BULGAR TROOPS ENTER GREEK TERRITORY

EYEWITNESS SAYS FRENCH RETREAT A MASTERLY MOVE— ALLIES CROWD SALONIKA

GREAT SKILL SHOWN BY THE FRENCH LEADERS IN SOUTHWESTERN SERBIA CAMPAIGN—GERMANS CHARGE FRENCH FORCED CIVILIANS IN SERBIA TO FLEE WITHOUT FOOD AND RAVAGED THE FARMS AND BURNED THE VILLAGES BACK OF THEM.—ALLIES SINK GERMAN SUBMARINE IN THE BLACK SEA OFF VARNA

(By Associated Press.)
Copenhagen—Dec. 15.—Super-Zeppein L-22 is reported destroyed with forty of her crew killed or wounded, according to a despatch from Schleswig this afternoon.

Paris, Dec. 14. (delayed)—The Martin's correspondent at Salonika says that he learns from good authority that Bulgarian troops have entered Greek territory in the Struma region.

Paris, Dec. 15.—The correspondent of a Milan newspaper says that a German submarine has been sunk off Varna in the Black Sea and that a Turkish torpedo boat was sunk in the sea of Marmora.

Paris, Dec. 15.—(delayed)—According to a despatch to the Temps under date of Sunday, the Austro-Hungarian consulate has advised all Austro-Hungarians to leave Salonika.

Salonika, Dec. 13.—via Paris, Dec. 15 (delayed)—An eyewitness reports that the retreat of the French forces to their temporary base in Greece has been conducted with the greatest of skill. All wounded were brought in but those which it was impossible to move. The guns were mounted on an endless train and the inhabitants brought their belongings up and piled them on the cars and in between the spaces left by the equipment. The city of Gaivgeli was razed.

The French rearguard was in constant touch with the Bulgarians until they crossed the Greek border, giving the main body of troops time for strategic maneuvers.

The allies final position is now being prepared. Losses to the French in the retreat were small the injuries consisting mainly of frozen feet, the soldiers having been forced to march through deep snow.

Retirement of the British from the Dorian front proved a most difficult undertaking and sharp fighting is now going on in the Strumitsa region. The British have burned villages and destroyed bridges as they fell back.

The harbor at Salonika is crowded with ships laden to the gunwales with new troops and supplies. Facilities for caring for the wounded brought in from Givgeli are being rushed along at Salonika.

Greek troops at Salonika are reported to be leaving the vicinity.

VILLAGES WIPE OUT

Paris, Dec. 14.—(delayed)—Some aspects of the battle of Cerna one of the first of the operations in Macedonia is recounted as follows:
"It is a wild and cold country and contains a number of villages which can hardly deserve to be classed as such. The country has been laid waste. For example, Cocaric is today nothing but a name on the map. These ruins give testimony to violence of the combats here."

TOOK ALL FOOD

Berlin, Dec. 15.—(wireless to Sayville)—In an official Bulgarian report of Dec. 13, as given out today by the Overseas agency here, the assertion is made that when the French withdrew from Serbia they took all food stuffs from the civil population, burned houses and drove off the people without leaving them food or shelter.

This version was probably cut from the report of yesterday by the British censors.

MAGAZINE APPEAL HAS LARGE RESPONSE

High School Girls Carry Original Plan to Successful Conclusion

A little appeal in the papers a few weeks ago asking for old magazines and books signed by the Girls League of the high school was read and immediately calls went into the chairman of the committee telling her they had the material. The magazines were collected and distributed.

This is the plain story of what a group of girls of the high school, disguised as good fellows have done by collecting reading matter and sent piles of it to the hospitals and jails and county poor farm. This was done that the Christmas season might be just a bit brighter for those in the institutions here.

These girls did not do this because of the great desirability of doing charity work, or the need of certain unhappy individuals. They did it because way down deep in their hearts, not so very deep either, they were good fellows. They were not looking for "made to order halos" or anything of the sort.

These are not the sort who have had half hours because they discover that the person to whom they gave a gift costing so much only sent a card. These are the sort who make the world better for having known them.

Much credit is due Miss Blanche Fenton and Miss Esther Baldwin who headed the committee in charge. Other members of the committee were the Misses Doris Hines, Helen Cleary, Ruth Peterson and Kathleen O'Brien. May the work of the Girls League continue. Here's success and a long life to it.

