CORONER DOES NOT MAKE VERDICT PUBLIC—NO INDICATION THAT MAN HAD BEEN SHOT

DOCTORS BELIEVE HE WAS TAKEN SICK

W. J. Drake of Escanaba, Engineer of Train That Hit McDonald, Testifies at Inquest

The verdict reached by the jury that held the inquest over the remains of James McDonald, who was killed by a NorthWestern train near Beechwood on Wednesday, November 12, has not been made public, the coroner declining to allow anyone to see the verdict given him by the jury.

The testimony would indicate, however, that McDonald's death was entirely accidental and that he was not shot before the train hit him. Two physicians testified as to having examined the body and stated that they could find no evidence of a bullet wound. Although McDonald was known to be a man of excellent health and habits it is believed that he was taken sick while at work repairing the tracks and that he was unable to get off the tracks when the train whistled.

Wilson J. Drake, Escanaba, engineer of the train which killed McDonald, was present, but Charles Pariseau, the fireman did not appear. His run has been changed and he was not located. Mr. Drake testified that he first noticed the man when about 90 feet from him. He did not at first recognize that the object which he saw was a human being, but after going about fifty feet farther he saw that it was a man, and applied the emergency brakes, tooted the alarm whistle and started ringing the bell. He thought that he would have seen him sooner, but for the fact that the color of the mackinaw which McDonald wore closely resembled the ground. McDonald seemed to him to be lying face downward in the center of the track with his feet towards the main. Just before the train hit him he seemed that he moved his head a little. The snow-plow hit him, carried him to the right and threw him under the right front wheel of the engine, which passed over him, and then the body rolled out along side of the track. Mr. Drake said that he judged that he was going at the rate of about 43 miles per hour when he first saw the object in the road. The train was 18 minutes late out of Beechwood and he was trying to gain much time as possible.

CANNED FRUIT SHOWER FOR MISS VALENTINE

Shower of Fruit "All Dolled Up" Presented to Bride-To-Be.

The shower given on Saturday afternoon by Mrs. W. H. Dickson of Calverwood at the home of her mother, 55 Ruth street for Miss Ethel Ross Valentine who will be married tomorrow to E. A. Stewart of Ishpeming is a unique and distinct success. It was a fruit shower and the bride-to-be was presented with canned fruit of every known variety. The cans of fruit were dressed in doll dresses and devolved upon Miss Valentine to pick the prettiest dressed can doll. The one she chose was that decorated with Miss Clara Whitney. Each one present wrote a list of sentences spelling her name. The bride-to-be was bound and presented Miss Valentine. Games were enjoyed and buffet luncheon was served.

YOUTH, SHOT EARLY IN MORNING, HIDES UNTIL FOUND BY HIS BROTHER

WOUND IS NOT BELIEVED TO BE SERIOUS

Boys, Badly Frightened, Stay Four Hours in Basement of Doctor's Home Awaiting his Coming

With a bullet lodged in the muscles of his back Reuben Lessig a fourteen year old boy of Foster City, is staying at the Colonial hotel in this city awaiting further developments. The wound is not apparently giving the boy much trouble and it is not thought that results will be serious.

The boy was accidentally shot by Henry Ranger Saturday morning and at the instigation of the boy who shot him remained in hiding until late in the afternoon when he was given medical attention by Dr. Moll. Late Saturday night he was brought to this city and was placed under the care of Dr. H. W. Long.

According to the older brother of young Lessig, Reuben, who is fourteen years of age, and Henry Ranger a boy of the same age went into the woods north of Foster City Saturday. They had with them a twenty-two calibre revolver. The revolver dropped from Ranger's hand into the sand. He picked it up and slapped the gun against the palm of his hand to free it from sand. In doing so the gun was discharged and the bullet struck Lessig, who was standing about six feet away.

The bullet entered the boy's abdomen and followed the lower rib, lodged in the muscles of the back where it still remains. Lessig was taken by his companion to the home of Dr. Moll. The doctor was not at home.

