BIG BUSES TO RUN AGAIN TILL SEPTEMBER 6

Judge Richard C. Flannigan Issues Temporary Restraining Order.

Claim Is That It Is Unconstitutional for the City Council to Cancel a License After It Has Been Issued.

Flannigan's restraining order was issued in the case of the Chicago bus lines. The order prohibits the city council from cancelling the licenses of the bus lines until September 6. The council had voted to cancel the licenses of the bus lines on August 24. The bus lines claimed that the council's action was unconstitutional because the licenses had already been issued. The court ruled in favor of the bus lines, stating that the council's action was unconstitutional.

Safety Deposit Vault in Masonic Temple Easily Looted; One Box Contained $40,000 in Bills.

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—A raid on the Security Safety Deposit Company at the Masonic temple last night by four unknown robbers netted them $250,000, it was estimated today.

The robbers who are credited with making one of the boldest robberies in Chicago history made their getaway after a fifteen-minute search of the vault boxes, although they got $40,000 in thousand dollar bills in one box.

Today Chief of Detectives Hughes charged that the attack on the vault was an "inside job" and has held the two custodians under bonds both of whom are still voluntarily answering to the police.

LITTLE BOY HIT BY HORSE TODAY; IS NOT SERIOUS

Robert, Seven Year Old Son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wark, Gets Thorough Shaking Up.

LITTLE HARBOR, the seven year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wark, fourth avenue south and Fourth street was knocked down by a horse and badly shaken up at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The little boy was playing out on the street in front of the house when a man with a horse and wagon was driving by. The lad failed to see the approaching horse and accordingly ran across the street in the way.

The quick action of the driver, saved the lad from further injury when he backed his horse up quickly and saved the boy from being run over. The driver of the horse and wagon as soon as he hit the lad picked him up and carried him into the house to his mother's arms.

At first it was thought the lad had been seriously injured and the rumor spread about the neighborhood that the lad was in great pain. As soon as the first fright of the accident was worn off it was found that the lad only received a good shaking and a few minor bruises in the accident and that nothing serious would develop.

AMERICAN LEGION MEETING PLANNED FOR SEPTEMBER 19

Matters of Importance Will Be Taken Up at Kalamazoo of Interest to the Service Men.

KALAMAZOO, Aug. 27.—(Special) of interest to service men in Michigan will be discussed at the annual state convention of the American Legion to be held Monday and Tuesday, September 19 and 20. About four hundred delegates representing various legion posts from all over the state are expected to attend.

and auxiliary branches will come to their state meeting, to be held at Kalamazoo in conjunction with the legion gathering. Among the more notable figures at the meeting will be Major John G. Finney, of Grand Rapids, national president of the Legion, and Lieutenant Colonel Guy M. Wilson, of Flint, state commander. Both now are in France with the motor of transport soldiers touring the battlefields but are expected to be in time for the convention. Major Finney will be the chief speaker. Lieutenant Colonel Wilson will respond to the address of welcome on the opening session of the convention. General Curtis, of Midland, former commander in chief, will be another speaker. All legion delegates have been asked to attend the convention in uniform. A conference will be held late in the afternoon of September 19. The general business proposition will be the subject of the meeting and if possible resolutions will be drafted according to the suggestions of the

TANK CORPS AT DULUTH POSSESS 25 ARMY TANKS

The Personnel Consists of 105 Officers and Men; Many of Them Have Seen Service Overseas.

(By Associated Press) DULUTH, Minn., Aug. 29.—The Duluth Tank Corps, Minnesota National Guard, the first unit of its kind to be organized under the reorganized National Guard, now has twenty-five tanks as a basis for its equipment. Its personnel comprises 105 officers and enlisted men. Most of the officers are World War veterans, while a majority of the enlisted personnel are youths of 21 years and under, who got no further in the service than the Student Army Training Corps. Captain L. J. Morket, Duluth, former member of the old Minnesota National Guard, is commander of the corps. The corps was organized in May, 1920. The first annual encampment was held here this summer. At the first summer camp a regular army office from the tank corps at Camp Pike was assigned by the War Department to assist in instruction work. Since then, at the suggestion of state National Guard officers, permission has been given for a regular army officer to be permanently assigned to the unit. The corps camp was held separate from that of the regular state guard camp, held at Fort Snelling, Minn., earlier in the summer.

Detroit Spends Thousands to Make Place Attractive to the Little Inmates.

Whole Little Village Conforms to Childish Ideas and They Improve in Health Rapidly.

