ENEMY IMPERILED NORTH OF THE OURCQ

TREMENDOUS EFFORTS TO RESIST PRESSURE OF ALLIES IS FUTILE

French, British and Americans Drive Wedge into Enemy Line Near Bottom of Soissons-Rheims Salient and Gain Dominating Positions for Doing Further Damage.

GERMAN RETREAT TO VESLE RIVER IS CONSIDERED TO BE NEXT PROBABLE MOVE

Americans Kill or Capture Every Man in Two German Companies Who Are Trapped in Village of Seringes Which Enemy Believes to Have Been Evacuated.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
(War Summary)

In spite of the tremendous efforts of the Germans to check the relentless pressure of the allies north of the Ourcq Germans positions are now in grave danger. French, British and American troops fighting to the east of Fere-en-Tardenois have driven a wedge into the enemy line near Roucheres at the extreme bottom of the salient between Soissons and Rheims. The allied line from Soissons to Rheims now runs north from Grand Rosoy then turns to the east, passing north of Fere-en-Tardenois and to the west of the village of Nesles. The advance of the allies in this region has placed them in dominating positions.

All around the salient there has been a continuous battle for the last two days. All German counter attacks have failed and the allies have gained important ground. There now seems little doubt of a German retreat to the Vesle river as soon as possible. All possibility of the Germans attempting to make a stand north of the Ourcq now seems to be gone.

German Efforts Fruitless.

With the American Army on the Aisne-Marne Front, July 31.—Efforts by the Germans to advance their line against the Americans on this front last night and this morning were fruitless. The Americans continued to hold their positions along the slightly advanced line but the German line is reported to be giving way gradually to both the right and left. There was hard fighting last night but no concentrated attacks were made by either side.

During the night the Americans made a pretense of retreating from the village of Seringes. Believing that the Americans were evacuating, two companies of German troops entered the town, whereupon the Americans closed in on them and either killed or captured every man of them. Both high explosives and gas shells were sprayed by the Germans over a wide area. The air forces of both sides were busy this morning. Eight enemy machines were brought down.

Killing Only Object

Washington, D. C., July 31.—The sole object of both the Germans and the allies on the Soissons-Rheims salient now is to kill as many as possible, according to statement made by General March in his weekly conference with newspaper men at the capital today. Whatever object either had at the beginning of the offensive on July 15, has been completely submerged by developments in the fighting of the last ten days. It is pointed out that the salient has been flattened out in the last week thus dissipating the hope of the allies for cutting off the army of the Crown Prince.

The arrival of the Rainbow division and its participation department today. The third regular division has also been identified with the action at Berry and Cirges where the crack German Guard divisions were defeated by American troops.

General March announces the formation of six more divisions in the United States. These new divisions are to be built around regular infantry units. He also said that the conversion of fifteen national cavalry regiments into field artillery was well under way.

According to the statement made by General March today he has no intention of revealing casualties sustained by the Americans in the recent fighting. He stated that General Pershing had been ordered to cable the list of casualties upon arrival of the information here. There is to be distribution of the publication of casualty lists over a long period hereafter.

Paris, July 31.—American troops are maintaining their positions in the region of vital fighting was carried out today according to the official war statement. The Germans made four attacks on the new French positions at Oulchy-le-Chateau. They were repulsed and the French their lines intact.

The Germans carried out raids at a number of points in the sector east and west of the Marne salient and there is no material change in the general situation in that vicinity.

Enemy Attacks Repulsed
Washington, D. C., July 31.—The repulse of enemy counter attacks on the Ourcq, as well as several violent attacks on enemy positions by American forces, are reported in the communiqué of General Pershing yesterday, and received at the war department today.

