Eight Members of Michigan Aggs to Leave This Spring

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS) EAST LANSING, Dec. 2.—Twenty-two members of the Michigan Aggs football squad have been recommended for immediate discharge by the athletic department. Included in the list are Springer, Hammes, Johnson, McMillan, Wilcox, Schwan, Nantz, Brady and Kibby, back field men; Thompson, Hassett, S. Hagen and Grogan, ends; and Lefler, Bal, De Miron, Redwood, Morrison, Therp, Swanson and Martin, linemen. Of these eight are seniors and will not return to play in 1921. Springer, Hammes, Thompson, Lefler, Hassett, Bal, Kibby and Martin—leaving eight sophomores and six juniors available for play next fall. Though the number of men awarded the coveted insignia is somewhat greater than usual, such a course was made necessary by the fact that nearly half of the squad was about on a par in ability, and in number of games played. Coach Clark spent practically the whole season in experimenting on a combination in an effort to find the winning one, with the result that only a few men stood out above the others with marked distinction.

Soo Man Lucky; Had a Suitcase Full and No One to Drink It

SOO—G. B. Bishop, of Chassel, Mich., was picked up on Portage avenue one morning about 9:30 o'clock by Patrolman Roberts and Bigger with a load inside of suitcase and inside himself. The load which he carried inside himself caused his arrest and the load of nine quarts of Canadian whiskey which he carried in a new brown suitcase will probably cause his conviction for many moons. Bishop came staggering down Portage avenue with his suitcase when he was noticed by the policeman who lost no time in getting him to jail. A search of his suitcase revealed 9 quarts of pure, red, old 100 proof Canadian whiskey and several quarts of nothing. The empty bottles were few but still had the odor of hooch. Identification papers show that Bishop is from Chassel, but the fact that he carried a good supply of booze makes it look as though he was in Canada last. He did not tell the officers how he happened on this side of the river because he was intoxicated when picked up. He was put in the city jail to sober up before he made his appearance before the judge. Joseph S. "Nig" Bonnette was picked up by Patrolman Charles Matlack in an intoxicated condition and in the morning, sentenced to 30 days in the city jail. He could not pay his fine of $25. He pleaded vainly for his liberty, saying that he would leave the city. He has never been arrested yet but what he told the officers he was going to do. About the only time he thinks of going to work is when 30 days passes him in the face, the officers say. He was drinking Bar Rum and had a big head in the morning.

Coal in Vienna Is Nine Cents Per Ton

VIENNA, Dec. 2.—Coal was sold at the equivalent of nine cents a pound a price higher than that of the bituminous coal sold here when the temperature suddenly dropped below freezing. Warm winds of the brown breeze at a very low heat value were drawn up to the level of the popular streets and the fuel was sold by the pound, the vendors being equipped with small scales.

CAMP CUSTER LONE SPOT IN MICHIGAN

Old Appearance of Military Grounds Has Been Lost in Battle Creek.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS) BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Dec. 2.—Camp Custer, the 1,000-acre tract that but a few years ago rang with the tread of thousands of marching feet and with a scene of bustling activity, now presents a lonely and deserted appearance. Where the thousands of soldiers three years ago to fit themselves for the fight against the world's single battalion of 200,000 men now stand the great military reservation and its $15,000,000 worth of improvements are silent. The guard battalion is a part of the Tenth infantry and is in command of Major H. M. Coates. The 4,500-acre 45,000-acre camp were being trained in winter, twenty-five Y. M. C. A. buildings of canvas and other winter buildings were in operation. Barracks, mess halls, recreation buildings and city utilities were being used to accommodate the men. In contrast to the activity of an armed camp the place now appears deserted. A vast expanse of land dotted with great buildings that ring up within a few months as they are built, is wrapped in a mantle of white, with only a handful of soldiers here and there to keep the lonely vigil. The base hospital is practically closed. This institution, built at an estimated cost of $2,000,000 and that housed 5,000 soldiers during the influenza epidemic of 1918, and that has 15 miles of corridors, now is a regimental infirmary. Moved to Sherman. The headquarters of the Tenth infantry was moved to Camp Sherman recently and the only other unit, the Fourteenth infantry, that remained after the Fourteenth division was demobilized, left more than a month ago for Camp Crofton, Panama Canal Zone. The desolation of Camp Custer is heightened by the fact that only about 25 of the 1,900 buildings are occupied. The barracks, that three years ago were kept spotlessly clean, are soiled with mud and dust. The snow mantle hides slightly grass plots and weed patches. Twelve of the 11 heating plants, with eight stacks reaching toward the sky, are cold and inoperative. Only last winter the camp retained a part of its former activity. There were about 1,200 soldiers there at the time and a number of boxing shows were provided. There is no maintenance of any kind this year. The military reservation stands with the same boundary lines, the same low paved ways, rooey storehouses, railroad yard, water and sewage systems that it did a few years ago. But it appears only as a ghost of the days when men from Michigan and Wisconsin were being trained by the thousands. The war it stands as the monument of an institution that thrives upon the doctrine that war goes on and renews itself when peace reigns. There has been no definite order to salvage the camp or abandon the reservation. Camp Custer remains a great question mark in war department procedure.