DETROIT, Aug. 29.—In a little toy village, 25 miles from the heart of the city and 250 feet above its level, Detroit is doing something different in the fight against the white plague. It is a hard fight, but a happy one, for the children who are given care there do not find a grim atmosphere but one that keeps alive the romance of childhood. At a cost of $45,000 the city has just completed and opened a colony that might have come to life out of a nursery book. On the gables of three quaint dormitories and an administration building are painted the images of Mother Goose, Pied Piper, Old King Cole and the Old Woman in the Shoe. Little Red Riding Hood also is here, of course, and one one gable, the cow jumping over the moon. During the present summer, 100 children are enjoying abundance of food, fresh air, rest and sunlight, and by the time these youngsters go back to their slum homes, 100 incipient cases of tuberculosis will have been cured and a telling blow will have been struck at the plague in its most vulnerable sphere—the child. Between May 1 and November 1, the period during which the village will be operated, children from the congested district will receive, in addition to treatment, regular schooling. They are in charge of a trained nurse, who is assisted by three other nurses and four instructors in physical education. The toy village has its own light plant and other modern facilities. It is situated on a tract of 500 acres on which the city will erect a complete tuberculosis infirmary to cost $2,500,000. This plant, when completed, will rank among the world's best and is expected to make Detroit the mecca of students of tuberculosis prevention. Recently, a Chinese physician visited the village. The children's colony is the outgrowth of a tent village conducted in the summer of 1920, when 150 children were treated. This experiment was so successful that it was decided to replace it with permanent buildings. All funds for operation of the colony are provided from the municipal treasury.

Miss McGuire Will Teach at Iron River

Miss Marie McGuire, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George McGuire of this city, has just recently completed a course of study at Marquette Normal and will be the instructor in the central school at Iron River. She left yesterday for the town. The Iron River schools opened today, one week earlier than in Escanaba.

Red Arrows Will Print a Magazine

DETROIT, Aug. 29.—On the peak of the Red Arrow convention here is the appearance of the Red Arrow magazine, a new publication devoted exclusively to the activities of the members of the Thirty-second. The magazine, an eight page publication, is to appear twice monthly. Herbert H. McKinney, a Detroit newspaper man, is editor-in-chief of the publication. He was sergeant major of the One Hundred and Twenty-Fifth infantry for many months in France and later was transferred to Camp Funston, Kansas as an instructor.

Heating the Home

AS new uses for petroleum products are developed, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) immediately organizes its distribution system to supply the demand, whenever and wherever it may arise.

For example, during the past two or three years a number of devices which substitute kerosene for coal in heating the home have been perfected and put on the market.

A large number of these burners have been installed in the territory served by this Company. The result has been a heavy demand for Perfection Kerosene, which has proved to be an ideal fuel.

To meet this demand for Perfection Kerosene, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has so arranged its distribution system as to be able to deliver to patrons Perfection Kerosene for heating purposes in any quantity which may be desired.

The bigness and efficiency of this organization enables you to adopt kerosene as a fuel for heating your home, with complete assurance that you always will be able to get this fuel in such quantities as you may require, whenever and wherever you may need it.

Thus does a big company, conscious of its responsibility to the public, and to its 19,478 stockholders, quickly adapt its organization to changing conditions.

QUAINT CUSTOMS

The great spring Gala Day in China, the Feast of Lanterns, is the cause of so much joyful celebration that it is difficult to remember that it originated in a tragedy of national import. The celebration occurs on the 15th day of the first moon, or at the close of the Chinese New Year celebrations. Its origin is described as follows:

The daughter of one of the early mandarins was walking on the shores of a beautiful lake on the evening of that day, by moonlight, when she accidentally slipped and fell into the water, drowning before help could reach her. As soon as the mandarin was told of the tragedy, he hastened to the spot, carrying a lighted lantern. The entire household soon followed, all bearing lights. A search for the body was begun and continued all night, the searchers going up and down the shores carrying flickering torches high, peering into the black water. Finally the inhabitants from the countryside around began flocking to the spot. Big bonfires were built on the banks until the illumination shone far and wide. Eventually the body was recovered.

