GUN CLUB PROTESTS AGAINST OPEN GAME LAWS TO SAVE FOOD

Keep the Market Hunter Out of Our Game Covers Is Position Taken by Escanaba Gun & Game Club.

A declaration against throwing down the game laws in order that people may hunt and fish at any time of the year for their own use, is made by the Escanaba Gun & Game club, in answer to the suggestion made by a Chipewaga county man that an open season for game be declared until after the war, in order to aid in conserving the food supply.

An insidious propaganda, engineered by those who hope to profit by it, has been in existence in this country for some time now, designed to open the game covers of the nation to the market hunter under the plea that the war necessitates letting down the bars on game to replenish the food supply.

GIRL BRIGADERS HAD ANNUAL BANQUET AT ST. PATRICK'S HALL

Activities of the St. Patrick's Girls' Brigades of the Coming Year Launched at Pleasing Event Last Evening.

PATRIOTISM THE THEME

Address of Rev. Dr. Barth Was Eloquent Plea for Women to Fit Themselves for the Work in Great Struggle.

The third annual banquet of St. Patrick's Girls' Brigade, the only organization of its kind in the country, was held last night at St. Patrick's hall. The banquet commenced at 6 o'clock, when the young women marched slowly into the beautifully decorated hall to the strains of Olmsted's orchestra.

The entire hall was transformed into a garden of glowing patriotism, for everywhere fluttered the flags of our various allies, the prevailing colors being the red, white and blue. The place of honor in the hall was given to the service flag of the Brigade, which signified that 32 boys of St. Patrick's Boys' Brigade, who were present at the festivities last year, are this year either in training or are already taking part in the nation's fight to make the world safe for democracy.

State Fuel Administrator Yesterday Revoked the Order Limiting Eating Houses to Nine Hours a Day.

Restaurant keepers of this city were notified today by Chairman W. J. Clark of the Delta County Fuel committee that they will be allowed to be open all hours for the sale of food, beginning at once.

Mr. Clark issued this ruling after he had been advised that W. K. Prudden, state fuel administrator, had revoked his order limiting eating places to nine consecutive hours in each 24 hours.

The new ruling by the state administrator provides that only food can be sold during the entire day and night, but that sales of cigars, liquor and tobacco must be limited to nine hours a day, and that the hours for selling such articles must be designated.

NEW CASH CARRIER SYSTEM INSTALLED

The Ed. Erickson company has installed a new Lamson cash carrier system and the employees of the store are enthusiastic over the way it works. Only the customer's cash is sent in to the office and the goods are wrapped at the counter where they are sold.

This means a big saving of time to the customer and there is very little wait for merchandise after they are bought. The old system of sending goods in a basket took longer unless there were a number of clerks in the wrapping department.

Cloverland got the big share of attention at the convention, Mr. Longyear said, because her representatives were able to show real facts, not a small part of which was a motion picture showing the land as it really is and the industries of the land as they really are.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS) Washington, Jan. 24.—Standing firmly by his charges that the American military establishment is emmeshed in inefficiency, Senator Chamberlain of Oregon, chairman of the senate military committee, replied in the senate to President Wilson's denunciation of his recent New York speech by repeating the statement which drew the president's fire and declaring that the president does not know the real truth.

Senator Chamberlain, after reading to the senate a verbatim copy of his speech, for which President Wilson denounced him, declared that he adhered to what he said.

Senator Chamberlain declared that he could show that the deaths among the hundreds of thousands of men at the army camps and cantonments were due to the war department and that all epidemics could have been prevented if the war department was efficient.

SOLDIERS INSURANCE.

Delta county people who have sons, husbands, brothers and other relatives in the service of the United States, either in the army or navy, should communicate with them at once to ascertain whether they have taken out their insurance under the Military and Naval Insurance act.

Heretofore every man who has entered the service of his country has, under the military and naval insurance act, been automatically insured for a sum of nearly $5,000, without any action on the part of the man.

Announcement is made that all insurance carried by the government will expire on February 12, and that the men must make application for insurance under the insurance act.

