HOME CIGARS ARE IN DEMAND BY ESCANABA SMOKERS THIS WEEK

SMOKERS ARE FINDING THAT CIGARS MANUFACTURED HERE ARE WELL UP TO THE STANDARD

SUITABLE THANKSGIVING REMEMBRANCE

Twenty Merchants Have Attractive Window Displays of Home Cigars—Enthusiasm Keen

The smokers of Escanaba are showing their patriotism and the demand for home cigars is keen. Many smokers are finding that the home product is superior to that produced in localities that have gained wide fame as cigar manufacturing centers and the benefits to the local manufacturers are sure to be lasting.

The merchants of the city are entering into the spirit of the occasion with commendable enthusiasm. Twenty display windows have been devoted to the exposition of home cigars and the displays in every instance are most attractive.

If upon your first application you don't find a home cigar that suits you try another. You haven't displayed your patriotism until you have tried every brand manufactured at home. You are sure to find just exactly what you have been looking for in the selection.

A box of cigars, manufactured in Escanaba, would make a nice Thanksgiving remembrance. When you buy your Christmas cigars don't forget that you are handing your home city a little knock if you fail to buy a brand that is manufactured right here in the city.

MUSICAL PROGRAM AT THE UNION SERVICES

Quartet and Duet at Union Thanksgiving Services Tomorrow

The arrangements are completed for the Union Thanksgiving Meeting, which will be held tomorrow morning promptly at 10:30 at the First Methodist Episcopal Church. Eight churches are united for that meeting. It will begin promptly on time, the Organ voluntary ending at 10:30, and it will close promptly at 11:30, in full for dinners. A double quartet under the leadership of Mrs. Lint will sing a special anthem by Eichhorn, Honor, Thanksgiving and other. Also Mrs. Lint and Miss Albert will sing a duet. The purpose and the significance of Thanksgiving is lost unless it be a day of thanksgiving; private thanksgiving does not in any way accomplish its object. The First Methodist Episcopal Church ought to be far too glad to accommodate the people wishing to join in this public expression of gratitude to Almighty God. Let us praise the church.

POSTPONE THE ANNUAL BANQUET OF ESCANABA BUSINESS MEN'S ASS'N

DIRECTORS OF ASSOCIATION DECIDE TO HOLD SIXTH ANNUAL EVENT IN JANUARY

11 OF 13 DIRECTORS ATTEND MEETING

Banquet Will in All Probability be Held in The Delta Hotel—Business Matters Discussed

At an enthusiastic meeting of the board of directors of the Escanaba Business Men's Association held last evening it was decided to postpone the annual banquet, which was set for December until an early date in January. Although the plans for the sixth annual banquet have not as yet been completed it is highly probable that it will be held in the Delta hotel, which, according to present plans, will be open for business on December 20.

Several matters of vital importance to the city were discussed at last night's meeting.

WOMEN HEAR READING OF THE "INNER STUDY"

None Leave When Judge Suggests That Sun Worshipers' Book May Embarrass

Chicago, Nov. 26.—A crowded assemblage, many of the number being fashionably dressed women, massed in the United States district court here today to hear the reading of "Inner Study," the book of instructions of the Mazdeean sun worshippers' cult.

The book has been denounced as objectionable by the government prosecutor, and Ottoman Zar Adusht, Hanish leader of the cult, is on trial for sending it by express in interstate commerce.

Judge Mack suggested that women leave the courtroom to avoid possible embarrassment. None left.

Before the reading started three men thought to be members of the sun worshippers, started burning dried orange peel and incense outside the courtroom door. The fumes penetrated to the balcony and the impromptu shrine was ordered removed.

Passages from "Inner Study" as read to the jury are:

"Every morning and evening, the body should be aired, exposing it to the sun.

"Woman is the temple of the living God, for she is the mother, the life-giver.

"Oriental women are the most beautiful in the world, for the reason that they walk in the air in a nude condition for several hours each day."

Hanish will attempt to prove that the book is a medical work, and that his religion is based on the ethical teachings of Zoroaster.

When court adjourned, only forty-one of the 206 pages of the book had been read. To this point the book was devoted to an exposition of the theory that the methods used in creating a fine breed of cattle could be used to advantage in human beings.

SERVICES AT SWEDISH LUTHERAN CHURCH TOMORROW MORNING

(By Associated Press.)

Port Huron, Nov. 26.—The Grand Trunk railway shops burned here today with a loss of nearly $1,000,000 resulting. A thousand workmen will be idle for a time.

PROCLAMATION

Not as the mayor, but as a private citizen, who has the best interests of the city at heart, I want to commend the action of THE MIRROR in the boost that it has given to the local cigar business this week.

The manufacturers are also to be congratulated upon their enterprise in getting their cigars before the public.

As a citizen I want to ask all patriotic smokers of this city to join in making "Home Cigar Week" a success.

No better cigars are made in any other town in the country.

Smoke the home product, not only this week but every week. You will never regret it.

More cigar makers mean more money for the city. Smoke up.

STRIKER IS FATALLY INJURED BY DEPUTY IN RIOT IN CALUMET

RIOTING FOLLOWS ATTEMPT OF DEPUTY TO PLACE A STRIKER UNDER ARREST—STRIKE LEADER HURT

SITUATION MORE SERIOUS THAN EVER

Deputy is Placed Under Arrest—Says he Fired Only to Save His Own Life When Attacked

(By Associated Press.)

Calumet, Nov. 26.—Philip Mihelich, a striker, was probably fatally shot by Lloyd Lyman, a guard, in a riot this morning.

Lyman says he was attacked after he had arrested a man and was on his way to the jail. A number of strikers joined in the effort to release the prisoner and when more deputies appeared a riot followed. The deputies were routed and fled with the strikers in pursuit. Lyman was caught and badly beaten. He fired in self defense and Mihelich fell.

John Goggia, one of the most prominent of the strike leaders, was injured in the melee.

The situation looks more serious than ever before.

(By Associated Press.)

New York, Nov. 26.—Thomas F. Denny, a Democratic assemblyman, Leonard Cohen, a dress goods manufacturer and prominent Tammanyite, and two unknown women were killed this morning in an automobile crash in the Bronx.

All were killed instantly in a head on collision between Cohen's car and that of Bert T. Rich, a garage owner, whose car was operated by Jeremiah Mahoney and who is being held on technical charge of homicide.

Eight others were injured in the crash. The two women were decidedly well dressed, but at an early hour they had not been identified.

NEWLYWEDS MISSING

Whereabouts of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Sayre is Being Kept Secret

(By Associated Press.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—The whereabouts of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Sayre is unknown. With the departure of the guests and the removal of decorations the White House resumed its usual appearance. The flowers have been sent to the hospitals and the wedding gifts packed for shipment to Williamstown, Mass., the future home of the couple.

