PLUMAGE FOR MAN.

Now the masculine hat sports its tiny splash of color. Gone the plumed beavers which for three centuries dominated the world of fashion. Tabooed the sweeping sombrero for street wear in the teeming cities of the East. But the students of sartorial art note with a smile, and sometimes with trepidation, that the male, while loudly protesting his indifference to the wiles of dress which are affected by "the female of the species," is availing himself more and more of the little tufts of blue or red and the dainty scarlet feather flaunted upon the starboard side of certain headgears of the prevailing mode, says Boston Transcript. Despoiled of the gorgeous raiment which his ancestors wore, his legs immersed in nether garments for which they never were molded, denied any degree of polychromatic splendor, poor man welcomes with becoming gratitude such small crumbs of comfort as this plumed hat affords. Of all the foreigners who ever visited the United States, excepting perhaps only Lafayette, Louis Kossuth, the Hungarian patriot, received the most effusive welcome. Forthwith the Kossuth hat, of soft felt, with a defiant and aggressive plume, leaped into popularity, threatening to displace for good the high silk hat which was working its way into favor. But then the hat which was sponsored in 1849 by Kossuth was supposed to typify the vigorous character of the sturdy old champion of liberty. Do the men of today lack the love of liberty, or do they fear to act upon their right? Down-trodden for decades, it may be that at last they intend to garnish and enhance their beauty, and that these side-wheel festoons are the harbingers of the good time coming.

And now comes a feminine expert economist declaring that the whims and vagaries of styles are largely responsible for the unemployment of certain workers. Her theory is that women who demand new hats, coats, dresses and shoes each recurring season are the means of depriving thousands of men and women of work every year. She explains further by saying that manufacturers cannot provide steady employment for their people because they never know until the last minute what to make. Perhaps this is sound logic, but it runs counter to a rather well-established view that exactly the opposite tendency follows millady's faithful submission to Dame Fashion's arbitrary demands. Certainly, to the untutored, it would stand to reason that the more changes of styles, the more work for the manufacturers, while, on the other hand, if women wore the same fashions from season to season, the output of the makers naturally would diminish. At least, this has been the popular impression. If it is only a hallucination of ignorance, perhaps mere man may have the face to protest harder against tooting the bells.

Paris is suffering from floods. It there is any kind of trouble Europe is not having this season, it is something that does not amount to much.

Strikes are necessary. Think of a situation when it would not be proper to strike a match.

The announcement that there will be no Nobel peace prize this year sounds like a practical joke.

It may be hard times, but be one-an optimist.

Advice for Auto Owners
Conducted by L. K. EDWARDS
Questions and Answers Covering Matters of Importance to the Man Who Runs a Car Address Questions to Auto Editor, Daily Mirror.

Will you please furnish me with some information regarding brazing process?

Brazing metals, which means that they are joined by a film of brass, requires a red heat and borax is generally used as a flux to protect the metal from oxidation and to dissolve the oxides formed. Heating must be done by means of a blowtorch, gas forge, coke or charcoal furnace and cannot be done by means of a soldering iron. Before work is assembled for brazing it should be carefully cleaned. The parts are then fastened together, generally by pinning, but sometimes wire bolts or clamps are used. If possible the pieces should be fastened in such a way that the work may be turned over during the process of brazing without changing the relation of the parts.

My motor does not fire regularly. Sometimes it misses on one cylinder and then again two become affected. The missing skips from one cylinder to another. Position of gas and spark levers does not seem to make any difference, and the trouble is equally bad on magneto and battery. Can you explain this?

The missing is undoubtedly caused by faulty ignition or carburetion, and it seems more likely that the former is the cause. First look for short circuits. Operate the motor in the dark at a moderate rate of speed and note whether any sparks jump from any part of the wiring to the motor or frame. Inspect the insulation of all the wires for worn or broken spots where a short circuit to the frame might be produced. Any such spots should be taped or the wires replaced. Next examine the brushes on the magneto. Any that are worn on the ends should be smoothed off or replaced so that a good electrical contact is obtained. See that the breaker points are smooth enough to meet squarely and in adjustment—that is, the gap between them, when they are separated, should be between one-thirty-second and one-sixty-fourth of an inch. Also note whether the insulation in the breaker box is in good condition and whether there is any possibility of a short circuit either due to this or dirt or oil. Take the switch apart and examine the insulation and tighten any loose parts. Providing all electrical connections are tight and the gaps of spark plugs adjusted to one-thirty-second of an inch, the trouble must be either in the carburetion system or in the coil or magneto.

