

JURY GETS CASE FRIDAY

DAILEY CLOSING FOR GOVERNMENT GRAND RAPIDS

Little Mention Made of Individual Defendants in Plea.

Points Put That $3750 Is the Limit to Be Spent in Election Campaign.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS) (BULLETIN)
GRAND RAPIDS, March 18.—The case of the government against Truman H. Newberry, United States senator and 84 co-defendants who are on trial charged with conspiracy in the election laws in the 1918 senatorial campaign will go to the jury tomorrow.

This was learned today when after two hours of argument by Special assistant attorney general Frank Dailey, it became known that he intended to talk at length this afternoon.

Mr. Dailey's line of reasoning drew several objections from the defense counsel. He abandoned the oratorical style of address which had been practiced yesterday in the other addresses before the jury and gave a detailed analysis of the case and devoted his arguments to the testimony.

Some of the defendants drew considerable comment from the attorney and W. J. Mickel of Oshkosh, Wisconsin, former campaign manager of James Helme in the democratic primaries was the chief target.

"We don't know how much Mickel got for his work," Mr. Dailey said, "but it is a safe bet that he did not work for nothing and he got all he could." Helme himself was another target for Dailey who referred to him as "poor old Jim."

GRAND RAPIDS, March 18.—Last arguments in the famous Newberry election conspiracy trial were delivered to the jury today by Special assistant attorney general Frank C. Dailey. He again accented frequently the charges and stated that there is nothing especially mysterious in the indictments of the men as contained on the conspiracy count.

He usually discarded the terms of the indictment and called the offense "an arrangement to spend more money in the campaign, than is allowed by the law" in the 1918 election campaign.

Individual defendants of the eighty five who are on trial except where the case called for a specific pointing out of a certain one in the indictment. The attack was what the assistant attorney general called a "system." He mentioned only those whom he deemed necessary in showing responsibility for the expenditure of more than $175,000. He also accented that under the state and federal statutes the use of money in an election campaign on this kind was limited to $3750.

Entertainment at the Strand Big Success

With the Strand theatre crowded to capacity at two performances of the St. Patrick's day entertainment last night and a large number of people crowding the lobby, it was necessary to run a third show to accommodate ticket holders.

The entertainment was declared to be one of the most successful held in recent years, and every number of the program put on by some of the best talent in the city delighted the large audiences, at the five performances.

Proceeds of the entertainment will be used for the St. Patrick's church debt.

Treaty Adoption Favored By "Herb" Hoover, Statement

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
NEW YORK, March 18.—Herbert Hoover in a statement issued here today advocated an early ratification of the peace treaty with the proposed republican reservations adopted last fall. "So long as there is freedom of action and room for peace" and with reservations which "should satisfy the most timid as to entanglements." The statement was issued at the request of the Washington Star who asked for Hoover's views on the treaty.

WINTER SEASON TO CONCLUDE SUNDAY; DAYS GET LONGER

First of Aries Approaches Next Monday Morning; Sun High.

The winter season for 1920 is drawing to a close. Sunday will see the last of the mid year time when snows and winds dominate the earth.

On Monday March 21 the sun enters the first of Aries and according to astronomy the season of spring will have arrived. The four seasons, winter, spring, summer and autumn come alternately and each has its blessings and each has its faults. Apparently the greatest fault of the winter this year has been the duration of it.

On Monday the sun will be directly above the equator and at that time the days will become longer and will continue to get longer until the next seasonal change on June 21.

The summer months will then be started and the days will take a turn and begin to get shorter while the nights will lengthen some and continue that way until the following season.

In the approaching season the northern half of the world will begin to have summer while the southern part will go the other way and suffer the cold and wind of winter.

The sun will start to the north on Monday. The season of Spring known to astronomers as the Vernal Equinox is the most welcome to people in this part of the world who readily agree that this has been one of the most severe winters in years. In years past the season of spring has early signs long before this. Starting in November the cold has continued almost without interruption and now that it is coming to a close people are preparing to get out their spring bonnets and pick May flowers. Here's hoping that the opening of spring brings that season in reality.

Quiet Again In Constantinople; Troops in Control

Constantinople, March 17.—

The second day of the interallied occupation of Constantinople which was started Tuesday when the fleet entered the port of that city was carried on today in the calm.

The Turkish police cooperated in maintaining order in the city. The ferry and telegraph service has been resumed.

Among the persons taken prisoner by the allied troops were Eddisag Pasha, nationalist leader and Mohamed Pasha minister of war just before the world war started and who has been chief organizer of the propaganda for an American mandate.

Death of Mrs. J. P. Anderson At Early Hour This Morning

Mrs. J. P. Anderson, aged 75, well known throughout the city, died at an early hour this morning at the family home, 1204 8th avenue south, from a complication of diseases.

Mrs. Anderson had been in poor health for over a year, but it was not generally known that her condition was so serious.

Besides her husband she is survived by a brother, who lives at Bark River, and two daughters, Mrs. Ole Sundquist, of this city, and Mrs. Holm, of Minneapolis. Mrs. Holm is expected to arrive here to attend the funeral services.