In the event that he does not take out his insurance on February 12, or within 120 days after he goes into the service of the country, and he is killed his dependents get nothing from the government, and in case of injury, he has no compensation from the government for the service he had rendered.

LABOR'S BROADENING VIEW.

There was a time, and not so long ago, when the element of the population going about to mechanical work in overalls or rough clothes here and in England not only called itself "labor" but assumed that it alone really accomplished useful service.

Happily this war is bringing more light and more breadth into the narrowest minds. British "labor" has begun to realize that managers, assistant managers, superintendents and even clerks in industrial establishments or munition factories are hard-earned bread earners.

A VIVID STORY OF TRENCH STORMING

Writer Describes Happiness After It Is All Over.

Henri Barbusse, well-known French writer, has written a graphic account of the storming of a German trench in which he took part. In gripping language he describes the torture of waiting for the signal to advance, of running out in the open against terrific fire, and of the happiness of the men when they find each other safe after "going through hell."

"It is evening in the Champagne," writes Henri Barbusse. "The men are waiting in the dugouts of the first line trenches, wondering when the order to charge against the enemy will be given. They are anxious and nervous, but try to conceal their real feelings by telling funny stories and laughing heartily. They know that in the next moment they may be facing death, but there is always hope. They have been spared before, perhaps they may be spared again. A voice is heard in the neighboring trench.

"Listen," said one of the men. "Didn't you hear? The alarm was sounded!"

"Alarm? Are you crazy?"

"Just then a shadow appears in the opening in the dugout and somebody cries: 'To arms!'

Roar of Guns Frightful.

"Quiet prevails. We have all become dumb. We get up and stretch our weary bones and go out into the trench. The roar of the guns is frightful. One man looks at the other; no word is spoken, but the eyes tell everything. We are ready; some of the men are sitting quietly in the mud, others are resting their arms on their rifles. I study the pale, deeply lined faces of these men. They are not soldiers, but simply human beings. They are not adventurers or warriors. They are peasants and workmen in uniform, and were not made for slaughter. They are awaiting the order to die.

"Each one of them knows what it means; he knows that he is to expose his head, his breast, his stomach and arms and legs to rifle balls, to shrapnel and to the bayonet. They are a quiet, peaceful lot—not handis or barbarians or savages looking for another's blood. I can see that they are tortured by the suspense, that they are in anguish, that they are wondering whether they will live through this terrible night. No one who has not seen men ready for a charge can appreciate what it means.

"They still wait. It seems like an eternity. The sun has set and a weird darkness is creeping over the sad landscape. Then rain falls in torrents to add to the gruesome picture an atmosphere of tragedy.

"There is more time spent in waiting and then hand grenades are passed around to the men. Each man receives two. Then the order 'Forward!' is heard, and we know that it is now our turn.

"We spring out of the trench and into the darkness. We expect to be greeted by a deadly fire, but, strange, the thunder of the guns suddenly ceases.

"Don't use your hand grenades until the last minute," shouts our captain.

Bullets Whistle Past.

"Just then a curtain of fire rises before us and the bullets begin whistling past our ears. We are running forward now. Shells are bursting all around us. The fingers of my right hand are singed by the fire of an exploding shell and I drop my gun, only to stoop and pick it up again. The fire becomes so strong that we become blinded by it; our men become separated, none of us knowing just where he is going. Here and there in the mist I could discern forms of men falling heavily to the ground, and now and then above the roar I heard the heartrending cry of someone who had received his death wound.

"Forward!" shouts our captain.

"We are running like mad now. Sometimes we stumble over the bodies of our comrades, but there is no stopping. Our breath is coming fast, our hearts are thumping wildly in our breasts, our blood is coursing at breakneck speed through our veins. We are now as men possessed; we have forgotten all our fears and all we want now is to meet the enemy face to face; we are lusty for blood.

"The German trench is before us, and we all plunge in; but the Germans have flown; the trench is empty. We stop for breath and look about us. It seems all like a dream now, and we greet each other like happy children.

"What, you, my friend? Thank God, you are unhurt. Have you seen our captain? What has become of him? God, what must we not all go through!"

