Heavy Artillery Shipments Are De- scribed in Amsterdam Despatch— May Mean Attack on Warsaw Front.

(BULLETIN)

(By Associated Press.)
London, June 26.—Russia's minister of war has resigned, according to a despatch. His former assistant will succeed him.

The left bank of the Dneister cleared of the Teutonic forces which crossed the stream recently after terrific battling, according to the latest Russian despatches, but the Austrians and Germans are fighting desperately to make a passage elsewhere. Bridging operations have started in the region of Wociside on the very night the Germans attempted to cross the Kosayne, and in the region of Marty-noffstany, but the Germans have been driven back in the former and captured in the latter place according to the Russian report.

The battle is still raging at a new point of attack it is said, but at every other points along the line of the Germans have been checked, the Russ claim.

The claims mention a specific break of the Germans' offensive in the Ores and at Ormalew and on the Vistula fronts south of Pillca. A later accretion to the forces of the German drive is indicated, however, to Russ reporting they were forced to fall back because of heavy infantry fire. There is no change in the situation east of Lemberg.

Await New German Move.

London, June 26.—With breathless expectation reflected in the pause on both battle fronts, the British people are awaiting the next move on the war chessboard. The move is believed to be the Germans' and it may come at the either the east of the west portions of the field.

The closing of the eastern campaign may mean that a movement of the veterans in the east will be made to the western front there to make another effort to break through to the channel. Many are believing that this will not be done until another attack is made in the direction of Warsaw. There is no great activity on the minor fronts.

Italians Consolidating Positions.

The Italians are claiming to be consolidating their positions along the Isonzo which they have thus far won, while from the Dardanelles comes reports of enormous losses to the Turks in the defense of the Gallipoli peninsula.

TODAY'S ODDEST STORY

Fort Smith, Ark., June 26.—The kid who fell from his reserved seat on a telephone pole in his excitement over the home run that won the game in the ninth, and, recovering from the anesthetic, in the hospital, chirped, "Did it land foul?" has nothing on the fans of Fort Smith, in the matter of enthusiasm. There's a four-ply, tripple-riveted, non-tipping lid on Sunday baseball in Fort Smith. Fans languished on Sundays until someone had an idea. Fort Smith was near the Oklahoma border; there were no sky-blue statues in Oklahoma; there was an old ball yard doing pasture duty at Arkoma, Okla.; why not?

Fort Smith fans are the only fans who leave their own state and travel to another just to see a ball game. The local team is in the Western Association.

One of the best known men in the business circles of Delta county has passed over the dark river, in the death of J. T. Whybrew of Gladstone, for many years well known stockholder and general manager of the Cleveland Milling and Supply company of the Upper Bay city. Mr. Whybrew died early Friday morning at the family home on Delta avenue in Gladstone following an illness of three years' duration with diabetes. However, Mr. Whybrew was not forced to take his bed until a month or so ago. He had previously resigned from active business life the first of January, this year, owing to the illness with which he was affected.

VARSITY SQUADS WILL GET UNDER WAY EARLY

Early calls for practice are to be the rule in eastern university football circles this autumn. Both Harvard and Pennsylvania will assemble a large portion of their squads some days before the opening of the universities in order that the players may be coached in the fundamentals of the game before the serious work of the season begins. The Quakers will report at Mt. Gretna, Pa., on August 28 for two weeks' work before the training at Franklin Field and Harvard candidates will begin to get acquainted with the piskin on September 13, two weeks before the Cambridge university opens its scholastic doors for another year.

ONE MAN INJURED IN WAGE ARGUMENT

Argues Over Justification of Demand of Striking Carpenters and is Stabbed by Other Man.

(By Associated Press.)
Chicago, Ill., June 26.—Business in many parts of the country will suffer as the result of the shut-down in this city of the building industries and which with the allied builders and other interests began to go into effect today, according to James Pryor, a member of the press committee of the employers.

Mr. Pryor said that he had telegraphed to outside firms to cancel orders for material and not take others. He said that the shut-down would not be general for another week or more.

In some cases where only the order to stop machinery was necessary that was done today, while in other cases where perishable material was on hand time would be taken to dispose of that before closing shop.

250,000 Men Out of Work.

Employers will venture no definite statement as to the number of men affected by the order although it is variously estimated that between 125,000 and 250,000 will be thrown out of work, practically one-fourth of the city's wage earners being involved.

Herbert Ballou was stabbed in an argument today with a man who insisted that the demand for a 70 cent hour was justified.

With practically everything in complete readiness for the firing of the first gun in the Health Week campaign planned by interested Escanabans and the state health department, the city is awaiting the coming of Dr. J. H. Kellogg, of Battle Creek. Dr. Kellogg is the eminent American surgeon whose efforts in the line of public health have been widely recognized, and his lectures here, it is anticipated, will prove of the greatest value to those who are planning to hear him.

Dr. Kellogg will speak first at the Delft theatre, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. His topic for that occasion will be a theme upon which he is able to discourse with authority, "The Great White Plague." Motion pictures of the most graphic sort are to be an accompaniment to the lecture.

Preceding the address by Dr. Kellogg, Sunday afternoon, an organ prelude will be played, and the invocation by Rev. R. Stanley Brown of the First Presbyterian church made. A male chorus will sing and the lecture will close with the benediction by Rev. Guy V. Hoard of the Methodist church.

EVENING AT THE HIGH SCHOOL.

The evening program will be held at the high school auditorium, according to the program announced recently. Dr. Kellogg will again be the principal speaker, his subject, however, not having been announced at this time.

