FORECAST COLD AS SNOW FALLS, HALTS TRAFFIC

Worst Storm Of Year Sweeps the Middle West States.

Weather Predictions Are That Severe Cold Will Con- tinue Tonight.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
CHICAGO, March 4.—More cold weather is headed for the Chicago region, according to a warning sent out by the weather bureau here this morning. It says "a severe cold wave for the season is indicated for the Chicago region with temperature falling to within a few degrees of zero tonight. Severe northwest gales and light snows."

CHICAGO, March 4.—The worst storm of winter today swept from the mountain states toward the middle western states accompanied by snow and greatly lowered temperature, crippling wire communications and railroad traffic. The disturbance spread south and east with diminishing thermometer readings and rain.

Temperature Sinks Fast.

High winds, drifting snow and a temperature that fell 30 to 45 degrees to zero within a few hours today had isolated a number of eastern Colorado and Nebraska towns.

Blowing snow blocked the storm developing in Kansas, Western Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Northern Texas where almost springlike weather obtained.

Weather predictions were that the severe cold in the Rocky Mountain and Plains states would continue today and tonight.

Relief parties on snowshoes today sought to carry supplies to passengers stranded on trains snowbound near Cumbers Pass.

Much Snow Here.

More snow fell in Escanaba during the last 24 hours than during any similar length of time this winter. No estimate of the depth of the snow as increased by the storm prevailing today had been made by the weather bureau.

Traffic in this vicinity was generally being hampered this afternoon, although earlier in the day the trains were not as late as was expected. Streetcars in Escanaba this afternoon had difficulty to run between here and Gladstone and the Traction company's track cleaner was busily engaged without let-up in operations.

Delay Trial Because Trains Are Late

William LaCrosse, who lives near Maple Ridge, was scheduled to be arraigned before Judge C. D. McEwen this afternoon on a charge of stealing logging equipment at Conners Spur, will not be arraigned until next week because of the failure of several witnesses to arrive here. They were on trains that were late. LaCrosse was arrested by a member of the state constabulary.

American Consulate At Zurich Bombed

WASHINGTON, March 4.—An official report on the bombing of the American consulate at Zurich last night was made to the state department today by Consul General Keena who said the building was practically destroyed but that no one was injured.

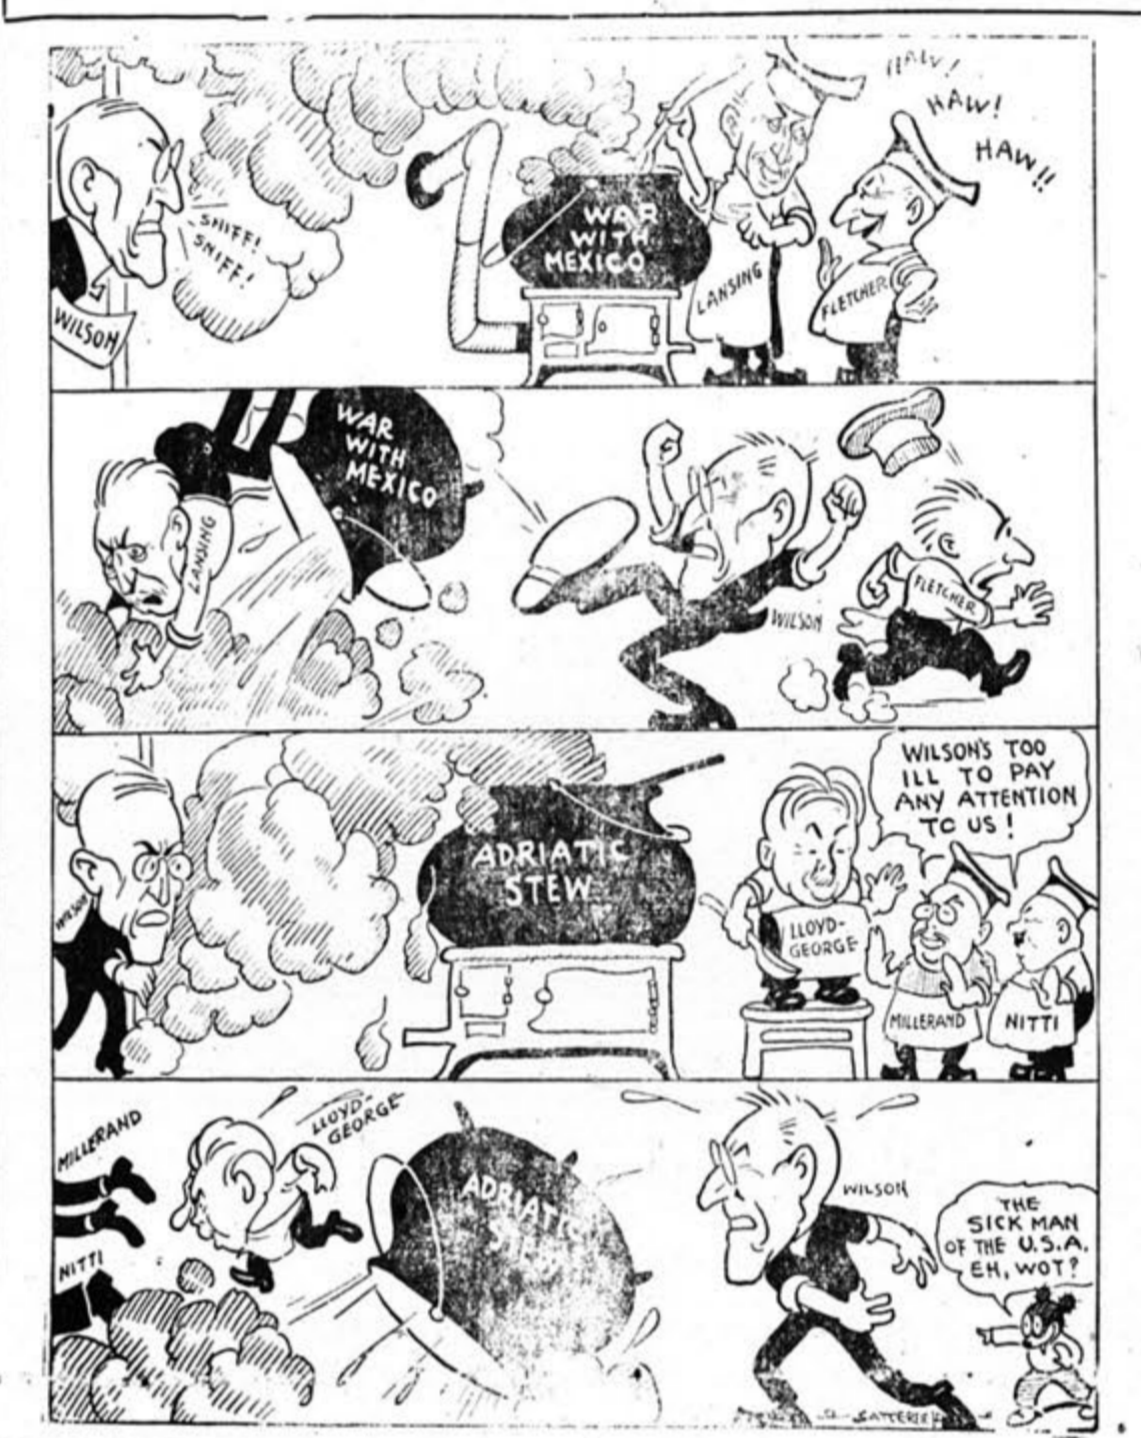

John E. Fillion Case Dismissed

On motion of the prosecutor, the case against John E. Fillion, charged with assault, was dismissed by Judge C. D. McEwen today. Fillion's arrest followed complaint by Mrs. Rosanna Gundon, who was employed as a domestic.

DRUNK; PAYS COSTS.

Gust Holm, charged with being drunk and disorderly, was dismissed by Judge C. D. McEwen this afternoon after payment of $7 costs. He pleaded guilty.

FEAR RETURN OF HAPSBURGS

Supreme Council Deter- mined To Check Such a Plan.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
LONDON, March 4.—Members of the supreme council are determined to adhere to that organization's refusal to allow a restoration of the Hapsburg in either Austria or Hungary. It is stated in conference circles in answer to inquiries regarding Rumanian fears that the appointment of Admiral Horthy as Hungarian regent means the return of former recognition of the soviet government in Russia, it is stated in some quarters, has been discussed in the course of the council's consideration of economic and financial problems, but no definite conclusion has been reached.

While nothing has yet been decided as to the size of the army Turkey will be allowed to maintain, the council is believed to oppose anything planned to maintain a force larger than 25,000. Some members of the council are said to favor refusing Turkey a standing army in any form except a gendarmerie under officers appointed by the allies.

