GRADE SCHOOL TRIBUNE

OUR MAY FESTIVALS

The festivals put on by the Physical Education and Music Departments of the Public Schools are being carried out by the various buildings with great success. The exhibition at the Webster School took place Tuesday afternoon, May 24th, at the Fair Grounds, and was viewed by about one hundred fifty visitors. The Jefferson School had their exercises Thursday, May 26, before an audience of nearly one hundred twenty-five people. The programs in both places were carried out as planned and the children did their best to themselves and all those who participated in their training.

The Barr School festival had to be postponed on account of the unfavorable weather on Friday, but will take place at 2 o'clock on the afternoon of Wednesday, May 25th, at the Park. The Washington School exhibits at 3:50 o'clock in their own building, June 1st. The Franklin exercises will be on their lawn at 3 o'clock June 2nd.

Those who have not already seen the children in their drills and heard them sing should put forth an effort to get out to one of the programs, as it is very much worth while.

The Story of Our States

By JONATHAN BRACE XVIII.—LOUISIANA

THE discovery of Louisiana dates back to the beginning of the sixteenth century, when the Spanish explorers, Alvarez de Pineda and De Soto sailed up the Mississippi. In 1562 La Salle descended the Mississippi and took possession of the entire valley in the name of the French king, Louis XIV. In his honor this region was named Louisiana. French colonies soon sprang up, including New Orleans, which was founded in 1718.

An interesting chapter of Louisiana's history was the formation of the Company of the West by a shanghai schemer named John Law. This company ostensibly was to exploit the new colony and hold out to speculators an alluring get-rich-quick scheme. In 1763 France ceded Louisiana east of the Mississippi to England, and, by secret treaty, New Orleans and the western territory went to Spain. Spanish rule proved unendurable to the inhabitants and the restrictions on the navigation of the Mississippi led to hostilities between the northern American colonies and Spain. This situation, however, was brought to a peaceful termination by Spain relinquishing her rights to this territory to France and the purchase in 1803 by the United States from France of the entire Louisiana territory.

The southern portion of this territory was organized as the territory of Orleans and in 1812 was admitted as the eighteenth state of the Union, with an area of 18,000 square miles. As the Louisiana coat-of-arms has a pelican in its nest, the state is often called the Pelican State. (See Michigan News page 510.)

RECEPTION DAY

May 27th (which had been selected as Reception Day in the schools) dawned with a gray and threatening sky. However, plans had been so carefully made that postponement seemed inadvisable. Although the whole afternoon was interrupted with showers the visitors thronged each building. There was much splendid work on exhibition and the whole day was crowned with success.

In the next week's issue of the Grade School Tribune we shall try to give our readers a more definite idea of the number of visitors present in each building, the kind of favors presented to them and the variety of work exhibited.

WASHINGTON SCHOOL

FOURTH AND FIFTH GRADE AN INTERESTING CONTEST

Monday, May 9th the fourth grade challenged the fifth grade to meet them in an addition contest upon Friday, the thirteenth. Both grades then began to review their forty-five computations. To find out where they stood, and what facts needed to be studied they took a rapid written test setting down only the answers to twenty-five facts. In the fifth grade the test were then divided into groups, the 100 per cent pupils acting as teachers and study went on till Friday. The contest was both oral and written and the results were as follows: In the oral contest the fifth grade won, scoring out 47 per cent above and in the written contest the fourth grade won by 3 per cent.

The most interesting thing about the week's work was to note that in the four days study the fifth grade rose from six 100's and twenty-four below 90 in the first test, up to twenty-two 100's with only seven pupils below 90. The fourth grade came from seven 100's with twenty-one below 90 up to twenty 100's with only three below 90.

The pupils are now interested in beating their own record so a rapid test is to be given each week.

Miss Wilson managed the tests and study and conducted the final contest.

OPEN AIR SCHOOL

HEALTHFUL THINGS TO DO

The things most healthful in the Open Air school are the lunches and the rest hour.

At half past ten we have lunch. We never have things that are not good for us, because Miss Treudo knows what is good. For lunch we have milk and crackers, cocoa and crackers, oatmeal, corn meal, milk soup, baked potatoes, sandwiches, pudding, custard or baked apples. The children like the soup best in the afternoon we usually have milk. There is one boy that does not like milk and I think he will never be healthy.

Half of us rest from 1:30 to 2:30. During this time we lie on our cots quiet as we can. Sometimes the children are not as quiet as they should be. Sometimes the children fall a sleep. I have slept once since I came to this school. The others rest from 2 o'clock to 3 o'clock.