ISHPEMING MAN SAYS NO GROUNDS FOR PLOT

Ishpeming, Dec. 15.—In a telephone interview Tuesday afternoon Nelson Van Brunt, manager of the Ishpeming plant, said there are absolutely no grounds on which the plant might be implicated in the alleged plot.

"This plant is not in the war game," said Mr. Van Brunt, in reply to the quest whether any war orders had been received. "We have had no war orders," he asserted. "Our business is confined entirely to the manufacture of powder for mining purposes. There must be some mistake."

The above refers to the reported revelation of startling munition plots in which the Ishpeming munitions factory was mentioned as a possible victim of plotters.

RAKES UP OLD CASES

County Clerk Pepin Brings to Light Old Dust Covered Cases

Issues at law, which have lain in the vault of the county clerk's office for years and years without ever a settlement made of them by court actions will be brought up at January through the efforts of County Clerk Pepin. These ancient and in a large share of the cases, almost forgotten actions will be brought up at January term of court in order that some disposition of them can be had. It is said that there are about 400 such cases since the court was organized and those to be brought up will provide the heaviest court calendar in the history of the Delta county court, and incidentally in the state circuit courts. In many of the cases one or both parties in the actions have been dead for many years.

U.S. NOTE TO BE DELIVERED TODAY

AMBASSADOR SHARPE AT PARIS EXPECTED TO DELIVER DEMAND FOR RELEASE OF SIX, TODAY

(By Associated Press.)

New York, Dec. 15.—The announced policy of the French and British governments to search neutral vessels at sea for German and Austro-Hungarian citizens was further evidenced today in that the Spanish steamer Montevideo was twice held up and searched on her way to New York.

Passengers on the vessel which arrived today, say that on Nov. 29 while off Cadiz she was stopped by the French cruiser Cassar and held four hours while officers of the warship inspected the papers of the passengers. These were found to be regular and no one was taken off the ship.

Is Emphatic Protest

Washington, Dec. 15.—Ambassador Sharpe at Paris is expected to deliver to the French foreign office today, the American note asking the release of the six Germans and Austro-Hungarians recently removed from the American steamers San Juan, Coamo, and Carolina by the French cruiser Descartes. Although friendly in tone the communication makes an emphatic protest against an act which it declares is a flagrant violation of American rights and without justification.

Bob Sherman of Detroit is scheduled to "blow" into Escanaba during the week and it is positively ascertained that he will "tote" a guitar. When he gets that instrument going, everybody within hearing distance tiptoed up to listen with bated breath," says the Marinette Eagle Star. Bob can put the best of the Hawaiian eukelele players to the bad when it comes to playing their own melodies. He spent some time with the "Bird of Paradise" company and learned the throbbing minor music of that wonderfully musical people. Sherman will appear at the Bijou theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights of this week.

ATTY. H. J. RUSHTON IS A BENEDICT-MARRIED AT GREEN BAY AT NOON

DELTA COUNTY PROSECUTOR TAKES UNTO HIMSELF A HELP MEET AN ESCANABA WOMAN

VERIFICATION CAME THIS AFTERNOON

FEW FRIENDS WERE AWARE OF COMING EVENT, CELEBRATED AT THE NOON HOUR TODAY

"Mr. Rushton is out of town on business," this was the answer a Mirror reporter received when she tried to locate Atty H. J. Rushton this morning.

"Miss Payne left this morning for Milwaukee," was the answer when the same reporter tried to locate Miss Loretta Payne.

Putting two and two together an effort was made to locate the two.

Early this morning, they slipped away—Mr. Rushton, "on business,"—Miss Payne for a "visit in Milwaukee." Later this afternoon it was learned they had embarked on a little matrimonial venture and immediately efforts were made to verify certain suspicions.

Well, to make a long story short, The Mirror verified them and the verification came in the following announcement:

"Herbert J. Rushton and Miss Loretta Payne were married at noon today in Green Bay."

They expect to go on to Chicago, Detroit and Canada on a wedding trip and will return here during the holidays.

The bride of this noon was well and popularly known here having made her home with her sister Mrs. John Lindsay for some time.

