American Merchant Marine at Mercy of Great Britain.

Is It Claimed That Any Argument or Adjustment Has to Settled in British Isles.

While the agreement is understood to have some time to run yet, it was claimed by Senator Jones that there are provisions in a further contract since it is when the present one expires.

HOME BREWERS TO FACE NEW PENALTY

Washington Says Domestic Manufacture Is Direct Law Violation.

That the prohibition enforcement act is violated by mere possession of home brewed alcoholic liquor is asserted in a ruling from Washington in which John A. Grogan, collector of internal revenue at Detroit, was permitted to collect a penalty of $1,000 from a Detroit man who made beer in his own home.

When informed of this ruling J. O. Leonard, internal revenue collector for this district said he believed it was the first of its kind to be made in Washington. The prohibition act is violated by possession of home brew, the order says, and $1,000 is the specific penalty which must be paid by the manufacturer under section 25 of the national prohibition act. This penalty applies wherever intoxicating liquors are manufactured, and this regardless of the ultimate disposition of the products, it applying in home brew cases as well as in cases involving the sale of the product.

The penalty imposed is not a fine, but is similar to the percentage penalty imposed on delinquent income tax payers.

In the Detroit case there was no sale intention of sale, or even evidence of consumption.

In his resolution he pointed out the enormous expense incurred by maintaining these troops abroad. He claimed there were 15,000 American soldiers still in Europe, 700 in the Hawaiian Islands, 5,500 in the Panama region as well as a proportionate amount in the Philippines and that action should be taken at once to cut down this expense and withdraw the soldiers at once.

Both houses convened at 10 o'clock with but little business to be attended to of importance.

WAUSAUKEE SELLS JAIL; NO FURTHER NEED FOR IT NOW

Calaboose Goes to Joseph Lejois for Thirty Dollars; Dry Times Have Made Town Good.

WAUSAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 20.—At the meeting of the town board of supervisors the Wausaukee calaboose was sold to Joseph Lejois for $30. Mr. Lejois expects to move it to his dwelling and use it for a wood shed. The building is about 12x21, one story, shingle roof, built in 6x6's dovetailed on the ends and said to be in fair condition. What actuated the town fathers in selling town property without advertising for bids or instructions from the taxpayers, is not known. Unless for the fact that since the country is dry, there is no further use for it. And the town board assumes that the taxpayers don't need it. The building served faithfully during its thirty years of service, housing many subjects who committed offenses against the law. It used to be located in the rear of the town hall until 1914 it was removed to the town pound lot on Harrison street. To make room for the wing of the old school building that was moved in its place and used by the fire department.

UNCLE SAM, M. D., EXPLAINS NEED OF OPEN WINDOWS

By U. S. Public Health Service

All systems of heating cause some air movement. Open windows, open doors and grate fires also promote air movement. Air movement is extremely important.

The most effective system of ventilation consists of opening windows. Cross ventilation by means of two windows, or a window and a door in opposite sides of the room, is particularly effective. Opening enough to cause a current is all that is required.

The extent to which windows are to be opened in our sleeping apartments must depend on outside atmospheric conditions. Everyone should sleep in a room with open windows. In this way an ample supply of fresh air can be secured for eight hours out of the twenty-four at least.

A simple method of securing fresh air from a window is to raise the window two or three inches and place a neatly-fitting board under it.

This will prevent a direct draft and permit of a free current of air coming in between the upper and lower sashes.

Another excellent method of ventilation is to place in an open window an ordinary window screen covered with cheesecloth. Two or three layers may be used. This arrangement breaks the wind and keeps out the snow. The heat loss is very little greater than the loss by radiation from the surface of a pane glass.

If one depends on simply opening the window, from a half inch to an inch may be sufficient on very cold nights. If you hold your hand opposite a half-inch opening, you will find the current of air coming in is much greater than that which one or two persons could possibly inhale and exhale constantly.

There is nothing gained by throwing the windows open to a degree beyond that already suggested, providing there is sufficient difference in the temperature outside and in.

ANEMIA - Give you satisfactory advice in the shape of a reply through the column. Q. What is anemia? Is it curable? A. Anemia, after all, is only a symptom. In the treatment, it is important to determine the cause of the condition. They are many different causes and only a physician can give a satisfactory diagnosis.