We have the windows wide open so the air is always fresh.

OUR DAILY WASHINGTON

LETTER

MEMORIAL DAY PLANS FORMING

LIVING SOLDIERS WILL HONOR DEAD COMRADES WHO LIE IN ARLINGTON CEMETERY.

WORLD WAR HEROES THERE

Nation's Burial Place Will Be at the Height of Its Beauty When Veterans Deck Its Many Graves With Flowers.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

Washington—Preparations are being made by the living soldiers of America's wars to honor their dead comrades who lie in the great national cemetery at Arlington...

For weeks past there have been hundreds of the dead of the great war every day in Arlington. The annual of taps is heard through the great forest trees and the valleys in honor of the dead are heard across the river. This year the surviving veterans of the Civil war, the Indian wars, and the Spanish war will join with the members of the American Legion...

When Memorial day shall come the rose season will be found at its height, and with the roses will be blossoming all the summer flowers which will have come to take the place of the spring offerings of the foretime, the crocus, the hyacinth and the lily.

Not a Mourful Place. Arlington is not altogether a deathful place. Association in a way makes it so, but the trees always in flower, the sunshine, generally, the view is appealing, and the singing birds are found to forsake it because they have learned that in God's mercy they are safe from persecution.

The red bird, known variously as the Kentucky cardinal, the Virginia nighthawk and the ground-squirrel, is in Arlington winter and summer, both in a close companionship with the cardinal whistler as cheerily as any bird at twilight, while the ground-squirrel "squeaks Peter, Peter" all day long, and never loses heart because Peter fails to respond.

There are 5000 Confederate dead sleeping in Arlington. The monument to the Confederates is one of the most beautiful memorials in the United States. It was the work of the sculptor, Moses Ezekiel, whose body was brought from Italy to rest in Arlington. Ezekiel was a cadet at the Virginia Military Institute at the outbreak of the Civil war. He took part in the battle of Newmarket.

Sheridan, Schofield, Hoxey and Crook are buried in Arlington. Not far from the graves of Sheridan and Schofield there is at rest a Southern soldier of fame who lived to wear the blue once more after the Civil war was at an end. Joseph Wheeler, a general officer in the Confederacy, later, re-entered the Federal service at the time of the Spanish war and died...

as a major general of the U. S. army. He was a graduate of West Point, had worn the blue and the gray, and died the blue again.

Memorial Day Plans.

Memorial exercises in the national cemetery always were held in the open air with forest trees as the pillars of the temple. So it is in part today, but the government recently erected a marble-enclosed amphitheater at Arlington as a memorial to the soldiers and sailors of the Civil war. In this amphitheater some of the exercises of importance will be held. It seems doubtful to many whether the intrusion of the amphitheater into the rural garden was altogether a profitable act of man.

The American Legion and other organizations of veterans of the great war and the soldiers of other wars in which Americans engaged are working together in preparation for the next Memorial day. There are more graves than ever to be decked with flowers, and as the years go by the number of graves will be multiplied, while the ranks of those who bear the flowers will be depleted.

Today there are regular troops stationed at Fort Myer, and at Fort Washington, and Hunt which stand the year around to the capital. The soldiers who have gone back into the life of the man who has accepted the reserves of the United States army, all will be represented in the Memorial day pilgrimage to the eternal camp of the American hosts.

Bay City—Stephen Stajpa, 28, was found guilty of murder in the first degree by a circuit court jury. The jury deliberated an hour and a quarter. Sentence will be pronounced later by Judge S. G. Houghton. Stajpa was charged with shooting down Franklin Parker, prominent lumberman, on the night of September 3, 1919. Stanley Dolanowicz, who was with Stajpa at the time of the shooting, confessed to the crime, pleaded guilty and received a life term. Stajpa's trial was held on his testimony.

Grand Rapids—A petition in bankruptcy in district court has been filed by William S. Canfield, individually and as a member of the William S. Canfield Flour company, of Grand Rapids. He places his liabilities at $982 and assets at $250 for himself and at $60,000 and $18,000 respectively for the partnership. It is claimed the other members of the firm refuse to acknowledge proceedings.

Grand Rapids—The section of the Detroit to Muskegon highway between Okemos and Muskegon has been "logged" by the Shawanese Automobile club and route cards for the road are being prepared.

Battle Creek—Officers of the Michigan State Hotel association, in session here, have perfected arrangements for the annual convention which will be held at Muskegon in September.

