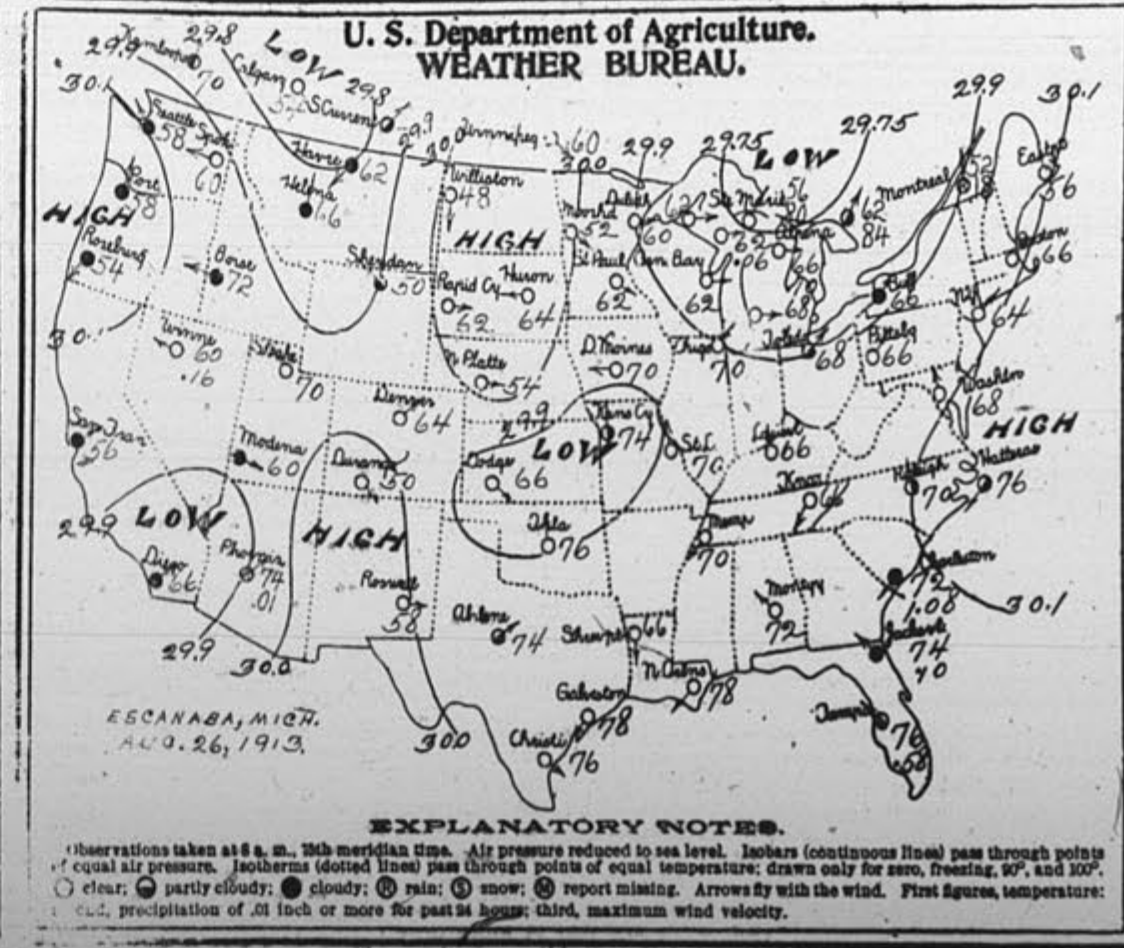

Their breathing may be heard a great distance as they gasp for fresh air. The dance now on is the fiercest ever undergone by the Apaches to show their endurance and thereby win favor with Lena. The men are bedecked with paint and prong horned headgear; and the girls wear beautiful buckskin gowns. Lena is wearing the elaborate buckskin gown of Jane, daughter of Chief Nache—Kansas City Star.

Railways in Holland.

Of the railways in Holland, E. V. Lucas writes: "The trains come in to the minute and go out to the minute. The officials are intelligent and polite. The carriages are good. Every station has its waiting room, where you may sit and read and drink a cup of coffee that is not only hot and fresh, but is recognizably the product of the berry. It is impossible to travel in the wrong train."