Sweaters were given to the following players:
Ralph Brotherton Cecil Londo
James Quinn Marshal Perrin
Wallace Finch Leo Londo

Weather

Snow and colder tonight with a cold wave, predicts the weather man. He also says Friday we will have local snows with strong, northwest winds.

The southwest wind disturbance had advanced to the Mississippi valley and extended from the region of the Great Lakes to the Gulf of Mexico. Within the last 24 hours it caused precipitation in the Rocky Mountain, Plains states, Mississippi valley and west portion of the Lake region and on the Gulf coast.

Temperatures were higher in all districts east of the Mississippi river. A reaction to the cold weather has taken place in the Rocky Mountain and Plains states where a strong high pressure area developed.

State Calls Bids For Three Million For State Highways

LANSING, Mich., Mar. 4.—Bids for $3,000,000 worth of state highway bonds have been asked by State Treasurer Gorman. The issue will complete the $5,000,000 to be used by the highway department during the first fiscal year of the $50,000,000 highway program adopted last April. The next issue, it is said, will probably be allotted next fall.

Bids will be received up to March 17 on the present issue. The bonds will be dated April 1, are due in 15 years and bear interest at 4 1/2 per cent. They are tax exempt.

BRIDE OF 15 TAKES POISON

Mrs. Henry Powers Swallows Carbolic Acid Iodine.

Apparently despondent because her mother voiced strong protests against her recent marriage, Mrs. Henry Powers, formerly Miss Pearl Denter, swallowed a portion of carbolic acid, iodine and alcohol at the home of her mother, 309 Ludington street, Tuesday evening.

While admitting that the girl has practically fully recovered from the effects of the poison dose, the attending physician refused to disclose any details with regard to the motive of the girl or whether she was burned by the acid. Neither would he tell what time he was called to attend the young woman.

Married On Friday.

Pearl Denter was married to Henry Powers last Friday. According to a statement of the mothers, Mrs. Emily Denter, the daughter is but fifteen years old. When she accompanied Mr. Powers to procure a marriage license, she gave her age as eighteen. Just as they were about to be married by Justice C. D. McEwen Friday afternoon, Mrs. Denter appeared on the scene and entered such strong objections that the couple left the justice's office.

They went to Gladstone, however, where they were united in marriage by Justice Huber, returning to this city after the ceremony was performed.

Asks For Warrant.

Later Mrs. Denter asked the police authorities for a warrant for the arrest of Powers, declaring that he perjured himself. While he signed the application for marriage license, he did not answer any questions with regard to the girl's life history, according to the deputy county clerk who issued the license.

Police are inclined to be lenient with Powers, as he has a splendid work record and is apparently an exemplary young man.

Nine Alcohol Deaths Reported in St. Paul

ST. PAUL, March 4.—Deaths from alcoholic poisoning in St. Paul since Tuesday night totalled nine this morning. Four victims were added to the list yesterday.

WALLIN ON BONDS OF SEVERAL HELD IN LIQUOR CASES

Surety For His Brothers And Beauchamp, Who Is Missing.

With the disappearance of Olaf I. Wallin, who was scheduled to be given a hearing before United States Commissioner James Frost, and Joseph Beauchamp, whose fine of $500 and costs of $100 imposed by Circuit Judge Richard C. Flannigan remain unpaid, more facts are disclosed with regard to bonds given by the various men arrested recently and charged with liquor violations.

An investigation of the records at the county clerk's office this morning shows that Olaf I. Wallin and Margaret Brassard are bondsmen for Joseph Beauchamp, both "being duly sworn" and signing recognizance for the man.

Less Than Total Cost.

The bond is for $500, however, and Beauchamp's fine is $500 and $100 costs. If the bond is forfeited, there remains $100 in court costs to be paid.

The three Wallin brothers involved in recent arrests for violations of the liquor enforcement law went on each other's bonds, it is apparent from the signatures on the three recognizances filed with their cases for circuit court.

Louis Wallin was arrested and Emanuel Richer and Olaf I. Wallin went on his bond for $500. Olaf I. Wallin was arrested and John Iverson and Ivar Wallin went on his bond for $500. Otto Wallin's arrest and release after arraignment was effected and Emanuel Richer and Olaf I. Wallin went on his bond.

Failed to Appear.

Wallin's sudden departure from town was made known definitely when he failed to appear for a hearing before the United States commissioner Tuesday. Federal authorities probably will be on his trail shortly and bring him here for a hearing. Whether the bond posted for him will be forfeited remains to be seen.

DISREGARD LIENS ON SEIZED CARS

Under Ruling Olaf Wallin's Automobile May Be Held By Federal Agent.

That the federal agent who seized the Olaf I. Wallin automobile may disregard any liens on the automobile, because it was confiscated in a liquor seizure, is the opinion of John A. Grogan, revenue collector of Detroit. By the ruling, dealers selling machines on contract stand to lose their security. Mr. Grogan admits, however, that a test case might reverse his ruling.

The Wallin automobile, it is understood, was only partially paid for when it was seized, an Escanaba automobile dealer having sold it on contract.

The basis for his opinion, Mr. Grogan said, was the decision of the supreme court that a ship seized for violation of the revenue law could not be held by a mortgage or other lien. Recognition of such a lien it was held, would open the way to defeat the law.

Mr. Grogan was of the opinion, he said, that a dealer who sold a car and accepted the personal note of the purchaser might recover if the latter held other property.

Legion Plans For Election Tonight

Telegram Orders Dempsey's Arrest

RHODE ISLAND FILES SUIT TODAY; PROHIBITION LAW CHARGED TO BE VIOLATION OF STATE RIGHTS

"Destructive of State's Free And Independent Government Because It Deprives State of Revenue From Licenses."

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 4.—The state of New Jersey through its Attorney General Thomas S. McCrane today filed in the United States supreme court a suit seeking to have the prohibition amendment declared unconstitutional and to prevent enforcement of the Polstead act. The suit is directed against Attorney General Palmer and Daniel C. Roper, commissioner of internal revenue.

The bill sets forth that the amendment was improperly drawn, that in 21 states the legislatures have not ratified it as provided by their state constitutions and that there is no power in congress to propose a constitutional amendment regulating habits and morals of the people. It recites further that the amendment is a legislative and not a constitutional matter and that as such it was improperly passed.

M'NAUGHTAN POPULAR CHOICE

Political organizers in the upper peninsula are believed to have played a trump card in the selection of James McNaughtan, general manager of the Calumet and Hecla Mining Co., of Houghton, who is probably the most formidable candidate for delegate at large to the legislative convention.

There is a general disposition locally to accept Mr. McNaughtan's candidacy as the best selection to be made in the entire peninsula. He is a major factor in politics in this section of the state.

Not only will the copper country delegates be pulling for him, but there will be in the convention numerous leaders in other districts who will hasten to rally to his support on the theory that when the day comes when they will want something it will be excellent politics to have some grounds to go to McNaughtan on.

Aside from that, Mr. McNaughtan is conceded to be the best representative that the peninsula can send to the convention. In his judgment the people of the upper peninsula have the utmost confidence and the majority of the newspapers are sure to be with him.

He has been a life-long Republican and has taken a leading part in party councils and his supporters feel that he can be depended upon. His closer personal friends have complete confidence in promoting his candidacy and feel that the upper peninsula should be represented at the national convention by one of its most representative and best equipped republicans and they are urging his appointment as a man who possesses these qualifications.

SESSIONS HOLDS ENOUGH EVIDENCE

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., March 4.—Overruling all motions for further dismissal in the Newberry election conspiracy case, Judge Clarence W. Sessions today held that the conviction or acquittal of Truman H. Newberry would not necessarily mean a like outcome as to the other $84 men on trial with the United States senator.

The court held that the prosecution had made out a prima facie case and that there was ample evidence "to warrant a verdict of guilty if the jury sees fit to render one."

First testimony of the defense was heard at the afternoon session.

Train No. 101 Is Snowbound Today

North Western passenger train No. 101 was snowbound at Cascade Junction today for several hours, which delayed southbound trains, unable to pass until the northbound train was released.

Centralizes Authority.

It is charged that the amendment centralizes authority without consent of the people of New Jersey and that it is a violation of their sovereign rights. The Volstead act having enacted under authority of the amendment, the position as yet void.

It is claimed that the act is illegal because by imposing a taxable value of real property within the state, it deprives the state of revenue which in 1915 was $2,412,898, and because it with the internal government people and operates to put heavy fines, imprisonment and license for sale of non-beverages, which is against the laws of the state.