Both Lessig and Ranger were badly frightened and when they found that the doctor was not in they went to the basement of his home where they remained to await his coming.

Meanwhile Lessig's family had become anxious about him and an older brother went out to hunt for him. He inquired of several boys as to his brother's whereabouts and their actions convinced him that something was wrong.

About one o'clock Ranger left the basement of Dr. Moll's home and went to the barn at the rear to hide the revolver. He was seen by Lessig's brother and when the latter insisted that he knew where Reuben was he finally confessed that he was in the cellar of Dr. Moll's home. About that time Dr. Moll returned home. Lessig's wound was dressed and Saturday night the boy, accompanied by his older brother, came to this city to have an X-ray photograph taken. The photograph showed the bullet lying in the muscles of the back. It is not thought that the boy will suffer any serious consequences.

BIG CROWD FOR TURKEYS

Fair Savings Bank Store Was Popular Place on Saturday Evening

When twenty-six turkeys were given away by the Fair Savings Bank store on Saturday night a crowd that filled Ludington street for two blocks was in evidence. The turkeys were given to the holders of coupons and everyone who held a coupon was on hand. The crowd was as good natured as it was big and those who didn't carry away a turkey were extremely good humored about it.

PRESIDENT OF BUSINESS MEN'S ASS'N FAVORS HOME CIGARS

President A. J. Young, of the Business Men's Association, Lends His Official Approval to Home Cigar Week—Believes It Is the Duty of Every Citizen to Boost the Home Product.

My attention has recently been called to the fact that nearly 10,000,000 cigars are consumed in Escanaba each year. A little more than one tenth that number are made by local manufacturers.

The Business Men's Association has been trying for the past several years to locate institutions here that would give employment to labor, but have only been partially successful. It occurs to me that we have an industry right here, that with a little attention on the part of the smokers could be developed in such a way that would give us a pay roll, of several hundred dollars each week.

The writer does not happen to be a smoker, but he is sure that with the right kind of encouragement the local cigar manufacturers would do everything in their power to give the smoker a cigar as good or better than those made in nearby cities or even in Florida, or Virginia or other southern states.

Every man who smokes can help boost Escanaba by insisting on smoking a home made cigar. As this is Home Cigar Week, and if you have not been in the habit of smoking home made cigars just do it this week and note the result. Let us do what we can to help the factories already located here.

A. J. YOUNG,
President Escanaba Business Men's Association.

JUDGE FLANNIGAN TO PRESIDE AT TRIALS OF HOUGHTON DEPUTIES

ATTORNEY RAISES LEGAL POINT AND ASKS THAT JUDGE FLANNIGAN PRESIDE—RE QUEST GRANTED

QUESTION RAISED WHEN TRIAL OPENED

Judge O'Brien the Second Cousin of One of the Five Deputies Accused of Murder

Judge Richard Flannigan of Norway present judge of the Delta county circuit court, will preside at the trial of Thomas and Edwin Polkinghorne, the deputies who are charged with the murder of two strikers near Painesdale on August 14.

The announcement came shortly after court convened in the Houghton county circuit court this morning for the trial of the defendants and followed a legal point raised by one of the attorneys for the defendant.

The attorney called the attention of Judge O'Brien to the fact that he (O'Brien) was the second cousin of one of the defendants, Edwin Polkinghorne and asked that for that reason another judge hear the case.

Judge O'Brien readily acquiesced and Judge Flannigan was agreed upon. He will leave as soon as possible for Calumet to preside at the trials of the deputies.

A great deal hinges on the result of these cases and Judge Flannigan will be almost as much in the limelight as he was when he heard the Roosevelt libel suit.