The Public Health Service has no bulletin dealing with anemia. Merely to indicate to you how important it is to find the cause of the anemia, if possible, let me tell you some of the common causes of this condition: Malaria, lead poisoning, hook worm, Bright's disease, repeated hemorrhages, auto-intoxication, tuberculosis and cancer.

Do not let this list cause you any unnecessary alarm. I have mentioned this to show how impossible it is to

AMERICAN IS INSTALLING A MINT IN CHINA

Clifford Hewitt Is Expert Money Maker of the World.

China Wanted Uniform Currency and Engaged American to Erect Enormous Chinese Plant.

SHANGHAI, Jan. 20.—The first step in an effort toward uniformity in Chinese currency will be undertaken by the building here of China's first national mint. The work will be directed by an American mint expert, Clifford Hewitt, of Philadelphia, whose services have been loaned to China by the United States and who came here a short time ago to begin his duties. Mr. Hewitt installed the new mint in Manila the first established in the Philippines.

It is expected that the completion of the new Chinese mint will put an end to the complicated system of currency of all kinds and values, which has long been a drag on the commercial progress of China.

While the Mexican dollar, introduced into China from the Philippines, has been the common unit of value, the various provinces, governors and other officials of provinces have issued coins that are dealt with comparatively at values based on the quality of their silver content. The Chinese, used in which government funds and customs ordinarily are reckoned is not a coin of all, but a silver slug of a given weight and fineness, differing in weight and value in the different provinces.

The Shanghai mint is to cost about $2,000,000 and be one of the largest in the world, making in size and output the mint at Philadelphia. It is to have a capacity of 500,000 silver dollars a day with a daily consumption of 11 tons of silver in addition to base metal used as alloys. Mr. Hewitt hopes to have the plant completed and in operation within two years.

He is the originator of many of the machines and processes in use in American mints, having been in the service of the United States government for 21 years. He was holder of the American mints at Denver and Philadelphia.

American Golfers Will Take Their Best to England

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS) NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Having succeeded in winning a British tennis championship, America will make a most serious effort next summer to annex the English golf title.

Funds have been in the process of solicitation since last fall to send a big team of the best American golfers after the British championship and success of the financial drive seems sure.

Looking toward the amateur title of the Isles, the United States Golf Association has announced plans of similar proportion.

"Chick" Evans, present American champion, S. Davidson Heron, last year's champion; Francis Ouimet, former title holder; Bobby Jones, Nelson Whitney, "Buck" Withers, Reginald Lewis and Max Marston have agreed to make the trip across the Atlantic. Robert A. Gardner, who made such a splendid showing in last year's championship also may join the invaders.

MILLIONS OF RUSSIANS ARE BEING DRIVEN INTO EXILE

LONDON, Jan. 20.—(By Mail) During the past two years two million refugees from Russia have invaded practically every civilized country, and thousands continue to pour into the Soviet Union and scatter themselves to the four winds.

Lesser numbers than the present Slav exodus have created sleeping outbreaks, plagues in the human race. But as do from the broad racial drama known as the Russian dispersion the individual stories of many of the exiles are rich in human interest, local color, and the stuff that epic poems are made of.

A thousand presidential Epoch Ardents, ten thousand Evangelists, perhaps a future Ellysos, are plying their foreign hands, out of touch with home and finally out of joint with the new life of an alien country.

An estimate of the distribution of these refugees is given in a report just issued by the American Red Cross. The figures do not include any of the recent Crimean refugees, nearly 130,000 in number, who are already scattered over a half dozen near Eastern countries:

Poland, 1,000,000; Germany, 500,000; France, 17,000; Austria, 50,000; Constantinople, 20,000; Finland, 25,000; Italy, 10,000; Serbia, 17,000; England, 15,000; Latvia, 12,000; Hungary, 5,000; Egypt, 4,000; Lebanon, 3,500; Greece, 2,500; Cyprus, 1,500; Bohemia, 1,000; Sardinia, 1,000; Norway, 1,000. Total 1,561,000. Recent Crimean refugees, 125,000. Total, 1,686,000.