Monday's program includes many features of real interest, meetings being held afternoon and evening, following the schedule outlined by the program committee. Dr. J. L. Burkart, secretary of the State Board of Health, will be the speaker, his subject being "Sanitary Requirements of Escanaba."

It is intimated that this address will be filled with an accurate and pertinent description of what the city lacks in the way of sanitation and allied matters. Evening meeting will be held at the high school at which time Dr. Burkart will speak on "The Fly," and other subjects closely allied. Lantern slides will accompany the lecture.

The exhibit of the state health board, installed yesterday in the Glavin block room on Ludington street has already attracted considerable interest among local people, many visiting the rooms today, although the exhibit was not completely finished.

RECORDS BROKEN TODAY IN OPENING SPEEDWAY; RESTA WINS CLASSIC

FIVE HUNDRED MILE AUTO DER- BY AT CHICAGO IS REVELATION OF SPEED PERFORMANCES— AVERAGES 90 MILES AN HOUR.

TIMERS UNABLE TO TRACE CARS AT START

(By Associated Press.)
Chicago, June 26.—Resta wins; Porporato second. Time, 5:07:06. Twenty-six minutes faster than previous records. Sickenbacher is third.

Speedway Park, Chicago, June 26.—Automobile records were smashed today in the 500-mile auto derby which opened Chicago's new two-mile racing park. The pace was too terrific for the timers at the start to keep tab on the racers.

At 260 miles the leader was Resta with a mark of 2:41:01, Porporato, 2:41:16, Grant, 2:42:14 in the order named. It was announced that Resta had broken the records for the 200 and 300 miles at an average pace of 90 miles an hour. His time was 3:15 for the distance compared with DePalma's former record of several minutes less. At 300 miles Resta led by eight miles. Next came Grant, E. Cooper, Porporato, Riskenbacher and Anderson.

A crowd estimated at eighty thousand is in attendance at the races.

A new competitiveness record for 100 miles at a rate of 104 miles an hour, eleven miles an hour faster than the previous time made by DePalma, was made today by E. Cooper. Cooper lead the field at 120 miles.

Haupt withdrew at 100 miles but later re-entered the race. There were 16 cars running at the 350 mile post. A broken shaft caused the retirement of Lumberg.

A fine of $30, including the costs of the case were assessed against the former policeman by Judge Glaser. Reports that Carlson was killing deer caused Lelsner to investigate.

RUNAWAY RESULTS IN DEATH OF LOCAL MAN; SKULL WAS FRACTURED

MATT DAHL, WELL KNOWN LO- CAL MAN, DIES WHEN THROWN FROM WAGON NEAR COR- NELL.

SHIFTING LUMBER FRIGHTENS HORSES

Load Slides Forward Onto Animals—Dash Away and Hurl Driver to Ground—Skull Fractured in the Fall.

When a load of lumber shifted forward from its position on a big wagon being driven to the farm owned and operated by Matt Dahl, of this city, the team became frightened, running away and hurling Mr. Dahl to the ground, a fractured skull being sustained from which he died a half hour later. The dead man is well known to Escanabans, residing here and operating his farm near Cornell, close to the point at which the accident occurred. He was fifty years of age and leaves a family of several children and a widow. The accident occurred at 9:30 o'clock last night.

Returning to Farm With Load.

According to the story of a son, the dead man, Dahl had been to this city for a load of lumber with which to make some improvements on his farm property near Cornell. He left here early in the evening with a big wagon load of material. When nearly to the end of the destination, it seems that the load shifted, throwing him upon the animals and frightening them. The sudden jerk threw Dahl from his perch on the load and to the hard road. He alighted on his head sustaining a fracture to his skull which caused his death.

Find Body in Road.

Other persons traveling the same road, passed the spot at about 9:30 o'clock and found the inert body lying at the side of the highway. Medical assistance was summoned but the man was dead before a physician arrived. Coroner Bartley of this city, viewed the remains and stated that death was due to accident, dispensing with an inquest which was deemed unnecessary.

It was said today that Dahl had been imbibing of the cup that cheers before his departure from Escanaba for the farm. The body was brought to the Oliver morgue where it is being prepared for burial. No funeral arrangements have been made.

The family resides at the corner of Jennie street and Escanaba avenue.

Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon from the Oliver parlors at 2:30 o'clock. The Finlander society will have charge of the services.

OLDEST BASEBALL IN EXISTENCE INSURED

Horseshoe Sphere Half Century Old Insured Against Loss by Theft or Fire.

(By Associated Press.)
New York, June 26.—Veteran baseball fans, whose memories carry them back to the early days of the national game, are discussing the recent report from Pittsburg that the oldest baseball in existence had been insured for $1,000 against loss by fire or burglary. This sphere, which is covered by one piece of horseshoe sewed in the center, is said to be fifty-three years old, having made its initial appearance in a game played between the Eclipse club of Kingston, N. Y., and the Hudson team of Newburgh, N. Y., on June 20, 1862, which was won by Kingston players, 49 to 18.

While this ball is undoubtedly one of the old time spheres, it is not the oldest by some years if the records regarding this department of baseball can be relied upon. A baseball which antedates the Pittsburg one by five years is, or was, until recently, in the possession of P. M. Wilhite of Emporia, Kansas. This sphere was used in what is claimed to be the first championship game ever played in this country. It figured in the contest between the Tri-Mountain club of Boston, and the Portland, Me., team in a game played Sept. 9, 1857.

Like the Pittsburg ball it has a one-piece cover and measures ten inches in circumference. The contest in which this ball, now preserved by a coating of gold leaf and suitably inscribed, was used in a game played on Boston Commons and was won by Portland, 47 to 42. The match was memorable in other respects since it was the first played under the nine-inning rule and the first in which the pitcher was permitted to pitch instead of being forced to use the toss or underhand throw.