AMERICA SPENDS FIFTY MILLIONS A DAY FOR WAR

Monthly Cost of Carrying On War for Uncle Sam Is a Billion Five Hundred Millions, Including Loans.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
Washington, D. C., July 31.—America's present war expense is fifty per cent higher than that of Great Britain, it was shown today. Although the United States has largely superseded Great Britain as the financial reservoir on which other nations of the entente are drawing steadily, the aggregate of such loans is now only one-fourth as large as those already made by Great Britain. This, of course, is accounted for by the short time the United States has been in the war compared with its allies.

The monthly cost of carrying on the war is $1,500,000,000 including loans to the allies. The United States is spending $50,000,000 a day, or two million dollars an hour. The national war debt is now $12,500,000,000.

MISTAKE FOUND IN NOTICE FOR REGISTRATION

Saturday, August Tenth, Is Last Day Voters May Register for Primaries to Be Held August 27.

City Clerk Carl Anderson today received information which makes it necessary for him to reprint and re-post all notices of registration for the primaries to be held August 27. The original notices stated that August 17 would be the last day on which voters could register but this has now been changed to August 10. Fortunately Mr. Anderson in designating the day on which registrations should be made, has selected August 3 and August 10, so that so far as he is concerned he is well within the limit. However the notices will be changed and voters will take notice that August 10th is the last day on which they can register if they wish to vote in the forthcoming primary.

Naturally all his local friends extend their best wishes, which, if they could be counted in the ballot box, would land him a big winner.

COUNCIL MEETING TO BE HELD NEXT TUESDAY

The semi-monthly meeting of the city council will be held next Tuesday evening for the transaction of the regular order of business. This under the notice of an important nature is scheduled for this time for discussion of the following items:

EMPLOYERS MUST CO-OPERATE WITH FEDERAL BUREAU

Examiner Berry Plans a Conference at Which Conditions Will Be Gone into Thoroughly in Regard to Distribution.

WAGES TO BE DISCUSSED

Weeding Out of Non-Essential Industries Will Begin Next Month and May Affect Some Men in This Community.
Examiner W. W. Berry of the local branch of the federal labor bureau wants the people of this county to understand there is no reason for any man being without employment and there is but little reason for any employer being without help.

Co-operation with the labor bureau is the remedy for both cases. He wants every man out of a job to register with the bureau. It costs absolutely nothing and is a service Uncle Sam is furnishing in order to keep labor equitably distributed. If there is no work locally, it is possible the labor bureau can furnish information regarding work at other places.

Within the next few days Mr. Berry contemplates holding a conference with employers in this city. He has been talking with a few of them individually and believes that if all can be brought together and the situation gone over thoroughly, a great many things that now seem complex will be greatly simplified.

This conference will have to do with the distribution of labor, wages and other factors that enter into the local situation, where according to Mr. Berry, the supply of labor is sadly depleted because of higher wages being paid in other places.

Another condition with which local manufacturers will have to deal shortly, is the fact that beginning next month, there will be a sorting out of essential and non-essential industries. Men engaged in non-essential lines of work will have to get jobs which the government considers essential to the winning of the war. A local committee with Mr. Berry as secretary, will be named an dthe work of carrying out the order will begin early next month.

TRUE FRATERNIZATION.

Ever since the beginning of the war there has been genuine sympathy and complete understanding between the French and British on the western battle front. The French and British armies have remained separate, but they have co-operated whenever possible, and the men of the two nations have fraternized whenever opportunity offered. Now there is a new spirit. Instead of giving aid to each other, the armies of the two nations have become one army. Instead of fraternizing behind the battle lines the Poles and Tommies are fraternizing in the front line trenches amid the roaring avalanche of the Hun's bombardment, says Cleveland Plain Dealer. Not as friends, not as comrades, but actually as brothers and trenchmates the men of the two nations which two decades ago still cherished their traditional animosities are working and fighting for the salvation of the world. When the French soldiers dashed forward at Kemmel and Balleu to take their places beside the weary Englishmen the last ghost of the age-old Franco-British hostility was laid and the two great democracies came to a full realization of the unity of liberty.

