EVICTON NOTICES NOW BEING SERVED UPON THE STRIKERS

CHAMPION COPPER COMPANY OF FAINDALE ARE DOING SO TODAY AND OTHER MINES WILL FOLLOW

RENT HAS NOT BEEN PAID FOR WEEKS

It is Expected That the Mine Owners in Calumet Will Serve Notices Soon.

(By Associated Press.)

Calumet, Oct. 16.—A number of the deputy sheriffs of Houghton county are busy today serving eviction notices upon the strikers who are living in the houses of the Champion Copper company of Faindale and a similar action is expected by the other mining companies in the copper district.

Since the strike was called on July 23, none of the miners who went out have paid any rent to the mining companies.

Trouble is in Sight
There is considerable worry among the people of the copper country in regard to the eviction proceedings for it is thought that a great deal of trouble will ensue before the men will consent to be forcibly ejected from their homes.

ROAD COMMISSIONERS ARE CAREFUL SPENDERS

County Engineer Mason Saves County $2368 by Building the Road Himself

That it pays to have good business men as county road commissioners, and an engineer of unquestioned ability in charge of the road building was demonstrated in the building of the Peninsula road.

This piece of road is six miles long and when bids were asked for, the lowest figure was $3898. After the bids were opened the members of the commission and engineer concluded that it was too much money for the work and all bids were rejected and Engineer Mason instructed to do the work himself.

Engineer Mason at once engaged men and teams and started the work. The cost to date is $3079.98 and a total of not more than $3500 will complete the road according to the specifications.

By allowing County Engineer Mason to do the work he has saved the county $2368. The road commissioners and Mr. Mason are to be congratulated upon their business sagacity throughout the season. No money has been wasted and Mr. Mason has seen to it that the county got what they paid for.

THE BOARD ADJOURNS TO MEET DECEMBER 17

Salary of Drain Commissioner is Changed to $100 per Annum With Expenses

The board of supervisors adjourned at 1:15 this afternoon to meet on December 17.

The major portion of this morning's session was taken up with the report of the equalization board and of the finance committee.

The justices' bills, which had been returned for correction to the committee on officer's accounts, were paid with a few corrections.

The salary of the drain commissioner was fixed at $100 per annum with necessary expenses paid.

FATHER BARTH WILL LEAVE THIS EVENING TO ATTEND BOSTON CONGRESS

Father Barth of St. Patrick's church will leave tonight for Chicago, where he will board a special train for Boston in company with a number of priests and prelates of the Catholic church to attend the Second Missionary Congress in Boston, Mass.

CHANGE JAIL PLUMBING

The building committee of the county board was this morning instructed to change a large part of the plumbing in the county jail.

MEXICAN SITUATION REMAINS UNCHANGED

Washington Officials See to Think That Huerta Will Not Reply To Wilson

(By Associated Press.)

Washington, Oct. 16.—The Mexican situation remains unchanged today. The administration officials have agreed in their views that Huerta will make no answer to the note sent to him by President Wilson.

The delicacy of the situation is unaltered and the attitude of the Washington government is still a waiting one.

TAXES FOR THE YEAR LARGEST IN HISTORY OF COUNTY AND CITY

TAXES IN ALL DEPARTMENTS, EXCEPT CITY, CONSIDERABLY LARGER THAN IN YEARS PAST

STATE TAX IS EXCEPTIONALLY HEAVY

City Tax the Only One to Take a Drop—County Tax is Sure to Show a Big Increase

The taxes to be paid by the residents of Escanaba this year will exceed the total of any previous year by a considerable amount.

The tax apportionment for the county will require in the neighborhood of $80,000 will have to be raised whereas about $60,000 was raised last year.

The state tax for the year for Delta county is $47,392.42, an increase of several thousand dollars over that of last year.

The school tax is in the neighborhood of $52,000, an increase over last year made necessary by the payment of $5,000 in school bonds.

Every tax, with the exception of the city tax, has gone up. The city tax levied totals $50,646, a considerable decrease over that of last year but far from sufficient to offset the gigantic boost in the state tax and the moderate raises in the school and county tax.

Escanaba's population represents over one third of the county's population and the burden of the tax falls upon the taxpayers in this city.

JOSEPH GODBOUT DIED EARLY LAST EVENING

Well-Known Clerk Expired After an Illness of Several Weeks

Joseph Godbout, a well known resident of this city, died last evening shortly before six o'clock in the Delta county hospital of a complication of diseases and after an illness of several weeks. His condition had been critical for several days but his death proved a great shock to the members of his family and his many friends.

The deceased was about forty four years of age and is survived by his wife and four children, residing at 318 South Charlotte street. He was a member of the Clerk's Union of the Modern Woodmen of America and of the Foresters. The body was taken to the Allo undertaking parlors and was removed to the home this morning.

He was employed for some time as a clerk by the Escanaba Hardware company.

NOVELTY BATTLESHIP LAUNCHED BY GREAT BRITAIN IN ENGLAND

"QUEEN ELIZABETH" THE FIRST OIL BURNING BATTLESHIP LEFT THE WAYS TODAY

DETAILS OF CONSTRUCTION ARE SECRET

Big Battery of Armament is Made Possible by Using Oil in Place of Coal

(By Associated Press.)

Portsmouth, England, Oct. 16.—Another novelty battleship, which burns oil instead of coal and carries an immense amount of armament, was launched from the Royal navy yards today.

The ship is entirely of a new type and the details of the construction is being held as a secret by the builders and British naval engineers.

The armament consists of two fifteen inch guns mounted in pairs as well as four six inch guns mounted behind the protective armor. If oil instead of coal is successful all the English ships will be equipped with oil burning boilers.

The vessel launched today was the heaviest ever put into the water in England.

MUCH MONEY OBTAINED IN FRANCE BY HUERTA

Through the Help of Chiefs of Catholic Party in Mexico He is Assisted

(By Associated Press.)

Paris, France, Oct. 16.—It is claimed here that President Huerta obtained a loan of two and a half million dollars in this country through the influence of the chiefs of the Catholic party in Mexico. It is also stated that Most Reverend Jose Mgr. the Archbishop of Mexico came to Paris for the purpose of obtaining this loan for Huerta.

COUNTY BOARD LEGISLATES ON RETURNS MADE BY JUSTICES

A resolution regulating the returns of justices and making their failure to file certain documents a misdemeanor was passed by the county board at this morning's session. The resolution requires that all justices must file all necessary papers in each suit, as provided by law, and that they must file with the county clerk certificates of conviction, a proceeding which most of the justices have neglected.

FALL OF CELLAR DOOR PAINFULLY INJURES PINE RIDGE RESIDENT

Albert Jubain of Pine Ridge was painfully injured at the home of Frank Cass on Sixth street yesterday. Mr. Jubain was walking up the outside cellar stairs at the Cass home when the cellar door fell and struck him on the back of the head. He fell forward and struck his face on the steps. His injuries are painful but not serious.

STEAMER, BURNED AT SEA, HER CAPTAIN AND CAPTAIN OF RESCUING STEAMER

The burning of the Voltorno, a transatlantic liner of the Uranium line, at sea, marked a marine disaster second only to the sinking of the Titanic. Reports received by wireless from the rescuing ships place the number of rescued at 533 out of a list of 667 aboard the ill-fated steamer.

Altogether 11 steamers assisted in rescuing passengers from the burning ship. Of these, the Carmania of the Cunard Line, commanded by Capt. Barr, was the first to reach the scene, having been 60 miles away when she received the distress signal by wireless from the Voltorno. On account of the heavy seas and the gale, the Carmania could not proceed with the rescue work. In the meantime ten other ships came up including a tank steamer, which sprayed oil on the waters thus making it comparatively safe for the life boats to get to the burning ship, which by this time was about to sink.

Capt. Inch, of the Voltorno, and two wireless operators were taken on board the Kronland, bound for New York.

THIRD WIFE REFUSES TO BELIEVE THOMPSON IS TWICE A BIGAMIST

ESCANABA RESIDENT WEDS MORLEY, MICH., GIRL WHEN IT IS ALLEGED HE ALREADY HAS TWO WIVES

WAS A MAN OF MANY JOBS IN THIS CITY

Latest is Miss Jennie Coan Who Strongly States Her Belief in Thompson's Innocence

The following is a Grand Rapids Dispatch to the Detroit Free Press:

Earl A. Thompson, alias Thomas E. Getchell, who last Thursday married Jennie Coan in this city, was arrested today. It is alleged that Thompson violated his parole from Marquette prison. Thompson admits serving five years there for bigamy. He is 27 and his latest bride is 25. She refuses to believe Thompson is guilty and says she will go to Marquette when he is taken there. Miss Coan's family lives at Morley.