St. Louis jitney buses now charge 10-cent fares.

ANNOUNCE PLANS FOR BIG MISSIONARY MOVE

National Movement to Be Given Impetus With Series of Gatherings During October.

(By Associated Press.)
New York, June 26.—A national missionary campaign like that inaugurated by the Laymen's Missionary Movement in 1909 and 1910, is to be organized again for the coming fall and next spring, some of the plans of which were announced here today.

As in the first campaign, the Laymen's Missionary Movement, which is an interdenominational organization, will work in co-operation with the home and foreign mission agencies of the country, holding a series of 75 conventions in as many cities in all parts of the United States.

The meetings will start in October, and end in April, with a national missionary congress at Washington, D. C., April 26 to 30, 1916. Forty thousand churches are to be invited to send their most able men as delegates to the various conventions, there being no limit to the number from each church. Last year the attendance ran above 75,000 delegates and the announcement for this year speaks of an expected total of a hundred and fifty thousand men.

WRITES NOTE TO DIRECT FRIENDS; THEN SUICIDES

Houghton, June 26.—After he had written a postal card to his friend John Hiltunen saying, "You will find my dead body between Houghton and Atlantic," the corpse of Lauri Hill was found lying in a hollow beside the road just outside of Houghton with a bullet hole in the head, and the hand grasping a revolver. Hill was a native of Finland and had lived in Atlantic for four years. No motive is known for his suicide. He was 28 years old and leaves a wife and two children in the old country.

"ZOO" IS GIVEN ADDITION; BUILD CAGES FOR BEARS

A fawn, the third to be placed in the city "zoo" will soon be brought here by Game Warden Lelner and installed with the others at the Ludington park. The latest acquisition was found near the Larson farm in the Danforth Settlement.

A bear cage will also be erected at the park wherein the two frisky, laughable specimens of Ursus will be placed. These young bruins are already the attraction that daily draws many youngsters to the city hall to watch their antics, and their removal to the city "zoo" will leave an air of loneliness around the fire station.

TRAINS MEET ON HIGH BRIDGE; SEVEN KILLED

(By Associated Press.)

Charles Cook, an engineer, Charles R. Fritz and John Hays, firemen, are among the dead. The injured were taken to Hagerstown and Baltimore.

The special car of President Grey, of the Western Maryland, was on the Blue Mountain express, several of the leading officials of the road being on board.

The wreck occurred on a bridge spanning a ravine and some distance from any village. The two locomotives ran together with such force that they were broken up and some of the crews are still in the wreckage.

Chandler Was Months Ahead of the "New Models"

THIS is "announcement" time, it seems. You are being told about "new models" and lower prices. Well the new models and the lower prices had to come, for the Chandler pointed the way months ago—not with a cheapened car but with a car that had made good for thousands of owners, at a price that made the industry gasp.

CHANDLER $1295

The Pioneer Light-Weight Six

The Chandler announced its New Season's car in January, at a price of only $1295. That price was hundreds of dollars under the price of any other car of really similar character.

And now, in spite of price reductions and new models rushed out in the hopes of meeting the Chandler competition, the Chandler is still under-priced.

Such a car at such a price literally stamped the trade toward the Chandler. And it continues alone in its leadership of the high-grade light six field.

Men who are motor-wise, men who know automobiles, know this is true. If there is anyone who does not know it is true, we ask the opportunity to show him and prove it.

All over the country the Chandler demand has been tremendous. The factory has reached a production of ten thousand cars for this year but even that great number will leave hundreds disappointed. Like other Chandler dealers everywhere, we have been "snowed under" with orders. In April and May we could not fill our orders by half. This month we are catching up pretty well with the demand. Our allotments for July and August are liberal and we expect to give prompt deliveries on orders received early.

Don't be misled. Don't be satisfied with any but the best. Choose the Chandler!

Chandler Features Marvelous Chandler Motor made in the Chandler factory, Bosch Magneto, Gray & Davis Electric Starting and Lighting System, Rayfield Carburetor, genuine Mayo Mercedes Type Radiator, cast aluminum motor base, three silent chains for driving motor shafts, imported annular ball bearings, silent worm-bevel rear axle, genuine hand-buffed leather upholstery, Stewart vacuum gasoline feed, Goldie patent one-man top covered with genuine Neverslack, Jilly curtains, Warner Magnetic Speedometer, Firestone Demountable rims, and complete general equipment.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I—The yacht Lola narrowly escapes wreck in Leghorn harbor. Gordon Gregg, known to the British consular agent as called upon by Hornby, the Lola's owner, and dines aboard with him and his friend Hyton Chater. Aboard the yacht he accidentally sees a room full of arms and ammunition and a torn photograph of a young girl. That night the consul's safe is robbed and the Lola mysteriously disappears. The police find that Hornby is a fraud and the Lola's name a false one.

CHAPTER II—Gregg visits Capt. Jack Durnford of the marines aboard his vessel, and is surprised to learn that Durnford knows, but will not reveal, the mystery of the Lola. "It concerns a woman," says Durnford.

CHAPTER III—In London Gregg is trapped nearly to his death by a former servant, Ollato, who repeats in time to save him, but not to give a reason for his treachery. Visiting in Dumfries Gregg meets Muriel Lethcourte, who is strangely affected at mention of the Lola. Hornby appears.