FEDERAL OFFICER SHOT-AS A SPY

The man was shot by a Rebel officer who tried to escape the capture of Juarez, Mexico, by General Pancho Villa, the Carranza leader. The Federal officer endeavored to make his escape disguised in civilian's clothes. Things are done with dispatch in Mexico. Following his capture, and the establishment of his identity as a Federal officer, he was promptly lined against the stone wall, shown in the photograph and shot to death by the soldiers, seen at the left, under command of the Rebel officer shown on horseback.

Rules of war, seldom observed in Mexico, by the way, made the victim of the firing squad a spy. Caught within Rebel lines, a Federal officer not in uniform, becomes a spy, and as such, is given little consideration or mercy. A drum head, or field court martial is held, and within a few minutes after the convening of the court, the spy, blindfolded, is backed up against a wall and shot.

ROUT OF FEDERAL ARMY AT JUAREZ APPEARS TO BE MOST DECIDED ONE

GREAT SUFFERINGS FOLLOWS BATTLE OF OVER THIRTY HOURS—RED CROSS FAILS TO RESPOND

NO FEAR OF RENEWAL OF THE ATTACK

Hotels Are Turned Into Hospital and American Doctors Are Helping the Wounded

(By Associated Press.)

El Paso, Texas, Nov. 26.—The Rebels are digging up the mines about the outskirts of Juarez confident that the Federals have been driven away and that there will be no more attacks.

The battle that came to a close yesterday morning lasted thirty hours when the Federals fled in "full and shameless" retreat over the hills to their trains, leaving the field pieces in the possession of General Villa.

Three hundred are said to have been killed and many more wounded. The American Red Cross has failed to respond to the appeals for aid from the Rebels and so far only the men wounded in the head and body have been cared for. The broken arms and legs and bullet wounds in the arms and legs have not been attended to.

The slightly wounded have bandaged themselves, some cutting the bullets from their flesh with pocketknives.

The hotels at Juarez have been turned into hospitals. Because of the lack of bandages, medicine and food the suffering is great. The American doctors are helping but they have little to work with.

Several Federal captives have been executed. Before they were killed they were forced to strip so that the Rebels could wear their clothes without bullet or blood marks.

Funeral services will be held Friday morning in the All Saints church at Gladstone.

PARCELS POST HASN'T ELIMINATED MIDDLEMAN

Foodstuffs Shipped From Country to Chicago Hardly Worth Considering

(By Associated Press.)

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 26.—The parcel post system has grown to enormous proportions but it has yet failed to meet expectations in as much as it has failed to bring the farmer and the city man to touch, eliminating the "middleman." The amount of foodstuffs shipped from the country to the city of Chicago was practically null in 1912.

FRIENDS OF ESCANABA MAN EXPECT HIM TO ANNOUNCE HIS CANDIDACY FOR FOURTH TERM

TWO OTHER CANDIDATES IN THE FIELD

Position is Conceded to be Strong and His Choice in Convention Would Seem Assured

It is generally understood throughout the Upper Peninsula that Hon. O. B. Fuller of this city, who has been spoken of as a candidate for governor will stand for another nomination for auditor general, an office that he is now filling for the third consecutive term.

The chances that he will be chosen for the fourth term are excellent for his record is one that merits him the strongest approbation of the voters of Michigan. He is regarded as one of the most efficient men who ever held the office.

Politically his position should be strong. He will doubtless have the united support of the Upper Peninsula delegation and considerable from lower Michigan.

At present there are two prospective candidates against Mr. Fuller. One is Dr. Arthur Seidmore, of Three Rivers, who was Fuller's rival for the nomination in 1912, and the other is William Bierd, of Bay county, a member of the legislature. Of the two men Seidmore is most likely to make trouble for Mr. Fuller, but the political wiseacres believe that he will be able to go into the convention with more delegates than either of his opponents if not with a clear majority.

Giant Posters in Twelve Colors Showing Wise Men Paying Homage to Christ

The Posters Association of the United States will place on the bill boards throughout the United States, posters showing the Wise Men Paying Homage to Christ and Grant's rise from humble surroundings to the presidency of the United States.

Three of each subject, six in all, will be posted on the bill boards of this city, Mr. Peterson giving the use of his bill boards for the purpose. The posters will be twenty-one feet long, ten feet high and in twelve colors. Weather permitting the posters will be put up about December 11 and allowed to remain as long as they hang together.

"Great"—you'll hear that from almost everybody at the table every time a plate of Aunt Jemima's delicious pancakes comes in piping hot from the kitchen. Aunt Jemima's makes the finest cakes that ever went into your mouth—the plump, tender kind—light as a feather—temptingly browned, and Um! so delicious to taste. Spread thick with good, fresh butter and lots of syrup, they are great.

Have Aunt Jemima's for tomorrow's breakfast. Takes just a minute to stir 'em up. Good for waffles and muffins, too.

is done at Wells is but the completed picture of the work started at Flat Rock by the same man and in methods represents the evolution of half a century. The picture is inclusive, from the ox team to the steam logger. The company here is largely Stephenson's company, his work, his plan and expresses but one of his activities though such industrial captains as is R. E. MacLean, superintendent and manager at Wells.

This company gives employment to about 3,500 men in all its branches. It converts 100,000,000 feet of timber annually and works up a considerable portion of this big output. It ships 10,000,000 feet of lumber into Canada and the Stephenson ideal flooring, one of the specialties of this plant, goes into every civilized part of the world. The company owns approximately 400,000 acres of land and it is the boast of Manager MacLean that there is not one acre of it, not used for timber, building or factory purposes, that is not for sale to settlers. MacLean himself is a farmer and there are five farms under his management. This year he grew 4,000 bushels of potatoes on twenty-two acres as a sample of what can be produced, and all other crops in proportion. The company owns 152 home buildings leased to its men at a nominal rental and each house has a garden plot. The company was obliged to build these houses to accommodate the employees.

The Mashek Chemical and Iron company operates furnaces converting eighty tons of ore daily and the charcoal kilns use 150 cords of wood daily. The retorts produce 1,500 gallons of alcohol and 3,000 pounds of acetate of lime each day. In wood chopping alone 175 men are employed. The Escanaba & Lake Superior railroad, with a main line between Wells and Channing, is used by the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad. There are branch lines extending all through the timber holdings of the Stephenson company.

Lacking in detail and many particulars, this will give the reader some idea of the immensity of the operations of this big concern, under the immediate direction of Supt. MacLean. When the fact alone is considered that 3,500 men find employment and that the business activities cover a wide scope of territory inclusive of the railroad and vessel operations, farming, manufacturing, the care incident to providing homes and the conduct of this big business, its magnitude can be approximated. The operations of this company are reflected in the business affairs of Escanaba. Many of the employes live there and trade there. While maintaining a separate government, Wells, in fact is a part of Escanaba, connected with it by a modern and efficient street railway system with low fares for the men employed there.