Entertaining Mother.

One of the Appleton girls, who has nine children, comes home every spring and stays with her mother all summer, and in the winter lets several of the children stay with their grandmother. "I don't want mother to ever know the horrors of Lonesome Land," she explains.

MAN SHOULD WHISTLE.

If a man whistles while at his work, it may comfort him to know that modern psychology is against those, his co-workers, who object to the practice. For a man's whistle is the safety valve of his happiness. If a man be happy and inclined to whistle, but for some doubtful conventional reason refrains, he injures himself by just so many notes of praise confined in his head, silently vitiating his joy. The objector does not think of the whistler as being happy, but as whistling. He objects to the noise. In this he is narrowly at fault. Let him change his mind and suffer no more the pangs of outrage. Let him say of the whistle, "That is a sound of happiness which I am not happy enough to make, but I am glad that chap is." Every time he says "I am glad" he will have a little more reason to be. Every time he thinks of whistling as not trifling, he will dislike it less. Every time he concentrates on his own work he will know less of what his associates are doing with their time, and care less, and accomplish more, and be more worthy to ask silence if he happens at any time to be beset by a "fit of nerves."

Rubens came to Spain on a diplomatic mission and while there became an intimate friend of Velasquez. The Prado is therefore one of the museums that has most of his pictures. There are also splendid Van Dycks and hundreds of Teniers, the majority left here by David Teniers himself when he was knighted by Philip IV. At the Prado is also Durer's immortal portrait of himself. The room on the ground floor known as the Alfonso XIII. salon, after the present king's father, who created it, is devoted to "primitive" painters of all schools. It is so rich that to describe it completely a volume would be necessary, says the New York Herald. Mention must, however, be made of Fra Angelico's "Annunciation" and a small "Christ on the Cross." Though a Van der Weyden of undoubted authenticity, it is signed by Albert Durer, with an exact reproduction of Durer's monogram.

Complaint is being made that boys enter watermelon patches and carry off half-ripe melons, throwing them away and causing a great waste. Normangee (Texas) Star. That's what comes of ignoring the lesson of scientific management. Under scientific management the boys would wait until the melons were ripe.

An eminent English authority says that men under favorable conditions are at their best from sixty-five to seventy-five, and that the most favorable of the conditions for keeping young is hard work. As the contrary Darwinian theory failed, it might be as well for this newer one to be as thoroughly tested.

The world will never rest satisfied until the man who tells a suffering and over-heated public to keep cool in "ninety-and" temperatures and not to worry over anything from smallpox next door to war in the Balkans, falls into the retributive clutches of the fool-killer.

BROTHERLY LOVE NOT FOUND IN LEAGUE BASEBALL.

Brotherly love cuts no figure in baseball. When Hal Williams, the New York Americans' first baseman, ranned a three bagger to left in the second inning of a recent game with St. Louis, his brother, Gus, playing right field for the Browns, probably felt happy. But when Sweeney sent a fly to Brother Gus the next moment the letter, after making the catch, threw the ball with all his strength to the catcher to head off Brother Hal at the plate.

Hal just got there on a close decision, but Gus was not to blame, for he had done his best to retire his young brother.

HUGGINS AS SCOUT.

Manager of St. Louis Cardinals Does Own Player Hunting.

Miller Huggins, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, has adopted a system which it would be well for some managers to follow.

Having a team which is sadly in need of strengthening, Huggins has started on a scouting tour through the minors in search of material. Inasmuch as it is up to him to select the players which the scouts bring in, Huggins has concluded that money and time can be saved and better results attained if he goes out himself and looks over the material which is available, thus avoiding getting players he cannot use.

With his team down in the race, Huggins can well be spared to scout, for he, like many others, must figure out the future, for their chances in the present race are long since passed.

Record For Consecutive Bullsyes. At Wakefield, Mass., all records for consecutive bullsyes at 800 yards were smashed in the ninth annual meeting of the New England Military Rifleman's association, when Captain Stuart W. Wise of the Bay State team made 108 perfect shots.

For an hour and a half Captain Wise lay prone on the firing lines, sending shot after shot into the innermost disc of the target with unerring accuracy. Nearly every shot struck the disc exactly in the center. The previous record for consecutive bullsyes at 800 yards was 57, made by J. W. Hewman of New York at Sea Girt, N. J., last year.