Undoubtedly what was begun in the direction of farming in the backyard during the first year of this country's participation in the war will go forward with increased momentum. The United States department of agriculture estimates that the value of the product of home gardens in 1917 exceeded $350,000,000. Against this it has been estimated that as much as $400,000 was wasted to seeds through poor judgment. Two hundred thousand of this can be attributed to planting too thickly, $150,000 to improper preparation of soil, and $50,000 to lack of thought as to the time it takes a vegetable to mature. Experience teaches, "The people who go in for raising their own vegetables will profit from what they have 'learned by doing.'"

This war has done one thing: It has made farming one of the most dignified callings a man can engage in. There was a time when many looked on the cultivator of the soil as "a mere hayseed," not worthy of being considered seriously in the economics of the nation, but that day has passed. Today everybody is appealing to the farmer to come to the rescue of the nation by helping to produce something to eat so that we can win the war. The day is not far distant when the "man who makes two blades of grass grow where only one grew before" will be looked up to as one of the princes of the land.

Gunner Depew
By Albert N. Depew
Ex-Gunner and Chief Petty Officer, U. S. Navy—Member of the Foreign Legion of France—Captain Gun Turret, French Battleship Casabianca—Winner of the Croix de Guerre

While we were in Brest I got permission to go aboard a submarine and a petty officer showed me around. This was the first time I was in the interior of a sub and I told the officer that I would like to take a spin in the tub myself. He introduced me to the commander, but the petty officer said he did not think they would let me stay aboard. I showed the commander my passport and talked to him for a while, and he said he would take me on their practice cruise two days later if the Old Man gave me written permission.

So I hot-footed it back to the Casard and while I did not promise that I would get any American gunners for him in exchange for the written permission, he was free to think that if he wanted to. It seems as though he did take it that way, for he gave me a note to the sub commander and sent him another note by messenger. I wanted Murray to go too, but the Old Man said one was enough.

So, two days later, I went aboard in the morning and had breakfast with the sub crew and a good breakfast it was, too. After breakfast they took stations and the commander went up on the structure amidships, which was just under the conning tower, and I squatted down on the deck beneath the structure.

Then the gas engines started up and made an awful racket and shook the old tub from stem to stern. I could tell that we had cut loose from the dock and were moving. After a while they shut off the gas engines and started the motors and we began to submerge. When we were all the way under I looked through the periscope and saw a Dutch merchantman. We stayed under about half an hour and then came back to the surface. One of the garbles was telling me later on that this same sub had gone out of control a few weeks before and kept diving and diving until she struck bottom. I do not know how many fathoms down it was, but it was farther than any commander would take a sub if he could help R. This garby said they could hear the plates cracking and it was a wonder that they did not crumple up from the pressure, but she weathered it, pressure button and all, and in a quarter of an hour was on the surface. While on the surface they sighted smoke, submerged again, and soon, over the horizon came eight battleships, escorted by Zepps and destroyers.

They tested their tubes before they got in range. Finally they let go. The first shot missed, but after that they got into it good and the garby said all you could hear was the knocking of the detonated guncockton.

About five minutes later they sighted five destroyers, two on each bow, and one dead ahead. The sub steered in at right angle zigzags and the destroyers stayed with their convoy. The sub launched two torpedoes at less than a mile before diving, to get away from the destroyers and the garby said at least one of them was hit. These ships must have been some of the lucky ones that came down from the North sea. The garby said he thought they were off the Dutch coast at the time, but he was not sure.

was so thick, and the combers were breaking over our bows three a minute. The coast here is pretty dangerous, so we went in very slowly and had the sounding line going until its whir-rr-rr sounded louder than a machine gun in action.

Cockpits in Seaplanes.
Stories of honors for heroes of the air show us that there are cockpits in seaplanes, and so the word has acquired a new meaning. Shakespeare, sneering at his own Globe theater, asked, "Can this cockpit hold the vasty fields of France?" Later, the word grew to mean a place where nations fight, so that poor Belgium has long been the cockpit of Europe, while on board ship it was a place on the lower deck peculiar to the surgeon and the pursuer. On the seaplane it is peculiar to the pilot or observer.