CHAPTER IV—Muriel introduces Hornby as Martin Woodroffe, her father's friend. Gregg finds that she is engaged to Woodroffe. Lethcourte's actions and connection with Woodroffe are mysterious. Gregg sees a copy of the torn photograph on the Lola and finds that the young girl is Muriel's friend. Woodroffe disappears.

CHAPTER V—Gregg discovers the body of a murdered woman in Rannoch wood. The body disappears and in its place is found the body of Ollato, whom Gregg has not seen since the night of the London adventure. Gregg talks to the police but conceals his own knowledge of the woman.

CHAPTER VI—Muriel calls secretly on Gregg and tells him that she is certain that a woman as well as a man has been murdered. They search Rannoch wood together.

CHAPTER VII—Gregg and Muriel find the body of the woman in Rannoch wood and Gregg tells her as Armida, Ollato's wife. Gregg tells the police but when they go to the wood the body has disappeared. In London Gregg meets Ollato, whom he had seen dead in Dumfries, alive and well.

CHAPTER VIII—Falling to get any clue from Ollato, Gregg traces the young girl of the torn photograph and finds that she is Elma Heath, niece of Baron Oberg, who has taken her to Abo, Finland, and that she holds a secret affecting Woodroffe.

CHAPTER IX—On his return to Hannon Gregg finds the Lethcourtes fled after drugging Hyton Chater, who had called there. Chater, on recovery, searched the house for something hidden there, and took away with him Elma Heath's photograph, saying to a maid that the young lady was dead.

CHAPTER X—Gregg goes to Abo, and after a tilt with the police chief, is imprisoned. Then upon the paper I wrote: "Is the Baron Oberg your uncle?" She shook her head in the negative, showing that the dreaded governor general of Finland had only acted a part towards her in which she had been compelled to concur.

"Who is Philip Hornby?" I inquired, writing rapidly. "My friend—at least, I believe so." "Friend! And I had all along believed him to be an adventurer and an enemy!" "Why did you go to Leghorn?" I asked.

"For a secret purpose. There was a plot to kill you, only I managed to thwart them," were the words she printed with much labor. "Then I owe my life to you," I wrote. "And in return I will do my utmost to rescue you from here, if you do not fear to place yourself in my hands."

"And to this she replied: 'I shall be thankful, for I cannot bear this awful place longer. I believe they must torture the women here. They will torture me some day. Do your best to get me out of here and I will tell you everything. But,' she wrote, 'I fear you can never secure my release. I am confined here on a life sentence.' "But you are English, and if you have had no trial I can complain to our ambassador."

"No, I am a Russian subject. I was born in Russia, and went to England when I was a girl." That altered the case entirely. As a subject of the czar in her own country she was amenable to that disgraceful blot upon civilization that allows a person to be consigned to prison at the will of a high official, without trial or without being afforded any opportunity of appeal. I therefore at once saw a difficulty.

Yet she promised to tell me the truth if I could but secure her release! Could I allow this refined defenseless girl to remain an inmate of that bastille, the terrors of which I had heard men in Russia hint at with bated breath? They had willfully maimed her and deprived her of both hearing and the power of speech, and now they intended that she should be driven mad by that silence and loneliness that must always end in insanity.

any Russian to turn pale. And I was in the Schusselburg of Finland! I turned over the sheet of paper and wrote the question: "Did Baron Oberg send you here?" In response, she printed the words: "I believe so. I was arrested in Helmsingfors. Tell Lydia where I am."

"Do you know Muriel Lethcourte?" I inquired by the same means, whereupon she replied that they were at school together. "Did you see me on board the Lola?" I wrote.

"Yes. But I could not warn you, although I had overheard their intentions. They took me ashore when you had gone, to Siena. After three days I found myself deaf and dumb—I was made so."

"Who did it?" "A doctor, I suppose. People who said they were my friends put me under chloroform." I turned to the woman in the religious habit, and cried: "A shameful mutilation has been committed upon this poor defenseless girl! And I will make it my duty to discover and punish the perpetrators of it."

"Ah, m'sieur. Do not act rashly, I pray you," the woman said seriously, placing her hand upon my arm. "Recollect you are in Finland—where the Baron Oberg is all-powerful."

"I do not fear the Baron Oberg," I exclaimed. "If necessary, I will appeal to the czar himself. Mademoiselle is kept here for the reason that she is in possession of some secret. She must be released—I will take the responsibility."

"But you must not try to release her from here. It would mean death to you both. The Castle of Kajana tells no secrets of those who die within its walls, or of those cast headlong into its waters and forgotten."

Again I turned to Elma, who stood in anxious wonder of the subject of our conversation, and had suddenly taken the old nun's hand and kissed it affectionately, perhaps in order to show me that she trusted her.

Then upon the paper I wrote: "Is the Baron Oberg your uncle?" She shook her head in the negative, showing that the dreaded governor general of Finland had only acted a part towards her in which she had been compelled to concur.

Elma recognized my intentions in a moment, and allowed herself to be conducted down the long intricate corridor, walking stealthily, and as we crept along on tiptoe I felt the girl's released—I will take the responsibility."

"But you must not try to release her from here. It would mean death to you both. The Castle of Kajana tells no secrets of those who die within its walls, or of those cast headlong into its waters and forgotten."

They had willfully maimed her and deprived her of both hearing and the power of speech, and now they intended that she should be driven mad by that silence and loneliness that must always end in insanity.

"I have decided," I said suddenly, turning to the woman who had conducted me there, and having now removed the steel bonds of the prisoner with a key she secretly carried, stood with folded hands in the calm attitude of the religious.