Gladstone owes its origin to the fact that there was a conflict of interest between the Soo line and some of the earlier settlers and businessmen at Escanaba. The road wanted advantages in the way of land for terminals

The people at Escanaba thought that the road would be compelled to come in any event and as a result Gladstone was selected by the Soo and a thrifty industrial center has been and is being built. The largest manufacturing concern is the Northwestern Coopers and Lumber company, including practically all forest products in the list of manufacturers and employing hundreds of men. The Michigan Tanning and Extract company, headed by Fred Shaw, for many years connected with the tanning industries in Wisconsin, manages this extensive plant; the Marble Arms company, with a product of high grade firearms and hunters' implements, the Kipling furnaces operated by the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company, a big flour mill, the Soo line grain elevator, and other lines of business activity, is fairly representative of the industrial life of Gladstone.

Tributary to Escanaba are many other towns and villages with mills and factories. Rapid River, Van's Harbor, Bark River, Garden are all centers of growing industrial and farming sections. Back of these big and growing manufacturing interests, Escanaba is the commercial center, with its banks, jobbing houses and a business district representing retail trade of big volume. The total money on deposit in the three banks of the city aggregates nearly $3,000,000. The Delta, a new modern fireproof hotel, has just been completed and is now being furnished. The building cost $125,000 and will be operated by the Wisconsin Hotel company.

Efficient Delivery System.

The up-to-date character of Escanaba and illustration in the establishment of a local company which does the delivery work for the entire city. The Escanaba Delivery company has instituted a system which is being investigated by the businessmen of many cities with a view of adopting the same methods. Here all dealers deliver their sales to a central station, a warehouse of fireproof construction. The delivery company sorts the packages according to streets and localities and takes charge of the delivery. These deliveries are made on a schedule of different trips of every residence street so many times each day at a fixed hour. It can be seen at a glance what the activity of such a concern is. Instead of each dealer in the city maintaining from one to two delivery outfits, one is maintained. This carries the goods to the central station. The work is done satisfactorily to the dealer and to the consumer, and is one of the big factors in the cost of living proposition.

The grange movement has a big footing among the farmers of Delta county and is typical of the co-operative spirit constantly growing. The Delta county grange is fifth in membership in the entire state of Michigan, and there are twenty subordinate granges in the county, with a membership of over 2,000. This is a pertinent fact as showing the extent of farm development. Delta county can well be proud of its farms and its roads. With the growth of its manufacturing interests, there has been a constantly expanding farm development. Its roads under the efficiency of a board composed of H. W. Reade, G. M. Mashek and Soren Johnson, can not be equaled in the country. To carry forward this work, during 1914, there is available $110,000, together with an additional $50,000 received from the state.

As an influencing factor in the growth of Escanaba, too much credit cannot be given to the Escanaba Street Railway company, owned by local capital. Its services not only embraces the city, but its extensions provide excellent facilities for nearby towns and cities. The power is generated on the Escanaba river and is adequate for future development. The power plants and river improvements are modern in every respect. The surplus water is utilized for grinding pulp.

To speak in detail of Escanaba's most excellent twenty-five miles of paved streets, its parks, avenues lined with residences, its homes, its most efficient school system composed of a modernly conducted high school and branch schools, employing a teaching force of sixty-five; its churches and its many other interesting evidences of progress, is impossible. The schools are doing a wonderful work and from gardens in charge of the pupils were grown prize vegetables.

Escanaba has a commercial club, of which A. J. Young is the president and W. J. Clark is the secretary. The membership includes practically all the businessmen of the city. The club is typical of the spirit of the city and its impress, one of improvement and of substantial expansion. A few years ago Escanaba was identified as a lumber town and as a railroad center. Today it is in population the metropolis of the Upper Peninsula, with every present evidence to maintain that lead.

ARMY AND NAVY GAME ON SATURDAY NEXT

Odds Are on the Sailors—Game to be Played at Polo Grounds, New York

The Army and Navy game to be played Saturday at New York will wind up the football season and it is expected that this classic will be witnessed by at least 50,000 persons, seats for that number having been sold, while 30,000 more have been refused tickets.

The Navy is conceded to have the better team and the odds now stand at 10 to 7 on the Sailors. The Soldiers' defeat by Notre Dame and the fact that teams conceded to be weak have given them close games is taken to mean that the West Pointers are not up to standard.

The Navy eleven has not met defeat this year. In the opening game with the University of Pittsburgh neither team scored. The remaining games of the season went to the Navy eleven by big margins and for that reason Navy is the favorite.

When the series were first begun the games alternated between West Point and Annapolis. Later all contests were transferred to Philadelphia and for nine years all contests were staged on Franklin field. In 1906 the scene of the struggle was transferred to Princeton, New Jersey and in 1907 Franklin Field was again the scene of activities.

Philadelphia has probably seen the last of the Army and Navy game and if the old program of alternating games is not returned to as is desired by the game in 1914 will probably be played in Washington, D. C. Sixteen games have been played between the two teams. The Navy has won 9 and the Army 7.

MOHALITY AND FASHION.

It may be argued with considerable force that more harm than good has been done by the fulmination of moralists against the slit skirt and diaphanous gown. What these philippic have done in chief is to emphasize the comparatively few cases of extreme styles and kept the purrulent aspect of the subject constantly before the public. The mind that is stirred to evil by the slight revelation of the average slit skirt needs no special excitant. It is unwholesomely prurient and will find evil anywhere. It is childish to believe its surmise can be so created, says the Chicago Tribune. Purists are constantly exaggerating the importance of small and attacking symptoms instead of causes. If there were more sermons preached against impure thoughts and fewer against objects, men of themselves quite innocent, which purists are afraid will stir impure thoughts, more progress would be made. If our minds are so unclean that we cannot see the lines of a woman's body without impure suggestion, a cure should be applied to us, not her. "If thine eye offend thee, pluck it out," has a meaning as valid now as ever.

We note that there is the futurist musician in the forefront now claiming the attention of the musical world. He is said to have fallen away from the path of harmony and has created at least a new method of musical expression, says the Ohio State Journal. As cubist and futurist are associated together in the mind of the nondescript looker on, it will be very interesting to know how the futurist will suit himself and whether he will eject discord into the soul of the body, as the cubist would convert it into grace and beauty. Some of the common people, who have never reached the heights of musical culture, are waiting for some reformer to awaken their emotions by new strain, and possibly this futurist dreamer expected. It is understood he will appear this winter. Old time music will melt into a soft lullaby in this futurist tunes up his pipes some time we were having something too ragged and the classic too reasonable to appeal to the soul of humanity that feels a faith in music.

Danish engineer has invented an automatic soldier, which he claims will way with most of the dangers of the army employing his invention. It consists of a steel cylinder seated within another cylinder which is bedded in the ground. The fighting power is set in motion by means of wireless telegraphy, the inner cylinder rising to a height of about five feet above the surface of the ground. At the same time an automatic gun in the cylinder opens fire with bullets in any required direction. Automatic soldiers may be brought into action by an officer at a distance of miles from the line of defense. It is pointed out that there is danger of panic.