The Red Terror is only partly responsible for the horde of Russian exiles. Thousands of war prisoners who in the early war days fought under the Czars' banner and were captured during Hindenburg's victories in the dismal Pines and Pripet marshes interned in prison camps in Germany and marched over the French frontier after the armistice, to learn for the first time of the revolution in Russia, have been the special objects of fortune's cruel practical jokes.

Allies of France when they were captured, men of no country and no definite script allegiance, when thoughtfully wished out of French labor camps. Many of them were sent to the convict camps of French Colonial Africa where thousands are still employed in forced labor. Few of these men have communicated with home since they joined the colors of old Russia. Many do not even know where they are.

Why they are still prisoners of war. Many a dirt hut on the cold steeps of Siberia or peasant's cottage in the broad lands of South Russia is made useless or childless, while the erstwhile captives are daily eating out an existence in a land that the home folks never heard of. The collapse of Wrangel, as of Denikin and others before him, added the thousands to the Slav exodus. Prince Paul Bagorukov, a social and public worker, in a private letter from Constantinople, writes that the position of the civilian and military refugees in that city are desperate. He describes the conditions in which the family of a former Vice-President of the Duma are living. The father and mother are no longer young, and are invalids. Their former possessions are gone. They have found a desolated hut on the outskirts of Constantinople, without heat and almost roofless. Here they live while a younger daughter seeks such small domestic services as pay enough to provide scanty food for the family.

The Shadow of the Sheltering Pines A New Romance of the Storm Country By GRACE MILLER WHITE Copyright by the H. K. Foy Company.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I—Lonely and almost friendless, Tomahel Devoe, living on a canal boat, child of a brutal father and a worn-out, discouraged mother, wanders into a Salvation Army hall at Escanaba, N. Y. There she meets a young Salvation Army captain, Philip MacCauley.

CHAPTER II—Urah Devoe, Tony's father, returns to the boat from a job of "trading" sugar and sundries. He has arranged for Tony to marry a worthless companion of his, Reginald Brown. Mrs. Devoe objects, and Urah beats her. She intimates there is a secret connected with Tomahel.

CHAPTER III—In clothes that Urah has brought Tony finds a baby's picture with a "notification of a reward for its return to a doctor Pendlehaven. She goes to return the picture.

CHAPTER IV—With the Pendlehavens, a family of wealth, live Mrs. Curtis, a cousin, her son and daughter, Katherine Curtis and Reginald Brown. Katherine is deeply in love with Philip MacCauley.

CHAPTER V—Tomahel returns the picture to Doctor John, and learns it belongs to his brother, Dr. Paul Pendlehaven. It is a portrait of Doctor Paul's child, who had been stolen in her infancy, and her loss has wrecked Doctor Paul's life. Doctor John goes with Tony to the canal boat and ministers to Mrs. Devoe while she is unconscious.

CHAPTER VI—Returning to consciousness, Mrs. Devoe is informed by Tony of her visitor. She is deeply agitated, makes Tony swear she will never tell of Devoe's brutality, and disappears.

CHAPTER VII—Tony's personality and her loneliness appeal to Doctor John and he arranges to take her into his house as a companion to his invalid brother.

(Continued from Yesterday) When Tony had dropped, she spoke. "Me and Cassie's back," she said brokenly. "I climbed up the tree and got to the end, learn to wake up the other folks in the house. She sat down beside the bed. "Somehow I knew you'd be better for me, str."

"Me and Cassie's back," she said brokenly.

It was because she had passed through such a wonderful night and was so terribly tired that she tried a little as a child-rites after it has been cruelly punished.

Paul Pendlehaven let his thin hand drop on the frosty head. Tony stung his own lids like nettles.

"Dear child," he breathed, "dear pretty child, I've waited all night for you. My God, what's happened to you?" Tony covered her face with her hands.

"Somebody beat me up," she moaned. "I can't tell anything now. And I lost my pretty clothes." Sudden strength came to Paul Pendlehaven. He sat up straight and fiercely lifted the pillow-tufture so he could look at it.

mand you to tell me what happened to you. Tell me instantly. If I knew, I could take steps to punish the ruffian who dared to do this thing." That was just what Tony didn't want. Hadn't she sworn to Edith in the presence of the infant Christ, that good Shepherd who had given up His life for His sheep, that no matter what Urah did she wouldn't peach on him? The tears were still rolling down her cheeks from under lowered lids. "You have so helped me, Tony," continued Pendlehaven, "and yet you refuse to let me do what I can." She tried to think of something to comfort him.