"We remain in the trench and tell our experiences. The cries of the wounded have ceased, but the roar of the guns has increased. We no longer pay any attention to the noise. We are tired, very tired, and there we sit at the bottom of the trench, waiting

Girl Brigaders Had Annual Banquet At St. Patrick's Hall

The first number on the program was one by the Girls' Brigade quartette. Next came the popular Boys' quartette, which gave several excellent selections, being encored again and again. Next came a solo by Miss Anna Mulvaney, and then the address of the evening by Rev. Dr. Barth.

In his very eloquent and patriotic address Father Barth explained the purpose of the Brigade as a great character building institution, and one which taught woman that she must be the greatest apostle of the church. Dr. Barth reviewed the past history and the part of women in each great epoch.

He appealed to and aroused the patriotism of each and every young woman present last evening, with the words: "Be not molly coddles of the day, but be an American woman in every fibre of your body." He appealed to the young women to fit themselves for the duties which must be theirs in the present great struggle.

Then followed another stirring address of patriotism by Attorney Joseph F. Cuddy. He paid many compliments to the young ladies and conferred upon them the title of "poems of God," which was the topic of discussion for the speakers which followed.

Other short speeches were given by Rev. Father Raymond G. Jacques of St. Anne's church; Rev. Father Julius of St. Joseph's church; Rev. Father Bennett of Gladstone; Rev. Father Corcoran of Iron Mountain, and Rev. Father Feldhaus, Dr. Barth's popular assistant.

Miss Belle Harvey, captain of Company D, welcomed all the guests in a brief address.

B. J. Goodman of Little Lake proved to be the chief entertainer of the evening, with his funny dialect stories, and was encored many times.

The boys of the brigade waited upon the young women last evening and helped to carry out the elaborate decorations with their caps and aprons of red, white and blue. Each of the three hundred young women present last evening wore a paper cap to represent one or the other of our allies.

In conclusion Dr. Barth paid a glowing tribute to Mrs. J. J. Cox for her untiring efforts in helping to make the banquet a success. All the decorations and caps were planned and many of them made by Mrs. Cox herself.

The banquet last evening marked the close of the annual festivities of the only Girls' Brigade in the country. The banquet which is given for the Boys' and Girls' Brigades each year is the only reward offered them for their work in character building carried on each week at the church.

DRINK HOT WATER AND RID JOINTS OF RHEUMATIC RUST

Why rheumatism and lumbago sufferers should drink phosphated hot water each morning before breakfast

Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of incalculable material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken day after day leaves in the alimentary canal a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not completely eliminated each day, becomes food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels. From this mass of left-over waste material, toxins and ptomaine-like poisons, called uric acid, is formed and then sucked into the blood where it continues to circulate, collecting grain by grain in the joints of the body much like rust collects on the hinge as shown above.

Men and women who suffer from lumbago, rheumatism or sore, stiff, aching joints should begin drinking phosphated hot water, not as a means to magic relief from pain, but to prevent more uric acid forming in the system. Before eating breakfast each morning, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will first neutralize and then wash out of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's accumulation of toxins and poisons; thus cleaning, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal, each morning, before putting more food into the stomach.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs very little at the drug store but is sufficient to make any rheumatic or lumbago sufferer an enthusiast on the morning inside bath.

Millions of people keep their joints free from these rheumatic acids by practicing this daily internal sanitation. A glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate, drank before breakfast, is wonderfully invigorating; besides, it is an excellent health measure because it cleanses the alimentary organs of all the waste, gases and sour fermentations, making one look and feel clean, sweet and fresh all day.

Those who try this for one week may find themselves free from sick headaches, constipation, bilious attacks, allowen's, nasty breath and stomach acidity.

Restaurants Will Be Allowed To Be Open At All Hours

ed by a sign on the cigar case. The new local ruling was based on the following Lansing dispatch of yesterday:

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 23.—State Fuel Administrator Prudden today revoked the fuel order limiting eating places, and they may now be opened all hours for the sale of food only. Other articles can be sold only nine hours.