This event, known as the "crack match," was the closing feature of the first day of the shoot. Captain Wise won the first prize.

Leifield Released.

"Lefty" Leifield, once great pitcher of the Pittsburgh Pirates, who was traded to the Cubs last fall, has now been shunted to the minors. He was released by Chicago to the Atlanta club of the Southern association. The Cubs also released Bob Craig, the former college player, to Terre Haute.

HAS A RABBIT PLAGUE.

Hold Cottontails Destroy Crops on California Ranches.

San Francisco, Cal.—Jack rabbits are said to be so numerous in the Antelope valley of California that the ranchmen are in despair. The animals are becoming so fierce that they are actually breaking down the fences around the adjacent fields and eating crops down to the roots. Not content with this, they are swarming into the desert towns and invading front yards of the dwellers.

Citizens of Lancaster turned out recently and made a round-up. They put up a fence across the road between fences surrounding fields on each side and in short time drove in and killed with clubs five hundred jack rabbits.

EAGLE KILLS A SHARK.

Ship's Crew Witness Desperate Fight in Chesapeake Bay.

Baltimore.—A remarkable combat between a large eagle and a shark was witnessed recently by Captain Henderson and the crew of the steamer Tangier in Chesapeake Bay. When coming out of Occoanock Creek they saw the eagle dive and come to the surface with a shark. Then followed a fierce struggle, the shark pulling the eagle under the water until it was almost exhausted. The fish was finally killed and floated dead on the water.

Members of the steamer's crew put off in a small boat and captured the eagle, although it clawed them repeatedly and its mate, hovering close by, tried to attack them.

Shot an Albino Squirrel.

Marquette, Mich.—While hunting near Grand Marais, Gustav Herbert shot and killed an albino squirrel. It has been presented to James Cairns, of Grand Marais, and will be mounted. Albino deer are occasionally killed in upper Michigan, but this is the first time of which there is record that a white squirrel has been bagged.

THE NIGHT RIDERS AIDED KENTUCKY

Original Organization Did Away with Toll Gates and Brought About Good Roads.

COMPANIES DISOBEYED THE LAW

Crimes Committed Now Are by Gangs Hiding Behind Name of Old Association Which Caused the Abolishment of the Turnpike Companies.

Louisville, Ky.—There has not been, it is said, a crime of mob violence committed in this State, in Tennessee, or, in fact, in any of the Southern States or in any of the Middle Western States in the past several years, with the exception of the occasional lynching of a negro by a mob, that has not been shouldered on the Night Riders.

The Night Riders were an organized body back in 1900, when the State Legislature passed a law doing away with private ownership of State roads. For months the turnpike corporations refused to obey the State laws. They appealed to the State Supreme Court, then to the Court of Appeals, and lastly to the United States Supreme Court, and on each appeal they would get a stay, which made it possible for them to continue running their toll gates and charging two cents a mile for every horse or vehicle that passed over their property.

Because of the law's delay the condition of the roads became impossible. The owners of the turnpikes would not expend one cent for improvements as long as there was question of their losing their property by a final court decision but they did not cease to mult travelers. All this while they refused to accept the fair price offered by the State for their roads.

It was then that the Night Riders were organized. The organization spread from Shelby County to every part of the State, and one night in the late fall men rode from their homes and began burning toll gates. There is no record of a toll gate keeper being injured unless he showed resistance. Then he was taken from the house, and if he continued to be defiant he was fogged. In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred the toll gate keeper was glad to give up his job and let the gate burn.

Night Riders undoubtedly brought the turnpike corporations to terms. There was not a toll gate left standing in the State of Kentucky by the following spring. Had the taxpayers and farmers been contented to allow the law to take its never ending course the chances are that toll gates would still be holding up travellers on the State roads to-day, and that the roads would have been worse now than they were when the Night Riders became organized.

The Kentucky roads now are among the best in the United States. There are not millions of dollars of watered stock on which to pay interest, and the State tax has improved them and even made it possible for almost all of them to be sprinkled with oil during the summer season, thus laying the dust.