The body was taken to the Anderson-Buchanan undertaking parlors this morning, where it will remain until Saturday morning.

Funeral services will be conducted Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home and at 2:30 o'clock at the Swedish Mission church. The Rev. Benson officiating. Interment will be in Lakeview cemetery.

Bark River Sends Delinquent Report

Bark River township's report of delinquent taxes was filed in the office of the county treasurer yesterday by Township Treasurer Rayne Labre.

APPLICATION MADE.

Karl V. Grandlund, of Escanaba, yesterday applied at the office of the county clerk for a passport to Sweden, where he will visit with relatives for several months during the coming summer.

PRYAL POINTS OUT REASONS FOR SEWERAGE

Advocates Approval of Bond Issue At April Election.

Says Water Contamination Will Be Stopped With New Sewers.

Will Escanaba be bonded for an additional $15,000 to complete the interception of the sewerage system in this city? That question is now up to the voters of the city and will be answered by them when the referendum is placed before the electors at the polls on April 5.

Alderman Joseph F. Pryal who after the election will be chief executive of the city, yesterday issued an appeal to the voters of Escanaba to support the issue. Some advantages pointed out by the alderman are that the construction of this new system of sewerage will forever stop the contamination of water which Escanaba people are forced to use. The dumping of sewerage a few hundred feet from the shore will be stopped also.

Mr. Pryal pointed out that the construction of this sewer will bring into use the city's disposal plant which was recently erected at a cost of $35,000. This plant is not being used to its fullest capacity and with the added sewerage the people of the city will be refunded in service more than the amount they will have spent in dollars and cents.

Serious Matter.
"The matter is a most serious one and one of the most important that has ever confronted the electors," the alderman further stated in his report of the progress of the campaign.

There are bonds to the extent of $20,000 for the work already but before it can be completed it will be necessary to raise the additional $15,000. The original amount is practically useless without the additional sum which is one of the most essential reasons for supporting the proposition, Mr. Pryal showed.

Stop Contamination
"The completion of the intercepting sewer will stop the city of Escanaba for all time from dumping its sewage into the bay. Why two people of this city have persisted for years in contaminating their own water supply, without revolt, is hard for any of us to say. The completion of the intercepting sewer will result in the carrying of all of the city's sewage to the disposal plant, erected at a cost of $35,000 and which until the present improvement is completed cannot show any adequate return from the investment. The disposal plan is now carrying only for the sewage from the trunk line sewer running from North Escanaba and the cost of running the station today is as great as it would be if all of the sewage was disposed of there.

"It is a common sense proposition on which the people are asked to fix their approval at the April election—to stop contaminating their own water supply and to make full use of an investment they made several years ago," he said.

Family Troubles Are Threshed Out In Justice Court

"Family trouble" was the text of the sermon delivered by Justice McEwen yesterday afternoon when Edward Meyers and his wife of Bark River appeared before the court with grievances in the form of a charge of assault and battery on the part of the husband. Mrs. Meyers alleged that she had been beaten by "friend hubby" but the dear member of the male sex denied the charge and claimed that he had only been "kidding her" when she took the initiative toward the pugilistic end of the controversy.

After a series of charges and counter charges on the part of each the case was adjourned until April 15 when the second chapter will be read and discussed before Judge McEwen.

DECLARATION OF CITIZENSHIP.

Two declarations of naturalization were filed at the county clerk's office late yesterday afternoon by John Tetlow of this city, an Englishman and August Olson, Gladstone, who is a native of Sweden.

DRASTIC ACTION TO UNCOVER THE TEXT BOOKS CASE

Basketball Will Be Abandoned Here Unless "Culprits" Confess.

Keen interest has been shown among sport lovers about the city as a result of the order issued by High school authorities regarding the closing of the gymnasium because of the mischievous acts performed by some of the students last week when all the text books were taken from the desks in the assembly hall and thrown about the stage floor in a heap.

When the authorities arrived at the school the following day, an investigation was started followed by an order that the gymnasium would remain closed to the High school students until the "culprits" make a confession of their act and take what punishment the officials deem necessary to inflict on them.

For a few days after the incident the matter was taken as a huge joke, but now the tide is turning and the more serious aspect is seen by people interested in High school activities.

The first order called for the closing of the gym to the boys from practice. This apparently did not net results and a more stringent ruling has been issued.

"There will be no more High school basketball games, no more practice for the boys and no trips other than the one to Iron River tomorrow until this thing is uncovered," Principle Coonen declared this morning in speaking of the status of the case at this time.

The statement carries considerable weight with it in that the meaning is that the High school basketball team will be abandoned unless those who had their fun and "did the dirty work" make a confession and get things straightened out.

The game at Iron River tomorrow night will be played because the school does not wish to go on record as cancelling a match after it has been made in such short notice.

However, according to the statement of the principle, all chances for the team going to Ann Arbor to participate in the state tourney will be spoiled unless matters are cleared up within short notice.