As we were struggling desperately, the English girl slipped past us with the carbine in her hand, and with a quick movement dragged open the heavy door that gave exit to the lake. I heard a splash, and saw that Elma no longer held the sentry's weapon in her hands. Then at the same moment I heard a voice outside cry in a low tone: "Courage, excellency! Courage! I will come and help you."

ly resounded with shouts of alarm, and in the tower above me the great old rusty bell began to swing, ringing its brazen note across the broad expanse of water. Behind me in the passage I saw a light and the glitter of arms. A shot rang out, and a bullet whizzed past me. Then I jumped, and nearly upset the boat, but taking an oar I began to row for life, and as we drew away from those grim, black walls the fire belched forth from three rifles.

Again the guards fired upon us, but in the darkness their aim was faulty. Lights appeared in the high windows of the castle, and we could see that the greatest commotion had been caused by the escape of the prisoner. The men at the door in the tower were shouting to the patrol boats, calling them to row us down and capture us, but by plying our oars rapidly we shot straight across the lake until we got under the deep shadows of the opposite shore. Out in the center of the lake we could just distinguish a long boat with three rowers going swiftly towards the entrance to the river, which we so desired to gain.

The guards were rowing rapidly, the oars sounding in the rowlocks, evidently in the belief that we had made for the river. But the Finlander had apparently foreseen this, and for that reason we were lying safe from observation in the deep shadow of an overhanging tree. A gray mist was slowly rising from the water, and the Finn, noticing it, hoped that it might favor us.

"If we disembark we shall be compelled to make a detour of fully four days in the forest, in order to pass the marshes," he pointed out in a low whisper. "But if we can enter the river we can go ashore anywhere and get by foot to some place where the lady can be hiding."

"What do you advise? The chief of police told me he could trust you." "I think it will be best to risk it," he said in Russian after a brief pause. "We will tie up the boat, and I will go along the bank and see what the guards are doing. You will remain here, and I shall not be seen. The rushes and undergrowth are higher further along. But if there is danger while I am absent get out and go straight westward until you find the marsh, then keep along its banks due south," and drawing up the boat to the bank the shrewd, big-boned fellow disappeared into the dark undergrowth.

INSOMNIA WILL SAVE TIME

Sleep Will Be Unnecessary If There is Adrenin Enough to Go Around.

Boston.—Dr. Walter Bradford Cannon, professor of physiology at the Harvard Medical school, through animal experiments, has just made the astonishing discovery that human fatigue, which hitherto has needed sleep and rest to banish, can now be repaired at almost a minute's notice by the use of a substance known as adrenin, which exists in the human body and which also can be obtained from sheep and calves.

The professor's tests prove that a little of this adrenin will accomplish in less than five minutes what two hours and more of rest can perform.

PAYS $20 FOR COW'S COUGH
Animal Passes Away After the Purchaser Had Made Partial Payment on the Deal.

Eveleth, Minn.—This is the story of a cow that had a cough and a man who wouldn't "cough up." It took two lawyers to explain the intricacies of the case to Judge Edward Mallan and a jury in the municipal court. Herman Larson sued George Aho for $60 which, he alleged, was the balance due on a cow Larson sold to the defendant. Aho pleaded that he had paid Larson $20 and that the cow was dead; that she had a bad cold the day he bought her; that the cold proved to be pneumonia and the cow coughed herself to death. The jury split the difference and gave Larson a verdict of $20.

The Hundred-Dollar Look.
One check for $100 given for war relief has a story behind it. The collector in the case was the extremely attractive and favorite niece who had no illusions respecting her uncle's thriftiness. She asked him for a large gift. He clipped in $5. She was disappointed, but put down the item on her list with footnotes. Uncle later got a surreptitious glance at the paper and read:

"T. Tupper Jones, Five Dollars. Every Little Bit Helps."
The $100 check was listed next day.

Slight Mistake.
The man from Australia was making his first tour of this country. He turned to the stranger who sat opposite him in the passenger coach.

"Who is that important-looking gentleman in the magnificent uniform?" asked the man from Australia. "He is the conductor," replied the stranger. "He runs the train."

"Ah," exclaimed the man from Australia. "My mistake. I thought he owned it."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

SAGE TEA DARKENS HAIR TO ANY SHADE

Don't Stay Gray! Here's a Simple Recipe That Anybody Can Apply With a Hair Brush.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and abundant. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get this famous old recipe which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and abundant.

HANGMAN'S ROPE HAS NO TERROR FOR "JIM"

Milwaukee, June 26.—In a remarkable interview today James Wapoose, the Indian sentenced to be hanged for the murder of Mary Dixon, postmistress of Kenosha, tells of the feelings and emotions of a man who faces death unless clemency is received from the hands of the president.
"It seems like a dream," said Wapoose. "How long it will last I do not know."
Wapoose is a prisoner in the jail, awaiting the outcome of the application for the commutation of a sentence of life imprisonment in Fort Leavenworth penitentiary. A petition was sent today to President Wilson by William J. Kershaw, attorney for the Indian.

