COVEL C. ROYCE PIONEER BANKER DIES SUDDENLY

Acute Indigestion and to Be Cause.

Started First Banking Institution in Escanaba Many Years Ago; Was 73
Years Old.

Covel C. Royce, one of the pioneers of the city of Escanaba, and founder of the first bank in the city, passed away at his home at 301 South Fifth street, last evening after an illness of less than three days, acute indigestion and heart failure subsiding in the cause.

For many years Escanaba has as much to do with the growth of Escanaba as Mr. Royce, who came to this city when he was 19 years of age, and helped in the founding of many of the local business enterprises. When he came to Escanaba he worked as a surveyor, for a short time and then went into the drug business in which he was associated with his uncle, E. P. Royce.

The drug store was on Tilden avenue, which was at that time the main street of the village. It was in 1851 that he started what was known as the Exchange Bank of Escanaba. In 1887 the bank was incorporated as the First National bank.

With the unearthing of brother evidence, William A. Hightower, who is held in connection with the murder of Fr. Heslin, seems to be leading deeper and deeper into the meshes of the law.

Constable Latorre said that late last night he and others dug in the sand near the priest's grave, but were obliged to abandon the search because of the coming fog. He said the search would be continued when the fog lifts.

General Smuts Writes
Republican Leader
Before Leaving.

Points Out That Force Can Never Unite Countries;
There Is No Clean Cut Solution.

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, Ireland, Aug. 12—Official confirmation of the reports that the government has offered Ireland a dominion status was given out today when a letter was made public from Premier Lloyd George's official spokesman and written by General Smuts, the South African Premier, to General Smuts's letter to the British prime minister.

General Smuts in the letter said he had been desirous of helping Ireland, a country which he did not know at the time how to get over. He declared that the British prime minister's offer was a long letter offering the complete dominion status in the 16 counties subject to strategic safeguards, which was arranged to agree to otherwise.

General Smuts explained that for this reason he considered he could be of no further use at this stage of the negotiations and therefore was going home.

An official along the line of the war cabinet in an Irish state was forbidden to discuss the present, he said, and there would not be any more of the kind and he was forced to leave.

General Smuts stated that he was leaving Ireland at present and concentrate on a constitution for the remaining 26 counties of Ireland and through the success of the Irish dominion along economic lines.

QUANT CUSTOMS

The Hobby Club among New York millionaires to which each member brings all the enthusiasm of his particular fall suggests a possible return of the picturesque old Coffee House days of London when the "bible-ocular assemblies" were amazingly diversified, all occasions and pretenses for their being prized by those who believed that hobbies make for the growth of the soul.

"I know a considerable market place," Mr. Addison holds in the Spectator, "in which there was a club of fat men that did not come together (as you may well suppose) to entertain one another with sprightliness and wit, but to keep one another in countenance. The room, where the club met was something of the largest, and had two entrances the one by a door of a moderate size, and the other by a pair of folding doors."

If a candidate for this club of club could make his entrance through the first door he was looked upon as unaffiliated, but if he struck in the narrow and round not three feet way through the folding doors were immediately thrown open for his reception and he was saluted as a member."

There was also a Christian Name Club, and a Square Club, which were very favorite and vigorous, and they could be found in the clubs of their likeliest kind. There were also Street Clubs, which were taken for the principal citizens, who gathered socially to talk things over. There was also the original Knickerbocker Club, the only club to which Mr. Addison had the honor of being elected.

If you have never seen a paper hat prepared to this it looking very much like a late Paris import. These newest economical chapeaux are far removed from the big crepe paper affairs of your childhood. The idea was developed in Germany during the war. The Germans made paper clothing, paper shoes as well as hats. Now American manufacturers are turning out paper hats for the Trade. Those shown here, made in Chicago, look like straw and silk and cloth, and cost only $2.

GERMANY HAS THOUSANDS OF FAKE SCHEMES

Hypnotists and Star Readers Rake in the Money From Easy Citizens.

In Berlin Alone There Are Said to Be 500 People Making Their Living by Star Gazing.

(By Associated Press) BERLIN, Aug. 12.—The business of making a living by playing upon the credulity and ignorance of the people which has been developed into a skillful and lucrative profession in Germany during the past two years, now is practiced by thousands of men and women, the majority of whom are living luxuriously in Berlin, recent investigations have disclosed.

The investigations grew out of the unusual number of "mysterious advertisements" which have been appearing in virtually all the provincial newspapers and showed that fortune tellers, hypnotists and astrologers and the operators of personal magnetism were reaping by hundreds of

There are 500 persons in Berlin engaged in the occupation of interpreting the stars at a few marks per hour and they are recruited very busy. Their clients are drawn from the poor er classes, many of whom cannot afford to pay sufficient food for themselves and dependent, and have turned to the fortune-tellers in an effort to learn if the future holds out any hope for them.

More than 1000 persons are making a living here by interpretation of handwriting, claiming to be able to read character and forecast the future. Many of them are said to be uneducated and hardly able to read any kind of writing. Their customers are chiefly women and girls.

The "doctors" of hypnotism and "magnetism" recruit their patrons from all classes of society a large percentage being the rich and the idle who are seeking entertainment or simply are experimenting. It is asserted that among the students of hypnotism there are also many questionable characters, working under the impression that a knowledge of the occult will help them in picking pockets or robbing rich households.

A number of charlatans have infringed on old American patents and, after advertising that they have the secret of making a million marks in a few minutes, a secret they will sell from 100 to 20 marks, and having received the five or the 10 marks they send back the rest formula: "Make it as you do."

All of the patrons of the Berlin professional fortune-tellers or "strong-sets of willpower" are not natives, too. It has been ascertained that some of the "professors" enjoy a wide reputation and have recruited customers from the wealthy, but "weak" or wanting of Denmark, Austria, Hungary and Poland.

