Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Davis will return tomorrow from Rochester where Mrs. Davis has been for the past month.

Harold Groos will leave Saturday for Lawrence University where he will study for the coming year.

When "More Trouble," the new Pathé Play in which Frank Keenan is starring, had its premiere in New York, Miss Harriet Underhill, famous critic of the New York Tribune, wrote:

"Well here is something new in the photoplay—a tragic farce. 'More Trouble,' in which Frank Keenan is appearing at the Rivoli on Broadway, is the best picture play I have ever seen, and I have seen them for a long time."

Every other critic in New York praised this remarkable play as the cleverest thing seen on the screen for many months.

"It is the so-farousness of all the characters, who play their roles straight in the Rivoli's latest feature picture, 'More Trouble,' that is most effective in making this one of the best comedies of the screen," wrote The Evening Telegram critic. "The fun springs from this fact rather than from the cleverly handled situations that follow in rapid succession. It is at first a drama that develops by adroit manipulation into a clever farce comedy. There is some mystery in the story, which makes it all the more interesting; Mr. Frank Keenan has the leading role and he gives a fine characterization. The escapades of the son of a wealthy owner of an iron foundry place his father in the position of being overtaken by misfortune, out of which the comedy situations are effected, and they come fast, the audience laughing heartily as each one is unfolded."

"More Trouble" comes to the Strand Theatre for two days starting today.

Miss Marjorie King leaves Sunday night for Ann Arbor to enter the University of Michigan.

Fred Belanger is spending a weeks vacation in Chicago with friends and relatives.

AT THE DELFT

"Shirley Kaye" which will be shown at the Delft theatre today is the second production made by Clara Kimball Young and her own company, following the adaptation of "Magda" from the famous drama of that name by Herian Sudermann. It took no little courage for Miss Young to undertake the film creation of the title role in that play, for it has been made famous by such leading actresses as the immortal Duse, the 'divine Sarah' Bernhardt and that sterling performer Mrs. Patrick Campbell. Critics and film fans who have seen the production, however, insist that Miss Young is her own self, and how to none; for she imbued the difficult role with a vitality and a sympathy that fascinates all who saw the picture.

In "Shirley Kaye" Miss Young again registers success—albeit her role here is one of a lighter touch, and shows her as the resourceful American girl who saves the family fortunes and wins herself a husband at the same time.

Friday and Saturday, "Up the Road with Sally" starring Constance Talmadge will be shown.

MANY BOYS ENROLL FOR ARMY TRAINING AT M. A. C. SCHOOL

Up to the present time according to Secretary Faunce, approximately 200 young men and women have signified their intention of entering college with the freshman class. This is about the same number of applications as were on hand at this time a year ago.

It is noticeable among the young men however, that the thing which is attracting them is the Student Army Training Corps, in which is every student will become enrolled. It will be through this corps, under Major P. G. Wrightson, that students

What Do You Mean "Afford"?

By George Ade

We come to another big task. This time we need not call for helpers. The volunteer workers stream in myriad hosts along the main highway leading to victory and vindication.

All patriots, by confession.

The grumblers are awed into silence. If the taint of disloyalty remains anywhere it is hidden as a shameful secret. The heads are wagging and we hear many bold assurances:

"I'll do all I can."

"I'll go as far as the next fellow."

"I'll take all I can afford to take."

We are speaking, of course, of the Fourth Liberty Loan and the willingness of the war-backers to subscribe.

This time we do not explain a Liberty Loan and how it works, or why we battle with Germany or that a war costs money. It will just about require a search-warrant to find a man who does not say that he will take all of the bonds he can "afford" to take.

But, O my countrymen, we need night schools and correspondence schools, private tutors and Chautauquas and special information bureaus to enlighten Mr. A. and Mr. B. and Mr. C. as to the real meaning of the word "afford."

Are you penciling around to find out how much money you can set aside without the slightest inconvenience to any of your pet private projects?

Are you trying to decide how many bonds you will have to take in order to escape the charge of being a slacker?

Are you getting ready to answer in hundreds a country that has endowed you with thousands?

As you squint your eyes and try to decide upon the sum which will fairly represent your individual quota, are you acting as attorney for the United States of America or have you gone in for technicalities in order to protect special interests?

In reasoning with your conscience, are you trying to be generous or trying to play safe?

It is up to you.

The buck cannot be passed.

It is for each man to decide whether he is going to be a thoroughbred or a squeezer of 50-cent pieces.

For the sake of your own self-respect, come through to the limit. If you live to be a thousand years old you never will have another chance to start your iron dollars upon such a noble mission.

Do you wish to deepen the wrinkles upon the brows in Potsdam?

Would you fortify the courage of every soldier in France?

Shall we set in such a stack that the Kaiser can't see over the top of it?

All right! You are appointed a Special Agent.

Don't wait for a committee to hunt you up or run you down.

Hurry to the bank and break through the line and order so many Liberty Bonds that the man inside will be dazed and all of the neighbors surprised and all of your relatives proud.

STOP THE WASTE!

Not long ago, a mechanic working on the Pacific Coast heard that men of his particular trade were badly needed in the East. So he quit his job, put practically all his available cash into a railroad ticket and took the train East.

But when he got to his destination a shock awaited him. True, men were needed. The trouble was that the word which reached him had also gone to thousands of others, and the vacancies of his particular trade had been filled. Without even troubling to ask his qualifications, the foreman to whom he applied, said wearily: "We may need you next month!—why don't you go out West—they need your kind of men out there!"

Now, the fault rested neither with the worker nor the industry. Both were anxious to do their best for their country. The work had to be done—men were needed—and the industry sent out the call broadcast. This patriotic mechanic threw everything aside, invested his money to hasten East, without definite assurance that HE would be hired.

But if both this employer and workman had worked through the U. S. Employment Service, this wouldn't have happened. The right men would have been chosen and sent to jobs where their skill fitted them to earn full pay. Only the men actually needed would have been sent, and neither time, effort nor money on the part of the workman or the employer would have been wasted.

PRESIDENT'S STATEMENT

"Industry plays an essential and honorable role in this great struggle as do our military armaments. We all recognize the truth of this, but we must also see its necessary implications—namely, that industry, doing a vital task for the nation, must receive the support and assistance of the nation."

"Therefore, I solemnly urge all employers engaged in war work to refrain after August 1st, 1918, from recruiting unskilled labor in any manner except through this central agency (The U. S. Employment Service). I urge labor to respond as loyally as heretofore to any calls issued by this agency for voluntary enlistment in essential industry. And I ask them both alike to remember that no sacrifice will have been in vain, if we are able to prove beyond all question that the highest and best form of efficiency is the spontaneous co-operation of a free people."

WOODROW WILSON

It is to prevent this waste that the Government has created the U. S. Employment Service as a part of the Dept. of Labor. Its national office is in Washington. It has 500 branch offices and 20,000 U. S. Public Service Reserve enrollment agents in all parts of the United States.

It is equipped to assist workmen to find the right jobs, and employers the right men, to make it possible to bring about maximum production in essential war industries. It assures a fair and square deal to both, and the use of its service is a patriotic war duty.