Up until two weeks ago Thompson was a resident of Escanaba, he having resided here for the past year. He was employed first by the I. Stephenson company, and later by the North-Western railway company, the Escanaba Manufacturing company, Klanssen's, E. & L. S. railroad company, his latest venture was the establish-

THE INFORMAL VOTE IS MUCH AGAINST SULZER

(By Associated Press.)

Albany, Oct. 16.—It is reported that the impeachment court voted secretly today on the removal of Governor Sulzer. The vote stood 43 to 14 against him.

Another vote that was taken to disqualify him from holding an office of any kind in the state of New York was lost. The voting formally stated this afternoon at 3:00 o'clock and every article in the impeachment proceedings will be voted upon separately. Not all of them will be sustained in the sentiment of the parties on all sides.

DELTA COUNTY WILL RAISE OVER $80,000 FOR GENERAL FUND

INCREASE OF OVER $20,000 MADE NECESSARY BY THE MATURING OF SEVERAL BONDS AND INTEREST

FINANCE COMMITTEE TO NEGOTIATE LOAN

Three Mill Road Tax is Levied Although it Meets With Vigorous Opposition on Part of Some Slightly over $80,000, to be exact $80,362.76, is to be raised by taxation for general county purposes this year, an increase of over $20,000 over the past year, due to the fact that interests on bonds and bonds maturing totals nearly $20,000.

The total amount necessary for all purposes in the county is $91,191.45 and the amount due in taxes is $10,667.29, leaving the balance $80,332.76.

The report showed a balance in the county treasury on October 1, 1912, of $2,263.75. The receipts from October 1, 1912 to October 1, 1913, were $446,828.74 and the disbursements for the same time $373,184.29, leaving a balance of $75,908.23.

Road Tax Passes

The three mill tax for road purposes totalling $29,782.47, was included in the report of the finance committee and was passed, although a motion to amend that section of the report reducing the tax to one mill, was made. It was defeated by a vote of nine to twelve.

The finance committee was authorized to negotiate a loan not to exceed $10,000 to meet current expenses.

The township clerks reported the following amounts needed for general purposes in the various townships:

Baldwin	$ 7,059.86
Bark River	5,276.00
Bay de Noc	3,343.42
Brampton	6,500.00
Cornell	6,800.00
Escanaba twp.	$5,241.19
Fairbanks	2,476.18
Ford River	4,895.00
Garden	4,855.00
Maple Ridge	11,461.79
Masonville	21,900.00
Wells	19,624.25
Escanaba	103,786.25
Gladstone	27,495.29

OIL STEAMER GIVEN A GREAT RECEPTION

Oil Tank Steamer Narragansett With Voltorno Survivors is Given Reception

(By Associated Press.)

London, Eng., Oct. 16.—The oil tank steamer Narragansett with many survivors from the ill fated steamer Voltorno on board was given a rousing reception when it arrived here this morning.

A tug with a band on board met the steamer and acted as an escort into the harbor. The Narragansett, through its ability to furnish great quantities of oil to deaden the waves about the Voltorno, made it possible for the other ships to save many lives.

COUNTY VALUATION RAISED NEARLY FIVE PER CENT FOR YEAR

WELLS TOWNSHIP GOES UP WITH A JUMP—ESCANABA AND GLADSTONE IN ON THE "GOING UP" LIST

TOTAL VALUATION NEAR $10,000,000

Baldwin and Ford River Townships Each Drop More Than $40,000—Real Estate $7,618,708

The equalization board's report, accepted by the board of supervisors at this morning's session shows a raise in the county valuation of about $450,000. Decreases occur in six and increases in eight townships and in the cities of Gladstone and Escanaba. Wells townships' increase was the highest, $187,000 while the biggest decreases occurred in Baldwin and Ford River townships, about $43,000. The reduction was explained by the fact that a great deal of the timber had

COPPER COUNTRY CLUB MAKES ITS REPORT TO GOVERNOR W. N. FERRIS

COMMITTEE FROM COPPER COUNTRY COMMERCIAL CLUB GOES INTO STRIKE THOROUGHLY

LIVING IS CHEAPER THAN IN BUTTE

Report is Outcome of a Suggestion by the Governor Made Several Weeks Ago

Houghton, Oct. 16.—The committee appointed by the Copper Country Commercial club to investigate the strike situation Monday made its report to Governor W. N. Ferris. John W. Black of Houghton, a member of the committee, delivered the report in person to the chief executive.

The report is the outcome of a suggestion of Governor Ferris, made several weeks ago, that the home organization of businessmen present an unbiased statement of the general situation to the people of the state.

The report is voluminous and detailed, going into every possible feature of the strike situation. It comprises seventy-six pages of closely written manuscript, in addition to twenty pages of illustrations of interest to the district.

In summing up its conclusions, the committee finds that the mine managers will not recognize the Western Federation of Miners, that no minimum wage scale can be applied in justice to all of the mines, that the eight-hour working day will be in operation in every mine in the district by next January and that a system for grievance and complaint hearings will be arranged, the mine managers agreeing to set aside a day or half day each week for that stated purpose and agreeing also to investigate and adjust every legitimate grievance with

NO APPROPRIATION FOR THE U. P. D. B.

Request for $1,000 Referred to Finance Committee and Never Heard From Again

Through an oversight on the part of the finance committee of the county board or a desire on their part to cut down expenses, the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau was not given an appropriation for the coming year. Previously the board had doctored $1,000 and a similar request was made this year. The request was referred to the finance committee and when that committee made its report no mention of the appropriation was made. The body adjourned without the matter being discussed. The Delta County Agricultural society was given an appropriation of $300.

NEW HOSPITAL WILL BE A 4 STORY STRUCTURE

New Institution Will be Located Directly in Front of Present Building

It has been decided by the Sisters of the Third Order of St. Francis that the new hospital shall be constructed directly in front of the present structure placing the building in the center of the large plot. The building will be four stories in height and modern in every respect. Architects will begin work at once on plans for the institution.

The grounds about the hospital will be beautified and the institution will be a credit to both the city and the county. The supervisors are being heartily commended for their action in selling the present hospital to the sisters.

Marie Corelli's book of Love Drama North Stars Golden Age American Periodical.

If I loved a man I should love him so completely that I should never think of anyone in which he had not the first and greatest share. I should see his face in every ray of sunshine—I should hear his loving voice in every note of music—If I were to read a book alone, I should wonder which sentence it would please him most—if I picked a flower I should ask myself if he would like me to wear it—I should live through him and for him—he would be my very eyes and heart and soul—Marie Corelli.

We want to thank you Marie, for letting us know in time, but to be real candid we don't want to be loved your way; mighty few men do. It all reads beautifully, but most men don't like the same kind of books their wives do. Most men hate to be sung to; and as for being the very eyes and heart and soul of any woman—not all the time. Even the best of us like to be left alone much of the time. When we marry we don't want to be strapped down to a 99-horsepower love car. In a life endurance test two people need to know each other not too well. It takes a lot of water to keep Niagara going. A marriage such as you indicate, Marie, would run out of power in two or three weeks.—Life.

WEATHER CONDITIONS

The high pressure area that covered the northwest yesterday morning has moved east to the upper Mississippi Valley and Lakes, and temperatures are consequently slightly lower over those sections than yesterday morning. Cloudy and unsettled weather has also developed over middle sections of the country, from the Lakes to the Gulf; and a barometric depression over Texas is causing rains thence northeastward to Iowa. Over this portion of the Lakes, however, the pressure will continue high for the following 36 hours, and while rain is probable over southern Michigan and Huron, the weather will be principally cloudy and unsettled in this vicinity. The winds will remain moderate north.

SHINING MARK IN UNITY

A prominent citizen (according to Smart Set—Any male who owns a diving suit, is a member of the exclusive clubs, is opposed to child labor, acts as honorary walk-behind at least four funerals a year; is a member of at least two public boards or commissions which never meet, prefers a musical comedy to "Tristan and Isolde," owns a "Library edition" of Guy de Maupassant, bought from a book agent, regards all socialists as second-class, has a theory to account for all money panics, possesses only one wife, sends his children to Sunday school as a punishment for petty misdemeanors, believes in free will and the greatness of Charles Dickens, to name a few) was elected director of a national bank, has his shoes shined every day, cultivates an illegible signature, thinks it is immoral for a workman to get drunk on a Saturday night, contributes to all relief funds managed by newspapers, rides in a taxicab, constantly argues that the country is going to the dogs—and wears a stick.