It appears that this year is not the first that such a thing has happened. (CONTINUED ON PAGE SIX)

Bryan Still Active At Washington; Awaiting Vote.

Forces Line Up Against New Proposal of Wisconsin Senator.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)

WASHINGTON, March 18.—Final vote on ratification of the peace treaty placed imminent this morning while plans had not been made for a show-down before tomorrow. The vote will perhaps not be taken until Saturday.

Senate leaders predicted and planned to put to a test the pact with all the remaining reservations by Saturday or if not by then before an adjournment is taken by the senate.

A vote on the pact to put an end to the controversy seems to be far off yet.

With the presence of William J. Bryan in Washington and his influence to persuade the democratic senators to accept the best reservation compromise they are able to get, it is being urged by him that if possible a treaty vote should be taken before the next presidential election. The latest developments caused by the work of Mr. Bryan has left an added uncertainty as to when a ratification vote will be taken.

Despite this fact there is a strong alignment of the minority senators against the Leavort reservation which was recently proposed and which declares this country's policy toward future war in Europe.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—One after another the senate today voted down the proposed reservations to the peace treaty.

A grist of about a dozen reservations will be discussed and in all probability voted down during the course of the day. This is expected because of the agreement reached by the senate yesterday to limit debate on the reservations to fifteen minutes. They wish to put the resolution into final

MORE BRANCHES OF SERVICE ARE RECEIVING MEN

Two More Recruits Registered At Local Station Today.

James Beldy and John Hazen of Manistiquette are the two latest recruits to be taken into service at the local recruiting station.

The two young men came to the office of their own accord and showed that they possessed a great willingness to join the forces of Uncle Sam. They were accepted and will be sent to San Francisco where they will train for the time being with the 15th infantry. They will get a transfer into other branches later as they see fit.

The list of recruits for this city has taken a great jump within the past week and a record which is satisfactory to the recruiters is being established.

Some new rulings have been received at the local office with respect to what men can be taken and what branches of service are open at this time. Reports from Camp Knox Kentucky says:

Limited Number.

A limited number of men may be accepted for Signal Corps Detachment Camp Knox, Ky. Men sent to this place are given a special course in telephone construction, switchboard work, telephone cable and line work. This is a very desirable opportunity for men desiring this class of work.

ALASKA. Vacancy exists for ten first class commercial telegraphers on the Alaskan Telegraph and Cable system. None but qualified men may be accepted. Pay and commutation allowances of these men is over $120 per month, with clothing, medical attendance, etc. in addition. Men will be sent to Camp Vail immediately and forwarded to Alaska early in May. A SPECIAL EFFORT SHOULD BE MADE TO OBTAIN THESE TEN MEN. Post cards have been mailed to many prospective applicants direct.

Meanwhile renewed attacks were made on the administration forces opposing the treaty with the republican reservations adopted by the senate. There is no hope left that enough democrats can be taken over to the republican side to break away from the Wilson recommendation.

LUTHERANS ATTEND BIG CONFERENCE IN CHICAGO TODAY

World Service Campaign Among Lutherans Started Now.

The National Lutheran Council has called a meeting of the leading Lutherans of this country for March 18th, 19th at the Hotel Morrison, Chicago to inaugurate a World Service Campaign among the Lutherans of America. No definite date has as yet been set for the campaign but it is stated that it will most likely be held the latter part of April.

The proposed meeting is considered to be the most important and representative ever held by the Lutherans of America. It will bring together the presidents and district presidents of all the synods, the leaders among the women's and young peoples organizations, the editors of the church papers and the leading laymen from every state in the Union.

The National Lutheran Council proposes to present to this gathering the budget for 1920 for emergency work in Europe and in the foreign mission field. The budget calls for $1,800,000, 1,500,000 is to be used in Europe, 300,000 for the foreign mission field.

According to Dr. H. G. Stub of Minneapolis, president of the National Lutheran Council, the Lutherans of America are facing a three fold task in Europe: the reorganization of church life, the rebuilding of destroyed churches and the relief of physical distress. Dr. Stub says: "I have watched conditions in Europe during the past year with growing concern. At the beginning of the year I had hoped they would speedily improve. They have grown steadily worse. I cannot help but place a good deal of the blame on the unfortunate controversy between President Wilson and Senator Lodge. It has helped deepen the shadows resting upon Europe until in many places it has become the dark night of despair. It has made the task of the agencies that want to help infinitely hard because instead of seeing progress they see ever growing need."

"Our task at present is chiefly relief of physical distress. There is little sense in rebuilding churches for people who are starving and homeless. Where hunger reigns supreme, it means nothing to speak of a world Empire for Christ, of making Christ supreme in human life, of the millennium of peace and good will getting rid of the devil in short order."

"I have the devout conviction that the great duty of our church and of every church at present is to get rid of the inflated currency of thought and speech which the war has brought and get down to the hard unimagined work at hand, the work of mercy and serving love. An inflated currency for the church is just as dangerous as for a nation. A period of stagnation follows inevitably if it is not stopped in time."