Thus mystery of the mysterious automobile that departed from the Rushton home early this morning and the departure of the girl at the same time is solved.

Prominent County Official

Mr. Rushton, the groom of today's interesting event at Green Bay is one of the most prominent county officials of Delta county and has been actively identified with civic and legal work in this section since his residence of several years here.

Friends of both Mr. and Mrs. Rushton were unaware of the coming event and the wedding today was somewhat of a pleasant surprise.

EPIDEMIC OF COLDS

"Snuffles," Husky Voice and Bad Coughs Abound These Days

An observing citizen, coming down town on a car this morning inquired of his fellow passenger in the following vein:

"So it's got you too has it?" (meaning the snuffles, or any other name a cold can be called by—"never saw so many colds.")

Not much exaggeration in that statement, either, it seems if the abundance of colds is an indication. The cause for the prevalence of colds is believed to be lack of proper care to protect oneself from the chill blasts.

BASHFUL GLENN

Imp Comedy with Glen White.

Millicent had found no position open, however. Nobody seemed in need of a stenographer without past experience or even a typist. Some business men, she found, wanted a girl in their offices, but they expressed themselves as being more personally interested in Millicent's good looks than in her Tingleville certificate. So Millicent wisely looked elsewhere. Wisely maybe, but fruitlessly. Then one evening in her bare hall room this second week she came across the two-line "ad" of the National Film Manufacturing company, which, it seemed, was lukewarmly interested in securing a girl "for filing." A princely stipend of six dollars per week was the practical inducement offered.

Six dollars loomed gigantic to our Millicent just then and, although the thought of being only an office girl was humiliating, it was considerably better than nothing. She determined to be first of the hundred-odd applicants at the studio on the morrow, and so, indeed, she was.

On the way out next morning Miss Millicent occupied herself with a perusal of the newspaper and therein read a long account of the stupendous production which the National Film Manufacturing company was about to release. The names of fascinating Audrey Arlington, darling of the movie fans, and of Ned Tolman, her handsome male "support," occurred frequently. The release was to be in no less than five reels, three of which the press notice stated were already done and desperate efforts were being made to finish taking the other two for a theater presentation by Christmas eve. "A mammoth, elaborate production . . . no expense spared . . . etc., etc., ad lib.

Not knowing much about the movies, Millicent wasn't much impressed, however. At the moment her mind was fervently occupied with melancholy reminiscences of a "Ned" whom she herself had known—Ned Harkins, who had pledged eternal fidelity to her in the shadow of a haystack one moonlight night years before when both he and she were barely more than children. Ned—her Ned—had gone away to the big city three years before to make his fortune. She never had heard from him since.

Unclouded eyes, a fresh clean complexion and simple direct address won Millicent her interview with the office manager in the film plant. While he still was explaining her new filing duties, he rushed the chief director—hair rumpled and gesticulating in wild excitement.

"Audrey Arlington fell down in the middle of her big scene in the last reel of the Christmas release. . . . Complete nervous breakdown! . . . hysterical . . . are rushing her direct to the nearest hospital now. . . . What in heaven's name will we do? There isn't a girl in the whole stock company who can make up to look enough like her to complete the personification for this final reel!"

The head director kept wringing his hands and swearing frantically. The president of the company registered acute distress. Then his eyes accidentally fell upon pretty Millicent among her filing cases.

"Look! Look! Mr. Isaacson!" yelled the head director, pointing. "As I live, that girl looks enough like Miss Arlington to be mistaken for her on the street! . . . Come here, Miss—Miss whatever-your-name-is! Have you ever posed before a 'picture' camera? No? . . . well, it doesn't make any difference just now anyway. You're fired from that office job. I'll give you $50 a week to substitute for Miss Arlington in this last reel. . . . No, I haven't time to listen to anything about it! Come on back to the studio with me right now! The 'set' is all up and we were right in the middle of the scene when Miss Arlington fainted. Ned Tolman, the leading man, is waiting. C'mon!"

Bewildered Millicent was pulled out of the busy offices and back to the huge glass-domed studio where the last reel of the famous Christmas release was being held in impatient abeyance for its principal.