On Mondays restaurants will be permitted to sell food only. On other days liquor and cigars may be sold for nine hours.

Mr. Prudden said the original state order was working a hardship particularly in the large cities, where workmen found it hard to get food.

E. J. Noreus, Gladstone member of the Delta County committee, secured a ruling on the opening of restaurants yesterday and the Gladstone places were opened accordingly. Based on the report Mr. Noreus received and the Lansing dispatch of yesterday, Mr. Clark today issued similar orders.

How the local restaurants will take to the new order remains to be seen. Several of the restaurant keepers are well satisfied with the hours they drew under the fuel order, claiming they have done just as much business and with less expense. Many of them have been obliged to lay off help because of the order and to go back to the old hours will mean getting together a new force.

ENTERTAINS FRIENDS.

Little Vermette Sutherland entertained a number of her little friends at her home on Wells avenue yesterday afternoon from 4 to 9, in honor of her eighth birthday anniversary. Various games were played after which a delightful luncheon was served. Numerous gifts were received from her little guests.

GIVEN EXAMINATION ON SERIOUS CHARGE

At the close of the preliminary examination late this afternoon, Judge McEwen decided that there was no evidence to substantiate the charge that Mr. LaPorte was guilty of the offense. Mr. LaPorte proved to the satisfaction of the court that he closed the saloon at 8 p. m. and that he did not return until the following day. His alibi was so complete that there was nothing to go but to dismiss the charge against him. Testimony at the hearing, however, tended to show that the saloon was occupied without the knowledge of the proprietor, at the hour designated in the complaint.

Gustave LaPorte, who runs a saloon at 301 Ludington street, was being examined in Justice McEwen's court this afternoon on the charge of keeping his saloon open after the legal closing hour; it being charged that the saloon was open Wednesday morning at 1:30 o'clock, in violation of the state law.

He was arraigned in police court this morning and demanded an examination, which was started this afternoon. The complaint was made against him by two policemen.

Chairman Clark of the fuel committee has also reported to W. K. Prudden that the saloon was open after 10 o'clock p. m., which is the closing hour under the fuel order.

SUSPEND SALES OF CANDY ON WARSHIPS

Discovery of "Impurities" in Candy Stocks in Canteens. Causes Order to Be Issued Today.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)

Washington, Jan. 24.—Discovery of "impurities" in the candy supplied to the canteens on naval ships today caused the issuance of an order suspending the sale of candy to the men and the purchase of additional supplies pending an investigation.

Navy department officials were careful not to say what the impurities were, but the announcement of the order immediately caused a recurrence of the report that powdered glass was discovered. There was no confirmation of the discovery of glass and no cases of sickness from eating the candy had been reported.

EXPLOSION ENTOMBS 78 CANADIAN MINERS

Little Hope Expressed for the Safety of Men Shut Off in Coal Mine at Stellarton Last Night.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)

Hullfax, Jan. 24.—Rescue crews in alternate shifts today were searching the lower levels of the Allen shaft of the Acadia Coal company mine at Stellarton for possible survivors of the violent explosion last night. There was scant hope that any of the men would be found alive.

At an early hour today a revision of the figures by mine officials showed that 98 men were in the mine at the time of the explosion of which nine escaped. Eleven bodies were recovered and there were 78 still unaccounted for.

Declares Wilson Is Not Aware Of The Real Truth

dent Wilson opposing the creation of a minister of munitions. He said he did this to counteract the president's charge that he was not consulted regarding proposed legislation in Congress.

After speaking three hours he concluded with a plea that he was only doing his duty to arouse the country to its danger and that he would support the president although "grossly maligned."

Veracity Was Attacked.

In beginning his address, Senator Chamberlain said that the president had attacked both his veracity and integrity, heretofore unchallenged and in replying did so without any personal feeling.