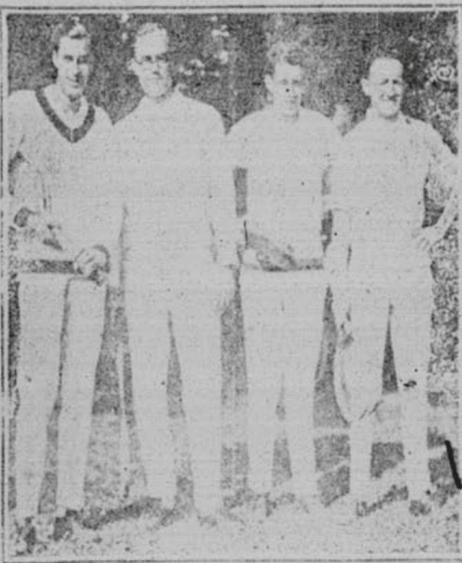

On the anniversary of the sad occasion, the mandarin had fires lighted around the lake at dusk, and kept burning, and a solemn light-bearing procession composed of relatives, dependents and neighbors wound its way there to offer prayers for the repose of the girl's soul. Year after year, this was continued and gradually the solemn character of the occasion gave place to festivity when sheer boasts of effect were greatly sought after.

BLOWING YOUR MONEY

Continuing its spending jag, the national government in the first 15 days of August spent $174,896,598, compared with $154,956,530 in the first 15 days of August, 1920. Bill collectors during July tapped the taxpayers' treasury to the tune of $21,818,369. In July, 1920, Uncle Sam paid out only $20,901,839. Talk about government economy is the bunk. Actual figures show things going from bad to worse. The Treasury Department in July spent $43,970,001. In July, a year ago, it got along with $36,353,348. "Independent offices and commissions" spent $14,766,335, compared with $7,652,688 in July, 1920. So it goes, with the average upward toward higher taxes.

Thousands of ways Uncle Sam could economize. Here's one: Government departments and bureau figure out how much money they'll need. Under the new budget system, Director Dawes look over these estimates and recommendations, to the president, cuts he thinks advisable. This recommendation goes to Congress. Maybe Congress is ungenerous accordingly. Maybe not. Doesn't make much difference, for the departments and bureaus are accustomed to go ahead and spend all they want to. They then say, "Here are some bills I didn't have money to pay. Slip for the lack." And Congress has to rush through a "deficiency appropriation." It's like reducing the cash allowance of a spendthrift wife, then giving her unlimited charge accounts.

There can't be any real economy in government until every department and bureau is compelled to live within its allowance. Dawes sees this. He's just sent word to every department that it must furnish monthly statements of its expenditures. He wants to nail them before they get too far in the hole.

If this over spending were going on in any of the big corporations, the boss would soon stop it. He'd either fire the department heads or tell them if they didn't keep within bounds they'd have to pay the difference out of their own pockets.

That's what a sane Washington would do. Politics prevents it. But Dawes sees the evil. He's on the right track, trying to stop it. But he can't stop it unless his recommendations are put into the form of law and the law is passed by Congress.

THE ZR-2 DISASTER

The fall of the dirigible ZR-2 with loss of more than 40 men adds another to the long string of disasters involving lighter-than-air machines. This particularly bad one could, it seems, have been prevented. Stories appeared in many of the American papers early in the week based on dispatches from England, to the effect that structural defects had been discovered in the dirigible and that it might be next spring before she could be put into condition for the proposed trans-Atlantic flight. Despite this positive knowledge of potentially dangerous weaknesses the trial flight was made which resulted so horribly.

Naturally, it is certain that the commander and other of- ficers were reasonably certain that she was in sufficiently good condition to sustain a flight before ordering her up. The commander perished when she fell, and gave his life along with those of his men in the cause of aerial pioneering. The lesson taught is that man has yet a great deal to learn before he can say with reasonable degree of certainty that the air has been conquered, and that until he can assert that with confidence, nothing less than the utmost care in above-the-ground should be permitted or condoned.

JUST A FEW DONT'S

Don't blow out the gas, don't take medicine from a bottle in the dark, don't light a match to see if there is gasoline in the tank, don't go around the rear of a street car without looking, don't rock the boat. It would be possible to continue the catalogue much further, but everyone knows all of the rules of the category to which these belong though somebody violates one of them every once in a while.

This is the time of year when another ancient "don't" is frequently violated. It was violated in Monroe the other day by four people and the next day one of them was dead. They depended upon general judgment instead of exact knowledge in the selection of the ingredients for a mess of mushrooms.

The appropriate don't for all such cases is don't eat any thing supposed to be a mushroom unless you know exactly what it is. There is no easy test, no certain rule for distinguishing good from bad. One must know the poisonous from the edible kind as he knows a cut from a dog or wheat from oats. Any other method leads to the graveyard.