For Tired Feet.

Nothing helps tired feet more than regular rubbing with vaseline or some other pure fat. Mutton tallow is very good and agrees with every skin. Soldiers grease their feet every night when on the march. Discovered recently in Saubomish county, Washington, is a 300-foot-high yellow fir which is said to eclipse all previous records of big trees in the northwest.

REAPING BENEFIT

From the Experience of Escanaba People.

We are fortunate indeed to be able to profit by the experience of our neighbors. The public utterances of Escanaba residents on the following subject will interest and benefit many of our readers. Read this statement. No better proof can be had.

Mrs. M. Brown, 406 S. Jennie St., Escanaba, Mich., says: "About two years ago I began to have pains in the small of my back and when I worked hard, I was so lame that I could hardly straighten from a stopped position. In the morning, I was lame and sore. A friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I procured a box from the Mead Drug Co. Soon after I began their use, the pain in my back disappeared. Recently I had a slight recurrence of the trouble, but used Doan's Kidney Pills and they put me in good shape. You may continue to use my name as a reference for Doan's Kidney Pills. Others of my family have taken them for back-ache and kidney trouble with good results."

COPPER COUNTRY CLUB MAKES ITS REPORT TO GOVERNOR W. N. FERRIS

all possible speed and that no discrimination will be made against men presenting complaints.

In closing its report, the committee says: "The committee feels that with the inauguration of these plans there must necessarily become closer acquaintance between employer and employee and from which will result untold good to both parties. The report is closed with the heartfelt hope that the work of the committee, and the data gathered by it, will in some measure aid in restoring the good name of this district and will in some measure aid the parties concerned in the strike to bring it to a close."

What the Operators Agree to Do.

The report explains that the committee's findings in favor of the eight-hour day and concerning matters of grievances and other points were presented to the mine managers at a stated meeting and that at that meeting a representative of every manager of the district was present and the following statement, agreed to by each representative, was made:

"That, as previously stated, the mining companies had had under favorable consideration for some time previous to the strike the establishment of the eight-hour working day for underground employes; that the different conditions at the different mines render it impossible to work out an absolutely uniform working day for all underground employes at all of the mines; that each management will work out the problem with reference to its own peculiar conditions; that this could not be done in a short time, but that each management will establish and have in operation an eight-hour working day for underground employes on or before Jan. 1, 1914.

The report states that on the day before the strike was called there were employed in the mines a total of 14,300 men, of all classes, surface and underground, and it gives the detailed number at each mine, from twenty-three at the Oneco to 4,107 at the Calumet. The number of men at work on Oct. 8, the day the report was closed, was 5,445, of which 2,079 were underground.

Living Cheaper Than at Butte.

An elaborate comparison is made of living conditions here and in the Butte camp. Comparatively few houses at Butte are owned by the companies, and most of these are for the mine foremen. Six-room houses that rent for $28 a month in Butte rent for $5 on the mine locations here. Tables showing the difference in the cost of meats and groceries are given. Meats show an average excess in the price in Butte is 34 per cent. Hard coal in Butte is $16 a ton, and in Michigan $8. On an average and summing up only the necessities and not the considerations such as free water, practically free hospital and medical attendance and any number of detailed advantages enjoyed by the company employes here over those in Butte there is an average difference amounting to one dollar per shift in favor of living conditions in the Michigan mines, according to the committee's figures.

One of the most interesting features of the report is a table of wages, including every mine in the district, for a six months' period just previous to the strike. These figures are taken from the company books. They show the average wage, for all mines, to be $3.20 a shift for miners, $2.63, for trammers and an average of $2.98 for both miners and trammers.

A table taken from the books of the Calumet & Hecla subsidiaries shows the average wage of miners for the month of May this year to be $3.47, fourteen per cent drawing more than $4 a shift and the same percentage under $3, running from $2.50 to $3. A similar table on trammers' wages at the mines of this corporation and subsidiaries shows an average of $2.83. The average for miners on the conglomerate lode is $3.67 and for contract trammers, $3.40 for the first six months of 1913.

Buy a FORD NOW!

This advertisement is to notify the people of Delta county that I have the agency for the FORD automobile. I have taken the FORD agency for the reason that I am sure that the FORD is the car that is best suited to the average needs of local people.

Buy a FORD Because it is a better car, not because it is cheaper

In the ten years of its successful development the FORD has acquired a reputation absolutely unmatched in automobilism—and the guarantee of a financial responsibility that scarcely has its equal in the manufacturing world. The Ford Motor Company resembles in many respects a great banking house of world-wide reputation and absolute integrity. The world buys FORD cars with the same confidence and assurance that it buys bonds guaranteed by such a banking institution.

The Making of the FORD

The FORD factory in Detroit is acknowledged to be the most complete, compact, economically efficient and thoroughly equipped automobile plant in the world. It is imposing architecturally and is extensive. But largeness is of no significance—it is the use to which the space is put that tells. As the FORD factory site is sixty acres in extent, new buildings of uniform design are added as conditions demand. In the past year the floor space has been nearly doubled and the new season will probably see it still further enlarged.

Why You Should Buy Now

There is no better season of the year for automobiling than the fall months. The woods are beautiful and the roads are generally good; Besides if you do not place your order now it may be impossible for you to get a car next summer.

A Hundred People will want FORDS

It is estimated that at least 100 people will want FORDS in this county in 1914. Some of them will have to be disappointed. At the present time I can only see where I will get about 30 of these popular little cars.

COME AND SEE ME

I will have by the end of the week three cars for delivery and may be able to get a few more this year. Let me explain to you why the FORD is the car you want. Let me tell you the service you can and will get—and how little it will cost.

HOLTON OF THE NAVY

Story of the freeing of Cuba

SYNOPSIS

1.—Lieutenant Holton is demoted from his command in the navy and set of the Spanish-American war assigned to important secret duty.

2.—While dining at a Washington hotel he detects a waiter in the act of robbing a beautiful young girl. He thanks him for his service and her name as Miss La Tossa, patriot. Later he meets her at a secret service man warns that the girl is a spy.

3.—Senor La Tossa chides her for her failure to secure information from Holton for her home in Cuba. Holton is ordered to follow her.

4.—Holton sees how she was doing and tested Holton. "She made me see here, Mr. Holton, you have obliterated your acquaintance. I ask you this: If you discontinue your friendship with her she is working to injure you. Will you take steps to do so and to apprise the facts?"

5.—Under oath to the United States, Holton says that is all I ask. You are hereby to pursue your course with this young woman.

6.—Holton replied. "I suppose that I shall remain in Washington." "Holton, you'll not be in Washington this morning," she said. "Miss La Tossa left to follow her?" "Once, please. You had better about transportation and immediately."

7.—Holton did not hear the laughter of his outburst of gratitude, he paid no attention to it. He thought that filled his that he was going to some place where his dance partner might before was to be.

CHAPTER IV.

Frank Admission. Requisitions were promptly made, and by the time he had his packing at the club his Florida Special had arrived.

8.—He had with Billy Holt of the department, and then took to the station, where he found made up. He had several in his hands, and settled with the other seat of his secretary.

9.—Not many minutes, however, he yawned broadly, and five hereafter his magazine had from his hand and he was fast asleep.

10.—He fell into slumber two men and the porter, and, throwing their coats, displayed Secret fields.

11.—Their English was perfect, surely of the Latin race. "Sub—all right, gentlemen," he was very much impressed, "go right along."

12.—He approached Holton's seat and they stopped. "Where he is," he remarked, "and asleep, too. He's bound for a surety."

13.—"Now, that he kindly sleeps, as well go farther." He and carefully drew Holton's into the aisle. "Quick," he said, "the keys."

14.—"Sampson drew from his large bunch of keys, and the several without success. He drew to the seat behind Holton, and his knife, cut a long hole in the top. Then, inserting his arm, he fished about for minutes, but without feeling other than wearing apparel articles.

15.—"He straightened up and the bag into the place whence he withdrew with the frown." "We'll have to let him go; he's car part."

16.—"You men spent some time in the framing a telegram in cipher, when completed, was sent to them. They disappeared. In the meantime slept, and asleep when the train moved, he started bolt upright and about him with only a vague to where he was. When he a realizing sense of his situation at his watch, and then resume his nap. But this did not fall asleep, and so, sitting about for half an hour, he went into the smoker.

17.—"I saw the long hole which had been cut in the shining pigskin. He regarded the damage for a second with rising anger, and then unlocked the valise and searched it thoroughly to see what had been stolen. For his only idea was that some sneak thieves had taken advantage of his slumber."