A Diplomatic Secret

By EDWIN D. TUCKER

Several gentlemen were discussing the affairs of Mexico, which were absorbing a great deal of attention, when one of them said:

"I have heard a curious story about Napoleon III's Mexican scheme repeated a number of times in different forms. I wonder which is correct."

"Do you refer," asked a white headed octogenarian, "to the case of how the czar headed off the French emperor?"

"I do."

"Well, then, I can give you the true version of that story, for I was directly connected with what occurred."

"I was very young at the time, but not too young to be connected with the American legation at the court of St. James. One evening at a reception a member of the British cabinet accosted me, though I had had no introduction to him, and after a preliminary conversation on ordinary topics drew me into a small room where we were alone and said to me:

"You have been mentioned to me as a person fitted to be the repository of an important diplomatic secret—indeed, to carry out an important diplomatic move."

"He then pledged me to secrecy, impressing me with the importance of locking within myself what he was about to say to me, after which he proceeded:

"Our good queen, with her usual sense and foresight, is in favor of permitting you Americans to settle your quarrels among yourselves. The emperor of the French, who must be constantly diverting the mind of the various factions he rules from himself, has some scheme with reference to making a judgment somewhere in North America. He is importuning us to join him in intervention with a view to separate the United States into two sections. We do not wish to antagonize him by a refusal, and we do not wish to enter into any arrangement with a view to interfering between the states."

"There is a power which would gladly block the emperor's game did that power know that the game was hatching. I refer to Russia. The czar since the Crimean war does not love France, and he does not love England. We cannot join Russia in a coalition to prevent intervention. Should the czar know that France is endeavoring to induce us to join her in her proposed scheme he would at once take measures to prevent it. This is exactly what we should like. It would render a refusal of Napoleon's request needless and leave us to remain neutral in American affairs."

"Diplomatic secrets sometimes leak out without any one being aware of where the leak is located. You and I know exactly where this leak is, and it must remain between you and me alone."

"You except President Lincoln, of course?"

"Of course I do not. There is but one person besides yourself who may know it."

"Mr. Seward?"

"No; the czar of Russia."

"The czar! How can I reach him?"

"That I must leave to you. Considering that you are a member of the American embassy here, I do not think you should have much trouble."

"But my chief, the American ambassador?"

"He, too, must remain ignorant. You must leave London without his knowledge."

"But the proof for the czar of the truth of my story?"

"I will furnish you with that."

"I left London the next morning before dawn armed with the proof that had been promised. My mother was at the time in Berlin, and I forged a telegram from her begging me to come to her if I expected to see her alive. This telegram I showed to my chief and was given a leave of absence. I did not go to Berlin, but I did go to St. Petersburg. On reaching the capital I went to the minister of foreign affairs, showed him papers substantiating my position with the American embassy at London and informed him that I had information concerning a cabal to interfere in the affairs of the American republic, but that I was not permitted to submit it except to his majesty."

"The war between the American states was at that time engaging the attention of the world, and the czar was only too glad of information concerning it. He promptly accorded me a private interview and listened to me attentively till I had reached the end of my story, when he asked for my proofs. I produced them, and he was both surprised and convinced. He asked me how I came by them, and I refused to tell. That ended the interview."

"Returning to London, I reported to my chief that my mother's health was much improved, and I settled down to my daily duties. I met the cabinet member through whom the secret had leaked at a function and in a few words told him of my mission. He apparently did not expect that the czar would intimate to me what he might do in the premises."

"There began to be a feeling among the members of the diplomatic corps at London that some scheme would soon be inaugurated in the way of intervention in America. The rumors were presently verified by the arrival of an ocean steamer bringing the news of a Russian fleet having entered New York bay."

KETCHAM TAKES A SLAP AT NEWSPAPERS.

Captain H. E. Ketcham of the Yale football team gave out a statement in which he makes known his reasons for the definite decision that the football men will not wear numbers on the backs of their jerseys.

It had been suggested that each player be numbered so that the spectators could follow the plays more closely. Captain Ketcham's statement says:

"I thoroughly disapprove of the practice of numbering football men, and we have decided not to depart from our former system. This new step has been advocated by the newspapers for their own benefit in distinguishing the men. Football is not being conducted here for the newspapers, but for the college, and the players are not working to win recognition by the public, but are playing for themselves and the university."

Intercollegiate Wrestling Association Unable to Agree.

With delegates from Yale and Pennsylvania State absent, the Intercollegiate Wrestling association was unable to agree on a schedule for the coming championship season at the annual fall meeting, which was held at Columbia university recently. Several dual meets were booked, but until they are finally checked up by the various faculty committees they will not be announced. Most of the time was spent in discussing the plans for the intercollegiate tournament, which is to be held at the University of Pennsylvania on March 27 and 28, 1914. The preliminary rounds are to be held on the afternoon and evening of the 27th and the finals on the evening of the 28th.

Despite the fact that Harvard has taken up wrestling and was expected to ask for admission to the league, no application was received, and the Crimson will not be entered in the final tournament. The new system of scoring, which the league found to work so well last season, will be retained, but the method of timing the bouts will be slightly modified. Those present at the meeting were H. W. Graham, Lehigh; F. H. Phipps, Columbia; H. D. Painter, Princeton; J. Walter Levering, Pennsylvania, and R. M. Johnson, Cornell.

COBB WILL STICK.

No Truth in Report That He Will Leave Detroit.

Ty Cobb is loyal to the Tigers. This announcement was made by President Navin of the Detroit club.

A letter from Cobb to Navin reads in part:

"I am entirely satisfied with conditions, and I want to end my playing days in Detroit. The fans have treated me fine, and I want to be loyal to my club."

"The understanding we reached pleased me immensely, and I will surely give my heart to playing with Detroit next year. I certainly do not want to change."

President Navin said "the understanding" referred to concerned Cobb's salary of 1914. Mr. Navin intimated the Georgian would receive the largest salary ever paid to a player in the history of baseball.