"But—sometimes daddies and husbands beat their women folks," she explained. "Then your father whipped you?" quizzed the doctor. "That I can't tell," said the girl. "Don't make me. . . Oh, Lord, I'm all tuckered out."

It was of no use to put questions any more, thought Pendlehaven. He was persuaded that her father had done this dreadful thing.

At eight o'clock, when Dr. John Pendlehaven softly entered the sick-room he found his brother in sound slumber, and Tony Devoe, her face discolored with bruises, fast asleep in the chair by the bedside.

It was a stubborn Tony that faced Doctor John that morning. Adroitly he tried to draw from her the reason for her extreme paleness, for the dark marks stretched across her face, and the meaning of the shudders that suddenly attacked her.

"I can't tell," she reiterated in distress as she had to his brother. "Please don't ask me." That her mother was dead, she firmly believed. This she told the doctor between many sobs and tears.

"I'll never see her ever any more," she told him tremulously. "And if you'll let me, I'll live here forever and forever and take care of Doctor Paul."

"My brother can't get along without you, dear," he said, deeply touched. "If you had seen how he grieved last night, you wouldn't have made that remark."

"I know he likes me," said the girl, sighing, "and I love him. Why, I love him!" She searched the man's face and caught his smile.

"Better than you do me?" he came in with. "Yes," said Tomahel, honestly, "but you next." Then she thought of Philip, of the hours he had held her against his breast, of the kiss in the morning's dawn, and she fell into a hushful silence.

When Doctor Pendlehaven told Mrs. Curtis that Tony had returned, her face drew down in a sulky frown.

"But we needn't care," Katherine said afterward, "she doesn't bother us much. For my part I can't see how Cousin Paul stands her."

"John says Paul almost died last night," took up Mrs. Curtis. "I suppose she's one of the things we've got to stand in a house run by an old bachelor and a grieving widower."

"To say nothing of a father with a daughter lost somewhere in the world," supplemented Katherine.

"There's no danger of Caroline's returning after all these years," said Mrs. Curtis. "If—if—that girl hadn't come, Paul wouldn't have lived long. John told me so himself. I almost hoped that."

"That he'd die?" interrupted Katherine, maliciously. "Well, to be truthful I have wished it many times. Cousin John would have to think of somebody else then. Perhaps he'd turn his attention to you, mother darling."

"He won't while Paul lives," sighed Mrs. Curtis. "I don't know just what to do. I've thought of every conceivable way to get that girl out of the house, and John forestalls me every time."

"I'm glad Philip hasn't seen her," remarked Katherine. "He's just the religious maulin kind who would fall for an appealing face like hers." Mrs. Curtis made an impatient gesture, and Katherine proceeded. "We can't deny she is appealing, mamma, even if we hate her! And God knows I loathe her so I could strangle her with these two hands. She held up clenched fingers; then relaxed them and laughed bitterly. "Heavens! What's the use of butting our heads against a stone wall? Give me a cigarette, my dear Sarah. Philip won't be here until night, and I can get rid of the odor before that."

United States-German trade in 1920 aggregated nearly $400,000,000 against $533,000,000 in 1913, the biggest year before the war. Foodstuffs accounted for about $229,000,000 worth.

ENGLAND STILL STRUGGLES FOR WORK FOR MEN

Recent Plans Rejected by Labor Leaders As Unfavorable.

Workmen Think English Contractors Ought to Seek Contracts Out of the Country.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS) LONDON, Jan. 20.—The proposal by the government to alleviate unemployment by big public works and house building schemes and other work of public utility is called inadequate by the leaders of the unemployed.

Official returns gave the number of registered workless in the United Kingdom on December 19 as 2,919,741, an increase of 79,721 during the preceding fortnight. London alone accounts for 443,537 and the proportion of men to women out of work is roughly as 2 to 1.

