

THAW HURRIED ACROSS THE CANADIAN BORDER

FUGITIVE FROM MATTEAWAN IS HURRIED INTO VERMONT

Fighting Like Madman Thaw is Hauled From Jail at Early Hour and Hurried into the United States

Thaw was seen at the jail at 7 o'clock this morning and was hurried across the Canadian border into Vermont under the guard of deputy superintendant of immigration, Robertson.

Robertson appeared at the Court house at seven o'clock this morning and instructed Thaw to dress and eat his breakfast. Informing him that he was to be taken across the Vermont border, Thaw yelled and screamed that it was a case of kidnapping. When he was rushed out of jail breakfastless he screamed and fought like a madman, grappling with his guards and the immigration clerks. As the officers dragged him down the stairs he grabbed a bottle and hurled it through a window.

Thaw's counsel was taken completely by surprise and admits that he has never heard but doubts the legality of the action, which, it is understood, was done under instructions from the warden of the interior.

In Quebec, Vt.—Thaw was spotted just inside the Vermont border and was found by two newspaper men. He was apparently dazed and did not know what to do when told that the Canadian authorities had taken him free. The reporters took him to the jail for breakfast and then hastened across the Connecticut river with him into New Hampshire. Thaw knew the route perfectly for he had apparently studied it in detail before leaving Matteawan.

Thaw has been heard from he was taken the same road south that he took when he fled north into Canada.

At Cook—the townspeople and officers on both sides are angered at the action of Judge Doherty in issuing the warrant for deportation. Judge said that the authorities had promised to inform him if they changed plans. This they did not do.

Thaw's lawyers call the action a disgrace to Canada. Doherty said he was going to assume all responsibility.

Thaw's Appeal Rejected

Cook—The acting minister of the interior said he had rejected Thaw's appeal from the decision of the immigration board inquiry which upheld the findings of the board ordering deportation immediately. The writ of habeas corpus issued at Montreal enjoined the action of the immigration authorities.

Rearrested Before Noon

Cook, N. H.—Thaw enjoyed hours liberty in northern New Hampshire. Shortly before twelve o'clock he was arrested by Sheriff Holman of Cook County.

An automobile containing Thaw reached a rural school house where the sheriff's auto appeared. The sheriff raised his hands and Thaw fled the chauffeur to stop. He went to the sheriff's car without a warrant. The officer had no warrant, all returned to Colebrook and Thaw was taken to the office of Thaw Johnson, an attorney who was retained by Thaw. Thaw lost his hat in his flight.

CONCERT WAS A RARE TREAT

PROGRAM RENDERED AT FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH LAST EVENING PLEASSED BIG AUDIENCE

AUDIENCE SHOWS APPRECIATION

Given Under the Auspices of the Young Woman's Auxiliary City's Best Talent

It is doubtful if Escanaba residents were ever offered a more thoroughly enjoyable concert in which local people participated, than that which was given last evening in the First Presbyterian church under the auspices of the Young Woman's Auxiliary.

The program included ten numbers and to say that this or that special number was a favorite would be an injustice to those participating. Every part of the program—well it was all the extravagant things one can think of.

Miss Helen Cushman, soprano; Miss Carrie Shaw, soprano; Miss Gertrude Lindsay, contralto; Miss Druscilla Shaw, contralto; Miss Ethel Dewey, violinist; O. V. Thatcher, baritone with Miss Davis as accompanist contributed to a program that could hardly be excelled.

The audience was a representative one and made its appreciation known in such a manner as to indicate its hearty approval.

Miss Helen Cushman sang two very charming numbers and received a very generous applause. She did not, however respond with an encore.

Miss Gertrude Lindsay who recently graduated from the musical department of Northwestern University gave two numbers and was forced to respond to the applause with a third. Miss Lindsay will sing soprano with the choir of the Presbyterian church this winter.

Miss Ethel Dewey played two violin solos and was called back each time for encores. Each number was well rendered by the young violinist, who showed marked ability in handling her instrument.

Miss Druscilla Shaw, who possesses a remarkably clear and well trained contralto voice, appeared in two numbers and was received with great enthusiasm.