SALARIED CAT

The only salaried cat in the United States so far as one can find out has just died in New Orleans, and was given a proper burial. This was Old Tom, who for years had been carried on the board of trade as official rat catcher, with a salary of ten cents a day, and was never discharged, though in his later years he was as reluctant as other veteran office holders to get busy. But he had no enemies except of the feline sort, and his framed picture is to adorn the directors' room at the board of trade. FIND BODY OF HUNTER IN WOODS AFTER WEEK OF TIRELESS SEARCHING

KILLED BY BULLET WHICH PIERCED NECK

Body Found Last Evening at Edge of Thicket in the Midst of Vast Swamp, Mile From Camp

After a week's search for William Carrier, Jr., a searching party last evening at five o'clock found his body in a thicket, five miles to the north of Northland. A gaping wound in his neck told the story, he had been killed by an unknown hunter.

The body was found on the edge of a small thicket in the center of a large swamp about a mile distant from the camp which Carrier left Sunday, November 16. Beside it lay his gun with the charged shell remaining in the chamber.

In the party that found the body was William Carrier, sr., father of the deceased, who had been hunting almost ceaselessly, night and day, since the disappearance of his son.

On Sunday morning, a week ago, Carrier left the camp in company with a young man named Laird. They separated shortly after leaving the camp and when Laird returned to the camp that night he knew nothing of Carrier's whereabouts. No great alarm was felt at the time as it was thought

IN READINESS FOR THE WHITE HOUSE WEDDING

(By Associated Press.)

Washington, Nov. 24.—Although the wedding of Miss Jessie Wilson and Francis B. Sayre at the White House on Tuesday was the subject of absorbing interest in society circles Sunday there was no activity incident to the preparations or the event noticeable at the executive mansion.

It was like other Sundays at the White House under the Wilson administration—church in the morning, a long automobile ride in the afternoon and the quiet seclusion of the family apartments in the evening.

Curious Crowd at Church A big crowd of the curious gathered at the Central Presbyterian church where the Wilsons worship, Mr. Sayre accompanying the family. Later the betrothed couple motored through Rock Creek Park and the surrounding country.

Tomorrow is expected to be the busiest day the White House has seen since the inauguration. All the decorations are to be placed in the various parlors, and the finishing touches put on the East room, where the ceremony is to take place. A rehearsal for the entire affair took place for 3 o'clock this afternoon.

HOTEL RATES ARE LOW

Cards announcing the opening of the new Delta hotel late in December have been placed in the various hotels in the Upper Peninsula and Wisconsin.

The rates are announced as $2.50 to $3.50 per day, American plan; fifty cents to $2 per day, European plan. The decoration of the hotel is fast nearing completion and the managers believe that the hotel will be ready for the opening during Christmas week.

RESPONSIBILITY FOR LOSS OF PLYMOUTH IN STORM WILL BE FIXED

FEDERAL INVESTIGATION IS PROBABLE—MCKINNON PLACES BLAME ON CAPTAIN SETUNSKY

SETUNSKY LAYS BLAME ON MCKINNON

Owner of Tug Says Setunsky Wasn't Capable of Handling the Tug Martin

Charges and counter charges as to the responsibility for the loss of the barge Plymouth off Gull Island in the recent storm, are flying thick and fast in Menominee where the members of the crew and the owners of the tug Martin, which abandoned the barge, reside.

Captain McKinnon, who with Captain Scott owns the tug Martin, maintains that Captain Setunsky, who was in charge, was responsible for the loss of the Plymouth while Captain Setunsky misrepresents to him the condition of the tug's machinery.

McKinnon maintains that Setunsky did not hold, contrary to his claims, papers that entitled him to take the tug and barge to Search bay, to which port the tug and barge were bound when the Plymouth was lost. Saturday's Menominee-Herald Leader contains a copy of a telegram from United States Steamboat Inspectors York and Gooding, and answered to an inquiry as to what and where Setunsky's license permitted him to navigate. The answer reads: Master and second-class pilot on steam and motor vessels of thirty-five gross tons and less; waters of Green Bay and northwestern portion of Lake Michigan between Manitowoc and Escanaba.

YORK AND GOODING Local Inspectors.

