

GERMANY REJECTS ALLIES' PEACE PLAN

AUSTRIA WILL NOT DISCONTINUE PEACE PARLEY WITH RUSS

Count Czernin Announces That Negotiations Will Be Continued With Russia On Basis of No Annexations.

PRaised Wilson Speech

Said That Aims As Outlined by Wilson Contains Provisions in Which Nation Would Gladly Join.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS) London, Jan. 25.—Austria-Hungary has decided to continue peace negotiations with Russia on the basis of no annexations and no indemnities, according to Vienna dispatches to the Exchange Telegraph, quoting from Count Czernin's speech before the parliament.

"I demand from Russia not one meter of territory and not a centum of indemnity," the foreign minister is quoted as saying, "and peace can be obtained if Russia maintains the same standpoint, as I believe it intends to do."

Austria-Hungary and America, Count Czernin said, were two belligerents with interests less incompatible than they seem. He characterized the speech of President Wilson, regarding war aims as an "important advance towards Austria-Hungary's view which contains some provisions in which that nation would gladly join. The count qualified his statement, however, by saying that Austria-Hungary would support Germany.

YES, WE'LL BOWL ON ANY TUESDAY NIGHT

Due consideration has been given by the Mirror force to the bowling challenge issued by the Morning Press team, and a poll taken among available material in the Mirror office for a bowling team, shows that every man is adverse to Sunday amusements.

However, the Mirror force is willing to meet the Press team on any Tuesday evening before March 19, the stakes to be anything from a sack of marbles to $100. It is believed this is a fair proposition, considering the fact that the Mirror team is far from being in condition, while it is believed the press five has been practicing for some time in anticipation of the acceptance of the challenge.

JEFFERSON PUPILS ARE HELPING THE SOLDIERS

The children of the Jefferson are very proud of the work they have been doing for the soldiers and this morning a sweet-voiced little girl called up The Mirror to say that they had earned enough money to buy 8 boxes of assorted articles for the soldiers, which have been sent on.

The sixth grade has knitted enough squares for a quilt and the other grades have enough squares for two quilts. All of the children are enthusiastic and most every one of the boys as well as the girls are able to knit.

WAR SUMMARY

Details of the Activities on Various Fronts as Reviewed by the Associated Press.

Abandonment of the plan of overrunning the Venetian plains seems to have been decided upon by the Austro-German army and is indicated by their retirement from the Piava river line westward, due to the continued harassing attacks of the Italians and those of their French and British allies.

On all other fronts extreme bombardments are reported in the official statements and infantry and aerial raids are reported on an extensive scale.

The volcano is situated in the southern part of the island of Hawaii, approximately 180 miles from the city.

BOARD NEARLY DONE WITH QUESTIONNAIRES

Classification of Questionnaires Will Be Completed by the Local Board Tomorrow, It Is Expected.

Classification of the questionnaires will be completed by the local board on Saturday and all preparations made to start physical examinations on Monday morning at the courthouse. Nearly 2,800 questionnaires have been classified since the board started on December 22 and a complete record of every registered man in the county is now in the hands of the local board.

A large number of the appeal cases have been decided by the district board and notice of final action has been returned to the local board. The number of decisions contrary to those made by the local board were very small in proportion to the number of cases appealed.

Examinations will be started Monday morning. Forty men have been called in for examination during that day. Every man in class one will be examined as fast as the board can call them in. From the men examined the last contingent of the first quota will be filled and what men are needed on the second draft from this county.

The board has received a ruling to the effect that every man previously examined and not inducted into service, must be examined again in order that their present physical condition can be ascertained.

Notices have already been sent out to 200 men in class one to appear for examination at the rate of 40 a day, beginning next Monday.

JEWISH PEOPLE ARE NOW WITHOUT RABBI

Once again the Jewish people of this city are without a Rabbi. Rabbi Zuckerman, who has had charge of the local work for several months, has been offered the synagogue at Traverse City and has left for that city to assume charge of his labors.

There are so few orthodox Jews in Escanaba that it is difficult to get a god man to remain here for any length of time and it has not been decided whether or not a successor will be secured to take Rabbi Zuckerman's place.

