HOW TO BUY POULTRY

Government Warns Against Ice-Packed Chickens; Are Worth 13% Less than Those Properly Handled.

Washington.—Paying the same price for wet-packed chickens as for dry-packed involves heavy money loss to the consumer, according to the dressed poultry specialists of the United States department of agriculture. Government experiments have shown that wet-packing a broiler and sending it to market on ice causes it to lose 13 per cent of its value and fowls lose about 10 per cent. If dry-packed broilers are worth 40 cents, wet-packed are not worth more than 35 cents; if dry-packed fowls cost 30 cents, wet-packed one should not cost over 27 cents. A chicken thrown into ice water to remove animal heat and sent to market in a barrel in direct contact with cracked ice, it is pointed out, absorbs water for which the consumer has to pay chicken prices. The water also dissolves out from the chicken valuable flavoring and nutritive substances. These go into the water at the bottom of the barrel along with filth that is washed from dirty feet and bloody heads, and trickles downward over the poultry. With a dry-packed chicken the animal heat is removed by hanging; the bird in an artificially cooled room maintained at nearly freezing temperature. The chicken is then packed into a box containing 12 birds and sent to market. The box is hauled in refrigerated cars and is kept by good retailers in good ice boxes until sold. The bird is never wet, has no chance to absorb water or becomes washed out. A bird should never be wet until it gets a final quick rinsing off in the housewife's kitchen. The practice of some housewives of soaking a chicken after it is dressed, in a pan of water, even for an hour or two, helps to leach out valuable qualities.

If You Are Doing Business With Mail Order Concerns If you are sending your cash out of town—doing business with mail order concerns—keep mum about the growth—the industries—the advantages or beauty of the town. You have no boast coming. It is a good town not because of you, but in spite of you. If You are not a Home Trader You are a Traitor to the Best Interests of the Town This community is made up of individuals. Its prosperity depends on individual effort. If you send your money away for goods that can be purchased here, you injure the town—and yourself. When you buy from a mail order concern—your money is gone for good. Not one red cent of it ever comes back to you, it pays for taxes. None of it pays store rent, clerk hire—or does any one of the dozens of things accomplished by home-sent money. Suppose everyone in this city sent away for their necessities and luxuries. The town would go to rack and ruin. You would be unable to give property away. There would be little employment in the schools—churches—everything of a public nature would be suffering from house poverty. There's no reason why anyone should feel any concern. Your home town merchant carries the best grades of goods on the market. They are goods of recognized merit. They are practically one price the world over. You know you are getting the quality. The biggest manufacturers in the country are your suppliers. Your purchases are protected. There are no return charges—no long waits—no distance return costs—or delivery charges. Your dealer appreciates your patronage. He makes every effort to hold your trade. He becomes acquainted with your likes and dislikes—consequently can serve you in a satisfactory manner. And to top off all these important advantages, a merchant can save you money. By all means talk up your town—but first you must speak by spending your money at home. It is the solid money spent money—not words that establishes the public weal of the community. Donate to the good of the town by trading IN town—and get the greatest value for your dollar.
