the knowledge of German inhumanity Object is More to Break Morale of People, it is Believed, But Airplanes More Effective.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)

Geneva, (Monday) via Associated Press, March 26.-The long range guns which bombarded Paris, according to an Amsterdam dispatch, are of Austrian manufacture. The gun is not new but a new type of shell with the big guns.

In the "mystery" gun, the name generally given to the new weapon with which the Germans bombarded suburbs of Paris from a distance estimated at 75 miles, it is frankly conceded Pass Right Through Escanaba On by experts that the enemy has sprung one of the great surprises of the war. General Sir O'Callaghan, formerly president of the army ordnance com mittee, says of the German guns:

"The projectiles must have peer fired from longer and heavier guns and with more powerful propellers than we have any knowledge of."

One expert estimated the weight of the projectiles to be about 380 pounds. With great velocity the projectile leaves the gun at an elevation of about 65 degrees, it is believed, "which very quickly takes the projective into a stratum of rarifled air in which resistance is greatly minimized."

The strain upon the guns, he says must be enormous and probably it would be unable to survive more than 100 rounds, the cost of each gun being estimated at $1,000,000.

All experts agree that at such a tremendous range it is out of the question and therefore the gun is only of use where the target presented is on a vast'scale, like Paris, The object aimed at is rather more moral than material, but in both respects the gun is likely to prove less effective than the airplane raider.

Before breakfast each day, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoon-ful of limestone phosphate in it as a farmless means of washing from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully in-vigorating. It cleans out all the sour glass of real hot water with a teaspoo vigorating. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will cost very little at the drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses, sweetens and freshens the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the blood and internal or-gans. Those who are subject to con-stipation, billious attacks, acid stomach, rheumatic twinges, also those whose skin is sallow and complexion pallid, are assured that one week of inside-bathing will have them both looking and feeling better in every way.

in the wars waged in ancient times it was taken for granted that conquered peoples might be either killed, tortured, or held as slaves; that their property would be taken and that their Office at Laing Hospital, 806 South lands would be devastated. "Vae victis!-woe to the conquered!" For two centuries or more there has been a steady advance in introducing ideas of humanity and especially in confining the evils of warfare to the combatants. The ideal seemed to have become so thoroughly established as a part of in-Office Hours: 9 a. m. to 12 m.; 1:30 to ternational law that the powers at The Hague thought it sufficient merely to state the general principles in Article XLVI of the regulations: "Family honors and rights, the lives of persons and private property, as well as religious convictions and practice, must be respected. Private property cannot be confiscated." Germany, in common with the other powers, solemnly pledged her faith to keep this article, but her military leaders had no intention of doing so. They had been trained in the ideas voiced by Gen. von Hartmann 40 years ago: "Terrorism is seen to be a relatively gentle procedure, useful to keep the masses of the people in a state of obedience." This had been Bismarck's policy, too. According to Moritz Busch, Bismark's biographer, Bismarck, exasperated by the French resistance, which was still continuing in January, 1871, said:

"If in the territory which we occupy, we cannot supply everything for our troops, from time to time we shall send a flying column into the localities which are recalcitrant. We shall anoth hang and burn. After that has happened a few times, the inhabitants will finally come to their senses."

The frightfulness taught by the German leaders held full sway in Belgium. This is best seen in the entries in the diaries of the individual German sol-

"A horrible bath of blood. The whole village burnt, the French thrown into the blazing houses, civilians with the rest." (From the diary of Private Hassemer of the Eighth army corps.)

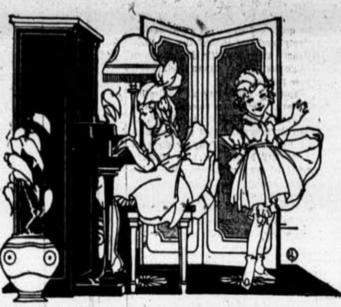

"In the night of August 18-19 the village of Saint-Maurice was punished for having fired on German soldiers by being burnt to the ground by the German troops (two regiments, the Twelfth landwehr and the Seventeenth.) The village was surrounded, men posted about a yard from one an other, so that no one could get out. Then the Uhlans set fire to it, house by house. Neither man, woman, nor child could escape; only the greater part of the live stock we carried off, as that could be used. Anyone who ventured to come out was shot down. All the inhabitants left in the village ere burnt with the houses." (From the diary of Private Karl Scheufele of the Third Bavarian regiment and landwehr infantry.)