LADIES! SECRET TO DARKEN GRAY HAIR
Bring Back its Color and Lustre with Grandma's Sage Tea Recipe.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients a large bottle, at little cost, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.
While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

DIFFICULTIES ON WEST FRONT ARE TREMENDOUS

Task of Concentrating Many Divisions for Modern Attack Is Rendered Most Hazardous By Allied System.

ENEMY IS KEPT GUESSING

Lose Their Fighting Value, in Many Cases, Before the Carefully Outlined Attack Is Ever Launched.

Behind the British Lines in France, July 25.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—The task of concentrating divisions for a modern battle on the western front is by no means an easy one, for it is naturally and easily accomplished.

Rapid concentrations are essential, or else the all-important element of surprise is lost, and rapidly depends largely upon the skillful use of railways already overburdened with the normal demands of the troops in the assault area. For this reason the enemy, long range fire, as well as considerable portion of his bombing airplanes, are concentrated upon the railroads in the back areas.

Under normal conditions, the ordinary straight railway line is not particularly vulnerable. Being so narrow it is a difficult target to hit. The curves of a railroad are, however, much more important. The destruction of a section of rail on a curve means more trouble than the destruction of half a dozen sections on the straight.

Sidings, railway-stations, and places where there is a network of rails, and where there are points, junctions, and other special types of rail, are even more important than curves, for damage done at a vital center may completely delay traffic for many hours. Such rail-centers behind the German lines are subjected by the British to a form of "time bombardment" so devised that all repairs have to be carried out under the most harassing conditions; and not an hour passes without shells or bombs in the affected area.

Cannot Mass Troops
An important result of this concentration against the rail centers is that troops cannot be massed for an attack without undergoing a certain amount of mangle-shaking experiences first. There is no peace for them by day or by night. Under these conditions the troops are stale before the attack is launched.

As this long range bombardment is controlled chiefly by airplane observation an enormous advantage lies with that side which is predominant in the air. By the superiority of their airmen the Allied Armies are able to sweep all roads and railways in the enemy's rear with concentrated artillery fire by day and night; whilst large squadrons of bombing airplanes keep the German rest areas and billets perpetually under fire.

Keep Enemy Guessing
Thus the German soldiers are kept in a state of nervous tension, the casualties are heavy, and the extra work involved by the ever-increasing difficulties leads to the concentration being, continuously delayed and hung up. Divisions suffer and lose their fighting value without ever being launched against the enemy.

All these things together conspire to make the German concentrations difficult of accomplishment and more and more dependent upon the weather, which alone can suspend the British and French aerial activity and hamper observation. Every day's delay in preventing a German concentration is of the utmost value to the Allies, who can prepare and strengthen positions bring up reinforcements, construct roads and light railways, and generally make valuable use of the time thus gained.

When the delay occurs between the phases of a big battle it is even more important; for experience goes to show that an arrested that fails to attain its objects is little better than a real defeat.

Only One Possible Victor.
There are two sides to every question, but only one side can be the right side and only one side can come out on top.

Profits and Prices
Profits may be considered from two angles:
1st—Their effect on prices;
2nd—As a return to investors.
When profits are small as compared with sales, they have little effect on prices.
Swift & Company's profits are only a fraction of a cent per pound on all products sold, and if eliminated entirely would have practically no effect on prices.
Swift & Company paid 10 per cent dividends to over 20,000 stockholders out of its 1917 profits. It also had to build extensions and improvements out of profits; to finance large stocks of goods made necessary by unprecedented requirements of the United States and Allied Governments; and to provide protection against the day of declining markets.
Is it fair to call this profiteering?

RED CROSS WILL AID RUSSIA WHEN IT IS POSSIBLE

Cargo of Food, Clothing and Medicine Ready for Shipment When Conditions Will Permit of it.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
Washington, D. C. July 29.—Russia will receive Red Cross relief just as soon as that distracted country will permit the sending of supplies.