"Listen now, miss," exploded the director as Millicent emerged from the dressing room clad in the same wonderful gown that Audrey Arlington had been wearing only ten minutes before. "Pay attention to what I say and don't stare at either me or the camera. Act natural; that's what we're paying you for! Walk inside of those tape lines on the floor and don't on any account move outside them. This scene is the parlor of your home. It's supposed to be Christmas eve. You're to turn your back to the camera and be tying a sprig of mistletoe to the chandelier. Mr. Ned Tolman, who plays opposite 'lead,' will do the rest. You simply act as any girl would under the circumstances. . . . Hey you! Get Mr. Tolman from his dressing-room. Tell him we're all ready again. Now, in you go miss!"

Millicent did just as she was told, although her heart beat fast and her head was in a whirl. With her back to the assemblage behind the cranking camera man, she raised both arms to tie the sprig of mistletoe to the chandelier. Quick footsteps sounded behind her and, an instant later, a man's strong arms were around her waist and his handsome face thrust close to hers for a kiss.

With a cry of mingled fright and indignation, the girl squirmed about in his arms and tried to push him away. Then for the first time she caught sight of the movie matinee idol's face. "Ned?" she thrilled in joyous amazement. "Ned Harkins! You are the famous Ned Tolman?"

"Millicent!" breathed he, clasping her closer as their lips met in a long, long kiss and the watching director yelled: "Fine! fine! Hold that!"

Presently the whirr of the camera crank ceased and the grins on the faces of actor, "extra," and "set" shifter broadened. "Hey there!" finally shouted the head director. "Film's run out; scene's over! We've had enough of that kiss now!"

"But I haven't," murmured Ned, looking fondly down into his old sweetheart's happiness-flushed face. "Have you, Millicent?"

"Never! I could keep on doing it forever," she whispered softly back.

But It Didn't.
 "That will do, Henry," said Mrs. Twobble, coldly. "The yarn you are telling me won't hold water."
 "I wasn't trying to make it hold water, my love," replied Mr. Twobble, somewhat peevishly. "I hoped it would hold you for a while."

WASHINGTON WAS LEADER OF RACE

Former Slave Rose to Be Great Educator of Negroes.

FOUNDER OF BIG INSTITUTE

Tuskegee is Known All Over the Country as the Best School For Colored Persons in the United States—Its Head Was Friend of Two Presidents and Other Noted Men.

Booker T. Washington, who died the other day, was the most widely known man his race has ever produced in this country and its foremost educator. Born of a slave mother into slavery, the fortunes of his life led him to be White House guest of a president at luncheon, to be entertained and received by queens and princes abroad, to have Harvard and Dartmouth universities confer degrees upon him and to die leaving behind him a record of achievement and ability which is generally considered never to have been equaled by any one of his race.

It was with the Tuskegee Normal and Industrial Institute that Dr. Washington was most generally associated. From its foundation in 1881 until his death he had been its principal. Under his management and leading this school for negroes had grown from a shack in which thirty pupils gathered for lessons to one of the largest and most magnificently equipped normal educational institutions in this country, where more than 1,500 negro boys and girls, young men and women, annually receive instruction.

But Dr. Washington's work was not confined to the administration of one school. Its importance, it is generally acknowledged, lay in his national leadership of his race. Into practically every state of the Union the negro educator went, giving advice to his people, spreading his influence, dealing with their problems whatever they were.

Trusted by Roosevelt.
 In 1904 he accepted a luncheon invitation extended to him by Theodore Roosevelt, then president.

Included in the number of Dr. Washington's close personal friends may be mentioned such men as Theodore Roosevelt, William Howard Taft, Oswald Garrison Villard, President Kelsey of the Title Guarantee and Trust company, Andrew Carnegie, Jacob Schiff, Hamilton Wright Mabie, Robert Shaw Minturn, Felix M. Warburg, William Jay Schieffelin, Dr. Hillis, Seth Low and Governor Whitman.

Began Life as a Slave.
 Dr. Washington was born in 1857 or 1858 at Hales Ford, Franklin county, Va. A few years later the family which owned him moved to West Virginia, where the boy was put to work in salt works near Madison. About the time the war ended he began to show a desire for an education. He went to school about two months a year and read and studied at night.