DECLARES LEAGUE OF NATIONS DOES NOT MEET DEMAND

President of Brazil Says the League Is An Imperfect Organization but Could Be Made Good.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS) BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 12.—Eugenio Possio, President of Brazil, told La Nación's Rio de Janeiro correspondent recently that the League of Nations was an imperfect organization which does not yet come up to the expectations of those who trusted that its institution would ensure international law and order but that, nevertheless, it could be turned into a useful instrument for the peace of the world for settling as far as possible conflicts between the nations.

The Brazilian executive said that it was necessary for this latter purpose that the League should be established upon a more democratic basis.

President Possio declared that he admitted that the mechanism of the League had not offered as yet the solidity which a mechanism capable of settling conflicts between different states should necessarily possess.

He said that the so-called small nations had not the necessary representation before the League to which they were entitled and that those policies prevailed which were approved by naval and military strength.

He added that the great powers gave themselves the lion's share in the Council of the League, by which they had created for themselves long mandates. Nevertheless, he declared the League in its actual condition to meet more efficient and more ample powers than the Hague tribunal.

JEWEL MARKET IS SLUMPING REPORT SAYS IN GERMANY

Those Who Bought Diamonds While They Had a Lot of Money Are Now Selling for Little.

(By Associated Press) BERLIN, Aug. 12.—Trade in precious stones has experienced such a slump in the past 12 months that many of the jewel dealers are facing a serious fiscal crisis, according to Berlin dealers who have been investigating the causes of an unusual situation.

The diamond markets are especially threatened for the men and women who main such "money" during the war and invested heavily in diamonds, recently have been selling brilliants extensively, while the old families of established wealth spent which the trade once depended, have ceased to buy. It is said 50 to 60 per cent of those who bought jewels with war profits in Germany and England have either sold their purchases or offered them for sale within the last few months.

The synthetic diamond, as well as the artificial ruby, sapphire and emerald, also have invaded the market to the detriment of the trade in legitimate stones, not only because many artificial stones are sold as genuine, but because the artificial jewel is preferred by many because it is less expensive, and often can be differentiated only by the connoisseur.

The business in synthetic stones has grown immensely during the last few years with Germany and France the principal competitors and Switzerland and a close third. Raw materials for the manufacture of the artificial ruby, which is accomplished by an electrical process, are purchased by Swiss manufacturers from Germany, which has handicapped Switzerland in the race for control of the world market.

Although the production of artificial beads has greatly increased the prices have risen which is attributed to the experts to the improved technique. Press synthetic rubies and sapphires increased 75 to 100 over present prices.

Going to the stagnation of the trade in genuine diamonds a number of the largest importing houses have ceased importations from South Africa where their chief supply was secured and others have greatly reduced their purchases of the diamonds.

"Jitney" War On in Many Parts of State

(By Associated Press) GRAND HAVEN, Aug. 12.—An old state law intended to regulate the operation of stage coaches back in the pioneer days, is the foundation of an appeal made by the Grand Haven & Muskegon Line to Judge Cross, of Ottawa county, for a restraining order to prevent the operation of "jitneys" and motor bus lines.

The case will be tried at the August term of circuit court Judge Cross having declined to issue a temporary injunction. It is the contention of the interurban line that the stage coach law requires franchises from cities and villages through which the new lines are to be run.

152-CAR TRAIN MAKES RECORD ON ANN ARBOR

Single Locomotive Pulls It All With New Invention, An Exhaust Nozzle.

(By Associated Press)
TOLEDO, O., Aug. 12.—A string of 152 freight cars, stretching almost a mile and a quarter, down by a single locomotive, pulled into Toledo from Okonago, on the Ann Arbor railroad, having made the 120-mile journey in exactly seven hours.

The trip was made to test the efficiency of an exhaust nozzle for locomotives invented by J. E. Damer, an independent of motive power for the Ann Arbor, and designed to increase motive power while decreasing fuel consumption and lubrication. In the opinion of railroad engineers, who witnessed the demonstration it was in every way successful.

The locomotive was of the Santa Fe type, weighing 50,000 pounds, and having a tractive power of 70,000 pounds. The freight cars were practically all loaded with merchandise. By way of contrast engineers pointed out that the ordinary freight train consists of 70 to 80 cars.

Engineers who accompanied the train said the trip was without mishap and that grades were made without difficulty.

A Federal law protecting migratory birds is being observed, so well that wild geese and other wild fowl are breeding in many places from which they were formerly driven by spring shooters. A Federal warden writes from South Dakota that never, even in the memory of old timers, has that section seen a spring flight of geese such as took place this year.

LEGION OF THREE STATES TO CLEAN UP MANY CLAIMS

Members of American Legion Are to Hold Conference in Detroit on Monday, Many Attend.

(By Associated Press)
DETROIT, Aug. 12.—The 17-state council of the American Legion, composed of representatives of the states of Michigan, Illinois and Wisconsin, will meet in Detroit Monday, August 16, to complete plans for the "clean up" campaign on veterans' disability claims to be launched by the bureau of war risk insurance in the three states the last week in August.

The council is the outgrowth of a meeting of Legion representatives from the three states, which comprise the eighth district of the war risk insurance bureau, in Chicago, July 25, to discuss speeding up disability claims. John Hartman, of Chicago, is president of the council, and Lyle D. Labor, Legion adjutant for Michigan, is secretary. C. W. Spofford, of Chicago, representing the war risk insurance bureau, who called the original gathering, will be present to receive suggestions from the Legion men which may expedite the hearings.

Co-operation between the three states in solving their mutual problems, it is believed by Legion men, will be very helpful.