The register shows that the gross tonnage of the tug Martin is 54 tons. Setunsky maintains that had the tug's machinery been in the condition represented to him by McKinnon he could have taken the barge to safety. McKinnon alleges that had a competent man been in command of the Martin the barge would not have been lost.

Setunsky claims that the Plymouth was only anchored after he had held a conference with McKinnon. He further maintains that he thought the distress signals on the Plymouth would be used and that an ore carrier from Escanaba would pick up the crew.

McKinnon has asked for a federal investigation of the loss to the Plymouth, and as to Setunsky's competency. He maintains that an ore carrier out of this port all but ran the tug Martin down because Setunsky didn't know how to handle the tug.

Feeling in Menominee runs high. Both McKinnon and Setunsky are being criticized, the finding of the note from Chris Keenan having increased the feeling. A federal investigation is probable.

FUNERAL OF LITTLE GUN VICTIM IS HELD

Residents of Lathrop and Turin Turn out to Funeral

Funeral services over the remains of little Clayton Pomeroy, eight year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Pomeroy of near Lathrop, who was accidentally shot by his older brother on Saturday morning, were held this afternoon at the parent's home. Burial was made in the McFarland Hill cemetery.

Practically every resident of Lathrop and Turin was in attendance. Undertaker J. A. Allo of this city has charge of the funeral.

Two social events that were to take place this evening in Turin have been postponed because of the child's death.

A Discovery

By MARY L. BLACKISTON

One day a man stood in London beside one of those holes left for the use of persons who descend to the sewers. The place was in an unfrequented portion of the city, and there was no one near him. He looked about him and listened for a footfall, then, producing a crowbar, inserted one end under the round metal cover of the hole and, lifting it, descended, permitting the cover to fall back into its place. Once in the sewer he drew from under his ragged coat a lantern.

John Murphy made his living by picking up articles that, having got into the sewer, were lost to their owners. Soon he found an umbrella. It was covered with sewer mud, but was of silk with an elaborately carved handle. John knew that when new it was worth a couple of sovereigns; when cleaned he might get half of that for it. This was unusual luck. He went on looking about him for other articles, but after an hour's walk had found nothing. He was about to leave the sewer when he stumbled on the biggest find in his life—no, the biggest find in the world.

He came to a place where a small piece of the masonry had fallen in. Pointing the bullseye of his lantern upward, he threw the light into the aperture left vacant and disclosed a broken floor composed of marble squares. Piling the fallen debris so as to enable him to get his hands on what was above him, he drew himself up and found himself in a room. Throwing his light about him, he saw a number of boxes, some of which were loosely covered. Examining the contents of one of them, he threw his light on gold coins. Other boxes contained like contents. In the room was a treasure of inestimable value.

It was now night. Murphy wished to emerge by a manhole near the break and took the risk of doing so. Several persons saw him, but thought nothing of the matter. As soon as he got up on the street he saw straight before him the Bank of England. Then he knew that he had been in the strong room of the largest banking institution in the world.

One morning the governor of the bank received a note addressed to him, ungrammatical, mispelled, bearing every evidence of having been written by an illiterate person. The writer said that the bank was in danger of losing a great deal of money. A letter addressed to John Murphy at a certain postoffice substation, inviting the said Murphy to state his case to the governor, would receive attention. Many odd letters reach the Bank of England, and Murphy's letter was weeded out of the governor's mail before reaching him.

A few days later the bank received by express ten sovereigns wrapped in a piece of paper, on which was written in pencil the number of the box in the strong room from which they had been taken. The money in the box was counted and found to be short by ten sovereigns.

The incident excited a commotion among the officials of the bank. A meeting in the governor's private room was called to consider the loss and how it could have occurred. No one dreamed that there was a hole in the floor of the strong room, and no one could suggest a probable way by which the coins sent to the bank had been removed. While the officials were considering, John Murphy appeared before an official at a desk and said that he wished to see the governor. Having been questioned by the startled official, he said that he was the man who had sent the ten sovereigns to the bank and was there to tell how he got them.