The success of the Night Riders in the war against toll gates led to an organization of a similar character when the fight was waged against the American Tobacco Company. But out of this last organization there grew a body of violent men, who live on excitement and thrive on lawlessness. Then sprang up, too, lawless bodies of men in many of the Southern and Middle Western States, who chose to call themselves Night Riders, though the probabilities are that 99 per cent. of the men didn't own so much as a horse to ride.

If a list of the original body of Night Riders could be had the chances are that the names of many men who figured in the operations of the old Ku-Klux gang would be found; and if this list were sifted down it would show that many property-owners and men of prominence had resorted to violence because of their belief that action was their only safeguard against ruin, and that a defiance of law had to be met by a like defiance.

Asphalt a Difficult Cargo.

The barkentine Allenwild is unloading asphalt from Trinidad at the wharf foot of South Capitol street. Vessel masters state that asphalt is a mean cargo to carry.

It is taken out of the asphalt lakes at Trinidad in a semi-fluid state and coming north it hardens so that to unload it it is necessary for men to get into the hold with pick and shovel to get it in shape for sending ashore. This takes time and a vessel carrying cargoes of the material always prepares for a stay in port of considerable length while discharging cargoes.

PETE, TAME MUSKRAT IS DEAD.

Careless Gunner Shoots Strange Pet of Farmer's Family.

Swinefield, N. J.—Wounded fatally by a gunner who had obtained permission to hunt for game on the farm, Pete, a tame muskrat, for five years the chief attraction of Charles Waters's place, crawled from a brook to the feet of his master, looked at him piteously and pleadingly and then died. Instantly there was a rage in the heart of Waters. He ran to the back of the barn and saw the slayer of his pet running across the fields toward Caldwell. When the news of the death of the rodent was communicated to the other members of the Waters family they denounced the shooting as "deliberate murder." Even old Rover, the family dog, dropped his ears when he saw the bleeding body of his playmate, and the cats, which had so many good times sporting with the muskrat in the barnyard and down by the brook at the back of the barn, seemed to understand that some one had committed a crime which never could be repaired. Knowing the muskrat's feeding ground was back of the barn, Waters had expressly stipulated that the gunner should not do any shooting there. If that injunction had been obeyed Pete probably would be alive and well now.

In the spring of 1903 the home of Pete's parents was invaded and he and four other young muskrats were found there. Waters was attracted to Pete and decided to let him live. The others were killed. Pete became a pet in the Waters family. He manifested his appreciation of kindness by becoming as tame and as playful as a kitten. From the hands of members of the family he ate pieces of tender cabbage, lettuce and celery. He seemed to know he never must touch that growing in the garden. Each day he would go to the brook at the back of the barn and dig up and eat flag root and other water lilies, of which he was exceedingly fond. When he got old enough he built a house near the barn and stored therein his winter supply of lily and roots. With the approach of winter Pete would retire to his home and only emerge from it on particular warm days. He would spend an hour or two in the house and then return to his snug winter quarters. The sagacious animal was engaged in getting sticks and grass with which to repair his home when he was shot. Although suffering mortal agony he immediately began crawling along the ground to find the man who had been kind to him ever since he was a fuzzy little baby rat.

HYPNOTISM AS ANAESTHETIC.

Boy's Hip Put Back in Its Socket Without Giving Him Pain.

Philadelphia.—Hypnotism was brought into play recently in the Habnemann Hospital as an anaesthetic. The patient, six-year-old Clark Bender of No. 1112 Spring street, underwent the painful operation of having his dislocated hip put back into its socket without uttering a whimper.

To Ray Murray, an orderly in the hospital, belongs the credit of making the operation painless. When the boy was carried into the hospital by his grandfather, Samuel Edward, the old man objected to an anaesthetic being used, even when the doctors said that the boy was suffering from a dislocated hip and that the operation of replacing the bone, although simple, would cause the boy excruciating pain.

When the doctors and the grandfather were arguing the matter, Murray, who has read numerous books on hypnotism and has practiced the art on many employees of the hospital, said: "Leave it to me, and I will fix the boy so that he won't feel any pain." The orderly made a few passes with the hand over the youngster's face, and the child passed into a deep slumber. The hip was then put in place.