Bay City—W. A. Collins, attorney for former Mayor Robert V. Standy, whose slander suit against Judge John S. McDonald, of Kent, was dismissed by Judge Lamb, said he would appeal to the supreme court.

Grand Rapids—Postal officials here are investigating the alleged theft of $10,000 in cash and convertible securities from a mail pouch en route from Chicago to Grand Haven. Details of the robbery have not been received.

ARROW GOLF IS A NEW GAME IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

Arrows Are Used Instead of Balls and Skill Is Required.

Straw Stacks Are Used Instead of Holes; Game Popular All Winter in Mountain State.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Durham, N. H., May 28.—Arrow golf is a new game in the sport of the day at New Hampshire College. It is played with bow and arrows instead of club and ball and targets of straw sacks are used to mark what in golf would be holes. The faculty have taken to it in a body and play daily over a nine target course. Undergraduates also have adopted the game. Over the hills and through woodlots in the vicinity of the college the arrows are sped without need to consider ground conditions that would be hazardous in real golf. Yet the game has qualities that make it highly competitive, with factors of strength and skill involved in accurate marksmanship.

Arrow golf was invented in Durham by Professor W. C. O'Kane and has been developed by him and a group of other faculty members into the game which can be enjoyed on any farm or in the vacant lot of suburbs. The course at Durham has nine holes, or targets. These consist of sacks stuffed with straw, placed on poles, the bottom of the sack being five or six inches above the ground. The distances between the targets are from 200 to 400 yards. The average player can make a drive 200 yards easily. The game, as in golf, requires that the effort be made in the least number of strokes. Some of the targets of the present are there are no holes marked in golf, though the probability that they will be achieved in one shot is remote.

The arrow golf player requires little equipment. Most of the players carry one box two or three inches in a home-made quiver and a quiver for the left wrist necessary because the string strikes down on the wrist with great force. The player wears a glove on the hand with which he pulls the bowstring, or at least fingers of a glove, to cover the fingertips.

Arrow golf has one great advantage over ordinary golf besides the fact with which a course may be arranged. It can be played in winter as well as in summer and has no need of...

ed here over deep snow drifts on snow shoes in the face of blizzards. The arrows stand up in the drifts distinctly and even when they disappear in the depths, usually leave a perforation in the snow which is easily perceived.

DRUGS EXCITE YOUR KIDNEYS; USE SALTS

If your Back is Aching or Bladder bothers, drink lots of water and eat less meat.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild laxative salt which relieves the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacy a quart four ounces of Jad Salts; take a table spoon in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will not fail. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with bicarbonate and has been used for generations in clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their blood and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking and so much you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

Some FACTS About Ford THE UNIVERSAL CAR. Here are authentic figures from the Ford factory at Detroit. They show you just how many Ford cars and trucks have been built each month since January 1, 1921, and how many have been sold to retail customers in the United States. JANUARY 29,883 57,208 FEBRUARY 35,305 63,603 MARCH 61,886 87,221 Total Production 127,074 Total Retail Sales 208,032 showing that actual sales for the first three months of 1921 exceeded production by 80,958 Ford cars and trucks! April requisitions already specify 107,719 additional cars and trucks and the estimated April output of the factory and assembly plants combined calls for only 90,000! These facts clearly show that the demand for Ford products is growing much faster than manufacturing facilities to produce and were it not for the dealers' limited stocks, which are now being rapidly depleted, many more customers would have been compelled to wait for their cars. It will be only a matter of weeks, therefore, until a big surplus of orders will prevent anything like prompt deliveries. If you would be sure of having your Ford car or truck when you want it, you should place your order now. Don't delay. Phone us or drop us a card. L. K. Edwards

THE CUBAN PRESIDENT'S TASK

The new president of Cuba, Alfredo Zayas Alfonso, being safely inaugurated starts in with a program of construction that challenges the interest of well wishers of the island republic.

He suggests an amendment permitting a majority to open congress, the constitution at present requiring the presence of two-thirds of the members; an amendment forbidding second consecutive presidential terms, and an amendment making Havana a federal district under a commission government.

General Menocal, the predecessor of Dr. Zayas, accomplished a great deal in the eight years he was chief executive of Cuba, but he was obliged to begin almost at the beginning in his endeavor to create a real republic and build up a national consciousness and standard of national integrity.

Because of what he did he earned the respect of the world and won a certain international confidence in Cuba's sincerity of purpose. But this was all pioneering. The superstructure of a modern civilized government remains to be built.