Restricts Physica

Complaint is made that the act restricts the practice of the state and federal penal, correctional and educational institutions, and that the state has no right of the state to regulate its internal affairs. It is claimed the act is not appropriate to enforce prohibition contained in an amendment which is expressly confined to intoxicating liquors.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—The House today refused by an overwhelming majority to repeal the prohibition enforcement act.

The measure was offered by Representative Egan, Democrat, New Jersey, as an amendment to the legislative executive and judicial appropriations measure, and Speaker Billett overruled a point of order against it. Mr. Egan also proposed elimination from the bill of an appropriation of $1,500,000 for enforcement of the dry act. Both proposals were defeated on one roll call.

READY TO HOLD BIG MEET SOON

Record Breaking Entry List Expected At Urbana.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
 URBANA, Ill., Mar. 4.—Definite preliminary plans for the third annual indoor Relay Carnival to be held at the University of Illinois on the evening of March 6 have been completed and all indications point to a record breaking entry list, including not only the universities and colleges of the middle west but also several of the more prominent eastern institutions.

Returns from the Conferences schools show that all of the Big Ten will send a large delegation to the Carnival. In addition, Nebraska, Wash. State, Notre Dame, Michigan State, and many other western schools have signified their intention of being represented in the relays.

Many Special Events.
 The individual events in the special events, 55 yard dash, 75 yard high and low hurdles, 100 yard pole vault, and shot put, will probably exceed the expectations of the University authorities for many reasons in view of the special features being included in the program. Competition in these events, especially the sprints and hurdles, promises to be of the keenest sort for the best of the short distance men of the west will be entered.

Six relays are on the schedule, four university relay, one college, and one interscholastic relay. The university relays include a one, two and four mile. The "Illinois mile" designed by Coach Harry Gill especially for this Carnival, is a combination of both the sprint and distance relays. It includes two quarter miles, a half, and a mile, and is specially adapted to those schools which have neither a good spring nor distance quartet but which have two good men in either one of the distances.

Greatest Competition.
 The all-around intercollegiate, open to any university in the country, will very likely bring out the greatest competition of the whole Carnival. It is quite probable that Bob LeGendre of Georgetown university winner of the University of Pennsylvania pentathlon, and considered by most experts as the foremost all-around athlete in the country today, will compete in this event against the stars of the west.

The all-round is strictly an Illinois Institution, inaugurated by Coach Gill at the Relay Carnival of 1917 for indoor competition. It includes a 75 yard dash, 75 yard high hurdles, high jump, broad jump, pole vault, shot put, and a 580 yard run. The scoring is on the percentage basis, similar to that used by the American Amateur Union, figured by means of a comparative table.

RICKEY'S CAMP IS PROVING A 'FIND'

Guarantee of $10,000 For Ten Games Is Signed By Texas Folks.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
 BROWNSVILLE, Tex., Mar. 4.—It remained for Branch Rickey, manager of the St. Louis Nationals, to discover that way down in extreme southern Texas, nestling along the Rio Grande, there is a spring training ground for major league baseball clubs that may prove a real "find."

Rickey, accompanied by Connie Mack, came to Brownsville last fall in doubt. He left with a contract for the Cardinals spring training camp here, and so for the first time in major league history a club will train in Texas as south of Houston and San Antonio. The local association guaranteed a 100,000 dollar exhibition game, a change in the exhibition game schedule will give the valley two games, principally between the Cardinals and Philadelphia Athletics, who are training at Lake Charles, La.

It is possible where the Cardinals will work out the playing field has been in its condition under direction of Frank Hill, an old time professional who in the late '90s played in various parts of the country, but principally with the Southern League.

The schedule of games between the Cardinals and the Athletics calls for three games between the teams at Brownsville, March 6, 7 and 14, and one game at San Benito, March 11. The Cardinals and Athletics play at Mercedes, March 16; at Pharr, March 17; at San Benito, March 18, 21 and 25; at Donna, March 19; at Brownsville, March 20, 24 and 27; and at McAllen, March 22 and 23.

Michigan Varsity Track Team Hustles

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
 ANN ARBOR, Mich., Mar. 4.—Sixty aspirants to Michigan's track team are being tried out by Coach Farrell. With two exceptions these include all of last year's regulars, Captain Sedgwick and "Pat" Smith being the only member of last year's squad missing this season.

The loss of Sedgwick, however, has left a big gap in the Maize and Blue long distance department. The team promises to be strong in the dashes, hurdles, jumps and weights, but no predictions are being made concerning its prospects in the mile and two mile events.

According to Coach Farrell, Carl Johnson, Michigan's all-around star from Spokane, this year will specialize in the hurdles and will be kept out of the sprints.

Protest Blanket Tax to Finance Athletics

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
 MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 4.—Proposal for a blanket tax on students of the University of Minnesota to finance the leading student activities, has elicited sharp protest from the athletic association. The association takes the position that athletic activities would be sharply reduced.

The proposal is that each student should pay $6.50 and would receive an athletic ticket, good for admission to all contests and would receive the university publications. The athletic association would get $2.25. Athletic tickets, under the present arrangement, sell for $5.00 to the student.

Nebraska Wants To Be In Conference

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
 LINCOLN, Neb., March 4.—The University of Nebraska is to seek readmission to the Missouri Valley Athletic conference, the board of regents of the university decided recently. Application, will be sent to the Valley board of control when it meets late this spring. Nebraska withdrew from the conference last year because of conflict with valley rules requiring that no conference team shall play on any but a conference gridiron. Nebraska desired to play an annual game at Omaha.

The Aggies expect to have a team at the third annual indoor relay carnival at Urbana, Illinois, March 6th.

HARD BATTLE AT TOURNEY IS SEEN

Pick of Best Basketball Quintets to Battle For Nation's Title.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
 CHICAGO, Mar. 4.—Teams which will be invited to compete in the Second Annual Basketball Interscholastic of the University of Chicago on March 18, 19 and 20 will be selected shortly, and as most of the strong five already have submitted records, a hard fought tournament should result. Other records of both high school and academy teams will be considered if submitted immediately, so that the pick of the best five of the country will fight for the national title. Teams from Louisiana, Arkansas, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Missouri, and eleven other states have submitted records and asked for invitations.

The Conshatta, La., team, with a total of 292 points to 77 for their opponents so far this season; Stivers High, of Toledo, with a record of 16 straight victories; Jonesboro, Ark., undefeated so far this year, and holder of the state title since 1917; and Crawfordsville, Ind., undefeated this year, and recently winner of the Tri-State Tournament at Cincinnati, have asked for invitations and probably will be invited to compete.

A preliminary round for teams of the Chicago district will be played on March 12, when the best five of that section will fight for the right to enter the national competition.

Individual trophies and team prizes will be given to the teams finishing first and second in both the high school and academy sections.

The Muriel Cigar and City teams rolled in big league fashion last night when the City team copped the contest with 2,747 pins, just 31 pins more than the total hung up by the cigar representatives. Two of the three games were won by the Muriels, but a big lead in the second game gave the City team the edge for total pins.

ESCANABA READY FOR IRON RIVER

Battle "Whiskey Rebellion" High School Here Tomorrow Evening.

When the Escanaba High quintet goes on the floor tomorrow night in practice opening its game with the Iron River High school organization, four of the five regulars will wear new sweaters, which were purchased by men of the city and presented to the football team. Christensen is the only basket ball regular who didn't play football last fall.

The publicity given Iron River by Major Dalrymple and his "whiskey rebellion" hasn't put the Iron River team in a position where they are coming here with swelled heads, according to reports from the western part of the peninsula.

Just how the Escanaba team lines up with Iron River is hard to tell. Nothing is known with regard to Iron River's record this fall, but the Esky crowd is confident of winning, especially on the home floor.

Traps Hens, So He Cannot Be Fooled

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Mar. 4.—A bell rang in the kitchen of the home of Robert W. Maxton of this city, and was followed by the cackling of a proud hen.

"There's someone at the door," a visitor suggested.
 "Oh, no," replied Mr. Maxton. "One of my hens has just laid an egg."
 Mr. Maxton tired of supporting hens that would not lay, he explained, so he installed "trick nests" in his henery.

When a hen enters a nest, a door closes and imprisons the fowl until released by the owner. In this way Mr. Maxton ascertains what hens are laying the eggs.

An electric alarm is connected to the doors of the nests, and when a hen seeks exit by pressing against one of the doors, the bell in the kitchen rings.

The plan has worked successfully for the past several months, Mr. Maxton said, and there have been no false alarms.

"Gets-It" Loosens Them So They Lift Off In A Jiffy.

The corn pains cease as soon as a few drops of "Gets-It" reach the corn. It goes out of the hurting business forever.

For a day or so the corn remains, getting looser and looser and without a twinge from it. Then, it gets so loose that you just lift it right off, without even feeling it, and cast it away. That's how easily and simply "Gets-It" dispenses of the corn nuisance.