Beyond the Last.

It has often struck me as a curious thing that in all the countries I have inhabited shoemakers should generally have been Socialists, says a writer in the Nineteenth Century.

What, I wondered produced this odd phenomenon? It was hardly to be supposed that souls with a socialistic tendencies incarnate by preference in shoemakers as they could further their views just as well in other walks of life. It therefore became clear to me that there was something in the fact of shoemaking which favors this form of belief. At one time I thought I was on the right track and it was the handling and the smell of leather that did it.

SOLD WITHEFFUSSE.

Transaction 22 Years Old Comes Out in English Court.

London.—Dunmow is a small town in Essex famous for the custom annually observed there of presenting a slice of bacon to a married couple who have not exchanged a cross word for a twelvemonth. This week Dunmow came into prominence for another sort of matrimonial relation. A cottager 70 years of age was on trial on a charge of ill-treating his children. A much younger woman, who was generally supposed to be his wife, testified she was the legal spouse of another man who had sold her for a five-pound note twenty-two years ago to the prisoner, to whom she had in that period borne three children.

Polite "Fighting Bob."

It is said that there is no more tactful, polite and cautious naval officer than "Fighting Bob" Evans. Once in Alexandria his vessel was comfortably anchored in an admirable berth, when the British fleet entered. The flagship signalled to the others that an American ship was occupying the spot which the British Admiral intended for his own ship. Evans, reading these signals through his glass, set his sails reversed and backed out to become the friend of the British Admiral forever after.

BUFFALO BILL RETIRES FROM ACTIVE LIFE
Famous Scout's Show is Sold Under the Hammer Today to Satisfy His Numerous Creditors
Denver, Colo., Aug. 26.—Col. William F. Cody (Buffalo Bill) announces that he has definitely retired from public life. By order of the United States District Court, the property of the Buffalo Bill Wild West and Far East shows were disposed of at public sale in this city to satisfy the claims of creditors. The sale marks the end of Col. Cody's career as a showman. So far as public exhibitions are concerned, he has shot the ashes from the last cigar and chased the last Indian.
Of the hundreds of thousands of young and old who have visited Buffalo Bill's Wild West show during the past quarter of a century, there are probably few who will not feel regret at the announcement that because of financial difficulties the show had had its final "round-up."
Col. Cody has turned his seventieth year. During more than half his life he has been a prominent figure in the public eye. Mule driver, pony express driver, stage driver, scout, soldier hunter, stowman—are a few of the occupations which made his career probably the most picturesque of living men.
Earns His Cognomen.
From the day that his father was killed in a fight that gave "bloody" Kansas its name, William F. Cody was never idle. At the age of 15, already a man in size in strength, he had been herder, messenger and express driver and had won a name as a dead shot and a horseman with few equals.
Under Gen. Albert Sidney Johnston he saw his first Indian fighting. The civil war found him a private in the 7th Kansas Cavalry, an active "Jayhawker" regiment, and for more than 16 years after the close of the war he saw service first as scout and later as chief of scouts, in the Indian wars; His commanders included Gens. Sherman, Sheridan, Miles, Custer, Crook, Ord and Fry—all the famous Indian fighters of the period. It was when he was chief of scouts under General Crook that he won fame by killing in single combat the Indian chief Yellow Hand, knife against tomahawk.
In 1867, he won his title of Buffalo Bill. It was then that a gang of 1200 men were laying the tracks of the Arkansas-Pacific across the plains and were famishing for fresh meat. Cody volunteered to furnish the meat and in 18 months, with his horse Brigham and his favorite breach-loader, "Loretta Borgia," he killed 4,280 bison.
Strats in Show Business.
In the '70s Col. Cody tried acting in a melodrama of the West and it was the success of this which led to the formation of the "Wild West show," "Wild West" with which his FMW PY with which his name has been linked for thirty years. The big show was launched in earnest in 1883. The first performance was given in Madison Square Garden, New York City, when Henry Ward Beecher introduced the famous plainsman and scout to the public. On the first presentation of the show in Washington a few weeks later Gen. Philip Sheridan acted as master of ceremonies, riding in the Deadwood stage coach (in which he had traveled to the Black Hills) accompanied by President Arthur. The army officers attended and the Speaker of the House found it necessary to adjourn on account of a lack of a quorum.
Personal Fortune Unimpaired.
Just how much Col. Cody has left of the millions of dollars he has earned in the show business is problematical. Of late years, the profits have not been so large as formerly. It is said also that the famous old scout has lost considerable sums in poor investments. But those who are in the best position to know declare that the personal fortune of Buffalo Bill is unimpaired by the disasters that have overtaken the show that bears his name. It is generally believed that he is well fixed financially and in no danger of want in his old age.
In talking over this future plans, Buffalo Bill says: "I expect to spend my remaining years in the West. Every cent that I have made in the show business I have invested in this section in developing the arid plains that are now the home lands people with happy American families. I was the first to undertake and successfully accomplish results under the Carey Arip Land Act through irrigation, the locality being the Big Horn Basin. Once I spent $700,000 in digging an irrigation canal before I got a cent returned. In addition to my large land holdings in Colorado, Wyoming, and Nebraska, I possess many valuable mining claims in Arizona."

