QUENTIN ROOSEVELT DIES IN THE AIR

OFFENSIVE IS IN THIRD DAY ON NEW FRONT

No Longer Has Character of General Attack But Has Worked Into a Series of Local Movements.

NEW FIGHT IS GOING ON

Germans Are Making Gains West of Rodemant Woods, South of Rheims; Allies Are Confident.

(Associated Press War Summary)
The German offensive is now in its third day and according to the views of the Entente observers is no longer of the character of a general attack. It has already, they declare, worked itself into a series of comparatively local movements. What the German high command proposes to do cannot be surmised but it is certain they encountered a defence sufficiently stubborn to prevent the immediate achievement of their more important objectives.

Today's report tells of violent fighting in the Courtan woods. Where the combat is taking place is not known, but conceding that the enemy has reached the middle of that area he has advanced four and a half miles from Sere-en-Tardenois which was approximately the location of the line Sunday.

Here and further west of the Rodemant woods the Germans are making the steadiest and the most threatening gains, pushing southeast to Epernay which lies south of Rheims. Reports declare that the situation is viewed as being satisfactory by the Allied commander. There will, however, be an anxious period until the German advance to pinch off Rheims is definitely stopped.

Americans Take 500.
Washington, July 17.—General Pershing's communique of yesterday, received by the war department today, announced that 500 prisoners had been taken by the Americans in the counter attacks which drove the enemy back over the Marne near Chateau Thierry.

The forces of the German Crown Prince penetrated three miles down the valley, making a total advance of six miles at Cantigny, the most southern point reached by the invaders.

British Make Raids.
London, July 17.—Raids by the British last night in Villers-Bretonneux and Hulluch on the front to the north resulted in the taking of prisoners, the war office announced today.

In the Somme and Ancre regions north of Amiens and in the Arras region north of the Scarpe the enemy artillery was active last night. Similar activity was displayed by the German guns in Flanders in the district at Bethune and north of Balieul.

Enemy Efforts Foiled.
French Front in France, July 17.—Forty-eight hours have been sufficient for holding up the German masses of the Crown Prince's troops in the offensive started Monday. The enemy units have turned back toward Paris and their endeavors are being held in check by fresh troops.

Flint and Detroit Will Have Freight Trucking Service

Flint, July 17.—The organization of motor truck freight service in Michigan has been launched here, and traffic between Detroit and this city has been started. Within a few weeks time motor truck traffic will be carried on between Flint, Saginaw, Bay City and Alma; Flint and Owosso and Flint and Lansing.

Four trucking companies have been brought together in a system and it is expected that eventually motor truck lines will cover eastern, central and southern Michigan.

DR. LINDHOLM MAKES THE LOOP IN SCOUT PLANE

Former Surgeon Here Is Guest of Famous French Aviator Who Performs Stunts in Air

HAS INTERESTING WORK

Flies Over German Lines But Meets No Enemy Planes; Gets Thrill of Life at 6,000 Feet.

A letter from Lieut. H. L. Lindholm, formerly associated with Dr. A. S. Kitchen and who is now in the Labor Detachment, 32 Division, A. E. F. on the front line in France has been received by Dr. Kitchen. Lindholm describes the sensation that comes while flying over the enemy lines.

Dr. Lindholm writes, "I do not remember if I told you in my last letter that I was wined and dined by some French aviator friends. After the dinner I was invited up in the air for flight which I readily consented to on their promise that no capers 'up stairs' would be pulled off.

Well the captain promised solemnly that it would be only a gentle flight. "I had been up five times before and felt that I was already a veteran of the air. I got my togs on and stepped in the scouting plane and chained myself in like an old timer, in the observer seat, with the wireless and photo apparatus in front of me, and a Lewis machine-gun within reach.

"We got off and started to ascend on a 200 foot start and started circling for height, when the meter read 5000 feet. Mr. Pilot headed for the Boche (Continued On Page Four)

County Director Urges Hard Coal Purchase By Aug. 1

H. I. Piatt Congratulates County Dealers and Consumers on Lack of Complaints from this section.

While here on a visit yesterday, H. I. Piatt, director of counties for the Federal fuel administration in Michigan, reiterated the warning that users of base burner stoves must place their orders for hard coal with dealers before August 1.

Mr. Piatt also stressed the fuel ruling which became effective on Saturday by which all consumers having hot water or steam heating plants are barred from securing hard coal in any quantity for next winter's use. No ruling has yet been announced as to whether hard coal already delivered to consumers having such heating plants will be taken from their bins or allowed to remain.

Mr. Piatt congratulated the dealers and consumers of the county on the fact that Delta county is the only county in Michigan from which complaints against rules of the fuel administration have not been registered at Lansing.