18.—"But, finding everything intact, he was obliged to cast about for another explanation. It was then that the thought of spies occurred to him. Thus thinking, he rose from his seat and looked searchingly over the occupants of his car."

19.—"Almost the first person his eyes lighted upon was a girl in the section diagonally opposite him. One glance at her profile was sufficient to send Holton stumbling and gasping back into his seat."

20.—"The girl was Miss La Tossa. He thought for a moment. Oh, to be sure, he had risen to find out who had maltreated his bag. Then—"

21.—"Good Heavens! Holton's hands flew to his head after the most approved manner of tragedy, and for a moment he tried to dismiss the surging thoughts from his mind. But no, the facts were large and luminous and not to be denied, and these facts were as follows: He had gone asleep in the car, his bag had been cut open and rifled. Now, then, Miss La Tossa had been designated by men who should know whereof they spoke as a spy. Miss La Tossa was the only other person in the car—he paused. He just would not think it, that was all."

22.—"So, picking up a magazine, he settled back in his seat and tried to lose himself in a serial story. For a while he kept his mind fairly well upon the tale, but eventually he found his thoughts straying to the girl in front of him. Eventually he flung the magazine aside and shifted about uneasily."

23.—"After all, was he playing the game as he should? Silent contempt was all right if it were only noticed. But silent contempt when the person against whom it is directed does not feel it, is hardly a satisfactory course to pursue."

24.—"With this thought, Holton arose from his seat and, with a self-conscious smile, bustled up to Miss La Tossa as though he had just discovered her presence."

25.—"Why, of all things!" he exclaimed. "How do you do, Miss La Tossa!" "Her book fell to the floor and she looked up. "Mr. Holton!" she cried. "The very same," laughed Holton, "and may I ask what strange circumstances have brought us together again?"

26.—"I was just going to ask you that," Holton looked at her curiously, hardly knowing what reply to make, after such a check.

27.—"Where are you going?" he inquired at length.

28.—"To Tampa and thence to my home," she responded.

29.—"Oh!" Holton shifted doubtfully. "I'm going to Tampa, too."

30.—"Really?" "I trust if I can be of any service you will avail yourself of my presence, Miss La Tossa," he added somewhat formally.

31.—"Thank you. Won't you sit down? That's one service you can perform. Talk to me; I'm dreadfully bored."

32.—Holton seated himself obediently. "Beastly raw and windy, wasn't it, today?"

33.—"Yes." "Then she laughed at him unaffectionately."

34.—"What are you laughing at?" "At your brilliancy. Oh, you are a master! And yet," she added, "they told me you were so clever."

35.—"I cannot help what people say," he began, and then, impatient at his obvious disadvantage, he changed the subject. "I had the most curious thing happen to me on this train," he went on.

36.—"Now," she laughed, "you promise to be really entertaining. What was it? Do tell me!"

37.—"I boarded the car," said Holton, "and fell asleep." She giggled, and he raised his hand impatiently. "I fell asleep, and while I slept some rascal cut a hole in my bag and rummaged through the contents."

38.—"He glanced at her sharply. But her face revealed nothing except polite concern."

39.—"Indeed!" she remarked. "Nothing was stolen," continued the officer, "and I cannot imagine why the thing was done."

40.—"Think, perhaps, I can tell you," he said calmly. "You were attached to the Scorpion. She had been testing out some new torpedo. You came to Washington on the eve of war, and now you hurry away again to Tampa. Certain persons were desirous to know whether your departure concerned the Scorpion, and your bag was searched for orders or other writings that might throw light upon the subject."

41.—"You are frank," Holton looked at her admiringly. "But how do you happen to know all this?"

42.—"Because I'm a spy."

43.—Holton's face assumed the color of a perfectly ripened tomato.

44.—"You—you—"

45.—Her hearty laughter brought him to a pause.

46.—"How astonished you seem to be!" she regarded him humorously. "Why," she added, "I really believe he thinks now I cut open his bag."

47.—Holton brought himself up with a jerk.

48.—"Miss La Tossa," he said, "I bow to you. You can deprive a man of speech about as handily as any person I ever knew. Of course, you're not a spy!"

49.—"Do you really believe that?" Her eyes were serious now. "Do you?" "Yes," he returned desperately.

50.—"Then, Mr. Holton, I beg to inform you that I am a spy."

"I am a Cuban. I am not a professional spy, as you may imagine. I fear I am not a spy at all in the high sense of the term. But I have tried to serve my country; I shall continue to do so. My country is in peril. I could be, I was born to be, I fear, a pleasure-loving butterfly. But I have found that there are ways in which my country has need even of poor me."

"Yes, but we need not be enemies," Holton's voice was very earnest.

51.—She did not reply, and Holton added: "I applaud your motives, but surely you do not imagine Cuba to be in danger at the hands of the United States. I should think Spain would be your object, and if the United States, I ask you why?"

52.—Still, she did not answer, and Holton, shrugging his shoulders, impatiently repeated his question.

53.—"Why?" "Do you know, Mr. Holton," she said after a moment's pause, "that every mile southward this train flies in—"

He Cut a Long Hole.

54.—"It increases my happiness. It is so pleasant to feel you are nearing home."

55.—"You have not answered my question, Miss La Tossa."

56.—"And I do not intend to answer it." Indignation was coloring the naval officer's mood.

57.—"Look here, Miss La Tossa. I like you. If the honest admiration of a man is anything to you, you can make the most of that statement. And so I ask you with the friendliest motives—why should you think it necessary to pry into the affairs of the United States?"

58.—"I am an enemy to any enemy of my country, and by enemy I mean any person or group of persons whose good-will toward us may be questioned."

59.—"Then you infer that the United States is not acting in a way to show good-will to Cuba!" Holton was thoroughly outraged. "Well, I'll be hanged if that isn't gratitude!"

60.—"If you don't mind, Mr. Holton," she said sweetly, "I should like to read now."

61.—Holton hustled out of the seat in a great huff.

62.—"Oh, certainly, by all means; most assuredly," he burst out, and returned to his seat.

63.—As he sat there thinking, the train stopped at a small station to change engines. When it started again the conductor came into the smoker calling Holton's name. He responded, and the conductor gave him a long, official appearing dispatch. The message ran as follows:

64.—"Holton: Congress declared war today. Sampson will be ordered to blockade the Cuban coast. Troops will mobilize at Port Tampa. They will proceed thence in transports to Cuba. You will remain in Tampa, availing yourself of the Gnat (a small torpedo boat built for a battleship to carry) to prevent any attempt to destroy transports. You will watch Cuban camps. Tampa for developments regarding matters already brought to your attention and will hold yourself in readiness to land secretly on Cuban soil to perform intelligence work with regard to location and movements of Spanish warships. You will work up der direct orders of the Secretary (Long). ROOSEVELT."

65.—"Whew!"

66.—Holton sat back in his seat. So war had come. What would happen now? So far as he was concerned, Holton was likely to be well in the forefront. He was exalted, thrilled in every fiber of his being. He put the dispatch in his pocket and walked back through the train to his car. As he reached Miss La Tossa's section he found her holding up a bit of paper and putting it in her waist.

67.—"Had she, too, received a dispatch? Holton did not doubt it. So he wasted no words."

68.—"Well, it has come to pass," he said; "war has been declared, and within a few months Cuba will be as free as even you could wish."

69.—"God grant it," she murmured. Holton held out his hand.

70.—"Good night, Miss La Tossa," he said.

71.—She shook his hand cordially, lingeringly even.

72.—"Good night," she replied. Her eyes sought his, and for a moment it seemed as though she were going to speak. Then she turned away.

73.—Holton waited an instant, and then he, too, averted his face.

74.—"Good night," he said again, and went to his own berth, where the porter had completed his preparations.

75.—"He didn't speak she looked at him with defiant eyes."

TABOGA ISLAND AND PORTO BELLO

1—Remains of One of the Spanish Forts at Porto Bello. 2—Native Village on Taboga Island.

"Down verdure-clad slopes and terracing reaches Where orange and mango and pineapple grow, One wanders through Eden to ocean-washed beaches— An Eden that only the sun-children know."