A Concept of Duty.
There are at the present day but too many who imagine they have perfectly done their duty, because they are kind toward their friends, affectionate to their families, inoffensive toward the rest of the world.—Maximal.

Says Ambassadors Made Joke of Work At League Meeting

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
LONDON, March 18.—Paul Mantoux, who was official interpreter to the Peace Conference in Paris and who is now Director of the political section of the Secretariat of the League of Nations, has given the public a glimpse at the lighter side of the "Big Four" at work.

"Mr. Lloyd George," he said, "sat in a large comfortable arm chair by the fireside, and beside him was M. Clemenceau in another armchair. President Wilson sat on their left facing a window and I was at the other end of a long table with Signor Orlando at my elbow. Conversation was often very friendly and informal and sometimes when some unknown place was mentioned, a large map was brought in and, much to my delight, I had the privilege of seeing those four great men crawling on the floor."

"We had our moments of relaxation," he continued, "and when the Council was waiting for some document, the Big Four told stories. President Wilson was then brilliant, and had a fund of amusing anecdotes which were always much enjoyed."

I had expected that my counsel would offer objections to Wick's testimony, especially to his having said that I did not appear anxious to "go back" into the apartment, but McGregor contented himself with two questions.

"Do you not know that Mr. Spalding Nelson is a grand-nephew of Mr. Rufus Gaston? Did not Mr. Gaston tell you of this relationship?"

"He did not," lied Wick calmly.

"How was Mr. Nelson first standing—when you got out of the elevator—when you first saw him?"

I recalled my attitude distinctly. I had been standing facing the door, straining my ears to catch any sound in the apartment. When I heard the elevator stopping, I had looked around over my shoulder as Wick emerged.

"He was standing," said Wick, of his own accord, speaking direct to the jurors, "with his back against the door. One hand—his right hand—was behind him. I thought at first he might have a revolver in it and drew one I always carry, but he had not. It looked as if he had just slipped out of the door and was reaching behind him to close it when I discovered him."

"That will be all," said my counsel, to my great disappointment. Throughout the mixed medley of truth and lies that Wick had been telling, there had been manifest to me his deliberate purpose to discredit me and cast suspicion on me. I felt certain that an abler lawyer could quickly have riddled his testimony, but McGregor showed no disposition to take advantage of his opportunity.

Nellie Kelly was called. Briefly she told of her job—switchboard operator at the Granddeck. She corroborated Wick's story of my first arrival at the Granddeck and bore out his statements about my having chatted with her and also told of having gone to dinner with me. When I had begun questioning her about other tenants, she said, she excused herself and went to the telephone and called up the Granddeck for advice as to how she should answer. For some reason, she said, when she returned after phoning, the defendant had not questioned her further but had seemed anxious to get away from the restaurant.

"You say," said McGregor, as he began her cross-examination, "that came as a thunderbolt to the opposition. The whole courtroom seemed to sense that something crucial was about to be brought out. The jurors to a man leaned forward to listen for her answer. The district attorney, plainly puzzled, half rose in his seat and then subsided. Wick's face went white, and the girl herself started and her eyes turned helplessly to Wick, as if seeking instructions as to how to answer.

"Is that your real name?" McGregor roared, this time a little more emphatically.

"It is—that is—it was," she stammered.

"It was your name," said McGregor sarcastically, "and what might be your name now?"

"My name," the girl hesitated, as if struggling with herself, and then casting a defiant look in Wick's direction, she answered with pride rather than with boldness, "my name is Mrs. Edward Moore."

"The wife of Lefty Moore, the burglar in Sing Sing, you mean, do you not?" sneered McGregor.

"I am," she replied with a proud lifting of her chin and a flash in her eye. "I'm Lefty Moore's wife, and I'm proud that I am—his lawfully wedded wife and I don't care who knows it. I love Lefty Moore."

There was instant consternation in the district attorney's camp. With visions of discredited testimony confronting him, he was on his feet roaring objections. Throughout the whole courtroom there was a sibilant stir, and the judge began rapping for order.

Close behind my counsel my mother had been sitting, accompanied by some woman wearing a heavy veil. I had paid little attention to her hitherto, supposing that it was some hotel maid whom my mother had hired to accompany her to court, for so far as I knew my mother had no women acquaintances in New York. This woman now, to my amazement, reached forward and plucked McGregor by the sleeve. As she pushed back her veil to whisper to him, to my utter surprise and consternation I saw that it was Barbara Bradford.

How had Barbara come to be sitting there in court at my mother's side? Delighted as I was at seeing her, I was puzzled and perplexed. I had sternly forbidden both Gorman and McGregor from making any plans to call her as a witness. I had urged her to keep silent and not become involved in any way in the case. My eyes sought hers for an explanation, but after that one whispered word, that I was unable to hear, she had quickly drawn her veil over her face.

"Your honor," said McGregor, rising, "in view of this unexpected testimony, I should like to request a recess."