THE GREAT EVAN WILLIAMS AT PETERSON'S TONIGHT
Escanaba Music Lovers Are to be Given the Treat of Their Lives Tonight
Tonight Evans Williams the great Welsh-American tenor will appear at the Peterson opera house under the direction of Mrs. Clara Bowen Shepard of Milwaukee.
The sale of seats indicates that the opera house will taxed to its capacity evidence to the effect that the people of Escanaba fully realize that a treat that is seldom accorded music lovers residing in a city of this city is to be given them.
Mr. Williams stands first among American tenors and it is hard to conceive that anyone will allow this golden opportunity of hearing him to pass.
In speaking of "Murmuring Zephyra," which Mr. Williams will sing, the critic of the Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin wrote:
"One of the most delightful features of his singing is his enunciation. There is no need to follow the printed text of even a new song—one hears every word—even in covered voice in which he sent every tone on an almost visible sound wave as soft as a Zephyr, to the farthest corner of the hall, he produced an effect never to be forgotten in his singing of Jensen's "Murmuring ephras."

TEMPORARILY INSANE

Man Taken into Custody at Isabella Will Be Kept Here For Cure.

Under Sheriff Adam Henry last night brought Joe Binette of Isabella to the city jail. He was examined this morning and the physicians determined that his insanity was but temporary and he will be kept in the local jail in the hope that he will soon recover.

The man created havoc in Isabella yesterday by chasing everyone he sighted and it is reported that some of the Isabella residents are running yet.

The officer had no difficulty in bringing the man in. "We are going to Wassau to see your brother-in-law," the officer informed Binette and when he walked into the jail here last evening he still thought he was on his way to Wassau.

In order to complete their work as rapidly as possible, the members of the charter commission will hold an all day session on Thursday of this week. They will meet at nine o'clock in the morning and the sessions will continue into the night.

At last night's session, several sections of Chapter V, Chapter VI and Chapter VII were adopted.

Mint Tea for the Nervous.

Mint has many virtues and a few vices. Well washed, the leaves pulled from the stems, lightly mashed and boiling water poured over the results a "mint tea" that is a sovereign remedy for nervous as well as stomach troubles. Served in a thin glass with a dash of sugar and a little lemon it cools and quiets the system generally.

In preparing the mint tea the bowl is to be closely covered until the contents are cool, then strained, poured into a bottle that can be tightly corked and set on ice. When wanted for use it may be poured very fine and a little sugar added; some prefer the tea unsweetened.

Printing and Selling Davaian Stamps

In Bavaria the postal authorities have adopted an ingenious method of printing stamps in strips vertically. They are then placed on little rollers after the manner of saving paper rolls. The object is to save time, and a great deal in stamping a large number of letters it is a success. The same may be said in regard to the retailing of stamps. The roll is hitched to a small hook and the stamp line only is detached from one side instead of as in the case where they are printed in sheets.

But 'twas gossiped about That the food was all out And no bone to the dog could she give; So no one ever knew How the poor creatures managed to live.

It may possibly be That some neighbor did see The straits of old Mother Hubbard, And in pity did take Not a bone, but a steak. To supply the poor empty cupboard.—Washington Star.