Thus James S. Gilbert, the late lamented poet of Panama, wrote of Taboga Island. It was so enticing that I determined to be one of the sun-children for a day or two and so steamed away in a little launch twelve miles out into the Pacific to that beautiful spot. It is all that Mr. Gilbert called it, and more, and it is no wonder that the sanitarium, established there by the French canal company and reopened by the Americans, is so well patronized. If you are a canal employe—white—and have been ill, the doctor may be kind enough to send you over to Taboga for two weeks to recuperate. If you are a mere visitor you can put up at the unpretentious little hotel conducted by William Jones, the American six-footer who looks like a miner and dances like a cotillon leader. In either case you will be fortunate, for you will find those "verdure-clad slopes" gorgeous with flowers and alive with brilliant birds, and the "ocean-washed beaches," the finest places in the world for a swim. You can sail about the pretty bays with the native fishermen, or you can climb up the hills where the boys are vociferously driving the kine—come to be milked, or you can merely lie in the shade and dream dreams of the Spanish galleons and the buccaniers. A more delightful place for rest and the repair of shattered nerves would be hard to find.

Taboga has a history, too, small as it is. De La Roque, the second bishop of Panama, looked upon the island, saw that it was good and established there his country residence. In fact he maintained a household there the year round, for, like many another churchman of the old days, he did not adhere closely to the rule of celibacy. His memory is preserved by a bathing place in a stream that runs down the mountain side, called the Bishop's Pool. It was reserved for the use of him and his retinue. Above it is the Family Pool, for women and children, and still higher up is the Pool of the Letters, for the men. The last one derives its name from the inscription "J. F. B. Ohio" carved on a near-by rock. This is a reminder that in 1852 the Fourth Infantry, U. S. A., crossed the isthmus en route for garrison duty in California, having sailed from New York on the United States mail steamer Ohio. Cholera was prevalent at the time in Panama and the American soldiers and the sailors from the Ohio were attacked by the disease, about eighty of them dying. Some of the sick were left on Taboga island to recover, and evidently one of them did recover sufficiently to climb up to the bathing pool and leave the record that is a mystery to the native inhabitants of this day. Incidentally U. S. Grant, then a captain, was with the Fourth Infantry on that trip.

As you climb up the hill, following this stream most of the way, you will come to a place at the summit of a pass called Las Cruces. There, set in cement, are three small crosses commemorating the most exciting incident in the island's history. According to a Spanish work written early in the last century, a shipload of Peruvian pirates came sailing up the coast in 1515 and decided Taboga was a good place to loot. They landed and drove the small Spanish garrison out of the village and up the mountain. But in the pass the soldiers rallied, the inhabitants came to their assistance and there, says the chronicler, a most bloody combat raged for hours. Finally the pirates were routed and fled to their ship, leaving three men dead on the field of battle!

The isthmus reeks with history, some of the most interesting passages of which have to do with Porto Bello. But the visitor who goes there with mind full of the mighty fights and great trade of the old Spanish days will be woefully disappointed by the town as it now is. Romance, commerce, everything attractive has fled long ago from that place and Porto Bello is nothing but a dirty, immoral little village, full of low cantinas, slatternly natives and mangy curs. At each side of the town is the ruin of a Spanish fort, its picturesque marred by fishermen's nets and the local washing hung up to dry.

Thus the work of man has decayed, but Nature is as kind as ever to Porto Bello. Its bottle-shaped harbor is one of the prettiest to be found, with promontories guarding the entrance, beautiful hills on both sides and entrancing little rivers meandering down from the mountains and through the jungle into its upper end. One hill opposite the town boasts the remains of three unusually interesting Spanish forts. One is at the water's edge, another several hundred yards up the slope, and these two were once connected by a covered stone stairway the ruins of which still provide the easiest means of ascending. On the summit of the hill is the third fort, a mighty square tower surrounded by a deep moat. The walls are almost intact but the roof has fallen in and the fort is full of trees and shrubbery.

With these three forts, two others protecting the harbor entrance, the two at the ends of the town and another just above it, Porto Bello might well seem to have been impregnable, yet it was taken twice by the English. Sir Francis Drake planned to capture it in 1596, but just as his ships were about to begin the attack Drake died and was buried in the mouth of the harbor. Dispirited by the loss of their leader, the English sailed away, but Capt. William Parker took up the project in 1602. With two ships he got past the first forts at night and after a desperate fight captured and sacked the city, carrying off 10,000 ducts' worth of plunder.

The second taking of Porto Bello was the first notable exploit of Henry Morgan, the famous buccaneer, as an independent commander of a fleet. Sailing into what is now Colon harbor, he took his men up a river in canoes, landed at a place called Estera Longa Lemos and marching through the jungle, attacked the city from the rear. First capturing the castle above the town, he shut the garrison in one room and blew them and the fort to pieces with gunpowder. The governor, the citizens and the rest of the soldiers, surprised and terror-stricken, were soon driven into one of the other forts and for hours they bravely withstood the assaults of the buccaniers until, as Esquemelus, Capt. In Morgan began to of the whole success of the. Finally he had a number orders made and forced the and nuns whom he had captured to set them up against the. Many of these poor creatures were killed by the defenders, but at the ladders were placed and the crevices swarmed up them carrying balls and pots of powder which they kindled and hurled among the defenders. The garrison surrendered discretion, but the gallant governor ended himself so obstinately that Morgan remained in Porto Bello several weeks, plundering the place and torturing the citizens to induce them to reveal the hiding places of their riches.

Though an important place in the transshipment of gold from the west coast of South America, Porto Bello never was a large town, but for several weeks each year it was very populous. This was at the time of the annual fair, when the galleons from Spain were in the harbor waiting for the mule trains to bring the gold from Panama. Then merchants and adventurers from all that part of the world gathered in the village and trade was brisk in the big building now called the custom house, whose ruined walls still are standing. Merchandising, drinking and fighting divided the time until the galleons set sail for Spain with their golden cargoes.

Concerning Men With Tails.
It would not be wise to build upon the story of the coast natives that in the interior of Papua there are men with tails. Similar beliefs have been held in many parts of the world and many ages, sometimes from impressions of apes, sometimes from more or less spiteful credulity about a people's neighbors. For centuries it was a common gibe on the Continent that Englishmen had tails. It originated from the story that the people of Canterbury or Strood, having mocked at St. Thomas riding upon a little ass and cut off its tail, were punished with the curse that thenceforth all their boys should be born with tails. And the scoffs of other Englishmen at the "Kentish longtails" retounded upon the whole nation, so that even in the time of Edward VI. Englishmen abroad suffered from the taunt.

VACATION LIARS.

There is something genial and human about the vacationist who lies about the number and the size of the fish he has caught, or that have got away from him. The stay-at-home can put the arm of friendship over the shoulders of the fellow who comes back and boasts that he slept under two blankets every night, that he gained 12 pounds in 12 days, found the scenery perfect and the mosquitoes noticeable because of their non-existence. These are such common everyday liars that everyone would resent their being called liars. They are lovable if only upon the ground that they prove themselves game. If they've been "done" on their vacations they've the courage not to wall about it. But there's another kind of vacation liar who cannot be forgiven. These are the resort keepers who lie about the view, the temperature and the freedom from pests, the transportation companies which print glorified pictures in their folders, the cities whose commercial bodies send out bait for tourist in the form of pamphlets and circulars, and the owners of furnished cottages who write shamelessly over their own signatures that only the stress of business prevents their occupying the cottages themselves, says the Toledo Blade.

Saturday afternoon off is generally supposed to be present day privilege. On the contrary, however, the Saturday half day holiday, and even the "eight hours a day," were in force in the days of the Roman empire. Saturday very appropriately takes its name from the Roman god, Saturn, who presided over the Roman games on a universal holiday called Saturnalia. Curiously enough, the names of the remaining days of our week are of Norwegian origin. Right back in the ages the Vikings and their sturdy forefathers were sun worshippers, and Sunday was a special day set apart for its worship, says London Answers. According to their belief the moon was the wife of the sun, and therefore, could not be ignored—hence Monday. Tuesday was named after the god of war, Tiu. The monarch of the Norseman's heaven, Woden, endowed Wednesday with its title. Thursday is dedicated to Thor, the god of thunder. Friga, the goddess of love, had Friday devoted to her worship.

To the number of German princes actively interested in trade and commerce must be added Prince Henry XXXII. of Reuss—youngeer line—who has established a limited company to work two rubber plantations which he has bought in German East Africa. The prince is himself the head of the undertaking. This is not his actual debut in business affairs, since he has studied at the Commercial high school of Cologne, where he took a diploma.

The daughter of an East Indian prince insisted on choosing her own husband, an indication that feminine independence is spreading even in a country which in the memory of the present generation burned widows alive on the biers of their husbands. Even the most conservative can hardly deny that this is a distinct advance.