Labor leaders say these figures are incomplete. They declare that at least 250,000 other, manual workers and as many clerical workers are out of jobs, the net of the government jobs. These would bring up the workless army to well over 3,000,000 and counting their dependents, a grand total is arrived at of close upon 5,000,000 sufferers from lack of work in one way or another.

Chambers for reopening trade with Russia is growing and the chairman of the London Unemployed Council has told The Associated Press representative that by acting in concert with all other labor organizations, they were confident of being able to force the government's hands.

"If an American business man is able to get $3,000,000 worth of contracts out of Russia, that means that there is another $3,000,000 worth waiting there for British trade," he said.

Meanwhile, public charity has been deeply stirred by reports made by social workers on many cases of extreme distress, with the result that gifts both in money and kind, have been pouring into the different local un-employed centers. The danger of food riots which threatened some weeks ago, has apparently to a large extent vanished.

Nutrition Class Proves of Value

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS) ALBION, Mo., Jan. 20.—Remarkable results have been obtained in a nutrition class conducted by the American Red Cross chapter here. Of the 107 children weighed and measured, 105 or 97 per cent, were found to be underweight. The average weight for each child was 45 pounds, and the average height was 4 feet 6 inches.

LAUNCH VAST EFFORT FOR EUROPE'S YOUNG

Eight American Relief Agencies Combine to Save 3,500,000 Children Death Menaces.

Eight great relief organizations, working among and for every race and creed, have united under the name of the European Relief Council to coordinate child relief in Europe this winter. The Council will seek to provide funds for 3,500,000 starving and diseased children in Eastern and Central Europe and to administer this relief economically.

It consists of Herbert Hoover, chair man, and Franklin K. Lane, treasurer; Edgar Rickard, representing the American Relief Administration; Dr. Livingston Farrand, representing the American Red Cross; Felix Warburg, representing the Jewish Joint Distribution Committee; Wilbur K. Thomas, representing the American Friends' Service Committee (Quakers); James A. Flaherty, representing the Knights of Columbus; Dr. C. V. Hubbard, representing the Young Men's Christian Association; Miss Sarah S. Lyon, representing the Young Women's Christian Association; Dr. Arthur Brooks, representing the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America.

It is the purpose of the Council to raise $30,000,000, in an appeal centering at the Christmas holidays, to the end that the desperate situation regarding child life may be met. In every town and community of the nation, it is planned, local committees, representing all the co-operating agencies, will be formed to secure the vitally necessary funds. Of the amount sought, $25,000,000 will be used for basic food and $10,000,000 for medical service.

For every one of these American dollars the local governments and communities aided will furnish two dollars, in the form of transportation, labor, guards, clerical help, cash contributions and such food supplies as are locally obtainable. No children receive the free food except after medical tests showing them to be seriously undernourished. The remaining $10,000,000 of the fund is just as urgently needed for medical service to the children.

The European Relief Council will do much more than effect economies in the raising of the child saving fund. It will, with the inspiring forces of eight great agencies, keep a constant eye on the administration of America's merciful gift, in order that there shall be no waste and no tendency toward favoritism.

"This is the largest co-operative benevolent organization ever attempted in the United States," Mr. Hoover says. "The organizations represented have come to the realization, though independently formed, that nothing but prompt and united action by the whole American people can avert irreparable tragedy for the helpless children involved. The organizations forming the Council will organize their respective efforts in every town and community in the nation for the raising of the necessary funds."

Facts of Interest

TO THE FOLKS WHO HAVE DECIDED TO FULFILL THEIR DESIRE FOR AN ELECTRIC WASHER AND NOW SEEK FURTHER LIGHT ON THE SUBJECT OF WHICH ONE TO BUY.

Why Discriminating Buyers Choose the A B C SUPER-ELECTRIC

BECAUSE— It employs the most thoroughly practical, efficient and economical washing principle. Its cylinder revolves after each revolution. It is the only washer that combines every advantage of both the "cylinder" and the "oscillating" types of washing machines.

BECAUSE— It is the only full cabinet cylinder washer.

BECAUSE— It is the absolutely safe washer. All moving parts are enclosed, thereby avoiding every possibility of soiling or tearing clothes or of injury to operator, servants, children or household pets.

BECAUSE— Its electrically-operated wringer wrings all around and locks in any desired position.