Assuming that the carburetor adjustment is correct, see that there are no air leaks in the intake manifold. Look for dirt in the gasoline system and see that the float is not soaked with gasoline and that the needle valve and float valve or their seats are not worn.

While you may drive with the spark lever properly advanced and the magneto may be correctly timed, it is possible that the linkage connecting the spark lever with the magneto is loose, so that when the lever is advanced the breaker box is not acted upon.

See that the lubrication system is in proper working order and check up the timing.

What is the cause of carbon?
Carbon deposit is caused by the carbon in the oil or gasoline being set free by the heat of combustion. If the mixture is too rich there will not be enough air for combustion of all the carbon in the gasoline, and therefore after the explosion takes place some carbon in the form of a very fine powder will remain. This is caught by the oil on the walls of the combustion chamber, and the heat cures the oil, holding the carbon until the final result is a hard mass of carbon held together by a tough, cement-like gummed oil. In the same way, if too

How can I change a low compression motor to a high compression one?

The compression may be raised by several methods. It is hardly advisable to make this change, because your motor has been designed for a certain compression, and if you raise it, say ten pounds, you will submit the cylinders to a greater strain than they were designed for, the pressures on the cylinder walls will be greater and the wear on the bearings more. If your motor is not giving sufficient power you should find out what is the matter with it rather than raise the compression.

Probably the best method is to rivet a plate to the top of the piston or the cylinder, whichever is more convenient. Placing the plate on the piston adds weight to the reciprocating masses, while if it is attached to the cylinder head there is danger of interference with the flow of the gases in and out. In either case be sure that there is clearance enough between the piston and the cylinder to allow the plate to be put into place. If the plate is attached to the piston it should be made of aluminum for the sake of lightness.

Lengthening the connecting rods or increasing the crankshaft throws will also increase the compression. But neither of these methods is as simple or as cheap as the first one suggested.

My car starts badly. It has a four cylinder, 4.25x5.5 inch motor, but only a magneto for ignition. The motor works evenly when once under way. If it can be started rolling down grade and then thrown into gear it starts readily enough. Can you suggest a remedy for the trouble?

Your magneto is probably causing the trouble, although it is well to make sure that the difficulty does not lie in the carburetor adjustment or is not due to leaky valves. See that the spark plugs' points are 1/32 inch apart, that all connections are tight and that there are no short circuits. Then examine the breaker points on the magneto. File them until they meet squarely, and then adjust them until the motor runs evenly at all speeds. The exact distance depends upon the magneto, but should be somewhere between 1/32 and 1/64 inch. If the points are too far apart the motor will not start or will miss at slow speeds, while if the points are too near together it will miss at high speeds. There is also a chance that the magnets are weak. If so it will be difficult to obtain a spark at low motor speeds. Make sure that all the brushes are making good contact.

CRYSTAL FALLS STOPS "KELLY POOL" PLAY

Crystal Falls, June 23.—Crystal Falls is to have no more Kelly pool. NEWSPAPER MEN VISIT PORTLAND DURING DAY

(By Associated Press.)

Once Thriving Mining Center Now Is Isolated.

Living Alone in City of a Thousand Homes, Former Saloon Keeper Declares He Is Supreme and Has No Wish to Move.

Topeka, Kan.—Living only in memory of a distant past, isolated from the rest of the world, yet living in a city of a thousand homes, sitting idly hour by hour at the front of a small saloon where twenty years ago prosperity and excitement were on every hand, Sam Bolger, former Topeka bartender, later an adventurer, gambler and Colorado saloon owner, is residing in the deserted mining town of Gillette, Colo.

Bolger occupied a dilapidated saloon, but had no customers. An inquisitive nomad asked:

"Where are the rest of the voters?" The faded old man did not answer at first, but then he replied, "They are everywhere but here."