If, as a scientist avers, all the babies will presently stop being born, we do not see that the worldwide famine that another scientist predicts will do any particular damage.

CONCERNING THE AMERICA'S CUP

Deed of Gift Limits Length of Craft.

SCHOONERS COULD ENTER.

Interesting Points Affecting Great Races of Next Fall, When Sir Thomas Lipton Will Bring Over His Fourth Shamrock—Yacht Club's Stand is Criticized.

There are not many events in the category of sport that create greater interest than a contest for the America's cup, and endless talk has been occasioned by the acceptance of the challenge of Sir Thomas Lipton, who will race Shamrock IV. in American waters next fall. Why so many quarters should become interested in a struggle for a trophy that is not worth $100 is one of the seven modern wonders. Still it is a fact, and the simple mention of a possibility of a struggle in games will be held in 1920. I say this in spite of my belief that preparation for the Olympic games and competition in them are of the greatest benefit to all forms of sport in this country, because we seem too much inclined to take things easy, to avoid all trouble and to play our games among ourselves, whether other people play them better or not.

BASEBALL NOTES.

How Magee Equalled Tinker's Record as Giant Killer.

Sherwood Magee of the Philadelphia Nationals is Rube Marquard's Joe Tinker. The Reds' leader has been in the habit for several years of hitting at a .500 clip against Christy Mathewson, and then Magee came along last season and eluded at that gait against the Giants' renowned southpaw.

Magee faced Richard Le Marquis ten times last season and pounded out five hits, disdaining to manufacture such a trivial thump as a single. Slugging Sherwood procured a brace of homers off Marquard on May 5, obtained a double and a homer off him on Aug. 28. The only time Marquard baffled the Quaker hitlsmith was on May 2, when he fanned him.

Magee's batting average against Marquard is .500, and his total bases batting average 1.000.

Secretary John H. Farrell of the National association has notified the South Michigan league that it must not play in 1914 Hammersmith, a catcher, who joined the Jackson club and who is the property of the Ypsilanti club, of the Border league. Action followed the filing of a protest by the officials of the latter organization against alleged tampering with their players by the Southern Michigan circuit.

Jiggs Donahue, star first baseman of the old White Sox, who died not long ago, held three world's series records for fielding his position. In the season of 1907 he accepted 1,086 chances, the most ever taken by an infielder. In one game he had twenty-three chances, also a record, and in another only one chance, the smallest total ever recorded for a first baseman.

MYERS TO THE MINORS.

Stallings Springs Surprise in Dropping First Baseman.

The surprising news came from Boston recently that "Hipp" Myers, the first baseman, had been released to Rochester in the International league by George Stallings. "Hank" Schmidt, the manager from Rochester, who had a trial by the Braves during the latter part of the season, showed up well at the bat, and Stallings probably decided to give him the call for the position.

It is surprising that no other club in the big leagues has put in a claim for Myers. There are several teams in the National and American leagues that could use him to good advantage.

Myers went to the Braves last spring from the Northwestern league, where he stole 118 bases during the season of 1912. He lived up to his base running reputation in the National league by pilfering fifty-two bases in 138 games.

Travers Going Abroad.

Jerome D. Travers, the national amateur golf champion, has announced his intention of visiting England next year in another try for the coveted amateur title of the British Isles.

Two or three years ago the Upper Montclair wizard made an attempt to win foreign honors, and like nearly all the other Americans, failed.

Young Blood—Versus Baseball Veterans—Gridiron Talk.

LURID PRIZE RING NAMES.

"Gunboat," "Knockout" and "One Round" Are Imitations of Pugilistic Cognomens of the Past—How Connie Mack's Method Hurt Seasoned Ball Players.

The sudden desire for young blood which struck the major leagues about five years ago drove from the big circuit a lot of men who should, be in the majors yet.

When Connie Mack produced a pennant winner by raiding some colleges all the others followed his example in so far as securing youngsters is concerned. Mighty few succeeded in getting pennants with kids.

Old Tom Jones was relegated to the minors by Hugh Jennings, and Hughie has not found a man to take his place. In forty games with Milwaukee this season Jones has hit for .348 and has stolen twelve bases, which is pretty fair for an old man.

Cy Morgan, passed up by Connie Mack, is the leading pitcher in the American association. He has won eleven games and lost but two thus far this season. There are several teams which could make good use of Morgan right now, and yet all of them passed him up when Mack got ready to get rid of him.

football star and as a team manager. Last year, for instance, in the game with Michigan, in which Pennsylvania defeated the westerners, he performed notably and showed particular aptitude in executing the forward pass. Captain Young has developed a capable team at the University of Pennsylvania and is confident of winning the big games scheduled for the latter part of the season.

Martin Sheridan, the great all around athlete, will soon get down to training for the indoor season. The hero of many Olympic games is back in the game for good and will do all he can to limber up for the national indoor championships.

Hanus Kolemalmgen, the long distance running star, will now take a rest until the curtain is rung up on the indoor season. The Finn will start in many of the games, and not a few look to him to shatter some of the long standing records.

The intrusion of Gunboat Smith into "the game" recalls some of the cognomens boxers used to wear. Gunboat and Bombardier and Seaman and Petty Officer are tame compared with some past titles.

There was like Weir, once a great batter. He was known as the Belfast Spider. Frank Craig, the negro phenom of a decade ago, was rarely called by his right name. He was the Harlem Coffee Cooler to all who had a speaking acquaintance with him.

Frank Herald juggled a peculiar moniker, too—that of the Nictetown Slasher. Jack Dempsey was the Nonpareil and George La Blanche the Marine. The Tipton Slasher was Benny Yanger's pet title. Jabber Carey was the handle of a fellow who met all the noted boxers no prominent. Billy Melody, who whipped Joe Wol-

LATEST AVIATION HERO, FLIES IN ENGLAND

From left to right the photograph shows Louis Bleriot, a mechanic, and M. Pegoud, the latest of the aviation world. M. Pegoud is the aviator who flies upside down and loops the loop. The plane was taken at the recent aviation meet at Brooklands, England, just before Pegoud started up in the Pegoud was the feature of the meet and repeated his flying upside down and the loop the loop. He performed that he had hitherto not done, namely, looping the loop three times from the impetus of a descent of a thousand feet.

Starting from a great height he dove at a deep angle toward the earth. Suddenly the machine tipped over, with the head of the aviator pointing towards the ground. Flying this way for several minutes the machine then pointed its nose upwards, completing the circle until it was right side up again. The manance was twice repeated from the impetus gained on the initial slide.

cott and won the welterweight championship, was popularly referred to as Honey. The appellation holds to this day.

Knockout Brown and One Round Hogan were appropriate and freakish nom de plumes. They were a little different from Young and Kid, which seem to have been and still are the most numerous titles for aspiring youngsters.

SAGE AND SULPHUR DARKENS GRAY HAIR

Brush this through faded, lifeless locks and they become dark, glossy, youthful.

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Eago Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. Besides, it takes off dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

I RISE TO REMARK

Most people's reasoning is second hand. Vanity leads most people to extravagance. The ignorant man always talks the loudest. Drunken men do not have sober thoughts. It is easier to distinguish the truth than a lie. Some men treat in order that others may re-treat. Some men who call themselves blunt are very sharp. The man who never "butts in" usually comes out ahead.

Chicago & North Western Passenger Traffic Breaks Record

NUMBER OF PASSENGERS CARRIED Chicago and North Western Line, During 1912, 35,790,443, as Compared with 36,943,397 for 1913, Representing an Increase for 1913, 1,152,954.

NUMBER OF PASSENGERS CARRIED ONE MILE Chicago and North Western Line During 1912, 1,301,560,136, as Compared with 1,348,376,975 for 1913, Representing an Increase for 1913, 46,816,839.

Nearly thirty-seven millions of passengers, the equivalent of over one-third of the entire population of the United States, traveled over the Chicago & North Western Line during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1913. This is more than all the people living west of the Mississippi River with the New England States added; almost as much as the total population of such a densely settled European country as France, and two millions more than the total inhabitants of South America.