Miss Mona Voght who graduated this year from the Cumnock school of Oratory of Northwestern University gave two readings and responded each time with encores. This was Miss Voght's first appearance in this city since her graduation and her reading, especially of French Canadian dialect, was exceptionally fine. Miss Voght leaves tonight for Evanston where she will take a year of post graduate work at her Alma Mater.

Miss Carrie Shaw although appearing but once on the program was forced to respond with an encore and though the applause for this was sufficient for another she did not respond. Miss Shaw has an excellent soprano voice. She will leave tonight for Chicago where she will enter the Chicago conservatory of music.

Oliver Thatcher closed the programme with two numbers which were well rendered. That he was greatly appreciated was shown when the audience refused to leave their seats until he responded to their applause.

Miss Margaret Davis accompanied the soloists.

NON-UNION MEN LEAVE

NON-FEDERATION FIREMEN AT MOHAWK MINE QUIET BECAUSE OF THREATS MADE

FURTHER TROUBLE IS EXPECTED

But One Pump is Working and Mine is Without Water for Fire Protection

Houghton, Mich., Sept. 10.—The non-federation firemen and engineers at No. 4 shaft of the Mohawk mine quit their posts Monday night, following threats made against them and their families, and were escorted by deputies to their homes at Gay and Franklin. The men, in quitting, claimed that the strain of working under threats was too great. As a result there is but one pump working at Mohawk, this furnishing only water to the military camp and the hospital. There is no water with which to fight fires.

Militia Looks for Trouble.

There was a parade of 296 men and fourteen women at Mohawk this afternoon, celebrating the shutting down of the pumps and leaving the town without fire protection. Major Gausser reports that he expects serious trouble in Keweenaw county.

In a conference with Major Gausser this afternoon, Sheriff Hepting of Keweenaw county informed the major that he had furnished a list of deputies to the mining company, but that Manager Denglar had turned it down. Major Gausser learned through a conference with the mine officials later that the list had been picked by Strike Leader Dunnigan of Ahmeek and contained some of the most energetic agitators of Keweenaw county.

Leo M. Gelsmar, expert for the Houghton county farm bureau, formerly in charge of the state experimental farm at Chatham, and who is the reputed possessor of more first hand information about the agricultural, fruit and stock-raising possibilities of the upper peninsula than any other man in the district, challenges the statement of O. K. White, field agent for the horticultural department of the Michigan Agricultural college, concerning horticultural opportunities north of the Straits.

Mr. White who was quoted in the Mirror a few days ago questions whether much can ever be accomplished in raising apple in this latitude, saying that the cold winters are too severe on the trees and that Youngsters Are Cutting Up Capers in Sportdom.

Eighteen years on this fine old soil of the U. S. A. brings to madden the privilege of talking back to master and pater and making them like it. For the big eighteen is the majority point in lives of all femininity, and the eighteen hole in the course of life for the masculine gender brings something of equal value if the records of the past few weeks are to be considered. In Boston, where famous tennis crackerbattled in the Longwood Cricket club's twenty-third annual tournament, W. M. Johnston, an eighteen-year-old San Franciscan, put the veteran Gustave F. Touchard down in three sets. The feat of Johnston crowned his first visit east of the Rockies and also his first important match on grass courts. To beat Touchard he displayed strength and skill that was little less than marvelous.

On the muddy Missouri, where the Omaha clay courts provided a setting for the fourth national clay court tournament, another eighteen-year-old lad made an equally significant record by putting out Roland Hoerr, the St. Louis crack, who won the recently played Missouri valley championship. The name of this youth is R. Larmon, and he lives in Omaha. His play was sensational, disposing of the St. Louisan in three sets.

DEFENDING U. P. APPLE

They are winter killed to an extent making it impracticable to go into apple raising on a commercial scale.

Mr. Geismar points out that actual accomplishments in the upper peninsula counties carry a contradiction of Mr. White's conclusions, and he matches his judgment, based on fifteen years' field experience in the district, against the conclusions of Mr. White, based on a short and by no means comprehensive trip to the district. He regards the district as one that possesses valuable fruit raising possibilities.

What Will Menominee Say?

I wonder what Menominee will say about this. Menominee has one twenty acre apple orchard that has bearing for twelve years and this year the owner has refused $8,000 for two apples on the trees," Mr. Geismar remarks.