He then relapsed into silence, but another Kansan spled a table and a few suspicious looking bottles within the place. He called the ancient gentleman and together they entered the poorly kept saloon. When the old man came out, some ten minutes later, he was in a more talkative mood.

"I left Topeka in 1880, not long after the prohibition amendment went into effect. I had lost my job. I had no money. So I just naturally drifted West, and for the next ten years I roamed around California, New Mexico, Arizona and old Mexico. But it was in 1880 that I came to Cripple Creek. The first real strike had been made. With thousands of others I fell a victim to my ambition to be rich. Out of all those who went to Cripple Creek in those years only a few remain today who have wealth.

"I sweated my life away in the mines. I gambled and drank away my wages in Cripple Creek. There never was a city yet that could equal it. Money flowed like water. I believe it was the wickedest spot on the map.

"I was in the great Cripple Creek fire of 1896. The fire destroyed my place and I was broke again. Then I heard rumors of Gillette. The town became a city in a night. The rush of men here at that time was heavy. Being one of the first on the ground, I started a saloon in a shack and a boarding house in a tent. For several months Gillette was fast becoming the center of the Cripple Creek region. Then the gold gave out. It was shallow. People left here in a single night. Many did not take even the precaution of shutting their doors. Gillette started like a whirlwind and in a like manner it became deserted.

"Only a few of us remained, firm in the belief that the country was plentiful in gold. My business was ruined, yet I kept it up and still have it today. Gradually my friends left Gillette, but I remained and have lived in a solitary grandeur since 1908, when the last of my family moved away.

Dry Prospects.
One hundred years of continuous rainfall records have recently been completed in New Bedford, Mass., and serve to disprove thoroughly the common belief that the climate is not so good as it used to be. Only half as many dry periods occurred in the last fifty years as in the first fifty years; so that the records really are a warning for that section at least, to expect more dry periods in the next generation. The recent decades have been fortunate above the average, and consequently the next few decades are quite likely to pay the bill. The records were started in 1814 by

For more than ninety-one years the rainfall was carefully recorded for exactly the same spot in the same yard. The chief engineer of the state health department has now completed the hundred years of figures by obtaining the late records from another observer in New Bedford, taken a few miles from the Rodman place.

The average annual rainfall was 46.45 inches; but in the first fifty years there were four very marked dry periods of two or three years each. In the last fifty years there were only two such dry periods.—Saturday Evening Post

KAISER DECLARES CAN HAVE PEACE WHEN HE WANTS IT

Eight Additional States Add To Their Labor Laws During Sessions Closed But Recently

(By Associated Press.)

New York, June 22.—To the list of twenty-two states in which workmen's compensation laws were already in effect, eight more states and the territory of Alaska have this year been added by the action of their legislatures during sessions which have just come to a close. This growth of the movement toward safeguarding the welfare of the laborer and his dependents is revealed in the summary of this year's legislative activities, which has been compiled by the Associated Press. The summary also limiting the working hours of minors.

The additional states to adopt workmen's compensation are Wyoming, Montana, Oklahoma, Colorado, Maine, Indiana, Vermont and Pennsylvania. Favorable action toward the enactment of such a measure was also taken by the legislature of Utah, which created a commission to investigate the question and report a bill for the consideration of the next legislature. In one state which considered the matter, New Mexico, a proposed workmen's compensation law passed the house but was defeated in the senate. In Idaho, the bill was vetoed by the governor. Several other states revised their former laws in order to insure more efficient operation.

What's Doing in Theatre World

Big Film Coming to Bijou Friday

"When it Strikes Home" is the title of a splendid film that will be shown at the Bijou theatre Friday evening. The story of the picture follows:

The beautiful young star of the New York Winter Garden and the London Opera House, the belle of two continents—the lovely Grace Washburn—is the bright particular constellation of this offering, which is based upon a story by Chas. K. Harris and produced by the Chas. K. Harris Film Corporation.

Chas. K. Harris is an authority on human interest stories and he has one here.

It begins on old Broadway, the staging place of many real dramas and the appropriate stage of them.