In 1871 he heard of the Hampton Institute at Hampton, Va. He walked part of the way to Hampton and studied at the institute, from which he was graduated with high honors. He returned to West Virginia, where he taught school for a time and then went to the Wayland Institute in Washington. From there he was called to Hampton as teacher. After two years of this General S. C. Armstrong was asked by the citizens of Tuskegee, Ala., to find some one to start an institution at that place similar to the one at Hampton. He recommended young Washington, and the latter took the job, going to Alabama in 1881.

Dr. Washington had been married three times, his third wife surviving him. His first wife was Fannie M. Smith, whom he married in 1882 and who died in 1884. She was a graduate of Hampton, and the wedding took place in Tuskegee. In 1885 he married Olin Davidson, one of the teachers at the school. She died

$1,285,837,808 BIGGEST SUM EVER ASKED FROM CONGRESS IN PEACE TIMES

Estimates for the most elaborate program of expenditures ever asked of an American congress in times of peace are being considered, proposing a total outlay of $1,285,837,808, or $170,833,614 more than was appropriated last year. The increase is almost wholly due to the administration plans for military preparedness. By establishments the amounts asked are:

Legislative	$1,572,812
Executive	30,807,566
Judicial	1,368,500
Agriculture	24,150,000
Foreign intercourse	4,426,029
Military	122,254,229
Naval	212,238,074
Indian affairs	10,175,026
Pensions	100,560,000
Panama canal	27,528,409
Public works	101,644,029
Postal service	316,384,879
Miscellaneous	88,290,562
Permanent appropriations	12,074,473

The postal service estimate is deductible from the total because its receipts are turned back to the treasury. That leaves $900,402,920 as the actual total of appropriations congress is asked to make, or $107,833,401 more than last year.

BLACK MATERIALS IN VOGUE

Really Unlimited Possibilities in the Color, if it is Effectively and Carefully Employed.

Black is to enjoy a marked measure of vogue this season. That announcement has been made by style creators, in fashion periodicals, in the daily press. And most women have adopted it as a statement of fact, but have doubted that black could be effectively used for really dressy costumes. Somehow its past record as a "staple" has militated against its consideration as anything else. A survey of some of the afternoon and evening models fashioned from black materials will dispel any such idea. Black has unlimited possibilities.

The secret of its use—successful as it depends upon the material employed and the modeling of the garment.

The dressy black costume must be more dressy, more elaborate in modeling, than the costume fashioned from colored fabric. Translated into evening frocks, black materials require the use of frills and furbelows in order to counteract the absence of color. Lace and nets must be used in profusion. Satin must be employed, because its surface reflects light. Jet and sequin trimming are utilized for the same reason. Even black feathers—black paradise—have a place in the development scheme of the black evening gown.

No Longer a Slang Phrase.
 The word "hello" has been saved to popular usage by the telephone, and by that alone. Thirty-five years ago there was a real crusade against the so-called slang phrase, and the great conversational invention came to the rescue first in time.

CURING THAT TIRED FEELING

When You Feel Worn Out Drop Everything and Re-Establish Normal Rest.

Keeping up one's strength prevents the nerves from becoming panicky and encourages optimism to a surprising degree. It is true that luncheon consumes much valuable time, and where this is not possible a cup of bouillon, hot milk or chocolate will take the edge off the appetite. Something warm is much better than ices and sweet cakes if you would keep up your strength and subdue those unruly nerves.

Eat fruit every day. Canned fruits are good. Cooked fruits are often better than dubious fresh fruits, but some fresh fruit is essential. Eat fresh, green vegetables whenever you can get them. Thoroughly wash all raw fruits. Eat some of the vegetables of low food value, like carrots, parsnips, spinach, turnips, squash and cabbage, to prevent over-nourishment. Eat slowly and taste your food well.

When you feel worn out drop every other consideration and try to re-establish normal rest. Though the causes and needs of sleep are still somewhat of a mystery, we know that the activity of the brain cells is reduced. They are occupied in taking nourishment from the blood. Better results are had when the head rests low and the windows are wide open, giving plenty of oxygen to the lungs. This creates a new supply of energy for the waking and working hours.

Sheep Breaks Farmer's Leg.
 Groton, S. D.—Albert Shaddock, seventy-two years of age, is laid up with a double fracture of the left leg as the result of an encounter with a recalcitrant sheep at the Burnham farm. Mr. Shaddock called at the farm to dispose of some vegetables. The sheep started for him and Mr. Shaddock felled its nose with his whip. The result was dynamic. The sheep charged, and before it could be drawn off the accident occurred.