"Gets-It," the unflinching, guaranteed, moneyback corn remover, costs but a trifle at any drug store. Mfg. by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

HUSBANDS ARE SO CARELESS

ASSERTS 2-GUN MEN STILL ROAM PRAIRIES

Accused Ranger Says They Are "Very Handy."

LOS ANGELES, March 4.—Do two-gun men exist? Emmet Dalton, notorious bandit, who is here to act in films, says No. Roy Woods, a ranger on the wild region between the Mojave and Colorado Deserts, where cattle herders ride with rifles and revolvers at their sides, says Yes. Woods will stand trial at San Bernardino because of his proficiency with firearms. He and his father, Pat Woods, are charged with assaulting "Bob" Holliman, another cattlemen, with a deadly weapon. A grin came to the face of the cow-puncher as he heard the statement of Dalton, for he shoots with both hands at the same time or shifts one gun from his left to his right hand, or vice versa. But he is modest and he spoke not of himself, but of his friend Tom Turner. "Tom was a two-gun man," said Woods. "He could shoot with either hand or both, and either backward or forward. But he has left the country."

The House of Whispers

WILLIAM JOHNSTON

Finally they gave it up and locked me in a cell for the night, leaving me thankful that the honor of being a suspected murderer relieved me from sharing a cell with some of the frowsy prisoners I saw brought past my barred door.

"Haven't you any friends you would like to have notified?" was the last question they asked as they left me. "I have nothing to say," I repeated once more.

Nor was this answer this time mere stubbornness. Who was there that I could notify of my plight? Birge and Roller, my two intimates, were somewhere on the high seas. The men whom I had known in the office where I had worked, for obvious reasons, were not to be called on. I had no idea of the whereabouts of my aged relatives beyond the fact that they were somewhere in Maine.

I had no intention whatever of communicating the fact of my arrest to my mother. Indeed, I was hoping that she would not hear of it until after my innocence was established.

I thought of Gorman. I would have been glad of his counsel, but I remembered that I did not know where he lived. He had told me he was giving up his position at the hotel. It would be useless to try to find him until morning.

Yet in spite of my apparent friendliness, although to all appearances there was no one in New York to whom I could turn in this time of trouble, it was a wonderful comfort to feel that I was sure of one staunch friend—Barbara Bradford.

self. There was nothing for me to do but to sit tight and take my plight as philosophically as I could until I could get in touch with Gorman. As soon as it was morning, I bribed a jail attendant to bring me a morning newspaper. On the first page I found an account of the murder under glaring headlines and read it with intense interest, my conviction growing with each line that I read that the police case against me was far better backed up than I ever imagined it could be.

Then and there I made up my mind never again to believe anything on purely circumstantial evidence. No one knew better than I how utterly innocent I was of that crime, how upright my conduct in New York had been, and how honest my motives for all my recent actions had been, yet this is what I read in the newspaper:

BURGLAR MURDERS WELL-KNOWN ACTRESS

Marks on Throat Where Murderer Had Choked Her

Police Arrest John S. Nelson, a Clerk, Out of Work, in Whose Rooms They Found a Revolver.

Daisy Lutan, an actress, whose matrimonial affairs recently brought her much notoriety, was found last night murdered in her apartment in the Granddeck. She had been instantly killed by a bullet wound through the heart, and there were marks on her throat where her assailant had tried to choke her. John S. Nelson, a clerk out of work, who had been acting as caretaker for one of the tenants in the building, was arrested.

There was blood on his coat when Detectives Cullen and Edwards took him prisoner, and they found in his room a revolver with one chamber empty hidden under a pile of shirts in the dresser.

The apartment Nelson is occupying is directly above that of Miss Lutan. The police theory is that Nelson let himself into the apartment by swinging down from his window, and that Miss Lutan, returning unexpectedly, found him ransacking her rooms.

The crime was discovered by James Wick, superintendent of the apartment house, who was in the elevator when he heard screams followed by a shot. Getting out of the elevator to investigate he found Nelson at the door of the Lutan apartment.

Nelson glibly explained that he had heard a shot and was trying to see where it had come from. Mr. Wick's suspicions were aroused by his manner, and he made Nelson come with him into the apartment and kept him there until the arrival of the police.

Little is known at the Granddeck about young Nelson, and he stubbornly refuses to make any statement about himself. He was employed only a few days ago by Rufus Gaston as caretaker for his apartment. As Mr. Gaston is absent from the city it cannot be learned how he happened to give Nelson employment. The police believe he may have obtained the position through false references in order to gain an opportunity to loot the apartments in the building.

Superintendent Wick had ascertained that Nelson was once employed by a shipping firm in the Wall street district but had been discredibly discharged. His former employer confirmed this, but would say nothing about Nelson beyond stating that he had been discharged for cause.

Although Nelson was not over well supplied with money he had been seen recently ordering elaborate meals in some of the most expensive restaurants. Miss Nellie Kelly, the telephone girl at the Granddeck, reported that only the night before Nelson had taken her to dinner, ordering champagne and hiring taxicabs, and had tried to pump her about the tenants in the building.

The one fact that stuck out in the whole article that seemed of vast importance to me was the fact that Wick had informed the police that I had been discredibly discharged from my last place of employment. How did he know that? Certainly I had not told him. I had told no one of the occurrence except Barbara Bradford, and I was sure she had not revealed it to anyone.

It was indubitable proof to me that Wick, or someone with whom he was conniving, had been having me shadowed. Even my great-uncle Rufus did not know where my place of employment was. Evidently the plot to discredit me had begun the day I arrived at the Granddeck. I had been discharged on account of some mysterious note my employer had received. I began now to believe that Wick must have had me followed to my place of business and to have sent that note for the express purpose of bringing about my discharge. But why? That was the puzzle.

As I pondered over it I decided that my chance meeting with Barbara Bradford in the park had upset the plans of a blackmailing band, and that they were avenging themselves on me for my unwitting part. I was certain that Wick and Lefty Moore's wife were in connivance with them, and that the gang possibly included Claire Bradford's ex-husband. Wick had a passport that enabled him to enter the Lutan apartment. Undoubtedly he could also enter mine as well. But Wick could have nothing to do with the planting of the revolver in my rooms. I was positive about that. He had not been out of my sight for a moment from the time that we had discovered the body. The only way that it seemed possible to involve him in that was on the theory of a prearranged plot to make me appear the murderer. Was it possible that Claire Bradford had participated in this? I knew she had been in my rooms after the murder. It must have been she who put the revolver there.

One of the detectives who had arrested me appeared at my cell door. "Come along," he commanded gruffly.

As I came out I was again shackled and led to the patrol wagon that was waiting. I had supposed that I was being taken to court to be arraigned, but such was not the case. I found myself at police headquarters, where both my photograph and my fingerprints were taken. I refrained from giving any information about myself, beyond giving my name and age, being careful to have my name recorded as John S. Nelson. Out in my home town everybody for years had known me by my middle name "Spaulding," and I was hopeful that they might fail to identify me if they read anything about me.

When everything that might serve to identify me had been recorded, I was taken into a large room where perhaps half a hundred men were assembled, most of them wearing masks. I looked about with curiosity. I had read of this ceremony. I was being "lined up" before the members of the city's detective force to see if any of them could identify me and to give them an opportunity to familiarize themselves with my features in case it should ever be necessary to arrest me again.

"Never saw him before," I heard one of them say. "Guess he must be a western crook."

"He's no amateur," said another. "That job up at the Granddeck was done by a professional."

Many slighting comments were made, too, on my personal appearance. I learned for the first time that I had a "bad ear," and that my eyes were shifty. The only emotion these comments aroused in me was a feeling of pity, not for myself but for all poor unfortunates who fall afoul of the law. Even though a man is presumed to be innocent until he has been convicted I had observed that since the first moment of my arrest everybody had taken it for granted that I must be guilty and had treated me with little respect or consideration.

From headquarters I was taken to the police court and without further delay brought before a magistrate.

"John S. Nelson, arrested for the murder of Daisy Lutan," said the detective.

"Have you counsel?" asked the magistrate.

"No," I replied.

Bolsheviki Paying High For Art; Get Many New Pictures

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS) LONDON, March 4.—"Art" so far as the production of pictures is concerned, is said to have had a great boom in Bolsheviki Russia owing to the fact that the government pays a liberal amount for all works approved by official experts.

The whole domain of art has been placed under the control of a council of seven members, four of whom are apostles of futurism. Artists' earnings have been increased through a rule established by the council under which all pictures that pass the judges are to be paid for at the uniform rate of 7,000 rubles each.