"For 24 years," Senator Chamberlain said, "I have served the public in my state to the best of my ability and in all that time have never had my veracity called to question or my integrity impeached and I have passed through some bitter campaigns. Therefore, it is with a feeling of humiliation that I rise to question a personal privilege when my veracity is called to question, not by an ordinary citizen, but by a distinguished gentleman who has the love and admiration of all and who by the suffrage of the people occupies the highest place in the United States and I may say the highest place in the world. It is therefore with feeling that I rise to address myself upon the question and I do so without any feeling of unkindness."

Bill is Referred.

The Chamberlain re-organization bill on motion of Senator Hitchcock was referred to the military committee without objection, when Senator Kirby, who answered Senator Chamberlain, had concluded.

INJURED IN FALL.

Longyear Tells Of Sheep Convention At Salt Lake City

Development Bureau, the sheep and cattle men crowded around Mr. Mashek and plied him with questions. All the facts were at the finger tips of the Cloverland men, and Mr. Longyear reports that they made a most favorable impression.

Some of the things discussed at the meeting were told by Mr. Longyear. Much stress seemed to be laid to the fact that owing to lack of range, new locations must be found.

The enticing offers of free pastorage and lands at unusually low prices had not previous to the convention made much impression on the Westerners, because they believed the proposition was so broad that there must have been a catch in it. The presence of the Cloverland delegation, however, with definite propositions signed by various large land holders, and the hearty endorsement of the president of their association, Frank J. Hagenbarth, made them change their opinion.

The result is that a number of them have promised to come here in the spring and see the land. One man has a flock of 45,000 sheep and doesn't know what he is going to do with them next summer. Another having a band of 125,000, has promised to locate in Cloverland, if he finds conditions half as good as the Cloverland boosters claim.

Some of the sheep men thought hay was too high here, but when reminded of the fact that they are 1500 miles farther away from the Chicago markets and that a large amount could be saved in freight rates, and that Cloverland sheep farmers do not suffer losses from disastrous storms such as they have in the west and that Cloverland sheep are free from diseases so prevalent in the western and southwestern states, they seemed to think the proposition looked pretty good.

Dances Must Stop At 11 P. M.; Stores Can Open Sundays

and close on Sunday, but this remains with their own discretion. The national or state fuel orders do not prohibit their opening for nine hours on Sunday, according to Mr. Prudden.

The following telegram was sent by Mr. Clark on Tuesday to obtain a ruling on these questions:

"W. K. Prudden, Federal Fuel Administrator, Lansing, Mich.

"Wire me tomorrow rulings on the following: Under your order is it necessary that public and private dances given on nights other than Tuesdays, close at 10 o'clock, or may they continue later?"

"Theatres, moving picture shows, drug stores, cigar stores, bowling alleys, billiard and pool rooms and candy stores, have been in the habit of opening in this county on Sundays. Does your order close them all day, or does it permit them to run nine hours on that day?" (Signed)

"W. J. CLARK, Chairman," The reply thereto received last night is as follows:

"W. J. Clark, Escanaba, Mich. Time limit for dance halls has been limited to six hours daily, except Tuesdays, when they are to be closed entirely. Closing order set at 11 o'clock. Nothing in Garfield order or state administrator's order requiring stores to close on Sundays if they insist on running. Would implore on their patriotism to remain closed that day." (Signed) W. K. PRIDDEN, Federal Fuel Administrator.

These rulings are transmitted by Mr. Clark with the recommendation that they be carried out. In respect to the ruling regarding dance halls, the local committee is prepared to enforce it to the limit. Regarding the closing of the other places on Sunday, Mr. Clark says the matter entirely rests with the patriotism of the business men.

MORE MEN DESIRE TO JOIN SPRUCE BRIGADE

It is expected that by next Tuesday, the local board will have furnished nearly twenty men for the spruce regiment which is being organized at Vancouver, Wash., for the purpose of cutting spruce lumber for airplanes.

A number of men have made application for enlistment in this branch and examinations are being conducted by Dr. Carlson, who is serving for Dr. Cotton, medical examiner. Harold Johnston and Eugene Sobey, both of this city, were accepted today for this branch of service, and Francis Belanger of Gladstone, and Francis Victor Peterson and Roy Druding both of Gladstone, have applied for enlistment, but have not been accepted.