Cobb Slumps and Falls Below His Average of .400--Crowford Wrests Slugging Honors Away

Chicago, June 26.—Ty Cobb has allowed his batting average to slip below .400 for the first time since he gained the leadership of the American league this season, according to averages published here today including the records of last Wednesday. Cobb maintains his place in front in his circuit but the batting slump Jake Daubert suffered in the recent Chicago series lost the Brooklyn star first place in the National to Fred Luderus of Philadelphia and Lee Magee once more leads the Federal league, having gone ahead of Vincent Campbell.
American league leaders, counting only those who have played in at least half of the games their teams have, are:
Cobb, Detroit, .397; Fournier, Chicago, .360; Jackson, Cleveland, .344; Crawford, Detroit, .324; E. Collins, Chicago, .323; Lajoie, Philadelphia, .312; Veach, Detroit, .311; Pipp, New York, .306; Strunk, Philadelphia, .303; Malsel, New York, .302. In team batting, Chicago with .267 and Detroit with .256 lead.
Crawford has wrested slugging honors from Cobb with total bases numbering 115 to Ty's 113, but Cobb still leads in stolen bases with 44 and in runs scored with 65. Oldring, Philadelphia, and Caldwell, New York, lead in homers with 4 each.
The 700 pitchers of the American league who have taken part in ten or more games, are: Faber, Chicago, won 12 and lost 2; Scott, Chicago, 9 and 3; Benz, Chicago, 6 and 2; Foster, Boston, 8 and 3; Fisher, New York, 5 and 3.
In the National league the leading batters are: Luderus, Philadelphia, .347; Daubert, Brooklyn, .340; J. Smith, Boston, .325; Merkle, New York, .325; Saler, Chicago, .323; Godd, Chicago, .323; Connolly, Boston, .320; Doyle, New York, .318; Wade Kilmer, Cincinnati, .315; Robertson, New York, .314. St. Louis has displaced New York in team batting with .259 to the Giants .257. Saler leads in total bases with 123, and in runs scored with 39. Carey of Pittsburgh, leads the base stealers with 15 and Cravath, Philadelphia, in home runs with 9.
Leading pitchers are: Meadows, St. Louis, won 7 and lost 1; Pierce, Chicago, 6 and 1; Mannaux, Pittsburgh, 10 and 2; Alexander, Philadelphia, 12 and 3; Mayer, Philadelphia, 12 and 3; Ragan, Boston, 6 and 2.

Although it is believed that the Indian is gradually losing his mind from the effect of self-inflicted wounds he does not show the slightest fear of death. If the order of the court is to be enforced, Wapoose expresses the wish that the hanging take place in some other place other than the Indian reservation in Shawano county.

FORD CAR GETS A FORD CAR AS GIFT

Vicksburg, Mich., June 26.—Among the stack of letters that sifted through his secretary to Henry Ford personally the other day, was one that started off: "We have the only living Ford Car."

"HYPCRITES" IS THE BIG FEATURE AT THE DELFT THEATRE TUES.

The latest Bosworth release is "Hypocrites," a drama written and produced by Lois Weber. Through the dramatic incidents of the play is woven a remarkable allegory, depicting the search for Truth by one consecrated to the task, and the revelation of the real natures of the characters of the story as Truth shows them in her magic mirror. A brief prologue opens the play, showing the rage of the people in olden times as a monk endeavors to present to them his idea of Truth. In modern times the same people, their hypocritical natures unchanged, treat with the same contempt, the leader who tries to show them the truth.
For dramatic force and artistry this is one of the most remarkable films ever exhibited. Courtenay Foote, Myrtle Stedman, Adele Farrington, Herbert Standing, are in the cast. Margaret Edwards, the most perfect-

Less material and lower grades are traps to make sales on prices.
The Firestone organization, the largest in the world specializing on tires, can make and market tires and tubes at a lower cost to you, the user, than any one else in the industry.

COURT MARTIALED

A genuine heart-throb story. A stern old general, obeying duty's call orders his traitor son shot to death, despite the mother's piteous entreaties.

NEW MILLINERY MODES

OUTLINE OF HATS FOLLOWS OUTLINES OF SKIRTS.

Smart Toques of Last Season Are No Longer Seen—Latest Ideas Seen in Paris Are in the Smartest of Styles.

Everyone has been wondering what kind of hats or toques we are going to wear with the new dresses with the full skirts which measure from six to eight yards round the hem and the picturesque coques which recall the styles of olden times, writes Idalia de Villiers in the Boston Globe.

It was of course evident that the ultra-smart toques of last season would be quite out of place in these altered circumstances. The outline of last summer, and indeed of last au-turn too, was distinctly fancy. The underdresses were so short, and narrow and the tunics so long and wide.

With these costumes velvet forage caps, and high toques which looked rather like inverted jam pots, looked quite the right thing. We have to look for a change of outline where our hats are concerned since the outline of our skirts has been changed so completely.

Some of the new millinery models are very charming. I visited Caroline Reboux' beautiful show-rooms in the Rue de la Paix and I was delighted with the models exhibited there. Reboux has always been noted for her elegant styles. She has never gone in for eccentricities, or toques which look like the birettas worn by priests, only that they are very low. These quaint models are trimmed with very long pheasant or vulture feathers which stick out at the back in an aggressive way. When these toques are correctly worn, pressed down over the hair, they are immensely smart; they look particularly well with the new short, full skirts and sack coques.

The Reboux toque sketched was composed of raven's wing-blue velvet and trimmed with a trail of mixed flowers. Some of the blossoms were in petunia and dull blue silk; others were in oxidized silver and gold gauze.

A little later on we shall find fascinating ribbons in velvet and satin applied to Tuscan and Leghorn hats. Many of the new sailor shapes are finished off with similar ribbons, for merely sensational fashions. A "Reboux hat" has always a cachet of its own. It is distinctly Parisian in outline as well as detail. Many of the models which I saw were intended for the Riviera season. They were expressed in black velvet, raven's wing-blue tulle, and straw in many rich colors and in many other materials.

The small hat reigns supreme these days; the small hat in preference to the smart toque. One model, composed of ivory white tulle, was of an old-world shape; the brim was flat and it dipped at the front and back. It was not a large hat and the soft silk crown was creased by a wreath of dull pink carnations and garden-hair ferns. Here and there some fancy green, quite black, gave a note of sober color.