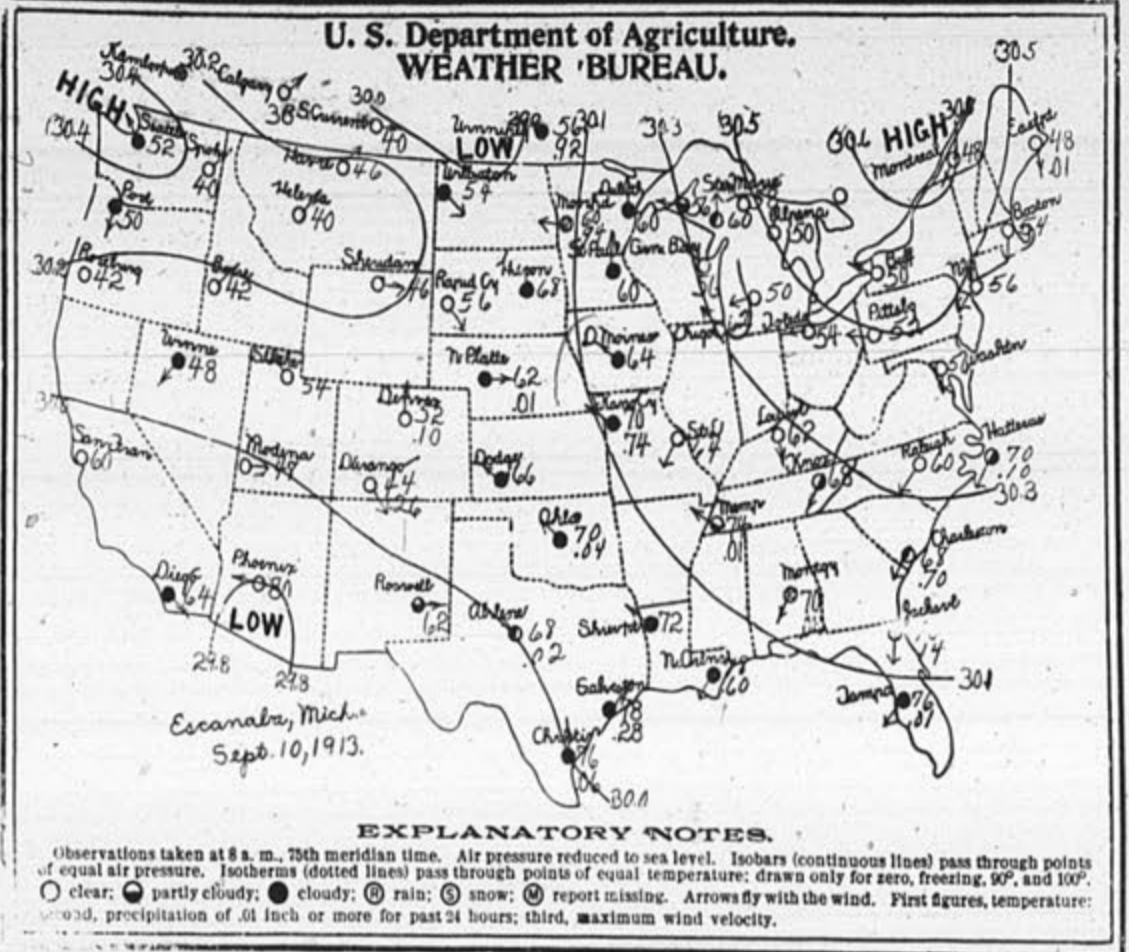

Referring to Mr. White's assertion that the temperatures in the upper peninsula are too low, Mr. Geismar said: "A great many varieties will not withstand the climate of the lower peninsula, either. Every fruit growing district must select its varieties with regard to their adaptability to temperature, soil and other conditions. Apples that will grow in the lower peninsula will not grow in the upper peninsula and vice versa. Mr. White mentions a few varieties that seem to be doing well up here. He did not see one tenth of the varieties that are being grown successfully in the upper peninsula. The Northwest area grows more perfectly in schoolcraft county than in any other part of Michigan."

Quotes a Leading Authority.