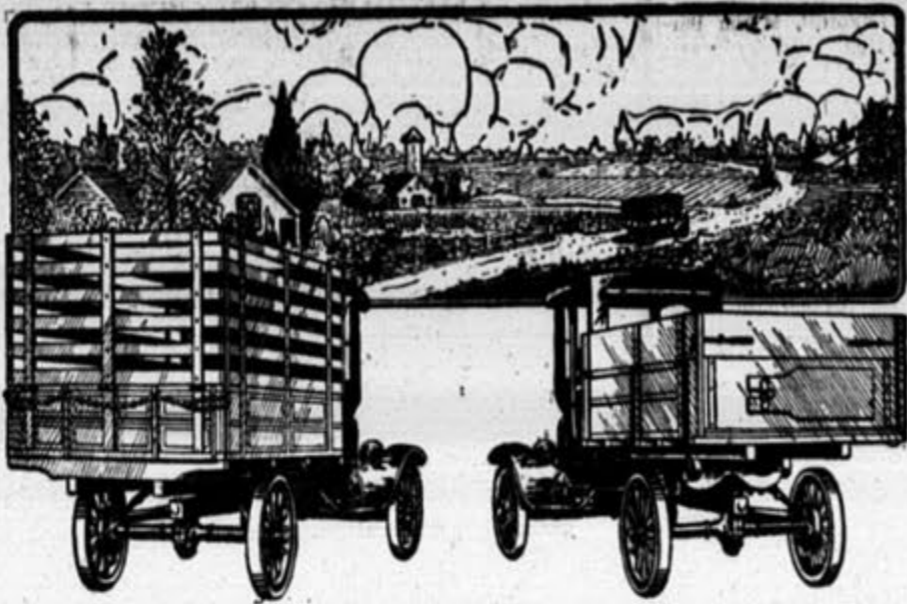

A cargo of food, clothing and medicine is ready to be shipped under the supervision of the American Red Cross and in a manner that will not antagonize any faction in Russia. Latest reports from Russia indicate widespread starvation and disease. Unless relief of some kind is sent into the country the next winter will be far worse than anything known so far in this war. It is believed that the Red Cross can win an entrance as an agent of mercy.

The supplies will be a gift from the people of the United States to the civilians of Russia and to the Russian soldiers returning from German prison camps.

The Red Cross has maintained a commission in Russia constantly but of late the transport problem has such as to prevent the sending of supplies in any appreciable amount. The new effort means that nothing will be left undone to prevent a disaster.

Parry Farm Bodies for Ford Trucks

TRULY, "team-less" days on the farm are almost here. The transportation of hay, grain, garden truck, cattle, hogs, timber, etc., between the farm and city, or farm and railroad junction, will soon be handled entirely by motor trucks of the medium weight capacity.

"Team-less" days will be a complete reality—not because we have any dislike for the horse—but because light motor truck delivery is more efficient, and economical. It puts more valuable working hours—more miles—into every farmer's day, enabling him to accomplish far more work at a lower cost.

Today is the day of greater production, greater profits, greater efficiency.

Either one, or both, of these Parry Farm Bodies will help any farmer, stockman, or gardener to attain this efficiency. The body on the left is for general farm work. It has removable stake units on rear and sides. Body on right is essentially a grain dump body, but can be used, as it appears, for most kinds of utility work. Tipping apparatus at rear of seat works quickly and easily. Detailed pictures of this body can be seen at our salesroom.

A Ford Chassis and Parry Farm Body costs little more than a good draught team—furthermore, the truck consumes fuel only for actual running time in service—as contrasted with the horses which must have "3 squares" a day, of high priced feed, whether working or not.

THE THEATRES

AT THE DELFT.