SERIOUS RIOTS ARE REPORTED BY CREWS OF GERMAN VESSELS

Great Dissatisfaction Prevails in Navy, Deserting Officer Tells in Dispatch From Amsterdam.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS) London, Jan. 25.—A German naval engineer with the rank of lieutenant who deserted from Kiel, according to an Amsterdam dispatch to the Daily Express, states that the dissatisfaction among the men in the navy is more serious than in the army. He said important revolts had taken place among members of crews of German mine sweepers.

Three weeks ago a squadron of mine sweeping trawlers entered Hamburg after an expedition in which men were lost and one trawler sunk. Before being permitted to go ashore the men were notified to report back in an hour. The men asked for time for rest. The commandant at Hamburg refused. One hundred and fifty men declined to obey the order.

An hour later Lieutenant Wagner ordered the men to return. They refused. The lieutenant swore and struck two of the men. He was thrown into the water and left to drown. The commandant who was watching the affair dispatched a motorboat with a crew and two machine guns. In a battle which followed 44 were killed and many wounded. The others were arrested and sentenced to serve from five to twenty years in prison.

APPEALS HIS CASE TO THE CIRCUIT COURT

Matt Kirin, sentenced to serve sixty days in the county jail by Justice McEwen yesterday on the charge of larceny, today brought action in that court to have the case appealed to the circuit court. His bonds were fixed at $200.

Kirin was arrested upon complaint of Joe Mackewitch, who charged that Kirin robbed him of a check for $39 which he afterwards cashed by forging Mackewitch's name to it as an endorsement. Upon Kirin's agreeing to make good the amount of the check to a saloonkeeper who cashed the check, the authorities allowed him to go on the charge of larceny and sentenced him to sixty days.

Kirin was dissatisfied with this disposition of his case and has taken an appeal to the circuit court.

GERMAN SPOKESMAN SAYS ONLY A FEW OF POINTS ACCEPTABLE

Answer of Imperial German Government Given in Speech by Chancellor Von Hertling in the Reichstag.

TERMS UNSATISFACTORY

Certain Principles Could Be Agreed Upon, But Concrete Propositions are Unsatisfactory, Speaker Says.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS) Berlin, Thursday, via London, Jan. 25.—Count von Hertling in addressing the Reichstag main committee said that the evacuation of Russian territory was a question which only concerned Russia and the Central Powers. Commenting on the fourteen points for world peace set forth in President Wilson's address to congress, the chancellor said that an agreement could be obtained without difficulty on the first four.

Regarding the fifth some difficulty would be met with. "Germany never demanded the incorporation of Belgium territory by violence," he said. He said that the question of a state of Poland was one to be decided by Germany and Austria. When all other questions have been decided, the (Continued On Page Four)

WISCONSIN WILL HAVE CHANGE BANKING LAWS

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS) Madison, Wis., Jan. 25.—Governor Phillip today amended his call for a special session of the legislature so as to permit a change in the state banking laws of Wisconsin. The change proposed is to allow state banks to put up their assets to obtain funds from the government.

State banks have been limited in their operations to obtaining funds by the provisions of the banking laws. This is true, not only in Wisconsin, but in Michigan. Under the call, the special session of the legislature on February 19, will be allowed to consider banking legislation along this line. It will be a great aid to state banks in buying heavily of Liberty Loans and will make money less stringent.

NO TELLING ABOUT RUSSIA.

The reported threat of war by Bolshevik Russia upon poor little Roumania, already practically overrun throughout by the Germans, tends to confirm a very widespread impression that there is absolutely no telling what Russia as now ruled may do, and seems likely to weaken President Wilson's confidence in the worthy purpose of the dominating element in that country.

TAKE OUT FEDERAL LICENSE, PRESCOTT ASKS ALL DEALERS

Food Administrator Warns all Dealers Who Have Not Complied With the Federal Law and Make Application.

(Special to Mirror.) Lansing, Jan. 25.--Immediate action will be taken against all persons, corporations, firms and associations, who manufacture for sale bread in any form, cake, crackers, biscuits, pastry or other bakery products.