A humorous paragrapher advises the boys who are now at school to keep their geographies because "the maps will look so queer after the end of the European war." For the same reason they might do well to preserve their postage stamp albums. Some of the specimens will command high prices as rarities in years to come.

Lime-Loss in Tuberculosis

In the Journal of the American Medical Association (January 17, 1914) was the following:
"It has been many times stated that in tuberculosis or in the pre-tuberculous stage an increased amount of calcium (lime) is lost, both in the urine and feces. In fact, a demineralization has been thought to be a forerunner of the development of tuberculosis.
"Improved feeding of tuberculosis patients and the enormous amount of eggs and milk once given such patients are not now considered advisable by a large number of physicians who are specializing in the treatment of pulmonary tuberculosis.
"If tuberculosis is due to loss of lime from the system, the success of Eckman's Alternative in the treatment of this disease may be due, in part, to the fact that it contains a lime salt so combined with other valuable ingredients as to be easily assimilated.
"Always we have urged users of Eckman's Alternative to attend strictly to matters of food.
"In addition to rest and proper diet, some effective remedial agents seem to be needed, and in name-cases of apparent recovery from tuberculosis and kindred throat and bronchial affections Eckman's Alternative has supplied this need.
"Does not contain opiates, narcotics or habit-forming drugs, so it is safe to try. You may get it or will order it, or you may get it from us direct.
"McKean Laboratory, Philadelphia.

THE GOOD JUDGE HEARS THE TALKING OF BOYHOOD DAYS

JIM, REMEMBER WHEN WE WAS BOYS HOW WE CHEWED GUM WHEN WE WENT FISHIN'?

YES, BUT WE ARE MEN NOW, AND THERE'S A LOT MORE SATISFACTION IN W-B CUT THAN THERE EVER WAS IN GUM. IT'S REAL TOBACCO.

IN every community there are many men who are glad they gave W-B CUT Chewing a quality test. Their chewing is more of a comfort to them now than it used to be. And they use only about half as much tobacco. W-B CUT Chewing is rich tobacco—so a small chew satisfies. Get a pouch.

COMBINE LINEN AND LACE

Something of a Novelty That May Be Appreciated by the Needleworker.

There are many needleworkers who delight in working on large pieces of fancy work; but there are just as many, if not more, who prefer to handle small pieces that are less cumbersome and that bring about results more quickly. For such as these, then, the embroidered squares solve the problem. These can be effectively joined together with wide or narrow cluny lace to form bureau scarfs, bou-doir pillows, table runners and dear knows what else.

One woman who had been given a quantity of square dollies three and four inches square put them to good service by joining them with wide lace and using them on the buffet. She objected to using them singly and was highly pleased with the scarf that resulted from joined forces.

Squares of tan linen embroidered in colors can be joined effectively to form table runners. Of course, the lace should match the color of the linen. If you should fail to find tan to match, dip white or cream lace in tea. Try a little piece of the lace first, so that you can see if the tea is of the proper strength.

Have you ever seen a bedspread made of linen and lace joined together? Once you have seen one you will want to make such a spread for yourself. It is advisable when making such a large piece to use long strips of linen rather than squares. One which was included with lots of other pretty things in a hope chest was made of a very heavy linen. Near the center the linen was embroidered in pink and green flowers, heavy silk being used for the purpose. After the strips of linen and lace were joined the spread was bound with lace edging. Anyone who objects to the colored embroidery and the flowers can substitute for it a monogram placed on the center strip. This was surely something different from the ordinary spread for the bed.

Of Art Linen.

Quite the prettiest among the art linen novelties so dear to the heart of every woman who "makes things" is a new oval bag—at least the bottom is oval—of linen-covered heavy cardboard. A linen-covered oval embroidery hoop covers the joining of a straight piece of the linen to the bottom. The bag is lined with a bright-colored silk to harmonize with the linen. The corners of the bag are tucked in envelope fashion and the two straight edges at the top are held close with snap fasteners. Loops of black braid at either side are used to hang the bag on the arm when it is taken out for the sewing club party.