A youngster, Dick Hartley, with more money than brains, cuts loose in the White Light district, and marries a chorus girl, Vera Dupont ("The Butterfly"), on a dare. Mr. Hartley, Sr., has the marriage annulled and sends his son abroad to recover from the effects of his folly. And while he is away Vera has a baby.

The Butterfly's little son is adopted in ignorance of his identity by Dick Hartley's wife, who is childless.

When Dick Hartley returns to New York he goes back to Wall street, forgets the Butterfly, and in due time marries a girl of good social position.

The lapse of twenty years finds young Victor Hartley a hospital interne. He has a fiance and for aught he knows he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hartley, instead of being the unrecognized son of his father.

Fate here plays a strong hand in the game—old man Hartley meets with an accident and is taken to the very hospital where his grandson is part of the surgical staff. In the same hospital there is a Sister Ursula, the aforetime dancer, Vera Dupont.

Grandfather, grandson, father and mother mutually recognize each other, and all round happiness is served out, when the self-sacrificing Sister effaces herself in the interests of and for the happiness of her son and former husband.

ART IN ADVERTISING IS THEME OF SPEAKER

(By Associated Press.)

Chicago, June 23.—The pithy lines which are striven for in much advertising matter sparked in addresses given here today before the house organ section of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World. This style was particularly marked in the remarks of C. Henry Mackintosh of Duluth, Minn., and Vincent L. Price, of St. Louis, Mo.

"Lots of perfectly good advertising men will tell you that art is a very secondary consideration in advertising," said Mr. Mackintosh, who is an artist. "Art, nothing!" they will shout, adding "the sole purpose of advertising is to sell goods, and if it does that, I don't care how inartistic it is."

"You and I know, of course, that to sell goods is the art in advertising, and that an inartistic advertisement is one which fails to achieve that end."

Greeks Were O. K. on Art.

"The Greeks had the right idea about art. They never labored to make anything beautiful. They just went ahead and fashioned it to serve its purpose as simply and perfectly as possible and then it couldn't help being beautiful."

Mr. Mackintosh, speaking of artistic covers for house organs, continued:

"A picture of a pretty girl appeals to most men, but will it make a particularly pertinent appeal to the men in the business which you are attempting to influence through your house organ?"

"Yes, if you are running an employment agency for chorus ladies or cloak and suit models. Otherwise, probably not."

Mr. Price discussed the house organ from the standpoint of producing good will.

TICKET CAMPAIGN TO GET UNDER WAY SOON

Chautauqua Boosters Ready to Open Rapid Fire Ticket Fight—Name Chairman

During an interesting and enthusiastic meeting of Escanabans interested in Chautauqua work, held at the Delta hotel last evening, the ticket campaign for Escanaba's Chautauqua was given an impetus that is expected to produce real results.

Members of the Business Men's association were the primal movers in the meeting and they were ably backed by the efforts of Clyde E. Heflin, the Chautauqua advance man. E. C. Voght was named chairman of the ticket committee and he has since appointed Charles Bisbee of Wells as the Wells leader. Further plans will be announced later by the chairman of this committee.

Advertising Well Under Way

Advertising for the event is well under way at this time and it was stated that further work along this line would be inaugurated shortly. Streamers for the street advertising will soon be placed. Already many autos are bearing large signs telling of the date for the event here. The county will be covered by a campaign within the next week it is anticipated. It is planned to make this chautauqua far better and more successful than that of a year ago. Six days are offered this year instead of the Red-path five day entertainment.

SOUTHERN FARMERS FEAR THE LOCUSTS

Richmond, Va., June 23.—Southern farmers are fearfully awaiting a threatened visitation of the seventeen year locusts. The pests are said by scientists to be due, probably a few days. Throughout the south elaborate plans have been made to combat the winced hordes. Brush piles have been gathered, to be fired after being soaked with oil. The smoke is expected to deter if not check the devastating migration.

HEAD HEAVY?—CAN NOW TELL WEIGHT OF ONE'S HEAD

(By Associated Press.)

San Francisco, June 23.—It is now possible to weigh a person's head without the fatal inconvenience of detaching it from the body, according to a method announced by Dr. C. D. Spivak, of Denver, to the American Medical Association here today.