That every retail dealer of food-stuffs is just as much under the food laws as the manufacturer or the wholesaler who does business under a license does not seem to be understood, said Mr. Prescott.

Those who like songs of tender sentiment, sweetly human, will find unusual pleasure in "Danny Boy," the latest record of Schumann-Heink. It is an old Irish folk-song--a woman's farewell to the lad who has gone to sea.

Any person who, without a license, or whose license shall have been revoked, knowingly engages in or carries on any business for which a license is required by the Food Administration shall, upon conviction, be punished by a fine not exceeding $5,000 or by imprisonment for not more than two years, or both.

GROUND GLASS FOUND IN PRUNES SOLD BY A MARINETTE MERCHANT

Examination of Two Pounds of Prunes Resulted in Discovery of a Teaspoonful of Ground Glass.

Menominee, Mich., Jan. 25.—Ground glass, found in prunes purchased in the store of Emil G. Zerasky, Marinette, has probably been eaten by a number of persons in Menominee and Marinette, according to the grocer, who says he has sold a number of the same brand. The presence of ground glass in the prunes was reported to the grocer by a customer, who immediately cooked a quantity of them and found that the complaint was justified. When two pounds of the prunes were chemically treated a level teaspoonful of ground glass was found. The prunes were sold by a local wholesale house and were packed in California. Experts who have examined them believe that the glass was placed in the product while packing. Federal agents have been called to investigate the case.

THE THEATRES

AT THE DELFT.
Dorothy Dalton in "Love Letters" is the feature again for today. It tells the story of how a young ward became fascinated by a man who posed as a teacher of weird Eastern cults and creeds, but secretly sneered a foolish woman swayed by his words.
Shortly afterward she marries Harland, and for a time their life is very happy. The return of Moreland brings an end to this, however, for he frightens Eileen with exposure of their old affair unless she will come to his rooms to get the old love letters she wrote him and for which she asks.
Afraid to go and afraid not to go, Eileen at last takes her courage in hand and visits Moreland's rooms. There, as she had feared, she learns that he has no idea of returning the letters, and a fierce struggle ensues, after which Eileen makes good her escape—but without the letters.

AT THE STRAND.
World Pictures present Lew Fields and Madge Evans in "The Corner Grocer." From the play which ran over 900 nights in New York city.
Lew Fields in "The Corner Grocer," the latest World-Picture Brady-Made demonstrates that he is not only a great comedian but a wonderful character actor. In the role of Wendel, the corner grocer, in this production, Mr. Fields has a role that grips the sympathies of the audiences at once and holds them enthralled to the very end. Co-starred with Fields in this picture is dear, delightful little Madge Evans, the World's kiddie star. She appears as Mary, the little orphan, who grows up to love Ralph, Wendel's son. The story of the corner grocer, his rise and his fall when his son goes bad, and the final redemption of the son, is one of the most thoroughly enjoyable dramas ever filmed. "The Corner Grocer" will be seen at the Strand today.

The love affairs of the vampire queen of Egypt are shown in scenes historically correct in every detail. No expense has been spared by William Fox in securing correct architecture, proper settings and real Egyptian atmosphere. Even Cleopatra's costumes numbering more than fifty and noticeably scant are in accordance with the early days when women dressed for comfort rather than for modesty. Miss Bara wears jewels and ornaments valued at more than $150,000.
The picture is a spectacular drama, but always there is the central figure of Egypt's siren, artistically and vividly introduced. The Egypt of Cleopatra's time, orientally luxurious and riotously extravagant with its costumes, its decorations and its manner of doing things, is all pictured.
The Sphinx, the pyramids and the desert, together with the ancient naval battle of Actium are some of the best scenes ever shown upon a screen.

MANY LIKE THIS IN ESCANABA

Similar Cases Being Published in Each Issue.
The following case is but one of many occurring daily in Escanaba. It is an easy matter to verify it. You cannot ask for better proof of merit. Richard Steinke, baker, 616 Wells Ave., Escanaba, says: "While working out in the woods, I caught cold and it settled in the small of my back. My back was so lame I could hardly go about my work. When I arose mornings, I could hardly bend over to tie my shoes. My kidneys were disordered, too, and the secretions were highly colored. Five boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills fixed me up in good shape, strengthened my kidneys and regulated them. I felt like a different man. Doan's certainly can't be equalled."