EAT LESS AND TAKE SALTS FOR KIDNEYS

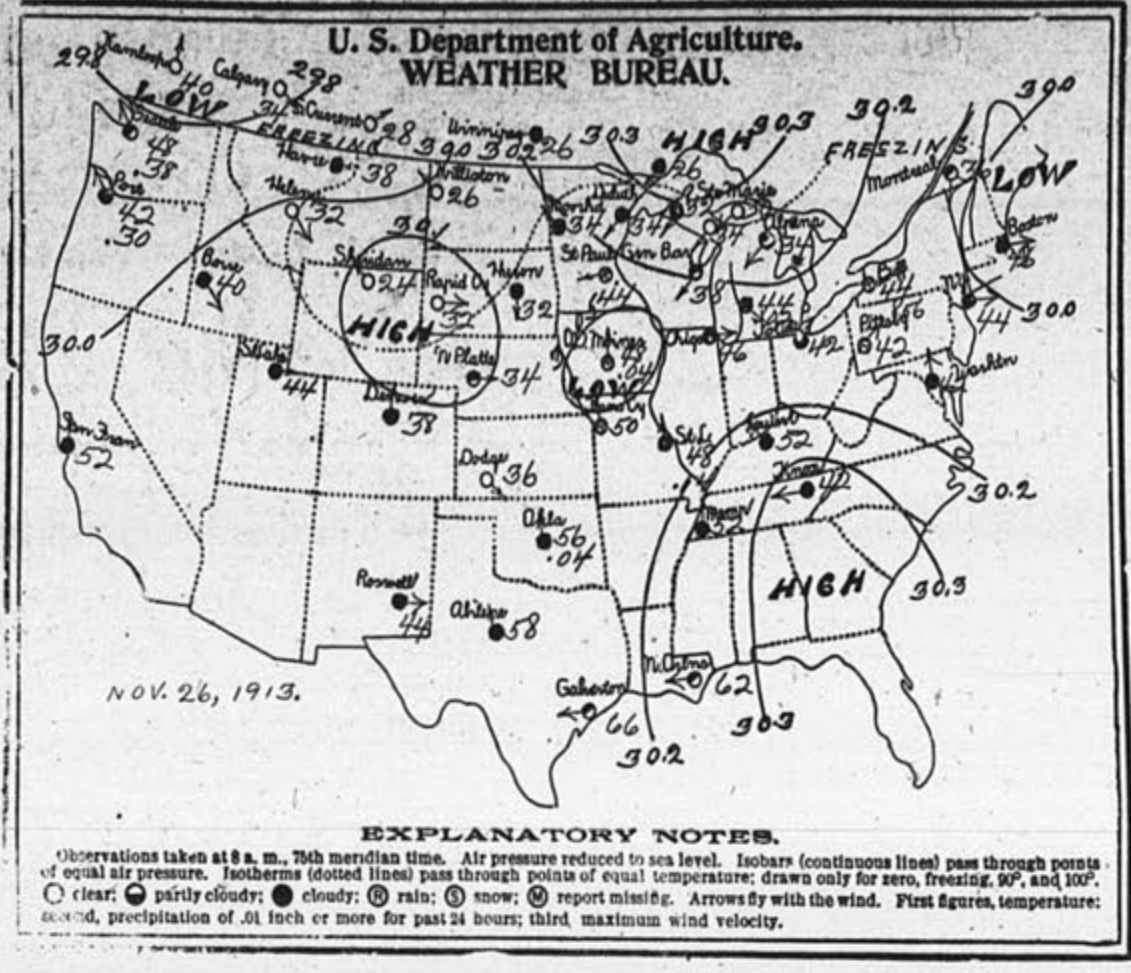

Take a glass of Salts before breakfast if your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you.

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. One blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

KEEP YOUR SECRETS

PERSONS WHO CONFIDE IN "FRIENDS" MAKE MISTAKE.

Learn to Keep Own Counsel—Affairs Safe Only When Known by One of Three Persons, Two of Whom Are Dead.

There is a fixed belief in the minds of most women and men that no matter how often they may be called upon to listen to the telling of other people's secrets, they are far too wise to make the mistake of telling their own. As a matter of fact it is the easiest thing in the world to betray your own confidence, and it is also quite the hardest thing after the cat has been allowed to slip out of the bag, to be forced to admit to yourself that certain disagreeable consequences might have been averted had you taken the same precaution in locking your own private affairs.

The door through which most of your secrets are likely to escape, unless you are as wise as a serpent, is that of sympathy, with a big "S." You would not be human if you did not crave sympathy, and you will always find plenty of people ready to hand out to you what looks like the genuine article, but is nothing more than a contemptible imitation, assumed for the purpose of leading you to make a fool of yourself.

You may seek to justify this betrayal of yourself in your own eyes by arguing that your dearest friend, Jane, is "as deep as a well" and "as silent as the grave," and nine times out of ten you may be right in your high opinion of Jane's integrity as a "secret keeper." However, there is sure to come a tenth time when Jane, either through thoughtlessness or malice aforethought, falls down hard on her job, and the inmost revelations of your soul are whispered about the community, and become a fruitful subject of discussion among your friends and acquaintances.

If you have learned to keep your own counsel in the face of the tantalizing temptations to tell your best friend your right name; if when laboring under the stress of some great emotion you can keep absolutely mum about what doesn't concern anyone but yourself, then you may be safely entrusted with your own secrets.

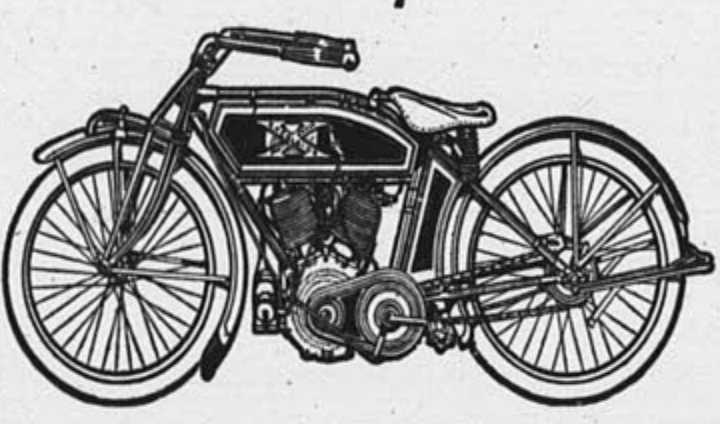

Always remember that "a secret is a secret when known to one of three persons, two of whom are dead."

Change in Coast Lines. To discover a town under the waves of the Mediterranean is not so wonder-provoking as it would have been ten years ago, when organized researches disclosed the fact that since the Roman dominion the Neapolitan coast first sank about thirty-five feet and then rose about nineteen feet. Scientists are now convinced that what is going on in the middle sea is one of those slow and majestic movements that have raised continents from the sea—and sunk them under. All the evidence for this slow earth change can be seen by the tourist in the above of grotto, cave, erosion lines high above water mark and sunken wonders of buried forums and temples. The great bath of one of the villas of Tiberius that once stood on high cliffs is now filled daily by the sea.

Shakespeare in Burmese. Shakespeare in Burmese was successfully presented recently at Mandalay, India. "Pericles" was the play chosen and the participants were amateurs recruited from the Burmese local profession thea. The play was selected and adapted to Burmese ideas by Maung Tin, district judge. Some idea of the original lines on which the play was produced may be gathered from the fact that the scene was laid in China! So encouraging were the financial results that the idea is to be followed up, the scene being shifted according to the imagination of the promoters.

FEATS OF CHEMISTRY

OPPORTUNITIES FOR ACHIEVING FAME OR FORTUNE OR BOTH.

Many Patents for Making Artificial Rubber Have Been Issued, but Price Still Remains the Same.

It was announced a few weeks ago that a distinguished chemist of the Imperial Technical School of Moscow had solved the problem of making artificial rubber, and that he could sell the new product at about 1/4 a pound, according to T.H. Blits.