Such broad comparisons as these are required to indicate the extent of the record-breaking traffic handled by this great system over its 10,000 miles of lines during the period for which figures have just been made public in the annual reports of the Chicago & North Western Line. To be exact, the total number of passengers carried by the system was 36,943,397. This was an increase of 1,151,954 passengers carried by the system over the year 1912, when the total was 35,790,443. A clearer conception of the multitude of people represented by these stupendous figures may be obtained by observing that if it was found necessary to transport the entire 37,000,000 at one time it would require over 615,000 coaches seating 60 passengers each, to carry them, and with 7 cars in a train it would take 87,958 locomotives to haul the cars. And these trains would occupy 7,140 miles of track, or enough to reach one-fourth of the distance around the earth. Stated in another way, if all of these 37,000,000 passengers were traveling to or from the North Western's big new Passenger Terminal, which can accommodate 250,000 passengers a day, would take on the appearance of a Fourth-of-July or Christmas rush every day for five months. And this is five times its average daily requirement. The total number of passengers carried one mile for the year reached a record total of 1,348,376,975, an increase of 46,816,839 passengers over 1912. This is equivalent to the entire 90,000,000 population of the United States on a 15-mile trip carrying one passenger around the earth. The increase in travel during 1913 of 1,151,954 passengers, is about equal to the population of the states of Connecticut, Maryland or Washington, and is the population of any city in the States outside of New York or Chicago, is attributed to North Western officials' causes. Among those which have as having developed the traffic in its history are popularity with the tourist of west and northwest of Chicago and North Western the general growing desire of people for the national and business advantages derived from travel. The foregoing figures are a part of the success of the policy company has been working, to provide The Best of Everything that the traveling public needs a railway whose management constantly devoting its best efforts to providing the most modern and luxurious trains on schedule proving and providing great stations, laying double tracks, installing the latest and most type of signals to make the most modern and luxurious to provide comfort and exercising eternal vigilance that employees render skillful service.

SHERIFF NOT WORRYING OVER THREAT OF DEATH

"I'll Get You if it Takes Ten Years"
Not Taken Seriously by Sheriff Curran

Stanley Brownlee, the man shot by Sheriff Curran and Postmaster Fostering of Lathrop on Tuesday afternoon, is resting easily at the Delta County hospital and it is thought that his recovery will be speedy. He will be arraigned before Judge Glaser on a charge of "assault with intent to kill" as soon as his condition permits.

Brownlee's threat that he would "get" both Curran and Fostering "if it takes ten years" is not worrying either the Sheriff or the postmaster to any great extent.

Brownlee is, however, regarded as a "bad mad." He is only twenty-five years of age and he demonstrated his courage when he eluded the officers for four hours after being shot. He is generally feared in the vicinity of Lathrop where he had been working.

QUIT MEAT IF YOUR KIDNEYS ACT BADLY

Take tablespoonful of Salts if Back hurts or Bladder bothers—Drink lots of water.

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active.

POSTOFFICE ROBBERY SUSPECT ARRAIGNED

Edwin Nelson Given Hearing This Morning on Vagrancy Charge —30 Days in Jail

Edwin Nelson, who is suspected of the robbery of the Nahma postoffice, was arraigned this morning before Judge McEwen on a vagrancy charge. He was found guilty and sentenced to spend thirty days in the county jail.

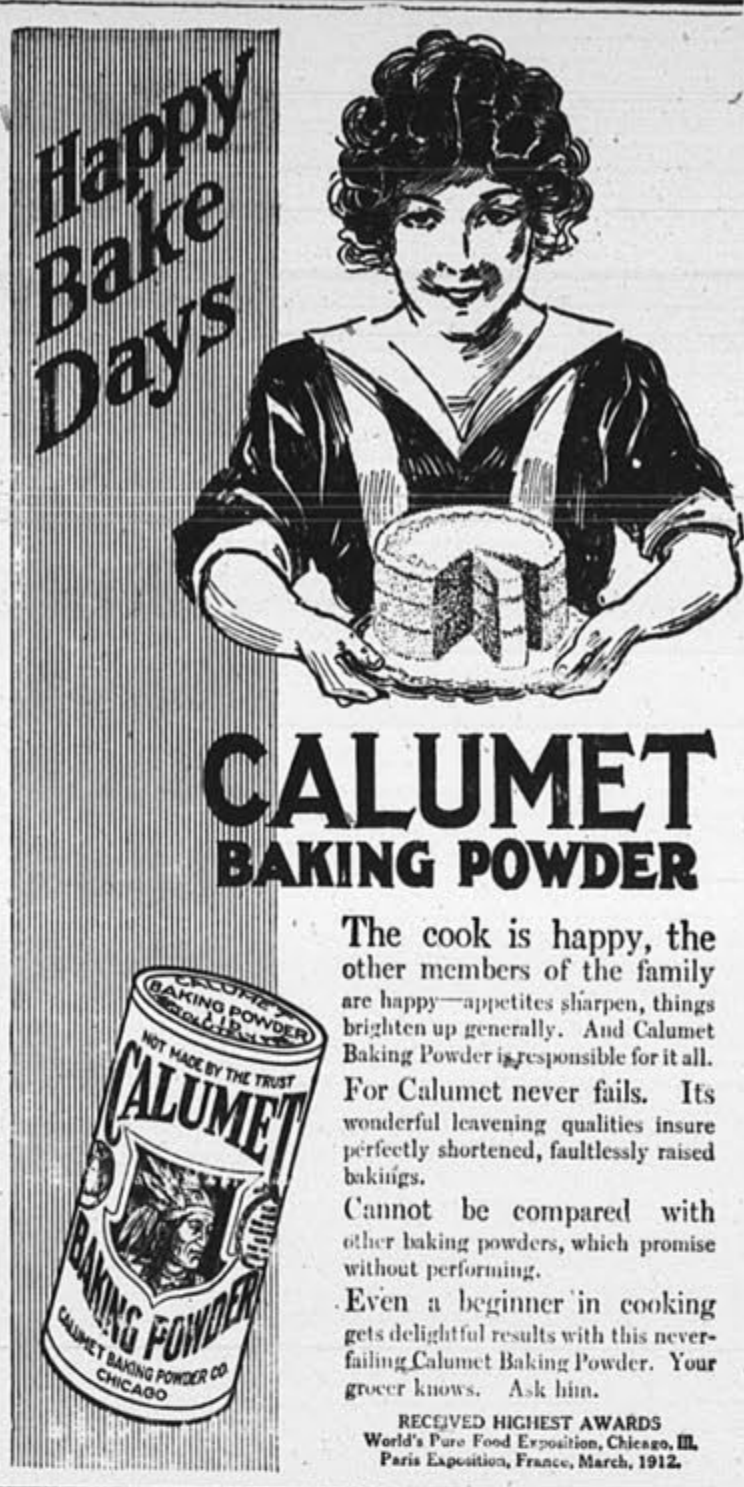

Nelson told a straight forward story and the testimony of other witnesses only corroborated his own story. In explanation of why he had shipped under the name of Edward Dexter he explained that it was easier to get a job when he called himself Dexter than when he gave his own name.

The testimony given this morning, with the exception of the alias, and the fact that he left Nahma very early in the morning after the robbery had taken place, walking to Rapid River, was not incriminating.

Thompson has a penchant for brides it would seem. He was married in Detroit about four years ago and later took unto himself a second without observing the formality of divorcing the first one. He was tried on a bigamy charge and sentenced to Marquette. He was released after serving two and a half years, on parole for a similar length of time and the parole is still in force. As a result of his latest escapade Thompson will probably serve out his unexpired term when he is called himself Dexter.

Sheriff Curran was in communication this morning with the warden of the Marquette penitentiary who has sent a deputy warden to Grand Rapids Thompson maintains that he was intoxicated when he secured his marriage license and when he made affidavit to the effect that he had never been married before. The girl, whom he married, he met a week previous to his marriage to her. She was employed as a waitress in a hotel in Grand Rapids.

"Mrs. Getchell was interviewed shortly after her husband's arrest. The man had begged the officers to say nothing to his wife of the trouble. 'It will crush her,' he told the officers. Mrs. Getchell was writing a letter to her brother in Montana when the newspaper man called at their home, 131 Bostwick avenue, N. E. The woman was tapping the machine keys of her husband's typewriter uncertainly. She was but a beginner and novelty of transforming her thoughts into blue lettered words was fascinating.

Bride's Family Not Informed.
"Her wide-opened eyes spoke her feelings. "See," and she pointed to the sheet in the typewriter. "I was writing my brother, telling him of my marriage. My folks don't know it yet. It was to be a surprise."

"At the age of twenty Jennie Coan left the home at Morley to seek work in the city. At first it was a struggle and even the toll and turmoil in the city failed to drive away the longing for home and mother—for the work she had always done and the quiet evenings at home with her parents. Frequently she returned to Morley to visit, to comfort her mother, to let the folks there know she was well and happy. She was working at the Crathmore and roomed at 334 Sheldon avenue, S. E., when she first met Getchell.

"Think of it," she muttered, "It was only a week ago Monday I first met him."