And to do this, they must know the laws.

Duffy's Improved His Appetite and Increased Weight

A tablespoonful of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey in water or milk taken before meals and on retiring is an excellent means of improving digestion and assimilation as evidenced by the following:
"When I started to take your wonderful Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey I weighed 145 pounds. In less than a year I weighed 168 1/2 pounds.
"I take one tablespoonful in water three times a day and two tablespoonfuls in a glass of milk at bed time. My wife also uses it at bed time, in milk. It is better than medicine. It gives me an appetite and strength. I can do as much work in two days as my workman does in three days. I use one bottle of Duffy's Malt every week, because it is the purest and best I can buy."

WORK OF AMERICAN ENGINEERS TOLD IN LETTER FROM PARIS

Rev. T. E. Hoakley, Connected with the Medical Department of the Engineers, Sends Some Information.

What the American engineers are doing in France in preparing the way for the American soldiers is told in an article forwarded to E. A. Hubbard of this city by Rev. T. E. Hoakley, former pastor of the Baptist church here, who is connected with the medical department of the engineers. The article, taken from the Paris edition of the New York Herald, tells the story in these words:

Rumors reach Americans in Paris from time to time of the arrival of army engineers for the purpose of preparing the way for the balance of the troops on the way. A Herald correspondent looked into this, with the result that he was amazed at what the United States is doing.

All along a water-front engineers are draining marshes, pumping in sand, sluicing, draining the water from the sand, leveling the sand down to the required level, sinking piles, erecting wharves, all taking up at the present time about seven miles of frontage. This length can be increased to twice the figure. Working with this corps of engineers is an American company well known in New York City. The men are the experts of experts in their line and paid enormous wages. They work incessantly, without holidays or day off—unless they wish to have the same deducted from their wages. I saw a crane capable of lifting seventy-five tons at a time. The wharves now under construction will be finished for a length of two miles in six months hence. On these wharves will be erected enormous warehouses to house provisions of all kinds and ammunition, guns, clothing, and so on. Already as much as two miles of marsh have been converted into good land.

Saw mills are in full whiz, gasoline engines send wheels revolving just as at home, air compressors whirl noiselessly turning great boring machines and anything turnable, all silently directed by American experts at 75 cents an hour. Some were actually constructing an enormous boat or scow for pile-driving operations to prepare the way for the platforms of the wharves. Lumber was piled up all along the water-front, having been switched off from a main line on to a subsidiary line erected for the purpose. I saw as much as 650,000 feet of Southern pine which would delight the eyes of anyone from south of Mason and Dixons line. The section of wharves referred to would represent a frontage of wharves in New York from Fourteenth street to Twenty-third street. And more is coming.

I recognized an old acquaintance in Mr. Louis Lande, general superintendent of the Phoenix Construction company of New York, who was directing his men with mastery skill. Replying to a number of questions, Mr. Lande said: "We are going to have twelve more engines in a few weeks, which will give us more power to work by. We are filling up about 50,000 cubic feet of marsh at this point with sand from the sea bottom. Right here we are filling up about 4,000 feet in length 200 feet in width and 8 feet or 10 feet in depth. We have eight light pile-drivers already here and a couple of floating pile-drivers, two floating derricks, four skid derricks, two sawmills, three air compressors and several bolt-threading machines, and this is only one part of what you see before you. Yonder there is more going on. Our company is paid by the Government, with a percentage on the total cost."

Inventive Genius.
On these wharves will be the warehouses, and back of this monstrous undertaking will be a network of railway lines, all serving to transport the goods from the warehouses, to shift them on to other lines and direct to the front. Terminal arrangements are just what they are in any great city in the United States and in some respects, perhaps, better. The boats will be discharged as they arrive by means of the most modern systems of discharging known to the genius of the American inventor. As far as I could see, there was no waste of energy in railroad construction, the lines existing apparently satisfying the engineers—anyway, for the time being. What they are doing is to feed the main lines by means of a system of branch lines.