FAIR DEALING IN MEXICO

Samuel Vanclain, head of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, has just returned to the United States from Mexico with contracts in his pocket for 65 locomotives. Vanclain says that there is plenty of business in Mexico for "real Americans" who are satisfied to take a fair profit on a deal or contract. He explains that by "real Americans" he means substantial business men and concerns, not profiteers, speculators or confidence men, whose only desire is to take out of Mexico both the money and the bacon.

Much of the trouble between the United States and Mexico has been caused by the profiteers, speculators and confidence men who have gone to Mexico for other than honest business purposes. If some way could be devised to keep them on this side of the border in the future, the chances for establishing and maintaining good relations between the two countries would be much improved.

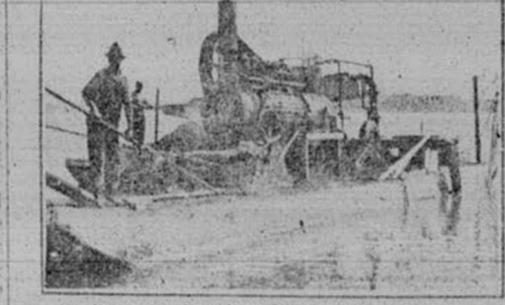

THE OLD HOME TOWN BY STANLEY

What Women Talk About by Mrs. R. J. Adams

THE WAISTLINE
Nature has placed the "waistline" in human beings a little more than half the distance up between the soles of the feet and the top of the head. But seldom, if ever, have the fashion creators prescribed a waistline that coincided with the natural one. There was the "Empire" or high-waisted style first brought into vogue in Napoleon's time by the Empress Josephine, who, finding that the style became her figure, immediately established it among the ladies of the court, who, like good little lambs, took the cue. Then there has been the "French" or low-waisted type of gown, which has some little vogue and goes for again and again in recurring waves of popularity. There are the "one-piece" styles, upon which no waistline of any kind is indicated, and also the straight "jacket" mode, where the joining of waist and skirt is hidden by a loose fitting, belted overcoat, which comes to the hips. The natural waistline dress, whenever it has been introduced, has not been received with a very warm welcome by the ladies. Women seem to want the unusual in dress, the natural waistline they consider too ordinary and obvious to be stylish. Maybe nature made a mistake in putting our waistlines where she did. Perhaps the women are right in insisting that the outline, which is most symmetrical and artistic in one to whom the waistline is indicated either above or below the place designated by nature. Maybe nature is all wrong, but then again, perhaps, it is the women who are making the mistake. It may be the lack of artistic quality in our eyes that makes us so perverse. CHINESE ARMY PAID WITH LOOT WHICH IT TAKES

Nearly 2,000,000 Men, Under Arms, But Peking Government Is Defied; Make Problem for Allies.

By WM. PHILLIP SIMMS
Written Expressly for N. E. A.
SHANGHAI, Aug. 20.—If the Great Powers decide at the Washington conference on some form of benevolent intervention in China to save them from another war, the first problem they will have to tackle is the nucleus of the Chinese army. Estimated as high as 2,000,000 men, China's army is slowly contributing to her destruction. For years she has been trying to demobilize and arm. Instead, the army is on the increase, if anything and Peking is helpless. China has no money with which to pay her troops, so they mutiny and sack the country in hot of wages. Their refusal to be mustered out of service because soldiering is easy work for a living, and a military school adds class to robber bands with which some of them travel. Uniformed Coolies. Nor will their overlords, the governor general, allow them to be mustered out if he can possibly help it. Being a little king in his own right, doing precisely what he pleases regardless of what Peking has to say about it, he realizes he is no more powerful than his army. It not infrequently happens that somebody disputes his title, so too Tuchen keeps his command as strong as he possibly can to defend it. Soldiers in China are seldom more than the uniformed coolies of the particular warlord who pays them and have little or no conception of what it means to serve flag or country. Their job is to do the bidding of the "Tuchen" their direct master, collect his "suzerainty" and hold him on his pedestal. In return for this the Tuchen allows his troops pretty free rein discipline in the Occidental sense, being almost unknown; fees, and clothes, then as best he can and, from time to time, gives them a little cash to do with as they like. The Merry Ma Ha. The so-called Chinese army, in reality, is fifteen or twenty armies, each one independent of the others and all independent of Peking. These armies vary in size from 3,000 men to several times that number. General Chang Tsolin, Tuchen in Manchuria, alone commands an army larger than that of the United States. It is said to be the best outfit in China and for that reason would, if it is believed, follow Chang without question. General Tsoo Kan, Tuchen of Chihli province—where Peking is located—has a following just about as large. These Tuchens are rivals, but for the time being, have pooled their interests. Peking has repeatedly ordered a general cut in the army, but the only discernible result has been some thing which sounded very much like a Tuchen's chuckle, a few mutinies, considerable looting, the seizure of some cities and, apparently, additional enlistments. Road Builders. The great powers have contributed to this state of affairs. By helping China to rid herself of the burden of her overpopulation and army, they will rid her—and incidentally themselves—of a grave peril. China's useless troops should be put to road building. Her greatest needs, unity and education—can never make much progress until her un-mustered, isolated for thousands of years, can count on and exchange ideas. Hurt roads and railroads, by the ten of thousands of miles, are imperative. Progressive Chinese everywhere believe this is essential to China's reconstruction. Chinese and foreign capital should go into this public work, and there should be foreign supervision under a central administration to the total disregard of the Tuchenate.