INDUSTRIAL WASTE.

The report of the department of labor and industry showing an increase of nearly three million dollars in the awards of industrial compensation in the state for the year 1917, as compared with the total of the previous year, ought to be a subject of special study to determine how far this is the result of a more adequate working of the compensation system, or to what extent it indicates an increase in casualties. From the brief summary of the report it appears that there was a decrease in the number of all accidents, but a marked increase in the number of fatalities, says Philadelphia Bulletin. Speeding up industry, especially in the more dangerous lines of ammunition production, must be taken into account, but it had been expected that one of the indirect benefits of the compensation system would be to increase the degree of caution and protection in industrial operation in the annual casualties of labor. The report of all industrial accidents to the state authority is required, in large part in order that it may provide a chart and the basis for a survey of this industrial waste, in order that checks may be applied where possible.

Just as we expected, there are loudmouthed, street-corner loafers who are exhibiting one little thrift stamp and swelling up as much as to say: "I have done my bit." Most of them won't go to the movies because they are too lazy to stand up when the organ plays, "Star-Spangled Banner."

This is the kind of weather when householders must be constantly on the alert to prevent fire. So many causes now arise to threaten combustion that especial care in handling the dangerous element will alone insure safety.

Some financier writes to the New York Sun that there is too much money in the country. From the way some men are grabbing for it you would think there were only about four dollars in the world and that the mints were closing down for good.

The departure from old rules was taken for the reason that Mrs. Kramer was recently married, just prior to the time when her husband enlisted in the army and was assigned to service. In accordance with the rules of the department, the first substitute carrier on the list of eligibles was appointed, but immediately a request was made that Mrs. Kramer be appointed without examination until such time as her soldier husband could return to duty. the plan, and the young woman will go on duty immediately.

of John Synge's books, says the Medi-cal Times. Speaking of the spiritual-ity and wildness of the peasants of the west of Ireland, he remarks: "There is an affinity between the moods of those people and the moods of varying rapture and dismay that are frequent in artists and in certain forms of alienation." These peasants, sescendants of an ancient bard that were chased to the West, are said to be born poets. Synge noted in them the quick changes from gloominess to gayety, and saw the relation of these anges and the Celtic dreaminess to the genius that has shown itself among these people.

Especially acute was his realisation to maniac-depressive insanity, though he did not understand that the genius is not insane but specially predisposed to insanity because of his delicately organized nervous system. When the genius becomes clinically insano he ceases, perforce, to be a creative artist. All the confusion about genius and insanity is unnecessary if these simple facts be kept in mind.

Men Will Answer To Roll Call Saturday

All Have Received Notices From Clerk Calling Them to Court House in call for volunteers for overseas

> All of the 63 men who will leave for Camp Custer next Saturday night have been notified to meet at the court house Saturday morning to answer to roll call. The hour is 8:00 o'clock and after the men have answered to their name, the leader of the party will be named and he can pick an assistant or two if he cares to. So far no plans have been made for a demonstration as it ir thought the men prefer to be free agents for the last few hours they have before their departure.

DON'T FUSS WITH -MUSTARD PLASTERS!

Musterole Works Easier, Quicker and Without the Blister

There's no sense in mixing a mess of mustard, flour and water when you can easily relieve pain, soreness or stiffness with a little clean, white Musterole.

Musterole is made of pure oil of mustard and other helpful ingredients, combined in the form of the present white ointment. It takes the place of out-of-date mustard plasters, and will not blister.

Musterole usually gives prompt relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis, count, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, head-take, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism.

Who Stole Pet Leech From The West End Store?

Claude Farrell Wants to Know What Has Happened to Pet He Has Had For Years.

Claude Farrell is downhearted over the loss of a leech which has been in his possession for four years. It lived in the regulation glass jar excepting when it was taken out by its owner when it was fed on raw liver. The Leech would come to the top of the jar and take food out of its owner's hand. This morning it was gone. The cover was not placed back on the jar last night and it probably crawled out and got away. If you happen to see a strange leech about the street, notify the West End Drug store.