BECAUSE— It washes clothes quicker than any other washer.

BECAUSE— It is the most quiet running washer; no noise, shock or jar when cylinder revolves.

BECAUSE— It's the most simple in construction (the fewest number of moving parts).

When you buy an electric washer for your home, you are contracting for a service. The satisfaction you'll derive from your purchase is dependent upon the ability of the machine to attend to the minute detail of that service.

Two washers may look very much alike, but when put to use there is a wide difference in the results. Thus, in choosing your washer, help your purchase dollars to "make good." In analyzing the machine thoroughly, first judge value by specifications—not expectations. Be more than a purchaser—BE AN APPRAISER.

Why Discriminating Buyers Choose the A B C SUPER-ELECTRIC

BECAUSE— It has 50% overize motor—1/2 horse-power; most other makes use 1/4 horse power.

BECAUSE— It has a white maple cylinder—most easily cleaned; most sanitary; cannot cut or tear clothes; more durable and lasting than metal.

BECAUSE— It has an adjustable belt drive, preventing trouble and expense of motor "burn outs."

BECAUSE— It's the most attractive in appearance—a real ornament in any home. Table top.

BECAUSE— It costs two-thirds less to operate than an ordinary household electric iron.

BECAUSE— It has been tested and approved by The Good House-keeping Institute and has the endorsement of thousands upon thousands of satisfied users everywhere.

BECAUSE— It is manufactured and guaranteed by Alford Bros. Company, who have pioneered washing machine makers, and now rank the World's leading makers of electric and power washing machines.

FAMOUS RED MAN CALLED TO HAPPY HUNTING GROUND

David A. Hodge, Recognized Leader of the Broken Arrow Tribe for Years, Passes On.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS) TULSA, Okla., Jan. 20.—Another of the famous old Indian leaders who shaped the destiny of the Red Man in the early territorial days in Oklahoma has passed. In the recent death of David A. Hodge, 79 years old, last 'king' of the Broken Arrow tribe of the Creek Indian nation, Oklahoma lost a most interesting character. He died here recently. Prominent in the affairs of his tribe since 1866, he ranked first among Creek statesmen, and although he never received the highest honor in the power of the tribe, that of the principal chieftainship he was for years the chief adviser of the Creeks. His advice was sought by a succession of tribal heads and on repeated occasions he was named by the House of Warriors and the House of Kings—the senate and house of representatives of his tribe, as their delegate to the 'Great White Fathers' in Washington. It was the proud boast of the old statesman that he had met and talked with every president since Andrew Jackson.

One of the last missions accomplished by him for his tribe, and having congress rule that the Creeks and other Indians were within their rights in suing the government for the recovery of lands given to their slaves after the civil war.

Perhaps his greatest claim to fame is the assembly of an English Muskogee (Creek) alphabet and dictionary. The first effort toward the formation of this work was made by the Rev. John Fleming, a missionary who came with the Muskogees, as they were then called to the Indian Territory from Alabama and Mississippi in 1837-38. Little progress was made until a number of years later when Hodge, as chief interpreter of the tribe, and the Rev. R. M. Longbridge, a missionary, collaborated and finished the book, which has been of inestimable value to the tribe.

When a lad, Hodge was taught in an Indian Mission school by the father of Miss Alice Rothman, Oklahoma's congress woman-elect, who was one of the early Indian missionaries. Hodge also translated the Bible into the Creek tongue; the Creek myths into English and was coauthor of a volume of Creek-English songs. Hodge was made a junior officer in the forces of Albert Pike, Moscovier of Pike's Peak, and was assigned to the army from Texas early in the civil war. As a result of a battle with Union forces on Thanksgiving day, 1861, in which the army from the North although possessing superior numbers was almost annihilated, Hodge was given the rank of Colonel and when the war ended he was in command of the regiment. He was born in Muskogee, Okla., in 1842, his father being a Pennsylvania German and his mother a full-blood Creek.

During November, 1920, building contracts awarded in the four western provinces of Canada aggregated $6,721,000, as compared with $3,323,500 in the same period in 1919. The total for the first 11 months in 1920 was $69,553,700, as against $23,350,300 during the corresponding period in 1919.