"Granted," said the judge. "Adjourned until two o'clock."

GERMANY GOING TO RETAIN IDEA OF FIXING PRICES

Wheat Market Price Will Be Regulated At Harvest Time.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
BERLIN, March 18.—The German government has decided to retain throughout the coming harvest year its policy of fixing prices for wheat, potatoes and other basic food commodities, despite strong opposition from the farmers. At the same time it has announced that the minimum prices which may be demanded for these food supplies will be increased by 100 per cent for wheat and 300 per cent for potatoes. These advances are intended as a partial concession to producers, to allow for the reduced purchasing power of German money and the increased cost of production.

Under the new scale of minimum prices wheat is fixed at not less than 1,000 marks a ton, potatoes at 500 marks a ton, rye 900 marks, barley and oats 800 marks. This fixing of a minimum price is a reversal from the former procedure when maximum prices were fixed. Producers had opposed the maximum price system on the ground that it failed to provide for the general increased cost of production.

Farmers also vigorously opposed continuance of the government's policy of fixing prices and vainly attempted to have the free trading system restored. The government, acting through the Economic Council, insisted that the price fixing was necessary because the food situation continues precarious and because Germany is obliged to rely upon her own production until the country is placed in a better position for buying in foreign countries.

The government cited as evidence of probable disastrous results if con-

Telephone Hearing Postponed Lately

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
LANSING, March 18.—Hearings by the public utilities commission on the application of the Michigan State Telephone company for a readjustment of rates in Detroit and several other cities, scheduled to begin Tuesday, March 15, have been postponed until April 20. The company contends that the temporary rate, fixed when the lines were returned to private operation, is an inadequate return on the investment. Owing to the fact that the Detroit investment comprises nearly one third of the total for the state, the commission will investigate the rates in that city first, to allow an early adjustment if one is deemed necessary.

Following the telephone rate inquiry the commission will take up petitions from Holland, Grand Haven, Muskegon, Lansing and Allegan for a revision of gas rates.

Freight rates may be dealt with later. The commission has received numerous complaints from farmers' cooperative societies and other shippers that they are forced to pay higher rates than are applied in other states in this territory.

Western Michigan Ready For Baseball

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
MANISTEE, Mich., March 18.—At no time since the disbanding of the old Michigan State league some years ago, has there been so much baseball enthusiasm as is exhibited in cities in western Michigan formerly holding franchises in that circuit. Business men of Ludington and Manistee, members of the reorganized Central League, are lining up solidly behind the teams now being formed. Funds will be provided for organization of the best teams possible and there is talk of brief training tours through southern Indiana. Three Manistee manufacturers have offered to finance the building of a $10,000 park, providing a like amount can be raised for the club by subscriptions.

Someone's necessity—as indicated in a classified ad—is probably your opportunity.

A ROSE BY ANY OTHER NAME.

In view of the interest which is likely to center on the two great political parties for the next eight months it would be a help to the voters if each of these parties adopted a name that would more readily distinguish the one from the other. It would be too much to ask that they should show some difference in their fundamental principles; but a mere change in name would entail no great effort, and it would be a help to the voter.

History abounds in names of political parties—names rich in flavor and unmistakable in meaning. There were, for instance, in England the Round heads; a very estimable group in its day, albeit somewhat Puritanic. As opposed to these the name "Flatheads" would convey not a little meaning. And any voter on merely looking into a mirror could place himself instantly. England once had a party known as the Cavaliers; this name ought to recommend itself to any party that hopes to find its leader in the ranks of generals and persons with foreign decorations.

More even than is the case with England the history of our own country is full of suggestive names for political parties. There were the Know-Nothings—a most fitting name, many will agree, for either of the two great parties now in the field. The objection might be raised that due to the influx of most of our alleged statesmen into this Know-Nothing party there would be no leaders left for the party opposing it. But that would be no serious calamity; it would make it all the more possible for some very capable men to be selected from the rank and file of the voters, such men whom golden dinners and the haughty "barrels" now keep out of the running. It is noteworthy too that in its day the Know-Nothing party laid claim to a high degree of Americanism. This ought to help many of our present political leaders to know where they belong.

There were the Mugwumps, the bolters from the Republican party in 1884 as motley and defiant a crew as ever mounted the political rostrum. While it does not convey a great deal of meaning, somehow this name carries conviction. And in politics that seems to be important. It would be much easier for a voter to classify himself as a Mugwump or not a Mugwump than it is now to decide whether he is Republican or Democrat. Again, such a name as Free Soilers carries a strong appeal; add to this a touch of free speech, and other things that we should like to have free, and you would find millions of voters flocking to the standards of this party.

Politically we Americans are blessed with an abundance of ingenuity. And if we would apply this as diligently to finding new names for the old parties as the leaders of these are now applying it to differentiating between Tweedle-dee and Tweedle-dum, or in making elaborate platforms and then carefully avoiding every principle contained in them, we might devise some names worthy to stand besides those that have made interesting the pages of history—Detroit News.