Dr. Spivak described the apparatus which he has contrived by which it is possible to weigh different parts of the living human body. By means of a pair of scales with sliding weights made like a seesaw and by the aid of complicated mathematical formulae, the separate weight of any part of the body can be determined.

In his address as chairman of the section on obstetrics, gynecology and abdominal surgery, Dr. Thomas C. Cullen of Baltimore, reviewed the progress of abdominal surgery in the last twenty-five years, pointing out that it is now possible for any competent surgeon to open and explore the abdomen with perfect safety to the patient. He told of the wonderful advances that abdominal surgery had made in the last twenty-five years and showed that the death rate from abdominal operations had decreased from 25 per cent to about 3 per cent.

THE GOOD JUDGE STARTING ON A CAMPAIGN TOUR

DO I NEED TO SHOW MY TICKET? NOT HERE, JUDGE. YOU ARE TOO WELL KNOWN—YOU AND THE REAL TOBACCO CHEW.

LEAVE it to railroad men to get the right word on chewing tobacco—from agent to Super they are switching to the Real Tobacco Chew. And now they are glad they found the little chew that satisfies on less tobacco. That's why they are letting one another know about it.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough—cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

THE REAL TOBACCO CHEW IS NOW CUT TWO WAYS!!! W-B CUT IS LONG SWEET. RIGHT-CUT IS SHORT SWEET.

Take less than one-quarter the old size chew. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just take a sibble of it until you find the strength chew that suits you, then see how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up. An excess of licorice and sweetening makes you spit too much.

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

(Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste.)

EXTRA FORTUNE IN BIBLE POST OFFERED SEC. LANSING

Granddaughter of Wealthy St. Louis Man Finds Papers.

Heirs Immediately File Suit to Recover on $60,000 in Stocks—Girl, Searching Garret, Finds Across Old Bible.

(By Associated Press.)
Washington, June 23.—President Wilson offered Acting Secretary Lansing the position of permanent secretary of state at a conference held at the White House today. It was authoritatively stated that an official announcement will be made at five o'clock by President Wilson.

St. Louis.—Suit has been filed by the heirs of John Gilmore Shelton, who at his death in 1869 was regarded as one of the wealthiest St. Louisans, to recover from the William H. Thompson Trust company and the National Bank of Commerce on thirty shares of gas company stock valued at $60,000 which were found by Shelton's granddaughter, Miss Grace J. Rives, in 1910, after they had been lost since the owner's death.

sides of the streets ruined buildings appear today, and all streets are closed to autos and the pedestrians warned to keep to the center of the streets.

Los Angeles, June 23.—Several deaths are reported at Calexico as a result of an earthquake. Fire is reported to have started in some places. The extent of the damage is unknown. The high school at Brawley, a few miles north of El Centro, is said to have been destroyed.

The stock was in the old St. Louis Gas company, which was taken over by the LaCade Gas company in 1890. It is claimed by the Shelton heirs that no accounting was ever made for the thirty shares they knew their grandfather had possessed, but were unable to find.

The petition asks that the defendants be compelled to pay the pro rata value of these shares at the time of the sale, estimated at $60,000, and in addition compound interest at 6 per cent from January 1, 1890. This would increase the aggregate claim to more than $200,000.

Believe Many Killed.
San Francisco, June 23.—Advices received from El Centro late last night stated that between ten and fifteen persons were killed by falling walls caused by the earthquake, which occurred about 9 p. m. At 10 o'clock, the report said, two large fires which had threatened the town were under control, but lesser conflagrations still were burning.

Miss Rives said that for several years prior to 1910 she and her mother had made their home with her uncle, John G. Shelton, Jr. She always helped with the spring housecleaning. In 1910 she gave the house a more thorough cleaning than ever before.

In a garret storeroom were many pieces of old furniture which had not been disturbed for years. She found a solid mahogany library table covered with dust. In one side was a drawer so constructed that at first glance it was not noticeable. She opened the drawer and found a lot of faded papers. Under them was an old Bible. In turning the leaves of the Bible she came across a folded paper, yellowed with age. She took it to her uncle, who examined it and found it was the certificate for the lost stock.