Whether the artist has devoted months of assiduous labor to a picture or whether it is a daub which has taken a few hours to paint, the recompense is the same. With such encouragement the number of artists in Russia is increasing rapidly.

MOTHER LOSES LIFE BUT SAVES CHILD'S

Throws Babe To Safety When Hit By Train.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 4.—After throwing her three-months-old baby girl to safety, Mrs. Richard Mansfield, Oakland, was instantly killed when she was struck by a Southern Pacific electric train at Havenscourt station, Oakland.

Mrs. Mansfield was standing on an eastbound car track talking to Carl B. Pineo, a mail carrier, when, according to witnesses, she stepped in front of a rapidly approaching train on the westbound track.

Pineo made an effort to save Mrs. Mansfield, but her foot had apparently been caught between the rails.

Realizing that she could not save herself, Mrs. Mansfield cried, "Save my baby," and tossed the little tot to the concrete station platform as the car struck her. The baby was taken to a nearby drug store and was found to have a fractured skull. From there the child was taken to the family home and a trained nurse and doctor called to attend it, but little hope was held out that it would live.

Mrs. Mansfield's body was dragged beneath the wheels of the train. She had been shopping in Oakland and was returning home to cook her husband's supper when the accident occurred.

"Miss Maggie" To Oppose Liberals

"Miss Maggie," as she is generally called, is reported to be one of the most capable women in the Labor movement. She is an able speaker and has helped to organize the Women's Co-operative movement.

MENOMINEE VOTES Daylight Saving

MENOMINEE—By an overwhelming majority, the daylight saving law was passed in the Menominee council at its regular session Monday evening.

Alderman Dunlap was the originator of the suggestion having brought a number of pamphlets and figures to the council room in preparation of putting up a stiff fight.

"Be Prepared," was his motto but before the council it was voted upon with the result that 13 were for it while only one vote against it. The motion called for the time pieces of Menominee to be set back one hour starting with the last Sunday in April and ending with the last Sunday in September. The city attorney was instructed to prepare an ordinance to this effect and present it at the next meeting of the council.

Alderman Toddish registered the only dissenting vote claiming that it was not practical and stating that the majority of the laborers were against it. The majority ruled it being announced by one of the aldermen that so far no one had objected except the farmer. The provision is purely a moral support of the evident prevalence of the movement throughout the country at present.

THE PRIMER OF THAT RUSSIAN DEAL.

Human nature is about the same the world over, whether in Peking or Peoria. For instance, all the world over most people buy when they can get most for their money. The Russian who scants with this as his basic assumption can't go far wrong in his conclusions. Even the diplomatist can't get around this fact.

Apply this now to the important fact of the present day. That the Russians have decided to open trade with the darkest Russia. Russia has raw materials to sell which the Allied countries in Europe simply must get hold of. Of course they might buy these things of us. And they would buy them of us but for the fact that our money still goes at par.

But their money is no longer worth what it once was worth. The English pound sterling which used to buy $1.85 worth of flour or sugar over here, now buys $3.38 worth. The French franc which used to be worth 19.3 cents, will buy only 6 cents worth in this country. The German mark, which used to be worth 23.8 cents in this country, will not buy even a penny paper since these have gone up to 2 cents. Consequently it does not pay any of these foreigners to buy of us if they can buy elsewhere. They would be throwing away even what little money they have left.

And so they turn to Russia. The ruble, which is coin of the realm there, worth about 50 cents in its prime, has sunk so low in value that it isn't even quoted in the exchange rates. On the basis of the present value of the ruble an American $20 gold piece would buy almost anything in Russia. The English pound, shrewdly invested in Russian wheat or sugar, will bring the investor returns on his money which he could not dream of getting here. The franc has an equal advantage in Russia; and even the shrunken and decrepit German mark still perhaps retains a fraction of its former value on the counters of the mad Muscovites.

Now the Russian must be anxious to sell because we know he is anxious to buy; trade relations with other countries mean much to him. And since these others are forced to buy, what is more natural than that they should take advantage of the difference in exchange rates, and establish trade relations with the Russians? We can understand that without foot notes and comments from secretive diplomats. It is all accounted for in the very human desire to buy where we can get most for our money.

WHICH ROAD FOR LABOR?

The right of labor to organize and the collateral right of collective bargaining are no longer in controversy. These rights have been recognized not only by the courts of law but by that greatest court of all—public opinion. Nevertheless organized labor stands today at the parting of the ways, listen to any group of citizens anywhere on the street, in cars and hotel lobbies—and you will be convinced of the fact. Labor, conducting a victorious offensive for so long, is now on the defensive.

This is unfortunate, but the cause is not far to seek. Labor has been put in the position—either through radical leaders or inherent radicalism—of converting collective bargaining into the old game of "Heads I win, tails you lose." Labor with some notable exceptions, has been alert to make bargains but loath to keep them if they proved bad; and to such a pass has this reprehensible practice come that certain unions no longer take the trouble to apologize for contract-breaking.

The world's business is done on credit and "credit" is only a commercial rendering of "faith." Nobody of men, any more than an individual, can hope to prosper through faithlessness. They may have all else in their favor, but if they fail to keep the faith, the public will have none of

OUTBURSTS OF EVERETT TRUE By Condo

HERE, TAKE YOUR TRAY AND RETIRE TO THE FOOT OF THE LINE WHERE YOU BELONG AND DON'T TRY TO ROOT IN AHEAD OF YOUR TURN!! THIS IS A CAFETERIA COUNTER, NOT A HOG TROUGH!!!

This is the heyday for radicalism. The whole world seems, in many respects, to have sloughed off its sense of responsibility, and labor unions have naturally suffered likewise. It is scarcely to be expected that they will find their poise before the rest of humanity find theirs.

Yet, excluding morality from consideration and bearing expediency only in mind, it will be far better for labor to make its ward as good as its bond and to suffer temporary hardship through abiding by its contracts than to gain a little in the way of wages and working conditions through breaking them.

MAY HAVE OPTION ON WAR BONUSES

Four-In-One Gift Plan For Service Men May Pass.

Ex-service men will be allowed to choose individually from four separate types of government benefit if plans submitted to congress by the American Legion are accepted. John G. Emery, of Grand Rapids, a member of the state executive committee and of the national beneficial legislation committee of the American Legion has returned from Washington and has announced to Michigan posts that a definite program of legislation has been approved by the committee and will be given to congress for action.

Four Bonus Features.

The four bonus features from which war veterans will probably be allowed to choose are:
Land settlement covering all states.
Home and to encourage purchase of either rural or city homes.
Vocational education for all ex-service persons.
Adjustment of compensation or extra pay for services, based on length of service.

The first two features would be in the nature of government loans. By their provisions money would be lent by the government to aid in building homes either in cities or in rural districts. Long time settlement will be allowed.
The second two features will be purely in the nature of gifts. Through them the government would undertake to give to ex-service men and women, irrespective of physical condition, thorough courses in vocational training along whatever lines they choose, or cash or bond gifts of money based on the length of individual service in land or water forces.
Is Legion Compromise.
This four-in-one legislative program as recommended to congress by the American Legion, is in the nature of a compromise between the various factions in the legion itself and is regarded with favor by Congressman Joseph W. Fordney and other members of the legislature. It is believed congress will adopt a measure embracing these features within a short time.

SEA TRIPS LACK OLD HARDSHIPS

Instead Seamen Sniff Salt Water in Staunch Steel Vessels.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
GALVESTON, Tex., Mar. 4.—Men who go to sea no longer are obliged to undergo the discomforts and hardships attendant upon a seafaring life in the past, says Captain O. J. Christensen, manager of the United States Shipping Board's Sea Service Bureau at this port. Instead they sniff salt water in staunch steel vessels, sleep in clean quarters and have access to wholesome recreation rooms. Wages are high and the prospects for promotion are good.

Since November 1, 1919, more than 2,200 men have been placed in crews of outbound vessels here. Nearly 10 per cent of this number were signed on as officers of different ratings. Since February 1, so great has been the number of officers and men applying for billets that the local bureau has been obliged to ask assistance of the new Orleans office in placing the men. Newcomers signed on here are given choice of four ratings, ordinary seamen, messmen and coal passers.

ASSERTS 2-GUN MEN STILL ROAM PRAIRIES

Accused Ranger Says They Are "Very Handy."