Where Danger Lies. The troops themselves will not object. China belongs and has long to any power but Peking. All they demand is their food and pay. This is but one of the jobs the Peking Government must undertake if they really get at their troubles in China, and that the sooner it is done, the better it will be for all hands is recognized by all who have made a study of the situation. Look for a new stenographer in "the want ad way"—engaging her upon your own judgment, not upon some friend's recommendation.

ORH IS FOUND UNDER VILLAGE; ENTIRE TOWN WILL BE MOVED ONE MILE AWAY. "ON WHEELS" Steel Corporation to Put Hibbing, Minn., On Skids! Huge Task. (By Associated Press) PITTSBURGH, Aug. 29 - The United States Steel Corporation is going to move the whole town of Hibbing, one of the world's richest villages, located in the center of the great iron belt of the Mesabi Range of Northern Minnesota. Within six months this famous village of Hibbing, known the world over where steel is a commodity will be a mile away from its present site, and the great corporation's steam shovels will be digging out where the old Hibbing stood. An engineer of the United States Steel Corporation was in Pittsburgh the other day and told an interesting story of how the big steel company tackled the most gigantic task with a positiveness and indifference that is often seen in the stage drama than in actual life. One day this engineer was seated in his office in lower Broadway, New York. A man a phone call summoned him to the office of Judge Gary, chairman of the board. He had been in Mr. Gary's office only two minutes when he came out. But in those two minutes he had been asked a half dozen questions bearing on the topography of Hibbing, Minn., the town founded by the late Henry W. Oliver of Pittsburgh, then was instructed to put that town on the move and keep it on the move until you have it a mile away? He gave no given instructions in great detail, simply told to move Hibbing, a village of 17,000 inhabitants. He carried the first train for Hibbing and looked over the town with it. The big machine buildings would be little short of criminal waste to destroy these buildings, he thought. So the idea would be to move them to the new town site intact and without damage. He taped a piece of open country one mile away which he selected as the new location for the city. And now Hibbing is to be put on the move. Two years ago the Oliver Mining company, one subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation, which town 13 years earlier had acquired by lease the rights to the minerals under the town, began to buy the surface rights. It paid $2,500,000 for these and today owns the majority of lots and buildings in an area of more than eight city blocks. When moved and settled on its new site the village will be known as "New Hibbing." To give it the final touch of modernization the United States Steel Corporation is to present the town with a $3,000,000 hospital and a $150,000 hotel.

Australians Are Lured By Yellow Metal Prospects. WELBOURNE, Aug. 29 - Prospecting for gold is one of the most alluring charms of life in Australia. It may be tedious only a few miles beyond the boundaries of the larger cities, and they are still many eager adventurers on the trail for surface gold. This is attested by their frequent success. Thirty miles from this city two prospectors in June smelted approximately $1,200 worth of gold, obtained from the quartz, and during their sojourn on the one site realized $3,000 worth of the precious metal. Precious stones are also available during June large deposits of emeralds were discovered in the basin country of New South Wales. Two emerald caves are prospecting the field and have obtained some exceptionally fine gems.