The official had not heard of the sending of the coins, for that had been kept a profound secret. He told John Murphy to move on, and John did so, but to another part of the building, where he told his story again and again. He was just about to be taken into custody by a bank policeman when a prominent official of the bank who knew the secret of the returned sovereigns happened to inquire his offense.

Within five minutes the ragged sewer searcher was standing in the governor's room confronting a number of sleek looking directors. He was permitted to speak and told the assembly how he had got into the strong room from the sewer and how he or any one else who knew the secret might go and come at will.

If the receipt of the sovereigns had caused a commotion this information raised a whirlwind of excitement. A committee was sent to examine the strong room and returned confirming Murphy's information. John was held for two reasons—the money must be counted to make sure that he had not appropriated any of it, and if he should tell the secret the matter would make a much greater sensation among the public than even it did among the officials of the bank.

The count required a long while, and during the time it was in progress the sewer was repaired and the room made strong. When it was all over the discoverer of the break was summoned to the governor's room.

"How many persons have you told of this matter?" asked the latter. "No one except you in the bank." "On that table are a thousand sovereigns. Take them and make yourself comfortable. You are also appointed one of the strong room watchers with a salary of £500 a year."

This is "HOME CIGAR WEEK."

SAW STREET AT A BAD TIME

New Yorker's Explanation to Provocetown Visitor Who Disparaged Broadway.

As the Lexington avenue car turned a corner, and the conductor yelled "Broadway," two women on the front seat leaned far out, and anxiously scanned the street. After a few minutes, one said:

"Well, say what they may about the crowded streets of New York, I just tell you, Sarah, I'm disappointed in my first sight of Broadway. It isn't half as crowded as Westminster street, in Providence."

A young man who belonged in this town was sitting in front of the two women. He hitched uneasily while Sarah agreed that New York crowds did not come up to expectations, then apparently unable to stand these slurs on his native city, turned around: "Excuse me for interrupting," he said, "but you just wait till noon, and I bet the streets will be more crowded than they are in Providence."—New York Evening Post.

GRANDMA NEVER LET HER HAIR GET GRAY

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. For 50 cents you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use tonic called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant. You will also discover dandruff is gone and hair has stopped falling.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur and look years younger.

Babies and Clothes. According to a London specialist, if white clothing for babies could be abolished, in a generation there would be a 20 per cent decrease in the number of persons with defective eyes.

AT BOTTOM OF EVERYTHING

If you are cranky instead of amiable... If you are bad instead of good, or if you are unhappy instead of happy, it may not be your own fault after all, but rather the condition of your brain and of your eye.

It is now possible, declares Dr. Hood, to make a man a useful member of society, no matter how erratic, unbalanced, and disagreeable he has been, simply by seeing his brain and eye muscles receive proper nourishment.

An examination of the eyes of such a person shows his brain doesn't get enough blood. The blood can be sent there till the part is normal. Then the man becomes benevolent and kindly.

DENNIS TO SAIL AMERICA'S CUP YACHT.

Well Known Skipper Considered Logical Successor of Barr.

William S. Dennis has been selected as the skipper of Alexander S. Cochran's America's Cup yacht that is being designed by William Gardner and is to be built by Lawley & Son of Boston. Captain Dennis has never had command of an America's cup defender or even a boat built for a defender, but he is one of the best known racing skippers in the country and has been considered by most yachtsmen to be the logical successor of the late Captain Charles Barr.

They raced against each other on many occasions, and each scored victories over the other. While skipper of the schooner Elmira Captain Dennis won an enviable reputation for keen judgment under trying weather conditions, frequently going off on what seemed futile wind hunting expeditions and thereby turning apparent defeat into victory. He is also one of the cleverest professionals in the game of jockeying and taking advantage of others' weaknesses, and if the Cochran boat is selected as the defender over the Herreshoff craft being built for a syndicate of New York Yacht club members the skipper of Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock IV. will find a worthy foe ready for him off Sandy Hook.