LOS ANGELES, March 4.—Do two-gun men exist? Emmet Dalton, notorious bandit, who is here to act in films, says No. Roy Woods, a ranger on the wild region between the Mojave and Colorado Deserts, where cattle herders ride with rifles and revolvers at their sides, says Yes. Woods will stand trial at San Bernardino because of his proficiency with firearms. He and his father, Pat Woods, are charged with assaulting "Bob" Holliman, another cattleman, with a deadly weapon. A grin came to the face of the cow-puncher as he heard the statement of Dalton, for he shoots with both hands at the same time or shifts one gun from his left to his right hand, or vice versa. But he is modest and he spoke not of himself, but of his friend Tom Turner. "Tom was a two-gun man," said Woods. "He could shoot with either hand or both, and either backward or forward. But he has left the country." Woods is charged with duelling. The stage was set for the fray July 2, 1919, when "Bob" Holliman, a neighbor cattleman, rode along the desert, driving a herd of cattle to the railroad. Pat and Roy Woods, range riders for the Rock Springs Land & Cattle Co., approached Holliman at a gallop and began a conversation which ended with revolver and rifle shots. Holliman's gun jammed and he galloped away.

Finally they gave it up and locked me in a cell for the night, leaving me thankful that the honor of being a suspected murderer relieved me from sharing a cell with some of the frowsy prisoners I saw brought past my barred door. "Haven't you any friends you would like to have notified?" was the last question they asked as they left me. "I have nothing to say," I repeated once more. Nor was this answer this time mere stubbornness. Who was there that I could notify of my plight? Birge and Roller, my two intimates, were somewhere on the high seas. The men whom I had known in the office where I had worked, for obvious reasons, were not to be called on. I had no idea of the whereabouts of my aged relatives beyond the fact that they were somewhere in Maine. I had no intention whatever of communicating the fact of my arrest to my mother. Indeed, I was hoping that she would not hear of it until after my innocence was established. I thought of Gorman. I would have been glad of his counsel, but I remembered that I did not know where he lived. He had told me he was giving up his position at the hotel. It would be useless to try to find him until morning. Yet in spite of my apparent friendlessness, although to all appearances there was no one in New York to whom I could turn in this time of trouble, it was a wonderful comfort to feel that I was sure of one staunch friend—Barbara Bradford. Although we had been acquainted but a few days, and although hardly a word of love had passed between us, I knew that her feeling for me already was something greater than friendship. I knew that she trusted me and that she would remain faithful in her affection for me, no matter what accusations were brought against me. I had been madly in love with her from almost the first time I saw her. Whatever happened, I must keep her out of it. I must find some means of warning her to say nothing to any one. I knew that her first impulse as soon as she heard of my arrest would be to come to my rescue, regardless of the fact that in establishing an alibi for me, she would be blasting her own reputation. Under no circumstances, even if I was convicted, must she be permitted to speak. No explanation can account for the presence of a young girl alone in a man's rooms at eleven o'clock at night, even though she and I both knew how utterly undeserving of censure her presence there was and how important had been her motive in coming there. Mention of Barbara's name in any way in connection with a murder case would be certain to wreck her sister's matrimonial plans. It would mean the ruin of her mother's ambitions and the unmasking of the parlous condition of her finances. It would mean that the reproaches of her mother and sister would be heaped on my Barbara's poor head. I was still unsatisfied in my own mind as to just what part Claire Bradford was playing in the web of mystery about us. She was emotional and flighty, given to doing rash things. I felt that there was a strong possibility that relations with her ex-husband had been in some way re-established. I felt at times that she was being used as a tool by the conspirators in the Granddeck mysteries. If Claire was involved in any way, it behooved me to move carefully lest she should be betrayed in my efforts to clear myself.

There was nothing for me to do but to sit tight and take my plight as philosophically as I could until I could get in touch with Gorman. As soon as it was morning, I bribed a jail attendant to bring me a morning newspaper. On the first page I found an account of the murder under glaring headlines and read it with intense interest, my conviction growing with each line that I read that the police case against me was far better backed up than I ever imagined it could be. Then and there I made up my mind never again to believe anything on purely circumstantial evidence. No one knew better than I how utterly innocent I was of that crime, how upright my conduct in New York had been, and how honest my motives for all my recent actions had been. Yet this is what I read in the newspaper:

BURGLAR MURDERS WELL-KNOWN ACTRESS

Marks on Throat Where Murderer Had Choked Her

Daisy Lutan, an actress, whose matrimonial affairs recently brought her much notoriety, was found last night murdered in her apartment in the Granddeck. She had been instantly killed by a bullet wound through the heart, and there were marks on her throat where her assailant had tried to choke her. John S. Nelson, a clerk out of work, who had been acting as caretaker for one of the tenants in the building, was arrested. There was blood on his coat when Detectives Cullen and Edwards took him prisoner, and they found in his room a revolver with one chamber empty hidden under a pile of shirts in the dresser. The apartment Nelson is occupying is directly above that of Miss Lutan. The police theory is that Nelson let himself down from the apartment by swinging down from his window, and that Miss Lutan, returning unexpectedly, found him ransacking her rooms. The crime was discovered by James Wick, superintendent of the apartment house, who was in the elevator when he heard screams followed by a shot. Getting out of the elevator to investigate he found Nelson at the door of the Lutan apartment. Nelson glibly explained that he had heard a shot and was trying to see where it had come from. Mr. Wick's suspicions were aroused by his manner, and he made Nelson come with him into the apartment and kept him there until the arrival of the police. Little is known at the Granddeck about young Nelson, and he stubbornly refuses to make any statement about himself. He was employed only a few days ago by Rufus Gaston as caretaker for his apartment. As Mr. Gaston is absent from the city it cannot be learned how he happened to give Nelson employment. The police believe he may have obtained the position through false references in order to gain an opportunity to loot the apartments in the building. Superintendent Wick had ascertained that Nelson was once employed by a shipping firm in the Wall street district but had been discredibly discharged. His former employer confirmed this, but would say nothing about Nelson beyond stating that he had been discharged for cause. Although Nelson was not over well supplied with money he had been seen recently ordering elaborate meals in some of the most expensive restaurants. Miss Nellie Kelly, the telephone girl at the Granddeck, reported that only the night before Nelson had taken her to dinner, ordering champagne and hiring taxicabs, and had tried to pump her about the tenants in the building. The one fact that stuck out in the whole article that seemed of vast importance to me was the fact that Wick had informed the police that I had been discredibly discharged from my last place of employment. How did he know that? Certainly I had not told him. I had told no one of the occurrence except Barbara Bradford, and I was sure she had not revealed it to anyone.

It was indubitable proof to me that Wick, or someone with whom he was confiding, had been having me shadowed. Even my great-uncle Rufus did not know where my place of employment was. Evidently the plot to discredit me had begun the day I arrived at the Granddeck. I had been discharged on account of some mysterious note my employer had received. I began now to believe that Wick must have had me followed to my place of business and to have sent that note for the express purpose of bringing about my discharge. But why? That was the puzzle. As I pondered over it I decided that my chance meeting with born Bradford in the park had upset the plans of a blackmailing band, and that they were avenging themselves on me for my unwitting part. I was certain that Wick and Lefty Moore's wife were in connivance with them, and that the gang possibly included Claire Bradford's ex-husband. Wick had a passport that enabled him to enter the Lutan apartment. Undoubtedly he could also enter mine as well. But Wick could have nothing to do with the planting of the revolver in my rooms. I was positive about that. He had not been out of my sight for a single moment from the time that we had discovered the body. The only way that it seemed possible to involve him in that was on the theory of a prearranged plot to make me appear the murderer. Was it possible that Claire Bradford had participated in this? I knew she had been in my rooms after the murder. It must have been she who put the revolver there. One of the detectives who had arrested me appeared at my cell door. "Come along," he commanded gruffly. As I came out I was again shackled and led to the patrol wagon that was waiting. I had supposed that I was being taken to court to be arraigned, but such was not the case. I found myself at police headquarters, where both my photograph and my fingerprints were taken. I refrained from giving any information about myself, beyond giving my name and age, being careful to have my name recorded as John S. Nelson. Out in my home town everybody for years had known me by my middle name "Spaulding," and I was hopeful that they might fail to identify me if they read anything about me. When everything that might serve to identify me had been recorded, I was taken into a large room where perhaps half a hundred men were assembled, most of them wearing masks. I looked about with curiosity. I had read of this ceremony. I was being "lined up" before the members of the city's detective force to see if any of them could identify me and to give them an opportunity to familiarize themselves with my features in case it should ever be necessary to arrest me again. "Never saw him before," I heard one of them say. "Guess he must be a western crook." "He's no amateur," said another. "That job up at the Granddeck was done by a professional." Many slighting comments were made, too, on my personal appearance. I learned for the first time that I had a "bad ear," and that my eyes were shifty. The only emotion these comments aroused in me was a feeling of pity, not for myself but for all poor unfortunates who fall afoul of the law. Even though a man is presumed to be innocent until he has been convicted I had observed that since the first moment of my arrest everybody had taken it for granted that I must be guilty and had treated me with little respect or consideration. From headquarters I was taken to the police court and without further delay brought before a magistrate. "John S. Nelson, arrested for the murder of Daisy Lutan," said the detective. "Have you counsel?" asked the magistrate. "No," I replied. To Be Continued

Throws Babe To Safety When Hit By Train.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 4.—After throwing her three-months-old baby girl to safety, Mrs. Richard Mansfield, Oakland, was instantly killed when she was struck by a Southern Pacific electric train at Havenscourt station, Oakland. Mrs. Mansfield was standing on an eastbound car track talking to Carl B. Pineo, a mail carrier, when, according to witnesses, she stepped in front of a rapidly approaching train on the westbound track. Pineo made an effort to save Mrs. Mansfield, but her foot had apparently been caught between the rails. Realizing that she could not save herself, Mrs. Mansfield cried, "Save my baby," and tossed the little tot to the concrete station platform as the car struck her. The baby was taken to a nearby drug store and was found to have a fractured skull. From there the child was taken to the family home and a trained nurse and doctor called to attend it, but little hope was held out that it would live. Mrs. Mansfield's body was dragged beneath the wheels of the train. She had been shopping in Oakland and was returning home to cook her husband's supper when the accident occurred.