NEW ASSAULT ON AN OLD PROBLEM

A conference is to be held in Washington soon for the purpose of forming a "stable money league" which will undertake to find some plan for regulating money so that a dollar will always have substantially the same purchasing power.

Whenever one hears of a new movement to tinker with the currency, the impulse is to inquire what particular set of cranks is behind it, but such an inquiry in this case would reveal the fact that the promoters of the new organization are mostly college professors, bankers, economists, business men and politicians of the conservative type.

Many thousands of people who would have viewed this movement a few years ago as of no interest except to economic theorists will consider it now with a keen understanding of its significance to them. Before the war they realized vaguely or not at all, that the price of money may be said to be up and down in terms of goods with as much propriety as that the price of goods goes up and down in terms of money.

If the gentlemen who are planning this new attack upon that ancient evil should succeed in getting before the public with any remedy that appears to be worth trying while memory of the general rise in prices due to war remains fresh, it is safe to promise rise in prices due to war remains fresh, it is safe to predict for profiteering.

Following this talk with Horner, there was a try-out with Hatcher and Jimmie, but in this three-cornered conference was held in the private room of the suite. I don't know what was said, a little further along when the boss was once more waiting at the dictation, Mr. Van Brett struck in.

Mr. Van Brett scribbled his notes. "The general superintendent is wondering one more time, why under the stars and stripes he is out here in this square that God has forgotten."

The boss laughed at that, and I'm telling you right now that I was glad to know that he was still able to laugh. "You've never seen the day when you wanted to remove Upton, and you know it, he'll back."

"You're a free man, you're a free man, you're a free man," he said, looking at me. "You're a free man, you're a free man, you're a free man."

table in the fullard grill-room—they didn't know me or who I was—knew that a council of war had been called in the railroad headquarters, and that Ripley had been pulled in by why from Lesterburg, and that we were rushing along hurriedly to provide storage room for the wheat.

When six o'clock came, the boss asked May to stay and keep the office open while I could go down stairs and get my dinner in the station restaurant, and he went off to his room in the club.

"It is so true that you might be reading it out of a book," was the boss' comment. Add then: "What's the answer?"

"I don't know. If you had money enough to buy my voting control in P. S. & W., you might get somewhere; but as it is, you're like a car in Hades without claws."

"Tell me," said Mr. Socrates, after a little pause. "You're a native New Yorker; do you know this man Collingwood?"

"Only by hearsay. He is what our English friends call a 'blowing' banker—just yachts, fast motor-cars, and a fine house generally. He's a very bad case of money-spill, I fancy. They say he wasn't always a total loss."

"Did you ever hear that he was married?"

"Oh, yes, he married a Kentucky girl some years ago; I don't remember her name. They got out about him for about six months and then dropped out. I suppose he needs killing for that."

"At that time, he was a step-father, wasn't he?"

"That was when Mr. Van Brett took his own little punch-shoot. 'So do it' he said to him."

"But you said you had forgotten her name?"

"She has—her married name. And what's more, I mean to keep on forgetting it."

"There was no mistake about the loss, was there?"

"That was do 'Upton,' he said, looking at me.

"It will do well enough for the boss, I'd hurry her five-cent. Graham, if she were free, and there were no other obstacles. Unfortunately, there are two besides the small legal difficulty; she doesn't care for my name."

"You're a free man, you're a free man, you're a free man," he said, looking at me. "You're a free man, you're a free man, you're a free man."

CHILD LABOR IS SHOWN TO BE AN OFFENSIVE EVIL.

Thousands Are Unfit to Do Any Kind of Labor; Cripples Are Numerous.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—The committee on federal administration of the child labor law has made a report showing the terrible condition which has been brought about by child labor. They tell of the feebleness of those children who have been obliged to labor in mines and mills and state that since it became necessary to place under the age of 16 a certificate, that 25,000 applications for such cards had not been granted, that 40,000 permits were granted. Many of the children were not able to furnish any proof of their age and some who applied for permission to work were in such a state of health that it was impossible to allow them to engage in any kind of occupation. The applications were denied almost equally between boys and girls, and many of them had had no schooling. Orphaned children and children in separate physical conditions were present to their parents to find out why they had not been given proper care and were told that the parents were not able to afford any kind of treatment for their children and there are the very clinics in most of the places where child labor has been used. In some cases, parents told the investigators that the condition had to work for a number of the always large family was not able to support them.

We Shall Not Sleep In Flanders fields the poppies blow Between the crosses, row by row, That mark our resting places, and in the sky The larks, still bravely singing, fly, Scarce heard amidst the guns below.