Material Used to Patch Holes in Bed Through Which the Water Periodically Vanishes.

It has been found necessary to put another patch on the bed of the Blanco river, says the Martindale (Tex.) Dispatch. This stream has a remarkable way of losing itself, and in order to restore it to its surface channel, a concrete patch has been placed upon the holes through which it disappears.

CONCRETE TO HOLD A RIVER

For many years it has been emptying portions of its flow into small holes in its bed, but it was not until about a year ago that the entire bottom, so to speak, dropped out at a point near San Marcos.

In one night the river below that point went dry. It had had a width of nearly 200 feet and was flowing a strong current until the sudden disappearance of the water. The drying up of the stream meant heavy losses to persons dependent upon it for water supply.

Civil engineers were consulted in regard to restoring the flow, and it was decided to patch the hole into which the water was emptying. This was done at a heavy expense.

A few days ago the river wore another big hole through the bed twenty miles northeast of here and the same method of patching is being followed.

New Time System Puzzles.

The use of the new twenty-four-hour time system in France is likely to give rise to some rather curious results. One of these is brought out by A. De Mortellet, and relates to the striking of the hour.

It will not be very practical to use twenty-four strokes or less in succession, as these would be very difficult to count after a certain point. The number of strokes should therefore be reduced in some way.

He proposes using a double chime, one bell for units and the second for tens, the two bells to have a different tone. Or else with a single bell rapid strokes would show the tens, and slow strokes the units.

With two bells, one bell gives strokes up to nine. The second bell rings once for ten. For eleven, the first bell rings once and the second once, and so on in the decimal system. For twenty, the first bell rings

CHIVALRY OF THE ANIMALS

One of the most interesting of all the human traits in the animals is that of chivalry, as shown by the animals in their attitude toward the young and weak. It is an unwritten law in the animal world that the young have rights which must be respected. This accounts for the unusual sight, sometimes seen, when a fierce dog who has thrashed every other dog in the neighborhood, and has become a terror to every upstart in puppydom, will turn tail and flee in an apparent terror when a young dog or kitten is presented to him.

The maternal and paternal instincts are among the strongest of all. Parents will grieve over the loss of the young, but they apparently have no conception of death. There is deep sympathy, or something very close to it among animals. A cry of distress from a fellow-beast or bird in trouble will bring others from all directions. There is a powerful instinct on the part of all animals to protect the young when in trouble. Hogs and cattle are among the most dangerous of domestic animals when aroused; the surest way to arouse them is to injure their young. Let a bird utter a call for help, and instantly the air around will be filled with feathered champions of the victim.

HAVE COLOR IN YOUR CHEEKS

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study with his patients.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color.

If you want a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days, you must get at the cause. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects. They start the bile and overcome constipation. That's why millions of boxes are sold annually at 19c and 25c per box.

Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, O.

Small Mercies.

The young English tourist who had been staying for a week at a hotel in the Scottish highlands, for the purpose of taking advantage of the fishing, was, at the end of that time, rather inclined to think that the fishing had taken advantage of him. He had caught nothing, and his expenses, of course, had been none the less heavy.

On the last day of his stay, however, he landed a fine salmon.

"Well, Donald," he said to a canny Scot at the hotel, as he proudly surveyed the fish: "It's a nice catch, and so it ought to be. It has cost me £15 at least."

Seasickness a Blessing.

Good news is announced by the Austrian specialist, Dr. Rekkel-Permer, who declares that seasickness is a blessing, and that, so far from trying to avoid it, the holiday-maker should welcome it. The doctor was led to this discovery by the observation that patients sent on sea voyages got surprisingly well, despite the fact that they were continually seasick, and ought by theory to have been weakened. On the other hand, patients who were not seasick benefited only to a normal extent. "It is quite plain," says the doctor, "that seasickness is an essential part of the sea cure. People, it is true, have died from eating, exercise and other necessary and desirable things."

wife and children. I determined to go away from them with her, but that we might not be traced we determined to disappear. Dressed as a man, she personated a traveling salesman and took one of two adjoining rooms at your hotel. I followed, taking the other. Early in the morning she got into the sample trunk. I smeared the sheets with blood from a cut in my own finger, then carried her in the trunk downstairs, out and up the street to her room, where she got out of the trunk. I then took it out again, hailed a cabman and was driven to a station. The woman afterward joined me in another city.