In "Ghosts of Yesterday," the select Star Series photodrama which will be shown at the Delft Theatre Wednesday and Thursday, Norma Talmadge rises to really great height of emotional acting in the portrayal of the two parts which fall to her in that production. Dual personality roles are rare because of the high artistry they call for, but in this picture Miss Talmadge verifies the praise of her performances, have always brought forth. First as Ruth Grahame, the poor little seamstress, and later as Jenne LaFleur, the wanton Bal Tabarin cabaret singer, she delineates both characters with remarkable fidelity.

Howard Marston, an able young artist is redeemed from a life of dissipation by Ruth, whom he marries, and work on whose portrait is suddenly stopped by her untimely death. Broken-hearted, Howard goes to Paris, and there he finds in LaFleur an exact physical prototype of his late wife, but woefully different in her mode of living and her outlook on life. How the love which grows upon her change her and live in Washington during these stirring times. Write immediately for free list of positions open. Franklin Institute, Dept. 182-F, Rochester, N. Y. 212

VOLUNTEERS ARE STILL APPEARING FOR EXAMINATION

Corporal Blackwell of the Local Recruiting Station Sent Three More Men to Chicago for Examination Last Night.

Corporal Blackwell, of the local recruiting station, is going along in a quiet way and adding a soldier to Uncle Sam's forces now and then. Yesterday Harvey Helgenso, of Iron River, was accepted here and sent on to Chicago. He enlisted for a place in the Quartermaster's Corps. The local recruiting station has been open only a few weeks but in that time a large number of men have passed through the office in the post office building, many of them being sent on to Chicago for further examination and some being rejected here.

Col. Thomas, of Chicago, was in Escanaba yesterday making a tour of inspection and instructing the recruiting officers regarding the most recent orders, particularly in regard to the enlistment of men who claim they are eighteen years of age. If there is any reason to suspect that these young fellows are misrepresenting their age, they are compelled to produce a birth or baptismal certificate or an affidavit, signed by the parents. Uncle Sam will not accept a boy under 18 years of age, and is taking every precaution against permitting patriotic youngsters to "get by" without proof.

James Page and Russell McKenneth both of Gladstone, left last night for Chicago, where they will take the examination for admission to the Quartermaster's corps.

T. R. GIVES SUFFRAGE BOOST IN SPEECH AT NEW YORK CONVENTION

Declares That Women Granted the Right of Suffrage Must Carry Their Full Share of Duties.

At the close of his speech at the New York State Republican Convention, Theodore Roosevelt turned to the women members and said with touching eagerness—"I address women as well as men, the women who are delegates to this convention just as the men who are delegates. I am happy to learn that the Committee on Resolutions for the New York State Republican Party has for its chairman a woman, Miss Hay.

In this great world-crisis women have been granted their full rights, and that imposes upon them the performance of their full share of the duties. I ask you women who have now come into the political arena to stand shoulder-to-shoulder to shoulder with your husbands and brothers and sons. I ask you to see that when those who have gone abroad to endure every species of hardship, to risk their lives, when those of them who live come home that they shall come to a nation which by our actions has been made a nation which they can be proud to have fought for, or could be proud to have died for."

AT THE STRAND.

"Smiling George" Walsh will be seen romping across the screen of the Strand Theatre today, George comes here in his newest William Fox Vehicle, "The Kid is Clever," a story which has a thrill and a laugh in every foot of film.

The athletic star takes the role of Kirk White, a young American who can't find enough excitement in life. His father sends him aboard a ship with a motion picture company which guarantees to provide the proper amount of spice. Kirk overhears.

When things begin to happen on that ship, he thinks the cinema company is to blame. But they miss the steamer and a band of Mexican revolutionists are the cause of the trouble. Of course there's a girl in the plot and she is in love with Kirk.

"The Kid is Clever" is George Walsh's first production under a new director, Paul Powell, and it more than maintains the swift pace of other George Walsh pictures. In the supporting cast are Doris Pawn, Ralph Lewis and A. Burt Wesner.