Yet, in spite of this widely disseminated piece of news, the price of rubber remains pretty much the same. The reason may be found by examining the patent office records. During the last ten or twelve years nearly 300 patents for artificial rubber have been taken out.

Substitutes have been made from petroleum, from coal tar, turpentine, peat, from nitrated linseed oil, and by treating cereals with phyllin.

The latter invention made a considerable sensation so long ago as 1906; yet, judging by the constantly increasing demand for the natural product, it has had little effect upon the real rubber market.

The chemist, working in his laboratory can take any substance and analyze it—that is, break it up into its original constituents and tell you what they are, and how much of each element the substance in question is composed of.

But when it comes to building up the original substance out of its prime constituents, there he is at sea. By dint of long and patient experiments, or perhaps by pure chance, he may succeed in reproducing some few natural products, but that is as far as he can go.

Indigo dye took many years to synthesize. A German chemist accomplished it at last, but the curious discovery was made that, if blended with the natural product made from the indigo plant, the color produced was both more durable and brighter than that made by either dye alone. So artificial indigo has not yet ruined the indigo planter.

At Delhi, the new capital of India, stands an ancient iron monument which, though exposed to all weathers, never rusts or decays. Yet it has no protective covering. Here is a secret which would be simply invaluable to the world, which has been discovered by some Indian artificer of old time and most unfortunately been lost.

At a recent meeting of the Iron and Steel Institute Mr. Cushman said that we could face the future with complacency if we could rediscover the secret. To shipowners alone it would mean a yearly saving of millions. Rust is the great enemy of the steel ship, and she has constantly to go into dock to have her hull coated with anti-corrosive solution.

Early Shopping Means Better Bargains.

A Giveaway By WALTER C. RADCLIFFE

While making a tour in Spain I stopped one evening at a little hostelry in the province of Cordova. It was quite dark before I ate my supper, and the table was dimly lighted by a couple of candles. Behind me was an open door through which streamed a bright light from a kerosene lamp hanging in the hall. During the evening I sat at the supper table reading, being alone, with no one to talk to. I spent the time till 10 o'clock, when I closed my book and pushed back my chair preparatory to going to my room and to bed.

Just as I did so I saw on the white wall before me a shadow of a figure. The head and shoulders only were defined, and even from these I could not tell whether the person behind me was man or woman. I sat looking at it before turning to see who it was, for it was immovable, and I fancied that it was watching me. One thing about it arrested my attention. The shadow of the head was so shaped as to convince me that either the face or the back was turned directly toward me. That which I noticed especially was that while one ear cast a shadow the other did not. I was speculating how this could be when I saw the shadow of an arm slowly raised. In the hand was something, either club or knife.

I did not stop to consider whether I was about to make myself ridiculous; I instinctively ducked under the table. There I remained a few minutes and, hearing no sound, peeped from under the cloth. Seeing no one, I slowly crawled out, keeping an eye open for any one who might be laying for me. Gradually straightening up, I stood and looked about me. The shadow had disappeared; I was alone. Looking downward, I saw something red on my trousers. I put my hand on it. It was wet; there was a slit in the cloth. I pulled up my trousers and saw that the calf of my leg had been slit by some sharp instrument. The wound was still bleeding.

I had a problem to decide, and quickly. Some one had intended to murder me, doubtless with a view to appropriating my effects, but the attempt had been foiled by my quick duck. I was still in danger. What should I do? Go out into the darkness or remain where I was? I decided that my best chance was to pretend to be undisturbed till I could get at my revolver, which was in my room.

"Landlord!" I called. "A light. I am going to bed."

"SI, senor," and he brought me a candle.

"I fell asleep over my book and dreamed that some one was going to murder me. I ducked under the table. Wasn't it ridiculous?"

"Ridiculous! Yes, certainly."

"Well, good night."

My first act on reaching my room was to lock the door, the second to examine my wound. It was some two inches long and about a quarter of an inch deep.

After deliberation I concluded to remain where I was till morning. Quite possibly the would be murderer was unaware that he had cut me, and the landlord might have been deceived by my story of a dream. I kept awake all night, with my revolver cocked in my hand. In the morning I nudged the bedclothing, and after making such sounds as one would make in dressing I softly opened my door and looked carefully out into the hall. Seeing no enemy, I went downstairs. Reassured at the ordinary appearance of those getting breakfast, I determined to keep up my simulation, and, taking a seat at the breakfast table with my back to the wall, where I had seen the shadow, I deliberately partook of the meal, then went out, paid my bill and departed.

If the persons in that house had known what was in my mind—in other words, if I had not deceived them—I would never have been permitted to depart. I went to the city of Cordova and straight to a police station, where I told my experience to an officer. He was much interested in my story and when I had finished said:

ing has been feared concerning them. We will now set a trap for them." I remained in Cordova several weeks awaiting the results of the trapping. One day the landlord and half a dozen ill favored men who had been caught red handed were marched into the town to the police station. I went there and looked them over. The chief police officer inspected them and, going to one villainous looking man whose hair fell over his ears, pulled it aside and exposed a place where an ear should be, but it was not there.

"Hab—Jone Madrillo! So you have turned up again, eh?" "The man of the shadow!" I exclaimed. Madrillo was an old offender who had lost an ear in a fight. Why he did not keep his hair in position when he attacked me I don't know. I suspect, being among friends, he was careless and did not realize that his shadow was giving him away.

COMB SAGE TEA IN LIFELESS, GRAY HAIR

Look young! Common garden Sage and Sulphur darkens so naturally nobody can tell Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and abundant with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, ready to use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and abundant.

FAULT FINDING WAS HIS JOY

Momus, God of Mockery, Was Banished From Heaven for Criticizing Work of the Immortals.

Have you ever heard a grumbler called a Momus? Momus, in Greek legend, was the god of mockery, whose chief joy in existence was to find fault with mortals and immortals as well when the occasion offered.

Upon one occasion Neptune, Minerva and Vulcan contested the point as to which was the best artist, and Momus was appointed to it in judgment upon their respective merits.

Neptune made a bull in his best style. Minerva fashioned a house. Vulcan made a man.

Momus decided that Vulcan's man was not perfect because he had neglected to put a window in his chest so that his creature's thoughts could be read by all who wished to know of what he was thinking. Minerva's house did not suit him because it was bored tried to peer in. Neptune's bull, he shifted out of the way when trouble threatened or meddlesome neighbors tried to peer in. Neptune's bull-said Momus, was very imperfect because its horns were too near the front of its head.

So, furious were the gods at his decisions upon their best work that they banished him from heaven. Shortly afterward, it is said, Momus died of a broken heart because he could find no flaw in the peerless beauty of Venus.

ANT-EATERS EAT WAY BILLS

Also Destroy Office Stationery, and in General Make Life a Burden to Express Agent.

A brace of armadillos (ant eaters), from some point in South America, came to the Wells-Fargo express office in this city two weeks ago, addressed to "Harry Crawford," Jefferson City. There is no person of that name in the city.