Throws Babe To Safety When Hit By Train.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 4.—After throwing her three-months-old baby girl to safety, Mrs. Richard Mansfield, Oakland, was instantly killed when she was struck by a Southern Pacific electric train at Havenscourt station, Oakland. Mrs. Mansfield was standing on an eastbound car track talking to Carl B. Pineo, a mail carrier, when, according to witnesses, she stepped in front of a rapidly approaching train on the westbound track. Pineo made an effort to save Mrs. Mansfield, but her foot had apparently been caught between the rails. Realizing that she could not save herself, Mrs. Mansfield cried, "Save my baby," and tossed the little tot to the concrete station platform as the car struck her. The baby was taken to a nearby drug store and was found to have a fractured skull. From there the child was taken to the family home and a trained nurse and doctor called to attend it, but little hope was held out that it would live. Mrs. Mansfield's body was dragged beneath the wheels of the train. She had been shopping in Oakland and was returning home to cook her husband's supper when the accident occurred.

Comfy Hat Bandeau.
 When your hat is too large in the crown a bandeau will make it fit comfortably. Take a piece of ribbon or silk the proper color and make a straight strip two inches wide, having a quarter inch run in one edge. Sew the straight edge to the hat where the crown lining begins, and run a small rubber elastic in the run to draw it up the desired size. This will make a much softer bandeau than the bought ones.

STRIKE SITUATION STILL UNCHANGED

More Than 100 Men of Marinette Box Factory Remain Off Job.

MENOMINEE—The strike situation at the Republic Box Company in Marinette remains the same. The men, numbering about 180, are still out, and according to a statement made last night by members of the committee they will remain out until the demands are settled.

According to the statement made today by the committee, the main trouble is as follows: Some few weeks ago the men struck for a general increase in wages, that is, 50 cents a day increase for boy's labor. The company refused to grant this increase, and the men walked out.

Several days later the men returned to work, when the officials of the company agreed to sign a contract calling for this general increase. It was put in written form and the officials of the company were given ten days in which to sign it, which was promised.

When the ten days had expired and the committee had not received word from the company advising them that they had signed, James Jandro, secretary of the Timber Workers union called the manager of the Marinette plant and asked him if he intended to sign the contract.

Mr. Jandro was informed that the Marinette manager had not had time to communicate with officials in Chicago. The matter was dropped for the present, and the men agreed to wait until payday when they could then ascertain whether their demands had been granted or not.

When the pay checks were issued, some of the men had been granted the increase while others had not. They appealed to the officials of the company.

DRINK HOT WATER BEFORE BREAKFAST

Says you really feel clean, sweet and fresh inside, and are seldom ill.

If you are accustomed to wake up with a coated tongue, foul breath or a dull, dizzy headache; or, if your meals sour and turn into gas and acids, you have a real surprise awaiting you.

To-morrow morning, immediately upon arising, drink a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This is intended to first neutralize and then wash out of your stomach, liver, kidneys and thirty feet of intestines all the indigestible waste, poisons, sour bile and toxins, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal.

Those subject to sick headaches, backache, bilious attacks, constipation or any form of stomach trouble, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store and begin enjoying this morning inside-bath. It is said that men and women who try this become enthusiastic and keep it up daily. It is a splendid health measure for it is more important to keep clean and pure on the inside than on the outside, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing disease, while the bowel pores do.

The principle of bathing inside is not new, as millions of people practice it. Just as hot water and soap cleanse, purify and freshen the skin, so hot water and a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Limestone phosphate is an inexpensive white powder and almost tasteless.

EQUITABLE LIFE SHOWS GAINS

The sixtieth annual statement of the Equitable Life Assurance society of the United States gives evidence of the company's continued progress. The new insurance in 1919 totalled $454,839,000 and the outstanding insurance reached the $2,270,000,000 mark on December 31st. $73,900,000 was paid to policyholders and beneficiaries in death claims, matured endowments, dividends, annuities, etc., during the year. The average policy issued was $3,229, as against $2,743 in 1918. A large increase was made in the number of policies payable on the monthly income plan, as well as those taken to protect business interests and to provide for inheritance taxes. Of the total new insurance issued $79,573,000 was group insurance for the protection of employees of several hundred mercantile and manufacturing establishments, for which all premiums were paid by the employers. Notwithstanding a heavy increase in the number of claims handled early in the year due to the influenza epidemic, 97 per cent of the total was paid within 24 hours after receipt of proofs of death.

Hints to Housewives

Celery tops may be used in soup.

A northern exposure is best for a kitchen.

Green soap is very good for shampooing.

Narrow loaf pans insure thorough baking.

Use raisins in puddings whenever possible.

Dried vegetables should be well cooked and rubbed through a sieve before putting into a cream soup.

Leaf effects are especially popular now for table linens and of these the handsomest is the oak leaf design.

After you have ironed the collar band on a shirt, try a pincher clothes pin to hold the band in shape instead of a button; it's much quicker and answers the purpose.

Do not throw away boiled starch when finished with, but pour it into the water to wash oilcloth or linoleum. Besides making it look bright and clean it will double the wear.

To a convenient place outside of the front door attach a spring clothespin and ask the paper boy to snap your paper in it. By this simple device your paper avoids a journey down the street and is kept clean.

Druggists To Check Dispensing of Booze

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
 ST. LOUIS, Mar. 4.—The St. Louis Retail Druggists' Association has asked Congress to enact a law prohibiting the dispensing of intoxicating liquors by pharmacists upon a physician's prescription. Such legislation is desirable, it was explained, to prevent "undesirables" from entering the drug business. The druggists urge that government agencies be established where such liquors may be sold for legitimate medical purposes.

ARMY MEETING HERE FRIDAY

Capt. Wade to Address Business Heads On Need of Men.

In order that Escanaba may furnish her quota of men for the new peace time army as she did for the national army during the war, prominent citizens of Escanaba, representing business, religious, civic and woman's activities will meet at the city hall at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon where they will be addressed by Capt. Thomas G. Wade, publicity officer for Northern Michigan, Wisconsin and Illinois.

Capt. Wade arrived this morning to arrange for this city's participation in the month of recruiting drive which will start next week, the first and most intensive week of the drive.

Army Needs Men.

"The army needs men," said Capt. Wade, "and it is only getting them as it can turn prejudice into a sympathetic understanding of which it has to offer, not only ordinary fellows but men of the better classes. Heretofore the army has been regarded as the last resort for the man who had no ambition or initiative. The people visualize it as attracting the men whose feet were cold and whose stomachs were empty."

During the war, continued the captain, it was necessary to quickly train men in vocational lines and the army built up a vocational training system. It was not intended that this training should qualify a man to go back to civilian life completely equipped to start up a shop and earn big money, although that happened in many cases.

Add Civilian Instructors.

Since the armistice, however, by utilizing all of its training facilities, by centralization of these, by the addition where necessary of civilian instructors and finally by the bringing of facilities, for vocational training to a high point of efficiency, it found itself equipped to so completely train young men as to permit of their stepping out of the service into well paying vocations.

The success of this plan, said Capt. Wade, is exemplified by the fact that big employers are today turning to army schools for men. But recently the Holt Manufacturing company of Peoria requested the names of graduate army tractor experts, offering to use hundreds of such men and stating that forty were needed at once in one section of Nebraska alone.

I. W. Huff, general manager of the Western Union Telegraph company, after a careful study of the United States signal corps school at Camp Vail, N. J., offered any graduate telegrapher of that school a position with his company and transportation to their places of employment.

Employers Watching.