Mr. Piatt yesterday called upon the wholesale and retail coal dealers of the county and left later for Menominee. He said that the shortage of hard coal is most acute and the situation is likely to become worse.

Anti-Aircraft Drill Ends St. Clair Sport

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
Detroit, July 17.—Anchor Bay, that part of St. Clair which for years has been the mecca of fishermen and followers of sail boating, has been declared a barred zone by the United States war department.

Anti-aircraft guns from Selfridge Field at Mt. Clemens are fired daily from the shores of the bay and bombing students fire from the air at targets on the water. It is for this reason that the order has been issued prohibiting navigation of any sort on the bay.

ENSIGN M'GILLAN TO SPEAK AT MARINETTE NEW SETTLERS PICNIC

Attorney Who Gave Boat To Government and Guarded Soo Locks Will Be Principal Speaker at Celebration.

Ensign James McGillan of Green Bay, brother of Mrs. H. J. Robertson and formerly a well-known attorney of Marinette, will be the principal speaker August 15 at the Marinette County New Settlers' picnic to be held August 14-15 at Peshtigo. His address will be in the main tent in the afternoon.

Mr. McGillan was enjoying a very lucrative law practice in Green Bay at the time war began. He immediately tendered his pleasure yacht to the Government, and offered his own services. Mr. McGillan was made an ensign and was placed in command of his own boat. He spent many months as commander of that craft helping to guard the Soo locks. He is one of the best orators in upper eastern Wisconsin, and is known to hundreds of people in Oconto, Menominee, Door, Brown and Marinette counties.

Sometime before the picnic takes place a booster and advertising trip will be arranged to advertise the picnic. Big delegations are coming from Menominee County and from points around Escanaba and Iron Mountain. It is likely that a boat excursion from Sturgeon Bay will also bring several hundred people.

D. A. R. HERE TO RAISE FUNDS BY SALVAGE DRIVE

Old Magazines, Old School Books, Tinfoil and Lead Paste Tubes Are Wanted by Workers.

WILL AID THE CHILDREN

Persons Having Waste Can Dispose of Supply by Calling Women in Charge of Campaign.

To obtain funds to carry on the work of sewing for children in France and Belgium, the members of the Lewis Cass chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution here within the next few days will inaugurate a drive for old magazines, old school books, tinfoil from chewing gum and cigarettes and lead paste tubes.

The support of the residents of the city is enlisted for the campaign. Any person who has a store of old magazines or books in his home is requested to telephone Mrs. William J. Clark, regent of the local chapter, or Mrs. Frank Atkins, historian, and the material will be collected and taken to the junk dealer.

The Escanaba drive is a part of the national campaign of the historic society to obtain funds by salvage work. It has been found that in almost every home there is a supply of things, which if sold, would realize a considerable sum that could be devoted to war work. The D. A. R. is turning its efforts to sewing for the needy children in the sister countries France and Belgium.

Arrangements are now being made for the placing of boxes in the hotels, drugstores and other public buildings here. There receptacles will be marked and the public is asked to deposit tinfoil in them. They will be visited by workers from the organization and the supply gathered in.

In addition to the articles mentioned above old kid gloves will be received. These are used for making linings for aviators' vests.

Mrs. Atkins is chairman of the salvage committee. With Mrs. Clark, the other workers include Mrs. Carrie McNaughtan, vice-regent of the chapter; Mrs. E. C. Voght, secretary; and Mrs. H. W. Reade, registrar.

The national society announces that under the joint auspices of the Chataqua Institution and the Woman's Naval Service there will be held at Chataqua, N. Y., a school for national service. There will be two encampments of three weeks each, the first to be held July 15 to August 3 and the second from August 5 to August 24. Students will live in tents and will hear addresses on national defense, agriculture, increased food production, food conservation, history and allied subjects. The tuition fee is $50 for the term of 20 days.

Miss Adele Peterson left this morning for Milwaukee where she will spend her two weeks vacation.

MAN IMPERSONATES APE BUT IS CAUGHT BY DRAFT OFFICERS

Clever Performance of Simian at Detroit Theater Rouses Curiosity of Authorities.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
Detroit, July 17.—There have been many clever impersonations presented in local theaters, but it remained for the selective service law to uncover one which for many performances had drawn applause from large audiences.

Federal agents discovered that an undersized man disguised as an ape had for months been drawing full houses by feats most unusual for an animal of that type. While the pseudo-monkey probably never will serve in the army because of his height, he was compelled to register with the local delinquent bureau.

The 110 are all Michigan men, according to Agent Venn, and are serving in various branches of service in the allied armies.

GERMANS DROPPED FOUR BOMBS IN HOSPITAL RAID

Investigation Shows That Hun Airmen Deliberately Planned Attack at Jouy; Station Was Marked.