ALL ROADS LEAD TO STEPHENSON, JUNE 30

Plans for Big Celebration at Completion of New High School Completed—Governor to Speak.

Wednesday, June 30, will be a gala day for Stephenson. Not only for Stephenson and Stephenson township, but for the entire county. Throughout this entire section there will long remain pleasant memories of June 30, 1915. At least this will prove the case if the program now arranged by the enterprising community is carried out. And it would scarcely be safe to suggest there is even a possibility of failure in even the smallest detail.

The fact is that on Wednesday, June 30, Stephenson will dedicate her new township high school. Governor Ferris will be the chief speaker, and not only is Stephenson to be congratulated upon her enterprise and push, but the entire county may be considered peculiarly fortunate that so distinguished a guest is coming there on such a mission. Governor Ferris, the school-master governor, is always at his best when speaking on educational matters, and this is a golden opportunity for all citizens, particularly the children and younger generation, for the impressions left by the governor should be beyond material value.

In addition to the governor's address, short speeches will be delivered by Rev. Fr. Liedgens, Rev. Frank Jones, Dr. Edward Sawbridge, Hon. Paul Perrizo, Mr. Ira Carley, Mr. Wm. Oberdoffer, Mr. Norwood Bowers, and others.

The following is the program, as will be given at the music hall in the morning at ten o'clock. Chairman..... E. O. Gillespie Musical Selection..... Lucke's Orchestra Address of Welcome..... Audience Mrs. Louise Peterson Duet..... Misses Walcher and Houle Address..... Rev. Fr. Liedgens Address..... Rev. Frank Jones Musical Selection..... Lucke's Orchestra Address..... Gov. Woodbridge N. Ferris Solo..... Mrs. Edw. Perrizo Music..... Star Spangled Banner Audience

Chairman's Opening Remarks..... E. O. Gillespie Remarks..... Wm. J. Oberdoffer Remarks..... Paul Perrizo Remarks..... Norwood Bowers Remarks..... Ira Carley Stone-laying Ceremony and Dedication Speech..... Gov. W. N. Ferris Presentation of Gift to the Governor..... Supt. B. A. Harris Resolution of Thanks..... Dr. Edw. Sawbridge Music..... America Audience

Benediction..... Rev. T. H. Williamson At the close of the above program, the building will be thrown open to the public for inspection, which will close the day's festivities.

Scrappy Game Being Played This Afternoon—Expect Record Crowd at Sunday's Game.

Escanaba and Green Bay got away to a flying start in today's game at South Park, the first of a two game series to be played here today and tomorrow afternoons. Carrol was slated for pitching duty in today's scrap.

The Bay squad arrived this morning and early in the afternoon went to the grounds for a workout preceding the start of the contest. The visitors have brought a corking good reputation with them and from all appearances will make the locals go some to win today's game.

Sunday's game is expected to draw a record crowd and with good weather and an enthusiastic crowd of fans, Olmsted's men are primed to put up one of the biggest scraps ever witnessed on an Escanaba lot.

(By Associated Press.) Green Bay, June 26.—John Adams-neck sang and hummed the lines of a song all the time he was preparing pieces of an old pair of overalls and a shirt into a noose, and when he stopped for a time the deak sergeant went to investigate and found the man hanging by his neck from a steam pipe. Menominee, June 26.—Dr. Carl Christofferson of Sault Ste Marie, was elected president of the Upper Peninsula league, Knights of Pythias, at the business session of that body in the Pythian clubrooms this morning.

CLIMBS 800 FEET UP SHAFT TO FREEDOM

"Bride Kidnapper" of Kansas and Pa Escape From Prison Coal Mine Today—Case Stirred Whole State.

(By Associated Press.)

Leavenworth, June 26.—Roemer McCord, the so-called "Kansas bride kidnapper," and Frank Williams, another convict at the federal penitentiary here, escaped from the prison coal mine by a perilous climb of 800 feet up an air shaft. Officers are searching for the men.

The case of May Dean, whose kidnapping stirred the whole state of Kansas, was the cause of McCord's incarceration in the federal prison.

The day Mary Dean was married to Charles Dea and as the couple stood at a corner, a man approached and spoke to Mrs. Dean. She excused herself to her husband and went away with the stranger. Four days later she was found again near Neadesha where she had been deserted by McCord. She later disappeared again and was found at Concordia. In December, McCord was arrested and convicted of white slavery.

BOY SCOUTS MEET AT THE M. E. TONIGHT

Members of the Boy Scout aggregation are slated to meet at the First M. E. church this evening at 7:30 o'clock for the consideration of important matters.

A report from Consul Charles S. Williams of Nurnberg, dealing with the prices of slaughtered animals in Germany, states that swine furnish 90 per cent of the total meat consumed in the empire. The consul says that the recovery of the swine market, which since the war has been affected by the unusually high price of fodder, and also by repeated interruptions of traffic, is due to the increased demand for heavy and fat swine for the preparation of preserved goods. A valuable reserve for next year's meat supply has been thereby obtained, and selling young but not yet fattened swine at less than cost has been prevented. While the July official market report for Berlin noted that fat swine had a difficult sale, conditions have changed since the middle of September and fat hogs are now in great demand and bring the best prices.

The Paris newspaper L'Elclair protests against the war censorship and refers to members of the government as "the microcephalios who rule us." It wouldn't be so rude as to call them pinheads, of course.

The woman who wants a divorce from her husband because he never speaks to her except to quote a maxim has the sympathy of everyone who has had any experience with that sort of man.

Benjamin Franklin is famous also for his kite experiments, which, fortunately, had nothing to do with the kiting of checks.