'UP IN MABEL'S ROOM' AT DELFT

Do women love to torment men as much as they love to be tormented and teased one another? Does a woman really ever know what her motives are and exactly what she intends to do? These are two of the fascinating problems to audiences in 'Up in Mabel's Room', the funniest and most original farce of the decade which A. H. Woods will present at the Delft Theatre on Friday, Jan. 21st for an engagement of one night only direct from a year's run in New York and Boston. 'Up in Mabel's Room' has been aptly described as a frivolous farce of feminine follies. It is in three acts and the work of Wilson Collison and Otto Harbach. The action transpires in the country home of Arthur Weldon on Long Island. Here Garry and his bride have come to spend their honeymoon. Unfortunately, Weldon has invited other guests, among them a fascinating widow named Mabel of whom Garry was fond in his bachelor days and who reciprocated his affection. Mabel has in her possession a pink rhinestone gift from Garry on which is inscribed 'Mabel from Garry.' Now Mabel isn't mean, but she is certainly mischievous and she conceived a sudden desire to show Garry's present to his bride. It therefore becomes imperative that Garry recover the rhinestone by 100 per cent. penetration at the same time, store up enough cash to be present to them. Have you laughter to life you ever your next ever tried stealing a lady's rhinestone? income tax report, see 'Up in Mabel's Room' when it comes to the Delft Theatre and embarrassments in the way, and more.

FARM LABOR GETS BEST SALARY NOW IT HAS EVER HAD

Wages of Hired Farm Hands Has Doubled in Last Ten Years; Some Get $100 a Month.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS) WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Wages of hired men on farms have more than doubled in the last ten years, tripled in the last twenty years and were more than four times higher last year than they were in 1879. These changes are shown by statistics of the Department of Agriculture. Wages paid by the month, without board, averaged $64.96 for the country as a whole last year, ten years ago they averaged $27.50 and in 1879 they were $10.43. Day labor at harvest time last year averaged $4.36 without board and other than harvest time $3.59. Ten years ago harvest time labor was paid $1.82 and at other than harvest time $1.38. In 1891 harvest time day labor was paid $1.13 and non-harvest time labor $1 cents a day. California and Nevada farmers paid their labor the highest prices for labor without board the average in those states last year having been $107 a month. The lowest average was in Mississippi where $41 was paid. Lansing.—The state athletic board of control prohibited issuance of complimentary tickets to Michigan's regulated prize fights at state expense. The giving away of 67 complimentary tickets to the Dempsey-Mitke fight at Boston Harbor on Sept. 6 by Thomas W. Higgar, state athletic commissioner, and his payment for them out of the 10 per cent gross receipts received by the state, was the crux of this ban. The state's 10 per cent share from that show was $12,246, and out of that sum Mr. Higgar paid $2,044 for the 67 "free" tickets.

The Standard Oil company denied a report that the pay of employees is to be reduced by discontinuing the workers' 10 per cent bonus, based on the cost of living. It was said that any action that may be taken in the readjustment of wages will be based on the government's figures for the cost of living up to the end of the present year, which will be made public in 1921. There can, therefore, be no reduction until these figures are published.

The Lincoln (Neb.) carpenters' union voluntarily reduced its wage scale from $1.12 1/2 an hour to $1. The proviso is made, however, that if building materials and architects' fees remain as at present by April 1 the old scale will be restored.

The Clothing Manufacturers' association of Boston has voted to break all relations with the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America. Agreements which have governed the employment of 6,500 persons in the clothing industry in the city were said to have been abrogated by the workers' union.

Too Many Workers Killed. There are 150 workers killed in industry every year in New Jersey, says John Bunch, director of safety education of the New Jersey department of labor. He says most of these fatalities could be prevented by the establishment of proper safety guards. He also says that there are annually 50,000 accidents in industry in that state and of this number but 13,000 persons are entitled to compensation under the law.

Co-operative Glove Factory. A co-operative glove factory, owned, operated and managed by Chicago glove makers, and said to be the first venture of its kind in America, has begun operations. The plant, established as an experiment in co-operative manufacturing, is proposed to give a period of dulness in the glove industry resulting from what the union says is a strike and what manufacturers claim is a shutdown due to lack of work.