The animals have been an unending source of trouble to the agent, Edward McKenna. They escaped from their box one night, and after playfully chewing up all the way bills, stationery, and everything else that was loose in the office, they got down to the basement and burrowed so deep that, in digging them out, one was injured so badly it died.

Since then the other has been disconsolate, and has repeatedly tried to get away. It succeeded, finally, and several men had to dig for it under the building in which the express office is located.

McKenna says that as express matter armadillos are worse than the guinea pigs made famous in Ellis Park or Putter's story, "Pigs Is Pigs."—Jefferson City Dispatch to St. Louis Republic.

Square piano in good condition. $5.00. Grinnell Bros. 225-333

FIND MUCH USE FOR IVORY

Markets of the World Are Open for It Today, and the Supply Seems Undiminished.

If you ask any dealer what ivory is chiefly used for at the present day, he will reply at once "Piano keys."

America imports ivory from the east coast of Africa, exclusively for this purpose. Next in volume come billiard balls, cutlery handles, brushware and toilet articles. It also enters into the manufacture of numberless little ornaments and articles of general use, such as statuettes, crucifixes, paper cutters, workbox fittings, toys and chessmen.

The most valuable of all is the "scrivallor," to which I have referred—as being used in the making of billiard balls, and on an average, three balls of fine quality are got out of a small tusk. Ivory balls, however, have now formidable rivals in benzoline and other composition materials, and in regard to quite a number of articles which used to be fashioned out of ivory, celluloid and bone take its place.

There is little waste product from ivory. A use is found for cuttings, shavings and scraps left over after main processes have been completed. India takes large quantities of the rings left after the turning of billiard balls, and uses them to make women's bangles and small toys and models, in which the cunning hand of the native craftsman excels. The dust is used in polishing and in the preparation of ivory black and India ink, and I am told it may also be utilized as food in the form of ivory jelly, a delicacy of which I have no personal knowledge.

Elephants are carefully preserved in many districts. If the ancient quadruped is really destined to follow the mammoth and the cave bear, and cease to walk the earth, he is in no hurry to go. He would be a rash man who would venture to predict when the last tusk may be expected to vanish from the scene and the last parcel of animal ivory be delivered at the London docks.—London Post.

Man Arrested for Odd Theft.

A novelty in theft was recorded at Philadelphia, Pa., the other night, when a man named Johns was arrested in the act of stealing an alarm clock from the home of a woman named Murray. Johns, it appears, is a heavy sleeper—so heavy, in fact, that he cannot get up in the morning without aid. Many a good place his slumbers have cost him. Johns had planned to assume a new position shortly. So when he awoke a perfectly good alarm clock in Mrs. Murray's front room, temptation overcame him. Calamity followed hard upon temptation, however, for just as he was making way with the clock its alarm went off and brought Mrs. Murray to the scene in time to witness the vanishing of her property. She called a policeman, and Johns was taken into custody.

Ways of Women.

"Wimmen certainly ain't got no consistency."

"What's the matter, Mike?"

"Me wife chased me out wid a roll-inpin this morning, and then cried because I left home without kissing her good-by."

Extraordinary.

"He's an extraordinary chap."

"I never noticed anything unusual about him."

"Haven't you? Well, I have. For one thing he never claimed to have just missed taking the train that was wrecked."—Detroit Free Press

COLORED BROCADE BRIGHTENS DARK FROCKS

While vivid colors are very modish, a touch is quite sufficient to brighten and trim the street dress or suit. For evening wear, of course, these bright dyes may be indulged in to the heart's content. The rich coloring of the brunette is enhanced by a touch of that new flame color that so well deserves its name. The blond or she of the "in between" complexion may select Turkish green or one of the brilliant blues for the touch of sharp contrast required on the new suit or frock.

A plain blouse and a plaid skirt are used in 7713-7851. The design shows a novel two-piece skirt. The arrangement of the tucks on the front gives the effect of a tunic in front and a slightly draped appearance in back. The blouse shows a good looking raglan sleeve in a drop-shoulder.

Wreckers Postpone Attempt to Release Turret Chief Till Spring

The wrecking tug Favorite of the Great Lakes Towing company, which last week went to the stranded steamer Turret Chief at Copper Harbor, with the intention of releasing the craft, returned to Houghton yesterday. The attempt to save the Chief has been abandoned for this season. The Favorite found on arriving at the wreck that the weather conditions were against the success of the plans and also that the condition of the Chief is such that she left where she is over the winter safety.

Captain St. Sinclair of Duluth, juster for the marine under arrived in Houghton yesterday bearing the report of Captain C. of the Favorite. Captain Sinclair reports that the Chief is in no condition to be moved and he approved the Favorite's plan.

TANGO INSTRUCTION TO START MONDAY

Miss Mona Voght Will Open Class in Clark's Hall Next Monday—Two Lessons Each Week

Miss Mona Voght, who recently returned from Chicago where she has been spending several weeks taking instructions in the tango and hesitation dances, will begin instructions in those dances at Clark's hall next Monday evening. Two lessons will be given each week, Monday and Friday until six lessons have been given.

It is Miss Voght's intention to teach the dances from 8.30 until ten o'clock and to give opportunity for practise in the hall from 10 o'clock until 11.30.

The impression that only those who received letters are to be included in the class is erroneous. The list was a fairly comprehensive one but possibly did not include many who would like to take instructions and Miss Voght would be glad to make arrangements to instruct any of those who desire to take in the regular course of lessons.

THE LAUGH TONIC

Laughter is a foe to pain and disease, and a sure cure for the "blues," melancholia and worry. Laughter is contagious. Be cheerful and you make everybody around you happy, harmonious and healthful. Use laughter as a table sauce. It stimulates the digestive processes. It keeps the heart and face young, and enhances physical beauty. It sends the blood bounding through the body, increases the respiration, and gives warmth and glow to the whole system. Perfect health, which may be injured by a piece of bad news, by grief, or by anxiety, is often restored by a hearty laugh, especially if aided by a glass of golden grain belt beers, F. W. Aronson, distributor, advertisement.

NO CHANCE FOR SLEIGH RIDE FOR SEVERAL DAYS

Indications Are That the Ground Will Be Bare Throughout This Month

According to a report in which Observer Jakl, summarizes the weather conditions, sleighs will not be seen during the remainder of the month. The outlook for the next few days is for fair weather, and as the temperature in the Northwest has been high the last few days Mr. Jakl does not believe there will be any snow until the first of December, at least. The temperature in Montana yesterday was higher than that in Mexico or Texas and Mr. Jakl says that this will probably mean fair weather for a period lasting nearly a week. The temperature for the entire month of November to date has been higher than that in any November for the last six years, an excess of seventy five degrees above normal for the first five days. In only two years out of seven has snow fallen to stay permanently before Nov. 27. In 1910 the first snow fell on Nov. 23, and in 1911 the snow came on the 12th of the month to stay. In the month of November of the year 1912 the highest temperature recorded was fifty-five degrees; in 1911, the highest was sixty-five. The winter of 1910 was one of the coldest for several years.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

IT'S EASY—IF YOU KNOW DR. EDWARDS' OLIVE TABLETS.