FORGOTTEN TOWN IN IOWA WILL BE ELIMINATED SOON. Bethany Is the Smallest Town in State and No One Lives There, So It Will Be "Killed Off." (By Associated Press) DAVENPORT, Ia., Aug. 29 - Iowa's smallest town is soon to be eliminated, and this with due notice of law in the Scott county district court. The town in question is Bethany, located inside of the city limits of Davenport. It was platted in February, 1856, by Thomas McGovern. One plat book on file in the office of the Scott county auditor contains records of the town and plats showing the lots and blocks. Bethany was laid out with five streets running east and west, each block intersected by an alley. There are fifteen lots in the town. Since the early history of the town is missing from the records, just why McGovern laid out the town and called it Bethany is unknown. Old records here can remember nothing of the early history of the place, and many of them have "forgotten" that such a town exists. Bethany is entirely surrounded by the city of Davenport, and is situated by nature as an addition. It is a town in name only, as it never had a local government, never experienced a real estate boom, and because of the legal status of the place, never housed more than one dwelling at a time. In fact no one ever paid such attention to Bethany. Now, however, attention for Thomas McGovern and his heirs, owners of the town site, have petitioned the district court for an order vacating the plat and setting lot corners off to the street and alley, for the sake of correcting the records of title. Kenneth Roland arrived yesterday from Minneapolis to visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Roland.

Professor Friday Suggests that This Move Be Made to the Extent of 100,000 Bushels. (By Associated Press) DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 29 - Michigan farmers will be asked to contribute 100,000 bushels of grain for relief in the Near East if the suggestion of Professor David Friday, recently selected as president of the Michigan Agricultural College and who has been named vice-chairman of the emergency Grain Board of the Near East Relief for Michigan, is followed. In a letter to those in charge of the movement here Professor Friday stated he believed one hundred thousand bushels of grain was a fair percentage of the five million bushels asked of the United States, the farmers of this state to contribute. Under Professor Friday's plan the gifts would include forty thousand bushels of wheat and sixty thousand bushels of corn. He pointed out that more than 80,000 acres of wheat was being harvested in Michigan this year and that the state's crop was estimated at more than thirteen million bushels. "I estimate," he said, "the quantity of Michigan for Near East relief would be about two-thirds of wheat for each acre." The corn quota amounts to one bushel of out of every one thousand being grown in the state this year, according to Professor Friday.

Germany Wants to Self Crippled Dogs. (By Associated Press) BERLIN, Aug. 29 - The German government is setting off its war dogs. It has a large number of wounded and disabled canines for sale and has offered them to the public at a price to be fixed by a valuation commission composed of veterinarians. Many of the dogs are said to be too old for war work and others have been sick to home that the army officials have despaired of their ever being able to engage in active service again. "I should not be surprised," said the public, which appears greatly attracted to the "fight and fustian" "police dog" has, nevertheless, displayed little interest in these canine veterans. Look for the ad that describes the place you would like to own.

Tired and Nervous—from the Lack of Sleep? Do You Know the Reason Why? Sleep time is the time when the reconstructive processes in your body are busiest—turning food into blood, and nerve tissue, and living cells. That's the reason why lack of sleep makes you irritable, inefficient and nervous; and why you lack "punch" when you don't get a proper amount of the right kind of sleep. It has been the experience of many that the cup of tea or coffee, taken at meal-time, robs them of sleep. In Gould and Pyle's Cyclo-pedia of Medicine and Surgery you'll find that "caffeine is a rapidly acting stimulant to the brain and spinal cord, quickens the action of the heart, and raises blood pressure." This makes it a very good medicine if prescribed by a doctor for cases of collapse, when a patient needs to have his system abnormally forced into activity. But caffeine is not good for people whose systems don't need to be drugged. So if you don't get your proper sleep at night, it may be because you are being kept awake by tea or coffee. Stop tea and coffee for awhile and drink Postum—the delicious cereal beverage. Postum is a pure cereal product, and contains no harmful element whatsoever. Your first taste of Postum will surprise and please you. Many people prefer the flavor of Postum to that of coffee. Order Postum from your grocer today. Drink this hot, refreshing beverage in place of tea or coffee for ten days, and see what a wonderful difference it will make in the way you feel. Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.

When you send in your "help wanted" ad, read the "situations wanted" at the same time.

Many a man is serving in a miss-fit position because he hesitates to start on a canvass for a new one.

A want ad will find the place you want and should have.

It is needless to remind you that when the position hunts the man a better salary is inevitable.

IOWA'S CORN CROP WILL BE FED TO LIVE STOCK AS THE COST TO MARKET IS GREAT

Farmers Claim They Cannot Ship at the Present Market Price.

DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 27.—Iowa's corn crop, estimated at 495,328,000 bushels, will probably be fed to live stock on the farms of the state, according to farmers and farm experts. The main reason for this is that the cost of marketing corn is so high that there is no profit for the farmer at the present market price. The experts declare.