Other employers are watching the engineering training course at Fortress Monroe and within the last few days the Chicago Association of Commerce sent a delegation to Camp Grant to study and co-operate with the army schools at that place.

"We want young men of good education, of good family and home environment who are qualified by their present education to aspire to big executive and semi-executive jobs, but who need specialized training and an objective. If we can get that man, we can turn out a product that will make the Army a popular university indeed. He is probably "milling around" in a white collar job now, possessing every qualification for success except training and the objective he needs. That objective will come to be clearly visualized for him once he is trained along some specialized line. He is the son of our best people now and he needs Army training as badly as the Army needs men. The Army can better any class of man from the illiterate (who must be sent to the Recruit Educational Center at Camp Upton N. Y., where he learns the American language and gets elementary education.) to the young grammar school graduate, who ordinarily occupies a useless, futureless, white collar job.

WEALTHY YOUTH, DRAFT DODGER, GOES ON TRIAL

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
NEW YORK, March 4.—Grover Cleveland Bergdall, a wealthy young Philadelphia resident who eluded federal draft officials for nearly two years, faced a general court martial at Governor's Island today. He is specifically charged with desertion under the Fifty-eighth article of War. Army officers said the outcome of the trial will have an important bearing on 170,000 other draft dodging cases throughout the country.

Albert Peterson, of Masonville township, applied for bounty on a fox at the county clerk's office.

FARMER'S INCOME SUBJECT TO TAX

Gains For 1919 Must Be Figured Under U. S. Law; Returns Due March 15.

A farmer, shopkeeper, or tradesman must figure up his net income for 1919; and if the farm or business income plus his other income was sufficient to require an income tax return, a complete return must be filed with the collector of internal revenue by March 15.

A farmer should ascertain the gross income of his farm by computing all gains derived from the sale or exchange of his products, whether produced on the farm or purchased and resold.

Farm Expenses.

From his gross income a farmer is allowed to charge off all of his necessary expenses in the conduct of the farm during the year. These include costs of planting, cultivating, harvesting and marketing. In addition to these costs he may deduct money spent for ordinary farm tools of short life bought during the year, such as shovels, rakes, etc. Also, the cost of feed purchased for his live stock may be treated as an expense, in so far as this cost represents actual outlay; but the value of his own products fed to animals is not a deductible item.

Other farm expenses allowable are the cost of minor repairs on buildings (but not the dwelling house), on fences, wagons and farm machinery; also bills paid for horseshoeing, stock powders, rock salt, services of veterinary, insurance (except on dwelling house), gasoline for operating power and sundry other expenses which were paid for in cash.

As to hired help, all the productive labor is a deductible expense; but the wages of household servants, or help hired to improve the farm, as in tree planting, ditching, etc., cannot be claimed against earnings. A farmer is not allowed to claim a salary for himself or members of his family who work on the farm.

Wear and Tear.

Purchases of farm machinery, wagons, work animals, etc., also the cost of construction or extension of buildings, silos, fencing, etc., should be considered additional investments in the farm and are not proper deductions against income.

A reasonable allowance may be claimed for wear and tear on farm buildings (except the farmhouse), fences, machinery, work animals, wagons, tanks, windmills and other farm equipment which is used in the conduct of the farm.

As to autos and tractors, the cost of these is not an expense, although the cost of their upkeep is an allowable deduction, if the machines are used exclusively for farm purposes and not for pleasure. Also, in such cases, a deduction for wear and tear is allowed.

Farm Losses.

The loss of a growing crop is not a proper deduction from income, inasmuch as the value of the crop had not been taken into gross income. The loss of a building or of machinery through storm, lightning, flood, etc., is an allowable deduction, but care should be used to ascertain the correct loss sustained, as restricted by income tax regulations.

No deduction is allowed in the case of loss of animals raised on the farm, but a loss is deductible from gross income if the animals had been purchased for draft or breeding purposes. Shrinkage in weight or value of farm products held for favorable market prices cannot be deducted as a loss, for the reason that when such products are sold the shrinkage will be reflected in the selling price.

Sale of Farms and Land.

The value of agricultural lands has been jumping during the past few years, and during 1919 many owners sold out part or all of their lands at big profits. All such gains constitute income and must be taken into the net income for the year.

Forms for Returns.

The Internal Revenue Bureau has issued an improved Form 1040F for the use of farmers. This form, together with Form 1040A or 1040, will give the farmer explicit information as to how to properly figure his net income for 1919.

There are two methods of figuring a farmer's income tax return this year. He may make his return on the basis of the difference between the money and goods received for his products and the cash paid out for actual allowable farm expenses within the year. Or he may make his return on the accrual basis, which means computing the receipts and expenses that pertain to the taxable year, including income earned and expenses incurred in previous or succeeding years.

Tourist Trade to Help Exchange

PARIS, Mar. 4.—The forthcoming tourists season is expected by France to have considerable effect toward ameliorating the unfavorable condition of French exchange on America. Nevertheless, the questions of providing transportation and hotel accommodations here are causing some misgivings and hotel keepers generally are bawling the limited means of bringing visitors to France.

Dal Piaz, director of the Trans-Atlantic company, has expressed his opinion that the number of Americans desiring to visit France in the coming season will far surpass the transportation facilities, but that this will be relieved by the putting into service of passenger vessels now under construction principally in England before the French hotels have been organized to receive the expected influx of foreign visitors.

The warning that Americans "are terribly exacting" as regards comfort in hotels and as to their management is given by Victor Cambon, an engineer who knows America well. He says:

"It is not only the rich who desire refinement in hotels, but all Americans." Mr. Cambon asserts that, outside of Paris and resorts like Vichy, Nice and Deauville, it is impossible to find five good hotels in all France even if towns like Lyons, Marseilles and Rouen are included.

"Americans," he adds, "do not want luxury; all they ask is perfect cleanliness, no greasy smells, comfort and hygiene. Where can you find that among us? Nowhere is there very much of it but everywhere there is one thing, our cooking. That is certainly much but, frankly, it is not enough."

Hopes Return Of Rails To Settle Ferryman Strike

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mar. 4.—Hope that the return of railroads to private operation might bring successful negotiations between the striking ferry-men and officials of the Mackinac Transportation company is expressed by T. A. Nolan of the seamen's union, who is in charge of the strike that has tied up transportation across the straits several weeks.

The company has declared the places of the men vacant but has made no move to fill the positions, although it has been reported an effort would be made to man the vessels with other marine men. This plan, the men declare, would result in the skeleton crews leaving some of the boats on which they remained to prevent freezing in.

Stoppage of freight to the upper peninsula has seriously affected business, it is stated. Ishpeming and St. Ignace are reported on the verge of a coal famine, no shipments having reached those towns for a number of weeks.

English Women Play Bridge On Trains

LONDON, Mar. 4.—Women who travel up to town daily from Brighton, the famous watering place have taken to playing bridge on the trains. The stakes are often chocolates or gloves. As they often leave their cards at home the guards of the trains have taken to carrying a spare pack for the use of the women.

A Clothing Salesman who Travels Michigan

confidentially confided that we ought to get a larger percentage of profit on our new Spring suits—and to illustrate his point, he picked out from our cabinets a brown flannel Michaels-Stern suit and said: "I'll bet you're letting that go at $50 and every city in my territory sells the same quality for $55 and $60.

You can imagine how he witted when we showed him a $45 price mark in the collar—and you can imagine what values you will find here when you call.

Wickman-Sundelius.

A pretty home wedding that the blizzard which was raging out of doors did not in any way lessen took place at the Wickman home at 307 Maple street this afternoon at 3:30, when Miss Esther Wickman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wickman, became the bride of Robert T. Sundelius of Chicago, the Rev. Land of the Swedish Lutheran church officiating.

The attendants were Kathryn Wickman and Carl Wickman. The bride wore a white georgette gown and carried a bouquet of pink roses. In contrast the gown of the bride's maid was pale blue satin and georgette and she carried sweet peas.

The home was decorated simply but prettily with evergreens, ferns and cut flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Sundelius will leave this evening for Chicago where they will make their future home. Only a few close personal friends and relatives attended the wedding and the 5:00 o'clock dinner which was served at the home. The bride is an Escanaba girl and through her occupation as a school teacher has made an exceptionally large circle of friends who will join in wishing her all the happiness that can possibly come to her.

Fashions In Brief

Moccasin brown is a new color among negligees.

The small fur neck-piece will again be a favorite for spring.

Black onyx and diamonds are favorite combinations in jewelry.

Tailored dimity blouses, and the latest tailored nets are also favored.

A dominant note in color schemes and designs is of oriental inspiration.

Jacket suits and dresses are distinctly youthful and, of course, are most becoming to the slender, straight figure.