"We lived together for a few months, then quarreled. I settled a sum of money on her, she agreeing to leave me and keep our secret. Then, desiring to return to my family, I invented the scheme of pretending to have lost my memory."

Hinton convinced the landlord that the money deposited in the safe belonged to him, and the latter returned it. The secret has been kept thus far so well that it has never come to the knowledge of the Hinton family.

"The American girl," said Mayor Ainslie, at a bachelor dinner in Richmond, "is noted for her beauty and intelligence, and she is also noted for her adroitness. Circumstance can never confound her."

"Wait, wait!" she cried.

FOURTEEN CARRIERS TO LOAD AT LOCAL DOCKS

Shipping Season Will Close When Fourteen Carriers Have Cleared

Friday or Saturday of this week will mark the closing of the shipping season at the St. Paul docks and the last boat will load at the North Western docks sometime during the early part of the coming week.

There are no carriers loading at the St. Paul docks at the present time. The steamer Republic is due here tomorrow and on Wednesday three other carriers are expected. When the four carriers have cleared the shipping season will close.

Three carriers are now loading at the North Western docks. Ten carriers are expected this week or the early part of the coming week and when these have cleared the season for the North Western docks will close. The superintendents of both docks expect the total tonnage to closely approximate that of last year.

BILLIARD HALLS TO CLOSE AT MIDNIGHT

On Mayor's Order Boys Under Eighteen and All High School Students Will be Excluded

In accordance with the request of Mayor Chatfield, high school students and all boys under eighteen years of age will be excluded from the billiard halls of Escanaba. In the future the billiard halls will close promptly at midnight.

Mayor Chatfield has been urged to have the state law as regards billiard halls enforced in this city and he accordingly formulated an order which he this morning showed to the owners of the billiard halls in the city. Every one of the proprietors expressed a desire to obey the law strictly and assured Mayor Chatfield that all high school students and boys under eighteen would not be allowed to frequent their places of business. They also assured him that after twelve o'clock the billiard halls would be closed.

MOST SILENT CLUB IN WORLD

It is Located in London, England, and Called the National Deaf Club.

London boasts possession of the most silent club in the world. It is called the National Deaf club, and the moving spirit and president is A. J. Wilson, who, despite the handicap of being deaf and dumb, conducts a most successful business in the city. Of course, the National Deaf club is a unique institution. There are no talkative waiters, no electric bells, no large print notices calling upon members to be silent in this or that room.

Nearly two hundred members use the premises, in which they can dine and wine or play cards and billiards whenever they like. Women are admitted and at present form about a third of the roll. Bells being unnecessary, signs are resorted to. Thus when one presses the bell of the hall door a red light appears over the doorway and brings the attendant at once. A similar arrangement notifies the waiter when his services are required.

Those fortunate persons who can speak and hear and who have been privileged to watch a game of billiards declare it is more than a relief to see a contest where neither party voices his grievances as he goes along. There are no criticisms of the table, the balls or the cue. Everything is peaceful and quiet. There are some remarkable men belonging to the National Deaf club. One, for example, is head of an important railway firm in Syria and has under his control hundreds of men of all nationalities.

Another member has traveled over the world a record number of times, always unaccompanied, and though he has been in many uncivilized lands has always been able to look after himself. Then there are members who earn their own living in various professions. One actually teaches music; another is a nurse. There is an annual banquet for deaf and dumb persons, which is usually presided over by some eminent mute.—Chicago Trib.