The secret of keeping young—is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle.

Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver. Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities. You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. 10c and 25c per box. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, Ohio.

WEATHER CONDITIONS

The disturbance noted over Lake Superior yesterday morning, disappeared northeastward beyond the range of reports during the succeeding 12 hours, and has been replaced by a high pressure area that now covers the northern Lake region. No pronounced differences in pressure are now apparent within the limits of the country, but a moderately low area central over Iowa, is causing rains over the middle Mississippi Valley, southern Lake region, and the Ohio Valley. Temperatures are about seasonable throughout the country, a return to warmer weather having overspread most eastern states. In this vicinity, unsettled weather is indicated tonight and Thursday. Local showers are probable. The winds will be moderate variable, mostly east and northeast.

Thousands Buy Sterling Pianos

Each year; and it's a significant fact that each year the demand grows greater. There's genuine merit in large measure back of its popularity.

We have been exclusive Michigan representatives of the Sterling for over twenty-six years. We've sold more than 15,000 of them in this State alone. Would we jeopardize our standing as headquarters for quality goods by continuing to sell an instrument that was proving anything less than wholly satisfactory?

More strongly than ever do we urge the music-lover seeking a moderate priced Piano, to investigate the Sterling, for the test of years and service has PROVEN its excellence. We sell on very easy terms. Newest designs on our floors.

A PURCHASE THAT MEANS BIG VALUE—AND A HOME FILLED WITH MELODY—IS SURELY YOURS IN THE SELECTION OF A STERLING!

Truthful James.

A hostess, who was going to give a big dinner party, hired a page for that particular evening to help with the waiting, and duly impressed his duties upon him during the course of the afternoon.
"Now, James," she said, "it will be your duty to hand round the wines, and you will begin with the sherry. There are two kinds of sherry, and the inferior kind is to be offered with the soup. Do you understand?"
James duly mastered this and the other details of his work, and the banquet began. Presently the hostess signed to James, and that young man seizing the decanter, began to make his rounds, saying in clear and penetrating tones as he approached each guest:
"Inferior sherry, ma'am? Inferior sherry, sir?"—Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegraph.

Chief Iverson Telegraphs to Milwaukee Police to Locate Man—He Was in Jail

Joseph Henderson, mate on the Steamer Sandola, this morning asked Chief of Police Iverson to assist in locating his brother, who was a member of the Sandola's crew and who left the steamer at Milwaukee yesterday.

The Chief immediately wired to the Milwaukee police and received the following rather laconic answer "Fine and costs $6.95."

Chief Iverson forwarded $15 to pay the fine and the man's fare to Escanaba. The Chief was instructed to keep Henderson here until his brother returned.

INVESTIGATE GIRL'S DEATH

Pretty Blonde Said to Have Died in Doctor's Office

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 26.—County Prosecuting Attorney Robertson on Monday began a rigid investigation into the death of a girl, believed to be Anna Olsen, on the operating table in the office of Dr. Charles H. Hunter. A secret autopsy, performed late Sunday, disclosed that the girl had died of chloroform poisoning, according to Assistant County Attorney Lind.

Dr. Hobbs, deputy coroner, said Dr. Hunter told him the girl was seriously ill and that he placed her on the operating table, administered between thirty and forty drops of chloroform and that she took the mask from her face herself. As she was about to leave the table she collapsed and died before aid could be summoned.

The girl is described as about 19 years of age, a beautiful blonde, of medium height and weight and her underwear bore the initials "F. A. Y."

HOBBY WORKS A HARDSHIP

Massenet's Patronage Enables His Bookbinder to Retire to Country Home.

In the recently published recollections of Massenet a story is told, says the Hamburger Nachrichten, illustrating the composer's passionate admiration for beautiful bindings. Not a week passed without a visit from him to his bookbinder, when he brought a new book or a new edition to be bound. In the course of time he and his bookbinder became the best of friends, and when Massenet arrived the talk was at first of everything on earth except the real object of his visit.

"Look here!" Massenet would say eventually, giving the man the volume to be bound.

"Splendid!" replied the bookbinder, and then for his customer and friend he would devise some fresh wonder in the art of binding.

One morning Massenet suddenly learned that his friend was giving up business. He hurried to his shop. "Heaven! Is it true you are leaving Paris?" he asked.

"Why, certainly! I have bought a charming little country house near Nantes."

"What! A country house! And in the provinces!" And he added sadly: "Ah! my poor friend, I am partly responsible for that."

BAR ALL PRIVATE PROPERTY

French Village Seems to Have Arrived at Something That Seems Like the Millenium.

A German writer, Dr. A. Grotjahn, interested in the increasing shortage in births in France, has found a prolific community at the village of Mardie, near Dunkirk. This is a colony founded more than 200 years ago by Louis XIV. with a system of land tenure which does not permit private ownership of the soil. Dr. Grotjahn says: "The men of Mardie marry, on an average, at twenty-four years of age, immediately after having passed the obligatory service in the navy. When a new family has thus been founded it receives for exclusive use, but not as private property, a plot of land of 22 acres and a section of shore for net fishing. . . . The families may leave to their children the land handed to them in usufruct, but they may not divide or mortgage it. The result is that Mardie possesses a prosperous population, free of material cares, which does not rack its brain on behalf of its children's fate, while the rest of the peasants and fishermen of France are particularly anxious in this respect. The births amounted to 43 per 1,000 of the inhabitants, a figure which is not surpassed by any civilized people."

Reclaiming Zuyder Zee.

Queen Wilhelmina in her speech from the throne on the opening of the Dutch parliament said that a measure would be introduced for the reclamation of the Zuyder Zee. The Zuyder Zee was originally a lake, and the scheme is to make it so again by constructing a great dyke across the entrance of the Zuyder Zee and then build three other dykes around the coast of the Zee, one running nearly directly north and south and one closing the western part of the Zee; another from near the southern end of the first to a point well up on the eastern shore, while a third one will stretch northwest in the direction of the dyke built across the entrance. This scheme will not touch the center of the Zee, which will thus return to its former condition of a lake.

If the Dutch chambers sanction it the work will be carried on by means of a public loan in the Netherlands.

MAGNET DRAWS OUT NAIL

Charged Metal Placed Over Rubber Inserted in Sufferer's Throat

New Orleans, Nov. 25.—Odessa May, four, of Aldridge, Texas, is recovering after a remarkable surgical operation, in which a five-penny wire nail was removed from her lung.

Dr. R. C. Lurch, an X-Ray specialist inserted a rubber tube into the child's throat and the end of the tube was worked around while the physician watched through the X-ray. It finally was fixed directly over the head of the wire nail.

A powerful magnet was then placed over the end of the tube and the nail was drawn out.