Philadelphia has nearly 400 jitney buses in operation.

WAR STIRS TENEDOS

Peaceful Life of Little Island Becomes Distracted.

Moslems and Greeks Watch Battle for the Dardanelles With Conflicting Emotions—Place of Vantage for Correspondents.

Tenedos.—War is a good teacher of geography. The attack on the Dardanelles has brought into prominence this little island, whose existence was previously unknown to the millions. The peaceful and uneventful life of its 3,000 inhabitants has come to their doors. It has one dominating height, this little island of six by three miles—Mount Elias—and to this height during the bombardments flocked all the Tenedotes to watch the epoch-making fight.

Before the Balkan wars the Moslem inhabitants were in the majority; with the advent of the Christian rule of the Greeks most of them left, crossing to the opposite shore only four miles away, where the half-moon of Islam still floats. A few still remain, forming a group apart, keeping to themselves and avoiding their fellow Christian citizens. If you want to get them you must go to their spiritual chief, the Mufti.

On the day of the attempt to force the narrows all of them climbed up to Mount Elias, but they kept apart from their fellow islanders, forming a group to themselves, with the Mufti at their head, silently watching the drama of their country enacted before their eyes.

No sound was uttered by them that day; only on the intelligent face of the Mufti could one discern relief that the day had not gone so well for the allies, that another respite had been gained for the Empire of Islam. Tenedos, besides its normal population supports 2,000 Greek refugees from the opposite shores, persecuted and expelled from their homes. These also flocked to Mount Elias. Many of them were from Chanak and the villages in the straits. They were watching their hearths and homes shelled by the fleet, but they cared little whether their belongings were set on fire, hatred against those who drove them from their homes being uppermost in thought.

Every shell from the ship that was seen to go home was acclaimed by them, after the excitable eastern fashion, with loud shouts of hatred, such as "Burn the tyrants! Kill the dogs!"

When night came and it was seen that the allies would not pass that day, they silently and sorrowfully descended from Mount Elias, with bitterness in their hearts that the day of their deliverance had not yet come.

It was not likely that, with the unique position Tenedos afforded for watching the naval operations, it would have been left for long undisturbed by war correspondents. Telegrams flashed to the world's press from its shores, stirred editors and soon correspondents from all parts of the world were on their way to this previously unknown spot.

One by one they arrived by the weekly boat service to the island, until with the last batch, their numbers grew to a score.

The one sleepy official who acted as postmaster, telegraph director, clerk and telegraph boy, saw with regret his peaceful life invaded. He was called upon suddenly to do the work that ten men could not cope with. He was taking more messages in an hour than he would ordinarily be called upon to deal with in a year. In despair he allowed his little den on an inner office to be invaded, and he gave himself up as lost when ten, fifteen and even twenty correspondents at once called upon him to take dispatches.

There was nothing to be done but turn the correspondents themselves into telegraph clerks, registering and taking in their own money, and carrying their own dispatches to the Eastern Telegraph office.

And what a bewildering variety of currency there was to deal with: Sovereigns and louis, shillings, French pieces, and French and English bank notes, intermingled with Turkish and Greek coins and paper. A Babylon of rates, values and exchange to deal with. It was sufficient to drive crazy a much stronger brain than that of the old telegraphist.

HE STOLE KEYS OF THE JAIL

Reaches Through Grating, Lifts Keys, From Hook and Makes His Escape.

Huntington, Ind.—Fred Dearmond, held in the Huntington county jail for trial on charge of assault with intent to kill Mike Milichens in this city, escaped from jail. His partner, Thomas H. Cole, confessed and was sentenced to Jeffersonville for complicity in the same offense. Dearmond left a note to W. E. Scott, sheriff, describing his escape. Using a small wire, he reached through the cell grating, lifted the ward keys from a hook, unlocked the door and left the jail building through a window. He wrote that he had had the keys twice before, but deferred his escape until a more opportune time.

COAT FOR MOTORING OR TRAVELING.

a pocket. Both edges of the straps are attached on to the coat above the belt, but at the waist-line they are unattached between indicating perforations, and through this space the belt is passed. The upper edge of the pockets are free for opening. The average size requires 4 1/4 yards 54-inch material to develop.

Although it is an exceptionally trim-looking model, the coat is not difficult to either cut or make. As a preliminary to the cutting the material is first carefully folded and weighted, if necessary, so that it will not "creep." Then the sleeve is placed into position first, about two inches from the edge of the goods. Opposite the sleeve is laid the strap and pocket section. To the right of the sleeve the back is laid, on a lengthwise fold of the homespun. The cuff comes next; then the collar sections, said sections being laid crosswise of material. Lastly are put into place the front and belt, the front on a lengthwise thread and the belt crosswise the homespun.

The home dressmaker who fears that she will not be able to do justice to the straps may retain pockets and omit straps by cutting off the front edge of pocket on line of double small "o" perforations.

The corded silks are so much in demand this season that the coat would be very dressy developed in one of the fashionable weaves. For cool days it may be buttoned close up to the throat, while on warm days the front can be turned back, leaving perfectly formed revers and a modish collar.

Hats to accompany the new long coats are usually made of the same material. Homespun models are trimmed with silk bows, bands, rosettes and other ornaments that stand rough wear, but which are chic in effect.

For motoring, traveling or general service wear there is nothing smarter than this coat of brown homespun.

Whether she goes in for out-door sports, motoring or simply needs a coat for general wear the woman of fashion will appreciate this model in a modish shade of homespun. A decided novelty is featured in the trimming straps that start at the shoulder seam in front and are carried down below the belt to form