Town in Flames.
San Diego, Calif., June 23.—The town of Calexico, Calif., on the Mexican border, was reported to be in flames late last night as a result of the earthquake felt in various parts of the southwest. No details were received, as telegraphic communication has been interrupted.

Among the other papers in the drawer were found a certificate for fifty shares of stock in the Missouri Wine company, now the American Wine company; a certificate for forty shares in the old Ohio and Mississippi railroad and a certificate for several shares in the old Pacific railroad. It is not known what value attaches to these stocks and so far no action to recover on them has been determined upon.

Wires Broken; Lights Out.
Los Angeles, Calif., June 23.—Reports from El Centro, in the imperial valley, stated that a severe earthquake was felt there at about eight o'clock last night. Electric wires were broken, the report stated, throwing the town into darkness. Buildings were severely shaken.

Negotiations for a settlement of the claims under the gas company stock were suspended after the death of John G. Shelton, Jr., in 1913. Miss Rives said the heirs at that time were unable to agree as to what division to make of the property and decided to drop the matter.

GREEN BAY TO PLAY TWO GAMES IN CITY
Announcement is made today that the speedy Green Bay outfit was slated for a two game series on the South Park lot, Saturday and Sunday afternoons of this week.

Only recently they took it up again and employed an attorney to push their claims. The suit is directed against the National Bank of Commerce and the William H. Thompson Trust company, because, it is alleged, the pro rata distribution of the stock at the time of its sale was made through the bank, and Thompson acted as trustee in the transfer.

The Bays are one of the fast crowds of tossers in this section of the country and have an enviable record thus far. Capt. Olmsted's scrapers are anxious to try their mettle against the fast Badgers and are kind'a optimistic of their chances of grabbing the contests. Garland will start Saturday's scrap for the locals while the Sunday hurler is not yet picked.

PREACHERS DID THE WORK
Shingle Congregational Church for Brother Parson in St. Louis in a Hurry.

The following week, July 3, 4 and 5 will see the return of the fighting Marinette crew who grabbed one off the locals two weeks ago. This series promises to draw heavily among the fans of the city and vicinity. The original plans indicated the Chicago Giants would be attraction over the Fourth, but the dusky players wanted a guarantee of a week's games.

St. Louis.—Nine Congregational pastors in overalls shingled the roof of the Immanuel Congregational church here a few days ago, while the pastor of the Immanuel church stood on the sidewalk and watched them fulfill a pledge made on a dare.

Dancing began immediately after the close of the concert and continued until a late hour. It is said that last night's affair was the most successful of any ever held under the auspices of the brigade. Invitations were confined to the ranks of the brigade and to the young women friends of the Company A members.

Decorations a Feature
One of the features of the ball was the display of decorations. Under the skillful hands of experienced persons the big room was transformed into a bower of beauty. Red peonies, ferns, palms and other potted plants were used with splendid effect. One thousand peonies used in the decorative scheme were the gift of Mrs. Brennan of Milwaukee. During the progress of the ball, many stood outside the windows watching the animated scene within.

USE REAL CHIMES IN COMING PLAY

The magnitude of the scenes representing New Year's Eve on Broadway, New York, in Henry W. Savage's production of the dramatic spectacle, "Everywoman," will be understood from the statement that to approach realism a chime of bells is used weighing over three thousand pounds. Over one hundred and fifty people appear in this one scene which is one of the largest ever staged. Nothing could be more difficult to reproduce upon the stage than the carnival spirit that prevails in the metropolis as the old year is passing out and the new year coming in. "Everywoman" will be at the Delft July 3.

Skunks Enemies of Caterpillars.
A new field of usefulness has been found for the much-ridiculed skunk in the fact that it is a vigorous enemy of the full-grown range caterpillars. Birds are of no service whatever in destroying these large caterpillars, but skunks devour quantities of them, and this is another reason why these little creatures should receive more consideration than they now do.

The Real Thing.
An aim in life is the only fortune worth the finding, says Stevenson; and it is not to be found in foreign lands, but in the heart itself.