Three of Shells Explode, Killing Two and Wounding Nine—Fragment Misses Operating Surgeon.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
Paris, July 17.—Two German aviators took part in the bombing of the American Red Cross hospital at Jouy, according to the investigation made at the request of Harvey Gibson, Red Cross commander in France.

The report shows that four bombs were dropped at 11 p. m. Two fell on tents, one dropped seven feet from an other tent and the fourth failed to explode.

There were no troops near the hospital and the nearest railway line was three kilometers away. In addition to Red Cross markings there was a 100-foot Red Cross on the lawn, photos from recent air flights show. The cross was visible thousands of feet in the air.

Seven witnesses say the German aviators flew back and forth several times, killed their engines, and dropped to within a few hundred feet of the ground.

The German aim was good but only two enlisted men were killed and nine other persons wounded. Parts of a bomb passed within four feet of a surgeon who was performing a difficult operation. When the bombs fell all lights went out leaving the operating table in darkness. The patient was given temporary relief. Another piece of a bomb tore the chest of a soldier raising a patient in his bed to give him a drink.

Cousin Sees Battle and Witnesses Machine Fall in Flames Near Chateau Thierry.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
Paris, July 17.—Lieutenant Quentin Roosevelt, the youngest son of former President Theodore Roosevelt, was killed while fighting in the air, a His was agency message announces. His machine was over the enemy's line and was in flames when it fell.

Philip Roosevelt, a cousin of Quentin, witnessed the air battle which took place in the vicinity of Chateau Thierry in which Quentin was engaged. He saw the machine fall but did not know until later that the pilot was his cousin, says the Journal today.

Attacked By Squadron.

London, July 17.—Lieutenant Quentin Roosevelt, attached to the American forces on the Marne front, was killed July 14, says an exchange telegraph. Lieutenant Roosevelt was returning from a patrol flight when he was attacked by a German air squadron. He suddenly lost control of his machine, probably from a mortal wound.

He was 20 years old.

1,800 Draft Evaders Are Sent To Custer

Detroit, July 17.—In 75 days up to July 1, more than 1,800 draft evaders have been sent to Camp Custer from Detroit, according to F. D. Gleason, in charge of the local delinquent bureau.

In their search for draft evaders, the officials of the bureau are giving unusual attention to theatrical and circus performers. Credentials are demanded of these professional entertainers immediately upon the arrival in the city.

Several employees of a circus which recently met with a serious train wreck, probably have the alertness of federal officials to thank for the fact that they were not caught in the smashup. They were arrested here a short time before the tragedy and inducted into service.

P. W. M'ADOW DIES AT HIS HOME IN FLORIDA

Husband of Former Escanaba Woman Dies at Punta Gorda After Years of Illness.

Word has reached this city of the death of P. W. McAdow, at his home in Punta Gorda, Florida. The deceased was the son-in-law of Allan Tyrrell of Brampton, and is known to a few local people as he made a few trips north after his marriage.

For a number of years Mr. McAdow had been afflicted with locomotor ataxia and was only able to get about in a wheel chair. In spite of the affliction he was of a sunny disposition and his southern home was the scene of many house parties. He was very wealthy and entertained lavishly. Mr. Tyrrell does not know whether or not his daughter will return to the north or continue to make her home in Florida.

BUYING OF WAR SAVING STAMPS DUTY OF THOSE AT HOME

As a result of years of continued material prosperity, the United States has come to be known as a Nation of spenders. The people, as a rule, have earned their money much more easily than have the people of any other country, and because they have never been thought by grim necessity to be thrifty, they have been lavish in expenditures. One of the results of the war now raging, and a result of by no means the least importance in America, will be the inculcation of the thrift habit through a course of lessons beginning with the fundamentals and proceeding through the successive grades as the war continues.

It is no war in the world's history has ever before been fought for such enormous stakes, so no previous war has ever been so lavish in expenditure of men and money. At present our Government has an ample supply of men at command, but it needs help to pay its running expenses. The richest Nation in the world, the United States, always included toward the ways of peace, has never possessed a great war chest, and in the present emergency it must depend upon the people as responding nobly. Through taxes and contributions to various war loans the wealthy have been doing their duty, while the poorer people have done and are doing their share perhaps less conspicuously but not less effectively and even more impressively when unity of will and purpose is conspired.

As a direct incentive to thrift, the Government has placed War Savings

CHAPTER VI.

Fritz Does a Little "Strafeing."

My outfit was one of those that saw the Germans place women and children in front of them as shields against our fire. More than a third of our men, I should say, had been pretty tough criminals in their own countries. They always traded their pay against a handful of cards or a roll of the bones whenever they got a chance. They had been in most of the dirty parts of the world. This war was not such a much to them; just one more job in the list. They could call God and the saints and the human body more things than any boss stevedore that ever lived.