CELEBRATION FOR POLAND ON RETURN TO INDEPENDENCE

Queer Ceremony of Tossing Ring Into the Sea Performed Recently.

*WARSAW, March 18.—Tossing of a wedding ring into the ocean marked ceremonies recently held at Puck, or Putzig, to celebrate the reuniting of Poland to the sea, an event of which all of Poland had dreamed for many years. Polish troops in their northward march on their own soil, as provided under the Treaty of Versailles, had reached the coastline of the Baltic and begun to make themselves at home in the stretch of land northwest of Danzig. This brought Poland to salt water again, after an absence of 145 years.

While Polish ships are to have use wharves at Danzig, which is to be a free port under the League of Nations, the new republic is desirous of a port which it may call its very own, and it is with this end in view that the Polish government has settled upon Puck, as it is spelled in Polish, as a site of the port where in the future Poland may have absolutely free commercial access to the sea under jurisdiction of its own officials.

It was at the seaside near Puck where formal exercises marking Poland's reunion to the sea were celebrated the other day and it was a great event. Thousands from all over Poland assembled in holiday attire to commemorate the historical occurrence, and also the recovery of Polish land which went to Prussia, Russia and Austria, in 1772.

General Haller, commander-in-chief of the Polish army in France during the great war and under whom thousands of Polish-Americans fought, headed the military expedition which entered Puck to reclaim in the name of President Pilsudski, Poland's gateway to the seven seas. The towns, and all the villages thereabouts, were decorated with thousands of flags and streamers of the Polish national colors, in white and scarlet, which were flying in these parts for the first time in a century and a half.

There was a race of the detachments of Polish soldiers to actually reach the coast and to be the first to dip a Polish flag into the waters of the Baltic.

Speaking at the exercises, General Haller said that from that day henceforth the seas of the world were open to the Polish sailor and that the Polish seamen would be quick to make the best of it. Then, in accordance with an old Polish tradition, General Haller threw a gold ring into the ocean as a sign that Poland had been wedded to the sea, this time, he said, he hoped forever and forever.

Plans for a Polish navy are already under way.

Road Building To Be Fostered In Michigan Soon

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. March 18.—A road building program calling for construction of more than eleven hundred miles of state roads is a possibility for 1920 according to State Road Commissioner Rogers.

Contracts already have been let for 312 miles of trunk highway, including surfacing, and preliminary work will be completed on at least 55 miles of road that may be included in the "trunk" category. In addition to work already authorized, the commissioner hopes during the year to complete 300 miles of hard surface roads, 150 miles of Macadam and 300 miles of gravel roads.

The trunk line system embraces about 1,500 miles, of which more than 2,000 miles have been improved or are in course of construction.

County Unit School Plan For Wayne Co.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
DETROIT, March 18.—Wayne county school officials have under consideration the establishment of a county unit school system, controlled by one board headed by the county superintendent. Towns outside of Detroit are understood to be in favor of the proposal, believing it would afford a better school governing system, standardize facilities and tend to equalize taxation.

The Detroit school superintendent under the plan outlined, would in all probability be named county superintendent and the Detroit board of education enlarged by the addition of members from each school district joining the centralized system.

Living Creatures That Are Immortal.
In the Protozoa, as Weismann and others have pointed out, the recuperative processes are so perfect that natural death need never occur; the stable mortal parts of the colloidal substratum can be reduced and restored piecemeal, and the creature never grows old. It is probable that the same is true of a simple animal like the freshwater hydra, which may also be credited with immortality.—New York Herald.

ABOUT YOUR CAR

By John Knutsen

Why is the guarantee on your car so small? Why do you buy accessories, but the motorist will stop to consider whether he wants to buy a guarantee or an article of deplorable merchandise. More and more, the American motorist is coming to regard the long guarantee with a bit of suspicion. "It is an article made right in the first place," he says, "and the manufacturer is sincere in his desire to protect his good reputation, why should it be necessary for him to shout his guarantee from the house-tops or parade it in front of me in his effort to sell me his product?"

Such reasoning is perfectly logical. Any manufacturer knows when he advertises his product, that he is making his name familiar to thousands of prospective customers. He spends a goodly number of dollars annually to do this, and to get value received from this expenditure, his product must live up to all that he says about it in his advertising. A fair guarantee on motor car accessories is practically impossible, because the service which any article can provide depends very largely upon the care which the owner gives it. Any guarantee for a specified length of time or specified amount of service must necessarily be based on averages. For this reason, the careful man is made to pay for the acts of the careless man.

Take tires as a familiar example: Two tires of the same make and of same quality throughout, will be sold to two men under a definite mileage of these tires in the hands of all users. One of these tires may go to a motorist, who never gives a thought to his tires until they are flat. He runs them under inflated either because he does not know the pressure in them or he is too lazy to find out. He rides blithely in the street car tracks or scrapes along the curbing simply because he is careless. The man who buys the other tire gives it a fair show to live up to its reputation. He gauges his tires properly, drives where he should and as he should and watches the little cuts and repairs them before they get worse. That man gets real mileage from his tires but in the long run, he pays for the guarantee given to his more careless brother.