Michigan Grid Men Are Through; Fives Take Floor Again

ANN ARBOR, Dec. 2.—Upon the close of the football, interest in athletics turns to basketball and track. Coach Mather has had about fifty candidates for the varsity quintet out three times a week for two weeks and beginning this week practice will be extended to four times each week. The conference schedule does not begin until sometime in January, but an eastern trip is planned to take place probably during the Christmas vacation to give the team experience before starting on the Big Ten schedule. A game may also be scheduled for December 10 or 17, with some other Michigan college team, probably Kalamazoo Normal college. Coach Mather has a wealth of material to pick up, quieted from this year as the freshman team last year produced a number of stars and most of the Big Ten regulars are back again. He plans on giving them pretty strenuous workouts before the conference schedule begins so that he will have opportunity to see them all perform. His main problem will be in deciding his center and guards. Coach Farrell has issued a call for indoor track men to report to the gymnasium this week to start training. The loss of Carl Johnson will be felt keenly but Steve expects to pick up some pretty good men from last year's freshman aggregation. One final meet with Cornell here at Ann Arbor is already scheduled while the conference meets will be scheduled at the meet of the Big Ten representatives at Chicago Dec. 4, when next year's football schedule will also be made up.

CRYSTAL FALLS, Dec. 2.—The Pentoga Lumber company is the name of the new corporation which has taken over the business of the Iron Range Lumber and Coal Company at Pentoga. The officers of the new company are Herman Holmes, president, Crystal Falls, Mich.; Thomas Montembo, secretary, Pentoga, Mich.; Thomas Finn, treasurer, Marquette, Wis. The new company perfected its organization about a month ago but some minor details of the transfers were not closed up until within the last few days. This stock will be shipped as fast as cars can be secured and with its disappearance the entire property, including the houses owned by the old company, will be represented in the holdings of the Pentoga Lumber company. Considerable lumber was cut in the past month or two which is the property of the new company.

Early Christmas Is Asked of Shoppers

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS) PETOSKEY, Mich., Dec. 2.—Santa Claus comes to Petoskey nearly a month earlier than usual this year. He will arrive Dec. 5 for a survey of the ground and have all chimneys carefully measured in preparation for a busy night Dec. 24. Santa was invited early by the Chamber of Commerce and the invitation was extended that shop girls and postal employees would not be as busy as usual on Christmas day. To promote early Christmas shopping fifty merchants here have associated themselves in an effort to bring Christmas forward. December 6 has been set as the date upon which

Christmas shopping should begin. To introduce the real Christmas spirit into the campaign the merchants will line the business streets at sidewalk edge with Christmas trees December 5. At night these trees will be illumined with electric lights and stores will be dressed and ready for holiday business.

SHOP OBSERVES GOLDEN RULE

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)

GINGHAM, O., Dec. 2.—The employees of the Nash Clothing Manufacturing company in this city, which is operated on the "golden rule" basis, today observed their first day of work under the new plan in the absence of their clothing factories.

They took that action after Arthur Nash, former manager and president of the company had stated that cloth manufacturing was closing in all parts of the country and that thousands were being thrown out of employment.

A committee of employees drew up the resolutions which they later took to the factory for approval. They also agreed to reduce wages in order to bring down the price of clothing and stimulate business.