Yet they were religious in a way. Some of them were always reading religious books or saying prayers in different ways and between them they believed in every religion and superstition under the sun, I guess. Yet they were the toughest bunch I ever saw.

After they saw the Germans using the Belgian women the way they did, almost every man in my company took some kind of a vow or other, and most of them kept their vows, too, I believe. And those that were religious got more so after that.

Our chaplain had always been very friendly with the men, and while I think they liked him they were so tough they would never admit it, and some of them claimed he was a Jonah, or Jinx, or had luck of some kind. But

How We Give 'Em the Butt. They all told him their vows as soon as they made them and he was sud-posed to be a sort of referee as to whether they kept them or not.

During my second stint in the front lines things got pretty bad. The Germans were five to our one and they kept pushing back parts of the line and cleaning out others. And the weather was as bad as it could be and the food did not always come regularly. Now, before they took their vows, every last man in the bunch would have been kicking and growling all the time, but, as it was, the only time they growled was when the Germans pushed us back.

Things kept getting worse and you could see that the men talked to the chaplain more and quite a few of them got real chummy with him.

One morning Fritz started in bright and early to begin his strafe. The lieutenant was walking up and down the trench to see that the sentries were properly posted and were on the job. A shell whizzed over his head and landed just behind the parados and the dirt spouted up like I imagine a Yellowstone geyser looks.

Another officer came up to the lieutenant—a new one who had only joined the company about a week before. They had walked about ten yards when another shell whizzed over them. They laid to and a third one came. There were three in less than five minutes, directly over their heads.

Then a shell landed on the left side of the trench and a pollu yelled that four men had got it. They were all wounded and three died later. The lieutenant went over to them and just after he passed me a lad got it square not far from me and was knocked over to where I was lying.

The lieutenant came back and helped me with the first-aid roll and then the Germans began using shrapnel. The lieutenant was swearing hard about the shrapnel and the Germans and everything else.

Farther to the right a shell had just struck near the parados and made a big crater and across from it, against the parapet, was a young chap with a deep gash in his head, sitting on the fire step and next to him a fellow nursing the place where his arm had been blown off. Our bread ration lay all about the trench and some of the pollus were fishing it out of the mud and water and wiping the biscuits off on their sleeves or eating as fast as they could. Only some of the biscuits had fallen in bloody water and they did not eat these.

A young fellow, hardly more than a boy, stumbled over the parados and fell into the trench right near the lieutenant and the lieutenant dressed his wounds himself. I think he was some relation of the boy. (Continued tomorrow.)

"Before the war, a distinguished French Officer, General Maitrot, wrote a series of articles in the 'Echo de Paris' to warn France, that in case of war, the French meat industry would be unable to supply the French army in the field with fresh meat,—owing especially to the lack of modern refrigerating plants and of refrigerating transportation,—and too, owing to the deficiency in the national herd."

Hagenbeck-Wallace Show in Escanaba, Monday, July 29.

MANAGERIE IS FEATURE OF HAGENBECK-WALLACE

One of the things in which the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus has always excelled is in its menagerie.

So much interest was aroused at the St. Louis World's Fair in 1904 that the Hagenbeck shows were combined with the great Wallace Circus.

Yet each year since the consolidation of the show the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus has grown.

But the Hagenbeck animals form only one department of the combined shows.

Offensive Is In Third Day On New Front

(Continued From Page One) the south bank of the Marne is perilous. East of Rheims the German efforts each time have failed. Comparatively slight progress has been made west of Rheims but the hope of the enemy for effecting a break have not been realized. The Allied methods of defense have been most efficacious and everywhere resulted in maintaining the lines intact.

German Loss 100,000. London, July 17.—Casualties suffered by the German troops in the offensive to the present have reached 100,000 according to news received in London today from the battle line in France.

Enemy Uses New Men.

Paris, July 17.—The Germans last night threw new forces along the front south of the Marne and attacked the Allied line north of St. Agnon, the war office announced today. The enemy penetrated to Bourdonnerie.

The battle continued in the woods immediately south of this point. On the front further to the east the French held the enemy in the outskirts of Bouquigny wood and at the village of Merry.

A patrol attack by the Germans in the direction of Monvoisin was made but the enemy was driven from the locality by a French counter attack.

On the front between the Marne and Rheims the fighting continues with violence in Courton wood. The Germans attacked at Vigny but the assault was broken up completely.

On the line east of Rheims the Germans delivered a local attack in the Brunaty region. The efforts of the enemy were fruitless.

In the assault on Beaumont the enemy met a sanguinary repulse. The French positions east of Rheims were maintained intact.

Allied Position Satisfactory London.— July 17.—The position of the Allied forces at the present state of the offensive is said to be distinctly satisfactory.