Professor Geismar quotes George H. Rowe, of Grand Rapids, one of the leading apple experts of the United States, who acts as judge at apple shows all over the country. Mr. Rowe visited Dickinson county a year ago and addressed a big gathering on apple culture. He was shown a specimen of the Rome Worthy apple grown in Dickinson county, and he said: "It would be difficult to find a more perfect specimen of this apple in any part of the state of Michigan."

Professor Geismar cites numerous instances of successful fruit culture in the upper peninsula. He says that apples and many other fruits do not require a tropical climate; that, in fact they thrive in a somewhat rigorous climate.

From his experience Mr. Geismar regards many of Professor White's conclusions as faulty and the publication of his report an injustice to the upper peninsula.

VESSEL LOSSES LIGHT IN 1913

Navigation losses on the great lakes have been slight for the season of 1913, according to figures compiled by government engineers. Only two boats valued at $70,000 have been total losses.

The steamer, E. M. Peck, owned by Frank W. Smith, of Milwaukee, Wis., was a total loss following the explosion of its boilers, and the barge Crete was declared a total loss as the result of damage sustained in collision with the steamer F. B. Squire, near Buffalo.

While there have been a number of accidents, there have been fewer collisions than usual and none was serious except in the case of the most expensive of these accidents was that of the steamer D. B. Meacham, estimated to have cost $17,000. The Meacham touched ground in the Livingston channel near Detroit.

A number of uninsured ships have had grounding accidents but none was much damaged. Compared with 1912 the losses covered by insurance are small, and the uninsured risks have given comparatively little work for the shipbuilders.

As the Canadian ships are neither in the Great Lakes Protective association nor in the American trade, U. S. accident statistics pertaining to the lakes do not include Canadian tonnage unless an American vessel is involved.

TRAFFIC IS EXTRA HEAVY

Fairs and Return of Students to College Boosts Passenger Traffic on NorthWestern

Passenger traffic on the NorthWestern railway this week is exceptionally heavy. The fairs throughout the Upper Peninsula and the return of many students to school has boosted the traffic to such an extent that extra cars are necessary.

The 8:45 train on the NorthWestern out of Escanaba tonight will carry an extra sleeper and it is probable that extra coaches will be put on at several other points so that the train will be an exceptionally large one when it reaches Chicago.

ESCANABA BAND MAKING REMARKABLE PROGRESS

Rehearsals Being Held Each Evening—Musicians Arrive From the Copper Country

Rehearsals are being held each evening by the Escanaba Military band and the progress being made by the organization is remarkable. Since the arrival of the new director, Mr. Saimon, the improvement in the band has been most noticeable and when the band makes its first appearance on the opening day of the fair the residents of Escanaba are in for a big surprise and incidentally a treat.

Several musicians have arrived recently from the copper country and the band is being strengthened daily. The rehearsals will continue each evening until the opening of the fair next Tuesday.

The old Marquette road, from Lathrop to Gladstone will now be the Lathrop road. The Portage road is divided, north and south portion being now known as the north Portage road. The Maywood, Beaver, Cornell, Garden, Fairbanks and Schaffer roads are unchanged, and the county road to meet the Portage road through Alton is unnamed.

SPEEDY GRAIN LOADING HAS LEFT MARQUETTE

Son-in-Law of Dr. P. C. Dube Figures in Record Loading at Montreal

The following is from a Montreal exchange and the Robert M. Smith mentioned is the son-in-law of Dr. P. C. Dube of this city.

There are pessimists who seemingly never tire of decrying the grain-loading facilities of this port, but stevedores have claimed at different times that vessels have been given despatch here which could not be surpassed in any port of the North American continent. Mr. Robert M. Smith, stevedore, stated yesterday that the steamer Rollesby was the most recent example of quick despatch. The Rollesby arrived in port late on Wednesday night, but on Thursday at 8 a. m. commenced to ship her grain cargo for Europe. By noon yesterday a full cargo of 220,000 bushels of wheat had been shipped within a period of 15 1/2 hours, and the Rollesby is due to sail for the other side at daybreak today.

Mr. Childs, who has managed the department for the last seven and one-half years, has tendered his resignation to manager Matthews and will leave here the first of next month to accept a position in the Erickson's store in Escanaba. Mr. Childs will also manage the entire first floor of the Erickson establishment, which is the largest of its kind in the city.