Another striking example is storage batteries. The average storage battery will give good service if it is given good care. The best battery made will not last its full life-time, if it is abused and ignored. The battery which is allowed to become dry or is overworked or is frozen or overheated must necessarily give up the ghost earlier than one which has had a fair chance to make good. The specific guarantee on a storage battery does the motorist not one whit of good if it won't start his car in an emergency. You cannot crank a car with a guarantee any more than you can inflate a tire and get home on it with a mileage guarantee.

The wise motorist who believes in the principles of "Safety First" will buy his tires or his storage batteries of a concern whose only guarantee is that he must be satisfied. Such a manufacturer has a reputation to maintain and protect and he will use his last dollar to do this. Usually, long battery guarantees are simply selling points and because of the peculiar circumstances surrounding a storage battery, it is almost impossible for the average motorist to live up to the many conditions with which his guarantee is hedged about. The safest rule to follow is to buy a tire or a storage battery with a reputation and not buy a guarantee.

Concerning the Sabbath.
According to the Bible the Lord created the world in six days and rested on the seventh. As Saturday is the seventh day of the week, the Jews observe it as the Sabbath, as do certain other denominations following the old Moslem law. When Christ said: "The old things have passed away; behold, they are become new," his followers regarded this as a command to change the old order, and they made the day of his resurrection the Sabbath.

MICHIGAN AGGS IN TRAINING FOR THE COMIN BB SEASON

M. A. C. Nine Expected to Be One of the Best This Year.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS) EAST LANSING, Mich., March 18.—Fifteen monogram men are struggling to fit themselves into nine positions on the M. A. C. baseball team in the daily workouts in the Aggie cake, and the question of elimination appears even more difficult than it did in the football or basketball seasons.

For the battery there are two first-class catchers and a host of pitching talent. Captain Stanley Johnson, on the varsity in '18 and '19, and Swede Oas, varsity in '17, both are working behind the bat. Paul Donnelly, star pitcher in '18 and '19 appears to have the lead as boxman. He is being pushed closely, however, by Hartwig, who shone in several games last year. Others who look good are Mills, on the varsity in '18; Springer, who won his letter in '16 and '17, and Tichenor, star on last year's fresh.

Infield candidates include Hammes, Higbie and Pug Parks at first base. Hammes played on the varsity in '18 and '19. Higbie looked good on the all-fresh in '17 and Parks was a member of the '18 fresh. Nelson Carr, '19, and Peters, '18, are the two varsity candidates striving for shortstop. For third base Ward Andrews, '18 and '19, and Hendershott, on the squad before the war, are in the race. Fresh material from last year also is plentiful for the infield.

Among the outfielders are Doscher, varsity in '18 and '19, William, '17, and Herbert Andrews, '19. Hutchings and Small, former fresh players also are contending and Snider may be shifted to the outer gardens. The squad numbers 35 men in all. Prospects appear bright, but Aggie coaches are not forgetting that every other college team will be just as fortunate in excess of material, as a result of the stars who have returned since the war.

NORMAL QUINTET AND MINERS HERE ON FRIDAY EVENING

Will Play Off Tie At Escanaba High; Both Have Good Record.

The Marquette Normal college team and the Michigan College of Mines five will play off a "rubber" Friday night at Escanaba, Coach L. O. Gant announced last night, upon receipt of a telegram from Director Ball, of the mining school, at Houghton, saying that the copper country team had accepted the invitation issued by the Escanaba high school team to both teams to play off the deciding game on the Sandy City floor—the only neutral court available.

The Michigan College of Mines team won the first clash at the Normal gymnasium about six weeks ago, 26 to 19. The Normalites turned the tables last Saturday, 27 to 22, in the feature game of the upper peninsula high school basketball tournament at Houghton. Director Ball and Coach Gant then expressed the hope that a neutral floor might be obtained to play off the tie.

Upon their return from the tournament, where they won second place, Escanaba players, issued an invitation to both teams to use their floor for the contest.

The Normal team's schedule provided for a game Friday night with Iron River, but the men from Mart McDonough's stronghold announced yesterday that they would be unable to play on that date, thereby giving the Normal the opportunity to accept Escanaba's invitation.

"The Witness for the Defense"

Also Outing Chester and Topics of the Day

2:30, 7:15, 8:45. REGULAR PRICES

AT THE DELFT. Elsie Ferguson in "The Witness for the Defense," Tonight, Marguerite Clark in "Widow by Proxy," Tomorrow and Saturday.

AT THE STRAND. Monroe Salisbury in "The Man in the Moonlight" Tonight, June Caprice and Creighton Hale in "A Damsel in Distress," Tomorrow and Saturday.

AT THE STRAND. Monroe Salisbury is a romantic combination of M'Elmur Beaucaire, the Admirable Crichton and Captain Kidd in "The Man in the Moonlight," his latest Universal feature which is at the Strand theatre today. The star appears as Rossignol, a French-Canadian outlaw.