"Mrs. Getchell will go to Marquette with her husband. She must learn the truth from his very lips before her faith in him is shaken.

"The prisoner Tuesday afternoon sent a telegram to his mother at Escanaba, telling her not to carry out her plan to come to Grand Rapids to make him a visit."

Queer Fable About Cotton.

When cotton first came to Europe to make its principal center in Lancashire it was the subject of the quaint and wonderful fable of the "Vegetable Lamb." The fluffy white fibers of the bursting cotton pod so resembled sheep's wool that travelers reported that in Tartary there grew a shrub the fruit or boll of which contained "withinn a lyttle Beaste in Flesche, in Bone and Bloode, as though it were a lyttle Lambe with outer wool." After the lamb had been eaten the wool was : sde into cloth, continued this story, which is the earliest European account of the manufacture of cotton.

DRAIN COMMISSIONER SERVES SUIT NOTICE

Wants Clerk and Chairman of Board of Supervisors to Show Cause Why Order Was Not Granted

Dr. A. S. Winn, county drain commissioner, has served notice upon John A. Semer, county clerk and R. E. MacLean, chairman of the board of supervisors, to show cause why they should not draw an order for the amount he maintains due him for services as drain commissioner.

Dr. Winn maintains that Mr. Semer refused to draw an order for the amount of his bill and that Mr. MacLean likewise refused. Mr. MacLean states that the order was never presented to him.

Winn's bill is something over $800, regarded by the majority of the commissioners as exorbitant and the bill was refused. Hence the notice of suit against the county.

IRONWOOD BOY OF SIX SHOTS HUNTER

Gun Was Laid Down by Hunters and Child Picked it up and Pulled Trigger

(By Associated Press.)
Ironwood, Mich., Oct. 16.—Harry Strike, chief of police at Jessleville, was shot and killed Monday by a six-year-old boy. Several men had gone into a saloon, following a hunting trip and laid a shotgun on a table. The little boy, seeing the gun, took it up and walked where Chief Strike and others were sitting and, pointing the gun, pulled the trigger. The charge entered Strike's breast. An inquest quickly was held and the jury returned a verdict of accidental shooting. Strike is survived by a widow, two children and four step-children.

Misshapen Dog

A French scientist possesses a dog which, having been born without hind legs, has supplied nature's deficiency and has learned to walk and even to run quite swiftly on its two front legs. It holds the upright position with the greatest ease, turns, stops, stands resting, eats its food, etc., with its hind quarters poised over its head. It is said not to be more wearied by exercise than an ordinary dog.

DEVOUR LIVE STOCK

Imported Russian Bloodhound Disappears After a Bloody Lashing by Master and Forms Alliance With Wolf—Offspring Vindictive.

Ducweg, Mo.—Stories of the marauding expeditions of a pack of wolf-dogs were given a new turn recently when four of the eight children of William Gathel, a pioneer settler living five miles southeast of Ducweg, Mo., were attacked by the beasts.

The presence of their plucky shepherd dog and their own courage in assisting the animals with clubs and stones saved them from injury. Roy O'Home, living five miles from Ducweg, was less fortunate. A few weeks ago the animals took him in a lashing in the prairie, where he remained until morning, when he was able to summon help.

The animals' presence in the local scrub oak and prairie region southeast of Ducweg, known as the Grove Creek district dates back to a period about six years ago and the great-grandfather of the entire pack was a ferocious Russian bloodhound imported by Joseph Walker, a mine operator of Ducweg, about eight years ago. The beast could never be controlled, and finally after the creature had received a bloody lashing, at the hands of her master she disappeared, and in the course of time there was evidence that the bloodhound had formed an alliance with a wild wolf, of which there were a few scattered specimens in the woods at the time.

But if the original wild wolves and the original Russian bloodhound had been vicious, then their offspring become the acme of vindictiveness, and appeared that their mission in life was to avenge the beatings that the luckless bloodhound had received during her brief but checkered career in the little mining city.

Twenty farmers will vouch that the pack carried off their chickens, hogs, sheep, and in some instances even went so far as to kill and mutilate horses and cows. The pack of wolf dogs multiplied, the descendants from the original pair gradually taking more and more the appearance of dogs and losing the appearance

LITERAL IN HIS THEOLOGY

Darky Preacher's Humorous Comment on Biblical Text As He Understood Its Meaning.

Of old the right of individual private interpretation of the scriptures was not accorded to the laity. Only the priests or preachers were authorized to say what was meant by the sacred text. That has all been changed, and no man will now be expelled from the most orthodox church for believing that Balaam's palace mule did not really address his fellow citizens of Judea on the political issues of the day, or considering that the statement of the sun's standing still at the order of Captain Joshua was an illustrative allegory and not the record of a frozen fact.

This advance in theology is illustrated by the story of the darky preacher who delivered a sermon from the text, "These eight did Miltch bear."

"Muffrinds," said he, "you is singularly blessed by de Lawd in dis generation. If you wants some milk you done goes to youah cow, and at one milk you gets enough of de laceriferous fluid for eight people. In de olden times of which de Bible speaks it took eight folks to milk a bear, en I spees dey gets mighty litte milk at dat."—Los Angeles Times.

Spiders Catch and Eat Fish. Specimens of the spider known as Thalassius Spenceri are in the museum at Durban, Natal, and the curator, E. C. Chubb, has just made scientific announcement of the discovery of a member of this species in the act of catching fish for food.

One of the spiders was captured several years ago by the Rev. N. Abraham at Greytown, and it was placed in an aquarium. A servant boy soon noticed the creature eating a pet fish, and the startled clergyman left his study to watch.

The spider, three inches across with legs extended, stationed itself at the water's edge, with two legs on a stone and the eight others spread out on the water. After a time a fish came under the outstretched legs, which were suddenly thrown around it as the spider made a plunge, driving its fangs into its prey, and then at once climbing out on the rocks. It soon ate a fish of four times its own weight.

New York state now has 47 cities. The latest addition to the list is Lackawanna, up in Erie county, near Buffalo, whose first charter Governor Hughes signed a few days ago.

Eugene Henard, who attained fame with his palace of illusions at the Paris Exposition in 1900, has just completed a similar, but larger piece of eccentric architecture for exhibition in that city.

The BANK of PERSONAL SERVICE

Not a New Idea

Several of the trunk-line railways are just beginning to agitate the "SAFETY FIRST" idea.

The Safety First idea was adopted by the First National Bank back in 1871, the year it was founded.

If, at times, this may seem a conservative institution it is SAFETY born of long experience through days of reconstruction, of development, panics and prosperity.

No depositor in the First National Bank ever lost a penny. No depositor ever will. With us, it is not only Safety First—but SAFETY ALWAYS.

WHO'S GOT THE LOST PIECE OF FANCY WORK?

County Fair Officials are Searching for Exhibit That Was Lost

The officials of the Northern State Fair wish to announce that through an error in the domestic handiwork department a piece of needlework has in some way been checked out to the wrong person and the owner is very anxious to have it returned.

The officials are under the impression that the party in possession would have returned it immediately after the fair had they known where to return it, and they would appreciate it very much to have the article returned to Secretary Peterson at Blomstrom & Peterson's Jewelry Store.

The officials are in hopes this matter can be straightened out without having to check over every entry made in the needlework department to locate it and which would take several days work.

AT THE ORPHEUM

This evening will witness the opening of the winter season of permanent stock at the Orpheum Theatre. The Flaig Stock Co. is well and favorably known to the play-going public of this city, and with the opportunities offered by a larger theatre than they have hitherto occupied, are able to present a line of dramas which could not formerly be brought out.

"The Land of the Sky," a romantic drama of the Carolina mountains, will be the inaugural bill; it will be given with an elaborate scenic mounting and attention to detail in the matter of properties and lighting effects which always characterize Mr. Flaig's productions.

Contemplated changes in the personnel of the company, will enable Mr. Flaig to give a succession of the latest hits in American drama, and such "book-plays" as are of interest. Mr. Flaig has in contemplation, such well known royalty plays as "Ishmael," "Thorns and Orange Blossoms" and a number of the newer comedies of American life, the names of which will be announced at an early date.

MRS. H. HENDRICKSON PLEASANTLY SURPRISED ON BIRTH ANNIVERSARY

The friends of Mrs. H. Hendrickson gathered at her home on Wells avenue yesterday afternoon to help her celebrate her birth anniversary. The affair was a complete and most enjoyable surprise to Mrs. Hendrickson.

Games were enjoyed during the afternoon together, with music and luncheon was served with covers laid out for thirty.