Far away from the scene of these wharf operations was a long line of railway workshops. I should say they were about equal to those at Trenton or Wilmington. Here I saw American railway experts swinging sledge-hammers, shaping red-hot iron into various wagon and engine parts, painting, repairing, banging away at anything "bangable"—strong, stalwart young men, all happy and contented and busy. Some of the chiefs were the sons of well-known railway magnates in New York and Pennsylvania and Chicago. They have come over to France to do their bit, and they look as if they were doing it very well.

French Thoroughness.

Interviewed by the Herald correspondent, one of the American engineers said: "So many things are different over here from our American ways that I hardly know where to begin to tell you what you want to know. Take the rails. Why the rails here are about 80-ton rails; ours go to 120 tons on main lines. Look at those French truck cars. They will hold from 15 to 20 tons while ours have a 70-ton capacity and we have some 100-ton cars. Our engines will pull from 60 to 100 cars. Here is a box car which we built in ten days. Why, it would take about half that time if we had the material ready. As far as I can explain to you the difference between our railway system and that of the French, the latter are about fifteen years behind us. On the other hand, while they take their time about it the French workmen turn out the most splendid valve work. They cannot be beaten for nice fine work. In America we would not take the time. Their workmanship is slow, but perfect when finished. Their fire-boxes for the engines will last about eight years, while ours will last about five years. This shows you how the class of work differs. But the French fire-boxes are made of copper while ours are of steel. We want speed in construction and our money's worth for the time employed.

"The French workman, so far as railway construction goes, turns out work in repairs that costs about three times what our work costs on account of the copper used and the labor involved. Our American engineers and workmen have nothing to learn from the French workman except spending time on the job. As an item of time wasted, according to our views, take the painting of an engine. Here it takes about three days. With us, the parts are painted as the engine is built. Again you see here engines lying idle for days waiting to be repaired. This loses time and capital. Speed is our motto in constructing."

Passing along the great workshops, I asked various American workmen how they liked it in France, and all were contented. They worked side by side with the French workmen and are learning their ways fast. It seems that these American workmen referred to are waiting for the arrival of others, and in the meantime are lending a hand to the French workmen. Nothing definite could be ascertained on the subject of future operations, but it seems probable that these enormous workshops in question will be taken over later on by the American engineers. Some of the American workmen are learning as much French as they can while circumstances permit. One of them showed me some phrases which he was committing to memory. The expression, "Je vous remercie infiniment" had first place.

Japanese Have No Beds.

The Japanese do not sleep on European beds, but on many thick, soft puffs piled one on top of each other upon the floor. For bed covering they use more of the same kind of puffs. It is said that the Japanese emperor has 20 such puffs. One of those which cover him is made in the shape of a kimono and has a velvet collar. I probably he creeps inside of this, if he feels cold in the night.

Enforced Labor.

"Providence has so ordered it that a state of rest and inaction, however it may flatter our indolence, should be productive of many inconveniences; that it should generate such disorders as may force us to have recourse to some labor as a thing absolutely requisite to make us pass our lives with tolerable satisfaction." — Edmund Burke.

German Spokesman Says Only Few Of Points Acceptable

Chancellor von Hertling said that Germany did not wish to annex territory by violence and that the questions in France were those to be decided between France and Germany. There can be no talk of the secession of Alsace-Lorraine, he said. The chancellor demanded that the leaders of the nations at war with Germany set forth new proposals. The terms outlined in the speeches of President Wilson and Lloyd George contained certain principles which could be accepted, he said, but the concrete propositions were unsatisfactory.

Regarding points nine, ten and eleven in President Wilson's program the count said that the left the answer in the first place to Austria-Hungary, but where the German interests were interfered with, they would be defended energetically.
American Opinion.
It is true that the expressions of conciliatory in tone than previous utterances, but beyond the vague statement that possible peace negotiations were contained in the address of President Wilson and Lloyd George there was no suggestion of a surrender of any of the extreme contentions of the military element in the Central states.