Virginia Plotz, who plays the mother role in "The Man in the Moonlight" in support of Monroe Salisbury was formerly a musical comedy queen and toured the country in "Madame Sherry" for several years.

AT THE DELFT. Many admirable sets have been arranged for "The Witness for the Defense," the great Paramount-Artcraft picture starring Elsie Ferguson, which will be displayed at the Delft theatre today, all of which tested the ingenuity of the director to the extreme.

One of these is a garden, which was built in the studio in early spring and for the embellishment of which palms and flowers were transported hundreds of miles. It is in this garden that the heroine of "The Witness for the Defense" plights her troth to the man she loves, later sacrifices his love in aid of her father and when the storm clouds have passed away finds him again in their former trying place.

SAYS HOT WATER WASHES POISONS FROM THE LIVER

Everyone should drink hot water with phosphate in it, before breakfast.

To feel as fine as the proverbial mule, we must keep the liver washed lean, almost every morning, to prevent its sponge-like pores from clogging with indigestible material, sour bile and poisonous toxins, says a noted physician. If you get headaches, it's your liver. If you catch cold easily, it's your liver. If you wake up with a bad taste, furred tongue, nasty breath or stomach becomes rancid, it's your liver. Sallow skin, muddy complexion, watery eyes all denote liver uncleanness. Your liver is the most important, also the most abused and neglected organ of the body. Few know its function or how to release the dammed-up body waste, bile and toxins. Most folks resort to violent calomel, which is a dangerous, salivating chemical which can only be used occasionally because it accumulates in the tissues, also attacks the bones. Every man and woman, sick or well, should drink each morning before breakfast, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, to wash from the liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, the poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. Limestone phosphate does not restrict the diet like calomel, because it can not salivate, for it is harmless and you can eat anything afterwards. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless, and any pharmacist will sell you a quarter pound, which is sufficient for a demonstration of how hot water and limestone phosphate cleans, stimulates and freshens the liver, keeping you feeling fit day in and day out.

Germany Wants to Buy All the Cotton That Is Possible

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS) BREMEN, Germany, March 18.—President Creamer of the Bremen cotton exchange says he believes the time is not far distant when it will be utterly impossible for Germans to buy commodities abroad with German marks. In a conference with Berlin government officials here he said: "Until recently we have been able to buy American cotton with American dollars that we picked up in nearby neutral countries at the best possible rate of exchange. We must not cease buying cotton so long as the means remains at our disposal, for the German cotton industry is at present operating to the extent of 30 per cent of its capacity. Of every two bales of cotton we import, only one must be used to clothe our people; the other must be converted into finished products, the sale of which abroad will provide us with means to pay for both bales."

Alaska's Foreign Trade Increasing

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS) PUNEAU, Alaska, March 18.—John W. Troy, (territorial collector of customs, says that Alaska's trade with the United States and foreign countries in 1919 was, perhaps, larger per capita of population than that of any other section of the world. The territory's imports and exports for the year amounted to $109,652,339. Mr. Troy reports. This was a decrease from $27,396,793 as compared with the previous year. The balance of trade in favor of Alaska was $31,000,000, or about $1,000 for each white person in the territory. Decrease in the shipments of gold in Alaska was declared to be "the really distressing feature of the year's business." This was attributed to "abnormally high cost of mining gold without corresponding increase in its value." The net loss in population during the previous two years was stopped and there was last year a net gain of 371.

TRAINING PITCHERS IS FIRST ESSENTIAL FOR THE TIGERS

Jenning's Crew Will Have Some Strenuous Work This Year.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS) MACON, Ga., March 18.—The elements were kind to the Tigers during the second week of their training jaunt and Manager Jennings and Jack Coombs, who is training the pitchers, were elated over the progress made. Several sessions were called off on account of rain or chill blasts, but on the whole the team fared better than probably any other squad now in the south.

Snappy infield workouts, batting drills and several scrub games in which two of the recent hurlers, Ernest Alten and Claude Jonnard, were allowed to cut loose, constituted the week's program. Alten and Jonnard surprised some of the best men with the stick on Thursday and Friday. A four inning no-hit game was credited the former and Jonnard came in for about the same result in setting drill, when Coombs permitted him to put a few over for the first time. The Southern league recruit exhibited a wonderful fast ball over which he apparently has excellent control.

A half dozen of the men were ordered a few days with grippe or cold but the only athlete who gave the physician great concern was Bernie Boland who was threatened with an attack of appendicitis. He was up and around the latter part of the week, however, an dth eductor was hopeful that a few more days would warrant his discharge from the "hospital." Bobby Cych was the victim of the most severe attack of grippe. "Chick" Saarten, one of the Tiger "hold outs," who came in terms with President Navin at Detroit a week ago, arrived from Scranton on Saturday and began the conditioning process Monday. Another late arrival was Sam Halo, of Estelline, Texas, a recruit candidate for the hot corner.