The matter was reported to the police, but the mystery was not solved, though it was further suggested by the inspector that Walkley had seen Russell draw the money from the bank. The landlord was directed that if Russell returned for his money to make the fact known at once, and efforts were made to trace Walkley. A hackman was found who reported that a man in the street had hailed him early in the morning of the murder and asked him to carry himself and an oblong trunk to a railway station. But the cabman reported that he had lifted the trunk on to his box beside his seat and it could not have weighed more than twenty-five or thirty pounds.

About the time that this Walkley-Russell affair happened a certain Edward Hinton disappeared, leaving behind him a wife and three children. He kissed his wife one morning previous to going to his office and was never afterward seen by any one who knew him. Mrs. Hinton reported his disappearance to the police and had a thorough search made of the hospitals without finding her husband. The two mysteries were not thought of as having any connection with each other, but if they had and the date of Mr. Hinton's vanishing had been compared with that of the occurrence of the Russell affair it would have been found that on the evening of the day Hinton disappeared Russell and Walkley put up at the Kensington hotel.

Three months after Hinton's disappearance his wife was summoned to a hospital, where she found her husband. He did not appear to be seriously ill, but said that he did not know how he had come to be there. It seemed to be a case of loss of memory. He was taken home, and, though he seemed somewhat dazed for a few days, within a week had returned to his daily duties.

One day he went to the Kensington hotel and asked for a private interview with the landlord. Being closeted together, he offered to reveal the Russell-Walkley mystery on condition that the matter be kept a secret. The landlord gave the required pledge, and Mr. Hinton said:

"I am really Hinton, but besides being Hinton I am Walkley. Russell was and is a woman. I became infatuated with her and for her deserted my

IS NEARING COMPLETION

Installation of Plumbing will Complete Addition to Almshouse
 The new addition to the county infirmary is complete but for the plumbing, and as soon as it is done, the distressful crowding now prevalent will be avoided. The new structure is in design a model. Improved methods are shown in the heating, ventilation, plumbing and superior lighting of the wing. It has special arrangements for the care of tuberculous patients, who will be segregated from the others, and furnished open air sleeping quarters. Superintendent Olmsted has been devoting much of his time of late to care of the institution, a recent change having been made in the management. One thing might engage the attention of the charitable, the providing of a little amusement for those whom the county furnishes necessities; but whose existence is at the best a dreary and monotonous one—Gladstone Delta.

Those Who Scoff to Start Small, Seldom Start At All

In saving money, the account—not the amount, is of first importance.

A few dollars for a beginning are better than no dollars in later years. We invite new saving accounts of any amount from one dollar up.

You will never save money until you can save the small sums and a First National Bank savings account will help you by paying 3 per cent interest twice a year.

ANOTHER CASE OF SMALLPOX IN CITY

Woodman Taken to Isolation Hospital—Epidemic is Feared
 Another case of small pox developed in the city today. The victim is a woodman, who has been staying in the city for several weeks.
 The patient was taken this morning to the isolation hospital near the county farm. The building has been thoroughly renovated and is now in fair shape for the reception of patients.
 Three thorough fumigations, three coats of white paint on the walls, new furniture, etc., have made the shack habitable.
 Mayor Chatfield and Health Officer Kitchen are making every endeavor to secure a building within the city limits for the isolation of contagious diseases. If none can be found the city will build one. Health Officer Kitchen stated this morning that he believed the city was ripe for an epidemic of small pox and he urges every one to go to their family physician and be vaccinated. Those who are absolutely unable to pay for vaccination will be vaccinated free of charge by Dr. LeMire or Dr. Kitchen.

SEEK RELIEF OF EXILED PRISONERS IN RUSSIA

European Newspapers Publish Appeal From Prominent Men and Women for Relief
 (By Associated Press.)
 Berlin, Germany, Nov. 24.—The sufferings through disease and ill treatment of the Russian political prisoners exiles is set forth in an appeal published in many European newspapers over the signatures of several hundred prominent men and women of Germany, England, France and other countries.
 An epidemic of suicide is said to prevail among the banished political offender who say it is their only salvation. The signers will form a committee to collect and publish the facts.