Mrs. Ted Hanson and Miss Florence Bittner left this morning for Carney.

"Madam Who"

A woman's wits against the brains of two million men. She Wins! The unwritten chapter in American history. The Secret Service Classic.

Surrounded

Branded a spy. Ever hunting and being hunted in turn. Every smile a deceit, every truth a lie. Always alert, pursuing, plotting, scheming. Trifling with fire, with death, with infamy. Shunned by friend, despised by foe. Ready to die in shameful oblivion—so that her country may live.

DON'T MISS THIS PLAY

Caught in the web spun by an enemy who devises vengeance too fiendish for Satan. Surrounded by men, grim, cold, pitiless, brains of the cause she aims to destroy. How wondrous a heart that does not quail facing sure death—cruel and shameful—for the sake of her cause, her beloved country.

STOLEN AUTO IS FOUND IN DITCH ON RIVER ROAD

The remains of Carl Sawyer's automobile which was stolen from his garage recently, were found in a ditch on the Ford River road yesterday. The car had been stripped of its tires, one wheel was missing and all the tools had been taken from the tool box. Whether the thieves stripped the car or whether various parts were taken off by passing autoists or parties stealing to resell, is the problem by which the police are faced.

STANDARDIZING OF AUTOMOBILE TIRES IS GREAT SERVICE

War Performs a Service Which Would Have Taken a Score of Years Otherwise, Says W. R. Smith.

In standardizing these sizes of tires, war has performed a service in one year's time for dealers, manufacturers and car owners that it would have taken a score of years to accomplish in normal times, said W. R. Smith of the Delta Hardware Co., distributor of Diamond Tires.

"There is really no necessity for the multiplicity of sizes and types of tires which manufacturers have been making and dealers have been carrying in stock. And yet, I doubt whether we would have weeded out the non-essentials short of 1950 had the old world continued to drift along in 1912 fashion.

"By the recent action of the pneumatic tire division of the War Service Board," continued Mr. Smith, "Rims on new cars will be limited to six sizes and it will be simple for tire makers to follow suit by reducing to nine standard tire sizes.

Some sizes are abandoned immediately. Others are continued for varying periods, but by November 1, 1920, the entire plan will be in effect.

"It's the best thing that ever happened," said Mr. Smith, "tire dealers will carry smaller stock, have lower overhead expenses, and the manufacturers will welcome the new condition. This is directly in line with the purpose of the War Service Board.

"The new program will be adopted gradually, giving car owners plenty of opportunity to change their rim equipment where the car will out-live the supply of odd size tires. All new automobiles will conform to the new standards, gradually eliminating all demand for odd sizes."

WARREN HORTON TO GO INTO ACTIVE SERVICE

Escanaba Boy Will Be Home for a Few Days' Furlough Before Taking Up His Duties for Uncle Sam.

A telegram was received by Mrs. Frances Horton last night stating that her son, Warren, will be home on a furlough Friday morning. The telegram reads as follows: Am transferred to active service, expect to be home Friday morning.

Warren left this spring for the Great Lakes to enter the radio corps and it was not until the fourth of July that he was granted a leave of absence. The young man was president of the Junior high school class, and was recognized by everybody as a very patriotic young man.

MORE ANIMALS COME UNBIDDEN TO THE ZOO YESTERDAY MORNING

More troubles have been added to those of the Park Board. Yesterday a pair of baby racoons arrived by the stork route and the food problem was thereby increased. The board hopes that pending negotiations for the sale of the animals in the zoo, will terminate quickly and satisfactorily. Anybody needing a couple of bears, a pair of foxes, a bunch of coyotes and a family of coons just to make their homes happy, can drive a sharp bargain with the park board.

JOHN MIERS CORPORAL

John Miers who left with the last contingent was presented with a handsome wrist watch by a number of relatives, and also an army kit by the employees of the Delta Hardware Co., where he was employed. Since Mr. Mier's joining the army he has been promoted to corporal.
